The new Public Utilities Commission of Texas, which begins its actual work next September, has issued a pamphlet describing its functions, how it came into being and why it was created by the Legislature.

Actually, the state commission will be the sole regulator only of telephone rates. It also will regulate rates for electrictiy, water and sewer utilities in rural areas. Cities and towns will continue to regulate rates for electrictiy, water and sewer utilities within their own boundaries, but these utilities must conform to the reporting and accounting procedures established by the commission. This probably means that, for all practical purposes, these rates will be set by the state commission, because their accounting systems, upon which rates are based, will be required to conform to the commission's regulations.

Totally free of the state commission's jurisdiction, or influence, are gas utilities. Cities will continue to regulate these within their own boundaries, and the Texas Railroad Commission will regulate them in rural areas.

The two-dollar bill is going to make its comeback on April 13. None has been printed in the past 10 years, although two-dollar bills have been authorized since the Civil War. They are expected to become more popular now than ever before in day-to-day business transactions because the one-dollar bill doesn't fill the demand that it did prior to inflation. In other words, a two-dollar will be worth about as much as a one-dollar bill was a few years ago.

The previous issues of two-dollar bills have become collector's items, but there will be enough of the new ones available on April 13 for everybody in the country to have one—about 225 million of them. Then Uncle Sam expects to continue circulating two-dollar bills at the rate of about 400 million per year. All of this year's supply is due to be in circulation by July 4.

The Texas Medical Association says research which began in 1965 shows that men can add 11 years to their lives and women seven years by following seven simple suggestions: Eat a good breakfast daily; eat three meals a day at regular times and avoid snacks; exercise regularly; keep your weight within recommended levels; be moderate in drinking (never more than two drinks a day); don't smoke cigarettes.

The study reportedly shows that a man who observes three or fewer of these rules will be fortunate to reach age 67. But a man at 55 who follows all seven guidelines has the same physical health status as a person 25 to 30 years younger who follows less than two.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 18, the 78th day of 1976. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, during the American Revolution, George Washington took over control of Boston after evacuation of the British.

On this date:

In 1837, Grover Cleveland, who served as the 22nd and the 24th U.S. President, was born in Caldwell, N.J.

In 1937, more than 400 persons, mostly children, were killed in a gas explosion in a school in New London, Tex.

In 1962, a cease-fire in the Algerian War was signed by French authorities and Algerian rebel delegates in Evianles-Baines, France.

In 1965, exiled King Farouk of Egypt died in Rome.

In 1970, Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk was deposed as Cambodia's Chief of State while on a visit to Moscow.

In 1965, a Soviet cosmonaut became the first man to leave an orbiting spacecraft and float in space.

Ten years ago: Pope Paul VI ended some Vatican restrictions on marriages between Roman Catholics and people of other religious faiths.

Five years ago: Indira Gandhi was sworn in as Prime Minister of India for the third time, and she promised a march to progress.

One year ago: The U.S. Supreme Court ruled that live stage shows were entitled to the same First Amendment protection against censorship as books and movies.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, while George Washington was occupying Boston after British evacuation, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia was debating whether to use privateers in the struggle with Britain.

Church Joins Presidential Race Today

By QUANE KENYON
Associated Press Writer

IDAHO CITY, Idaho (AP) — Sen. Frank Church joined the field of candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination today, declaring that the federal bureaucracy must be harnessed and that important issues are being ignored by other candidates.

"Peripheral questions preempt the debate. There is no sense of overriding purpose; no serious discussion of the fundamental choices which determine our future course," the Idaho senator said in a statement prepared for announcing that he was becoming the eighth candidate now seeking his party's nomination.

Church said that contrary to the opinions of others, it was not too late to enter the race.

FRANK CHURCH
...Eighth candidate

He also said the image of the government must be restored, and he said his time on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee gives him an advantage in foreign policy.

Church flew to Idaho Wednesday to announce his candidacy from the wooden steps of the Boise County Courthouse in this historic mining town of 150 people. His father-in-law, former Idaho Gov. Chase A. Clark, announced his candidacy for governor in 1940 at the same spot.

"The first priority on our political agenda is the restoration of the federal government to legitimacy in the eyes of the people," Church said.

"The vast majority of federal employes are honest, law-abiding citizens, but nobody, no matter how highly placed in the government, has the right to break the law, to open our mail, to photograph our cables ... to open tax investigations against persons not even suspected of tax delinquency but targeted for political harassment instead."

CAB To Probe Waivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board today announced an inquiry into its waiver of charter flight regulations to benefit Howard H. Callaway's ski resort, and White House sources indicated Callaway will be replaced permanently as President Ford's campaign manager.

One White House official said he understood "it's all a question of timing" as to when to announce a shift in the campaign hierarchy. Other sources said it is virtually a foregone conclusion that Rogers C.B. Morton ultimately will succeed Callaway.

The reports came as the CAB announced it is looking into the circumstances of its waivers granted since 1969 permitting charter flights to destinations near the Colorado ski resort owned by Callaway and his brother-in-law.

A CAB official said the waivers have been renewed several times and expire this April 30, when they probably will not be renewed because a recent change in the agency's charter regulations will permit the flights without waivers.

The board's statement said it "has no information indicating improprieties in the grant of any waivers or exemptions."

A White House spokesman acknowledged that replacing Callaway on a permanent basis "is under study." But the spokesman added: "Nothing has been worked out yet." He suggested it might be several days before any announcement is made.

Italians Protest Austerity Plan

ROME (AP) — Thousands of workers paraded in downtown Milan today protesting the government's new austerity plan. The measures, which won qualified endorsement from Italy's increasingly powerful Communists, helped the lira rally against the dollar, brokers said.

The Communists, in their first public consultation with their traditional foes, the ruling Christian Democrats, said Wednesday night they would help in the austerity program but only if they got a share of national power, denied to them since 1947.

The governing party began a four-day congress, meanwhile, that is expected to discuss whether to move to the left and toward some sort of accommodation with the Communists, Italy's second largest party.

The Communists in France, another NATO country, also are making headway in their campaign to have a say in central government through parliamentary means, and like their Italian counterparts, have provoked Kremlin anger by insisting on national interpretations of Communist ideology. U.S. officials have warned both Italy and France against what they see as ominous inroads being made by the Communists in the two countries.

About 20,000 workers of Alfa Romeo, the Italian state-controlled auto maker, struck for two hours in Milan to protest the austerity plan, which aims at helping the lira. The plan also came under sharp criticism from company officials as an attack on the Italian auto industry.

On the money market, the Italian lira rallied against the dollar, halting a series of dramatic drops that carried the Italian currency to record lows. The lira closed at 875 to the dollar in Milan, against a quote of 880 on Wednesday.

The rally was attributed to the austerity plan decided by the government to help the Italian currency. "It was a psychological reaction," one dealer said.

Jaycees Helping Register Voters

The Snyder Jaycees are helping Don Adams, county tax assessor-collector, to register qualified voters.

Adams has deputized five or six Jaycees so that they will be legally qualified to register voters.

Bob Clifton of the Jaycees said the six Jaycees will go to the home or business of any qualified voter who does not have time to go to the tax office to register.

"All you have to do is call me at 573-9322 at radio station KSNY, and a Jaycee will be sent to your home or business to register you to vote," explained Clifton.

BETWEEN THE STATES

Oilman Claims Reserves Root Of Another War

AUSTIN (AP) — An Oklahoma oil executive told the Texas Railroad Commission today the rich oil and gas reserves of the South and Southwest seem "now to be the root of another war between the states."

"Our energy-have-not congressmen... propose to dismember the petroleum industry...all to the end of ultimately nationalizing oil and gas reserves that rightfully belong to the Southwest and the South," said James Hara, president of Skelly Oil Co. of Tulsa.

"One-hundred and forty years ago this month the rallying cry in these parts was 'Remember the Alamo.' If we do not effectively generate opposition to nationalization now, not many years ahead no one will be able to 'Remember Free Enterprise,'" Hara said.

Richard Palmer, senior vice president of Texaco, said he had been told that "well over 1,000 bills dealing with energy had been submitted to Congress in the current legislative session. I might add, parenthetically, that with a single exception I consider none of these beneficial or desirable to the industry."

An executive for Atlantic Richfield Co. cited Bicentennial travel today in predicting total petroleum demands for 1976 would increase by at least 3.9 per cent.

Much of the crude oil necessary to meet rising demands "will have to come from abroad since domestic crude production will continue to decline in 1976 by .7 per cent," said H.H. Zachow, in remarks prepared for delivery at the statewide oil allowable hearing.

Zachow, manager of Atlantic Richfield's crude and products supply, said Congress is making it harder for this country to become independent of foreign sources in producing oil and gas.

He predicted that petroleum imports would increase by approximately 700,000 barrels a day this year and United States payments to foreign producers would rise to more than $30 billion in 1976.

"Meanwhile, the oil industry must pass along to the consumer the substantial cost of compliance with existing federal regulations. In the case of Atlantic Richfield Co. the overall cost of dealing with the federal government alone is at least $40 million a year," Zachow said.

Divorce Ruled Out For Princess

LONDON (AP) — A divorce has been ruled out for Princess Margaret, but a legal separation from her husband, photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones, is likely, sources close to Buckingham Palace said today.

"Discussions have been going on with lawyers," said a spokesman for Buckingham Palace, the home of Queen Elizabeth II, Margaret's sister.

There has been speculation for over 10 years on the marriage of the princess, 45, fifth in line for the throne, and her husband, the Earl of Snowdown, 46, a noted photographer who flew out of Hong Kong today on his way to Sydney to attend an exhibition of the pictures he has taken in the past 25 years.

EXTENDS WASHINGTON'S REACH

New Agencies Have Doubled Since 1965

By BROOKS JACKSON and
EVANS WITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's highway death rate is one-third lower than it was 10 years ago when Washington began requiring safety equipment on cars.

The level of eye-burning sulphur dioxide in the nation's air has dropped 25 per cent since federal environmental controls were imposed five years ago.

If this decade of expanded federal regulation has saved lives and reduced pollution, it has also extended Washington's reach into the lives of individual citizens in ways never before experienced in this country.

Since 1965, the number of major regulatory agencies has doubled from 12 to 24.

This new regulation costs money. The record of progress has been uneven and claims of progress hard to justify. The five-year-old Occupational Safety and Health Administration, for example, has yet to produce solid evidence it has reduced job deaths and injuries.

Some of the agencies have made an obvious mark. The antidiscrimination laws enforced by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission have helped blacks and other minorities increase the number of technical and professional jobs they hold by one-third.

Traffic Safety

The record of the Traffic Safety Administration, one of the first in the recent surge of new agencies, shows in a nutshell the benefits and costs of the new wave of federal regulation.

Highways are safer now. Deaths and disabling injuries have been averted, probably by the thousands. Cars cost more. And when the bureaucracy becomes too eager, it can do more harm than good.

When Congress established the agency in 1966, the traffic death rate had reversed its historic slide and had been increasing for five years. More than 50,000 were killed on highways that year, a record at the time.

Today, after nearly a decade of regulation, the death rate per passenger mile is the lowest since statistics have been kept. The rate has dropped each year since the traffic safety law was enacted and the number of persons killed in vehicle accidents is now below the 1966 figure.

Preliminary figures for last year show the death rate had dropped below 3.6 per 100 million miles, compared to 5.7 in 1966.

A dramatic number of auto fatalities were prevented in 1974 as the byproduct of the energy crisis. The gasoline shortage brought the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, a reduction in highway travel — and 9,400 fewer highway deaths than the year before.

But last year, as speed edged up and travel resumed its upward climb, the actual number of highway deaths did not increase and the death rate per mile continued to drop.

Even Ford Motor Co., which says regulations are becoming excessive and too expensive, estimates that cars equipped to meet 1971 safety standards kill and injure about 25 per cent fewer people than unregulated cars.

Such protection costs money. Ford estimates its 1971 Pinto carried $120 in federally required safety equipment. That soared to $325 for a 1975 model with new side-door reinforcing beams, stronger roof supports, heavier bumpers and seat belt warning systems.

Putting On the Brakes

Some of the traffic safety agency's rules have been flops — like the bus-brake affair.

Last year, it required all new air-braked trucks, trailers and buses to carry bigger brakes and expensive computer systems to prevent the wheels from locking in a skid during panic stops.

But when the system's sensors on buses got out of adjustment by as little as six one-thousandths of an inch, the computer would release the brakes during normal braking speeds of about 10 mph and then slam on the brakes at around 5 mph, throwing passengers to the bus floor.

Bus companies began disconnecting their $1,200 "super-brake" system and Massachusetts threatened to lift the permits of any bus company using the federally required gear.

Finally, after three days of hearings and a two-month comment period, the agency temporarily suspended the standard on Jan. 7.

A similar, if slightly loosened standard is still in effect for semi-trailer truck rigs, despite protests and court suits by drivers and trucking firms.

Job Safety and Health

In the five years since it was formed, the highly controversial Occupational Safety and Health Administration has produced no reliable indication that it has saved many workmen's lives or prevented any significant number of serious job injuries.

In fact, there is still no agreement on even how many workers are killed each year in job accidents. The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates 5,900 died from job accidents or diseases in 1974, a projection based on reports by 600,000 employers.

But the National Safety Council says its analysis of death certificates shows work accidents caused 13,400 deaths that year.

As evidence of their effectiveness, federal job-safety officials point to a reported drop in the 1973 injury rates in such industries as logging, longshoring and roofing, the so-called "target industries" where OSHA concentrated early enforcement efforts.

Yet the rates of serious in-

US Oil Imports Top Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States last week imported more oil than it produced for the first time in history even though Americans are demanding less oil now than they did before the Arab oil embargo.

The figures, released Wednesday by the American Petroleum Institute and confirmed by the Federal Energy Administration, show domestic production continuing a six-year decline and U.S. imports rising to record levels to meet demands that nevertheless are two million barrels per day below their peak level before the 1973 embargo.

Imports have been rising since the end of the embargo in early 1974 and crept above the 8-million-barrels-a-day level last week for the first time ever. Domestic production has been declining steadily from its peak of over 9 million barrels a day, recorded in 1970.

The result is that although conservation efforts, recession and mild winter weather since 1973 have lessened the amount of oil Americans use, the United States is more dependent on foreign oil sources than it was when the embargo was imposed.

The industry institute said total imports last week rose to 8,196,000 barrels a day. Domestic production, meanwhile, came to 8,013,500 last week, the API said.

Imports now comprise 45 per cent of the oil used in the United States. Last year, they accounted for 30 per cent, the API said.

Reasons for the decline in U.S. production are hotly disputed. Industry officials point out that prices of domestic oil are controlled and they argue that higher prices are needed to stimulate production. They say price controls have served to keep prices too low to provide incentives for new exploration — extremely costly when it involves searching the ocean's floor or searches in remote areas.

On the other hand, critics of the industry claim oil companies are deliberately deferring production to get higher prices. These critics maintain oil firms abandon old wells still containing oil rather than produce, at slightly higher cost, what is left in them.

U.S. demand for oil has only recently approached its previous high of more than 18 million barrels a day in the first quarter of 1973. Over all of that year, the average daily American demand stood at 17,308,000 barrels per day and imports averaged 6,256,000 of that.

The latest four-week averages by the FEA indicate total U.S. demand, including natural gas liquids and supplies drawn from stockpiles, is rising slowly from last year, increasing by about 521,000 barrels per day, or 3 per cent over the past year.

An API spokesman had no immediate explanation for the steep rise in imports and could not explain whether it was industry-wide or was concentrated in a few companies or regions.

Prison Term Is Assessed

A Scurry County jury handed Richard Dean West a five-year prison sentence Wednesday after finding him guilty of driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense.

Trial began Tuesday after West had pleaded innocent to the charge. The jury deliberated the verdict about two hours and was out about 30 minutes before setting the punishment at five years in prison.

The case was prosecuted by District Attorney Pete Greene. District Judge Wayland Holt was presiding judge of the case, which was held in 132nd District Court. Attorney for the defense was Alex LeFeuvre. The offense occurred Jan. 24.

CBers Help Pay Funeral Expenses

DALLAS (AP) — A disabled citizens band radio operator heard of the death of a 4-year-old Oak Cliff girl and called on his good buddies to help the family meet funeral expenses.

In 24 hours the radio appeal from Kenneth Keels, 38, had brought in $641, enough to pay for the burial of little Concha Casas. The child was struck and killed by a truck Monday when she ran into the path of the vehicle.

Rites Set For Mishap Victim

DeWayne Thompson, 18, of North Las Vegas, Nev., and a former resident of Snyder, was killed in an auto accident at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Silver City, N.M.

Services are set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Bell-Seale Chapel with the Rev. C. Crayton, officiating. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

He is survived by his father, L.C. Thompson of Snyder; his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson of North Las Vegas, Nev.; two sisters, Cynthia Tallie and Doris Jean Tallie, and three brothers, Douglas Tallie, Morris Tallie and Roy Lee Sessions, all of the home; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A.T. Thompson of Snyder.

Firemen Called

One grass fire yesterday was reported by the fire department. The fire occurred at 5:14 p.m. in the 3700 block of Dalton Drive.

SEIZED BY POLICE—These items were seized Wednesday afternoon by Snyder police who arrested two persons who are due to face felony charges of possession of marijuana. Officers said the two plastic bags at top contained about two pounds of marijuana.

Youth Wounded Accidentally

An accidental shooting, an auto burglary, two acts of vandalism, and a minor traffic accident headed police reports for Wednesday.

A 17-year-old Ira youth was rushed to Cogdell Memorial Hospital following an accidental shooting yesterday evening in Ira. James Buchanan was reportedly handling a .22 caliber pistol when the gun discharged, shooting him in the right leg. He is listed in good condition.

An auto burglary was reported by Larkin West yesterday in a parking lot at Snyder High School. Taken from a 1975 Pontiac was a tape deck valued at approximately $60. The burglary is believed to have occurred sometime between 10 a.m. and noon yesterday.

A rock was thrown through the window of a residence in the 800 block of Twenty-fifth Street. Damage was estimated at $20.

In another act of vandalism yesterday, two commodes were damaged in a restroom at Towle Park. Damage was estimated at $100.

A minor accident was reported yesterday evening at College Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street. Involved in the mishap were a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Vernon R. Duff and a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Francisco Lopez.

Braniff Workers Strike Tonight

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International ground workers say they will stop work at midnight tonight if the current contract negotiations stalemate with the airline remains unresolved.

"The last thing we heard, there hasn't been anything settled," said B.C. Smith of Local 19 of the Teamsters Union, which represents the 3,600 personnel involved.

Braniff ticket agents, reservation clerks, secretaries and baggage handlers have been working without a contract since August.

Negotiations began last April between the union and the Dallas-based airline.

Smith said the union voted two months ago to strike if the negotiations failed.

A 30-day cooling-off period ordered by the National Mediation Board expires at midnight, Smith said.

Braniff spokesman Jere Cox today said progress had been made in the negotiations that are continuing in Washington.

"The company is confident there will be no interruption of service," Cox said.

Pair Held After Raid

Two persons have been taken into custody by the Snyder Police Department following a raid yesterday afternoon in the 1900 block of Coleman Street. The suspects, a man and woman, are expected to be charged this afternoon with felony possession of marijuana.

Taken in the raid yesterday afternoon at 5:45 were approximately two pounds of marijuana, a .22 caliber pistol, a .38 caliber double-barrelled Derringer pistol, narcotic paraphernalia, and two mag wheels with tires, officers said.

The Snyder Police Department learned from the Midland Department of Public Safety Office yesterday morning that the suspects were believed to be in the Snyder area. Following a tip later yesterday, Snyder police learned the address of the suspects. A search warrant was obtained and the raid was made yesterday afternoon.

Base Closings To Cut 1,359 Civilian Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says 1,359 civilian jobs will be eliminated in the planned closing or downgrading of 80 bases, mostly Navy facilities.

The planned reduction announced Wednesday is the second of three being planned by defense officials, and was projected to save $56 million a year.

The Air Force announced last week it would close or trim 51 bases to save an estimated $150 million annually. And the Army is preparing its list of reductions to be announced last.

The Pentagon said the Navy closings and reductions would affect more than 14,000 military and civilian personnel in 29 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Guam.

The action involves 74 Navy installations, including 45 small reserve centers. Also involved are six installations of the Defense Mapping Agency, the Defense Supply Agency and the Army.

Undersecretary of the Navy David Potter said only two or three of 19 larger facilities affected would be closed completely. Before closing or cutting the large bases, the Navy first must conduct detailed studies to see what the local impact will be, he said.

The studies, which could take up to nine months, will consider environmental factors as well as community impact on housing, schools and employment, the Navy said.

The Pentagon said the streamlining action calls for about 2,100 military personnel to be transferred from support to combat assignments, and studies must be made of facilities where operations may increase because of transfers.

Potter said the $56 million savings, expected to begin in October 1977, was equivalent to the cost of operating nine destroyers for one year and the cost of overhauling three such vessels.

Playday Is Set At Sweetwater

SWEETWATER—The Nolan County 4-H Horse Club will sponsor an open playday at the Nolan County Coliseum in Sweetwater on Saturday, March 27. Registration will begin at 1 p.m. and the playday events will begin at 2 p.m.

It is open to all, with age groups including 12 and under, 13 through 15, 16 through 19 and 20 and over. There will be trophies for the first through fifth places in each event and a high point award in each age group, plus an overall high point award. Entry fee is $2 per event. Events will include western pleasure, reining, barrels, poles and flags.

Abilene Attorney Speaks At Convention Luncheon

Snyder Clubs hosted a "Early Start Coffee' yesterday morning at Martha Ann Woman's Club to kick off the second day of activities of the Mesquite District Texas Federation of Women's Clubs Convention.

Mrs. John Berry, District President, called the meeting to order. Mrs. J.C. McGeen gave the invocation. Following committee reports Ms. Harriette Williford Whatley, President of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, presented "Potpourri from TFWC."

At noon club women enjoyed a Bicentennial West Texas Style Luncheon. Mrs. John Berry introduced the guest speaker Maurice Brooks, an Abilene Attorney. His topic was "Bicentennial West Texas Style." He gave a brief history of the founding of our area and then talked on our freedom saying, "Freedom is not free, it has been purchased by the blood and lives of brave men and women and by their fortunes. They gave their all for the individual to be free to worship, own property, and speak as he please...Freedom is within the person. In recent years, we have traded off and have not done too good a job in protecting our freedom and liberties. We have traded them off, little by little, in hunting that elusive thing called security. We expect our government to do too much. Some groups critize our government and laws. They do not accept freedom as the majority wants it. I am continually saddened by and am tired of the mobs who burn our public buildings, schools and overseas embassies; tired and fed up with mobs of gays, unwashed and long-haired people who claim they represent the new wave, the new thinking; tired of supporting chislers on the welfare rolls; tied of those preaching the right to disobey the civil laws if unsuitable to them, and those who fled from the old countries to American and then got at the head of the line demanding more than anyone else-for free; I cannot and will not accept corruption in any form as being compulsory."

MAURICE BROOKS

This country was founded upon the principle of majority rule, but now denies the positive rights of the great majority. My ballot is now printed in two languages. Why? There can be no 50-50 Americanism in this country. There is only room here for those who are and want to be Americans and not Quasi something else. I do not like to hear those who rail for recognition of their national heritages as a way of life when they came here to get away from oppression and to find the marveleus blessings of American Freedom and liberty. That is why we are here, and our forefathers came here for the same reason.

I am an idealist, an American. I thank a merciful God that I was so lucky to have been born in this great West Texas area of America." Brooks received applaud at intervals of his speech and a standing ovation.

A style show "Federation Fashions", narrated by Mrs. R.A. Shaver, Jr., Rochester, was presented. Clubwomen modeled fashions of their own creation. Receiving first place in the "Over 35" group was Mrs. W.L. Ballard; second place was Mrs. Bruce Johnson of Loraine. In the "Under 30" group first place was awarded to Mrs. George Gaines of Anson and second place to Mrs. Dewain Finley of Albany.

Mamie Goes Home To Gettysburg

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has gone home to Gettysburg, Pa., to recuperate after a stay of more than two months at Walter Reed Army Medical Center here.

The former first lady, who entered Walter Reed on Dec. 31, was discharged Wednesday after treatment for a viral infection.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South looked over dummy and didn't like what he saw. Not that his partner had done anything wrong, but rather that there were nine sure tricks available at notrump and no apparent 10th visible at the four-spade contract.

Then South saw a ray of hope — in fact a couple of rays. The first one was that maybe the queen of clubs would drop doubleton. The second one was a far more complicated ray, but it might well be available if that queen didn't drop.

South won the first heart with his king, cashed dummy's ace and king of trumps and ace of hearts and ruffed a heart. This left one trump outstanding, but South couldn't help that. He needed to keep a trump in dummy. Then South cashed the ace and king of clubs and led a third club.

West was on lead and could do nothing to keep South from scoring his 10th trick.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wisconsin reader wants to know what we bid with:

♠ A K ♥ Q x x ♦ A K x x x ♣ 10 x x.

The game is match-point duplicate. You are second hand and vulnerable and dealer opens three hearts.

This is a tough one indeed, but we would bid three notrump. The hand is unsatisfactory for a takeout double and too big to pass.

Lubbock Artist To Present 20th Century Club Program

The Twentieth Century Club will sponsor a Bicentennial Community Program Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Bill Leftwich, well known artist from Lubbock, will be guest speaker. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Bill Leftwich has been sketching and painting 49 of his 52 years. Having an older brother that could draw influenced him to take up drawing when he was three years old and making pictures has been a part of his life ever since. His younger sister is also an artist. He studied at the Dallas institute of Fine Art; The San Antonio Academy of Art; and at Shrivenham American University, England. He also has a B.S. in Agriculture from Texas A&M

His favorite subjects are western scenes, Indians; cattle; horses and military scenes. During World War II, he served as a tank commander in the 12th Armored Division in Europe and was awarded the Silver Star and Two Battle Stars.

From 1949 to 1951, he worked with the Aftosa Commission in Mexico. From his experiences helping to combat the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease, he illustrated and helped write the book "The Cow Killers." Other books he has authored and illustrated include "Tracks Along The Pecos; "Bracero"; "That's My Ruling"; "Rodeo Pattern Book" (for leather toolers); "Turn Him Out" and "The Corps At Aggieland" which he has recently completed. It is a 100 year history of the military life, traditions, etc. of Texas A&M

Leftwich has had one man shows at Ft. Davis; Odessa; Mondhans Sands State Park; Andrews; Fort Worth Children's Art Museum; Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico; Lubbock Christian College; and First National Bank, Lubbock.

For his topic at the Bicentennial Community Program Leftwich will speak on "New Interest in Raising Longhorns" and "The Evolution of Cowboy Gear." A display of ropes, spurs, branding irons, bits, saddles and etc. will accompany his talk.

Luncheon Slated

A covered dish luncheon is planned in the Center each month on the fourth Friday, but the March luncheon has been moved because the Center will be closed March 26 as the college takes a Spring break.

Table games will begin at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with blood pressure checks to be taken from 11-11:45. The luncheon will be at 12 noon.

LET'S JUST PRAISE THE LORD.

VIEWPOINT

A Mockery Of The Law

Life imitates art, they say, and that caper dubbed "The Sting" pulled off the other day by Washington D.C., police and FBI agents was, indeed, like something out of the movies.

During a five-month investigation, undercover agents posing as out-of-town syndicate members and operating out of an abandoned warehouse bought more than 3,500 pieces of stolen property from various denizens of the criminal world--the fruit of countless muggings, break-ins, hijackings and auto thefts.

The goods, estimated to be worth more than $2.4 million, included television sets, kitchen appliances, automobiles, credit cards, government checks and equipment and even an electrocardiagram machine stolen piece by piece from Prince George's County Hospital.

To celebrate the enterprise's success and to show their appreciation, the phony fences threw a party to which they invited all their friends. Then came "the sting"--the arrest of 108 persons and issuing of warrants for 75 more. It was the biggest such roundup in FBI and District of Columbia history.

Unfortunately, however, life has a way of stopping short of art. Or maybe it's the other way around. In movies or on television, the cracking of a case is usually the end of the story and the viewer is left with the satisfying knowledge that justice has triumphed and the evil-doers will receive their appropriate desserts at the hands of the courts.

Of the 108 arrested at the party, 70 had previously been arrested and charged with similar crimes--some of them repeatedly--and 21 were out on parole following convictions. One man had been arrested at least six times for burglary, forgery and other crimes, and in each instance had been released without bail.

In keeping with this sorry pattern, federal magistrates immediately released several of those seized in the haul on their own recognizance.

Claiming that 600 persons indicted on felony charges in Washington are now fugitives, assistant U.S. attorney Charles Roistacher complained bitterly that "most crimes are by people out on bail. The majority of those arrested (at the party) were hard-core criminals. People who commit crimes while out on parole or probation are making a mockery of the system. They are thumbing their noses at the courts."

But lest anyone think this is a problem involving only your ordinary street mugger or burglar or thief, consider the case of the "great grain ripoff" which was coming to a conclusion in New Orleans about the same time as the Washington affair.

Charged on 36 counts of conspiring to steal some $1.7 million worth of grain over a four-year period, two large export companies--Garnac Grain, Inc., and Archer-Daniels-Midland Co.--pleaded "no contest" in U.S. District Court and were fined $10,000 each.

This was not even a slap on the wrist. It was more like gently stroking with a feather. The costs of the two-year investigation no doubt were far more than the puny $20,000 in fines.

When a felon is sent back onto the street to resume plying his trade even before the arresting officer has completed his paperwork, or corporate criminals are given minuscle fines representing the merest fraction of the illegal profits, something is seriously wrong with our system of justice.

One of these days law enforcement officials, who work hard months or years on an investigation or who daily risk their lives to protect society, are going to stop and ask themselves: "Why bother?"

Strange '76 Politics

Announcements that federal installations, such as military bases, are candidates for the chopping block are not usually considered good moves for the "ins." But now the Ronald Reagan backers say that these announcements are dripping with political implications, that they have been advanced as bargaining tools by the federal administration. They predict that announcements will be forthcoming just in the nick of time----a few days prior to the primary elections---that the cutback plans are being withdrawn.

Then there are the primary elections themselves. In the 200 years of the nation's life, there probably has never been a time when so many people express so much joy at finishing second, or third, or even fourth, in elections.

These are indeed strange times.

Letter To Editor

To The Daily News:

In reply to Mr. Jones' letter (published March 14) I've lived in Scurry County all my life and I don't like the way this town is run by "only" a few people. I think he must be one of them. My parents pay taxes on the college and they are long-term residents of this county. They don't like the way it's run either.

We also have good roads leading into Snyder for people to come and make it a "better" place to live.

This is a democratic society. Where in the Constitution does it say that a person has to be rich to say-so on how the place he lives in is to be run?

Agencies Doubled

juries — those which resulted in lost workdays — actually went up in three out of the five industries in 1973. In 1974, when no special enforcement efforts were made, the rate of serious injuries declined in three and went up in two.

In short, the statistics for the very industries where OSHA concentrated its efforts, show no trend in one direction or another.

If OSHA can't yet claim any clear victory, it at least has the satisfaction of proving its critics wrong on a number of counts.

Industry witnesses, for example, once predicted that OSHA's proposal to impose strict protection for workers in polyvinyl chloride plants would put 2.2 million people out of work and cost the economy at least $60 billion.

But OSHA was alarmed by 17 workers' deaths from a rare form of liver cancer linked to the chemical in lab tests with rats. Strict exposure limits were imposed.

What happened? In the year after OSHA's action, one plant did close, but four others opened and the price of polyvinyl chloride declined about 10 per cent below previous highs.

Once a Decade

Small businessmen also said they feared overzealous safety inspectors would ruin them.

But the average worker can expect to see one of OSHA's 1,400 compliance officers about once a decade, at present rates. Fines average $25 per violation. Employers appeal fewer than five per cent of all citations and even then they almost always remove the cited hazard, an indication OSHA inspectors generally stick to the book and avoid arbitrary rulings.

Safety at Home

One federal agency has exercised power to decree that an electric frypan is unsafe and to make it harder to open aspirin bottles. It may order that all new bicycles and lawn mowers be redesgined.

In three years of existence, the Consumer Product Safety Commission has banished 20 million items from store shelves and homes on grounds they were unsafe.

These included bottles that exploded, disposable cigarette lighters that flared up unexpectedly, electric ranges that shocked their owners and snowmobiles prone to sudden steering failures.

The commission has made mistakes. The courts voided the commission's seizure of 100,000 imported dolls from Bradley Import Co. in Los Angeles. The commission said the dolls were unsafe for children because the costumes were held on with pins. The court, noting that the dolls sold in fashionable gift stores at prices around $75, said there was no evidence the dolls were intended for use by children.

The commission is now pondering a controversial proposal to require new safety features on lawnmowers, which injured 63,306 persons last year, according to a survey of hospital emergency rooms.

Consumers Union, which the commssion paid to study the matter, estimates the proposal would add $40 to the cost of a $125 push-type mower, for a variety of features including rotor blades that stop instantly. But this $40 estimate is based on a survey of manufacturers that the consumer group feels is unreliable.

Consumers Union also estimates the benefits of the proposal would be between $83 million and $580 million, depending in part on what value is placed on the pain caused by such injuries. In short, the commission can't be sure what the mower safety proposal is worth or what it would cost.

Pollution

In its five-year life, the Environmental Protection Agency has made measurable progress in cleaning up the nation's air and water.

The Cuyahoga River in Ohio doesn't catch fire any more. Sport fishing is making a comeback in the Great Lakes. Smog has been reduced in Los Angeles.

Dust, smoke and soot in the nation's air have declined about 15 per cent since 1970 and sulphur dioxide, 25 per cent. This year's cars spew 83 per cent less hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide than 1970 models.

Yet the job of cleaning up the air and water is proving more difficult and expensive than was widely appreciated five years go.

EPA says much of the dirt in the air isn't industrial soot, but dust blown from fields and rural roads. Smog-causing pollutants come not only from factories and cars, but also from forests.

The public rebelled when EPA said it would take severe gasoline rationing to meet Congress' schedule for clean air in Los Angeles, a move that would have virtually eliminated private auto use. EPA withdrew the plan.

Some of the costs could not have been foreseen even five years ago. Oil producing countries sharply increased the price of low-sulphur oil that had been used to reduce air pollution. Expensive smokestack scrubbers will now be required to allow generating plants to burn America's plentiful coal and still meet antipollution standards.

An analysis by the Brookings Institution estimates the costs of meeting presently scheduled air and water standards could be $500 billion over the next 10 years — or more than $230 a year for each American.

Reagan To Campaign In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ronald Reagan considers Texas a "key" state in his drive for the presidency and will spend at least six days here in April, his top supporters announced Wednesday.

"We can assure you that he is still in the race and in there to win," Ray Barnhart, Houston, a Reagan state co-chairman, told a Capitol news conference. "Ronald Reagan is not down and out but he is just started."

Ernest Angelo, Midland, another state co-chairman, announced that Michel T. Halbouty, Houston independent oil man, had been appointed national chairman of an organization known as Oilmen for Reagan.

Angelo said that Reagan would be in Texas some time after April 9, either for three two-day trips or for two three-day trips. "We will touch every major population center of the state and we will visit every congressional district in the state," he said.

Barnhart said the national Reagan headquarters had posted a goal of 66 delegates (out of the total 96 GOP national convention delegates) for Reagan in the May 1 primary. "We can report now that we have 52 of these secure now, if the election were held tomorrow," Barnhart said.

Barnhart said the Texas primary was a "key" because "it is the first of a series of real Southern primaries ... Florida is not a Southern state. It's full of New York Yankees."

Barnhart said if Reagan should lose the Texas primary "the campaign would be seriously injured ... but he would go on to Kansas City (GOP national convention)."

Americans may be free and equal but
COTTONSEED IS NOT.

There is nothing free about cotton seed. Even ordinary cotton planting seed costs money. Good seed costs a little more.

And all cottonseed isn't equal. There are two varieties of cotton planting seed that stand out from the crowd. They are the product of years of research by two of the most respected firms in Southwest cotton. The seed for each variety is produced under the most exacting quality control. Depending on your land, one of them is a superior variety for your particular farm. They are:

LANKART® BRAND LX 571
It is an excellent, storm-proof, stripper variety capable of high yields of long, strong fiber with good micronaire ratings. It has good seedling vigor and matures somewhat earlier than the famous Lankart Selection 57. It is highly recommended for the dryland areas of Texas and Oklahoma.

LOCKETT® BRAND BXL
Lockett BXL has excellent resistance to nematodes and fusarium wilt. It has high yield potential of quality fiber on all types of soils either dry or irrigated. It has staple length in the 1" and longer range with storm-proof type bolls. It is an excellent stripper variety well-adapted to this area and is especially recommended for the light soils where fusarium wilt-nematode complex causes heavy losses.

"CERTIFIED" SEED WORTH THE MONEY
The only way you can be sure you're planting the variety you select is to buy certified seed in the Lankart or Lockett trademarked bag. You can get them from your ginner.

BUT NEW LAW IN EFFECT

Auto Insurance Rider Is Still Valid In Mexico

By GARY GARRISON
Associated Press Writer

REYNOSA, Mex. (AP) — The automobile insurance policy rider extending coverage for Texas motorists on short trips into Mexico is still valid, but motorists driving deep into Mexico may have to pay a little more for insurance, Mexican officials have told their Texas counterparts.

Texas Insurance Commissioner Joe Christie, Texas Good Neighbor Commission Director Henry Sanchez and representatives of Texas' insurance companies met Wednesday with Mexican officials to discuss a new Mexican law that sets higher minimums for total coverage.

The new Mexican law does not make insurance mandatory and Texas motorists are not required to have insurance when they cross the border. But, as an insurance agent said Wednesday, "you better have it if you get involved in an accident."

Christie said after the meeting held at the Reynosa City Hall that he would call for hearings in Texas to determine whether motorists in South Texas are adequately protected by a policy rider that provides some coverage 25 miles deep into Mexico. Currently, the rider provides minimum liability insurance of $10,000 per person and $20,000 per accident.

The rider normally does not cost any additional money and is attached to insurance policies of motorists along the border who make frequent trips to Mexico.

The new Mexican law requires minimums of $30,000 and $60,000.

Reynosa Mayor Romeo Flores Salnas and Tamaulipas state director of tourism Eugenio Hernandez Balboa explained that the Texas insurance rider was still valid for coverage along the 25-mile zone. However, insurance agents recommended that motorists increase their coverage to the required minimums of the Mexican law.

Christie said he will hold hearings to determine if the wording of the rider must be changed to make it clear. He said the hearings will be held in Austin within two months.

Ed Vela, who sells Mexican insurance to Texas motorists going beyond the 25-mile zone on the Mexican side of the border, explained that Texas motorists may have to pay "about 35 to 50 cents a day" more to be completely covered in Mexico under the new law.

"You are not paying higher premiums," he explained. "You are getting more coverage so the policy costs a little more."

Hernandez Balboa explained to the Texas officials that under Mexican law a motorist may be detained "up to 72 hours" for investigation when he is involved in an accident in which "blood is spilled."

"Of course, if you have insurance and are completely covered or show proof of some financial solvency, then you may be released while your insurance company handles the case," Vela said, "unless there was some criminal act involved, such as driving while intoxicated."

Hernandez Balboa also reminded Texas officials that any motorist who feels he has been mistreated while involved in an accident may call the tourist department of the city where he happens to be and the department will send a representative to help him.

Mayor Flores Salinas said: "Tourists are guests of honor in Mexico."

Baseball Spring Training Begins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Play ball!

That familiar cry of spring was finally sounded by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Wednesday night and seconded by players union boss Marvin Miller, and if today's official start of spring training is some 2½ weeks late, the scheduled April 8 opening of the regular season seems assured.

From Florida to California, the 24 major league teams prepared to go to work in earnest today with only three weeks to prepare for the start of the game which seems in danger of being replaced as the so-called national pastime by court battles and labor disputes.

Thanks to Kuhn's dramatic decree ordering the owners to open the training camps "without further delay," baseball today comes out of the smoky, rhetoric-filled labor-management meeting rooms and into the sunlight where it belongs.

Most teams were expected to begin serious workouts today and at least one club official said the short-circuited exhibition season could get under way as soon as Sunday.

"I think this is a constructive step," Miller said when he returned to his New York home from Tampa, Fla., late Wednesday night and was informed of Kuhn's order.

Asked if this meant the season would open as scheduled April 8 with Houston at Cincinnati in the National League and New York at Milwaukee in the American, Miller replied:

"I think so. There's been no threat of a strike by the players. The whole thing has been an owners' lockout."

Kuhn's action came several hours after the executive board of the Major League Baseball Players Association, meeting in Tampa, again urged the opening of the camps and the resumption of the stalemated contract negotiations with the owners.

At the same time, the executive board declined to either accept or reject the owners' "best and final" contract offer of Monday.

However, a spokesman for Kuhn said the commissioner had made up his mind before Miller informed the owners' player relations committee of his executive board's decision ... or non-decision.

"While nobody is more disappointed than I that we do not have solid progress to a final agreement, the fans are the most important people around and their interests now become paramount," Kuhn said. "Opening the camps and starting the season on time is what they want."

Calvin Griffith, owner of the Minnesota Twins, said he hoped his team could play its first exhibition game Sunday against the Boston Red Sox.

"This isn't as much time as I would like to have, naturally," said Manager Darrell Johnson of the American League champion Red Sox, who open the season April 9. "The regulars will need about 2½ weeks to get ready, but most of the pitchers will need more time. But we can overcome that just by being careful with them at the start of the season."

Johnson said he won't let any pitcher go more than five innings when the regular season begins and will use three or four pitchers a game "until their arms are as strong as they normally would be at that time of the year. I won't rush anybody for fear of injuries, but we'll get our work done."

At least one manager, Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, was considering sprint drills and intrasquad game during the day and basic fundamental drills at night until the exhibition games begin to make up for lost time.

General Manager Phil Seghi of the Cleveland Indians felt three weeks was plenty of time to prepare for the season.

"Are you kidding?" he said. "Certainly it's enough time. The only reason spring training starts so early is because of tradition. Years ago, teams used to break camp early and barnstorm northward during the last week or two playing exhibition games. But we don't do that any more so three weeks is plenty of time."

However, it likely will take more than three weeks to settle the dispute that led to the owners refusing to open the training camps as scheduled March 1. Another owners' meeting is scheduled here Saturday.

The players' executive board asked that the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service be brought into the negotiations. The players representatives also requested that the basic agreement, which has expired, be extended until a new contract can be worked out and that the no-strike, no-lockout provision be reinstated.

The owners were stunned Tuesday when Miller announced his personal rejection of their latest offer which contained the "one-and-one" concession which would have made any major leaguer a free agent by playing out one option year after the expiration of his signed contract.

Tigers In Andrews Tourney

Snyder's Tigers were hoping to improve on a 4-7 record today as they prepared to meet Midland Lee at 5 p.m. in the first round of the Andrews Invitational Baseball Tournament.

Other first round pairings pit Seminole against Lubbock Coronado at 11 a.m., Kermit against Pecos at 2 p.m., and Lamesa against Andrews at 8 p.m.

If the Tigers win today, then they play the winner of the Lamesa-Andrews game at 8 p.m. Friday. If they lose, then they play the loser of the same game at 5 p.m. Friday. The consolation tilt is on tap for 2 p.m., the battle for third place at 5 p.m., and the championship at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Speedy Moffett said he would give today's pitching assignment to Randy Gressett. He listed probable starters, according to batting order, as follows: Bobby Doe 2b, Dray Sikes 3b, Kelly Ragland ss, Mitch Mackey lb, Kenny Crow lf, Randy Gressett p, Alvin Ollison cf, Salvador Canales rf, and Tracy Witherspoon c.

Coach Moffett said he doesn't know much about Lee. They were beaten by Lubbock Monterey, 4-3, last Tuesday.

The Tigers have lost one-sided decisions in their last two times out, and Coach Moffett is hoping the team will improve defensively. They've been hitting the ball well, but errors have been costly.

Canyon Reef Meet Has Several Top Athletes

Coach Don Witherspoon, host coach for the Annual Canyon Reef Track Meet, which will be held here Friday and Saturday, says he is expecting a bunch of top athletes for the meet.

There will be three divisions in the Meet. Class AAAA teams include Lubbock Monterey, Amarillo Tascosa, Odessa Permian and Big Spring. In addition, there will be a special division for girls this year. Girls teams entered include Big Spring, Breckenridge, Colorado City, Brownfield, Denver City, Ector and Snyder.

Several records have been established in the past few years. Snyder's Welton Cobb holds the AAA division 220 yard dash record with a 21.3 clocking in 1975. Gary Patterson, another former Tiger, holds the AAA 120 yard high hurdles record with a 14 flat which he ran in 1972. He also holds the 330 yard hurdles standard of 38.8 which he set the same year. The Snyder mile relay unit of 1967 set the record at 3:22.9. Many other top athletes have appeared here, including Pinto Beene, Abilene High's great pole vaulter, and Randy Matson, Pampa's great shot putter. Matson holds the standard in the shot at 64-1¾–a record that may never be eclipsed. He also holds the discus record of 188-7. Beene pole vaulted 15-1.

Field events get underway at 10 a.m. with finals to be run off. They will be held in the order indicated: High Jump–Girls, 4A, 3A; Long Jump–4A, 3A, Girls, Triple Jump; pole vault–3A, 4A; shot put–Girls, 4A, 3A; discus–3A, Girls 4A.

The preliminary running schedule will be as follows with seven teams reaching the finals: 9:45 a.m.–440 yard relay; 10 a.m.–100 yard dash (West track); 80 yard hurdles (East track); 10:30 a.m.–120 yard hurdles (East track); 60 yard dash (West track); 11 a.m.–440 yard dash; 11:30 a.m.–220 yard dash; 12 p.m.–330 yard hurdles.

Final events get underway Saturday at 2 p.m. Girls events will be held first followed by 3A and 4A entries.

The finals schedule: 2 p.m.–440 yard relay; 2:10 p.m. –440 yard dash; 2:20 p.m.–880 yard dash; 2:35 p.m.–120 yard hurdles; 2:45 p.m.–220 yard dash; 2:55 p.m.–100 yard dash; 3:05 p.m.–60 yard dash; 3:10 p.m.–440 yard dash; 3:20 p.m.–80 yard hurdles; 3:25 p.m.–330 yard hurdles; 3:35 p.m.–880 yard relay; 3:45 p.m.–220 yard dash; 3:55 p.m.–100 yard dash; 4 p.m.–mile run; 4:20 p.m. 880 yard dash; and, 4:30 p.m.–mile relay.

The Tigers have several top entries. Perhaps their best bet for points lie with Chester Cobb, Steve Green and Mike Freeman. All three are seniors, and Green and Freeman are co-captains.

Cobb cleared 6-6 in the high jump last season. Green has been timed at 14.3 in the high hurdles, and Freeman has heaved the shot 52-7.

Other lads who could score points are Clay Peterson, Steve Fisher and Johnny Garza. Peterson has been timed at 10.3 in the century and 23 flat in the 220. He's a sophomore. Steve Fisher, a junior, has turned in a 4:42 mile this season. Another junior, Johnny Garza, has been timed at 2:11 in the 880.

There also are other Tigers who could cause a few surprises.

Bruins Favored Tonight; Raiders Meet Missouri

Giving anything away to the UCLA Bruins can be costly. Giving them the homecourt advantage can be fatal.

The perennial NCAA basketball champions appear on the threshhold of another West Regional title this year, given the odds of a relatively weak field and the surroundings of cozy Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles.

The fifth-ranked Bruins, who won 98 straight games at Pauley before a loss to Oregon late this season, are heavily favored against Pepperdine tonight in one of two West semifinal games. Nevada-Las Vegas takes on Arizona in the other.

"I'm happy to be home," said UCLA Coach Gene Bartow, whose Bruins took the Pacific-8 Conference title and won their way into the regional semis with an opening-round victory over San Diego State last Saturday.

The Bruins, perhaps not as strong as in previous seasons when they won 10 national championships in 12 years, will have an easier time getting out of the West than other teams in the far-flung NCAA playoffs.

The most powerful of the fields will be in the Mideast Regionals at Baton Rouge, La., where Indiana plays Alabama and Marquette faces Western Michigan. All four teams are ranked in the nation's Top Ten — No. 1 Indiana, No. 2 Marquette, No. 6 Alabama and No. 10 Western Michigan.

In the East, undefeated Rutgers, 29-0, seems to be the class of the field. The fourth-ranked Scarlet Knights play Connecticut and DePaul meets VMI at Greensboro, N.C. Rutgers, incidentally, can have the best single-season record in NCAA history by winning the national championship. If the surprising team from New Brunswick, N.J., goes all the way, the Scarlet Knights will wind up with a 33-0 record, or one game better than North Carolina's national champions of 1957.

In the Midwest Regionals at Louisville, Ky., it's Notre Dame against Michigan and Missouri vs. Texas Tech.

Big Sandy Leads All State Team

By The Associated Press

Class B football champion Big Sandy placed five players on the Texas Sports Writers Association's All-State first team.

Quarterback David Chalk, halfback David Overstreet and guard Frank Davis were picked for the first team from the powerful East Texas squad while linebacker Lovie Smith and defensive back Tony Newman were selected on the first team defensive unit.

Jazz Lose Touch

By The Associated Press

Apparently if only takes a couple of days for the New Orleans Jazz to forget most of their basketball lessons.

"We won five games in six nights and should have been tired. Then we have two days off and come out like pussycats," Coach Butch van Breda Kolff snorted after the Jazz dropped a 112-107 National Basketball Association decision to the crippled New York Knicks Wednesday night.

"We just can't stand prosperity. Instead of remembering how we win, we revert back to the same bad habits and the same bad shots. I keep telling them you can't shoot your way back into the game — you have to play your way back into the game."

John Gianelli scored 24 points and grabbed 13 rebounds in dominating three New Orleans centers and pacing the Knicks, who played without All-Star guard Walt Frazier, hospitalized with a sore back. Pete Maravich led the Jazz with 28 points.

Elsewhere, the Milwaukee Bucks whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 109-96, the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Chicago Bulls 108-101, the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the Buffalo Braves 122-111 and the Houston Rockets trounced the Atlanta Hawks 124-112.

Charlotte Is "Dream Team"

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the solid gold shows in New York these days is "The Wiz," a modern version of that old movie classic, "The Wizard of Oz."

The story involves a girl who is swept away in a foot-lifting Kansas twister and finds herself in an odd, picturesque land chasing a rainbow and finding a magical wizard who makes her dreams come true.

If there's anything symbolic attached to it, the North Carolina-Charlotte basketball team went to see it Wednesday night. The 49ers are chasing rainbows, too — in the National Invitation Tournament title.

"This has been a dream come true for me," said Lee Rose, whose 49ers meet North Carolina State tonight in an NIT semifinal game. "I'm so shook up I can't eat."

After Providence and Kentucky play the opener of the semifinal doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, the Carolina neighbors will have their Civil War.

"It's really nothing personal, but I'd rather play anyone else in the world than North Carolina-Charlotte right now," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan. "There's no way we can match their emotion. It isn't enough that UNC-Charlotte is a great team, that they're trying to make a name for themselves and that they want revenge from a loss to us earlier in the season. Now, their coach's wife wants the NIT championship for an anniversary present."

Sloan's remark, delivered deadpan at a press conference Wednesday, was in reference to a remark made kiddingly bv Rose. The 49ers' coach joked that he had to win, "or my marriage would be dissolved. She wants the NIT for our anniversary present."

The game has significant meaning for UNC-Charlotte. The 49ers have lived for some time in the shadow of North Carolina State's gaudy Atlantic Coast Conference — and life there hasn't been easy, according to Rose.

"It's been tough building a basketball program with those ACC teams around," Rose said. "You've seen our team — we don't have much depth. All we have is a lot of heart."

"They're a great basketball team," said Sloan. "No wonder most of the ACC teams don't want to play them."

Before they stage the Battle of the Carolinas, the opener will feature an intriguing difference in philosophies — Kentucky's inside power game against Providence's finesse.

"Our team is playing well now," said Providence Coach Dave Gavitt. "We were physically banged up earlier in the year, but we had a week's rest before the start of the NIT and this helped us."

DeKalb In Semifinals

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — DeKalb South of Georgia, by beating San Jacinto (Tex.) 75-65 Wednesday night, is the first team to make the semifinals of the National Junior College Basketball Tournament.

In consolations today, Lake Land (Ill.) plays Arizona Western, Anderson, S.C., meets Rhode Island, and Bismarck, N.D., tangles with Henry Ford of Michigan.

In today's winners' bracket, it's Southern Idaho and Westchester (N.Y.), Mercer (N.J.) and Connors State (Okla.), and Columbia State (Tenn.) and Allegheny (Pa.).

In other Wednesday night winners' bracket games, Connors State (Okla.) trounced Rhode Island 91-76 and Columbia State (Tenn.) rambled over Bismarck, N.D., 73-63.

In Wednesday consolations, Casper, Wyo., eliminated State Fair (Mo.) 65-59, Burlington, Iowa, dashed Johnson County (Kan.) hopes 107-106 in overtime, and Jamestown, N.Y., ousted Chipola (Fla.) 79-77.

Jarvis Reynolds of DeKalb South and Ollie Mack of San Jacinto shared scoring honors with 28 points each. San Jacinto traded first-half leadswith DeKalb then cooled off enough for DeKalb to put the game away.

Connors State led 50-36 at halftime after a see saw first half then blew Rhode Island off the court following intermission. Willie Washington of Rhode Island had 19 points, James Bradley of Connors 18.

Columbia State opened the second half with 10 straight points and was never in danger from Bismarck thereafter. Larry Cartwright of Columbia State was game high scorer with 24 points

Few Wage Earners Use The IRA Tax Shelter

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An inequity of the federal income tax system that denied many wage-earners a tax shelter for their retirement funds has been at least partially corrected, but many eligible workers have failed to respond to the change.

Beginning last year, wager earners not covered by a qualified private or government retirement plan — excluding Social Security and Railroad Retirement — became eligible to establish their own Individual Retirement Accounts.

Those who do so are allowed to deduct up to 15 per cent from their gross taxable income to a yearly maximum of $1,500. Taxes are deferred until retirement, when brackets are lower. Taxes are then applied only as the money is used.

For tax purposes, IRAs thus offer wage-earners who are not enrolled in a group plan some of the same tax benefits as those who are. Only a small percentage, however, have taken advantage of IRAs, perhaps because of a lack of understanding.

Here are some commonly asked questions at seminars conducted by the American Bankers Association. Answers were provided mainly by Earl E. McGuire, Jr., vice president of the Bank of Asheville, N.C., and chairman of the ABA's IRA Workshop Committee.

—For IRA purposes, what is considered income?

Income for this purpose includes salaries, wages, fees and tips. It excludes interest, rentals, royalties and alimony. Generalizing it is money currently earned with the sweat of one's brow.

—Where can I invest retirement money?

In any or all of the following: savings plans in banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions; in trust accounts invested in stocks and bonds; annuities and endowment insurance policies; mutual funds U.S. Retirement Bonds.

An individual may have more than one IRA account, but the total invested cannot exceed $1,500 in one year, or 10 per cent of income, whichever is less.

—Are there restrictions on use of the funds?

Stiff ones. You cannot withdraw money before age 59½ without a tax penalty and distribution must begin by age 70½. If you withdraw funds, you must pay a penalty of 10 per cent of the amount withdrawn, plus regular income taxes.

You may move from one type of IRA to another only once every three years, although you can switch from one mutual fund to another under the same management as often as you like.

—Suppose I leave a job where I have a pension plan and go to work for a company without one? Can I use my previous pension money to establish an IRA account?

You might have the option of leaving the money with your former company and beginning an IRA from scratch. You might have the option also of accepting the pension money in a lump-sum payment.

If you accept the second option, you may reinvest tax-free some of this money in an IRA within 60 days of receiving it. Beginning with the next tax year you may begin making personal contributions.

However, only the money contributed to the plan by your company may be so invested in an IRA. Your personsl contributions cannot be reinvested in an IRA, since they have previously been taxed.

—How important is age?

Very important. How you approach this investment depends on your current age, the age at which you expect to retire, the length of time you expect to draw payments and, most importantly, the amount of income you seek.

If you expect a long retirement, you may prefer the lower return of an annuity that guarantees fixed lifetime income. If Social Security will be your only resource, you may want the dependable return of a savings account.

If you have outside resources that permit you to take risks, you may seek capital gains and try to swell your retirement fund. But remember, the greater the reward, the greater is the risk in obtaining it.

—What features should I look for?

The institution handling your account should be able to explain the terms of your IRA and give you an indication of the expected rate of return. You may ask if the account will have a guaranteed termination value.

The institution should agree to furnish periodic statements on the status and value of your account. Some IRAs have high front-end charges and frequent transaction costs, and some will have negligible or even no fees.

You should ask if you can vary the amount of your contribution from year to year. You may be required to decide immediately what type of retirement payments you want, or you may be able to postpone that decision until retirement.

Next: Specific tax breaks and payments you may expect from an IRA.

Couple Weds In Jailhouse

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Two prisoners of love were wed in a jailhouse ceremony here Tuesday.

Cynthia Sue Maxwell, 21, exchanged vows at the Greene County jail with Burl D. Swagerty, 31. They were quickly separated.

The bride was extradited to Abilene, Tex., to face a charge of passing fraudulent checks. Swagerty is serving a six-month term here for felonious assault.

Jailers said the couple became acquainted by passing written notes to each other from adjoining cells.

SCHOOL PRINCIPALS CHARGE

Most Black Teachers In Shreveport Incompetent

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Most of the black teachers hired to achieve a court-ordered racial balance are incompetent, eight irate Shreveport school principals have charged.

The principals told the Shreveport Journal that the federal court order is destroying the city's school system.

"Looking back, I've come to the conclusion we'd have been better off with a busing order," said one of the principals, who talked privately with a Journal reporter.

"At least, the kids would have had competent teachers at the end of the ride."

Since the interview with the principals, who asked not to be identified for fear of reprisals, telephones have been busy with angry calls, congratulatory calls and crank calls.

So many persons wrote letters, pro and con, that the Journal planned a full page of them in today's editions.

Ninety-six per cent of the parents telephoning the newspaper claimed their children were not getting a good education in Shreveport public schools.

"We don't object to black teachers," said one principal. "We've got some excellent black teachers in this system, and they hate incompetency as much as we do. But you can't believe what we're being forced to take now since the consent decree."

The order forces the school system to bring the percentage of black teachers up to 50 per cent of the faculty.

Another principal said, "I had an opening at my school for a reading teacher. I notified the personnel office. The personnel supervisor hands me three folders of black applicants. One had a 'D' in remedial reading at Grambling, and she was the best of what was available."

Supt. Earl McKenzie denied that qualifications had been lowered, but said selectivity had been narrowed because selection under the court order has been confined almost exclusively to blacks.

"Grambling and Southern should be closed forever," said one principal. "We're getting the products of their sorry academic programs."

"I've got an English teacher who can't find her way out of a classroom," said another. "She holds class and gets paid. She's not really teaching anything."

The principals talked on, telling how they tried to get teachers they considered incompetent fired and failed, and giving examples of teachers they had to hire although they considered them poor prospects.

"The only choice we have is a choice between the bad and the worse, so you take the bad," they said.

But Corinne Taylor, a black member of the Caddo Parish School Board, said, "I think principals and all concerned need to accept facts as they are — that integration is here and we do not expect it to change."

Mussolinis Get Divorce

ROME (AP) — Jazz pianist Romano Mussolini, son of Italy's World War II dictator Benito Mussolini, has been divorced by his wife, Maria Scicolone, sister of actress Sophia Loren.

Miss Scicolone, 38, said she and Mussolini, 48, have rarely been together since separating in 1967 after five years of marriage. Her petition for divorce was granted Tuesday. They have two girls aged 14 and 9.

Winter Weather Damages Russia's Grain Crop

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are increasing indications that winter weather has damaged much of the Soviet Union's winter grain crop and that Russian farmers will be forced to replant large areas this spring, according to the Agriculture Department.

The development is leading U.S. officials to say there may be higher-than-normal Soviet grain buying abroad, possibly in the United States. That would be good news for grain growers and the agriculture industry at large. Whether it translated into higher American consumer prices would depend on the U.S. grain harvest this year.

The Agriculture Department has been saying for some time that the Soviet winter wheat crop got off to a poor start last fall as a result of drought. Thus, when winter cold forced plants into dormancy they were not adequately developed to survive.

"Cold weather in February threatened this vulnerable crop still more, particularly in the south where snow cover was sparse," the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said Wednesday. "Considerable replanting to other grains is probable."

One favorable development for the Soviet Union has been that "snow has continued to pile up" in areas where spring wheat will be planted, meaning that the outlook for soil moisture appears good.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Bell said last week that the Soviet winter wheat crop was in poor shape. Winter wheat accounts for about 40 per cent of total production, with the remainder coming from crops planted in the spring, he said.

Iowa began an extensive road-building program in 1917.

Coast To Coast

By Dick Maurice

FEUD FOR THOUGHT: There never was any love lost between DAVID JANSSEN'S mom, Bernice, and David's new wife Dani Greco, but now it's open warfare between the two women who adore David. Attractive Mrs. Janssen, once a beauty winner, was enraged over the late delivery of the wedding invitation and elected not to attend the ceremony. Dani conversely claims an invitation is an invitation is an invitation and is pouting because David's mom chose to ignore the beautiful wedding. The real source of contention between the two is Dani's claim that Mrs. Janssen told the press that David is the illegitimate son of CLARK GABLE! David is so unhappy over the feudin he refuses to go to parties anymore. He's concentrating on his Harry O series and reading scripts for a feature film. Dani had better realize that a man's mother is his only mother and a wife is a wife is a wife.

Just Asking! Is there any truth to the rumor that "Police Woman's" ANGIE DICKINSON is having her troubles at home? BURT BACHARACH, Angie's hubby seems to be jealous of her success and Angie's fed up with Burt's failure - not just with the songs, but at the track.

It's Up Up and Away for DINAH. She recently spent $12,000 for a complete body lift. Does that mean her adams apple is on top of her head?

Don't be surprised if ART CARNEY and JACKIE GLEASON get together for a new version of "The Honeymooners". ABC executives have been following Jackie around the golf course in Miami and they are not acting as his caddy either.

BOBBY VINTON telephoned to tell me how excited he was that his syndicated TV show has been renewed for a second season. When I asked him who he was planning on having as his first guest he surprised me by announcing he's planning on SUSAN FORD. That's right – Jerry's kid.

JOHN DAVIDSON streaked GLEN CAMPBELL's Tahoe concert. John, by the way, just signed with NBC to do a summer replacement show. No matter how hot it gets this summer, you won't find John Streaking on his new show.

In case you are still interested, CHER's house has been reduced by $200,000 in price. It's now only a mere $1.8 million.

It's true! MICHAEL DOUGLAS has quit his popular TV show, "The Streets of San Francisco". It's not because of money problems or feuding with fellow actors, he simply quit the show for love. He gave up his role because the show kept him away from his live-in love, BRENDA VACCARO. He felt that working on the television show was ruining his relationship. However, what he didn't know was that Brenda landed her own TV series called, "Sarah". So it's going to be just as difficult for them to see each other.

BARBARA BAIN and actor hubby MARTIN LANDAU are on their way back to London for another year of filming their super successful new series, "Space 1999," Recently Barbara told me they adore living in Europe but just between you and me, I think they'd adore being anywhere together. Talk about togetherness, they've really got their acts together. When they first met some twenty years ago they couldn't stand each other on sight.

Actor-dancer DONALD O'CONNOR isn't making a "comeback." But you'll be seeing more – and less – of him now, because he's lost those sixty pounds that were making sparks fly from his tapshoes. How'd he do it? Simple, he says he just ate everything he wanted, but only half of it!

June 30 is the date set for ED MCMAHON to marry VICTORIA VALENTINE in New Orleans.

The solid gold life-saver that LIZA MINELLI wears around her neck was given to her by her talented song-writer-friend, Fred Ebb. Liza saved the day when she replaced GWEN VERDON in the Broadway musical, "Chicago". She truly is a live-saver.

How to Address a Mixed Company

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: Well, here we go again! A secretary requested a practical salutation for business letters to offices in which both men and women work. Obviously, the traditional "Dear Sirs" and "Gentlemen" are now out of date.

Some readers have submitted the following suggestions.

DEAR ABBY: How about "Greetings!" I borrowed that idea from Uncle Sam who used it extensively to draft men during World War II.

J.L. IN OAKLAND, CALIF.

DEAR J.L.: Sorry, the "Greetings" salutation would never catch on. We'd have "old soldiers" fainting all over the place.

DEAR ABBY: The Romans knew what they were doing. They never would have risked insulting the powerful women behind the successful men by excluding them, so they used the salutation, "Lectori Salutem," which means "Hail to the reader!"

CORRY H.

DEAR CORRY: Hail no! Most Americans have enough trouble with English!

DEAR ABBY: During a meeting I brought up the question about salutations that was raised in your column, and a lawyer sitting next to me came up with the ideal solution. Why not "Gentleperson"?

I like the idea and plan to start using it immediately.

CLERGYMAN: INDIANA, PA.

DEAR ABBY: What's the matter with a straightforward, friendly "Howdy"?

FORT WORTH

DEAR FORT: Not worth much—outside of Texas.

DEAR ABBY: Re your column concerning salutation to groups: In the business and management seminars given by the University of California at Berkeley, we are suggesting that this problem be handled by omitting both salutation and the closing ("Sincerely," etc.), ending the letter as I have done below.

DOROTHY SATIR

GOOD MORNING, ABBY: I have solved the salutation problem in both my business and personal correspondence as follows:

To someone with whom I'm on a first-name basis, it's "Good Morning, Abby."

To someone in a more formal manner, it's "Good Morning, Miss Van Buren."

And to anyone in general, it's just "Good Morning!"

I think the cheeriness of this is preferable to the legalistic "To whom it may concern" or the aloofness of "Dear Sir or Madame."

CORDIALLY, R.W. VOIGT

GOOD MORNING, MR. VOIGT: And what if the recipient opens the mail in the EVENING?

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (26¢) envelope.

Over 800 Due At Alcoholism Meet

Over 800 persons are expected to attend the Texas State Conference on Issues in Alcoholism, March 21-23 at the Inn of the Six Flags, Arlington.

The purpose of the conference is to launch a new program to unite interested citizens into a strong alcoholism constituency in Texas, said Larry Mathis, executive director of the Alcoholism Council of Texas, Inc., which is sponsoring the event in cooperation with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

"By informing ourselves on the major issues and discussing those concerns which affect us all, we can begin to build a united voice for positive action in alcoholism. The Texas State Conference on Issues in Alcoholism represents the first step toward that end," Mathis said.

Keynoting the conference will be U.S. Senator William D. Hathaway, chairman of the Senate Alcoholism and Narcotics Subcommittee, who will address alcoholism as a political issue in Washington.

Also featured will be Dr. Ernest P. Noble, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA), who will discuss future federal involvement in alcoholism programming and the outlook for NIAAA.

Other speakers include Texas Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie, Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard, and Texas Pardons and Paroles Board member Selma Wells.

Also speaking will be Bert Kruger Smith, executive associate of the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health, Thomas H. Watkins, president of the National Association for Mental Health, and G.W. Hank McClullough, president of the Alcoholism Council of California.

Issues to be presented in panels and reports during the three-day event include occupational programming, advocacy, minority concerns, programs for alcoholic women, state alcohol regulatory laws, volunteerism, and criminal justice for alcoholic persons.

Resolutions on the issues covered at the conference will be considered and a permanent record of the proceedings will be printed and distributed throughout the state.

Registration is $17.50 per person. A group rate of $15 per person is available to organizations sending five or more representatives. The awards banquet is an additional $10 per person.

Registration fees should be sent to the Alcoholism Council of Texas, Inc., 510 South Congress, Suite 406, Austin 78704.

Accommodations are available at the Inn of the Six Flags at special rates of $20 single and $26 double. Room reservations should be sent to the Inn, P.O. Box 70, Arlington 76010.

The Alcoholism Council of Texas, Inc., is a private, nonprofit voluntary association of agencies and individuals interested in the treatment and prevention of alcoholism in Texas.

Young Farmers At Conference

WACO—Five Scurry County delegates were here for the fifth annual state-wide Leadership Conference for Young Farmers in Farm Bureau. They included Emmitt Hataway, Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Billingsley and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Nail.

The three-day session was conducted by the TFB Young Farmers and Ranchers Advisory Committee. Purpose of the meeting was to give young farm and ranch couples a better understanding of how they can work to solve agricultural problems through Farm Bureau.

Subjects covered in group session included state and national legislation, wills and estate planning, operation of county committees, and the structure of Farm Bureau. Guest speakers included Dr. Clifton Ganus, president of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., and Ken Wolf, agribusiness economist at Texas A & M University. Ganus spoke on "Preserving Our American Heritage," and Wolf discussed "Working With People." Carrol Chaloupka, TFB president, spoke at the March 15 luncheon concluding the conference.

Milton Beckendorff of Sealy, chairman of the TFB Young Farmers and Ranchers Advisory Committee, presided at the meeting. Orientation was presented by Tom Catchings of Waco, TGB director of special activities.

Other speakers at the conference included Warren Newberry, Waco, TFB executive director; James Burns, Waco, director of field activities; Al Grauer, Waco, state coordinator of Texas Agricultural Service Co.; Charlie Forrest, Waco, executive vice president of the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Cos.; and Austin Crownover, Waco, director of sales, Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Cos. Staff members from the state Farm Bureau were instructors in the various classes.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be a profitable day if you're not looking for something to be handed to you on a platter. Rewards must be earned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be cooperative today toward one who has been helpful to you, though it may cause you some slight inconvenience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may have to tactfully remind your boss today of something you're entitled to so that it isn't overlooked.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best not to leave something important today solely in the hands of another. Personal action is your only sure bet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The results will be worth the extra effort you'll have to spend on projects you'll be involved in today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Regarding a serious matter that's been on your mind, there are positive alternatives available if you'll look for them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Material prospects are still rather favorable today, but don't expect a harvest in excess of the seeds you've sown.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In conversations today, try not to press your points in a heavy-handed manner. A light, witty touch is called for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Even though you won't relish the task, don't let those indebted to you go too long without a gentle reminder.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You shouldn't have too much trouble today selling others on your ideas, especially if you tell it like it is.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The gains you're likely to make today may be small ones, but they could also be quite important. Be reasonable in your expectations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An opportunity that's not of immediate benefit may be presented to you today. Try to figure how it can be used in the future.

Nancy Sinatra Has Second Child

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Nancy Sinatra gave birth to a 9-pound, 11-ounce girl at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, a family spokesman said.

The baby, Amanda Catherine, was delivered by Caesarean section Wednesday night.

It was the second child for Miss Sinatra and her husband, choreographer Hugh Lambert. Their first daughter, Angela Jennifer, will be 2 on May 22.

The spokesman said the mother, who is the daughter of singer Frank Sinatra, and the baby were both "absolutely splendid."

Algeria became the 109th member of the United Nations, Oct. 9, 1962.

PAW-AUTOGRAPH IN DEMAND

"Liberty" Ford Attains Canine Star Status

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's dog Liberty has apparently reached a canine star status approaching Lassie or Rin Tin Tin. Two-legged and four-legged fans are writing the White House in increasing numbers asking for paw-autographed pictures of Ford's Golden Retriever.

Public demand for these pictures by dog lovers has reached the point where the White House has had a special rubber stamp cut with the smeared imprint of the First Dog's paw.

It's usually accompanied by a letter from the President's 18-year-old daughter, Susan, telling the recipient the paw print is in fact stamped on because Liberty would have a sore foot if she had to autograph each request herself.

Liberty often gets letters written in the first person from other dogs telling the President's pooch how they think Ford is doing in office or how much they like the First Lady.

One letter addressed to Liberty Ford, care of the White House, said, "If you are ever traveling to Meridian, Miss., I would appreciate it if you would stop and we could pick a bone or drink some coffee together." It was signed, "Folly Till," with a dog's footprint.

Once, right after Liberty had her nine puppies last autumn, the photo requests were so numerous that Susan Ford was busy for two weeks trying to fill them, according to one White House staffer.

Now the White House is getting about 20 requests a week for photographs of President Ford and his dog with the dog's paw-autograph.

Several local humane societies have written in asking for these photographs with Liberty's paw print on them, and an aide to Mrs. Ford said the animal welfare groups have turned around and sold the photos for as much as $50 at fund-raising functions for animal shelters.

Dr. Lamb

False alarm syphilis test

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My husband has always been a blood donor but he can no longer give blood. When he went to give blood for a man who needed it the test showed syphilis.

Needless to say this caused a problem with us and I was in shock because I have always trusted my husband. The doctor had me come in and they tested me and I had a negative result. They tested my husband some more and said it was a high protein count which gave the same results.

He will never be able to give blood again. This has caused some questions in my mind. Why is this so? The doctor would give me no answer on this. All he said was it happens sometimes and he has seen couples who couldn't cope with it and were divorced. Would you please explain if it is possible and give more details about it.

I do love my husband but it has caused me to doubt him and not have the complete trust that I did have in our marriage.

DEAR READER—The standard blood test for syphilis is merely a chemical reaction. When a person has had syphilis he may (but does not always have) a chemical in the blood that produces a specific reaction and results in a positive test. That's why the test is useful in detecting someone who has had syphilis.

Things don't stop there. The body is also able to produce a similar or like chemical in certain other conditions which are not associated with syphilis at all. Then when the same test is done this chemical will cause a positive test. We call these false positives. The value of a laboratory test is dependent upon its ability to detect a disease without giving false positive reactions in people who do not have it.

The standard syphilis blood test is pretty good but not perfect. There are individuals who have false positive tests. Additional tests can also be run to narrow this problem down for the individual. I presume from your remarks that your doctor is quite confident that your husband did not have syphilis and that his test reaction is caused by one of these flukes in chemical reactions. I fail to see how you can blame your husband for having a chemical reaction in his blood stream over which he had no control at all.

Your doctor has told you he doesn't have syphilis. He has also tested you as part of the total examination and determined that you don't have syphilis despite having lived in the marriage with your husband for years. What else do you need? While I can't vouch for your husband's behavior, your statements lead me to believe that he has a clean bill of health as far as any evidence of venereal disease. You're reacting to something that is not too different than if he showed up with mild jaundice because he had a chemical reaction in the blood.

You should be happy that the medical tests showed that your husband did not have venereal disease. Your concern really should be directed toward hoping that the unique chemical reaction that he had does not indicate that he had any important medical problems that will affect his health in the future.

Individuals who give or lose blood lose iron. Repeated episodes may lead to anemia. For more information in iron deficiency send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 4-4, Iron and Anemia.
