Lyndon Joins Demand To Beat Reds To Moon

Rockets Loaded

Jim Infante, right, director of research of the Southwest Rocket Society, and Johnny Swaboda, head of design, load their largest rocket on a truck in Austin for the first leg of the trip to Beeville, where the vehicle was fired. In background is one of two other rockets that will be put into the air later. Infante, 19, is a senior aeronautical engineering major at the University of Texas and Swoboda, 21, is a junior in mechanical engineering. The large rocket reached 14,000 feet. It carried two pounds of radio equipment in its nose.

N. Y. Subway Operations Up By 80 Per Cent

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's subways stepped up operations to 80 per cent of normal during the morning rush hour today as the strike by motormen and other transit employes entered its second week.

The striking motormen prepared to take formal action on Mayor Robert F. Wagner's back-to-work proposal.

At a rally, the motormen cheered sharp criticisms of Wagner's proposal made Saturday night.

The mayor told the strikers on television that the city will not let itself be "blackmailed" into acceptance of their demand for separate bargaining representation.

The City Transit Authority predicted that subway operations would be 80 per cent of normal today.

Louis Waldman, attorney for the striking Motormen's Benevolent Assn., told the rally that, without clarification of the mayor's proposal, the men would be buying "a cat in a bag."

In his "peace proposal," Wagner said that if the strikers return to work the TA will join in an application to get four MBA leaders out of jail. The officials were jailed last week for violation of a no-strike injunction.

Wagner said he had agreed to set up a fund to take care of inequities for certain subway employes and named former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind to act as an impartial referee in considering cases against individual strikers.

The mayor promised there would be no "summary dismissals" of strikers.

After his television speech, Wagner told reporters that the strikers have a reasonable time in which to return to work. This he defined as "a day or two" and added: "No one wants to deprive anyone of his job. I have sympathy for their (the strikers') families. Christmas time is here and I hope they consider their families and their futures."

Waldman told 1,350 strikers that the "door to negotiation is still open." His recommendation that formal action on Wagner's plan be delayed until today was accepted.

While the Transit Authority awaits the strikers' decision, it goes ahead today with an election in which transit employes choose one union to represent them.

At yesterday's rally the strikers voted by a virtually unanimous show of hands to boycott this election, a central issue in the week-long walkout.

This election seems certain to be won by Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union, which represents and bargains for most of the city's 35,000 transit employes.

Ike Welcomed To Paris

French President Rene Coty is on hand to greet President Eisenhower on the chief executive's arrival at Paris' Orly airfield to attend the NATO summit conference.

Ike Calls On NATO To Build Strength While It Still Can

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower called on the Atlantic Alliance today for heroic efforts to build its military strength in the missiles race with Russia "while the margin of power is still ours."

He immediately ran into demands from some other NATO leaders to postpone a final decision on basing nuclear rockets in Europe.

A disagreement over quick action on NATO missiles bases and atomic stockpiles appeared to be developing at the very outset of the historic summit conference to rally the resources of the Western coalition.

The conference opened with a brief public session at noon, at which Eisenhower spoke. It went into a closed working session in midafternoon, but statements of government heads were made public as delivered.

German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer backed the U.S. principle that—in Adenauer's words — NATO should be equipped "with advanced weapons equalling those of our potential enemy." Yet Adenauer said all military questions here need "very thorough study," with a decision put off until next spring.

Premier Einar Gerhardsen of Norway informed the conference that his country has no plans now "to let stockpiles be established on Norwegian territory or to construct launching sites" for intermediate range ballistic missiles.

Gerhardsen said that if necessary a solution to disarmament must be sought "through direct diplomatic negotiations between the two principal military powers." This was a clear suggestion for American - Russian talks—something the European Allies have always shied at heretofore.

The Norwegian Premier said the right course would be for NATO to postpone a decision on rocket bases in Europe.

But NATO's civilian chief, Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, lent powerful support to President Eisenhower. He called on all 15 members of the Alliance to arm themselves with the most modern nuclear weapons and said failure to do so would leave the Soviet Union with a nuclear monopoly in Europe.

Adenauer and Gerhardsen spoke out before Eisenhower had formally presented to the summit meeting an American offer to suply missiles and stockpile nuclear weapons in Western Europe. The proposal had already been informally circulated however, through diplomatic channels.

In his opening policy statement, Adenauer advocated a NATO study of the possibility of economic moves to penetrate the Soviet satellite countries "to overcome the partition of Europe."

Missile Program Hearing Resumes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said today the United States should push plans to beat Soviet Russia to the moon.

"We are a few steps behind in the race already and someone is going to have to take over direction so we can skip a few steps and overtake our competitor," he said.

Johnson spoke in an interview as his Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigating the U.S. missiles and satellite programs summoned top Navy research specialists for questioning.

Johnson said he had received material gathered by the staff over the weekend and it indicates a need for more hearings.

Johnson said more testimony will be required from industry groups and that Defense Department testimony must be reviewed. He said he would confer with other committee members in hopes of arranging for a new set of hearings early in January.

"I would like to stress once again," Johnson said, "that the objective of the committee is to find positive steps that will produce the weapons of security faster and more effectively."

THREAT INCREASES

The acting cmomandant of the Marine Corps, Lt. Gen. Verne J. McCaul, told Senate investigators today that Soviet advances in weapons and space technology increase the threat of limited war.

Gen. McCaul also cautioned the Senate Preparedness subcommittee not to forget about improving other weapons and not to think in terms of missiles alone.

McCaul was the first witness as the subcommittee resumed its probe of the missile-satellite programs after a weekend recess.

Gen. McCaul said it is paradoxical that Sputniks and Soviet weapons progress, far from reducing the probability of limited war threats, actually increases them. And the Marines, he said, are the principal mobile force kept ready to oppose the type of ambiguous threats to our security which only the Kremlin can so skillfully devise.

McCaul reasoned that the massive power of both the United States and Russia in the field of nuclear weapons tend to prevent the posing of situations which could lead to mutual extinction.

He said this leaves the Kremlin with greater latitude in political and limited military action and thus the role of the Marines has never been more significant than it is today.

LANDING FORCES

While the Marines have no need of intercontinental or medium-range missiles, McCaul said the Corps does require missiles with mobility for its landing forces. Its position with respect to these is gradually improving, he reported.

Sen. Bridges (R-NH) asked McCaul whether he would give a higher priority to the development of an intercontinental missile or to measures to give the United States control of outer space.

The general first replied the two seem to go hand in hand.

When Bridges pressed him to say whether he would give the top priority to IRBM, McCaul replied after some thought: "I believe I would have to say 'yes' to that, senator."

McCaul and Brig. Gen. Samuel R. Shaw of the Marine Corps both opposed the idea of a central agency to devise weapons for the armed services.

McCaul said that the service that knows best about its requirements should develop its missiles. He said the Marine Corps does not develop its own missiles, but that there are missiles that fit Corps requirements.

He said the Marines primarily need missiles with a 15- to 20-mile range. One missile with a longer range would be desirable, he added. He said the Army's 175-mile Redstone missile isn't mobile enough for the Marines.

He said the Corps either possesses or has ordered missiles to satisfy requirements.

STRENGTH DOWN

Under questioning by Sen. Symington (D-Mo), McCaul said the Marine Corps strength now is 194,000, although Congress had appropriated funds for total strength of 215,000. He did not immediately elaborate.

Garrison Norton, assistant secretary of the Navy, told the subcommittee the Russian Sputniks did not press the panic button in the Navy because the sense of urgency is not something new.

Norton said what the Navy needs primarily is more research funds. He urged the pooling of scientific information with Western allies, asserting that there is something about European education and environment that breeds good research.

"Ten years ago," he said, "we could truthfully have claimed that we were ahead of Russian scientific research in every major category. We can no longer make that claim. The future of the free world will depend upon the extent to which we pool our scientific talent."

Assistant Secretary Garrison Norton testified today the Navy wanted to conduct the Vanguard earth satellite test in secret but was overruled by Murray Snyder, former

Countdown On 'Atlas' Begins

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The countdown that precedes a missile launching reportedly was under way today, preparatory to the test firing of America's Atlas intercontinental ballistic weapon.

There was no official word that the third attempt to launch an Atlas might be in progress.

The Atlas normally requires a countdown of about 10 hours. However, there is no strict timetable.

Watchers from beaches four to five miles away from the heavily guarded launching area noted great activity around the Atlas stands, where men worked under floodlights through the night.

Two of the giant missiles were visible in their stands. These may be the ones which were given static tests last week.

In addition to the firing expected today, another Atlas launching is believed likely toward the end of the week.

Two previous test launchings of the Atlas were held last summer and last fall.

In both instances the missile got into the air. Before it could get fully under way, however, it started to wobble and change course and had to be blown apart.

The Atlas is designed to deliver a hydrogen warhead over an arc reaching as high as 600 miles above the earth to a target 5,000 miles or more from its launching point. Its average speed is 10,000 miles an hour.

In a test launching, however, the main purpose is to check the functioning of the various parts. The missile may be pre-set for a lesser altitude and a shorter range for better observation of its flight.

Although construction details are secret, the Atlas is believed to be about 70 feet long and 8½ feet in diameter and to weigh some 100 tons at takeoff.

It consists of three stages and is powered by three rocket engines.

The main Atlas engine is believed to have a thrust of 135,000 pounds and the two booster engines are estimated at 100,000 pounds thrust each. The fuel consists of kerosene mixed with liquid oxygen.

The Atlas uses a complex ground-based radio-inertial guidance system and has inertial gyroscope elements aboard to keep it on course during any temporary loss of ground guidance.

The operational missile that is used in combat, the nose cone contains, among other things, an atomic warhead and provision for arming and fusing.

The Atlas, which requires electric power to operate its guidance and control systems, is launched vertically in order to reduce the time spent close to the ground during takeoff, and because it is easier to build equipment to launch heavy vehicles vertically.

After its initial vertical climb the missile goes into a "programed" turn toward the target. It is during this turn that the guidance system begins to function and continues to do so until the desired altitude, speed and angle are attained. Then a signal cuts off the propulsive power.

When power is no longer available, less than 10 minutes after takeoff, the missile goes into its free flight or ballistic trajectory, and can no longer be influenced, guided or controlled.

Fifth Victim Dies

ODESSA (AP)—A girl, 16, died in a hospital yesterday, the fifth victim of a fire which swept through an apartment house early Saturday. She was Loyce Corder, whose mother, Mrs. Edna Corder, 45, died in the blaze. Also killed were Judy Seals, 4, Connie Key Deason, 14, and Danna Wells, 16.

W. K. Crawley Dies In Lamesa

LAMESA — W. K. Crawley Sr., 71, senior vice president of the First National Bank here, died early today of a stroke suffered last night.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Crawley, still active in affairs of the bank although he turned the executive vice presidency of the institution over to a son, Richard, recently, was one of Lamesa's leading civic workers. He was a past president of the Chamber of Commerce and a leader in the Baptist Church.

He was born in Arkadelphia, Ark., and first moved to Lamesa in 1907. He later moved to Throckmorton where he entered the banking business and returned to Lamesa in 1921 to become executive vice president of the bank here.

He is survived by Mrs. Crawley, two sons, Bob, mayor of Lamesa, and Richard, Chamber of Commerce president and bank executive vice president, and other relatives.

Murder Charge Filed At C-City

COLORADO CITY—Refugio Martinez, 29, Colorado City, has been charged with murder with malice in connection with the gun death early Sunday of Liberio Garcia, 41-year-old Colorado City painter.

Garcia was shot to death with a .45 automatic pistol. The shooting occurred near the Coker Cafe on the west edge of Colorado City. He was shot two times.

Martinez immediately surrendered himself to officers. No details as to the cause of the fatal altercation have been disclosed. Martinez is in the Mitchell County jail.

Garcia had lived in Colorado City since 1939. He was born in Gonzales County July 23, 1916.

Funeral services are pending at the Kiker Funeral Home but it has been announced burial will be in Mitchell County cemetery.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blas Garcia, Colorado City; one son, Roberto Garcia and one daughter, Mrs. Eva Busamente, both of Arizona; four brothers, Manuel and Moises Garcia, both of Colorado City; Andres Garcia of Pecos and Pedro Garcia of Odessa; two sisters, Mrs. Cristala Onelias, Colorado City and Mrs. Alesia Arribe, Winters.

Dawson To Vote On Bonds For Pool

LAMESA—Dawson Countians will go to the polls Tuesday to ballot on a $125,000 swimming pools question which they turned down by a three vote margin on Nov. 5.

The pools have the backing of most of the local civic leaders, and especially of the Lamesa Evening Lions Club which asked for both elections. Voters of the City of Lamesa passed a $50,000 bond on Nov. 5, which will, if the question passes this time, be used in conjunction with the $125,000 to build two city-county pools.

City Gets Trace Of Rain, Balmy Weather

Officially there was a trace of rain in Big Spring on Sunday night but the trace was so light and the shower of such brief tenure it is probable most residents were unaware it occurred.

Good Christmas shopping weather is promised by the Weather Bureau for today and Tuesday. The temperature is expected to reach around 70 and the nights are due to be warm.

Holdup Effort Is Fruitless

Three Latin Americans held up a cook at the Club Cafe early today but got nothing for their efforts.

The three were inside the downtown cafe when the cook, Robert Southern, arrived. They had pried a hasp off a back door and then pulled off a hinge.

Southern said one of the trio held a gun on him and asked for the cafe's money. Southern said he had only his personal money — a small amount — and $5 in change for the cafe. This was refused, and the three left.

The attempted robbery occurred about 4:30 a.m.

This morning, Southern identified a Latin American picked up for questioning, and the police throught they knew the other two in on the raid. They had not been picked up.

The man identified by Southern denied any connection with the robbery, however.

Insurance Firm Gets Ultimatum

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner W. A. Harrison gave an Amarillo life insurance company today the choice of ousting its president or going out of business.

John L. McCarty, president of the Estate Life Insurance Co., was accused in the show cause order of paying $2,000 in cash Aug. 27 to J. W Pierson of Dallas, an Insurance Department veteran of 24 years. (Earlier Story on Page 14)

County To Seek To Build Airport In Single Contract

Howard County Commissioners Court Monday officially authorized R. H. Weaver, county judge, to open negotiations with the Civil Aeronautics Authority looking to agreement on a plan to award contract for the completion of the entire Howard County airport job at one letting.

Weaver will get in contact with the CAA and with others concerned and try to obtain an agreement on the amount of CAA funds to be added to the $214,000 already earmarked by the agency for the port.

If this can be done, the project will be initiated on "to completion" footing. Otherwise, contracts for the first half of the work will have to be let and later new contracts for the remainder of the job.

Louis Jean Thompson, engineer preparing plans for the airport, said he was readying his plans in such a way that the whole job could be undertaken at one time.

Hudson Landers, county commissioner, said that he had been informed by Jack Cook, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, that Continental Airlines has manifested a willingness to transfer its commercial operations from Webb to the new county airport as quickly as the port is constructed.

Weaver told the court that there was apparently no reason why the contract for the airport could not be let early in January.

Birdwell Paving Across Railroad To Start Today

Walter Parks, county engineer, said that paving would be started today on the 1,000-foot strip of roadway on Birdwell Lane extending from Third Street north to the stockyards.

The Texas and Pacific Railroad is completing work on a crossing on the project and, with good luck, the road should be open to traffic by the end of the week.

A 58-foot roadbed is provided for the road.

The project is one of the road items on the 1957 county schedule. It is needed, according to Parks, to facilitate access to the stockyards.

Parks said that work is also rapidly being completed on the Salem Church road extending south to U. S. 80.

Giles' Son Makes Plea For Parole

AUSTIN (AP)—Bascom Giles, former land commissioner, made his first formal plea today to be released on parole before his six-year prison term is served.

A son, Austin attorney Rogan Giles, spoke for his father in a special hearing before the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Scheduled to appear for the elder Giles were Mrs. Bascom Giles, Earle Burkhalter, an Austin volunteer parole officer; Dr. Marvin Vance, pastor of the First Methodist Church here where Giles was a member, and Clint Small, local attorney and former state senator.

Burkhalter recently presented the board with a petition of 103 names asking Giles' release on parole.

"We are going to put on the best meritorious plea that we can," Rogan Giles said.

The elder Giles is serving a series of 13 concurrent sentences involving bribery, consenting to accept a bribe and accomplice to theft in the Veterans Land Program scandals. Twelve sentences call for 6 years and one for three years. Under Texas parole laws a prisoner must serve at least one-third of his sentence before being eligible for parole. Giles has been earning double time because he is an approved trusty. When his "good time" totaled one-third of a six-year sentence earlier this year the board said that it did not see fit to release Giles on parole because "the state is not ready to accept him."

It was not until last week that Giles, or any of his family, asked the board for a formal parole hearing.

Little Rock Nine In Settled Pattern

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 16 (AP) — Now that the first flames of student resentment have subsided, the day-to-day lives of the integrated Little Rock Nine have settled into a pattern.

It is classes under guard each school day for the nine Negro youngsters whose enrollment at previously, all-white Central High touched off violence, federal intervention and constitutional controversy.

Their relations with more than 1,900 white classmates after three months of school range from open hostility to furtive friendliness. There is no socializing.

They experience threats, social pressure and, most of all, the loneliness of being in a crowd yet not of it. But none of them has given any indication of withdrawing.

Twenty-seven white students have dropped out, transferred or been expelled since the Negroes started classes under the eyes of federal troops last September.

One school source estimates "there are fewer than 50 students actively hostile to the Negroes." But there might be more were it not for the presence of the now federalized National Guardsmen in the school corridors.

Apparently, there was more social contact between Negro and white students for a brief period after the federal troops—who have since been withdrawn—moved in.

"They (the white students) are anxious to find out what we are like," said Minnie Jean Brown, one of the Negroes, at the time. "They are torn between their parents and their own minds."

"A few of the (white) kids used to sit with them in the cafeteria," a white boy says. "But hardly anybody does anymore."

There were a number of "incompletes" on the Negro students' report cards for the first six weeks of school but most of the work has been made up. One boy flunked a subject.

"We couldn't get much work done during the days of the excitement," explained a teacher, "but things have settled down some.

"The Negro children seem very studious and they are eager to make up the work they have missed. Like any students who come in late, they don't take much part in answering questions in class."

The youngsters and their parents are reluctant to talk for publication. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People has thrown a protective curtain around them.

"FRIENDLIEST SERVICE IN TOWN"

2 Thugs, Detective Die In Gun Battle

EL PASO (AP)—A blazing gun duel Saturday night left two holdup men and a city detective dead.

A city policeman was shot three times but killed a bandit. Patrolman A. F. Moran was reported "responding to treatment" today but was still on the critical list.

The two dead hoodlums were identified as Mack Wooten, 21, and James Fisher, 35, both of San Antonio. They were linked with robberies of supermarkets in Dallas, Houston and Phoenix.

Police said their last holdup was the Saturday night robbery of a Furr's supermarket here. Police said forty minutes after they sped off with $7,000 locked in the trunk of their black Cadillac, their car was spotted in the crowded drive-in theater.

The police account said:

Detectives Willie Sanchez, 28, and T. I. Brand Jr. placed them under arrest with little difficulty and handcuffed them.

Both men tried to crowd out of the back of the police cruiser. Brand shoved them back. As he leaned over the seat, Fisher grabbed his gun and fired two ineffectual shots as Brand rolled away.

Sanchez leaped into the fight and was killed by a single bullet over the left eye.

Wooten snatched the dying officer's gun and put three slugs into Moran as he dashed in to help. From the ground, Moran killed one man with five shots. The wounded officer's partner, A. N. Woodley Jr., dashed to the car and killed the other armed bandit.

Eleven shots were exchanged and police said "it was a miracle" that none of the terrified movie patrons crouched on the floorboards of their cars during the battle were not killed.

A triple feature was on at the drive-in: "The Girl He Left Behind," "The Domino Kid" and "You Can't Run Away From It."

Fire Kills 4

DALLAS (AP)—Julian McGraw Jr. 6, won't get to ride the bicycle his parents got him for Christmas.

Julian, his mother Mrs. Lupe McGraw, 29, and a cousin, Irene McGraw, 4, were burned to death when fire swept through the upper portion of a frame house yesterday. Mrs McGraw escaped once but dashed back in a futile effort to rescue the children.

Firemen found the bicycle intended for Julian hidden in a closet.

Nuclear Proposal

Darkened West Germany and shaded Communist-ruled East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia outline the vast zone in the heart of Europe where Russia has proposed that nuclear weapons be outlawed. The Soviet plan, offered at the United Nations, would agree to ban production and use of nuclear arms in Poland and Czechoslovakia if both German governments would do likewise.

Wanted: Engineer; Top Job, Low Pay

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

AUSTIN, Dec. 16 (AP)—"Wanted! Topflight water engineer with much savvy on how to get along with the public and Legislature. Small pay, but great opportunity to answer Texas' No. 1 challenge and perform great public service."

That in effect is the State Board of Water Engineers' appeal for a $10,000 a year qualified registered professional engineer to guide the long-sought statewide water planning program.

The board plans to meet Monday for interviews with potential candidates.

Chairman R. M. Dixon said the board feels a prominent engineer who is willing to make a pay sacrifice and take the job as a public service is the only answer.

It is a job for an engineer who wants a challenge. The challenge is to find a solution to Texas' water problems—then to convince the people and the Legislature that the plan will work.

This year the Legislature took the first major steps in this direction. One was the 200 million dollar financial aid bond issue program which will provide aid to towns, cities and water districts for construction of dams and other water projects. The other was the million dollar Texas water planning act, which set up the planning engineer.

A mixed-up hassle between the House, Senate and Gov. Price Daniel saw proposed high salaries for engineers go down the drain.

But Dixon said the board can still do plenty of work on a contract basis.

This work will be the needed data on surface and underground waters which a planning engineer will use to formulate a statewide plan. Part of the information is being gathered now as the board works with the U.S. Army Engineers, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and various river authorities to prepare a "mock up" statewide water plan. It was requested by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and the completion date is April 30.

Here are the major problems water experts say face the planning engineer:

1. Untried water laws. They may be clarified once the slow-moving suit on water rights in the Rio Grande Valley is litigated. This may take 20 years. Past efforts to clarify the laws through the Legislature failed because of downstream versus-upstream and city versus rural conflicts.

2. Where is the water? How up to date are records? Texas knows nothing about underground water in about 100 of its 254 counties, the board says. Streamflow records are not up to date because of lack of proper equipment.

3. To keep public sentiment—and the Legislature—behind a major research program to lead as quickly as possible to ultimate development of water resources through new dams, large and small reservoirs, and possible canals for diversion of waters from surplus to deficient areas.

Stakes High For Ike At NATO Talks

PARIS (AP)—For President Eisenhower, still convalescing from his mild stroke, the stakes are high at the NATO summit conference.

Just three weeks ago today he was stricken in Washington with a brain artery blockage. Now, after bouncing back with surprising speed, he is leading a drive to revitalize the anti-Communist North Atlantic Alliance, which he helped forge in 1951-52.

His prestige as America's President and as NATO's first supreme commander in Europe—a post he gave up 5½ years ago—is on the line as he seeks to bolster free world defenses in the face of the Russian space-era challenge.

Parisians, getting their first look at Eisenhower since he was NATO commander here, are amazed that he has traveled toward recovery so swiftly. People in the streets and French and other Allied officials frequently remark: "You never would know he has been ill."

Actually there are signs remaining of his illness, notably a slight speech impairment, and he still is under close watch of the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who is here with him.

On Saturday, when he stepped from his plane after a 16-hour transatlantic flight, he appeared tired, but he spruced up swiftly, and the Eisenhower smile flashed broadly.

Eisenhower's speech at the airport was his first since he was stricken. The doctors reported last week his speech difficulty had just about cleared up, but some observers detected a slight indication of it several times Saturday.

Although the weather was near freezing, the President rode half the 13-mile distance into Paris standing in an open car, arms outstretched above his head frequently to acknowledge the warm welcome from thousands along the way.

On arrival at the embassy residence, Snyder reported the President in good condition and said he had stood the trip well. Eisenhower got in a round of work then on his opening address to the NATO session, and also conferred with Secretary of State Dulles and other U.S. officials.

The President was chipper and in good spirits yesterday morning when he attended special NATO services at the American Cathedral. There he joined in a fervent prayer for success of the conference.

Eisenhower worked again on his address after church and late in the day conferred for an hour with French Premier Felix Gaillard.

To Beat That Make-Up

Actress Whitney Blake, who must wear heavy make-up constantly for her film and TV roles, found an effective way of getting her face really clean each evening. She explains her method in today's Hollywood Beauty. The star of many top dramatic TV shows, Miss Blake is currently appearing in United Artists "My Gun Is Quick."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Developed Effective Facial Cleansing

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Whitney Blake, having worked constantly for the past two years under the bright TV lights and having worn so much make-up, complained of her skin beginning to rebel.

"So much make-up covering my skin and being baked into my pores by the hot lights presented quite a problem to me," Whitney confessed the other afternoon at tea time.

"Your complexion is so clear now that one would never know you had any skin problems," I remarked.

"I finally worked out a way of getting my face really clean, and that is what has made the difference. I put a thick layer of cleansing cream on my face while I still have my make-up on. Then I leave it there for a minute or two, wipe it off and scrub my face with a medicated soap and a complexion brush."

Although Whitney was born in Los Angeles, her father's business took him all over the country and Whitney traveled with him.

"I went to 16 different schools. I was always new, always felt outside of the group and this left me terribly shy. I know it sounds silly for an actress to talk of being shy, but I've had a terrible struggle to overcome being frightened of meeting people, especially for the first time.

"But the thing which helped me to overcome this was forcing myself to give one good reason why I should be frightened of anyone," she confided. "And it works!"

Whitney has high praise for the skill of the make-up men.

"They have taught me many tricks, but changing the shape of my mouth has made a great difference in my appearance," she offered.

"A larger mouth goes better with the rest of my features. I outline my lips with a darker shade and fill in the rest with a lighter shade. I don't think the pale lipsticks are very flattering to anyone at night. I know they're the fashion," Whitney admitted, "but I don't follow fashion except when it happens to do something for me.

"Make-up men are such perfectionists," she continued. "They taught me to put a little upward sweep of lipstick at the end of my mouth to give a smiling expression." Whitney explained it as a comma on its side at the corner of her mouth. "It took a little practice with my brush to get it neat, but now I'm so used to doing it this way that I don't even think about it anymore."

Variety Numbers Given At HD Council Party

A program of songs, pantomimes, and readings was presented for the Howard County HD Council Christmas party which was held Saturday in the Texas Electric Auditorium.

The Yule social was also the occasion for installing officers for the new year. They included Mrs. Frank Wilson, chairman; Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, vice chairman; Mrs. Ray Swann, secretary; and Mrs. Ray Shortes, treasurer.

Piano selections were played by Mrs. Porter Hanks and Mrs. W. F. Shannon. Mrs. Shirley Fryar presented a skit and Rosalie DeVaney and Joan Davis offered a pantomime. Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Regis Fleckenstein, Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and Kelly Joe Gaskins. Several selections were whistled by Malinda Crocker, and a sextet from Forsan sang.

Decorations were under the direction of Mrs. Sonny Shroyer. Mrs. B. J. Petty and Mrs. Ray Shortes were responsible for gifts, and recreation was planned by a committee headed by Mrs. R. P. Morton. The Coahoma Club planned the refreshments. Mrs. A. Locke, home service supervisor for Texas Electric, assisted with plans.

During the affair, sixteen members were presented with THDA pins.

Eight of the nine HD clubs were represented, with an attendance of 50.

HCJC Faculty, Guests Feted With Yule Party

A Christmas musical program and informal visiting entertained members of the HCJC faculty and their guests Saturday evening at the Student Union building.

Hostesses for the affair were the Faculty Ma'ams. The program, arranged by Arah Phillips, was announced by Mrs. W. A. Hunt who presided for Miss Phillips who was unable to attend.

Ira Schantz led the group in singing Christmas carols and also joined in a quartet to sing "Shepherds Awake" by Katharine K. Davis and "Cradle Song of the Shepherd" by Archibald Davis. Others in the group were Mrs. Don Newsom, Glendine Philley and Bill Evans. They were accompanied at the piano by Jack Hendrix. Schantz also did a solo number, unaccompanied, arranged by John Jacob Niles, "I Wonder as I Wander."

Mrs. Myrtle Lee did a humorous chalk in song number to the accompaniment of "Hound Dog" which, when inverted, formed the background for the map of Texas. It was done to the tune of "The Eyes of Texas" and was whistled by Malinda Crocker. The two then brought the picture-song story of "The Holy City."

Following the program the hostesses served refreshments from the table that was arranged with a centerpiece of seasonal decorations.

Mrs. P. W. Malone served coffee.

H. Holtses Observe Golden Anniversary

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. H. Holt observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a reception held at their home, 502 N. Ave. L. Friends and relatives called between two and five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

After spending six years farming near Hylton, the couple spent two years farming at Blackwell, and then moved to Dawson County where they farmed for thirty-nine years, thirteen miles northwest of Lamesa. Upon retiring last winter, the couple purchased their present home and moved to Lamesa in February.

The couple have twenty grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren who joined in the celebration.

Husbands Guests Of Four O'Clock Garden Members

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tubbs entertained members of the Four O'Clock Garden Club and their husbands with a Christmas buffet Saturday night at their home.

Guests were registered at a marble-top table above which were silhouettes of the nativity scene. Throughout the entertainment rooms were bowers of evergreens and sprays of mistletoe.

The buffet was decorated with a sleigh drawn by Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer and his fellow reindeer. Dessert was served from a table covered with a white net cloth on which were appliqued sequin-studded felt Christmas motifs. The centerpiece was an arrangement of foil grapes and candles glittered in pink.

Favors of Christmas-decorated pots of philodendron marked the places at quartet tables for thirteen guests, including the sponsor and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Knox.

Canasta, 42 and bridge provided the diversion.

Twenty-four members and guests were seated at tables laid with white linen and marked with placemats of red and white striped foil. The peppermint motif was continued in the candles and napkins. Gifts were exchanged from a white tree trimmed with red ornaments and flanked with ankel candelabra.

Mrs. Carl Tippie, social chairman, was in charge of the decorations.

Mrs. Frances Zant offered the devotion from Luke 2:3-20. Gifts were exchanged and secret pals revealed.

Nineteen members answered roll call with "The most useful Christmas gift I ever received."

Mrs. Underwood will be hostess to the group at 2 p.m. Jan. 9.

These fancies are easy to prepare because the hard work can be taken over by a powerful meat grinder. This holiday helper handles all grinding and chopping jobs, not only for chopped nuts, dried fruits, cheese, and mince meat, but also spreads and pates.

It even grinds tough almonds electrically to a fine dusting consistency, with just a flick of the switch. Two discs give both fine and coarse grind.

Light On Ginger

Dice syrup-preserved ginger and sprinkle it over orange or lemon sherbet, but remember a little ginger goes a long way.

The affair was held preceding the formal dance which was given at the Officers' Club, and is one in a series of farewell parties for the couple who will leave soon for Formosa.

The hors d'oeuvres table featured a color scheme of gold as did the mobiles which hung from the ceiling above the table. A sunburst arrangement of golden Christmas balls and other ornaments combined with the brass and gold serving appointments to follow the bright theme.

About 32 were included in the guest list.

A Bible Thought For Today

Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. (Colossians 2:8)

Tips To Help You Stay Alive

Again this month the Public Safety Department will make special efforts to keep people from killing themselves in holiday traffic. From December 21 to January 1, there will be no vacations among the highway patrolmen. Everyone in that department will be on the job, riding the highways—and that includes those not normally directly concerned with riding herd on moving vehicles and walking people.

This has been tried before, with apparent good results, and there is reason to believe results will be good this time—if Texas motorists join in the spirit of the thing and give their full cooperation.

For those inclined to be reckless and careless, there will be the restraining knowledge that more than the usual number of patrolmen will be on the job, and that their attitude is likely to be watchful and determined. Also, as many Texans have found, those electronic controls are by no means to be ignored.

The law-abiding citizen who prefers not to become a Christmas casualty himself, or to cause hurt and damage to others, can help a great deal by using extra care for that ten day period when so many people are using the highways. The good driver's role is a dual one; he must protect himself and his riders, who are generally those closest and dearest to him, from his own recklessness; and at the same time he must see to it that the recklessness of other drivers does not involve his own vehicle willynilly. A good driver can see or sense trouble coming, and quite often is able to avert it by prompt action.

If you plan a trip anywhere this holiday season, and most people do, see that your car is in good mechanical order—battery, tires, brakes, windshield wipers and lights in particular.

Start early and take your time, going and coming. If you know a route to your destination that carries less traffic than the shortest way there, take it. You might get there sooner with less risk of accident.

Consider your own neck. Regard the lives of your loved ones and friends. Let the charitable spirit of Christmas possess your soul. Lay off the liquor especially if you do the driving. Postpone that "one for the road," that stirrup-cup, for a more convenient time and place. Have fun, but don't be a fool about it. If you contemplate suicide, be sure it doesn't include murder.

Fast – But It's A Fast World

We remember when aeronautical engineers, physicists and just plain amateur "scientists" used to discuss the probable speed limit for aircraft before friction with the atmosphere would burn them up.

Many of the amateurs guessed as low as 200 to 300 mph, but some of the more scientific gents put it as high as 500.

Well, wind resistance is a problem, all right, but by the time planes with powerplants powerful enough to approach and break the sound barrier were being built, metallurgists had solved all the incidental problems involved, and planes began sailing right on through without getting even scorched.

One day last week an Air Force Voodoo fighter bomber recaptured from the British the world's speed record for what has now become more or less "conventional" craft. The new mark: 1,207.6 mph, or 75.5 miles faster than the title-holding Britisher. The altitude was 39,000 feet.

In any man's language, that is skipping through the dew, but in less than five years the ordinary air traveler in a hurry may be able to transit the continent in safety and comfort in a couple of hours or less.

Yet measured against the potentials of missiles, atomic power and spaceships, our fastest aircraft are already obsolescent.

Twelve hundred miles per hour! A snail's pace, man—a mere snail's pace.

David Lawrence

Beautiful Words, No Sincerity

WASHINGTON—If the text of Premier Bulganin's letter to President Eisenhower had been issued by any statement of the western world, it would have been pronounced a great state paper. For it is well reasoned, logical, persuasive and unquestionably describes accurately the tensions in the whole world situation. It even presents constructive suggestions. No better reasons for negotiating world peace could be advanced.

But, unfortunately, nobody trusts the rulers in the Kremlin. Their words are not worth the paper they are written on. Similar professions of sincere purpose have been made again and again for ten years or more by the Soviet rulers, only to be ignored by them in practice. The Communist chieftains have never made good on their promises. They have consistently violated their pledges.

No peace treaty can be made now, no disarmament agreement can be signed, and no basis for negotiation exists with the mischievous men in the Kremlin. They can employ the craftiest writers of notes, and the best ghost-writers of state papers can be recruited from their foreign office staffs. But the record is there to show that the words are never matched by deeds.

What good does it do, for instance, to have any more "summit conferences" with men who are without scruples, men who oppress their own people and who make a mockery of the idea of individual liberty?

There are nevertheless naive men in the West who still want to keep on talking to the dictators in Moscow in new "summit conferences." It is not realized that the West looks weaker when it begs in a humiliating posture for more talks with criminal rulers, whose prestige in the world is, of course, enhanced by such attentions.

It isn't as if diplomatic negotiations have not been tried repeatedly. Memories seem to be short. All during this past year, "disarmament" discussions with the Soviets have been going on in London, and the result has been exactly zero. Again and again proposals are made and intimate conversations are conducted at the highest level as the secretaries of state of western nations confer with high officials of the Soviet government. Yet it all comes to naught. The Soviets consistently say "no."

The reason? They are betting on the disunity of the West. They are relying on an insidious policy of penetration and subversion. In the French Parliament there is a Communist bloc of nearly 100 deputies which holds the balance of power there. The Communists have managed, through machinations in North Africa, to weaken the French republic and even to subtract military strength from NATO as police duties in Algeria require French troops to stay there at higher and higher expense each month.

Also in West Germany the Communist infiltration continues among the opposition parties. Even in Britain some of the Labor Socialists talk the language of the Communist policy-makers. Why, therefore, should the Soviets say "yes" to anything the West proposes when such significant progress is being made to aid Communist-strategy inside western countries?

As for America, the voices of appeasement are constantly raised here. Political leaders seek to exploit foreign policy for partisan ends, and the Communist apparatus unfortunately is given the benefit of protective devices by our naive Supreme Court.

The truest words in the Bulganin letter are these:

"Neither the Soviet nor, we believe, the American people can be satisfied with the present state of Soviet-American relations."

But the writers of the Bulganin note, perhaps unwittingly, betrayed their own guilt complex in the following paragraph:

"It must be admitted that one of the obstacles to the disarmament agreement is lack of confidence between the parties to the talks. Can anything be done to build up this confidence? Of course it can."

The Soviet letter, however, proposes the same old thing—more military and political concessions by the West without the removal of the real threat from the scene. This threat comes from the totalitarian government in Soviet Russia. There can be no safety for democracy anywhere as long as the people of Soviet Russia and of the neighboring countries are enslaved. When a free government arises in Moscow, the rest of the world will have confidence in it. Only the concerted will of the people of Soviet Russia can save humanity from a war of nuclear missiles and bombs.

The prelude to World War I and the prelude to World War II presented almost exactly the same set of circumstances as exists today—a single government, which need not consult its people but can move at any moment into war, rules over a country with manpower and resources that challenge the free world. Appeasement now can hasten a world war, as has happened twice before. Only the emergence of a free government in Moscow can prevent a third global war.

Stalin's Grinning In His Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Stalin could grin in his tomb, he's be grinning now. He was one of the greatest gamblers in history and he won. Look at NATO, the atomic bomb, sputniks, missiles.

His tactics forced the North Atlantic Treaty Organization into existence. But it was his determination which laid the foundations for NATO's present confusion and uncertainty.

At this moment has has been downgraded, a form of disgrace, because he typified the ruthlessness of the Communist state and his heirs would like to obscure that part of their history.

But when Stalin became boss after Lenin's death in the mid-1920s, he inherited an impoverished, almost medieval country of about 125 million people. Today 900 million live under communism in Russia and other countries.

He forced his people for two generations into a meager existence so the resources of Russia could be concentrated on bringing her abreast of the United States.

It was under Stalin that Russia laid the basis for its amazing military, technical, scientific, engineering and educational progress.

After the war when this country had the atomic bomb—and the capability of smashing the Soviets—Stalin spurned all talk of disarmament and its possibility of safety, and pushed the creation of Russia's own atomic weapons.

He was taking a gamble—a terrible one—for if war did start, Russia and Stalin and communism could have been destroyed together. By 1949 Russia had its own atomic bomb, by 1953 the hydrogen bomb.

That put Russia close to military equality with the United States which in quantity of bombs was still ahead.

The startling progress which Russia this year revealed with its satellites, missiles and jet planes had its origin under Stalin and, in some ways, put Russia ahead of the United States. Those things are not the product of the four years since his death.

Home Warning

CHICAGO (AP) — A new in-the-home-or-office air raid warning system may replace the wail of the siren.

L. E. Berry, assistant deputy administrator of the Civil Defense Administration, Washington, D. C. says a light or buzzer that plugs into an electric outlet is being developed by a research firm in Kansas City (Midwest Research), Mo.

The device would be activated by a control point through the power system of a community instead of a telephone service. It is expected to be tested in 900 homes in Battle Creek, Mich., within a few months.

What A Husband Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if you check up on the average husband who brags he runs things in his house, you'll find the things he runs are the errands and the vacuum cleaner.

That more than half of all the lamb marketed in the United States is eaten in the New York City area. Families in New Orleans eat five times as much veal as those in Wisconsin. The average Californian consumes 25 pounds more beef a year than the residents of any other state.

That a survey by the Hotel Edison here showed the item most often left behind by guests was a comb.

That a guided missile office in the Pentagon is reported to have had this sign on the door: "Out to launch."

That there are more than 50,000 light bulbs in the United Nations building.

That the childhood ambition of Princess Grace of Monaco was to become an FBI agent.

That a bear cub may weigh less than a pound at birth, but a baby elephant enters this world weighing nearly 200 pounds.

That comic George De Witt gives this description of an annoying salesman: "He's the firm's affront man."

That a week off is usually followed by an off week.

That pink elephants really do exist. In some parts of Africa they give themselves a dust bath with reddish soil and it sticks to their moist hides.

That the average man has 66 pounds of muscle but only 3.3 pounds of brains.

That you can hide the scratches on red-finished mahogany by painting with fresh iodine.

That one of the smallest brains ever recorded belonged to Dante, the Italian poet, and one of the largest was found in an idiot.

That Arthur W. A. Cowan asks: "Remember when it was only Washington's face that was on our money? Now it's Washington's hands as well."

That it was Rudyard Kipling who observed, "The silliest woman can manage a clever man; but it needs a very clever woman to manage a fool!"

Tough Old Days

KITCHENER, Ont. (AP) — Sgts. Herbert Gimbel and Cecil Farnham, both completing 31 years on the Kitchener police force, say modern policemen "never had it so good." In their early days the pair pounded a beat for 11 hours at a stretch, with one day off each month.

Around The Rim

The Strange Story Of Marshal Ney

It was Napoleon Bonaparte who said, in effect, that the only kind of history one can believe is military history. And, at times, he must have been dubious even about that.

In a recently published book, a meticulously detailed thing called "The Trial of Marshal Ney," Harold Kurtz describes in detail and with feeling the turn of events that led the famed Napoleon aide to the end of his days.

Kurtz concentrates on that time in history immediately after the deposed Emperor Napoleon had abandoned his exile on Elba and landed on French soil with 1,100 men.

A fat, gouty King Louis XVIII summoned his war minister to a hurried council and orders were sent out to stop Napoleon in his tracks.

Marshal Michel Ney, whom Bonaparte at one time had dubbed "the bravest of the brave" for his superhuman deeds in the retreat from Moscow in 1812, was one of those receiving the orders to stop Napoleon.

"Sire," he is alleged to have answered to his king, "if I take Bonaparte alive I will bring him back in a cage."

Ney went south with his troops and it is enscribed in history that, in time, Bonaparte won him to his side. Months later at Waterloo, when Bonaparte was ultimately crushed by Wellington and the British, Ney again distinguished himself as a soldier.

Ney ultimately forfeited his life before a firing squad in the Luxembourg gardens for defecting to Bonaparte, Kurtz enscribed in his "The Trial of Marshal Ney", and all evidence points to the fact but the rumor persists to this day that Ney was spirited out of France and died a school teacher in America.

Before he died, Robert Ripley printed such a statement in his "Believe It Or Not."

The story is also told about a young Confederate captain, after having most of his company wiped out, took 30 horsemen and outflanked and cut to pieces an entire infantry column of Union soldiers.

When asked about his success later, he said:

"I think I must have received a message from Napoleon."

Still later, the captain revealed he had studied French as a child under an old school master in North Carolina named "Mr. Stuart," who drank to excess. The boy would stay after school often and help the old man with his chores.

While they worked, the teacher would sample the contents of a bottle he kept in his desk. After he had become fortified with the liquor, he would begin to rave in French over his favorite topic of conversation, "The Napoleonic Wars."

One afternoon, as rain fell outside, the old teacher drank more than usual. He spent most of the time teaching cavalry maneuvers to the boys and said:

"If you ever get a chance to use them, son, don't forget to ride to the enemy's 'backdoor'—you might find glory there."

The boy, wondering how the teacher could tell it all so vividly, suddenly asked:

"Were you ever in the French army, Mr. Stuart?"

The teacher was silent for a moment, took another drink from his bottle, then said:

"I was shot for treason 25 years ago."

Ney—the one historians claim was shot in the Luxembourg gardens—lies buried in a French grave marked "Michel Ney, Born 1772—Executed for Treason 1815."

Sophia Making Film With Only Her 2 Big Eyes

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Sophia Loren explained how she is making a movie with her two big eyes instead of her other well-known physical charms.

"You know how it's been in the past," she smiled. "Often all sex and exposed body. This time we're doing it differently."

Sophia tightened a yellow bathrobe about her Neapolitan figure and strolled on to an arc-lit set.

A pair of men's socks flopped about her trim ankles. On her slender feet were sleazy bedroom slippers. Beneath that bathrobe there was nothing but Sophia.

The cameras turned. William Holden came up behind her, put his arms around her shoulders and planted a kiss beside her left ear.

The woman in this 23-year-old Italian actress flared to the surface. Her great green eyes caught fire. Her bosom heaved like the water of the Bay of Naples on a stormy night.

"Cut," said the director, Sir Carol Reed. "Not so strong, dahling. Nothing like so strong. More with the eyes, dahling."

This time dahling didn't emote with her curvey body. But there was a searing flame in her green eyes. And a tiny trembling at the corners of her full lips said more than the set's tumbled empty bed.

Sophia slouched off the set, eased herself into a chair, stretched out her long legs and asked: "See what I mean?"

This new picture, Carl Foremen's "The Key", is the greatest challenge in Sophia's long list of movies.

Sir Carol Reed is an exacting director. William Holden is a polished actor, Foreman, as producer-writer, is demanding.

And Sophia—who erupted into picture making in the era of the big bosom—has been called on to cover up her most obvious assets and act.

Financial Statement

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP)—When City Clerk Carl Kaltenbach opened a letter, out dropped an overtime parking ticket, 21 cents and this note:

"This is all the money I had. Please appreciate the fact that I lost a quarter in a pinball machine, bought a cup of coffee, pushed my car out of town and am now in the process of selling it. Thank you. I owe you 29 cents."

Post Script

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Ten red cedar fence posts set into the ground at the Agronomy Farm at Colorado State University in 1917 are still in good condition after 40 years.

The posts were treated in hot and cold baths of gas-tar creosote before being driven into the earth. A check this fall below the ground line showed no signs of insect damage or decay.

Emancipation Of The Moslem Women

It is one woman's opinion that the Arabian Nights are going, going, gone! Oh, they may linger on for another generation or so in the more backward segments of the Arabian world. But the Nights are doomed because Scheherazade is in the process of being sprung from her jeweled cell.

History will record that King Mohammed V of Morocco, who has just returned home from his American visit with his four daughters, was in the forefront of the freedom movement. Much has been written about this modern Moslem Monarch, but it seems to me that the most revealing aspect of his character is his treatment of his daughters.

They did not have to fight to be freed from the restrictions of the harem or the veil. Their father forced emancipation on them, the three older princesses told a small press conference just before they left for home. "Force" is not quite the word, either. Mohammed V a faithful Moslem, simply brought his daughters up to be free of veil and bondage.

Beyong that, he gave education to their quick, receptive minds, and education is still a rarity for an Arab woman.

"We were fortunate in our home," said the Princess Lalla Aisha, 27, the oldest of the sisters, who is regarded as a leader of the emancipation movement among Arab women. "My sisters and I reflect the thoughts and ideals of His Majesty. In a different home, it (our freedom) would have been impossible.

"But now, all Morocco follows his example."

Sic semper veil and seclusion! To one who has travelled in Moslem lands, this is not so much progress as sheer revolution. Moroccan women will not only vote for the first time in the coming national elections, but stand for office, the princess said. Beyond that, the new University of Rabat, under her father's guidance, opened in November as a co-ed institution, a shattering innovation.

Princess Aisha, Princess Malika, 20, who attends the Red Crescent School of Nursing, and Princess Nazha, 17, who is completing her studies for a high-school certificate, talked with the press while their baby sister, Princess Amina, 3, napped. All three were quite, reserved and self-possessed. They looked like a trio of girls down from Vassar for the holidays.

Malika, the sweater girl of the trio (a real Moroccan Marilyn Monroe), even sported a pony tail hair-do. Married or single, all three will take an active part in public life, said Princess Aisha, who is head of Morocco's National Welfare Committee. None is engaged to marry as yet.

"Maybe you will think I am difficult or hard to please, but I have not yet met THE MAN," Princess Aisha said when asked why she is still unmarried. She looked her scorn of such silly questions when asked if she were permitted to have dates or go about unchaperoned.

"What is the 'chaperone'?" she asked.

The princesses buy their clothes in Paris, and Princess Aisha, who is slim and piquant, said she liked the sack silhouette "even if most people don't." She already has some sacks in her wardrobe.

Asked if she regarded herself as the "Joan of Arc of the Middle East," as she is often called, Princess Aisha wrinkled her nose and quickly denied the soft impeachment by saying, "Remember, Joan of Arc freed men."

On The Receiving End With NATO

The crucial difference between the meeting of the North Atlantic Allies and the many meetings that have preceded it is that for the first time we are asking at least as much as we can give. When NATO was first organized nearly ten years ago, the United States was not only invulnerable itself but it was able to guarantee effectively all the NATO Allies. In the beginning, the Atlantic Alliance, though in form it was a collective security pact, was in substance an American guarantee to protect Western Europe.

Beginning in 1949, when the Soviet Union first mastered the atomic bomb, the original and basic principle of NATO became increasingly uncertain. For as the Soviet Union acquired nuclear weapons and the means of their delivery, the American guarantee became less and less inclusive. Before that, we had been able to insure our Allies not only against invasion but against serious bombardment. By the early fifties, particularly in the months immediately preceding the famous summit conference in Geneva in 1955, there was no longer any certainty, indeed not much likelihood, that our Allies would escape devastation in case of a great war. It was this that produced a rising tide of what we call, for short, neutralism. At bottom, neutralism is the impulse to reduce the liability of becoming involved in a world war.

However, during this period and indeed until this autumn, it was still an article of faith among our Allies that the continental territory of the United States was invulnerable whereas the territory of the Soviet Union was open to destructive attack. Upon this faith there rested the confidence that the territory of our Allies was defended by the American power to deter attack by the threat of massive retaliation.

This article of faith has been, if not destroyed then at least, gravely impaired by the proof that the Soviet Union is ahead of the United States in the military art of rockets and the missiles they can project. As regards the newer weapons of war, it has been shown that only by a serious effort over a good many years is this country likely to come abreast of the Russians.

This has been interpreted abroad as meaning that during a dangerous interval of years both Western Europe and North America have to be defended from missile sites in Western Europe and in North Africa. We are now as dependent for our defense on Europe's willingness to provide the missile sites as Europe is dependent upon us to provide missiles for the sites. This is a wholly new situation, radically different from that which existed when NATO was founded, and it is in this altered situation that the present crisis has developed.

We are no longer the donors in NATO. We are, it might be said, a power needing to negotiate understandings jointly and severally with many countries—all of them asking themselves whether what they are likely to receive is equal to what they are being asked to give.

I think that the extraordinarily personal hostility to Mr. John Foster Dulles in Europe is in the last analysis a reflection of this underlying change in the NATO situation. Mr. Dulles has his faults. But he is no monster of wickedness. He was, I believe, the focal point—because he has been so visible and so vocal—first, of the resentments that accumulated while he represented the great donor power and, second, he is now the focal point of the fears that have been excited because he no longer represents that strongest power of the world, on which the Europeans have staked so much.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Coach Johnny Johnson of the Big Spring Steers, after watching his club knock off Kermit in the first round of the Andrews basketball tournament last weekend, says the Jackets are going to have one of the finest AAA teams in West Texas, once they get a few games behind them.

Most of the Kermit athletes played football until two weekends ago, when they were knocked out of the playoffs by Sweetwater.

Johnson said they're tall and agile and boast plenty of court savvy. It's just as well, perhaps, that they're in one classification below that of the Steers.

* * *

The West Zone race, by the way, may be closer than any time in history and it was too close for comfort last year.

HCJC may have its finest club in three seasons. Still, the Hawks couldn't be regarded as the favorites to win the flag. Frank Phillips of Borger appears to be tougher than ever. Clarendon should at least be on a par with last year's club. Odessa is much improved over 1956-57 and will be tougher still when Gary Roberson becomes eligible at mid-term.

Little is known of Amarillo but one can always count on Bob Carter developing a toughie up there.

* * *

If he had it all to do over, Coach Harold Davis of HCJC would rearrange his schedule.

Starting with Jan. 11 and continuing through Feb. 1, Davis' Hawks face a suicide schedule. During that stretch, they meet the HSU Buttons, San Angelo College, HSU again, San Angelo again, Odessa and then Frank Phillips.

The Hawks could lose all six of the games, if the breaks go against them, and not surprise too many around the area.

* * *

Billy Johnson, the former Big Spring High School back, says he didn't play often enough for Ranger Junior College to win a letter the past fall. He was moved over to halfback upon entering college.

Ranger JC fell upon hard times in the gridiron wars. They failed to win a decision during 1957.

Johnson relates he may transfer to HCJC next fall and forget about football.

* * *

Johnny Vaught, the one-time TCU hero, now head coach at Ole Miss, now has the best record among Southeastern Conference mentors.

His teams have won 46, dropped 17 and played five ties in his 11 years there.

* * *

Georgia Tech is due to be tough in football again in 1958. The Engineers lose only nine boys via graduation this year.

* * *

Roy Baird, the Big Spring coaching aide, scouted Edison in its playoff game with Nederland last weekend. The Steers open their 1958 season with the San Antonio club.

* * *

Jim Tatum, the North Carolina coach, has never been very popular with the press, perhaps because he is too blunt and takes defeat too hard.

He's famous for getting along with his boys however, as is evident in the following true story:

Immediately following the North Carolina-Duke game the past season, which was won by the Tarheels, 19-13, Tatum was met and embraced in midfield by one Dave Reed, a quarterback, who had been kicked off the squad earlier in the season.

In tears, Reed managed to blurt out:

"Coach, I would have given a million dollars to be out there today. I'm ashamed that I wasn't. Why, oh why, couldn't I have kept my senses so that I could have played today? I know, though, that I didn't deserve to play."

Tatum patted Reed on the back and replied:

"That's okay, kid. I feel you were a part of our football team. Maybe the work you did earlier had something to do with our win out there today . . ."

DETROIT, 49ers WILL VIE IN NFL PLAYOFF

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions and the San Francisco 49ers, each with quarterback troubles and a surplus of second-half bounce, will collide Sunday in San Francisco to determine the champion of the National Football League's Western Division.

The teams ended their regular schedules yesterday on three-game winning streaks, tied for the lead with 8-4 records.

The Lions beat the Chicago Bears 21-13. Y. A. Tittle directed a 17-point second half for the 49ers to smother the last-place Green Bay Packers 27-20.

In the meantime, the upstart Colts ran into a redhot Norm Van Brocklin. The Dutchman threw four touchdown passes and the Los Angeles Rams scored 17 points in the final period to whip Baltimore 37-21. The loss left the Colts with a 7-5 record and its best NFL finish in history. But it was hardly consolation after hopes had been raised for the title.

The Cleveland Browns, Eastern champions, warmed up for their championship match, rallying to whip the New York Giants 34-28. Washington outfaked Pittsburgh 10-3.

The Lions-49ers winner plays Cleveland Dec. 29 for the NFL title.

Detroit defeated Los Angeles 31-21 in a 1952 playoff and went on to outplay Cleveland 17-7 in the league championship game. It was the Lions' lone playoff appearance. The 49ers have never been in a playoff.

The teams split two regular season games.

The Lions played their first game without Bobby Layne, who fractured an ankle last week. Tobin Rote assumed the quarterback burden and threw one touchdown pass.

Rote had help from rookie Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who scored the first touchdown in a second-half push that overcame the Bears' 10-0 halftime lead. The Lions were held to 13 yards rushing in a feeble first half.

Green Bay led 20-10 at the half, which Tittle sat out, resting pulled muscles in both legs. Coach Frank Albert started him in the second half. In a cold rain, he sparked the 49ers to a field goal by Gordy Soltau and two touchdown smashes by veteran Joe Perry.

After the game, Tittle said his sore legs felt "pretty good." But he was limping. Albert had started rookie John Brodie, but later said, "There's just no substitute for experience."

When Van Brocklin, a 10-year-man like Tittle, wasn't throwing TDs, Paige Cothren was kicking three field goals for the Rams. The Colts were down 20-7 at the half.

Bowling Tournament Winners

Don Carter of St. Louis and Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., smile happily with their trophies received after winning men's and women's championships of the first World's Invitational Bowling Tournament in Chicago. Carter received a cash award of $5,000 and Mrs. Ladewig received $2,500.

Ackerly Beaten In Meet Finals

MEADOW (SC)—Ackerly's Eagles lost out in the finals of the tournament here Friday night to the host team, 59-55.

The reversal was the first in ten starts for Coach Cliff Prather's team and it came at the hands of a power-laden club that went all the way to the state finals last year.

Ackerly led the Meadow club by one point (49-48) briefly in the fourth quarter but was handicapped by the fact that Ancil Harry had fouled out and Phil Wallace and Royale Lewis each had four fouls against them.

Harond Hinson, who also fouled out for Meadow, led the winners with 26 points while James Smith had 11 for the home club.

Joe Cook paced Ackerly with 26 while Royale Lewis tossed in 17.

Ropesville won the girls' tournament by churning past Wellman in the finals, 50-41.

Ropesville won boys' consolation with a 45-40 triumph over Union. The Meadow girls won consolation in their division with a 52-44 conquest of New Home.

Ackerly lassoed Post to reach the finals, 47-43.

Cook was named to the all-tournament team, along with Grady Preston, Shallowater; Harold Hinson, Meadow; John Valentine, Ropesville; and Wylie Kay, Union.

The Eagles play Garden City in Ackerly Tuesday night.

Skaters Split With Midland

MIDLAND (SC) — The Big Spring Scorpions split even with Midland in a West Texas Roller Hockey doubleheader played here Sunday evening.

The Scorpions lost the opener, 5-3; but rallied to win the afterpiece, 7-2.

Tex Wamble, who switched off to play goalie in the last game, scored a goal for Big Spring in the first tilt while Eugene Walker got the other two.

In the secong go, Walker and Don Chapman each scored three goals for Big Spring while Harold Caldwell got the other one.

Don Pederson was also in the lineup for the Scorpions.

On Jan. 12, Big Spring will take part in a district tournament at Odessa.

Burkemo Triumphs In Sanford Meet

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—"I finally won a medal play tournament, after trying for 11 years, I finally made it."

Walter Burkemo was still beaming today over his Sanford Open golf victory after he and his playing partners—Ed "Porky" Oliver and Jay Hebert—staged a seesaw, suspense-packed windup that went to the final putt.

Burkemo, a whiz at match play, but never better than second in a major PGA medal play tournament, stood off powerful bids by Oliver and Hebert and won by a single stroke.

The husky Detroiter, playing out of Franklin Hills, Mich., fired a closing 37-31—68 for a 72-hole 269 total and the $2,000 top prize. It was his biggest victory since 1953 when he won the National PGA Championship, a match play event.

Five Teams Are Prepared To Operate In Big State

HOUSTON (AP)—A Rice football team that couldn't sit still during a two week vacation begins oiling its machine today in preparation for its New Year's Day date with Navy in the Cotton Bowl.

After the Baylor game the team was given a two week vacation by Coach Jess Neely. They were told they would start workouts Dec. 16. After the coaches left the meeting the players pledged not to get out of top physical condition during the two week period. They promised each other to observe training rules.

Matt Gorges, tri-captain, said "We had some boys who had to catch up on their labs and some who had to catch up on their studying, but we all agreed that whatever time we could get it in, we'd do our running to stay in shape."

The team played touch football in the afternoon and some men played basketball in the gym.

Neely said that the boys "sent him word" Wednesday they wanted to resume practice before the scheduled date.

They held their first workout Saturday and Neely said "We would have started Thursday except for the conference meeting."

The players will not need the couple of days of light workouts usually required to get into top shape. Starting today it will be full-scale preparations against Navy formations.

Sanders Will Fly To Job Interview

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Henry Sanders, coach of UCLA, will fly to Texas Wednesday to talk with Texas A&M officials about the job of coaching.

A&M is seeking a coach to replace Paul Bryant, who resigned to go to Alabama.

While A&M officials have just gotten through denying that an offer of $60,000 a year was made to Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, the Los Angeles Times said it had learned A&M proposed to pay Sanders $15,000 a year, plus a $5,000 expense account, and that he would get a television contract of $10,000 a year.

Also, the Times said it had learned from a Texas source Sanders would get a substantial amount of stock in an oil corporation plus additional inducements.

THEY GOT OVER JITTERS

Lions Whip Chicago Bears To Earn Spot In Playoffs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Lions broke a four-year Chicago jinx yesterday. They whipped the Chicago Bears and earned a tie for the Western Conference championship of the National Football League.

Crippled, scoreless and trailing by 10 points at the half, the determined Lions suddenly took command and battered through the Bear defenses for a chips-down 21-13 victory.

It was the first time Detroit had defeated the Bears in Wrigley Field since 1953.

The Lions will meet the San Francisco 49ers in a playoff game at San Francisco Sunday. The 49ers remained in the running with a 27-20 home victory over the Green Bay Packers.

The Bears toyed with the visitors in the first half to the cheers of 41,088 fans. While the Chicago defense held Detroit's rushing to 13 yards, George Blanda kicked a first-quarter, 22-yard field goal and Ed Brown rocketed a 44-yard pass to Bobby Watkins for a spread formation in the second. Watkins bounded across the goal from the 30-yard line.

Detroit loosed a determined assault in the third quarter, scoring adroitly the first two times it took possession. Then with the game already on ice, the Detroiters added an insurance touchdown in the final 30 seconds.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions credited his team's comeback to a sudden recovery from a case of jitters.

"The team was tight when the game started and they didn't come out of it until the half was over," he said. "It was a big one for us and we knew we had to win it."

Howard (Hopalong) Cassady sparked Detroit's third-quarter surge. He made a three-yard touchdown sweep around end to cap an 80-yard drive in nine plays. Later in the period he added vital yardage in a 53-yard surge which ended with Tobin Rote's nine-yard touchdown pass to Dave Middleton.

Cage Tourneys Are Scheduled On All Fronts

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The tempo of the Christmas tournament hoopla increases this week with two big nines scheduled. In one of them, North Carolina puts its 36-game winning streak on the line.

The Kentucky Invitational at Lexington sends North Carolina into action along with Minnesota, West Virginia (both unbeaten) and host Kentucky.

At Louisville, the Blue Grass Festival will show San Francisco, Seattle, Army and Louisville. Both start Friday. The Quantico Tournament gets under way tomorrow while the Carrousel Tournament begins Thursday at Charlotte.

Next week, of course, comes the deluge of Christmas tournaments.

But none probably will offer the intriguing possibilities of the Kentucky Invitational.

North Carolina takes on Minnesota in the first round, while West Virginia, which has whipped 25 straight Southern Conference foes, plays Kentucky, which has been beaten only by Maryland.

Minnesota will be no cinch for North Carolina. Assuming the Tar Heels get past the Gophers, they'll have to play the winner of the West Virginia-Kentucky game. Who'll win that one? Strictly a tossup.

At this early stage of the season, it is beginning to appear as though some reassessment of forecasts is in order—at least in several districts.

For example:

1. Bradley, the favorite for the Missouri Valley championship, got its first big test of the season last Saturday and dropped an 82-76 decision to Seattle.

2. Indiana and Ohio State, top contenders along with Michigan State to take the Big Ten crown, have yet to win a game, although the conference season has not yet begun. Missouri bounced Indiana with its third straight loss, 78-73, and Ohio State dropped No. 3, a 72-69 loss to Texas A&M.

3. Rice, with three victories, is the only outfit in the Southwest Conference living up to expectations. Texas Tech and Texas, both rated at the bottom of the league before the season, each have won four straight.

4. Around the East, New York University was rated one of the powers. The Violets have two straight in Madison Square Garden, and have showed little except Cal Ramsey.

While North Carolina was breezing past South Carolina 70-58 Saturday night, Kansas and Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain, ranked right behind the Tar Heels in The Associated Press poll, polished off St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 66-54. Wilt scored 31 points.

Three tournaments were decided over the weekend. Cincinnati, which might wind up giving Bradley a fight for the Missouri Valley title, won its own invitation by trimming Xavier of Ohio 79-68.

Duquesne captured the Steel Bowl with an 81-64 triumph over Pitt (the Panthers' first loss), and Mississippi State, now 6-0, turned back Auburn 52-37 in the final of the Birmingham Classic.

Eager Rice Team Resumes Work For New Year's Go

DALLAS (AP) — The Big State League hopes to get three more clubs by Jan. 2 so it can operate again next season.

Five definitely are in the fold and there are a half-dozen prospects for the other spots but there are some difficulties to be overcome before they can be filled.

League President Hal Sayles of Abilene said yesterday when Victoria, Beaumont, Carlsbad, Hobbs and Abilene (which will be operated somewhere else) announced ready to go that he'd like to reach a decision by Jan. 2 because that is the day before the Texas League holds an organization meeting. If the league doesn't go its members can be released for possible places in the Texas League, a circuit that's having its troubles, too.

Corpus Christi, long-time member of the Big State League, returned its franchise. Sayles said an effort might be made to place a club there since the league now owns the Corpus Christi territory.

Sayles said Port Arthur, Midland, Odessa and Corpus Christi were the most likely prospects to fill the three vacancies but that "we need to get player help through working agreements and in some instances get the operators."

He said he didn't think the league would try to operate unless it got eight members although it started last season with only six. These dwindled to four at the finish.

Lake Charles, La., a member of the now defunct Evangeline League, had been a prospect for membership but it developed that the club couldn't lease the city-owned park—or hadn't thus far. The City Commission turned it down.

Art Perkins, general manager of Abilene, said he would have a club in the league and it probably would be Waco. He is having to move his franchise for lack of park facilities at Abilene.

Williams, Seivers Earn Mace Titles

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of American League old hands, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Roy Sievers of Washington, won major batting titles in the 1957 baseball campaign.

Williams, 39, became the oldest player in history to take the league batting championship. Official AL averages certify his mark of .388.

Sievers, 31, was tops in homers with 42 and in runs batted in with 114.

Other leaders include: Base hits—Fox, 196; doubles—Minnie Minoso of the Chisox and Billy Gardner of Baltimore, 36 each; Triples—Gil McDougald, Hank Bauer, Harry Simpson, all of New York, 9 each.

Four Football Titles At Stake This Week

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

It's state championship week in Texas schoolboy football and Dallas Highland Park, Nederland, Terrell and White Oak are favorites.

But some glowing hopes have been ground to bits under upset's iron heel, notably Abilene's.

Standing in the path of Highland Park's drive toward its first undisputed state championship is Port Arthur which shook off three defeats and a tie and battered its way past heralded Austin into the finals for the first time since 1944. Highland Park and Port Arthur meet for the title at Port Arthur Saturday.

Highland Park still swaggers from its upset of mighty Abilene, a triumph that ended the nation's longest winning streak. Abilene had taken 49 in a row and was aiming at an unprecedented fourth straight Class AAAA championship when it was fought to a 20-20 tie by Highland Park last week. The Scots won via the penetration route.

Nederland, one of two undefeated, untied teams left in the state, meets Sweetwater for the Class AAA crown at Nederland Saturday night. The Bulldogs, making their second straight appearance in the finals—they lost to Garland last year—have swept through 13 games with comparative ease.

Sweetwater didn't find the route paved with roses and along the way was tied by Breckenridge, which it later beat by a touchdown, and defeated 34-13 by Abilene. But it's a solid club, probably even more terrific on the ground than Nederland, and it plays them close to the chest.

The Class AA and Class A state championship games both will be in Waco.

Terrell, long rated the power of Class AA, meets twice-beaten Brady Friday night in Baylor Stadium. The only defeat on the Terrell record came in the opening game when the Tigers lost to Athens of Class AAA by a touchdown. But Terrell gathered strength as it went along and became a fearsome machine that last week was able to knock down unbeaten, untied Seymour 20-7.

Brady, like Port Arthur, is a sort of Cinderella team. It took early season lickings from Coleman and Stamford. It reached the finals last week by whipping West Columbia 20-6.

The Class A game, matching White Oak and Mart, will be Saturday afternoon in Baylor Stadium.

Mart is the other undefeated team left in the state. Its record shows that in its last nine games it encountered absolutely no opposition, winning by more than 30 points in each. Last week the Panthers lashed Jourdanton 32-7 to move into the finals.

White Oak lost its opening game to Class AA New London but except for a close one with Class AA Mineola, which it won 19-14, encountered no trouble in the drive to the finals until it ran into unbeaten, untied Sundown last week. The Roughnecks, however, edged through on penetrations in a 6-6 tie.

IN LOCAL GYM

Steers, Tom S., Clash Tuesday

Big Spring's Jan Loudermilk, named the winner of the Most Valuable Player award in the Andrews basketball tournament last weekend, also headed the all-tournament squad.

Others on the elite group included Jackie White, Odessa; Jay Sherrard, Andrews; Donnie Reed, Denver City; Jimmy Muldrow, Monahans; Joe Ramos, El Paso Jefferson; Tommy McMorris, Odessa; Bobby Fisher, Midland; Archie English, Seminole; and Van Cobb, Seminole.

Big Spring won the meet by turning back Odessa, a two-time champion of the tournament, in the finals Saturday night, 77-65.

Midland beat Andrews for third place, 69-52; while Seminole beat Lamesa for consolation honors, 62-51.

Loudermilk scored a total of 90 points in the tournament to run his aggregate for the season to 216. In nine starts, he has averaged 24 points a game.

On their way to the championship at Andrews, the Steers beat Kermit, 65-48; Muleshoe, 84-44; Andrews, 61-46; and Odessa, 77-65; in that order.

The Steers challenge Tom S. Lubbock of Lubbock in a return game here at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Tom S. fought the Longhorns right down to the wire before losing a two-point decision (55-53) in Lubbock recently.

The Steers visit Lamesa Thursday night and host a perennial powerhouse from New Mexico, Hobbs, in Steer Gym on Friday night.

Kentucky Plays Mustangs On SMU Court Tonight

By The Associated Press

Kentucky plays SMU at Dallas and Arkansas meets Kansas State at Fayetteville Monday in the first big intersectional tests of the Southwest Conference this basketball season.

Kentucky is rated No. 3 nationally and Kansas State No. 5.

These are among 15 intersectional games for league schools as they clear the nonconference schedule. Next week the eight conference members get together at Houston in the annual Southwest Conference Tournament. First games counting in the standing come Jan. 4.

Texas Tech, one of three unbeaten teams left in the league, meets LSU at Baton Rouge, Baylor plays Georgia Tech at Atlanta and Rice, the conference favorite, opens a swing through the Midwest against Wisconsin at Madison Monday.

Rice has won three games out of three while Texas Tech and Texas each has a 4-0 record. Texas doesn't risk its status until Wednesday when the Longhorns try Missouri at Columbia.

Tuesday Texas A&M will meet Temple, the nation's 10th ranked team, at Philadelphia. The Eagles beat Ohio State 72-69 last week.

Rice goes to Champaign to play Illinois Wednesday night in still another important test, then the Owls cap it with a clash in Madison Square Garden, N.Y., with St. John's.

Thursday SMU will entertain Auburn.

TCU, which broke even in the Birmingham Classic, with a loss to Auburn but a victory over Miami, meets Howard Payne at Fort Worth Thursday.

Friday Texas tackles Wichita at Wichita. Texas Tech plays Santa Clara at Lubbock, Arkansas takes on Missouri at Fayetteville and Baylor hosts Auburn.

Saturday TCU tries to beat Oklahoma City University a second time, this time in Fort Worth.

Three Texas 11's Place In Stats

NEW YORK (AP)—Three Texas teams showed up today in the final NCAA football team statistics, Rice, Hardin-Simmons and TCU.

Rice is 10th in total offense with 672 plays in 10 games for 3,476 yards and an average of 347.6 per game. Navy, the team Rice meets in the Cotton Bowl, is third with an average of 384.4 yards per game.

Hardin-Simmons is seventh in forward passing offense with 242 passes thrown and 137 completed for an average of .566. The passes gained 1,510 for an average of 151 yards per game.

TCU is seventh in total defense, giving up 2,022 yards or an average of 202.2 per game.

Auburn, the national collegiate football champion, swept to its lofty position on the strength of a rock-like defense that put together the best defensive mark in 10 seasons.

Auburn gave up only 133 yards per game. Arizona State led in total offense with 444.9 yards per game, Colorado was tops in rushing offense with 322.4 yards per game, and Utah led in forward passing with 195.2 yards each game.

Deadlock Characterized 1957 U.N. General Assembly Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Deadlock characterized the 1957 session of the U. N. General Assembly. But delegates from both East and West credited the session with some accomplishments—though they disagreed over what they were.

The session started Sept. 17 and ended Saturday night after dealing with a full agenda of 66 items.

A veteran delegate, Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, commented that a radical change in the atmosphere had come with "the emergence of the Afro-Asian states as the largest single group, and the outpacing of the West by Soviet Russia in rocketry."

These developments, he said, "have produced a new equilibrium of forces in the Assembly which, on controversial political questions, has resulted either in stalemate or meaningless compromise."

With Malaya's admission Sept. 17, the U. N. grew to 82 countries and the Asian-African group to 29. The group, well over a third of the whole membership, can frustrate major decisions in the Assembly because these require a two-thirds vote.

On Syria's Soviet-backed complaint that Turkey was preparing an attack, Syria introduced a resolution calling for an investigating commission while seven other countries recommended intervention by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Advance canvassing showed neither resolution could get the necessary two-thirds majority, so the sponsors of both agreed not to press them to a vote.

In a session-end statement, U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said one of the Assembly's major accomplishments was "stripping away the sham and insincerity of the Soviet war scare that the United States was masterminding a threat to the security of Syria."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov said the Assembly "was an important factor in preventing the possibility of an immediate attack on the Syrian people."

In the Political Committee's debate on Algeria, a strong Asian-African resolution calling for self-determination and negotiations was reduced through Latin-country amendments to a proposal for discussions, with self-determination not mentioned.

Senators To Look Into U.S. Aid For Science Education

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Preparedness subcommittee will take up the question of federal subsidies for scientific education before it ends its inquiry into the missiles program.

This was disclosed today by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the subcommittee chairman.

Johnson, Senate Democratic leader, already has said publicly he believes some form of federal aid should be made available for training scientists needed in the defense program.

He told reporters that when the subcommittee sits down to write a report on its investigation of the missile and satellite programs he will ask Chairman Hill (D-Ala) of the Senate Labor and Welfare Committee to sit in on discussions of educational problems.

"We expect to turn over to the Labor Committee the job of acting as it sees fit on a scientific educational program after it has had the benefit of our inquiries into this matter," Johnson said.

Johnson is understood to be thinking in terms of legislation which would parallel that under which agricultural vocational teachers have been trained.

The Preparedness subcommittee has received testimony that the United States is lagging behind Russia in production of trained engineers and scientists. Russian high school training in mathematics and sciences was pictured as far superior to that in the United States.

Enlist Now, Spend Christmas At Home

A leave policy announced by the U. S. Army will permit young men to enlist in the Army in December and remain at home for the holidays.

Men enlisting after Dec. 16 may request a delay in reporting to their basic training post, the delay not to exceed 15 days. This leave time permits enlistees to remain at home through the holiday season. Leave may not extend beyond Jan. 6.

Information on the enlistment options that may be selected, and on the Army's holiday leave policy for new enlistees may be obtained from M.Sgt. Robert L. Martin at the Post Office each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

Brother Bill Scrounging To Get Cold-Footed Kids Shod

DALLAS (AP)—Brother Bill was "praying and scrounging today to get them cold-footed kids shod" at his Christmas shoe party for poor children.

The Rev. William Harrod is aiming at 2,000 pairs of shoes for the party at his mission and Childrens Free Clinic in the slums of Dallas. Brother Bill, who helps "God make my prayers come true," also hopes for plenty of toys, candy and food baskets for his 12th annual party.

Frank Tolbert, author and Dallas News columnist who has known Brother Bill for years, says "anyone who knows Dallas will tell you that Rev. Harrod possibly is the greatest single force for God in this city."

Nobody could say that 15 years ago. At 46 Brother Bill was a boilermaker and barroom brawler.

"Then," he says, "God told me to go preach. I quit honky-tonking and chasing women and clinch dancing. I was borned again."

Tolbert describes a family in Brother Bill's flock: "The father, hard working but unskilled, makes $66 a week. He has 11 children all under 12 and another on the way. There are a lot of families like them and some even worse off."

Brother Bill has been known to doff his shoes or his coat to give to a derelict. He's threatened to "beat hell out of old alkyhaulics" he's trying to reform.

But he knows his greatest field for doing lasting good is among children.

Brother Bill, who quit school in the third grade, was known as "Bighting Bill" when he first became a pastor—at the Eagle Ford Baptist Church in 1943. Some of the 63 members voiced doubt that he had reformed. Brother Bill locked the church doors so the majority needed to approve him couldn't leave.

Then the 210-pounder whipped a couple of deacons and announced:

"I don't want to hurt no man. But when God got to gnawing at my heart, he told me to quit my job and go to preaching at Eagle Ford. For nowhere else in Dallas is they so many little children in need of Christ and clothes and shoes and the right food."

Student Rocket Hits 14,000 Feet

BEEVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two small rockets which were to have been launched from a ranch near here yesterday will be fired in January or February.

Officials of the Southwestern Rocket Society, made up of science and mathematics students from the University of Texas, successfully launched a rocket Saturday. They said it was due to soar to an altitude of only 5,000 feet but instead apparently reached 14,000 feet.

Firing of the second two rockets yesterday was postponed after defects were found in radio equipment carried by the larger projectile.

The firing was held on the ranch of former State Rep. Dudley Dougherty, nine miles from Beeville.

Population Of Car Multiplies

DALLAS (AP)—Nick Butera started rushing a neighbor to the hospital with six persons in his car, but he had seven when he got there yesterday.

Mrs. Sue Klein, 16, wife of Billy Klein, had her five-pound one-ounce boy delivered in the hospital parking lot by her mother, Mrs. Robert Boyd.

The young mother and son were reported doing well.

Other passengers in the auto were Klein, Mrs. Klein's mother and father, and her sister.

Announce New Way to Drain Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New tablet invention for sinus sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pains

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet invention which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or your full purchase price will be refunded.

Police Assist

A gray kitten with a red ribbon is delivered to four-year-old Kathleen Brown by Police Capt. LeRoy Steffens as an early Christmas gift from seven-year-old Brian Soncrant of Birmingham, Mich. Brian had written the Chicago police chief, enclosed five dollars and asked that a nice policeman obtain a gray cat that purrs with a red ribbon and a bell on its neck and present it to Kathleen. Capt. Steffens and policeman James Les Palets took the assignment and delivered the goods.

Local sportsman interested in shooting of any type will find facilities and a welcome at the Western Sportsman Club range on the Andrews Highway .

The award includes $500 to be used in visiting any soil conservation district in the country and to study its methods.

Waddell, operator of a 36-480-acre Winkler County ranch, has long been active in civic and other affairs as well as in conservation. He also is a leading Boy Scout worker and is the son-in-law of Mrs. Ola Mae Karstetter, a veteran Big Spring faculty member.

2 Cases May Go To Trial

Of 16 cases tentatively set for trial at this week's jury docket in 118th District Court Monday, only two will possibly be tried.

Two of the cases were dismissed on motion of defense attorney. Eight on the docket were passed for the term. Four of the matters listed were reported as already settled.

Judge Charlie Sullivan conferred with the attorney and found that the first case slated for trial—Jim Clanton et al versus Walter Laudermilk, damages,— was scheduled for a series of motions and exceptions.

Therefore, the court instructed the jurors who had reported for duty to return to the court at 1:30 p.m. He said that it was possible at that hour some business requiring their services would be ready.

The only other case marked ready was Mrs. L. B. Griffith versus W. W. Green, damages.

Church, College Choirs Blend Voices In Oratorio

Choirs of the First Methodist Church and Howard County Junior College blended their voices in glorious adoration Sunday evening in the First Methodist sanctuary.

Ira Schantz, vocal music instructor at Howard County Junior College, directed the 45-voice choir in their presentation of "The Christmas Oratorio," Camille Saint-Saens. Accompanists were Mrs. Champ Rainwater, organist, and Jack Hendrix, pianist.

Largely a work for solo artistry, the oratorio is punctuated with majestic choral passages of praise and thanksgiving. Following the instrumental prelude Schantz, as tenor soloist, sang "There were shepherds at night, keeping their watch." Mrs. Paul Wagner, contralto soloist, continued with the announcement of the arrival of an angel who brought tidings to the shepherds.

The birth of Jesus was proclaimed in a passage sung by Joyce Howard, soprano. Other soloists, who also joined in beautiful selections for trio and quintet, were Mrs. Don Newsom, soprano; Vincent Brophy, baritone; and Jim Hennigar, bass.

The audience, which comfortably filled the sanctuary, was led in the invocation by Dr. W. A. Hunt. Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist minister, gave the benediction.

The presentation was recorded by high fidelity tape and will be pressed on 12-inch commercial-type 33 1-3 RPM mocrogroove discs. Orders for the records may be placed at the First Methodist Church office.

assistant White House press secretary.

ORDERS FROM SNYDER

Norton told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that orders for publicity came from Snyder, who now is assistant secretary of defense for public affairs.

Norton, who has jurisdiction over Navy research, told the senators he was "not at all surprised" at the failure of the Vanguard when an attempted firing was made at Cape Canaveral, Fla., 10 days ago.

"I thought there was a great likelihood it would fail," he said. "We had had three previous successes."

He did not at once explain what he meant by the successes, but apparently this referred to previous tests of the Vanguard rocket.

Norton said he argued both to Snyder and to Secretary of the Navy Gates that all missile work, including specifically the earth satellite job, "should be done in private."

"I said it was against the safety of the nation for it to be done in public," he testified.

Norton said the decision to give the test full publicity and to answer reporters' questions freely was "a matter of policy determined higher than the Navy."

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, director of Navy research, also jumped on Snyder, and the publicity attendant on the Vanguard failure.

Bennett said the Russians had stated they would have no further announcement of additional satellite attempts, that this was called to the attention of Gates, and Gates called it to Snyder's attention.

"Apparently," said Edwin Weisl, subcommittee counsel, "Mr. Snyder didn't pay any attention to the secretary of the Navy."

"That is my opinion, sir," Bennett said.

Norton told the senators Navy research had suffered from overall budget limitations on defense spending. He said he knew a major part of Navy money must go to keeping the fleet in current readiness.

He said it all was a part of "the dollar strait-jacket in which we must operate."

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) interposed to ask if Norton did not believe it was "bad judgment" to put on such a strait-jacket." Norton agreed.

Under questioning by Weisl, Norton said controls put on by the comptroller in the Defense Department and the budget bureau have hampered Navy research work.

Testimony that Russia is aiming at control of space has come from Dr. Edward Teller, University of California nuclear physicist, and from Dr. Wernher von Braun, a top Army missiles expert.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), another member of the Preparedness subcommittee, said yesterday it is as necessary for the United States to "occupy space and rule space as it was for England to rule the sea in her conflict with Spain" centuries ago.

Appearing on a television interview, Flanders said occupation of space would provide constant surveillance of the world beneath.

Also, Flanders said the United States must be in a position to combat any military attack that may be launched from space.

In New York, Republic Aviation Corp. announced yesterday it will produce for the Army Signal Corps a number of surveillance drones—unmanned airborne devices.

THREE NOSE UNITS

As described by the company, the drone has three different, interchangeable nose units for use on photographic, radar and infrared detection missions. Most other details of the project were kept secret.

During Saturday's hearing, Von Braun said there is no doubt the Russians have developed an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of delivering atomic or hydrogen warheads anywhere on earth.

"This is not a question of argument but of figuring it out with a slide rule," he said.

Von Braun also said the Russians have rocket and missile engines many times more powerful than those of the United States and that the Soviets are working on even more advanced designs.

Choir, Symphonette Lauded For 'Messiah' Presentation

Handel's immortal "Messiah" was presented to an audience of 235 persons Sunday afternoon in HCJC Auditorium. The presentation was made by the choir of St. Paul Presbyterian Church, which was aided immeasureably by the String Symphonette of Odessa, by the Civic Music Assn., and by several singers not affiliated with St. Paul's church who joined the choir for the program.

The program included the Christmas portions of the "Messiah," with the treasured "Hallelujah Chorus" added.

Mrs. Betty Ware, wife of the pastor, trained the singers and the combined choir and orchestra were conducted by James Gambino of Odessa, leader of the Symphonette. Miss Betty Guthrie was at the organ.

All in all, it added up to one of the finer Christmas musical programs of the season. St Paul's is a small congregation, and about three-fourths of the audience were "outsiders." There were many and varied comments upon the program during the social hour at the church that followed, and all opinions agreed that the program was well worth hearing.

Rev. Jack Ware, pastor, offered the invocation and benediction.

The program, with soloists, was as follows:

Overture—orchestra; Recitative—"Comfort ye my people," James Furlong, tenor; Chorus—"And the Glory of the Lord shall be revealed, Recitative—"Thus saith the Lord of Hosts," and Air, "But who may abide the day of His coming for He is like a refiner's fire," Dick Wisdom, bass;

Recitative — "Behold a virgin shall conceive," and Air, with Chorus, "O Thou that tellest good tidings to Zion," Dorothy Kennemur; Recitative — "For, behold, darkness shall cover the earth," and Air, "The people that walked in darkness," Nolan Young, bass.

Chorus—"For unto us a Child is born"; Orchestra — "Pastoral Symphony"; Recitative — "There were shepherds abiding in the field and lo the angel of the Lord appeared unto them," Marilyn Blackshear, soprano; Chorus—"Glory to God in the highest";

Air—"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion," Betty Ware, soprano; Recitative—"Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened," and Air, "He shall feed His flock like a shepherd," Mrs. Kennemur; Air—"Come unto Him," Amy Percy; Chorus—"Hallelujah."

Sopranos in the chorus were: Sharon Brooks, Marilyn Blackshear, Jerrye Hamm, Sherry Huffstetler, Marilyn Knight, Ollie Layman, Amy Percy, Mary Frances Van Pelt and Betty Ware: altos were Martha Conway, Leola Edwards, Mary Jane Engstrom, Eleanor Mason, Iva Mae Moffett, Bobbie Peters, Charline Rockwell and Dorothy Kennemur;

Tenors were James Furlong, Dick Wisdom and Nolan Young; basses were Robert Kssex, R. M. Heine, Louis Loveless, Julian Kelly Bill Owen, Jack W. Ware and Harold Blackshear.

Verdict Entered In Oliver Deaths

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, said he had received an official report on the analysis of portions of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. A. J .Oliver, from the State Department of Public Safety pathologists.

The report bore out a report by phone earlier—that both the Olivers, found dead in their home on Dec. 4, had died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The report showed that there was carbon monoxide in the body of Mrs. Oliver in "excess of 60 per cent" and in the body of her husband to "nearly 60 per cent."

Story On Stamp Dispenser Solves Shopping Problem

Elmer Boatler, postmaster, was somewhat astonished today to find some of the "merchandise" his establishment handles can be classified as Christmas gifts.

A news item in the paper on Sunday disclosed that the U. S. Post Office has now provided a special plastic dispenser which holds a roll of 100 three-cent stamps.

The stamps cost $3; the dispenser a nickel. You have to buy a roll of stamps to get a dispenser but the dispenser can be used over and over.

Boatler said that a woman was at the office bright and early Monday morning.

She told the postaster she had seven brothers and sisters. She has been racking her brain for gifts for these kinsmen—eager to provide each with a gift of equal value and equal utility.

"This is it," said the woman.

"Everyone uses stamps and in my case, by providing a dispenser and a roll of stamps for each of my brothers and sisters I will show no partiality."

She bought seven dispensers, seven rolls of stamps and paid the postmaster $21.35.

Her Christmas shopping problem was solved.

Insurance Probers To Investigate Gift

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Charles Herring, chairman of the Senate Investigating Committee, said last night his group will hold a special hearing Thursday in Dallas on what he called a $2,000 "gift" to an employe of the Insurance Department's liquidation division.

Herring said the employe was J. W. Pierson, who had served with the division at least 15 years. He identified the company as Estate Life Insurance Co. of Amarillo.

The chairman said eight or ten witnesses will be heard Thursday and Friday at Dallas.

Herring said the committee's counsel, Gene Fondren, had uncovered evidence in an investigation.

Pierson was out of town and could not be reached for comment. His wife said her husband had not received any subpoena and knew nothing of the hearing. "It's absurd and untrue," she said.

Col. E. A. Simpson of Amarillo, attorney for Estate Life President John McCarty, said the firm plans to file suit soon against the Insurance Commission, State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler, and at least one of his assistants.

Simpson said the suits would be filed "to right the wrong that we believe has been perpetrated on McCarty and the Estate Life and its stockholders by permitting the foisting off of the obligations represented by outstanding policies of Physicians Life to go along with the liabilities of the company.

"We feel Estate Life and its officers have the right to expect state agencies to protect and guide instead of selling them 11 million dollars worth of obligations without assets," he said.

Wheeler announced July 16 Estate Life had taken over all policies in force of Physicians Life and Accident Co. of America, which was placed in receivership April 24.

At that time, McCarty said he was putting up a legal reserve of $500,000 on all policies to make the capital and surplus of Estate Life total one million dollars.

The Amarillo firm said under the reinsurance contract between Estate Life and Physicians Life and Accident, it would have a total of 30,000 policy holders and about 11½ million dollars for insurance in force.

The Insurance Board had charged Physicians Life and Accident with insolvency.
