Hospital Problem Comes Up Again

Second Building Provided For El Dorado Woolens

It was revealed this week that El Dorado Woolens in their rapidly expanding program are moving a part of their operations to the former Wm. Cameron building on Main Street where they will turn out another of their newly introduced products.

The move is being made possible with the cooperation of the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce. The civic body is renting the large building for $50 a month for three years and turning it over to El Dorado Woolens, rent free, for that period of time, after which the wool mill will assume the rent.

Considerable remodeling and repairing is to be done by the mill before moving machines and employees to this extra location.

The new move will provide employment for an additional number of new hands.

After muddling along for two whole months without a doctor, the rank and file of Schleicher citizens are beginning to be concerned and alarmed over this deficiency, and are just about ready to do what is necessary to correct the situation . . .

This was generally the consensus of opinion when directors of the Chamber of Commerce met in a session Monday night.

E. C. Peters, who had been in touch with a surgeon and physician in Pasadena, laid the problem squarely on the table. He quoted the doctor as saying, "If I am going to practice in Eldorado I want to be an Eldorado doctor and I don't want to spend half my time at an out-of-town hospital."

That lays the problem in the lap of the voters of the county. Are they willing to go ahead with a bond issue of some kind to set up a hospital district in this county which has been needed for a long time?

In addition to Mr. Peters, who is C of C president, those present Monday night included Bob Bradley, secretary, and Joe Ed Spencer from El Dorado Woolens, John Hodges from Eagle Chevrolet, Patton Enochs, county clerk, and Fred Gunstead from Eldorado Success.

Enochs pointed out that a large number of road bonds had been voted by the county in the last 18 years and that as of now all of these bonds have been paid off. Result: county taxes which are already low will go still lower next year.

The feeling among the group was that a $350,000 hospital bond issue would scarcely be noticed in the average taxpayers' over-all tax bill.

The Chamber of Commerce directors are not trying to ram something down your throats. They would like to have an expression of your opinion. They don't want the county to go to the trouble and expense of calling an election if they knew beforehand it was going to be defeated.

Will you clip out the straw vote coupon on the bottom of this page and mail or hand it in?

Funeral Today For Bill Edmiston, 66

F. A.
W. F. (Bill) Edmiston, 66, a member of a pioneer Schleicher county ranching family, died sometime Tuesday afternoon while at work on his ranch near Fort McKavett. When he failed to return home by dark, members of the family went to look for him and found him in his pickup slumped over the steering wheel. Death apparently was from a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at 3:00 p.m., Thursday (today) at the West Side Church of Christ with interment in Eldorado cemetery under direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Pall bearers will be: J. P. Enochs, George Draper, George Williams, Jim O'Harrow, and Dick Jones, all of Eldorado; and Pete McDaniel of Monahans.

Mr. Edmiston was born June 18, 1900, at Mason, Texas, the son of W. F. and Martha Ellen Edmiston. He moved to this county with his parents at the age of three years.

On Dec. 2, 1920, he married Betty Lou Ellis, and she died Jan. 29, 1962. In January, 1936, he married Mrs. Loleete Kerr.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Delbert Edmiston, and a daughter, Frankie, Mrs. Jack Halbert, Jr., both of this place, and six grandchildren.

Also surviving are four brothers, Arch, Grat, and Gene of Eldorado, and E. L. (Speck) Edmiston of Odessa.

Mr. Edmiston had ranched all of his life, and operated a cafe here for a while.

Post Script

The Chamber of Commerce needs your help!

In another column you are informed that this civic body has obligated itself for $50 a month for three years for rent on a building for El Dorado Woolens.

This was just one of the things I learned when I attended the directors meeting Monday.

I also learned that the Chamber last spring bought four special sewing machines for $1,586 and are leasing them to the Mill in a trade that is taking care of the payments.

I also learned that Dana Owens spent three days learning how to operate these industrial machines, and then spent a number of weeks instructing workers how to operate them—and they, in turn, were able to get employment at the Mill.

I learned also that C of C directors voted to send Miss Owens a check for $250 for her services, which were valuable to the Mill as well as to people seeking employment.

I also learned that there are now only 36 dues-paying members of the Chamber of Commerce.

There should be twice that many. Maybe you're like me—I didn't think the C of C was doing anything—until I attended their meeting.

Let's all of us get in there and give it support.

Incidentally, the doctor who was talking with Mr. Peters about coming to Eldorado, said that he didn't expect the city or the county to guarantee him anything. He was willing to take his own chances if the county provided him with the facilities (hospital) he needed to do the job.

All Eldorado appreciates the big special page in Sunday's Standard-Times featuring El Dorado Woolens and its new line of fashion garments.

The article was written by Sue Norman, Standard-Times woman's editor, and included a page of pictures with various garments being modeled.

"El Dorado Woolens," said Miss Norman, "is deep into the business of fashion, producing more than 100 garments per day for distribution in seven states."

Since The Standard is a Southwest Texas regional paper, their Sunday spread goes a long way in putting El Dorado Woolens and Eldorado itself on the map.

Thanks, neighbor.

Labor Day To Be Holiday

Labor Day is the first of the school holidays observed here during the first semester, and as is the usual custom many business firms here as well as the local schools will be closed Monday, Sept. 5.

Business transactions and purchases needed over the long week end should be made prior to that time so that storeowners as well as employees may observe the day at their favorite recreation.

This being a national holiday, all government offices, post offices, etc., will also be closed.

—ps—
A Thought for Labor Day, Monday, September 5th . . .

Labor Day is strictly American. It is as indigenous to this land of ours as popcorn and baseball, a deep rooted part of all that is America and American—integral with our history, our philosophy, our way of being, and yes, our dreams.

Labor Day began with the sense of freedom when man planted his foot in the wilderness at Jamestown. And the story of American labor, whose theme is the dignity of labor, and man's right to the fruits of that labor, weaves through and through all this nation's people and all its land from that beginning unto the end. For work, the right to work and to reap the gain of that work is man's most basic freedom. And ever, if there is an end to America and the American Way, it will be through the denial of these precepts.

In Russia they "celebrate" a worker's day. But the day, and the participation in its ceremonies, is an enforced thing. There freedom is not an ingredient of man's labor. There is no freedom of choice to work or not to work. There is no bartering for better wages. No right to work, but work, you slave. Dignity, there is none. Production, how can a man produce better and produce more without the rewards of freedom, dignity and the enjoyment of the fruits of his labor? It is a thought.

The Government's latest announcement concerning money is that the Treasury Department will discontinue $2.00 bills. Those now in circulation will be retired and no more will be made.

The local Bank reported last week that they had been out of $2 bills for several years. They apparently never were circulated much since many people considered them bad luck.

So if you happen to have any $2 bills, better lay them back and cherish them, because they will become collector's items in the fu-

Final Scrimmage Set For This Saturday

Coach Ray Morgan stated this week that the Eagle team will hold their final scrimmage game this Saturday evening at 7:00 at Sterling City, where they will play the Colorado City team.

The following Friday, Sept. 9th, the Eden Bulldogs will come here for the season's opening game.

Two More Are On The Local School Faculty

The first full week of school is now drawing to a close, and two more teachers have been added to the faculty since last week.

Mrs. Carroll Rathiff is teaching Jr. High social studies, and Mrs. Bob Bland is teaching one of the Third Grade sections.

Booster Ads For Football To Begin

The Success will launch its series of football booster ads in next week's issue, which will come out the day before the Eagles launch their season with a home game with the Eden Bulldogs.

The Success crew have already done much of the preliminary work on this ad series. Pictures were taken of the football boys and their coaches about two weeks ago, and have already been engraved for printing in this newspaper. They will appear in the ad each week throughout the season.

The football booster ads serve several purposes. First, they give recognition to the players. Second, they advertise each week's game, giving the time, date, place and a running record of the season's results. Third, through the sponsors of the ads, they demonstrate townwide support and backing of the Eldorado Eagles, and finally, fourth, the ads make possible the complete coverage in the Success of all the games.

The Success has already done much of the selling for this ad series, and any Eagle booster overlooked should call this office at 853-2800. While there may be few direct sales in getting on the series, it creates good will which is vital to any business enterprise.

Ray Morgan will be launching his initial year as head coach of the Eagles.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Would you like to give your child a gift that is simply wonderful? I believe that Mrs. Yates has something to say about that gift that you might like to know about. Please read on.

Love Gives Child A Sense Of Security

College Station.—The best thing parents can do to keep their children out of troubles is to love each other.

This word of advise comes from Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, Texas A&M University Extension family life education specialist.

Psychologists indicate that many individuals reach adulthood unable to love anyone because they have not learned how to love in their own homes, she adds.

"People who are incapable of loving anyone are the unhappy, maladjusted individuals who often turn to antisocial behavior in an attempt to seek attention. They are also found frequently in the divorce courts and the psychiatrists' offices," says Mrs. Yates.

How do parents teach their child to love, to care for others. The clue, says Mrs. Yates, is explained by Dr. Christine Beasley, professor of family relationships at the University of Tennessee. "We learn to love by loving," says Dr. Beasley.

This theme may be one of the most important ones that young parents can remember as they attempt to guide their children. A child learns to love by loving those around him. And he does this as he does many other things in life — by imitation.

One of the surest ways to teach a child to love, to give him the security of knowing he is loved, is to set a good example, reminds Mrs. Yates. Young parents may not be aware that their love for each other may be the basic ingredient in a secure and happy childhood for their children.

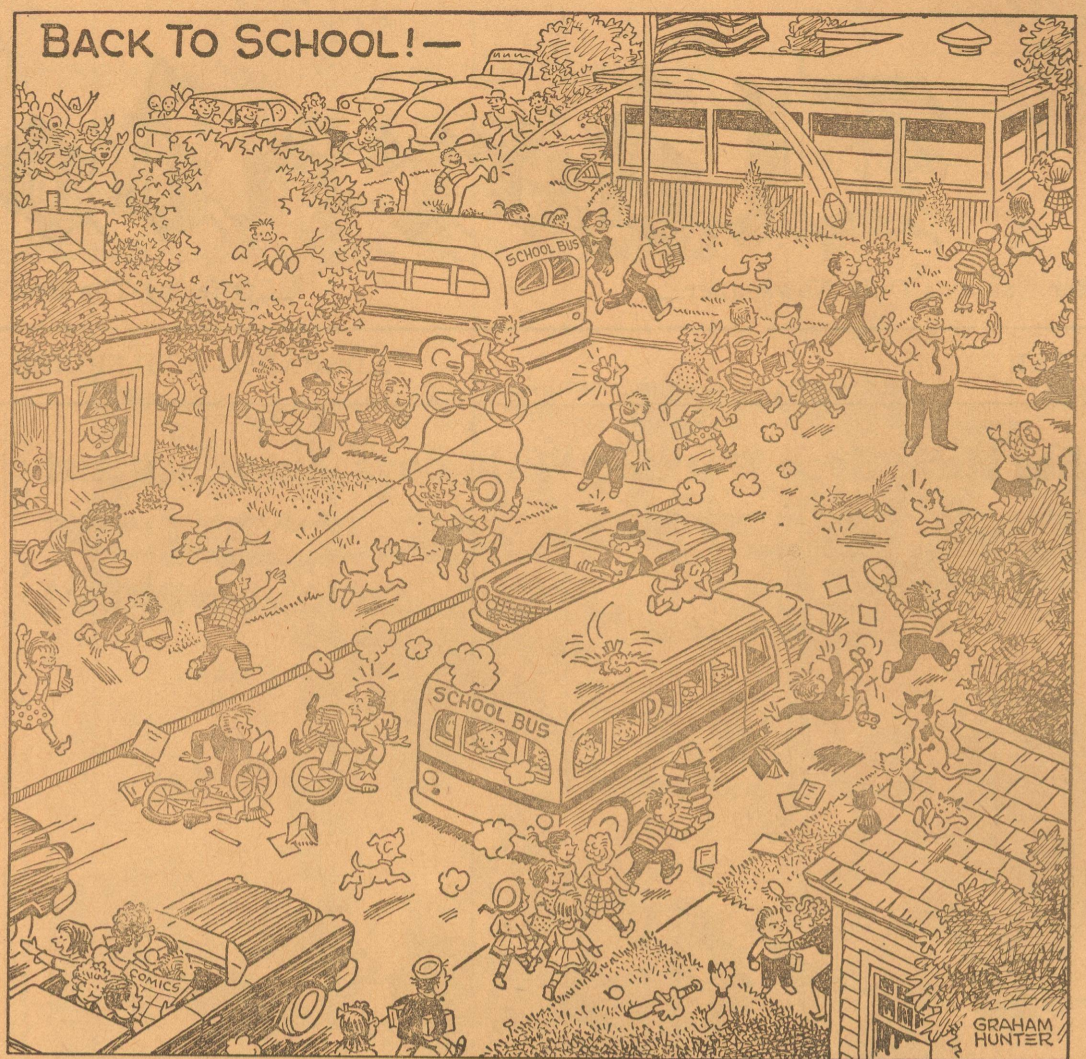

"The child whose parents have a strong happy marriage has the best opportunity for learning to love others, and also for the formation of a happy home of his own," says Mrs. Yates.

Virtually everybody likes meat. Not everybody likes every kind of meat but meat is still the most important food on a menu.

Last Spring I gave a series of demonstrations over the county on cooking a chuck roast or steak which is one of the less expensive cuts of meat. The only difference in this cut and a sirloin is that the sirloin can be cooked done and tender by broiling. A chuck steak is from the forequarter, is less tender and takes more time to cook. This is the way we prepared the roasts for demonstration and I've had several requests for the recipe. I made mine up—you may want to do the same thing.

Marinated Chuck

Use 3 or 4 pound roast. Mix ½ cup vegetable oil, ½ cup vinegar, 3 or 4 green onions chopped fine, salt & pepper according to your taste, and add ½ teaspoon each of marjorem, thyme and sweet basil to this mixture. Pour this marinade mixture in a pan or casserole which has a lid that fits. Put the meat in and turn it over two or three times. Let refrigerate overnight. Next day, when ready to cook, turn meat once again. Cover and roast in 325-degree oven until tender — about two hours.

If you want an extra treat cook some vegetables in the drippings after the meat is done. Remove meat, add onions, potatoes and carrots and cook until tender. Makes mighty fine eating.

Remember, I'm not advocating boycotting steaks to broil. In case you do want to broil a sirloin, porterhouse or T-bone you might be interested in the questions most often asked about cooking steaks, and the answers.

Question: How can you keep a steak from curling during cooking?

Answer: Slash the fat edges of the steak before cooking. Q. How often should a steak be turned during cooking?

A. Once is all that's necessary. Broil until brown on first side, turn it, and continue cooking the other side. Use tongs to turn the steak without piercing it. Jabbing a steak with a fork causes an undue loss in juices.

Q. When should a steak be salted—before or after grilling?

A. Salt each side after grilling. This is important because the seasoning may draw the flavorful juices to the surface and slow the browning process.

Q. How can you tell when a steak is done?

A. Cut a slit in the steak with a sharp knife. Cut near the bone, if there is one. Look as the color inside. If it's red, it's rare; pink is medium, and brown is well done.

Q. Why is it recommended that meat be sliced across the grain?

A. Meat should be carved against the grain to give uniform slices for attractive serving. Also, slicing across the grain, or fibers, makes the meat easier to eat.

Disability Benefits Increased Under S. S.

Many Schleicher county residents are losing thousands of dollars monthly because of their failure to take advantage of the 1965 disability amendments. Franklin Upp, field representative of the San Angelo Social Security office announced Thursday.

Under these new amendments, he said, disability payments are no longer limited to persons with "permanent" disabilities. Previously, one could receive benefits only if the mental or physical impairment was expected to continue for a long and indefinite time, or to result in death.

Today a person may qualify for benefits if his disability has lasted, or is expected to last, 12 months or longer. He added that many people in this capacity are not filing for these disability benefits.

Mr. Upp stated that the potentiality of disability hovers over all of us. While only one out of every hundred workers may become disabled, it definitely affects a family's financial security.

Two kinds of disability protection are provided under the social security program, he explained. First, disabled workers under 65 and their dependents may be paid monthly benefits; and second, disabled children, who became disabled before age 18, may qualify for benefits on a retired, disabled, or deceased parent's account.

The important thing, he emphasized, is for any disabled person to contact his social security office immediately, as potential benefits are only retroactive for one year from date of filing.

Social Security benefit payments may be made to disabled workers with only a temporary disability. If your disability is expected to last 12 months or longer, you may qualify. Contact your social security office for further details.

The 1965 Amendments to the Social Security Act allow people with a disability which has lasted or is expected to last 12 months or longer, to qualify for disability benefits.

If you meet this requirement, contact your nearest social office as you may be losing benefits. The social security office in San Angelo is located at 3000 West Harris, and their phone number is 949-4608.

'Death Alert' Set Over Labor Day

Austin, Texas.—The Texas Safety Association today issued its annual "Accidental Death Alert" for the Labor Day holiday weekend and called on Texas drivers to personally identify themselves with traffic safety problems.

"Traffic safety is not a 'one-way street,'" S. Ross Carr, TSA President said. "Each driver is equally responsible for operating his automobile safely on our streets and highways."

The Association President said too many drivers fail to take positive action in matters of traffic safety due to a lack of personal identification with the problem.

"And, some even operate under the false idea they have some sort of built-in personal immunity to accidents," Carr added. "They think 'it' can't happen to them."

"This just isn't true. Each driver in our state has less than a 50-50 chance to go through his driving career without being involved in a traffic mishap, or without incurring injury to himself or one of his family."

Carr advised drivers to use extreme caution and display courtesy in traffic during the holiday week end.

"Put all your driving skills to work; be prepared for the unexpected actions of other drivers; and adopt a proper driver-attitude to stay out of trouble," he said.

Austin, Texas.—Officials from major Texas cities, beset with money problems, are calling on the Legislature to allow municipalities a 50-50 split in any new broad-based state taxes enacted next year. Gov. John Connally pledged to recommend "very substantial new sources of revenue" for the cities after a group of metropolitan area mayors conferred with him.

Question as to whether the kind of revenue-sharing plan advocated by the mayors is permissible under the state constitution will be briefed by the Texas Legislative Council, at the request of House Speaker Ben Barnes.

Cities petitioned for a 50% refund of any increase in the state sales tax or an equivalent amount of any new broad-based tax, with the state doing the collecting and apportioning half of new funds where paid.

While agreeing to ask the Legislature for financial relief for the cities, Connally declined to spell out the precise form and amount he will seek. He did promise there will be "no strings attached" to his recommendation.

Connally also reported an agreement for regular conferences on urban problems between the mayors and top state officials.

What will happen to the cities' request for financial assistance in a legislative session where a state tax bill of more than $200 million is regarded as a certainty remains to be seen.

Some legal authorities do not believe a straight refund is possible without a constitutional amendment, although the Legislature could authorize the cities to levy their own sales taxes with the state serving as collector.

New Governor's Mansion Sought

At its initial meeting, the Texas Fine Arts Commission, created by the Legislature in 1965, recommended a new governor's mansion and said the present residence, completed in 1855, should be operated as an historic house.

Governor Connally has not yet expressed his view on a new mansion. However, last year when the State Building Commission, of which he is chairman, recommended a new $1 million Mansion, he differed and recommended that the money be used elsewhere.

Commission outlined a far-reaching program to encourage development of, and participation in, the arts, including traveling exhibits, festivals, awards, nighttime family entertainment in communities and revived band concerts on the square.

Former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa was named chairman of the new agency.

"Red Means Wrong"

You will be seeing lots of red if you drive the wrong way on a Texas freeway.

In a move to curb wrong-way freeway pileups, State Highway Department is installing red reflector buttons and pavement markers at entrances to interstate and other controlled access highways.

If you see a red arrow pointing at you from the pavement as you enter a freeway ramp, you are entering the wrong way. A straight red line pointing against you on lane lines means you are going in the wrong direction.

Highway Department has spent or obligated $76.6 million in an overall four-year safety program.

Loans

Tight money has made it hard for Texas colleges to sell their building bonds. Some still are looking for buyers.

On a third try, buyers were found for the 4% bonds of Angelo State at San Angelo ($1.2 million); Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches ($2.6 million); and Sam Houston State at Huntsville ($2.5 million). But Southwest Texas State at San Marcos and East Texas State at Commerce still need buyers for their respective $2.4 million and $2.3 million bonds. Constitutional ceiling of 4% makes the bonds less attractive to investors than other issues bringing higher returns.

More Money

Mounting demands of higher education in Texas seem certain to force a tax increase by the Legislature which meets in January.

Budget requests for the 22 state colleges are almost double those of the current two years, in large part because of a need for "catching up". Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, says that the previous practice of providing money based on past enrollments just won't work. Cash should be provided for the 22 state colleges and the 34 junior colleges on the basis of what their enrollments will be, instead of what they were.

Junior colleges, fast growing as they are, will be some $16 million short of operating money during the current two years. It will take $100 million to put senior college appropriations on a current basis.

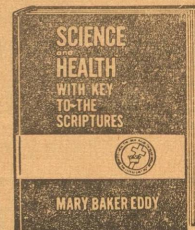

Prospects of a surplus in the state treasury of $75-$80 million have led to talk of increasing college tuition and fees, so students would pay more of the cost.

State Health authorities last week reported 193 suspected and 65 confirmed cases of encephalitis (two strains) in Texas.

Texas Good Roads Association has warned it will oppose any move in the 60th Legislature to divert highway user taxes to other purposes.

Texas auto insurance companies are pledging "aggressive" support of highway safety measures next year.

Make Yourself An Ice Cream Soda

THE HIGHER THE TEMPERATURE, the more delightful sodas are as an instant refresher. Made at home, you can have many flavor combinations, too. In fact, because Easy Sodas are made with Kool-Aid Instant Soft Drink Mix, you can choose from eight flavors—black cherry, cherry, grape, lemon-grape, lemon-lime, orange, raspberry, or strawberry. Each envelope will make six delicious sodas for thirsty adults or children.

EASY SODAS

- 1 envelope instant soft drink mix, any flavor
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 bottle (1 pt. 12 oz.) club soda, chilled
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Dissolve instant soft drink mix and sugar in water in a large pitcher. Stir in soda. Place a small scoop of ice cream in each of 6 tall glasses. Stir in soft drink mixture. Top each serving with another small scoop of ice cream. Serve immediately. Makes about 2 quarts or 6 large servings.

SUMMERTIME IS SALAD TIME

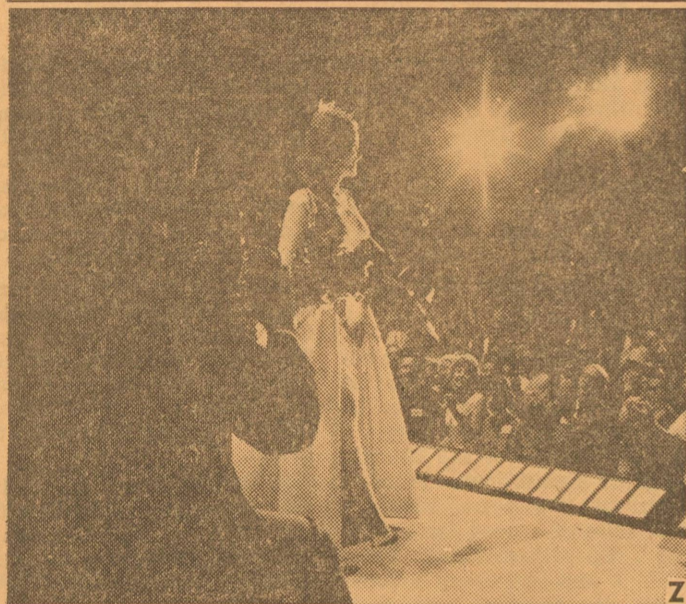

When the heat's on outside, that's no time to be inside cooking over a hot range. You can get out of the kitchen if you serve an attractive Meal-In-A-Bowl Salad on your patio or porch. Fresh greens and tomatoes, cooked chicken and bacon, plus hard-cooked eggs and avocado combine to make a light but filling meal. Then toss the salad with Good Seasons Onion Salad Dressing Mix, a dressing that contains all the necessary herbs and spices so you don't have to add any of your own.

MEAL-IN-A-BOWL SALAD

- 1 medium head lettuce
- 1 small bunch chicory
- 1 head romaine
- 1/2 bunch watercress
- 3 peeled medium tomatoes, diced
- 1 medium avocado, pared and diced
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- 1/2 pound bacon, cooked and crumbled
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup crumbled bleu cheese or grated process American cheese
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped chives
- 1 envelope onion salad dressing mix
- Vinegar, water, and salad oil

Shred each of the greens and spread in layers in a large salad bowl. Arrange remaining ingredients, except salad dressing, in rows of contrasting colors over top of greens. Prepare salad dressing mix with vinegar, water, and salad oil as directed on envelope. To serve salad, sprinkle part of the salad dressing over only one section at a time, mixing lightly. Then serve from that section first, keeping the rest of the design intact. Makes about 10 generous entree servings.

America's "The Beautiful"

For the past few months the entire country has been the scene of over 2,500 college and community Pageants—all pre-lims for the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City this September 5th through 10th. Seventy thousand girls have participated in these events, and now only the chosen few are left... the Miss America hopefuls.

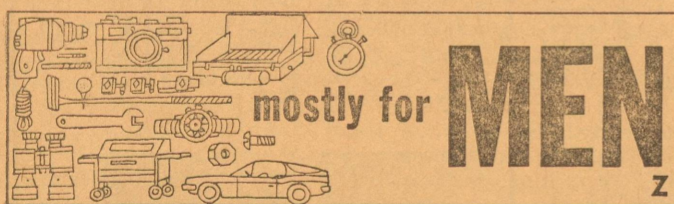

Soon 50 radiant smiles, shining hair-do's and glowing complexions will be seen by millions of people on coast-to-coast television in the gala event as traditional as the American hot dog—the Miss America Pageant. But its not all a graceful glide down the spotlight runway, as it appears to spectators. A lot of work went into making this moment possible... talent rehearsals, speech, drama or dance lessons, education... For the girls who dream of the Miss America title must embody not only the highest concept of beauty, but all of the qualities we esteem in woman—fact, and taste, beauty and brains, noise and personality. It's a tall order for even a born queen.

Why does a girl want to be Miss America? Often her reasons are surprisingly unselfish. This year's Miss America, Debbie Bryant of Kansas, desired both the honor of Kansas and also the opportunity to further her education and become a pediatrician, so she could help children "grow to full adulthood and a full life." Since 1945, thousands of dollars in educational scholarships have been awarded to Pageant participants; last year Pepsi-Cola Bottlers contributed over $250,000.

To America's "The Beautiful," then, who dream of capturing the crown, the goal is not a moment of September glory. For them, the Pageant is the stepping stone to a more fulfilled and fulfilling future.

Barbecue Hints

Now that the barbecue season is in full swing once more, American men are again attempting to prove the theory that they are the best cooks in the world. And certainly, where outdoor cooking is concerned, men seem to be the experts.

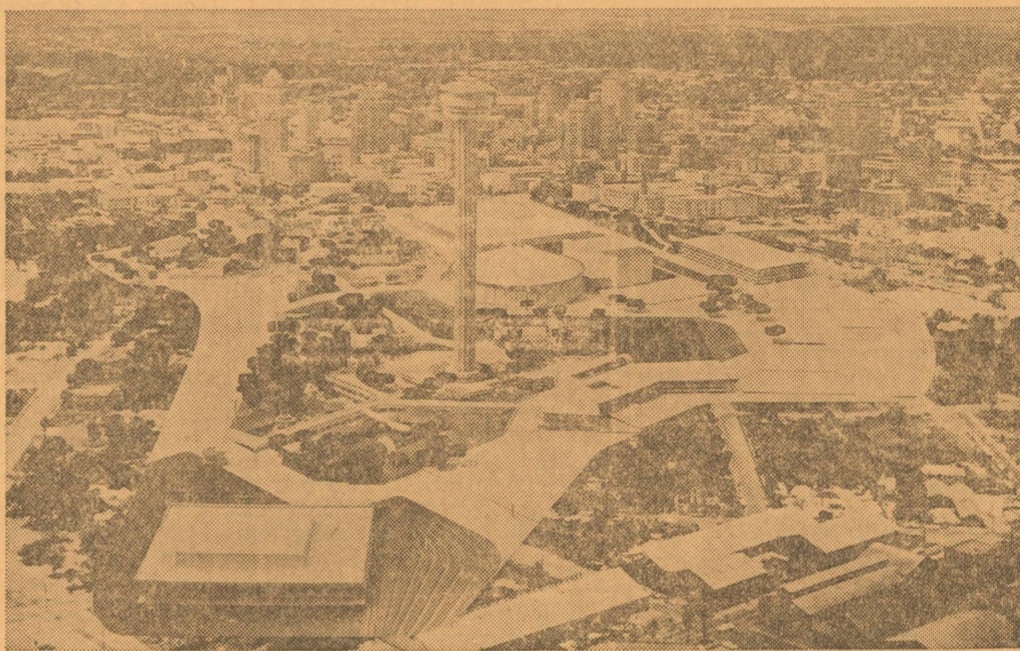

Expert or not, the best cooks are always out for new additions to their culinary art. So here are a few pointers for outdoor barbecue experts:

- 1) Make sure your barbecue is clean and dry. If your grill is rusty, replace it with a stainless steel grill. If it needs cleaning use a barbecue brush. A stainless brush is best for this purpose.
- 2) Don't use too much charcoal. You only need enough to cover the area of the food being cooked. Using more charcoal than you need is not only wasteful but it may upset your timing by creating a hotter fire than you really want. For best results use charcoal briquets, not the loose kind. Briquets give you a more even flame and are easier to handle.
- 3) Once you're ready to light the fire, bring the charcoal together in a heap in the middle. This will make best use of your lighting fluid and will insure uniform lighting. You can spread the coals out flat just before you are ready to cook. Be sure to use enough fluid and make sure it's charcoal-lighter especially designed for this purpose, not gasoline, which is not only dangerous, but may affect the flavor of the food. And above all never add fluid once you've lit the fire. Coals are usually perfect about fifteen minutes after lighting—you can tell by the red glow and patches of white.

4) Don't put the grill over the fire until you're ready to cook. To prevent meat from sticking to the grill during cooking, rub a piece of fat (steak fat is ideal) on the grill just before you begin to cook.

5) Stainless steel barbecue spatulas, forks and knives are ideally suited for outdoor cooking since they are easy to keep clean and resist rust and tarnish. Exposure to damp air has little effect on them.

Multi-terraced building in the foreground is the Institute of Texan Cultures. The 622-foot Tower of the Americas separates the state exhibit from the city's $10.5 million civic center complex. Open spaces are for the federal and industrial exhibits, many of which are presently contracted.

Emerging from an underwater tunnel at a speed of 38 feet per second, past startled passengers aboard the Caddo War Canoes, is Six Flags Over Texas' newest ride, the Run-A-Way Mine Train. Built at a cost of $1,000,000, the exciting ride, which just opened, is situated in the Boom Town Section of the famed historical-theme park located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

NEW $1,000,000 RIDE PREMIERES AT SIX FLAGS

Arlington, Texas: The most ambitious and expensive attraction ever built at Six Flags Over Texas, the Run-A-Way Mine Train, was unveiled at the famed historical theme park located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Situated in the Boom Town Section of the 115-acre park, the ride, costing $1,000,000, opened after more than a year of research, development and construction.

Covering about an acre of wooded grounds along the banks of Johnson Creek, which flows through Six Flags, "The Run-A-Way Mine Train" tracks extend in a twisting pattern for 2,484 ft.

A capsule version of the trip begins when passengers are taken for an excursion through the "Great Southwest Mining Company's" property in ore cars. The cars are propelled through a series of lifts up to 35 feet high by pulleys and gravity. The train, gathering speed, reacts as if it is out of control, reaching a maximum speed of 38 feet per second.

The train races across a bridge through open cuts, crossing over and under the tracks where the two narrow-gauge steam engines regularly travel. It passes through a hotel lobby, dives down a shaft into a 150-foot-long curving tunnel built underneath the water and emerges in the middle of the "Caddo River" domain of the Indian War Canoes. From there, the cars glide gently back to the depot.

Some interesting facts and figures are that a force of slightly under 2 G's is exerted as the train races through the curving 150-foot-long tunnel under the water; each train consists of five ore cars capable of carrying six passengers each or 30 passengers per train. Construction of the ride involved 2,000 yards of poured concrete, 165,000 feet of reinforced steel, 35,000 feet of electrical wire and conduit, 350 telephone poles for supports and piling, 110,000 square feet of redwood, cedar and pine lumber. Some 443 electrical connections are contained in the console to operate the ride. The loading depot contains 30 tons of air conditioning for the comfort of passengers waiting to board the train. About 150 kw's (150,000 watts) of electrical power per hour are consumed by the ride (equivalent to the amount of power used in one hour by 30 three-bedroom homes).

Six Flags' operating schedule for the remainder of the 1966 season is that the Park will be open seven days a week through September 5; thereafter, until closing on November 27, the Park will be open on Saturdays and Sundays only.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

With consumer prices currently rising at the rate of 3.5% a year, the reality of creeping inflation must be faced. If this rate continues, today's dollar will dwindle to half its present size in 14 years. But despite this stark reality, excessive government spending—a chief cause of inflation—goes merrily on its way. New, fantastic spending schemes are being hatched out every day.

Martin Luther King, who rates high in governmental circles in Washington, came up with a real whopper the other day. He called for a $100-billion aid plan exclusively for Negroes, over the next 10 years. A Negro-white outfit in New York was less timid. They demanded $208 billion in federal funds over the next 5 years.

Bayard Rustin, a rather notorious agitator, associate of Martin Luther King and now director of the A. Philip Randolph Center in New York recently joined the throng of left-wingers in demanding a guaranteed income for the head of every family in the nation. A Senate hearing on the plight of cities brought forth an assortment of calls for more federal hand-outs. Although Senator Ribicoff said the federal government has handed about $96 billion to American cities over the past 10 years, Bobby Kennedy belittled that as a mere pittance.

From New York came Mayor John Lindsay to disclose that New York City would settle for $50 billion from Uncle Sam during the next decade. Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit said that a "minimum" of $250 billion will be needed in the next 10 years to spark "the rebirth of the American city."

No one would have had the gall to ask for such ridiculous amounts from a debt-ridden federal government 10—or even five—years ago. But orgy of unprecedented spending in right recent years has triggered the wildest demands ever made upon the federal treasury. In fact, many states now—for the first time—maintain full-time lobbyists in Washington, doing nothing but figuring out how much money can be obtained under the complex profusion of agencies, many entangled in overlapping and contradictory programs. A good many Congressmen now seem to measure their worth in terms of how many federal dollars they can help to channel into their own districts.

Only recently the Congress approved (without my vote) a raise in the debt ceiling—to $330 billion. And despite the fact that federal outgo has exceeded the intake during the past 7 years (the deficit totaling $36 billion during that period), in all the recent hearings not one word has been heard from these people regarding where the money is coming from! They are content to ignore that nasty word "inflation."

joining areas.

The Parkers had the brush killed by dozing to eliminate the use of moisture by the brush. Range seeding was needed to get good grasses established in the disturbed areas and to increase the percentage of higher forage producing grasses. The ultimate goal was to get the rangeland to producing the maximum amount of forage under proper range use.

All of the 488 acres has been deferred since the 15th of May and will be deferred until after the first frost this year. Pete considered the deferred grazing one of the most important conservation practices in getting grass established. Also the old plants will have had an opportunity to make seed. Next year's deferment will begin with the spring growing season and continue at least 90 days. If sufficient moisture is not received to get the grass off to a good start the deferment will be extended.

Range deferment is not a new conservation practice to the Parker brothers. Each year they defer part of their rangeland. This year all of their rangeland is being deferred at least 90 days. The purpose of deferment is to improve the mulch cover, plant vigor and spread the better species of plants. By deferment harvest is only postponed and forage has more variety and yield.

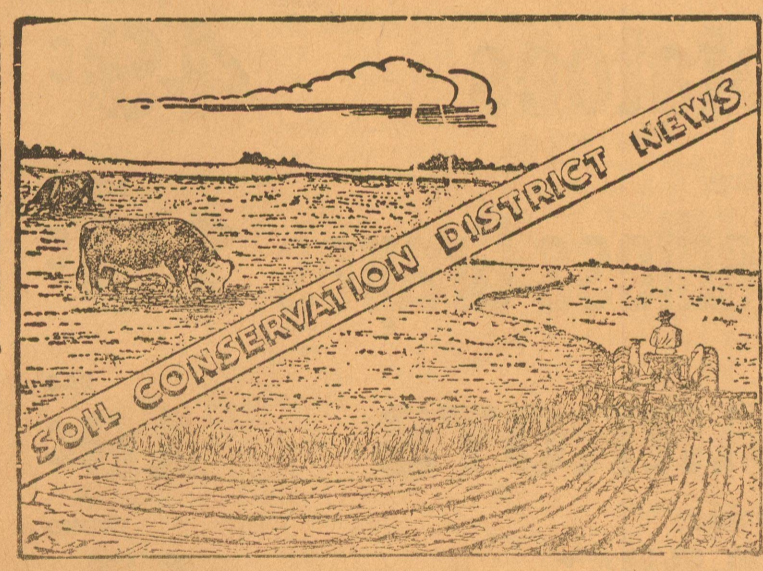

The Great Plains conservation plan on the Parker place includes the use of each acre of agricultural land according to its capability and the treatment of each acre in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement.

Rev. Mike Love Coming To Assembly Of God

Rev. Mike Love will move here this week end from Abilene to be the new pastor of the Assembly of God church. Rev. Love, who is single, will be accompanied by his mother, and by his sister, Faith. They have rented the Albert McGinnes house.

The Assembly of God congregation have been without a resident pastor since Johnny Griffith moved to Breckenridge a number of weeks ago.

Range seeding following brush control on Pete and Glenn Parker's place, 9 miles southwest of Eldorado, has a good stand of new grass with some already making seed. The Parker brothers controlled 383 acres of mesquite and mixed brush under the Great Plains Conservation Program this spring. The disturbed area made by dozing the brush, was seeded with sideoats grama, K R Bluestem, Green Sprangletop and Lehmanns lovegrass. Also, 100 acres of brush control and range seeding was done at no cost share from the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Brush Control, Range Seeding and deferred grazing are some of the conservation practices that were included in the Parkers' original conservation plan with the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. In 1950 they prepared a soil, water and plant conservation plan, with the assistance of Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the district. In 1962 Parker Bros. entered into a contract with the Great Plains Conservation Program.

The amount of rain needed to get grass up and established may be less than we sometimes think. Moisture condition to begin with was poor on Parker's place as well as all the area known as Bailey Ranch. All the treeozing and range seeding was not completed when the first rain (about Mar. 15) was received. Some of the seeded grasses came up and survived.

Following each rain of any amount, the disturbed areas that previously had no plants in them had a good number come up and areas that had plants were getting more new plants.

In checking the progress of the range seeding last week, Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service, and W. T. "Pete" Parker found some planted grass nearly knee high and making seed. With the exception of a strip on the west side of the place, that has received less rainfall than the other part, a good stand of grass is present in nearly all disturbed areas. Old grass plants, that were in the pasture before the range seeding was done, such as sideoats grama and green sprangletop are also making a fair seed crop. The fact that all the grass is not already knee high and making seed is not due to improper management, but due to lack of rainfall. Grasses planted this year that are nearly knee high in the pits received additional water from ad-
