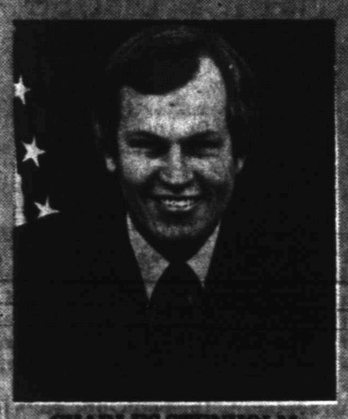
Stenholm Friday morning

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, Stamford Democrat, will be in Snyder Friday for a townhall meeting with interested Scurry County citizens.

The meeting will be held from 7 to 8:30 a.m. in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan Association, 2619 College Ave.



CHARLES STENHOLM

Rep. Stenholm is traveling his home 17th District during the August congressional recess.

"This is a crucial time for our country," Stenholm said. "The dilemma we face in Washington in being reluctant to get down to serious business to resolve some of these problems may be a reflection on the rather desperate feeling we all have and our protective attitude toward funds and programs we consider vital to us personally. Something must give."

In addition to his stop in Snyder, Stenholm's Friday schedule includes speeches in Rotan, Hamlin, Stamford and Abilene.

City sales tax increases

The August sales tax rebate for the city of Snyder increased 18 percent over the same period in 1984, according to figures released this week by State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

The August payment to the city of Snyder was $106,262 compared to $90,068 last August–an increase of 18 percent.

However, the one-cent sales tax levy for Snyder in 1985 is still running some 7.9 percent behind last year. Todate, Snyder has received a rebate of $562,368 compared to $610,783 for the same period in 1984.

The comptroller returned sales tax payments to 1,055 cities this week. Houston's check was the largest–$18.6 million. August checks represent taxes collected on sales made in June and the second quarter and reported to the state by July 20.

In the area, the August check to Colorado City was $35,715, up 27 percent over the same period last year. For the year, Colorado City's sales tax receipts are running ahead of 1984 by 8.7 percent.

Sweetwater also reported a jump for the period as the city collected $85,038 compared to $74,990 last year. For the year to date, Sweetwater collections are up 12.23 percent.

Big Spring received $218,615 in August compared to $184,254 this time last year. Year-to-date, Big Spring tax receipts are running 9.9 percent ahead.

In Fisher County, Roby sales tax receipts of $2,712 were almost identical to last year and are up by one percent for the year.

Rotan received an August check of $12,466 compared to $12,004 for the same period in 1984. To date, Rotan receipts are 5.7 percent ahead of last year.

In Midland, sales tax check for August was $1 million, up from the $911,189 reported this time last year. Midland sales tax figures are running 15 percent ahead of last year.

Storm's eye misses state

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Gulf Coast residents could relax somewhat today as Hurricane Danny was bearing down on the central Louisiana coast, leaving the Texas coast with only fringes of the storm.

Frantic people jammed stores Wednesday to buy emergency provisions, while others evacuated their homes in low-lying areas of Jefferson County and on Galveston Island.

All was calm in Port Arthur early today as forecasts called for the storm to move inland south of Lake Charles, La., before noon.

Eddy Johnson, who manages a Galveston hardware store, said residents were responding much more quickly than almost exactly two years ago when the last major storm, Hurricane Alicia, slammed into the island south of Houston with winds approaching 130 mph.

"We've got two cash registers here and for awhile they had 20 people deep at each one," he said.

Alicia, which hit Aug. 18, 1983, left 21 people dead and damage topping $1 billion.

"We have boarded up the windows already just as a precaution," said Virginia Fincher of the K mart store in Port Arthur, about 90 miles east of Houston. The store quickly sold out of batteries, hurricane lamps and fuel, she said, and portable radios also were popular items with worried shoppers.

Port Arthur Police Capt. J.E. Huebel, who was in charge of Civil Defense operations, said early today that three shelters were open in the city and only one person showed up.

Vietnam ships 26 remains

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Caskets containing what may be the remains of 26 Americans missing in the Vietnam War left for the United States today, 10 years after the end of a conflict in which more than 2,400 Americans are still unaccounted for.

If the remains are identified as being of those of Americans, it would be Communist Vietnam's largest single delivery ever of the remains of missing U.S. service personnel and citizens.

The remains were flown out of Hanoi, Vietnam on Wednesday after an U.S. delegation took custody in a brief but solemn ceremony. They were kept overnight at Clark Air Base in the Philippines, and flown on a U.S. Air Force plane to Hawaii today.

There, the 26 sets of bones will be examined at the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center to determine identification.

Before Wednesday, Vietnam had handed over the remains of 99 MIAs. A total of 2,464 American servicemen and civilians are still unaccounted for in Indochina, more than half of them in Vietnam.

AJRA to return here in 1986

The ARJA National Rodeo Finals will return to Snyder in 1986, according to Ralph Miller of the chamber's AJRA committee.

The AJRA executive committee met Wednesday and heard the Snyder presentation to host the event for the 11th consecutive year. The final decision was made just before noon Thursday.

Road work to start within two weeks

Texas Highway Department officials and representatives of Amarillo Road Inc. firmed up plans Wednesday for the construction of Houston Parkway around southwest Snyder and the rennovation of Farm Road 1611 between State Highway 350 and U.S. Highway 84.

At the pre-construction conference, the contractor announced plans to begin work on both projects within the next two weeks.

According to local THD Resident Engineer Billy Ed Vernon, the first phase of the project will be the construction of concrete box culverts at various locations on both routes.

Actual dirt and paving work will begin once those are in place.

As of Wednesday, work on the Houston Parkway project is slated to begin at the Highway 350 intersection and proceed west and north from there.

Completion dates projected at the meeting were May 1, 1986 for Houston Parkway and Aug. 10, 1986 for Farm Road 1611.

The decision to extend Houston from 48th Street to the Big Spring highway was made early this year after two public hearings at which some property owners in southwest Snyder opposed the project.

AJRA performances solid

Sonora cowboy Duane Jones chalked an unofficial score of 73 to take the lead in the age 13 to 15 junior bull riding at the American Junior Rodeo Association National Finals Rodeo here Wednesday night.

Jones' effort was one of several fine performances during the second show of the five-day rodeo. The annual event continues at 8 nightly through Saturday.

The Sonora native's 73 bested Tuesday night's top score of 62 by Sam Lichenstein of Odessa.

Another top effort Wednesday was turned in by Granbury's Richard Wade, who scored an unofficial 68 in the 12 and under steer riding. His score edges out Dusty Allen of Winnsboro, who had carded a 67 on Tuesday.

Few other events were able to match the quick times posted earlier in the week, though Kenna Boltinghouse of Cherokee did clock a 15.03 in the girls 13-15 barrel race.

Other solid performances were filed by Schelli Walls of Stephenville, who timed a 2.72 in the 13-15 breakaway roping, and Marty Yates of Corsicana, who clocked a 7.49 in the 13-15 ribbon roping. Midland's Paul Ray led the 16-19 ribbon roping with a 7.12.

Wednesday morning's slack performance came up with the hottest competition of the day. Dale Jones of Eunice, N.M., and Clint Griffin of Eldorado both flashed a time of 2.52 seconds in the boys 13-15 ribbon roping. Just a hundredth of a second behind them, at 2.53, was Roby's Carter Edmondson.

In Brief

Defers ruling

TYLER, Texas (AP) — U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice has put off ruling on a request for an injunction to block the state's use of a new college test to screen potential teachers.

Seven days of arguments in the case ended Wednesday with the attorney for several minority groups contending that the state-mandated test would cut the supply of Texas teachers, especially blacks and Hispanics.

In final arguments at the end of seven days of testimony, San Antonio lawyer Albert Kauffman, representing the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, told the judge that in the end, students would suffer "irreparable harm because of the lack of minority teachers."

Police probe

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas attorney general's office is looking at allegations of brutality and coverup made by the Texas Civil Liberties Union against the San Antonio police department, a spokeswoman in Jim Mattox's office says.

James Harrington, TCLU legal director, also asked Mattox on Wednesday to look into allegations that San Antonio police officials failed to report "a serious claim of sexual abuse of a minor by a police officer" to state officials, as required by law.

Milestone

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Justice officials in Mexico and the United States have reached a "milestone" in relations between the two nations in their joint anti-narcotics campaign, Attorney General Edwin Meese III said Wednesday.

Fellow workers out at Sun Gas Plant have been giving computer-whiz Mike Post a hard time.

Post offered his services to the city of Snyder to help program some of the city's traffic signals. Co-worker Dan McKenzie said the program is quite simple, but that Post's expertise makes it even easier.

One such light in the city program is located at 37th and Ave. V. Employees out at Sun have accused Post of programming the light to respond to his garage door opener so he will never have to stop at the signal.

Not a bad idea. We wonder if it would work in Lubbock?

Teachers go back to work soon, and that means that the start of school is just around the corner. That also means that vacation season is almost over.

Editor Donny Brown has been on vacation all week. While we were opening some of the mail, we saw the following definitions:

An editor is a person who knows a great deal about very little and who goes on learning more and more about less and less, until finally he knows practically everything about nothing.

An advertising salesperson is someone who knows very little about many things and keeps learning less and less about more and until he knows practically nothing about everything.

A publisher, on the other hand, starts out knowing practically everything, but ends up knowing nothing about anything, due to his association with editors and advertising salespersons.

This would also work for school folks–just substitute the words teachers, principals and superintendents.

The reason for the heat: Harold Denson said we've have the devil to pay for last winter's mild weather.

Lawsuits over store closings

AUSTIN (AP) — Montgomery Ward & Co. officials won't comment on a Texas lawsuit alleging that operators of several of Ward's catalog sales outlets were misled before the company announced it would close the stores.

The small-town stores have been "a mainstay of the rural American way of life for 113 years" but now appear doomed, the $8.5 million lawsuit says.

The plaintiffs allege that Montgomery Ward officials — through statements, sales meetings and other actions — led catalog agents to believe their independent stores would stay open even though Montgomery Ward announced the closing of company-owned stores.

"All of these actions were intended by Wards to and did lull the agents and rural America into a false sense of security" that the company was "dedicated to the future of the catalog sales agencies," the lawsuit says.

However, the suit charges, Montgomery Ward "effectively closed the agencies and ended its relationship with rural America by its announcement on Aug. 1, 1985, that it would close the catalog stores forever."

Chuck Holland, spokesman at Montgomery Ward's corporate headquarters in Chicago, Wednesday declined to comment.

"I really have not seen the contents of the lawsuit. At this point, we have no comment," Holland said in a telephone interview.

Holland said Montgomery Ward plans to close some 200 company-owned stores and some 1,300 independently owned catalog agencies within the next 14 months.

Frank Powell, the lawyer who filed the suit Tuesday, said the plaintiffs operate 10 catalog stores in such areas as Lampasas, Fredericksburg, Carrizo Springs and Mexia.

The store owners kept a small amount of merchandise on hand, but basically handled catalog sales for customers, he said.

Powell said that when Montgomery Ward earlier announced plans to close company-owned stores, some of the agents considered getting out of the business. Some had offers from people wanting to buy their stores, he said.

But the suit charges that Montgomery Ward assured the catalog agents business would continue. The company approved new catalog sales agencies, sent representatives to sales meetings and issued statements saying it would remain in business, the suit says.

The May 1985 issue of the company's magazine, Forward, included a question-and-answer feature about catalog sales.

"Q. Is the closing of these (company owned) stores signalling the end of catalog operations for Montgomery Ward?

"A. By no means. Montgomery Ward founded the catalog direct mail business, and we intend to stay in it..." the magazine said.

New vaccine available

A new vaccine--b-Capsa I Vaccine--to help protect against the most common life-threatening bacterial diseases of young children is now available.

The new vaccine immunizes against diseases caused by the germ commonly known as "Hib."

Hib diseases affect one child in 200 before the age of five years. Hib diseases, which include spinal meningitis, are serious. Many result in hospitalization, and up to 10 percent can be fatal. In clinical studies, HIB vaccine was 90 percent effective in two-six year-old children.

The United States Public Health Service recommends this new vaccine for all children once they have reached 24 months of age. Because of their increased risk, children 18-23 months old who attend day care should also be considered for vaccination, although the vaccine is less likely to be as effective in this age group.

Systemic infections due to Hemophilus influenzae, type B (HIB) are of major importance.

-15,000 to 20,000 cases of meningitis are reported annually.

-A likely equal number of cases of sepsis, epiglottis, cellulitis, pneumonia, and arthritis occur.

-The risk of significant Hib infections to children in day care centers and nursery school settings is significant.

Dear Abby

Woman Contemplates Turning Her Tight-Wad Fiance Loose

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: First off, we are in our mid-30s, both educated with good incomes. My fiance, "John," is very tight with money. When we eat out, he refuses to leave a tip, no matter how good the service. He says tipping is unnecessary; I think he is just plain cheap. I've explained that people who wait on tables often work for minimum wage, and count on their tips to supplement their income. He refuses to budge. It's gotten so that every time we enter a restaurant, I can feel my stomach knotting up.

John and I take turns picking up the tab, which is only fair. When it's my treat, I always leave a tip.

There are many pluses in our relationship, but our philosophies on spending money are worlds apart. This will be the second marriage for both of us, and I never want to go through another divorce.

What are your feelings, Abby?

MARY (ALIAS)

DEAR MARY: Same as yours. You wisely thought that the difference in your philosophies on spending money was of sufficient importance to warrant a letter to Dear Abby—and you were right. Regardless of how many "pluses" there are in your relationship, John's penny-pinching reveals a rather mean-spirited pettiness that you may find hard to live with. Don't tie the knot with any man who consistently puts knots in your stomach.

DEAR ABBY: I checked a book out of the public library last November and I must have lost it somewhere, because I have turned this house upside down and I can't find it! I must owe a fortune in fines by now, and I can't tell my parents or they will kill me. What should I do?

I need to know if there is a limit on how much I can be fined. What if the book costs $6 brand new and the fine amounts to a whole lot more?

I feel so nervous and guilty, I haven't been back to the library since. Please help me, but don't say where this is from.

BOOK LOSER

DEAR BOOK LOSER: Every library sets its own policy. At the Los Angeles County Public Library, children are fined 5 cents a day per book for every day the library is open. Adults are fined 15 cents a day.

If the fine exceeds the cost of replacing the book, one pays for replacing the book. Should the book be destroyed by a natural disaster such as flood, fire or earthquake—no charge.

Go to the library and tell the librarian that the book is lost and be prepared to pay for a replacement.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and I read your letters every day. I get very disgusted when kids complain about having to wear hand-me-downs. There is nothing wrong with hand-me-downs. My mother is a schoolteacher and the pay isn't that great. Mom's best freind has a daughter who's 13, and I get all the nice clothes she has outgrown. They're terrific looking, and besides, the jeans are not stiff and the sweaters aren't scratchy. Sign me

Spanish designers...

Reach for fashion recognition

By RUTH MACKAY

MADRID, Spain (AP) — In a country where ruffles on everything and black for women over 40 were the standard until not so long ago, fashion is suddenly in fashion.

Spain has had its high fashion designers like Balenciaga and Paco Rabanne — both Parisbased — but the absence of a substantial middle class with money to spend, as well as the cultural mediocrity of the 1939-75 regime of Gen. Francisco Franco, meant that there was no real market for good, innovative ready-to-wear designs.

Since the mid-1970s, cultural, political and economic changes have sent more women into the workplace. And there is a young Socialist government anxious to promote Spanish fashion abroad. Although there are no women in the cabinet, ministers' wives are among the new designers' prominent clients.

The government is also intent on restructuring the country's textile industry, in line with next year's entry in January into the European Economic Community, to make Spanish textiles more competitive with what is feared will be a flood of cheaper and better European imports.

Designer Jesus del Pozo, 36, is part of what has been called "the Almirante movement," after a small side street in downtown Madrid known for its trendy shops and select customers.

Unlike women in France or Italy, del Pozo says, "Spanish women don't have any fashion culture because their criteria were frozen for so many years."

The tyranny of fashion with its seasons and its colors, he says, has given way to a confusing freedom.

"We've done the important thing, which was to wake Spanish women up — now we have to educate them."

Fashion commentator Lola Gavarron feels Spanish women remain confused over feminine identity.

"There are still very few women here who have their own identity, who don't live through their husbands," she said.

A scenario starts with the bidding

By James Jacoby

South first made a takeout double and then bid his spade suit. That sequence described a good opening hand with at least five spades. North raised spades to the two-level with a minimum, but was probably justified in that both his face cards figured to take tricks. South went right to game, expecting a slightly better dummy.

East overtook the diamond king with his ace and continued diamonds. Declarer ruffed the third diamond. The outlook for declarer could be described only as bleak. Because East had passed his partner's opening bid, he could not hold the spade king. If West held that card guarded, was there any way to avoid the loss of a heart trick? Declarer did come up with a possible distribution that might work. If West had started with king and a small spade, only two hearts, and nine cards in the minor suits, declarer could play the spade ace, cash the ace and king of hearts, play ace and king of clubs and ruff a club, and then put West on lead with the spade king. In that scenario, West would have no heart to lead and would have to give a sluff and a ruff.

The deal became much easier when the singleton king of spades fell under the ace. Crucial to success was declarer's realization that East could not hold the spade king when once he had passed the opening one-diamond bid.

Aides proposing easing rules on contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top administration officials are proposing that President Reagan ease longstanding requirements on the hiring of minorities and women at companies holding federal contracts, sources say.

The proposal, which a source said resulted from a meeting of Reagan's Cabinet Council on Domestic Policy, has not yet been presented to the president. It was not certain when Reagan would be asked to make a decision.

"It's something that's been bandied about for four years," said the source, who spoke only on condition of anonymity. "It happens apparently to be close to the point where it is ready to go to the president."

This source noted there were "a half-dozen different varieties of proposed revisions" of Executive Order 11246, which was issued by President Lyndon Johnson in the mid-1960s to set numerical hiring, promotion and training rules.

The New York Times and The Washington Post, in today's editions, quoted a draft version of the new executive order as saying that under its provisions, a government contractor would not be required "to utilize any numerical quota, goal or ratio" to remedy discrimination based on race, sex, religion or national origin.

"Nor shall any government contractor or subcontractor be determined to have violated this order due to a failure to adopt or attain any statistical measures," the document was quoted as saying.

Compliance would be judged by a company's "demonstrated nondiscriminatory treatment of its employees and potential employees, irrespective of the number of minorities and women recruited, trained, hired or promoted by the contractor or subcontractor."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, who was in Santa Barbara, Calif., on Wednesday with the vacationing president, said of the proposed revision: "That is a month-old draft that has no standing whatsoever.

Speakes added: "It has not been discussed in the Cabinet council and certainly not presented to the president."

Pope beatifies slain nun, forgives killer

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Pope John Paul II today beatified a Roman Catholic nun who was murdered in 1964 because she refused the sexual advances of an army colonel, and publicly forgave her killer.

Vatican officials had said John Paul would meet with her assailant, but instead the pope forgave him during an Assumption Day Mass in Kinshasa, the capital of Zaire.

"I myself, in the name of the whole church, forgive (him) with all my heart," the pontiff said in remarks inserted at the last moment into his prepared homily. The Assumption is the feast day commemorating the ascent of the Virgin Mary to heaven.

In the Mass, Sister Anuarite Nengapeta, who was killed in 1964 at the age of 25, was declared a blessed martyr of the church. She became the first African woman to receive the church honor, a major step toward possible sainthood.

The mass before an estimated 60,000 faithful took place under hot, overcast skies outside the People's Palace. At the same spot, nine people were crushed to death in a stampede shortly before John Paul's mass during his first visit to Zaire in May 1980.

But the meeting predicted by church officials between the pope and the nun's convicted killer did not take place. Vatican spokesman Joaquin Navarro said the nun's killer, former Col. Pierre Openge Olombe, did not personally request the meeting.

Olombe, a 47-year-old Roman Catholic, was condemned to death in 1964, but his sentence was reduced to life imprisonment. After serving five years in jail, he was pardoned by President Mobutu Sese Seko. He now lives in seclusion.

Sister Anuarite's parents told reporters Wednesday they had forgiven their daughter's killer "long ago."

Hundreds of thousands of people cheered the 65-year-old pontiff at the Kinshasa airport and along the 18-mile motorcade route to the city center Wednesday.

Zaire, a former Belgian colony, is Africa's largest Catholic country with the church claiming nearly 45 percent of its 30.5 million people as followers.

Pinkerton gets last minute execution stay

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Five Supreme Court justices granted a stay of execution for Jay Kelly Pinkerton, 26 minutes before he was to be put to death for the 1979 rape and mutiliation of a mother of three.

Pinkerton, a 23-year-old meat cutter from Amarillo, was waiting in a holding cell only a few feet from the death chamber when Warden Jack Pursley told him that the execution had been blocked.

"Thank you," Pinkerton said and then shook Pursley's hand. He was taken back to his death row cell at the Texas Department of Corrections' Ellis Unit, 13 miles away.

He would have been the youngest inmate to be executed since the Supreme Court restored the death penalty in 1976.

"We were of the opinion that a stay probably wouldn't be granted," Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said in announcing the high court's decision.

"We looked at the issues and didn't see any meritorious issues.

He said, however, that his office was surprise was initially was moving through the appellate process "as rapidly as it was."

Pinkerton, a convicted burglar with a history of juvenile crime, was sentenced to die by a poison injection shortly after midnight Wednesday for the Oct. 26, 1979 rape and mutilation of Sarah Donn Lawrence, 30. He also has a death sentence for a similar mutilation five months later of Sherry Welch, 25, a former beauty queen.

"It figures," Mrs. Lawrence's mother, Virginia Royer, of Lubbock, said after learning of the stay. "I was afraid this would happen. But maybe it was God's will."

The Supreme Court's decision came two days after the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused to block the execution.

U.S. District Judge Hayden Head also denied an appeal typed by Pinkerton only hours before he was transferred to the Walls Unit in downtown Huntsville. The appeal was carried by the inmate's parents, Margie and Gene Pinkerton, to Houston federal court and electronically sent to Head.

"We were not surprised," Mrs. Pinkerton said after a prison official told the family about the stay. "We felt he would get it all along."

According to Mattox, five justices halted the execution because questions raised about Pinkerton's trial lawyers and allegations that information from a jail cellmate was illegally used against him.

Justices Powell, White and Burger voted to allow prison official to carry out Pinkerton's punishment. Justice William Rehnquist did not paticipate.

Pinkerton's execution was not the first in Texas to be stayed within half an hour of taking place. James David Autry, who lay strapped to a gurney with needles in his arms, received a last-minute stay in October 1983. He was executed six months later.

"We had hoped the Supreme Court had a means of acting faster. But we have not been able to do that," Mattox said.

Pinkerton's execution was one of four scheduled for this week. All were blocked.

Pinkerton spent Wednesday in a closet-size holding cell, reading newspapers, playing dominoes and visiting with family members, some of whom emerged from the prison in tears.

He ate what was to be his "last meal" of fish patties, crackers, french fries and coffee.

Election approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has decided there was nothing wrong with the way Texas held a special congressional election that was considered a chance for Republicans to pick up a prized "yellow-dog Democrat" seat in East Texas.

In the Aug. 3 runoff, Democrat Jim Chapman narrowly defeated Republican Edd Hargett with just 51 percent of the vote. And Wednesday, the Justice Department announced that the special election schedule had passed muster under the Voting Rights Act.

"It was found not to be discriminatory," department spokesman John Wilson said.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said the approval came as "no surprise."

"I think this only proves the point that we've all been reiterating since this issue arose — that the Justice Department's actions regarding this special election were political and intended to hamper our state election process," he said.

Aspirin has several uses

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Aspirin is for headaches and fever, so why do all the doctors tell you to take it if you have arthritis?

DEAR READER — Aspirin works by inhibiting a natural body chemical called prostaglandin. This chemical is a cause of fever and inflammation. In some women, it produces menstrual cramps.

Therefore, although headaches and arthritis seem worlds apart, they have a common ingredient — prostaglandin. That is the reason why an anti-inflammatory drug like aspirin is often useful in a variety of seemingly unrelated conditions.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor tells me I have reversible ischemic neurological deficits. I take Ascriptin and Persantine, 75 mg., four times daily. Is improvement likely in the long run?

DEAR READER — The medicine you are now taking causes the blood to coagulate less quickly. Many specialists believe that reversible ischemic neurological deficits are, in fact, caused by tiny blood clots that lodge in the small arteries feeding nerve tissue. Therefore, the treatment may result in improvement. However, the likelihood that you will outgrow the condition — or improve on your own — is slim.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband has had poor luck finding a doctor to diagnose or treat his problem. His right arm and hand shake, and lately the joints in his two middle fingers lock up. What could this be?

DEAR READER — I'm sorry your husband has had "bad luck" in finding a doctor to help him. I am sure there are physicians who could diagnose and treat his condition. For example, locking fingers can usually be helped by an orthopedic specialist. With respect to his shaking, however, the problem may be more severe. The tremor you describe may have a neurological basis. Although some people, as they age, tend to become tremulous, there are medicines that can reduce shaking arms and hands. If your husband has early Parkinson's disease, treatment is certainly beneficial.

Ask your family physician for a referral to a specialist. If he is unable to comply with your wishes, take your husband to a certified neurologist. If you have already unsuccessfully tried that route, consider making an appointment with a diagnostic clinic at a teaching or university hospital.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Dorsett reporting to camp after getting new contract

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Holdout running back Tony Dorsett, who only a week ago called the Dallas Cowboys "double-crossers," planned to return to training camp today to sign a new five-year contract.

Dorsett's agent, Whit Stewart, negotiated the contract with Cowboys' President Tex Schramm on Wednesday after another agent, Howard Slusher, had encouraged Dorsett to stay away from camp at least another two weeks.

Dorsett, a nine-year veteran who is the sixth most prolific rusher in National Football League history, was to hold an afternoon press conference after checking into camp.

Schramm would release no details of the deal but a source told The Associated Press that it included deferred dollars that Dorsett can't touch until his career is over. Also, the contract took care of a $500,000 loan the Cowboys had given Dorsett.

According to the Dallas Morning News, the new contract provides Dorsett with a $6 million annuity and a lucrative real estate deal.

The News said Dorsett's annuity will pay $300,000 a year from 1993 through 2012. The Cowboys also will put $850,000 into Dallas real estate, with Dorsett having the option of taking the money or the land after five years, the newspaper reported.

Dorsett will also be paid $450,000 between the time he retires and the time the annuity begins, the News said.

Under the new contract, Dorsett's salary will be $450,000 a year in 1985, 1986 and 1987, and $500,000 a year in 1988 and 1989, The News said. Dorsett's old contract paid $450,000 this year, $500,000 in 1986 and $550,000 in 1987.

"I wanted to structure an agreement that he can walk away with pride and financial stability," said Schramm. "Right now he is very relieved. His years after football have been helped (financially)."

Dorsett got into financial trouble with the Internal Revenue Service and made some bad investments that ate into deferred money he had taken up front. He was on the fourth year of a seven-year contract that would have paid him $450,000 this year.

Dorsett hasn't received a paycheck since the Internal Revenue Service began attaching his $21,000-a-month salary last October.

Schramm added, "I'm very pleased with the way things turned out. I've never depreciated his value to our football team and I've never depreciated his value as an individual. He's an important member of our team."

Schramm said he can forgive and forget Dorsett's harsh words about the Cowboys which included a threat to retire or be traded.

"People say things when they are upset that they don't mean," said Schramm. "I don't think there will be any bad feelings. His attitude to me has been upbeat."

V'ball effort good; varsity team named

Coach Vicki Nelms said Wednesday that volleyball workouts are going well and the girls are picking up the new system quickly.

"They seem to be picking up everything pretty fast," said the new coach. "We're running a few different drills and things than they've been doing but they are adjusting quickly. They've worked real hard these first three days."

The coached also announced the varsity squad for this season. The group is led by five returning starters, Donna Anderson, Hope Hernandez, Kima McLarty, Karlene Thompson and Allison Adams.

The rest of the team includes Pam Casias, Donna Clay, Stacy Dunk, Shondra Robinson, Sharnette Thompson, Leslie Ward and Tammy Williamson.

Varsity managers are Janice Godair, Joan Godair and Stephanie Blair. Stacy Raschke and Stephanie Hernandez are the junior varsity managers.

'Cool' weather aids football two-a-days

The week's mild weather is pleasant for almost everyone, but especially for Snyder's Ragin' Tigers, who are scheduled to don pads Friday.

"All the kids were praying for cool weather. I told them they ought to believe in prayer now because their prayers have been answered," grinned Coach Dennis Tomlin. "The weather has been a big help. It's helped our concentration tremendously.

Tomlin said the gridders will put on the pads Friday morning and "we'll find out what condition we're really in. The main thing will be adjusting to carrying that extra weight and moving with that bulk."

The Tigers won't do a lot of contact work, the coach said, but instead will concentrate on "teaching and learning."

Tomlin talked about defensive positions Wednesday morning.

"We've got Juan Benetiz back at defensive tackle and he has really looked good in workouts," noted the coach. "He came to camp ready to play."

Benetiz, Henry Treat, Mark Thompson, Jake Menix, Brian Sitton and Tomy Romero are battling for the two defensive tackle spots.

"If we continue to go like we are, we'll be better at the position than we were last year," Tomlin said.

Trey Tippens and Robert Patterson are back at the defensive ends and "they've retained a great deal from last season," said Tomlin. "At outside linebacker, we aren't as experienced. We've got Jimmy Hunter and Steve Parker in the lead of that battle. Chris Garrett, Michael Long, Scott Lanier and Ricky Hunter are making a strong challenge."

Trainer Jeff Clark said the worst of Tiger injuries were a couple of sprained ankles.

"Mainly it's just blisters and sore muscles," he said. "The kids are real good about letting me know what's hurting them."

White starting quarterback, Coach Landry confirms again

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry says Danny White will be the starting quarterback for the National Football League team when regular season play begins Sept. 9.

Landry made the statement Wednesday after someone asked about the quarterback controversy involving whether White or challenger Gary Hogeboom would be the starting quarterback.

"There is no decision to be made," said Landry. "Danny will be the starting quarterback until he proves he can't do it."

"We don't need to have this thing up in the air any more. If Danny is the starter, then he is the starter."

"Our whole thing this year is to get the job done," Landry said. "I'm going to keep my opens, but I'm going to support the starters I've got in there," Landry said.

Asked if there had been any real competition in training camp between White and Hogeboom, Landry replied, "Not really."

Hogeboom, who started last season as starting quarterback and was replaced by White during the season, says he hopes he can change Landry's mind.

Hogeboom will start Saturday night in the exhibition game against the San Diego Chargers, Landry said.

"All I can say is that I hope I can do the best I can in the preseason and still hope that I can be the starter," Hogeboom said.

Informed of Landry's statement, White said, "I will continue to do the best I can do. But I'm not going to assume anything until it happens."

"There is no pressure this year. I can play ball and not worry about what other people think," White added. "I'm not going to let my life be destroyed by football any more. Last year really had an effect on my life off the field. That's just not going happen any more."

Joe McCarthy managed teams in 43 World Series games and won 30 for a percentage of .698.

Accused agent called con man

AUSTIN (AP) — Before bilking an Austin man by posing as a KGB agent, Bratislav Lilic used his Yugoslavian accent to swindle governments in the world's most troubled regions, according to FBI testimony in a federal fraud trial.

Federal indictments say Lilic, 33, lied to Douglas Pierce of Austin and persuaded the wealthy businessman to give him $46,000. Lilic allegedly promised he could win the release of Pierce's son John, missing since the Glomar Java Sea sank Oct. 25, 1983, in the South China Sea.

Pierce's body was never found. His father is convinced his son drifted in a lifeboat to Vietnam and is still being held prisoner there. Pierce testified he has spent $400,000 searching for his son.

The Glomar Java Sea was a drilling ship, but Pierce said he suspects the CIA had agents on board.

FBI agent Sikes Houston of Austin, who arrested Lilic in San Antonio on Jan. 11, testified that Lilic told him he made a living by selling phony information to foreign governments.

U.S. District Judge James Nowlin previewed testimony about earlier schemes that may have involved Lilic. The judge later ruled jurors could hear the testimony, but could not hear about Lilic's prison record.

Lilic has served two prison terms, according to defense lawyer Joe Turner.

Byron Eden, a Chicago FBI agent, testified about his interview with Lilic after Lilic was arrested in connection with dealings with the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League in New York.

"He decribed himself as a con man and burglar, indicating he had been in contact with representatives of foreign governments for the purpose of using his foreign accent for the purpose of pulling off cons," Eden said Lilic told him.

Eden said Lilic claimed to have attempted scams on the governments of Bulgaria, Romania, Libya and the Soviet Union. Lilic liked the plans because he felt he could not be prosecuted unless those foreign governments admitted to engaging in espionage in he United States, according to Eden.

Eden testified that Lilic was arrested but never charged in 1983 after meeting with the Anti-Defamation League's security director.

Ministry orders 747s inspection

TOKYO (AP) — The Transport Ministry today ordered mandatory inspection of the tail section of all Boeing 747s flown by Japanese airlines because of evidence that a tail-end failure caused a jumbo jet to slam into a mountain, killing 520 people.

Preliminary evidence in a joint U.S.-Japanese probe of Monday's crash of a Japan Air Lines jet, the worst single-plane crash in history, indicated it was caused by a structural failure in the tail section, the ministry said.

"The circumstances (of the crash) seem to indicate that the damage to the vertical stabilizer and the rudders might be the starting point of the accident," it said.

Three pieces of the tail section were found in Sagami Bay outside of Tokyo, indicating that they had come off the plane well before the crash.

A spokesman for Japan Air Lines, whose fleet of 49 jumbo jets is the largest in the world, said the company had no comment. But, he said, the order would not disrupt service.

The government owns 34.9 percent of the airline.

Army to award phone contract soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the midst of a military buildup that has emphasized high-priced missiles, planes and ships, the Army is about to break new ground with a huge contract for a combat telephone system — to be built overseas.

The contract, worth $4.3 billion over the next five years, is expected to be awarded within the month. And it already is guaranteed to become one of the single largest U.S. military orders ever placed with a foreign company.

Two teams of contractors have been formally competing for the contract since last year, when the Army decided to equip 25 divisions with a high-capacity communications system that would offer much more than simple two-way radio channels.

While both of the competing teams are headed by American firms, they are competing on behalf of systems already developed and fielded in Europe.

One team consists of the Plessey Co., a leading British electronics concern, which is offering a system known as Ptarmigan in partnership with the Rockwell International Corp. and the ITT Corp.

The other consists of Thomson-CSF, France's nationalized electronics giant, which is offering a system known as RITA in partnership with the GTE Corp.

Ptarmigan, named for an Alpine grouse, has been deployed with Britain's First Army. RITA, an acronym for Reseau Integree des Transmissions Automatique, is being used by units of the French and Belgian armies.

Both teams have spent millions to conduct major demonstration exercises in Europe over the past year, allowing Army brass and congressional staffers to scrutinize their systems. Army officials at the Pentagon refuse to discuss the results of those tests, beyond saying both systems are "strong" and a final selection will be difficult.

The Army contract envisions a huge network of Mobile Subscriber Equipment — or MSE for short — that would be rugged, portable and secure yet built with technology that would guarantee huge amounts of capacity.

The network would consist of traveling telephone exchanges capable of handling radio, microwave, satellite and regular land-line telephone calls at the same time. The system could accommodate everything from voice conversations to computer data to facsimile copies of maps drawn by front-line reconnaissance soldiers.

The switching and computer equipment would be carried inside trucks capable of moving around a battle zone. Portable units could be carried by hand or on jeeps and helicopters. Once tied in to the system, any unit could be dialed directly with a seven-digit number, just like a conventional telephone.

"We've got major allies who have fielded these systems," says Lt. Col. Craig MacNab, an Army spokesman. "This isn't wishful thinking. We know they both work."

While MacNab says the Army didn't intentionally freeze out U.S. firms from the competition, it does believe it already has saved American taxpayers billions of dollars. The Army estimates that by buying a ready-made system, it will save as much as $5 billion and shave up to nine years off the deployment schedule.

Attorneys ponder credibility

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Attorneys for two former police officers charged with the 1960 killing of Marvin Williams want to question the credibility of a potential witness for the prosecution.

Marvin Iberg, 50, and O.H. "Bill" Mullenax, 48, are charged with the first-degree murder of Williams, a 21-year-old black man found dead in his jail cell after the two white policeman arrested him for public drunkenness.

A coroner's jury cleared the two in 1960 without seeing Williams' autopsy. The case was reopened last year when a state prison inmate, Charles Hackney, wrote letters to officials saying he saw a black man beaten in the Faulkner County Jail the night Williams died.

Mullenax is a state police sergeant on leave. Iberg is a truck driver.

Attorneys must select another juror to complete the 12-member panel, plus two alternates. Opening arguments are expected Friday.

Helen Rice Grinder, Iberg's attorney, and Bart Mullis, Mullenax's attorney, filed a motion Wednesday asking that they be allowed to disclose to the jury a manslaughter conviction of Joe Flake, Williams' companion the night he was arrested. The motion said Flake was convicted of manslaughter within three years of Williams' death and served more than a year in prison.

According to rules of evidence, convictions cannot be introduced as evidence after either 10 years from the date of conviction or the release of the prisoner.

Jury selection dragged on Wednesday, as defense attorneys and Prosecutor Sam Heuer questioned 17 potential jurors and selected three. One of the potential jurors disqualified was Earlean Croston of Cownay, the fourth black questioned, and the fourth excused. Attorneys have closely questioned potential jurors about racial bias.

Three minor wrecks occur

Three minor traffic accidents were reported in Snyder Wednesday.

The day's first mishap was logged at 12:33 p.m. in the 1300 Block of 24th St.

Involved in it were four parked cars, all struck by an unidentified vehicle which fled the scene.

Vehicles damaged in the incident included: a 1974 Oldsmobile owned by Randy D. Harrison; a 1975 Chevrolet owned by Joleen Fontanilla; a 1973 Ford owned by Renee Beggs; and a 1975 Dodge owned by Doyle Van Cleave.

All owners of the damaged vehicle are residents of apartments at 1307 24th St.

The parking lot of Furr's Supermarket in the 1700 Block of 26th St. was the scene of the second accident at 1:32 p.m.

Involved in it was a 1979 GMC driven by Lisa Gayle Turner of Rt. 3, Snyder which struck a parked 1979 Ford owned by Jo Etta Thompson of 107 Milburn Dr.

Wednesday's final mishap was reported in the 100 Block of Browning St. at 10:04 p.m.

A 1974 Chevrolet owned by Guadalupe Lopez of 117 Browning and parked at that address was struck by a 1978 Ford driven by Paulette Pritchard of 2210 44th St.

No injuries resulted from any of Wednesday's accidents.
