Lemen Bros., the fake "Railroad Show" that passed through Dublin a year ago, is doing the northern part of the State. They showed yesterday at Denison.

In the fight between Hogg and Clark both have been forced by their own argument against each other that the People's party is the only party with a democratic declaration of principles.

If anyone can show us a man in Erath County who has changed his support from Nugent to Hogg since the campaign opened aud especially since the Republican indorsement of one of the democratic nominees we will show him fifty that have changed from Hogg to Nugent. Speak out and lets hear who turnes the tide.

The PROGRESS this week begins series a series of articles by T. A. Brand of Washington, D. C., Chief of the Bureau of Information of the Reform Press Association. These articles are straight shot and shell from the shoulder and should be read and preserved for reference by all reformers and others interested in political matters.

When a farmer gives a mortgage on his farm for borrowed money he gets no interest on his security, neither is it exempt from taxation. When a national broker deposits bonds for security for money borrowed from the government, he draws interest on his security, and it is also exempt from taxation. This is not a special privilege; oh, no.—Cincinnatti Herald.

The Third Partyites claim that the Hogg convention at Houston stole two of their main planks out of their platform. All that is worth anything in the third party platform was stolen from the democratic party hence they have no room to squeal.—Baird Star.

Well, well, we hardly thought brother Cleveland that frank, as to admit that the People's party has the only pure democratic principal.

Mr. Cleveland positively declines to make a single speech during the campaign. This announcement in the daily press, immediately following all the gush they have printed about the candidate being wholly in the hands of the committee, shows that Messrs. Barnum, Whitney and Gorman have wholy put the muzzle on him to prevent any further exposures as to his complete subserviency to the wishes of Wall street.—Economist.

Who made the unconstitutional commission law, as it now stands, and dotted every "i" and crossed every "t"? Hogg.

Who dictated the first alien land law? Hogg.

Who daddied the Drummers tax—now dead law? Hogg.

Who intervened? Hogg.

Who that favored and then lost the enacting clause of the school-book text bill? Hogg.

Who wants a 65-cent dollar? Hogg.

Who wants a graduated income tax, for national purposes, so as to make a man pay a tax on his farm products and what he sells? Hogg.

Who would not know good law were he to meet it in the road? Hogg.

Who will take a trip up Salt River in November? Hogg.
—Bosque Citizen.

An Intelligence Office.

A recent copy of the Waco Evening News contained several extracts of a letter from "our own dear" Prof. W. J. Clay, secretary of the Dublin Hogg club to the Hogg chairman at Waco, we quote the following from the News: "Many third party people also reported by Mr. Clay to have weakened on Nugent since the nomination of Clark by the Republicans and will support Hogg." Now we would like for the Professor to name one man in Erath County who was a Nugent man and has turned to Hogg since the Republican convention that nominated one of the democratic candidates. If the learned Professor will relieve the public mind of the doubt of his assention by pointing out just one name in Erath county who has changed as he says, he will gain the gratification of an agitated public. The simple fact is that the gentlemanly chairman of the Waco part of the Hogg out-fit needed some consolation and the Professor thought it no harm to deviate a little from actual facts or or even reverent them in order to save one poor sinner from utter despair. It is an old proverb that a drowning man catches at straws and to catch at supposed straws is excusable coupled with the rebound of conssiousness of the terrible fact that they had caught "only a hand full of wind."

Principles to the People's Party Success the Only Object.

The following article appeared in the Commanche Chief of a recent date under the very appropriate head of "Ring off." We reproduce the article in order to show the extremities to which the Clark-Hoggocracy are willing to go in burrying issues and principles for the purpose of party success. It is good campaign literature for the Populists and is evidence of what Reformers have long since foretold:

A paper was circulated this week ond signed by about fifty leading Democrats, representing both Hogg and Clark factions. The paper reads as follows and explains itself:

"We the undersigned Democrats believing that entire harmony and unity is necessary to our district and county tickets, and for the purpose of avoiding unnecessary antagonism, hereby express our opinions that it would be best to discourage partisan discussions from speakers on the differences now existing among Democrats relative to Hogg and Clark. We believe, in view of existing conditions, that the Democrats of Comanche county can settle this matter among themselves to a better advantage than outside people can do for them."

This is timely and in the interest of Democratic success in our county and district next November. All who are willing to lay their partisanship aside in discussions to achieve such success at the polls, should heed this at once. Leave the question of Hogg and Clark to the conscience of the Democrat when he casts his vote in November.

SHARP CUTS.

There is no more insignificant thing, intrinsically, in the economy of society than money.—John Stuart Mill.

"I conceive the establishment of a national bank dangerous to the safety and welfare of this country."
—Henry Clay.

"When all our paper money is made payable in specie on demand, it will prove the most certain means that can be used to fertilize the rich mans field by the sweat of the poor man's brow."—Daniel Webster.

"Gold and silver are not intrinsically of equal value with iron. No methods have been hitherto formed to establish a medium of trade equal in all its advantages to bills of credit made at legal tender."
—Benjamin Franklin.

Falling prices, misery and destruction are inseperable companions. The disasters of the dark ages were caused by decreasing money and falling prices. With the increase of money, labor and industry gain new life.—David Hume.

"Our legislatures have been bought and sold till we think no more of it than the buying and selling of so many cattle and sheep in the market. Monopoly was a danger compared with which slavery was a small danger."—Henry Ward Beecher.

"Money exists not by nature, but by law."—Aristotle.

"Whatever the government agrees to receive in payment of the public dues is money, no matter what its form may be; treasury notes, drafts, etc. Such bills or papers, issued under the authority of the United States, are money."
—Henry Clay.

"The feudalism of capitol is not a wit less formidable than the feudalism of force. The millionaire of to-day is as dangerous to society as were the baronial lords of the middle ages. I may as well be dependent on another for my head as for my bread. The time is sure to come when men will look back on the prerogative of capitol with as just and severe condemnation as we now look back on the predatory chieftains of the dark ages."—Horace Mann.

"Money is exactly what mountain promontories on public roads were in olden times. The barons fought for them, fortified them, and then made all who passed below pap toll. So the fortified millionaire can make all who pass below pay toll on his million and and build another tower to his money castle. The poor vagrant be the roadside suffer now quite as much from the bag boran as they ever did from the crag borans Bags and crags have just the same effect on rags."—Ruskin.

"If governments coptracts a debt with a certain amount of money in circulation, and then contracts the money volume before the debt is paid, it is the most heinous crime a government can commit against a free people. I affirm it is my conviction that class laws, placing capitol above labor, are more dangerous to the public at this hour than was chattle slavery in the days of its haughtiest supremacy. Labor is the superior of capitol, and deserves much the higher consideration."—Abraham Lincoln.

The sympathy of the Christian people of the country are with Dr. Parkhurst in his fight with wild beasts of New York. He has roused the wrathful roar of the whole menagerie—the growl of the Tammany tigers and the hiss of the saloon snakes predominating in the din. But what can be done? While the jungle marshes of the liquor traffic are left untouched, we believe permanent municipal reform to be an impossible thing.

ONE HEARER.

One stormy, snowy night, Dr. Lyman Beecher preached to but one hearer, who went away after the sermon before the Doctor could speak to him. Twenty years after, in a pleasant village in Central Ohio, a stranger accosted Dr. Beecher, saying, "Do you remember preaching twenty years ago, in such a place, to a single person?"

"Yes, sir," said the doctor, grasping his hand; "I do indeed; and if you are the man, I have wishing to see you ever since."

"I am the man, sir; and that sermon savad my soul, made a minister of me, and yonder is my church. The converts of that sermon are all over Ohio."—Selected.

GEMS FROM JOHN G. WOOLEY'S 4TH. OF JULY ORATION.

An oarsman fixes his eye upon the store only to pull away.

He has his back to the bow only because he can pull more than he can push.

So let us look to-day at Independence Hall and keep it dead astern.

The sea of life is wide and strange; we cannot know what lies beyond the rise of a day's journey, but we do know that nothing, for us, lies behind, except points to steer by.

Lot's wife was typical of nations, churches, parties, men that live "behind;" they become monuments of salt on which no history or prophecy or even any epitaph remains, whose deliquescent virtue scales in every rain and pours in brackish waste about their feet to sterilize the spot of earth they cumber.

Life to-day is far too serious and practical for men to bank on good they or their fathers did.

This, at least, is no time for looking backward, for winging all about the sky are auguries, and in all the air are odors of San Salvador hard by—a fragment of the continent of the Forever.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

A Perfect Success. VII

The Rev. A. Antoine, of Refugio, Tex., writes: As far as I am able to judge, I think Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic is a perfect success, for anyone who suffered from a most painful nervousness as I did. I feel like myself again after taking the Tonic.

A Sunday School Superintendent Endorses It.

SECRETARY, Dorchester Co., Md., March 8, '91.

A scholar in the M. E. Sunday school (of which I am Superintendent) I know was compelled to stay at home on account of her ailment (epileptic fits) for eight months, but since using Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic she attends regularly. I think the cure the most remarkable I have ever seen or heard of, and this Nerve Tonic deserves the highest encomiums. It has my fullest endorsement.

THE REIGN OF TERROR IS OVER

The Red Store.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN:—

You will pardon me to laugh as I do in your company, the fact is I can't suppress my feelings when I think how cunning Mr. High Price is in my presence. Mr. High Price on the other side is a fair representative of high price credit merchants when the Red Store, the great cash house, comes in their midst; They are all the same all over Texas whenever the Red Store goes to a town and takes away their big cut of pie. He is now weeping, it seems, only a month ago he was king of Dublin, having held the crown for years. His subjects were many and he held them in bondage. Look at him now! Isn't he a fine picture! What feeling in a man makes him frown so? It is the flag of liberty and live and let live prices which the Red Store has hoisted that causes this ugly face. What is he going to do. He will tell you that you must trade with him, and that if you don't he won't credit you next year. He forgets that the Red Store will save you enough money this fall to enable you to buy your goods for cash next summer. He will try to buy your cotton, he will offer you more than he can get for it provided you will trade it out. He forgets that you are up with his tricks and that you will do like the Red Store; you will SELL FOR CASH AND BUY FOR CASH.

Mr. High Price, of course don't want you to trade at the Red Store, he don't want you to see inside of that store because, of course, you may find out some things about the prices of goods that you ought not to know, and as you belong to him, of course you won't go to the Red Store; Thats a settled fact. Wait awhile and I'll talk to him a little. Say, Mr. High Price Credit man, what seems to bring so much grief to you. Why dost thou partake of this disconsolate mood? What ailest thou? Explain to us before all these folks why this sorrow? Dost thou not think that each and every individual has as much right to get rich as thou hast. Dost thou not think that the people should get their goods as cheap in proportion to the prevailing price of cotton, and dost thou frown because the Red Store of Dublin is willing to sell them that way, and because you have paid too much for yours and cant afford it. Speak and quit frowning at people so.

Old Man High Price.

FRIEND RED STORE OF DUBLIN,

Waco and and all those places:—You may laugh as it becomes you to be merry. I have reigned over the people of this country for years. I have sold them goods during these many years and have always found them peaceful until YOU put up at Dublin. I have charged them round prices, but what is that? Are they not my subjects and should they find fault? Did I not trust them and don't the GOOD HAVE TO PAY as well as to pray for the bad? Ah! Red Store, my grief knows no bounds since you have invaded my territory and advertised your bargains in the Dublin papers, my minions are fleeing from me. They are all doing their trading with you. It is true I have sold them shoes like your $1 ones at $2, blankets like you price at $2.50 for $5, shoes like your $1 ones for twice that money, suits like you advertise for $8.85 I always got $15 for. Knee suits like your 75c ones I never had any trouble to sell at $2, suits like you sell for $5 always brought me $10, pants like you sell at $4 I never had any trouble to sell at $8, and those $1.00 shoes you give away are dirt cheap with me at $2.00. Everybody was well pleased with me before they saw how much cheaper you sold your goods. You Red Store, better than any one know that I have not sinned—you know that you buy for eleven big stores besides the Dublin store, and that you pay cash for everything, and that you buy your goods from the factories, and that as I sell on credit, I must buy on credit and can't sell as cheap as you do if I wanted to.

Now that my subjects are all trading with you pray tell them these things, and set me aright with them. Ah! Red Store, dost thou wonder that I should weep.

DANTONS & ROBESTPIERS HOLD THEIR GRIP NO LONGER!

The country is saved and the Tyrants are powerless. The MISTROTS, the King Merchants of Texas have opened a store in Dublin and there is music in the air and the distant hills will echo the musical tune

A Robber with More Gall than Brains.

At Alexander last Sunday a strange man entered the barber shop belonging to W. A. Wagner and drew a pistol on the proprietor and ordered him to give up what loose change he had about him. Mr. Wagner first thought it was a joke and inquired of the "daring young brave" but to his astonishment was officially notified that his customer meant exactly what he said. Mr. Wagner shelled out the cash, about $5 in all, and the robber left "thankful for what he had received." Since that time Mr. Will Rose, a young man raised near Alexander has been identified as the person, was arrested and is now in the county jail to await a trial, having been unable to give the necessary bond.

HOW IT IS DONE--THE REMEDY.

For the Progress.

Senator Coke in his speech in the Senate April 26, 1892 against Cleveland's policy, said: "Our people vote right * * * Yet through parliamentary legerdemain, legislative hocus pocus and ways that are dark and tricks that are (not) vain, they are defrauded of their rights, cheated out of the fruits of their victories at the polls and left naked in the hands of their oppressors, until the time rolls around for another canvass and election, when the same performance has been repeated and the farce of "How not to do it" has been re-enacted."

"The same performance" alluded to by Coke was the defeat of silver and the then manifest intent to nominate Cleveland. The following are some of the

"WAYS THAT ARE DARK:"

1st. The one now practiced by Coke himself, who after denouncing Cleveland in stronger terms than any republican ever denounced him; yet Cleveland being nominated, wonderful to say, Coke is bellowing loud and long for Cleveland's election..

2nd. Coke by his advocacy of Cleveland's election is, according to his own speech before his nomination, showing Cleveland to be leagued with the "oppressors" endeavoring to "defraud the people of their rights.', How? By urging that people have no right to vote against Cleveland as a nominee, although Cleveland is leagued with the oppressors.

3rd. Is it not universally admitted that it is exceedingly like "looking into a glass darkly" to expect free silver by the election of Cleveland, who is its deadliest enemy?

The following are some of

"THE TRICKS (NOT) VAIN:"

1st. To divert from the true issues by appealing to passion and prejudice. For instance, to urge that the present and future interests of the entire people on the subjects of finance and transportation and monopolies that are eating up their substance, and putting themselves, their children, their daughters and wives into a bondage out of which they can only be redeemed by death, is of little importance, or no importance compared with the "bloody shirt."

2nd. To be dominated and dictated to by New England democrats, who in order to keep in office themselves, threaten the South with the Force bill if the South goes for free silver. Even Roger Q. Mills has been tricked in this way.

As to

"LEGISLATIVE HOCUS POCUS:"

1st. A Congressional candidate canvasses in favor of free silver and is governed by a Congressional caucus after election which kills free silver.

2nd. Candidates are permitted to straddle two horses; for instance, they are for both Hogg and Clark in State matters, and in national matters favor free silver and support Cleveland who all know will fill free silver.

We could mention one hundred "ways that are dark," "tricks (not) vain" and "legislative hocus pocuses" by which the people by the bosses and politicians of the old parties "are defrauding the people of their rights, cheating them out of the fruit of their victories at the polls and leaving them naked in the hands of their oppressors!"

WHAT IS THE REMEDY?

1st. Repudiate Cleveland at the polls.

2nd. Repudiate at the polls every candidate for Congress that is delivering you into the hands of New England Clevelandism.

3rd. Be men of your own, and vote only for men who do not equivocate and put themselves in conditions to be "hocus pocused' and "tricked" into the criminal folly of being cat's-paws for the New England oligarchy of bonds and banks.

4th. Beware of men who cry "peace, peace, when there is no peace," until the chains are more firmly rivited on you.

5th. Beware of candidates who regard you as lunatics who can be induced to believe that their deadliest enemies are their best friends, and that their best friends are their enemies, that black is white and white is black, yea that the prince of New England gold bugs is a friend of the people; that the money power will let up on its cruel exactions if left alone, and that a big calf will wean itself.

6th. Ask whether the money power needs strengthening, or whether your next door neighbor with his wife and children and little mortgaged home needs help.

7th. And if the history of Ireland is to be respected in our own farm homes of the South.

8th. Ask, seek and honestly find out what the republicans propose, what Clevelandism proposes and what the People propose, and having found out, cleave to the right at all hazzards.

Special Correspondence.

While keeping watchful vigil the bedside of suffering humani I am somewhat like the man th the "unclean spirit" had gone o of. I have mused upon differe topics, but find no rest; I hav wondered how it was that we ha so many (what the world call smart) men in the law making departments of our state and nation and have such poor laws, and gradually growing from bad to worse and cannot solve the problem unless relegating to the shades of private life nine-tenths of them and filling their places with better men. What say the oppressed and downtrodden of this generation? An earnest determined move all along the lines will accomplish the work, then quietly and peaceably move November next.

Another subject that is claiming considerable attention at present is the "road question." It is a fact potent to all that we need more and better roads, and how to make our present roads better is agitated on all occasions. Some are in favor of working them by our county convicts, which would be a very good plan, besides it has been suggested that there will be quite a number of passengers for "Salt river," with a goodly number of "retired" politicians or law-makers out of a job and that would give them profitable (at least to the country) employment and they (the law makers) might possibly reform and make useful men.

There is agreat deal of sickness in the country at present mostly of a mild type, three cases in the family of your reporter.

Our Stephenville Letter.

Special to the Progress.

STEPHENVILLE, Sept. 27.—Men of Texas: you and I and all other laboring men, white or black, whether Yank or Rebel, owe it to ourselves, our wives and children, to restore our liberty. This can never be done as long as we bow to the will of Grover Cleveland, the great brass collar leader who is made flesh and dwells among the gold bugs of Wall street to do their bidding nor can it be done so long as our voters are ignorant of what it takes to constitute g od government. Therefore, we should with the greatest of haste, educate ourselves in the science of politics from every standpoint.

In the past we have been fools enough to believe all our democratic leaders to be honest enough to have the interest of the people at heart, but we wake up at the end of twenty-five years to find ourselves mistaken. We find ourselves enslaved, yea we find ourselves bound, as it were, hand and foot, almost in the grasp of Shylock who demands his pound of flesh. The people are being crucified between two armies of thieves, while their leaders Benjamin and Grover are trying to execute us over a sham battle concerning the tariff. Only differing about 5 per cent in their views. And Mr. Grover would have us believe that this difference has been the primary cause of the hard times and scarcity of money. Mr. Grover is a little too small to cram such stuff into our heads any longer. Our taxes have increased while the price of labor has decreased to such an enormous per cent that farmers can't survive much longer.

When we ask the political doctor, what is the cause when we have a crop ready for market they say 'Oh! well its over production,' and after our crops have changed hands the very same fellows tell us that it is infernal lazyness and indolence. Can an intelligent man believe such stuff? We say it is underconsumption brought about by contracting of the currency far below the necessary demands for it. Now, Mr. Editor, notwithstanding men are bawling, as it was, from the house tops and tell us to stick to the party for it is our only hope of salvation. We don't believe one word of it for we have heard that tune sung for lo, these twenty years, and the condition of the people grows worse and worse under that advice. We have stepped upon the platform of the People's party to stay until we accomcomplish the aims and objects set forth in them.

In conclusion let me say to my friends, you will find me battling for the rights of the People's party.

Its our magnetic guide; our polar star,
It offers everything that's just and fair.
Then we will fight for it like lions bold
Rather than submit to miseries yet untold.

LINGLEVILLE, Sept. 17, '92.

ED. PROGRESS, Dear sir and brother: I wish to call your attention to your paper of September 9th, stating that Prof. Carlton was to teach the Alliance High School in the Alliance house. He is going to teach the Lingleville district school in the Alliance house as the Board will not be able to have any school taught this winter after completing the school building; the wall will be done in abot 15 days if no hinderance.

I also wish to say to the Alliance brethren, one and all, now is the time we need help, will you come to our assistance in this noble cause in a time of need. Will all the brethren bring something to the County Alliance. Please correct.

We are yours,
L. BRAWNER,

Secretary.

"THE POWER OF MONEY TO OPPRESS."

By J. S. Brady.—No. 2.

To furtcer illustrate and show how the price of the dollar has been gradually been raised and taken practically out of the channels of trade we refer you to a few tables taken from the Forum, and other trade journals of the country:

In 1866 we owed a national debt of	$2,783,000,000
We have paid on principal	2,369,655,312
We have paid premium on bonds	58,240,000
Total amount paid in 1893	$4,158,951,281
We yet owe on debt	$1,183,324,688
Had it been paid in wheat in 1866 only would have paid it	1,007,000,000 bu.
We have paid on principal	1,788,660,000 "
We have paid as interest	2,823,328,000 "
We have paid as premium on bonds	62,770,000 "
Total amount paid	4,652,558,000 bu.
We yet owe	1,158,389,088 "
or about	157,389,084 bu.

more to wheat than we owed in 1866.

We could make the same calculation on every product of farm or forest and cow ranch, but sufficient proof has been produced to show that something is rotten up the creek. But take cotton as another one of the staple crops of the country:

Had this debt been paid in 1866 in this commodity only 7,092,000,000 pounds or 14,184,000 bales of 500 pounds each would have paid the debt.

We have paid on principal about ..... 29,000,000 bales
We have paid as interest about 80,000,000 bales
We " " as premium about 1,130,000 " or 3,455,538 bales of the annual crop has been deposited in the capacious maw of the great Anaconda called the public debt. We see unmistakable proof of the fact that the debt in 26 years has nearly doubled itself, if paid in the products of the country. If it is ever paid at all, it must be paid from the products of labor, therefore after paying into the public treasury the amount of about 90,000,000 bales of cotton, we still owe about 23,000,000 bales or about 8,816,000 bales more than we did the year after the war had ended.

The cause of this terrible depreciation in the value of production of labor is attributable to two causes and to two great causes only—all the argument of the democrats and republicans notwithstanding:

1st. The demonetization of greenbacks and silver.

2nd. The formation of trusts and combines to corner the produce of the country and force labor on depressed market to to sell, and on a full market to buy. Taxes must be paid, and the expenses of living defrayed from the small pittance procured from the result of their toil. But the average politician will cavil for hours over the fact that no emergency exist, that there is more money today than ever; more wealth in the U. S. from which to draw revenues to support the government than ever before, and that oppression and depression is a mere fancy of the brain of the People's party leaders. Let us examine some of the channels that the government has inaugurated through class legislation and favoriteism for the purpose of squandering the people's millions and enlarging the public debt.

One of the minor institutions for which to boost up a few favorites at the expense of the people is the National Geological Survey:

The expense of this bureau up to 1884 was over	$10,600,000
Appropriations for 1885	450,000
" " 1886	521,000
" " 1887	689,000
" " 1888	567,000
" " 1889	569,700
" " 1890	615,000
" " 1891	701,000
Total	$14,104,700

$14,104,700 to have some so-called scientific gentlemen describe in unpronounceable terms what they guess might have occurred in some of the ages past. The reports of this department are not for general distribution but are sold at a high price or exchanged for other similar productions. It is claimed that the whole department is run as a retreat where politicians can obtain fat, easy, high-toned positions for their sons and relatives, and that the real object of these surveys or investigations is to locate mineral lands for rich corporations and syndicates.

The U. S. Fish Commission is another means of disbursing the people's money to a favorite few.

It was established in 1871 and it cost the government to maintain it to 1887	$2,476,351
Appropriations for 1888	225,880
" " 1889	287,580
" " 1890	354,000
" " 1891	275,000
Total cost to date	$3,616,811

The commission is of no practical benefit to the general public, being one of those blood-sucking institutions that becomes a curse to all just governments.

The third item of expense we will enumerate is the drummer tax. The number of salesmen employed from the best statistics obtainable is about 86,000.

Average daily expenses each $5.000 amounts in 365 days to	$156,950,000
Average daily salary each $6.00 amounts to annually	188,340,000
Total expense for the year	$345,290,000

This expense has burdened the people for ten years $3,452,900,000

Estimating those engaged in productive industry at 14,000,000, we find the drummer system entails upon each one an annual tax of $23.90 per annum.

The cry of both parties, democratic and republican, have been for political economy. They certainly must mean for the people to economise so as to enable them to be bled more fully by these blood-sucking office holders they place in power from time to time so we give you a list of government employes and their aggregate salaries:

Departments	No. Employes	salaries
Executive department	24	$31,864
Cabinet	8	64,000
State department	66	107,230
Treasury, employed in city	4,436	6,018,585
War department, besides army officers	1,747	1,911,560
Navy department, besides 200 naval officers	195	225,152
Interior department	3,993	4,828,929
Department of justice	79	152,570
Agriculture	112	151,140
Labor	64	84,540
Civil service commission	14	24,900
Total	17,445	$20,637,911
To this add the Senate	351	413,911
House of Representatives	327	384,801
Capitol, grounds, library, etc	353	286,724
Government printing office	2,100	2,024,300
Total	20,546	$23,747,159
To this add the pension roll		$103,089,813.15
Fees of examining surgeons		692,253.07
Clerk hire		191,291.69
And we have a grand total of		$128,320,916.91

To this we must necessarily add the supposed necessary annual burdens which we are not taxed directly to support, but which we pay and which under present conditions are as tyrannically collected as was the enforcements of the law of the Medes and Persirns:

Interest paid to national bank	$890,753,243
" " on farm mortgages	246,695,200
" R. R. indebtedness	479,374,925
" dividends to insurance	307,638,750
" " life insurance	142,950,000
Duties on imports	219,091,173
Internal revenue	124,256,872
Total	$1,560,179,663
To this add government expenses raised by direct taxation	128,320,916.91
To this drummers' expenses and income for one year	345,290,000.00
Add the expense of the fish commissioner	3,616,811.00
And the Geological survey	14,104,700.00
An annual expenditure of	$3,085,512,190.00

PEOPLE'S PARTY SHOT AND SHELL.

By T. A. Bland.—No. 1.

History of Parties.

During the American Revolution the people were divided into two parties, "Whig" and "Tory." The Whigs believed in the right of revolution, and the Declaration was their platform of political principles. The Tories held to the old doctrine of divine right of kings to rule the people. The Whigs triumphed. A Republic was organized, and a government of the people, by the people, and for the people was instituted.

The Tories disbanded, as a party, but the Whigs maintained their party organization for some years. A new party arose, which took the name "Federal." The Tories, as a class, went into the new party, and the conservative Whigs also joined the new party.

The Whigs were radical. They believed in the doctrine of "Inalienable Rights," for all, and in a liberal construction of the "Constitution." The Federalists were conservative. They did not believe in the doctrine of equal rights, hence they regarded the new government as an elective monarchy, rather than a republic.

Washington was elected president without opposition. His administration, while non-partisan, was in fact a Federalist administration. Alexander Hamilton, the head of the Federal party, was a member of Washington's Cabinet, and the controlling spirit in it. He was the Secretary of the Treasury and under his influence the old monarchical monetary system was adopted by this Republic. In 1791 a bill was adopted by Congress and signed by President Washington, establishing a National bank, modeled after the Bank of England. Thomas Jefferson led the opposition to this anti-republican institution.

He said:

"This bank corporation will come to control the government in its own selfish interest, and menace, if it does not destroy, the liberties of the people."

Under the leadership of Jefferson, the anti-bank men organized the original Republican party, and in 1800 this party elected Jefferson president, over John Adams, Federalist.

Jefferson was re-elected in 1804, and in 1808 James Madison was elected as a Republican.

The bank was chartered for twenty years, hence its charter expired in 1811. Then was fulfilled Jefferson's prediction that the bank would come to control the government for it was able to secure, and did secure, a new charter from a Republican administration.

The was now no vital difference between the two parties, Federal and Republican, hence the campaigns were conducted on personal rather than political grounds, till 1828. The bank would soon need a new charter. The anti-bank Republicans took the more popular party name, Democrat, and elected Andrew Jackson president. In 1831 Congress passed the bill granting the bank a third charter for twenty years. But President Jackson vetoed it. He declared that under our Constitution Congress had no power to authorize a bank corporation to issue money, but the currency of the country should consist of gold and silver coins, and treasury notes.

The Federal party, on being defeated in '28, reorganized under the name of Whig party, and in 1840 it elected Gen. Harrison president, and John Tyler vice president. Harrison died within a month of his inauguration and Tyler became president. Congress passed a bill to charter a National bank, but President Tyler vetoed it, as Jackson had ten years before.

In 1844 Polk was elected presipent, as a democrat, the chief issue being the annexation of Texas. Texas was a slave-holding country, and her annexation to the United States was a pro-slavery measure, and in becoming the champion of that measure the Democratic party became the pro-slavery party.

In 1854, at the demand of the slavery oligarchy, the Democratic party, then in power, repealed the Missouri Compromise act, thus opening the territories of Kansas and Nebraska to slavery. In 1856 the Freesoil element of the two parties organized the present Rebublican party, and nominated John C. Fremont for president. The republican party was born in the city of Philadelphia, on the 17th of June, 1856. There were three candidates for president that year: Buchanan, democrat; Fillmore, American, and Fremont, republican. The republican candidate received no votes in the South, yet in the Electoral College he was defeated by only 59 votes, including the eight given to Fillmore. Yet people will say that the People's party has no show for electing its candidate this year, though it was organized a year ago last May, and though it has more than half the voters in the country pledged to its support and an electoral ticket in every State in the Union. If precedent is worth anything, the People's party stands in a most hopeful relation to the other parties in the race for president this year.

The review of the history of parties is necessary to an understanding of the altitude of the three parties now asking the suffrage of the people.

It is seen that the democratic party was the legitimate child of the old republican party; that in its beginnings it was anti-bank, and that under Jackson it was re-christened and took anew the allegiance to the interest of the people as against the arrogance and selfishness of bankers.

It is seen that it fell into the snares of the slave oligarchy, thus ceasing to be democratic.

We learn from this history that the republican party was born of the spirit of freedom and was the champion of liberty in its early years.

Following the history of these two great parties we see them uniting together in 1863, against the people and in the interest of bankers, foisting upon the country a national bank system, with an aggregate capital almost fifty times as great as that of the first United States bank, and with power far greater than was possessed by that first bank.

We see these old parties burdening the country with a fictitious war debt in the interest of these banks, and continuing that policy of unjust special legislation until the present day. No we see them both, with an impudence unparalled, an affrontery perfectly astounding, asking the people for their suffrage on platforms, not democratic, not republican, but monopolistic and plutocratic.

So much alike are these old parties that no man could discover any material difference between the administration of Cleveland and that of Arthur, or between the administration of Harrison and that of Cleveland.

The People's party was formed by the industrial classes who produce the wealth of the country, and its platform is in line with the principles of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and the doctorines of Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln.

The People's party stands for the abolition of the National bank system, the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver, and the issue of treasury notes sufficient, with the gold and silver coin, to do the business of the country upon a liberal basis.

It demands that the great lines of transportation shall be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people and not by private corporations for their sole benefit.

It demands that the United States postoffice shall have a complete telegraph system and that the public lands of the country shall be held for actual settlers only, and not for private corporations and non-resident speculators.

The platform of the People's party is based upon the scientific principle's of a sound political economy. It is in line with the doctrines of the American Economic Association, comprising over seven hundred of the leading thinkers and scholars of the United States.

I. M. Newton's yard	257
Total	1922

This report is in full up to 5 o'clock Thursday evening.

No doubt the Hoggites would like to see Judge Nugent withdraw from the gubernatorial race but such a thing will never be.

The report sent out by the Hogg people that Judge Nugent would withdraw from the gubernatorial race is the biggest lie that set of humbuggers have gotten up this season. On the other hand the idea of his withdrawing never intered the mind of Judge Nugent nor any of his many warm supporters. The report is false and is a malicious lie gotten up by the Hogg people to mislead and probably discourage his followers.

Speaking at Bunyan.

A Mother's Mistake.

Mothers frequently make a mistake in neglecting the cough of a child. A Fort Wayne, Ind., lady writes: My little daughter 6 years old had a severe cough, but as it was nothing unusual, I thought nothing of it, and allowed it to run on 4 or 5 weeks, when it became so obstinate she began to losing flesh. I called in a physician who treated her three weeks without benefit. A neighbor insisted upon my trying Ballard's Horehound Syrup; it relieved her from the first dose and she began gaining flesh rapidly, when we had used two bottles her cough had entirely disappeared. It does not constipate my children. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is free from Opiates. It's the most soothing throat and lung medicine in the world. Price 50c. and $1. Sold by S. S. Davis. 2

This is Pretty Good.

Mr. John C. Goodwin, a carpenter of Danville, Ill., writes: "About two weeks ago a heavy saw log fell upon my foot very badly crushing it, so that I was unable to walk at all. I sent for a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment and kept my foot well saturated with it. It is now two weeks since this happened, and my foot is nearly well and I am at work. Had I not used Snow Liniment I should have been laid up at least two months. For healing wounds, sprains, sores and bruises it has no equal. No inflammation can exist where Snow Liniment is used. "You can use this letter."

Beware of all white Liniments substituted for Snow Liniment. There is no other Liniment like Ballard's Snow Liniment. Sold by S. S. Davis. 3

MERIT WINS

Dear Sirs:—I had rheumatism and weak back for twenty-five years, and was entirely cured by taking a few bottles of Saxet. I am now as well and strong as ever; I often shoulder a two-bushel sack of corn with ease, which I could not do before for twenty-five years. HENRY SMITH, Calhoun, Tex.
