Execution Stayed

FORT WORTH (AP)-With less than 72 hours to live, convicted killer Billy Joe Battie received a stay of execution today from a federal judge here.

U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon stayed the Friday morning death by injection on a delay motion requested by attorney Joe James Sawyer.

"The judge granted the stay but he has not set a date for a hearing yet," said Sawyer. "I would imagine it would be a minimum of 30 days before he does so."

Other Steelers Bow

PITTSBURGH (AP)-U.S. Steel and Wheeling-Pittsburgh, the nation's first and ninth biggest steelmakers, have bowed to pressure from the market and President Carter and rolled back price increases.

U.S. Steel said Monday that a $10.50-a-ton increase "would be modified to be competitive in the marketplace on a product by product basis." Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel immediately followed the lead, saying it also would modify prices to meet competitors.

The rollbacks were counted a victory for the Carter administration's voluntary wage-price restraint program.

Palestinians To Hang

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)-A Nicosia court found two Palestinians guilty today of premeditated murder in the assassination of a prominent Egyptian newspaper editor and sentenced them to death by hanging.

The execution of Samir Mohammed Khadar, 28, and Zayed Hussein al-Ali, 26, was set for June 1.

Defense lawyer Lefcos Clerides said he would appeal both the verdict and the fixing of the execution date.

Wayne In Good Spirits

BOSTON (AP)-John Wayne, who had a quarter-sized circle snipped from his heart and replaced with a valve from a pig, was reported in good spirits today with a 90 percent chance to recover and return to the two fisted adventure films he's made for 50 years, doctors say.

"He is comfortable, fully awake and in good spirits," Martin Bander, a hospital spokesman, said this morning. Doctors removed a breathing tube from Wayne's windpipe, but he remained in intensive care today.

The thermometer has gone above the 90 degree mark (fahrenheit, that is) already, making it appear that once that tenacious winter of 1977-78 let go, it was gone for good.

But we can't be certain about that. The old mesquites, and young ones, also, have been rather stubborn so far. And we've even noticed that a lot of pecan trees seem reluctant to put out their spring regalia.

And, to date, we have not been able to confirm any sightings of scissortail flycatchers around here. We had one caller who though at first she had seen a scissortail, but it turned out to be a mockingbird.

Also, Genelle and Furman Branson thought they had sighted a scissortail over the weekend, but they finally decided that it also was a mockingbird.

So, we await the ultimate confirmation that spring is here for keeps.

Meanwhile, a few other signs of spring continue to deveop on schedule. Our Associated Press carried its first "tornado watch" report of the season Monday afternoon, and people already are talking about the return of Daylight Saving Time later this month. DST will arrive, by the way, on Sunday, April 30. Some of us will be happy to see it. Others will not.

Mrs. Ronald Thomason, whose husband has an art show hanging this month in the Scurry County Museum, said she was pleasantly surprised when she got her first look at our county museum.

"I had no idea that such a place existed here," she said.

She and her husband both said they were impressed by the facility. Thomason mentioned some museums in several larger cities and said the county museum here has much more "drop-in" traffic. He said he was surprised at the number of people who stopped by the Scurry Museum on a routine day.

Production Of Neutron Arms Nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter has tentatively decided against producing neutron weapons, it was learned today, although the West German foreign minister launched a last-minute drive to persuade Carter to modify that decision before it is announced.

As the West German official arrived, Defense Department sources said that in their view, the president has not made a final decision on whether to order production of the weapon. Supporters of the weapon have said they would prefer that Carter defer any decision rather than rule against production.

At the White House, spokeswoman Claudia Townsend also denied that Carter has made any decision on producing the weapon.

However, it was understood that Carter relayed his tentative decision late last week to West Germany through Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher.

After that, German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher's visit was arranged as a final effort by the West Germans to talk the administration out of its decision against neutron weapons, it was learned.

Genscher will tell U.S. officials that West Germany supports production of neutron weapons, according to his political party's defense expert, Juergen Moellemann.

The neutron weapon has a relatively small explosive force, confined to a radius of about 200-300 yards. But it yields twice the radiation of a regular nuclear weapon.

Defense strategists feel the weapon would be effective against invading tanks in any European war because the radiation would kill tank drivers and troops without widespread damage to civilians and property that would occur if conventional nuclear weapons were used.

Carter's tentative decision was reported in today's New York Times which quoted unidentified administration officials as saying Carter had acted against the advice of most of his top foreign policy advisers in deciding that production of the bomb would run counter to his goal of nuclear disarmament.

Career Center Is Given Green Light

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees gave the green light to plans for establishing a career center at Western Texas College.

Jerry Baird and Bettie McQueen of the guidance and counseling office presented the proposal.

The career center would offer services to students as well as others in the community in the field of counseling and career development.

One of the major functions would be to provide facilities for interviews and to aid students in preparing for interviews and in preparing applications for employment.

The facility also would serve as a placement center and assist students who plan to continue their formal education through the four-year level to map their course and plan their career objectives.

Counseling services would be available via tapes over a broad range, and they could be used by the general public as well as college students.

Following the presentation, board members indicated that they felt that the program was needed at WTC and that plans should proceed.

Sewer System Report Made...

Annexation Proposals Approved By Council

The Snyder City Council last night approved on first reading annexation of two pieces of property and got a report that the city's sanitary sewer system should be adequate for a population up to 16,300.

Also approved at the regular April meeting of the council was an increase in subsidy for local ambulance service and a rate increase for Snyder Community Antenna Television, (SCAT) the local cable firm.

Annexation of a 43.07-acre tract of land at the southeast edge of town was approved on first reading at the request of the Robert James Corp., which proposes to develop a housing project there. The tact includes some acreage that actually is already inside the city, but the entire tract was included in the request to simplify boundary lines. It will result in about 30 additional acres coming into the corporate limits.

Also approved on first reading was annexation of a 5.1-acre tract in the 100 block of East 23rd Street, as requested by Billy E. Grimmett.

Tommy Galyean, operator of Galyean Ambulance Service, requested an increase in the subsidy from $150 per month to $450 per month or more. The city and county share in the ambulance service subsidy, and County Judge Preston Wilson and County Commissioner Charlie Yoast sat in on the session last night. They said an increase in the county portion of the subsidy would require a majority vote of the five-man commissioner's court, but they felt that it would get favorable attention. Both city and county officials had high praise for the ambulance service provided by Galyean.

The ambulance service operator said that revenues had declined due to a decrease in the number of hospital patients transferred from Cogdell Memorial Hospital here to hospitals in larger cities. He attributed this to additional doctors here and indicated that he expected this trend to continue as the new hospital addition is built and medical services here continue on an upgrade.

The city council gave its approval of an increase in the subsidy from $150 per month to $450 per month.

In response to petitions, the council agreed to grant a $3,000 homestead tax exemption for citizens 65 years old and over, which is permitted by state law. The county and the Snyder School District already grant these exemptions.

Dr. John Blum and H.W. Cargile were reappointed to the board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal District. Their current terms expire on May 31.

Snyder Community Antenna Television was granted an increase in its service rate from $7.50 to $8 per month. Mel Z. Gilbert, executive vice president of SCAT, in presenting the rate increase request, noted that it would "Mean only .6 per cent after a two-year period." The $7.50 rate had been in effect since 1976.

Gene Best was reappointed to the builders board of appeal, and Dr. Robert Clinton was given authority to use some of the city's grant to the Retired Senior Volunteer Program for furnishings for the new senior center being constructed by the county. Dr. Clinton advised the counsel that the RSVP program had received an extra grant for operations this year and that it would need only some $1,500 of the city's $2,500 grant for that purpose. At the same time, funds are urgently needed to furnish the new center, Loans totaled $74,184,944, which also topped the $71,177,133 record set last December.

forecasts upgraded

It's official.

The winter of 1977-78 was indeed one for the record books. Now that the grim statistics are in, the National Ocean and Atmospheric Administration is ranking it as the most frigid ever for most of the country in the century of official weather record keeping.

It was more than just cold. It was also excessively wet, with new records for snow and rain set in several states.

The good news is that this particular record-breaker of a winter is now behind us.

The bad news is that there may be more, and possibly worse, to come.

Some weather experts are predicting that the world is entering a prolonged period of severe weather after a number of years of comparatively balmy worldwide conditions.

One such, Dr. Reid Bryson of the University of Wisconsin, believes the weather patterns of the past few years will hold for the Northern Hemisphere in particular for at least the next five years. Which means more very cold winters plus hot summers and droughts endangering crops in the U.S. Midwest, Southeast and Pacific Coast.

Bryson's forbidding report is the product of his experiments with a new forecasting system, an activity in which he has plenty of expert company.

The U.S. Weather Service is also deeply involved in upgrading its forecasting techniques, primarily through technology. A new generation of weather-tracking satellites, computer advances and sophisticated new ground-station equipment are expected to greatly increase within the next few years.

The key to weather prediction is the movement of great air masses in the atmosphere. Since the 1930s, meterologists have been relying on balloon-carried instruments to track movement and measure temperature, humidity and pressure.

Satellites - currently three - have kept an orbital eye on earth's weather patterns for the past decade or so, but have lacked the precision of instrumentation and accuracy to do much more than supplement the balloon readings.

During the next decade, however, four new and greatly improved satellites will go into service with the potential capability of replacing the balloons.

Radar is also being refined as a weather tool, to measure winds and to warn of developing crisis situations such as tornadoes and flash floods.

Improved forecasting of the weather still doesn't mean being able to do anything about it. That may remain for a long time - or forever - beyond man's capabilities.

But the capability to forewarn of impending weather-related perils - whether in terms of hours or minutes, in the case of floods and high winds, or months and years when dealing with droughts and killer winters - still represents a considerable measure of progress.

It will enable man to do much more about his preparation for the weather, with the benefits ultimately to be measured in human lives.

cabin fever remedy

An Illinois psychiatrist suggests one way to cure "cabin fever" - that snappishness brought on by being cooped up in foul weather - is to talk over your troubles with the trees.

"Get out and talk to the birds, the trees - create something to relate to," he advises. "You don't have to stay inside and just talk to plants."

Good advice as far as it goes, maybe - but how do you explain it to the philodendron?

colby's tall tale

Abraham Lincoln used to unravel complexities by telling homespun stories.

Once, to explain why he had vetoed a congressional appropriation for some pork-barrel project, he told of two neighborhood boys fighting over three walnuts because, he said, "each of them wanted two."

Surely that's what Bill Colby was trying to do the other day when he suggested that we share our food stamps with Latin America to keep them from having to come up here after them.

He did not intend you to take him seriously--did he?

Former CIA Director William Colby is a man of sound mind and much experience at home and abroad.

He says so many Latin Americans are smuggling themselves into the United States and then, with forged documents, going on welfare...

He says this flood tide of illegal immigration is costing us so much that it would pay us just to send food stamps to them for use down there!

In 1976, 19 million Americans received food stamps. That is eight percent of our total population. The cost was $5.6 billion. In that one year, that cost each taxpayer an average $310!

It is obvious that Mr. Colby is not indifferent to this cost because he proposes that we restrict the use of food stamps--says they should be used only for such staples as flour, rice and beans--instead of steak, chops and frozen pizza.

Colby computes that we could save $100 per person per year if we would eliminate fancy processed foods from the stamp program.

But mostly he was concerned about the manner in which our generous welfare handouts attract illegal immigrants.

Indeed, he further recommends that even legal immigration should be restricted to those persons who register in advance for employment with an official employment service.

Mr. Colby has to know that we are already extending food stamps to residents of Puerto Rico at an annual cost of more than $600 million--a cost higher than for any state.

So he has to know that such generosity tends to increase dependency and to discourage self-sufficiency.

Nonetheless, he proposes that you offer food stamps to the citizens of Mexico, Caribbean nations, Central America--thus to try to retard the increasing flow of poor immigrants to the United States.

Otherwise--and here I think is the point Mr. Colby is trying to make--otherwise "the influx of these immigrants will result in social tensions between Spanish and English-speaking Americans with the potential for misery and turmoil and violence."

He says we could bribe them to stay where they are at less cost to ourselves--and less risk.

my turn

by wanda rushing

Everyone likes a bargain and we certainly get our money's worth out of the monthly fee included on our water bill for sanitation or garbage pickup if you prefer.

For a mere $3.15 per month, we get mountains of garbage picked up twice a week and the city also furnishes and maintains a dumpster for our convenience.

How two people can accumulate so much garbage is a mystery to me.

When the children were home it fell their duty to carry out the garbage. Avon takes care of this task now and he can't understand where all this garbage comes from either. He has even accused me of buying it...which in a sense is true.

Everything carted into the house is in some type of container or sack and thus must be discarded. Not only do the two of us carry in, but we got lots of help from the paper boy, mail man, etc.

I vividly remember the old garbage cans that we used to attempt to maintain. It seemed inevitable that a dog or some other animal would turn them over and if not them the wind would be the villain, blowing papers and other garbage all over the alley. The lids were hard to keep up with, and very seldom fit properly for any length of time. We tried all types of apparatus to keep the lids intact but most of the time they would end up in the alley being run over. They sure didn't fit anything then.

The lids on the canisters we have in Snyder are very tight and keep the garbage and odor contained very well. If we had to dispose of our garbage in any other fashion it would be much more costly. Gasoline is expensive and time is valuable. If we had to mail it, it would get rather expensive at today's postal rates.

I read an article the other day in the Snyder Daily News telling of the low costs of moving oil through pipeline. Wouldn't it be nice to be able to move garbage this way?

Perhaps in the future all homes will be built with a garbage pipeline. It could work similar to a garbage disposer but handle all items and not be limited to "wet" garbage. Just think of this convenience!

But in the meantime I'm fully convinced that in this day of high prices, we're getting a bargain in our own backyard each month.

WASHINGTON--(NEA)--What energy crisis? Denis Hayes and his friends already have discovered "the world's only inexhaustible, predictable, egalitarian, non-polluting, safe, terrorist-resistant energy source."

There are even more astounding benefits. The energy is absolutely free and it can be delivered directly to your home, office or factory every morning - without pipes, power lines or fuel trucks.

It's called sunshine.

The possibility that solar power might - some day - become a major source of energy for an increasingly desperate nation and world has, of course, already been widely discussed.

But the "official line" - promulgated by both the federal government and the commercial energy companies - is that solar is not yet technologically advanced, commercially feasible or cost-effective enough to offer broad-scale benefits.

"If the oil companies could figure out some way to exploit sunlight for their own profit," says Hayes, "they'd be spending hundreds of millions of dollars on advertising to convince everyone that solar energy is our best bet for the future.

"Instead, we're told that solar energy is impractical, that its time hasn't come, that it will never equal the energy needs of our civilization," he adds.

As for the government, President Carter repeatedly has offered lip service - but little else - to aid in establishing a high-priority federal program devoted to commercial application of solar power.

In his landmark energy message to Congress last spring, the president called solar energy "the most promising" of the "permanent ... renewable and essentially inexhaustible sources of energy for sustained economic growth" in the long term.

But Carter's first budget, presented to Congress earlier this year, called for a reduction in solar energy expenditures of $16.3 million - from $389.3 million this year to $373.6 million next year. (If the impact of inflation is considered, the budget slash amounts to $42 million.

The proposed figure represents only 3 percent of the total Department of Energy budget, and it marks the first time solar research and development funds have been cut since the program became part of the federal budget. Carter plans to offer nuclear power 4½ times as much financial support.

Hayes and his friends are determined to do something about that lack of money, inspiration and enthusiasm. They've organized a group called Solar Action and its principal purpose is to celebrate Sun Day on May 3.

Led by co-coordinators Richard Munson and Peter Harnik, the organization's supporters include members of Congress, labor union officials, scientists, environmentalists and respected community leaders.

The Sun Day celebration will take differing forms in scores of cities and rural communities throughout the country. One group of people will climb to the peak of Cadillac Mountain in Maine - the spot where the sun first hits the United States - for a sunrise ceremony.

In San Diego, there will be sunset-church services across the city. Lincoln, Neb., will have a groundbreaking for a model solar home, while Martinsburg, W.Va., will host tours of the dozen solar homes already built in the community.

Lectures, fairs, contests and exhibits are scheduled in Carbondale, Ill.; Davenport, Iowa; Columbia, S.C.; Olympia, Wash.; and in larger cities including San Francisco, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago.

"The transition to the solar age could well begin right now," says Hayes, chairman of the Sun Day program. "It is technically feasible, economically attractive and environmentally sound." All that's needed is a true national commitment to move ahead.

smoke awaiting carter

NEW YORK (AP)-President Carter returns from dealing with some of the hottest international issues of the day to find smoke rising from various areas of the economy, and from his critics too.

The economy is not in good shape, and the critics are shouting loudly that it cannot correct itself until Carter takes firm hold of the reins and gives a good hard tug.

He did grab the reins briefly and effectively while in Brazil, denouncing the $10.50 price increase announced by U.S. Steel, and forcing a rollback to a more acceptable figure of $5.50.

But one tug doesn't make a program, and the critics - angry, impatient, doubting, fearful-are asking what he's going to do about the dollar, the trade imbalance, food prices, taxes, government spending.

All these have become the subject of speculation in the mass media, as well as in the allegedly confidential memos sent by private economists, and in the more widely distributed bank newsletters.

The most outspoken of the criticisms was delivered by Business Week magazine, which scolded the president for having "let the nation go a long way down the road toward destructive inflation."

Claiming he has "made a hodgepodge of his economic program by trying to give something to everyone" for political reasons, it warned "he must change course to avoid an economic fiasco."

In case the message was missed, the magazine reprinted the editorial in a full-page advertisement in the New York Times, urging that it be read by "every American business executive and President Carter."

Clearly, one of the great frustrations of many critics is their view that the federal government itself is spattering grease on the inflation fires while blaming private industry.

They feel the government isn't credible. While talking about the dangers of inflation, Congress backs a higher minimum wage, higher farm price supports and restrictions on lower-priced imports.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Most of the time it pays to take a trick as soon as you can. But on some occasions it may pay to wait and take it later.

South considered ducking the first spade. But because he feared a shift to a red suit, he had to win right away.

He led the nine of clubs and let it ride. East won and led a second spade. Now, South could afford to duck and did. East led a third spade, but South was in full control. He had time to knock out the ace of clubs and wind up with four clubs plus two tricks in each other's suit.

There was no reason for East to hurry with his queen of clubs. East could see that his two club tricks were going to keep and he should have let South hold that first club. After that sensible play there would have been no way for South to bring the club suit home. He could have established it but would have had to use dummy's ace of hearts to set up the suit, leaving him without any further entry to dummy to run it.

Because of a recent car accident and a stay in the hospital. I have not been able to actively engage in my campaign. That problem is completely over now and I hope to contact each and every one before the election, asking each and every one for your vote and influence.

Eckersley Pulls Red Sox Through

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Dennis Eckersley wasn't overjoyed with his first outing in a Boston uniform. The Red Sox, however, were thrilled ... and the Cleveland Indians were more than happy with Rick Wise.

Eckersley, a Wise were involved in last week's six-player trade between Boston and Cleveland and both right-handers made impressive pitching debuts with their new clubs Monday.

Eckersley, who was acquired to help Boston overtake the world champion New York Yankees in the American League East, had to settle for the New York Mets this time. He allowed three hits in five innings as the Red Sox rolled 6-0, while Wise held the Chicago Cubs scoreless for six innings and then needed relief in the seventh of the Indians' 4-3 exhibition victory.

Elsewhere:

—Newlywed John Montefusco checked Los Angeles on two hits over the first six innings and 40-year-old Willie McCovey hit his first home run of the spring to lead the San Francisco Giants to a 2-0 victory over the Dodgers, who have lost six in a row.

—Home runs by Rick Dempsey and Lee May powered the Baltimore Orioles over the New York Yankees 3-2.

—Tim Corcoran's two-run single in the seventh inning gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds. The losers' George Foster blasted his eighth spring homer, the first surrendered in 32 innings by Detroit's Jim Slaton, who finished spring training with a 5-0 record.

—Moose Haas became the first Milwaukee pitcher to go nine innings, scattering seven hits as the Brewers trounced the Minnesota Twins 9-2. Ben Oglivie had a homer and three RBIs for the winners.

—The Houston Astros bombed Texas' Doc Medich for 14 hits and seven runs in six innings, including a home run by Cesar Cedeno, and defeated the Rangers 8-3.

—Atlanta's Bob Beall, a non-foster first baseman, tagged St. Louis' Eric Rasmussen for a grand slam home run in the first inning, and the Braves went on to beat the Cardinals 9-4.

—Kansas City's Tom Poquette raised his spring batting average to .447 with a triple, two singles and four RBIs while Al Cowens had four singles and a pair of RBIs as the Royals edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

—Don Baylor belted a three-run homer and Lyman Bostock added a two-run shot to power the California Angels over the San Diego Padres 14-6. Frank Tanana blanked the Padres on two hits over the first four innings.

—Wayne Garrett's sixth-inning home run off Philadelphia's Larry Christenson helped the Montreal Expos edge the Phillies 5-4 and winning pitcher Jerry Reuss delivered a run with a suicide squeeze bunt as the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Toronto Blue Jays 6-5.

—Gary Alexander's solo home run helped the Oakland A's beat Arizona State University 7-4. Chris Bando, younger brother of Milwaukee's Sal Bando, hit a two-run homer for ASU.

Holladay Cops State Gymnastics Honors

RICHARDSON - Tonya Holladay, 9, took second place in vaulting competition among her age group at the United States Gymnastics Federation State Meet held here Saturday.

Miss Holladay, a member of the Snyder Sparklers, was also 11th in the All-Around out of a field of 75 girls ages 9-11. The 34-50 score "mandates" her into class II competition for next year.

"She did super, super well," commented coach Doug Fitzjarrell. "She placed second (in vaulting) in the state of Texas, which is really good. Both Bill Sullenger (another Sparkler coach) and I are extremely pleased."

Miss Holladay scored a 9.35 to take the second place award. Other scores given to her were a 8.45 in uneven bars, a 8.35 in balance beam and a 8.35 in floor exercise.

Sexton Comes Up To Belt Rangers

SAN ANTONIO (AP)-The long bus rides that minor league baseball players despise have ended pleasantly for Jimmy Sexton, who last rode to San Antonio as a member of the Shreveport Captains of the Texas League.

"I don't miss them a bit," a relaxed Sexton said Monday after driving in two runs to help the Houston Astros romp over the Texas Rangers, 8-3, in an exhibition baseball game here.

Sexton, who has earned a berth on the Astros' 24-man roster, lashed two hits, including a two-run triple which helped Houston take a four-game barnstorming tour 3-1 over the Rangers.

"I hit the ball good four times today," said Sexton, who spent the final month of last season with the Seattle Mariners. "I always seem to hit right-handers pretty good. It's the lefthanders that give me trouble."

Sexton's triple in the fourth inning boosted the Astros to a 4-0 lead, as Houston's Joaquin Andujar held the Rangers scoreless until Kurt Bevacqua smashed a two-run homer in the sixth.

The Astros bombed Texas starter and loser Doc Medich for 14 hits and seven runs in six innings. Cesar Cedeno hit a solo homer for the Astros.

YOUR TURN! — Dana Elrod passes the baton to Karen Littlepage during a recent track and field action. With the graduation of MVP Ricky Beard, the Tigers were expected to have serious trouble from the pitcher's hill. However, a strengthened hitting lineup along with the combined efforts of "unseasoned" Mackey, Everton and Tony Degrate, from the hill have prompted Coach Albert Lewis to comment, "I hope we can do as well during district play."

Actually, the Tigers have one more non-district game scheduled. They are to host Big Spring on Thursday, then return to 3-AAA play for the remainder of the regular season when they welcome Lamesa at Moffett Field on Saturday.

To Come Out On Top Of Masters Course...

Augusta Architect Picks Nicklaus

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)-Off the tee, Augusta National has to be socked across the brow with a two-by-four, but it must be pampered and cajoled around the greens like a spoiled lady, insists golf architect Robert Trent Jones.

"The wide, unfettered fairways make this a driver's course," said the famed designer, "But the second shots are as demanding as in any major championship and the plateau greens with their undulating surfaces put a tremendous premium on putting."

Using this guideline, the road leads naturally to Jack Nicklaus, Jones' favorite to win the Masters a sixth time. He is consistently the best driver in golf and indisputably the game's most reliable putter.

"No man in modern history has been more successful in sinking 10-foot putts to save his par or grab a birdie," Jones said. "The reason he stands over his putts so long, he must have the putt perfectly computed in his mind before he swings the blade.

"Jack's matchless concentration makes him perfectly compatible with this big, formidible layout."

Jones, sixtyish, is the worlds' most renowned architect. More than 400 courses in 47 different countries and in 48 of the 50 states bear his imprint.

He has built courses for the Aga Khan, the king of Morocco and the head of Italy's auto empire, and he is preparing the first golf layout ever constructed in the Soviet Union.

Often accused of burying dinosaurs on the greens, Jones nevertheless is opposed to gimmickry and believes courses should be fair and fun as well as challenging.

"Augusta National is one of the fairest and most enjoyable courses for all classes in the world - the weekend player or the tournament pro," he said. "It isn't tricked up anywhere.

"The rolling terrain and the clusters of trees produce super golf holes. The back nine is as dramatic as any anywhere - every hole from 10 through 15 frought with peril - and there are three strong finishing holes."

Jones said that Nicklaus once sprayed an occasional tee shot in trying to overpower the ball but has modified his swing. "He doesn't hit the ball as far as he once did," he added, "but he places every shot well and no one is deadlier on the greens."

The architect said he disagreed with the late Bob Jones (no kin), who helped conceive the Masters. The late Jones said you could not grab Augusta by the throat and beat it to death.

"You have to attack off the tee," he said. "Nobody attacks better than Nicklaus," he said.

Of the other contenders, Jones said:

Lee Trevino: "I agree with Lee that with the low trajectory of his shot, he can never win here."

Gary Player: "He had to lift weights for years and add 25 yards to his tee shots before he could win. He lacks muscle control. An unlikely winner."

Tom Watson, defending champion: "Smooth, controlled swing, now has control of himself. Chance to repeat."

Hubert Green: "A definite factor despite his wristy swing. Good competitor, capable of hot streaks."

Tom Weiskopf: "Wonderful swing with all physical attributes but unable to manage himself."

Johnny Miller: "Trouble is totally mental. Has 20 different swings, doesn't know which one to use."

Ray Floyd: "Strong enough. Can win if attitude is good."

The odds, according to Golf Digest, against making a hole-in-one on a par three hole are 10,738-to-1 for a touring male pro player, and 1,162-to-1 for a female pro player.

Slow Pitch Meet Set

The Slow Pitch Softball League will have a meeting tonight in the Snyder National Bank meeting room at 7:30, a spokesman said.

"All coaches, sponsors and players must be present for the meeting or there will not be a softball league this year," he added.

Jr. Netters Compete In San Angelo Meet

SAN ANGELO--Snyder junior high tennis team competed in the San Angelo Jr. High Tennis Tournament here recently. The meet fielded teams from 4A and 3A, and was a very good test for the Snyder team," according to Coach Ken Burnam.

Saturday, Snyder will host teams from Lubbock, Brownfield, Big Spring, Lake View, Forsan and Sweetwater in a Jr. High Tournament held at courts located in Towle Park, WTC, SACROC, the junior high and high school.

David Nicholson and Richard Derrick, fourth seeded in the meet, were defeated in quarter finals 6-1, 6-0 by Dixon and Halgren of Abilene. Jeff Fowler and Gerald Hicks won their first match 6-4, 7-5, but lost in the second round to second-seeded Johnson-Hill from San Antonio.

Trey McWilliams, seeded fourth, lost to Martin of San antonio in the quarter finals, 6-3, 6-3. Mark Cypert lost in the first round, 6-3, 6-3. John Wilson, Clif Payne, Randy Burrus, Tammy Martin, Tammy Farmer and Rosie Peralez were defeated in the early rounds.

Tracey O'Day and Patti Clark, go to the semi-finals before losing to Henty and Roberts of Abilene 6-0, 6-4. Robin Harlin and Kelley Scott, seeded fourth, were defeated in the semi-finals by Davis-Watson of San Antonio 6-1, 6-1. Trey Harlin lost to the number two seed, Taylor, 6-3, 6-3 in the second round.

At 50th Oscar Show...

"Annie Hall," Keaton, Dreyfuss Top Winners

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)-At 50, Oscar has come alive again. The 50th Academy Awards show was a lively birthday party for the little guy, complete with a genuine political brouhaha and some of the "best" Oscars going to a man who was too nervous to show up at the affair.

Woody Allen's bittersweet remembrance of his life's love, "Annie Hall," won four of the most prestigious Oscars, including Best Picture, and 1977's runaway boxoffice favorite, "Star Wars," won six, most of them in technical categories, and a special award for sound effects.

Diane Keaton, a first-time nominee and Allen's former real life sweetheart, was named Best Actress for her close-to-life portrayal of the flighty "Annie Hall."

Richard Dreyfuss, also a first-time nominee, won a Best Actor Oscar for his portrayal of a frustrated actor sharing a New York apartment with an unwilling Marsha Mason in "The Goodbye Girl."

"Julia," a tale of underground efforts in Nazi Germany, based on a section of Lillian Hellman's "Pentimento," won three Oscars, but another favorite, "The Turning Point," was shut out.

Unlike last year's rather dull show, when Oscar producer William Friedkin of Hollywood's New Breed spurned the ostentatious trappings of show biz, Monday night's producer Howard Koch, the Academy's president, gloried in the movies' glamour and tradition.

Appreciating the affair's traditional standing as the world's foremost star-gazing opportunity, Koch brought back the noisy arrival of the stars and did an interesting montage mixing clips of old arrival scenes with real arrivals.

"Friedkin thought glamour had nothing to do with the Oscars," said one Academy official. "Koch thinks glamour has everything to do with the Oscars."

Besides the glamour, there was a little old-fashioned controversy, courtesy of the Best Supporting Actress winner, Vanessa Redgrave, for "Julia." Miss Redgrave, whose nomination prompted protests from some quarters because of a pro-Palestinian documentary she financed, accepted her Oscar with the usual thanks and then told the Academy:

"I think you should be very proud that in the last few weeks you've stood firm and you've refused to be intimidated by the threats of a small bunch of Zionist hoodlums whose behavior (here she was interrupted by a collective audience gasp) whose behavior is an insult to the stature of Jews all over the world..."

Her comments later were attacked by playwright Paddy Chayefsky, who told the audience he was "sick and tired of people exploiting the occasion of the Academy Awards for the propagation of their own political propaganda."

He suggested to Miss Redgrave that "a simple thank you would have sufficed."

Allen's impressive score for "Annie Hall" also caused some buzzing: Best Director, Best Original Screenplay, Best Actress and Best Picture.

Three Tires Are Slashed

A knife-wielding vandal is reported to have slashed three tires on an I&R Meter Service vehicle, police said.

The incident was reported to police this morning by complainant Greg Williams, an employee of the company. The incident is alleged to have occurred while the vehicle was parked at the College Park Apartments. Damage in the incident was set at $250.

In other reports, two minor traffic accidents were investigated Monday by police.

The first mishap took place at the College Ave. Dairy Queen and was reported at 7:12 p.m. Involved in the collision were a 1973 Buick driven by Bradley Dean Floyd and a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Gilbert Arizmend Jr.

The next mishap was in the 2700 block of Ave. X. Reports show that a 1975 Pontiac driven by Denise Hoyle was in collision with a parked 1977 Pontiac owned by James Wemken about 8:20 p.m.

Bab's Is Newest In Varsity Square

A new store has opened in the Varsity Square Shopping Center specializing in clothes for infants and teens.

"Bab's is a clothing store for tots through juniors," says Eunamae Perry, Manager.

The store is owned by Mrs. Perry's daughter, Barbara Price of Midland. Store hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Mrs. Perry says the store will be a success if the business they conducted Saturday, opening day, is an indication of what is to come.

She says her daughter chose Snyder as the location for the store because of the favorable economic conditions here and, "because this is where I wanted to live." Mrs. Perry, a native of Stonewall County, has been living in Hamilton for the past several years. She says it is good to be back in West Texas close to many of her friends.

Bab's carries infant's sizes to size 8 for boys and infant sizes to junior sizes for girls.

Bab's is located on the east side of the shopping center.

Drop Seen In Gas Consumption

HOUSTON (AP)-An oil company executive says motorists will be putting more miles on their vehicles in 1990 but using less gasoline.

William T. Slick Jr., said this will be happen because of government mandated fuel efficiency standards for new cars and an "astonishing" increase in the number of diesel-powered vehicles on the road.

Slick, senior vice president of Exxon Co. U.S.A., told a meeting of the National Association of Fleet Administrators Monday his company expects the number of licensed drivers to reach a "saturation point" of 95 percent of the country's adult population by 1990. He said each will be driving an average of 10,000 miles a year.

"While these two factors yield an increase in the number of miles driven, there will actually be less gasoline consumption, largely because of more fuel efficient cars," he said.

"We believe that by 1990 new autos will be up to about 24 miles per gallon on the road."

He predicted that fleet mileage will average 22 miles per gallon on the road regardless of sticker mileage listings.

Slick said about 150,000 diesel vehicles now are operating in this country.

"This number should double by the end of the year and increase to an astonishing 60-fold by 1990 when there are expected to be 9 million diesel cars in operation," he said. "We believe by then one out of every 10 new cars sold in this nation will be diesel."

he said.

Chester Greene of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, consulting engineers, gave an oral report on a study of the city's sanitary sewer system. He said the study revealed no serious problems and that the present system should serve the city adequately until the population reaches around 16,300.

Marshall Wilson, 3412 44th Street, was spokesman for a group which questioned plans for drainage in an area to the west of present development on the west side of town. The area in question is the site of a residential development planned by Jim Moore of Odessa. The council indicated that it would discuss this item further at a special session set for 5:30 p.m. Thursday at which time council members elected last Saturday will take the oath of office for a new term.

A request by A.C. Thompson for water service at 1901 Avenue G, with the city financing lines on an installment plan, was denied.

Approved on second and final reading was an ordinance changing the zone on the west half of Lot 4, Block 1, Lammert Addition, from a single-family residence zone to a duplex, or mobile home zone. The change had been requested by L.D. Womble.

A resolution was approved setting Saturday, April 8, as dog registration and vaccination day in Snyder.

The council agreed to join other cities in paying for consultants employed by the Texas Municipal League in connection with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. rate case now before the Texas Public Utilities Commission. The participating cities will pay 2½ cents per capita, based on the 1970 census.

The only bid received in the amount of $550 was accepted for a city-owned lot at 14th Street and Avenue K. The bid was submitted by Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Purchase of a street broom for $1,240 from Key Bros. Implement, which had the lower of two bids, was approved, as were 4200 pounds of activated carbon and 110 pounds of potassium permanganate from Thompson-Hayward of San Antonio for $1,480.-55, and 18 eight-cubic-foot sanitation containers from Duncan Equipment Co. for $7,902.72.

Tom Machen appeared at the council meeting and suggested a change in the city animal ordinance. He said he felt that tickets should be issued only for dogs that are caught at large. He also said he felt that animal officers should be more tactful in dealing with dog owners. City Manager George Patterson said that city officials apologized to Machen following an incident involving Machen's dog and that the city would continue to insist that personnel be as tactful as possible in performing their duties. However, he defended the ordinance, noting that it had sharply reduced complaints concerning stray animals in the city.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Misleading labels

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am on a low cholesterol diet and am constantly looking for foods I can use. I bought a coffee creamer which said it contained no cholesterol, but the label says it contains coconut oil. I was under the impression that this oil was high in cholesterol. I am enclosing the label with the ingredients.

Also I was under the impression that shell fish — shrimps, clams, lobster and oysters — were high in cholesterol and should be avoided. However I heard recently that these foods were no longer in this class and could be eaten without fear of raising the cholesterol count. Is that the case?

DEAR READER — I think labels that advertise no cholesterol in big letters and contain lots of coconut oil or palm oil are misleading. These vegetable products do not contain cholesterol — that is why the manufacturer gets away with it. But the high saturated fat content may stimulate your own body to produce excess amounts of cholesterol and the type of fatty-cholesterol particles we associate with vascular disease that cause heart attacks and strokes. Most of the powders sold as coffee cream substitutes are in this category and in my opinion are not as good as ordinary coffee cream from a health standpoint.

Shrimp is moderately high in cholesterol and should be eaten in only moderate amounts. Its price controls that problem for most people. The same is true of lobster, although both are very low-fat foods. Clams and oysters are low-fat and also low-cholesterol foods. The thinking about these has changed because of more recent research on food analysis.

You have to limit your calories from all sources if you want to be successful with a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet. Too many calories from non-fat, no-cholesterol foods will still cause many people to have high blood levels. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis, to give you an overall concept of a proper diet to prevent or help correct this problem. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you tell me the symptoms of emphysema and what it is caused by? What can be done for it? How does it start and as you get older does it progress?

DEAR READER — Emphysema is mostly a progressive constriction of the outlet of the tiny air sacs that make up your lungs. As a result it is hard to breathe out as much old air from your lungs as a normal person can.

This results in mixing more used air with new air during each breath. The bottom line is that your lungs are not able to provide as much oxygen as normal lungs do.

Since the lungs have a range of function, in the early stages this may not cause any problem at rest. Often the first noticeable symptom is a decrease in exercise capacity — becoming short of breath or tired sooner than a healthy person should. The ability to increase your exercise gets more and more limited; finally, when the lungs have trouble providing enough oxygen at rest, you begin to have symptoms of breathlessness at rest.

It is often caused by cigarette smoking but not all cigarette smokers develop it. Because the smokers who tend to develop it often don't want to quit smoking the disease progresses. If no one smoked the incidence of emphysema would be quite small.

Suspect's Brother To Face Charge

Tommy Baker, the 17-year-old brother of aggravated sexual abuse defendant Robert Baker, was arrested Monday on a warrant charging him with alleged retaliation.

The younger Baker is alleged to have verbally threatened the complainant in the sex abuse case, investigators said.

The case stems from a March 21 incident in which the 30-year-old complainant claimed that Robert Baker forced him at knifepoint to engage in act of sodomy. The complainant also alleges that he was forced to strip and that he was thrown from a small bridge two or three times.

The incident is reported to have occurred along a deserted stretch of road approximately four miles northeast of Hermleigh, said investigators.

Robert Baker, 20, who was reportedly serving a three-year probated prison term at the time of the alleged offense, remains in the Scurry County Jail while a motion has been filed calling for probation revocation.

Tommy Baker remained in the same jail late Tuesday morning in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

2 Deputies Out-Maneuver Bold Skunk

While it may not have been a tale of high adventure for deputy sheriffs Larry Ball and Lonnie Payne, it was at least a story of a narrow escape for them.

The pair was dispatched Saturday night to drive a skunk out of a home near Pyron. The home was being remodeled and the skunk boldly made his entry through a rear door.

Apparently finding the new environment to his liking, the varmint eventually came to nestle among some construction materials in a bedroom.

The deputies arrived at the scene, and built a pathway through the house to provide the unwelcomed guest with an exit. To speed the skunk on his way the homeowner got a stick and tapped the floor behind the skunk to prod him into moving.

The skunk took the hint and left without befouling the air.

"He didn't squirt a drop," said Ball. "I guess he just didn't feel like it."

Once outside the house the skunk made good his escape under cover of darkness.

Jaycees Set Instructions In Shooting

A shooting education program will be launched this evening in the Towle Park Barn under sponsorship of the Snyder Jaycees.

The course is a National Jaycee program presented in cooperation with Daisy. It is set up in conjunction with Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, ages 10-14, said Sam Alexander, the local Jaycee's committee chairman.

The course has four major steps:

1. Proper gun handling.
2. Firearm safety.
3. Shooting teams and competition.
4. Education for a lifetime recreation sport.

The session tonight and Thursday night will begin at 7 p.m. in the Towle Park Barn. On Friday, the session will be held at 7 p.m. at the Scurry County Boys' Club, and on Saturday the session is set for 5 p.m. at the Boys' Club.

Rx for Doctors: Call Her 'Madam'

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: An elderly woman signed HAD MY SAY resented being addressed by her first name by doctors and their nurses. (She said it was rude and demeaning.) You defended the practice saying it is not intended as an insult or a put-down, but is considered "friendler" than the more formal "Miss, Mrs. or Mr."

I disagree. I was brought up differently, and I cannot get used to hearing a secretary, receptionist or salesperson call me anything but "Madam" or Mrs. ————," if they know my surname. Being called "Honey" or "Dearie" by salespeople is also irritating. Familiarity breeds contempt, and I shan't go back to a place where first-name basis is the policy.

Thank you for lending me your ear. This problem has bothered me ever since I came to America. And my children have never been allowed to call my friends by their first names either!

FROM ENGLAND

DEAR FROM: Although Long Beach is a long reach from England, read on for a reader who shares your view:

DEAR ABBY: I take strong issue with your comments on the letter from HAD MY SAY, who was rankled by the medical profession's practice of using the first names of their patients.

"Friendlier," as you call it, seems to be a two-way street. Never have I had a doctor or nurse suggest that I reciprocate; indeed, I believe they would not invite such friendliness except from those whom they know socially.

MRS. M. IN LONG BEACH

DEAR MRS. M. AND FROM ENGLAND: My mail has been running 5 to 1 in favor of first names. Residents in nursing homes say it makes them feel more at home.

So I suggest that those of you out there who resent being addressed by your first names, speak up. The squeaking wheel gets the grease.

DEAR ABBY: To HAD MY SAY, who resents being called by her first name, I say, "Right on!" And it's not a question of age. It's undue familiarity, demeaning and disrespectful.

I know a woman who handled it this way: During her first visit to a doctor she had never seen before, he asked, "Mary, does this hurt?"

She replied, "Yes, Jack."

After that he called her "Mrs. Smith."

OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: Now that HAD MY SAY has had her say about people who call her by her first name, we'd like to have OUR say on the subject.

We are all residents of the Fountain Convalescent Hospital in Orange, Calif., and we think surnames are too formal. We prefer to be called by our first names. Thank you.

Relocation Of Rail Lines Studied

AUSTIN (AP)-The railroad commission Monday agreed to administer the use of $432,646 in federal funds for studying proposals to relocate rail lines in Dallas, Houston, El Paso, Laredo and Bryan-College Station.

The federal money will be supplemented by $62,517 in state and local funds.

The commission said the cities asked that the agency serve as administrator.

Early-Birds Make Hike-Bike Jaunt

Five energetic bikers have made the first day of Hike-Bike Week a success, reported organizers of the event.

Although unable to participate in the big hike-bike scheduled for April 8, the five got together and had their own hike-bike Sunday afternoon.

Participating in the hike-bike Sunday were Sue Coffman, George Melikian, Junanne Brock, Shane Smith, and Gilbert Sanchez. The course they covered was the regulation 25-mile trek the other participants will encounter this coming Saturday.

The hike-bike Saturday will begin at 8 a.m. and will start at the Humble-Smith School, organizers said.

The early participants raised $500 against a goal of $3,000 set by the Youth Association for Retarded Citizens. The money will be used to aid the mentally retarded in Scurry County.

For more information, interested persons may call Debra Watts at 573-8070 or Barbara Miller at 573-7271. Free babysitting will also be available for hike-bike participants this Saturday.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday
April 5, 1978

Others will be most helpful furthering your lot in life this coming year. Be prepared for more activity than you may have planned on.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You function better on the physical plane today than you do on the mental plane. Deal only with tangibles. Leave theorizing to others. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your judgment is exceptionally keen today in all areas save one — mixing money and pals. You might let someone dip into your pocketbook and cost you plenty.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A big step forward can now be taken regarding something important you want to achieve. But it won't be handed to you on a platter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't be afraid to use your ideas today as long as they are clearly thought out. Hunches should be avoided.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though you might not see immediate returns, efforts put toward a future hope will be rewarded. You're laying a sturdy foundation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Singling out one person to help you realize an ambitious goal could be a costly mistake today. Teamwork, with many persons involved, is required.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is the day to get to work on a project important to you. There is some confusion that needs unraveling.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you'll accomplish with the aid of another will appear as luck or chance, when actually you worked hard for it. Don't forget to applaud your cohort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have all the drive necessary to gain your ends now, if you're willing to charge ahead full blast. Don't expect others to do it for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your spirit of cooperation is strong today, but guard against being critical of coworkers just because they don't think the same as you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) No one other than yourself is going to stand up for you today for what you feel is your just due. Insist upon what you know is owed you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is a fine line between expressing your ideas with conviction and appearing bossy. One impresses others today, the other drives them away.

McCloskey Saves Policyholders More With State Farm Insurance

In 1955 Roy J. McCloskey began representing the State Farm Insurance Companies in Snyder. During this 23 year period, his agency has grown from just a few policyholders to one of the largest State Farm Agencies in the Abilene, district.

In the fall of 1977 he completely remodeled his office, enlarging it to better to serve his policyholders. He extends an invitation not only to the State Farm policyholders but to everyone in Snyder and surrounding communities to come by and visit him and his staff.

For the past year McCloskey feels that he has saved his policyholders more with State Farm than the same coverage with any other company. State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance currently has a large deviation plus a dividend and the homeowners insurance has a 20 percent deviation.

Also he feels that he can provide coverages for mobile homes, boats, recreational vehicles, hospitalization, disability income and life insurance that may mean many dollars in savings in a policyholders insurance program.

READY TO SERVE YOU — Roy J. McCloskey insurance company has recently acquired a new mircofiche machine that keeps current information and records on all policyholders. Standing are Vera Harless, secretary, and Roy McCloskey, and Betty Lovelady, secretary, is seated.

In addition to the varied insurance programs offered, McCloskey also has car financing available to save his policyholders anywhere from three to twelve dollars a month on auto financing.

Without obligation, Roy McCloskey invites you to compare your present insurance coverage with what he has to offer. A phone call to his office could save you many important dollars.

McCormick Phillips 66 Has New Washer That Cleans Cars Fast

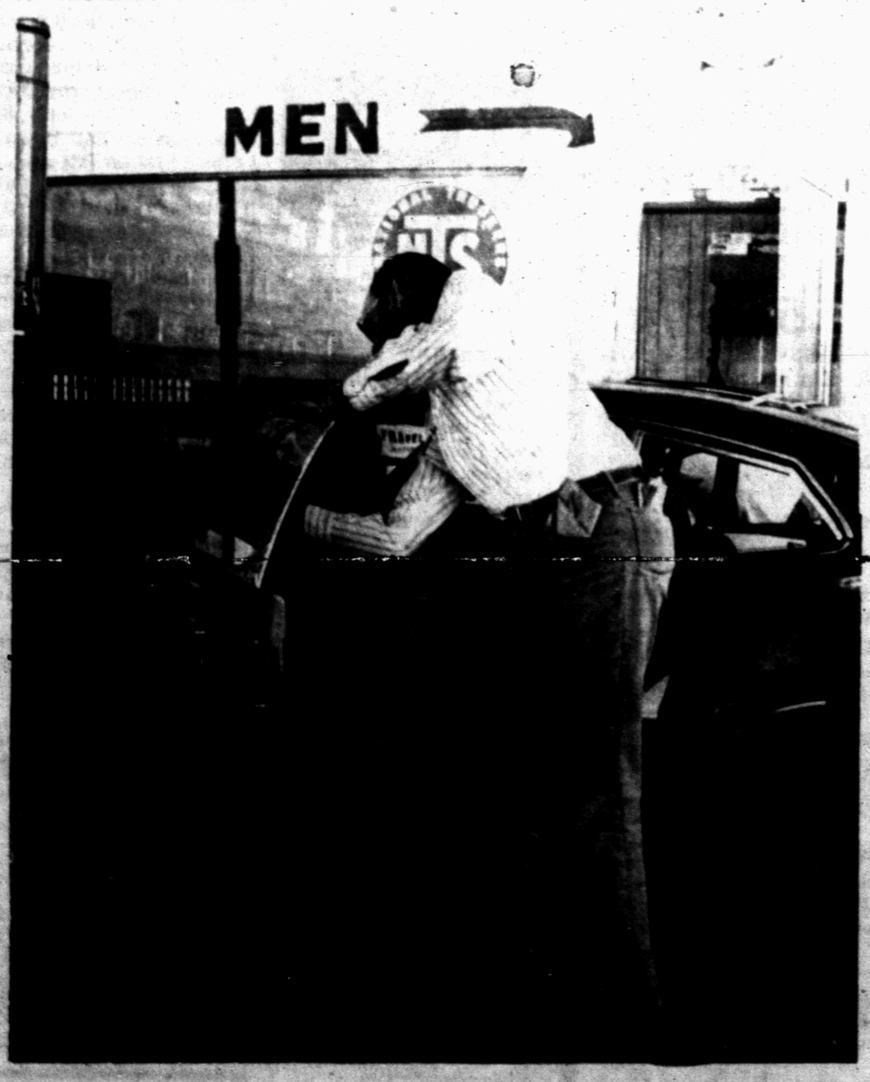
Now that warm weather has arrived your calendar is probably filled with lots of busy fun filled afternoons and weekends. With all of these activities you don't have the time to wash your car, but McCormick Phillips 66 has the time.

They have just installed a new high pressure hot water car washer that gets your car clean in only minutes. And with a little elbow grease from James Harbin and John Martin, station attendants, the inside can be as clean as the outside.

Perhaps before you have a clean car why not get your car serviced with an oil change, maybe the tires rotated, or the radiator checked out. After your car has this check-up how about having it filled up with gas.

Just think how you'll feel going to the golf course or the baseball park or even the tennis courts in a bright and shiny clean car (inside and out). You'll feel important and be sure and tell your friends about McCormick Phillips 66 Stations' new car wash. They are located on the East Highway in Snyder.

They also have self-service gas pump for those who like to help yourself and save a little on your gas bill.



NEW CAR WASHER — John Martin, station attendant at McCormick Phillips 66 finishes cleaning a car after using their new high pressure car washer. You can have a clean car in only a short time with this new system.
