

Changing The Political Scene

Democrats are beginning to move into Chicago now that the Republican National Convention is history. Workmen James Albright (left) and his son, Jerry, are hanging a sign "Russell for President" on the former Taft booth on the ninth floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Booth will be used by Senator Richard Russell of Georgia in his campaign seeking the Democratic presidential nomination. The Democratic National Convention opens July 21. (AP Wirephoto).

Democrats Building Full Head Of Steam

By RELMAN MORIN
CHICAGO (U) — A great many Democrats were busy talking, tacking up signs, making predictions and generally building up a full head of steam today for the presidential nominating convention that opens next week. This is a multi-candidate convention, wide as the great open spaces. Consequently, it is full of question marks, hot and cold running rumors, speculation and ballyhoo. About the only points of agreement among candidates and supporters are that: 1. Nobody is going to be named on the first ballot, or even on an "early" ballot. Some guesses on roll calls range up to 16. 2. Sen. Estes Kefauver, the tall man from Tennessee, will start out in front. 3. Somebody is going to get a powerful lift from President Truman and all the candidates are looking hopefully toward the White House for a sign in the sky. If the President has glanced with interest in the direction of any of the several front-runners, there is no indication of it here. The most any of the various camps can announce is that Truman isn't opposed to their man. Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, a brief visitor at the convention city last night, said he is certain "the President is not against me." Sen. Richard B. Russell's campaign manager, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, told newsmen Russell had seen the President last week but that he did not know what passed between them. "I have carefully examined the record of Gen. Eisenhower," Macey said, "and I want to say that I find nothing in his record which would indicate that he is an acceptable candidate for President so far as organized labor is concerned."

convention votes — it takes 616 to win the nomination — and a solid bloc of Southern support. It will increase, Sen. Johnson said, to the winning point "around the 10th ballot — or rather, I'll say the last ballot." Sullivan told this reporter he wouldn't be "mouse trapped into discussing an estimate of Kefauver's delegate strength or when the Tennessee will see the winning number." "Taft's people did that right up to the convention," Sullivan recalled. "They had 530, and 590 and 603 — and look what happened." "I'll just say that Estes has a tide of support coming his way." Sen. Kerr, sitting on the edge of a hotelroom bed, told some reporters he has a minimum of 150 first-ballot votes, and said, "I wouldn't trade my chances with anyone. . . . Fact is, I'm going to be nominated." Russell's manager says he thinks Vice President Alben Barkley is the man to beat, even while conceding that Kefauver will be out in front in the early stages of the race. Headquarters have been established for W. Averell Harriman of New York, director of the Mutual Security Administration. Harriman, Barkley, Russell and Kefauver are the leading contenders at this point in the view of Frank McKinney, chairman of the national committee. He agreed with the general opinion that it is a wide-open race. McKinney arrived last night. Meanwhile, the surprisingly durable and long-lived rumors about Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois were still haunting the corridors of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, central arena for all the pre-convention hubbub. Stevenson says, virtually every hour on the hour, that he doesn't want the nomination. There is a report that the President no longer is trying to persuade him; another is that Jacob Arvey, of Chicago, one of the original and most emphatic backers of the governor, also has decided not to press him any further. But another story has it that the Illinois delegates are marshaling all steel not needed by the military. Kefauver and Russell are expected in Chicago late today to take personal charge of their operations. The others will be here later in the week.

CIO Leader Brands Ike 'Rank Amateur'

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (U) — A top CIO leader today termed Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican presidential candidate, a "rank amateur" in the field of civil government and said that on major domestic issues he would be a "prisoner of his own advisers." Joseph A. Beirne, a CIO vice president and head of 300,000 CIO communications workers, said in an interview before leaving for Chicago and the Democratic presidential convention: "Eisenhower has unquestionably been a great military leader but if he is elected President he will be helpless on the great domestic issues facing the country such as the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, civil rights legislation, federal aid to the states and others. "He will have to depend completely on his advisers in making domestic policy decisions, rather than making up his own mind." Beirne is a member of the Platform Committee at the Democratic National Convention. One of the CIO's newer and younger leaders, he is sometimes regarded as a possible successor to CIO President Philip Murray. Some segments of organized labor have been criticizing Eisenhower for months. The CIO, staunch supporter of Democratic national candidates ever since its formation in 1936, recently said editorially in one of its publications that Eisenhower's campaign was "out-Tafting Taft." CIO opposition to Eisenhower was first evident last November at the CIO's convention in Atlantic City. Emil Macey, a member of the CIO's Political Action Committee and secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, said that supporting Ike for President would be "buying a pig in a poke." "I have carefully examined the record of Gen. Eisenhower," Macey said, "and I want to say that I find nothing in his record which would indicate that he is an acceptable candidate for President so far as organized labor is concerned."

Steel Released For Civilian Use

WASHINGTON, July 15 (U) — In a move aimed at checking the spread of industrial idleness, the government today freed for civilian use all steel not needed by the military. Production Chief Henry H. Fowler said the action clears the way for small and medium-sized manufacturers to keep producing such goods as washing machines, vacuum cleaners, metal furniture and household appliances. Steel stocks needed for the defense effort, however, remain subject to the embargo on the eve of the steel strike that began June 1. Fowler said in announcing the action that it will "help avert some shutdowns in the nation's manufacturing plants and minimize further unemployment."

School Transfers Begin To Come In

Transfer of students from one school district to another within the county and from outlying districts to local schools has picked up only slightly within the past several days. Deadline for such action, and it must be done if the students are to be accepted, is Aug. 1. Transfer must be made in the county superintendent's office, located in the Courthouse. A total of 53 transfers had been made Monday. Ordinarily, more than 200 are completed annually.

Red Embassy Told To Stop Its Magazine

Action Is Taken Due To Russia's Ban On 'Amerika'

WASHINGTON, July 15 (U) — The State Department today ordered the Russian Embassy to quit publishing and distributing pamphlets in the United States. A department statement announcing this said the U. S. was suspending publication of a Russian-language magazine called Amerika, which it had been distributing in Russia. It said the twin actions were taken because the Russians were obstructing distribution of Amerika in the Soviet Union. In halting the Amerika project, the department gave up operations on the last remaining wedge into the Iron Curtain. A spokesman said the slick-paper magazine was so popular in the Soviet Union that newstands sold out all copies within a few hours after they went on sale wherever the Russian government did not interfere. Second-hand copies were sometimes sold on the black market at many times the original price of 10 rubles. The suspension action was taken, the department said, because of "progressive restriction" by Russian authorities against Amerika, a lavishly-illustrated monthly patterned after Life Magazine. In a note addressed to the Russian Foreign Office, the State Department asserted: "As a result of this obstruction, the number of copies which can be presumed to reach the Soviet public has become so small as not to justify this effort of the Government of the United States to supply Soviet readers with a true picture of American life and thus to promote understanding between the two peoples."

Webb Pilot Is Crash Victim

A Webb AFB pilot died in the crash of his jet trainer near Orlando, Florida yesterday. 2nd Lt. William Howard Reigle, 25, received fatal injuries when his T-33 crashed while on a routine training flight from Pinecastle AFB, Florida. Although he had been assigned to Webb AFB since May 26, Lt. Reigle had been on temporary duty at the Florida base since early June taking jet training. A native of Bloomburg, Penns., Lt. Reigle saw service during the latter part of World War II. He returned to active duty in 1948, and took pilot training at Reese AFB, Lubbock in 1950. For more than a year, prior to his assignment to Webb AFB, Lt. Reigle had been a pilot instructor at Perrin AFB, Sherman. Lt. Reigle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Reigle, live in Bloomburg. Reigle's wife, Mary Lou, was with him in Florida at the time of the accident. Ironically, it was near Orlando, Fla. that the only other fatality among pilot personnel at Webb Air Force Base occurred. Capt. James D. Falgout died in a crash there on May 22 on a routine training mission.

City Commission Sets Brief Meet

Bellamy Beginning Duty As Big Spring Engineer

Tuesday was E. L. Killingsworth's last day as city engineer for Big Spring. Clifton N. Bellamy, appointed to the post several weeks ago, officially takes up the engineer's duties Wednesday. Killingsworth is ending nearly seven years of service as city engineer. He will remain here for about two weeks in an advisory capacity as Bellamy assumes responsibilities of the office. The veteran engineer resigned the city post for reasons of health. He plans to retire to a lake home near Waco where he hopes to regain use of a falling voice. Bellamy has been employed since World War II as resident engineer for the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, Lubbock. The new city engineer has lived in Big Spring for several months as supervising engineer for expansion of

Tougher Bomb Raids Coming, Collins Warns

By JIM BECKER
TOKYO (U) — Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U.S. Army chief of staff, said today even tougher bombing of North Korean military targets is in store for the Communists if they "insist on prolonging the war." United Nations warplanes within the past three weeks have hurled some of the mightiest air attacks of the war at Red power plant facilities in North Korea and at military targets in and near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. He told a news conference on his return from a two-day tour of the front that the U.N. Command is prepared "to use anything — except germ warfare — to protect its forces in Korea from being driven out." Collins said the controversial decision to bomb the Yalu River power plants was a routine one, made as part of a "shifting bombing pattern." He said also that "within a few years we will use atomic artillery on the battlefield." "We are making tremendous progress," he said, but tested atomic artillery is not yet ready for action for "two or three technical reasons." The Army chief repeated a statement he made in Korea yesterday that the Allies have "other means" than those already being used in Korea and that he could use them "in a pinch." He said he did not consider the present Korean stalemate a pinch. The new means would be used only if the Reds launched a drive that seriously threatened U.N. forces, the general indicated. He said "new weapons are never as effective the second time around." The general added, however, that the U.S. Eighth Army would not be pushed out of Korea without "an outside power throwing considerable weight into the struggle." He said the U.N. could even push the Reds out of North Korea "if we thought it was worth the cost."

Four Narcotics Cases Are Filed

Four Latin-Americans, three of them women, have been charged by the county with possession of narcotics. Three of them were rounded up by local authorities last week end while the other was taken into custody Monday. The accused are Mr. and Mrs. Jose Lerma, Bettie Dominguez and Janie Paz, all of San Antonio. Sheriff Jake Bruton said the narcotics they had in their possession proved to be heroin and dolophine. The county has also been informed that another suspect wanted in a recent narcotics case here had been arrested in San Antonio on a tip by local officers. He is Elias Villa, who authorities stated was one of the ring-leaders in the sale of marijuana here recently. He had been living under the alias of Juan Garcia. He will be returned here Wednesday, a spokesman for the sheriff's office stated.

Indonesia Has Not Named Ambassador

JAKARTA, Indonesia (U) — Reports that Indonesia has named an ambassador to Communist China were described officially today as "premature." Previously reliable informants had said Indonesia's cabinet had decided to name S. Mangunsarkoro, a leader of the large Nationalist party, as ambassador to Peking. Commenting on this, however, Information Minister Arnold Monouso termed the report "premature" and added, "The decision is up to the cabinet as a whole and may be reached later this month."

Big Spring Flooded!

This Monday afternoon scene on East Third wasn't the result of a broken water line, it was rain, real rain, that fell in varied quantities ranging from 0.14 at the Weather Bureau station at the Air Base to 0.03 at the Experiment Station Farm on the north of town. Rainfall in other parts of town was probably even less, and even more in spots. Anyway, it looked like a flood and will have to do as one until something bigger and deeper and better comes along.

Heavy Showers Fall Northeast Of Town

Like the pioneers of old real good hard-soaking rains are trying to find their way into the immediate Big Spring area. One of these ranging from three to four inches fell on the S. L. (Roy) Lockhart Ranch, about three miles southeast of Vealmore and four inches drenched the T. L. Griffin Ranch near the Borden-Howard County line. A good rain was reported on the Wilson Brothers Ranch in the northern part of Howard and the southern part of Borden counties. The Leland Wallace Ranch, northeast of Big Spring was drenched with the second good rain of the year yesterday afternoon when 2.50 inches fell there, but this faded pushed out of Coahoma where the moisture was estimated at from 0.50 to 0.75 inch. The rain increased in volume at times with 1.05 inches being registered on the gauge at the Couden Refinery. Lamesa received a shower but a good rain fell at O'Donnell, and more than one inch wet the Ackery area. A good rain fell at Sparenburg, and generally good showers were received over the north, south, east parts of Dawson County. Snyder reported 0.30 inch, and a similar amount was recorded at the Experiment Station Farm at the north edge of Big Spring while the Weather Bureau at Webb Air Force Base reported only 0.14 inch. A Texas Electric Service Company gauge just east of Big Spring measured 0.48. Residents of the Knott Community reported from one to 1.50 inches yesterday afternoon but said it faded a short distance west of there. About three inches was reported from the Luther Community. City officials said this morning the rains put about 6.20 foot in the two Big Spring sources of supply, Moss Creek Lake and Powell Lake, just enough to compensate for the evaporation during a few real hot days. Yesterday afternoon's clouds were seeded by three silver iodide generators of the Water Resources Development Corporation, and these generators were still in operation at mid-morning today. The generator at Fort Stockton was put into operation at 4 p.m. yesterday, the one at Big Spring at 6:35 p.m. and the one located at Wink started seeding at 7:25 p.m. it was reported by the Lamesa headquarters of the West Texas Weather Improvement District. Good rains were reported north of Lamesa toward Lubbock.

ARGUMENTS ARE PREPARED

Loyal Democrats Challenge Governor's Strength Claim

AUSTIN, July 15 (U) — A leader of the Loyal Democrats of Texas today challenged Gov. Shivers' claim that 96.6 per cent of the state Democratic convention voting strength was represented in the pro-Shivers convention. Shivers' claim would mean that not more than 3.4 per cent of the legal convention voting strength sided with the Loyal Democrats who held a rump convention. The challenge was hurled by Fagan Dickson of Austin, Loyalist executive director, who also made public the arguments his side will make in an effort to be seated by the Credentials Committee at the Democratic National Convention. "The evidence which will be offered at Chicago in the form of signed registration cards will show that a majority of the delegates from many of the large counties in Texas participated in the (rump) Democratic Convention. . . . and, since these delegations operated un-

Murray Won't Speculate On Possibilities

Industry Hopeful That An Increase Will Be Allowed

PITTSBURGH, July 15 (U) — New steel strike peace talks ended today with industry and the CIO United Steelworkers in disagreement but standing by for further word from the White House. After a two-hour bargaining session, President Philip Murray of the striking union issued a joint statement which said John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, asked both sides to stand by. Murray declined to speculate on the outcome of the new negotiations. He brushed by reporters saying only: "I don't have anything to say now." Larkin paused on the way to the conference room only long enough to tell newsmen he was representing six of the nation's largest steel producing companies. Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman arranged the talks. He acted after a round of week-end discussions raised hope — then failed — in settling the 44-day-old dispute. Steelman telephoned both union and industry representatives from Washington yesterday and insisted on a new try for peace in the strike that has idled about 1 1/2 million workers. As the peace talks were being set up, the Office of Price Stabilization rejected appeals of three companies for price boosts ranging from $5.30 to $6 a ton. The OPS ruling against appeals from Weirton, Armco and Pittsburgh Steel — all of who have signed new contracts with their workers — was quickly shrugged off by the industry. Steelman spent Saturday talking prices with officials of United States Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry, and reportedly gave assurance of an increase in steel prices. The industry pinned its hope for price relief on a promise of an increase averaging $5.65 a ton. This would include an adjustment under the Capetart Amendment, which allows manufacturers to add to their ceiling prices all cost increases from the outbreak of fighting in Korea up to last July 26. A government official said Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall could do nothing but reject the appeal of Weirton, Armco and Pittsburgh, because of the OPS' narrow regulations. If an increase is given, the three companies would also qualify for the higher prices along with the rest of the industry. Arnall declined comment on the report that his bosses have agreed to increase steel prices. Industry's last offer at the week-end sessions was not disclosed. However, it is believed to call for what one industrial spokesman termed "a watered down" version of the modified union shop which

NPA Forfeits Right To Select Employees

By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission today took away from the National Production Authority the right to hire its own workers because of irregularities in selecting employees last year.

The commission ruled that all future NPA hiring must be referred for prior approval to the Department of Commerce, the parent organization of the emergency production agency.

Commerce Department and NPA officials, questioned on the charges, said they will carry out the commission's orders completely and will co-operate fully in matters of hiring.

They did not deny that abuses had occurred, but said they were in 1951 when NPA was striving to build a staff quickly to deal with a mushrooming load of work in administering priority and allocation controls.

Many of the improper appointments, they said, were of day-to-day consultants or commodity specialists in the "WAE" category — meaning paid only "when actually employed."

In many of the latter cases the one-year term of appointment has expired, officials said, and the appointees have left the agency.

The unusual announcement by the Civil Service Commission said that 11 per cent of NPA's appointees above the salary level of $3,410 a year were ineligible for their jobs at the time they were hired.

Inspection of NPA's personnel actions, the commission said, showed that the defense agency took on workers who were not on the Civil Service registers, while at the same time rejecting all names on the official lists of Civil Service eligibles.

The commission studied 1,761 appointments, nearly half of them in the class of commodity-industry analyst, and found 200 not qualified under Civil Service rules at the time of appointment.

"Ninety-nine of the 200 still are not eligible for the positions they now occupy," it was charged.

Texas Belles Thrill At New York Sights

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—A group of wide-eyed Southern belles wandered through town today, thrilled over seeing New York and even more excited about a trip to Europe for some of them.

They are the Melody Maids, amateur singing group from Beaumont, Tex. The 22 range in age from 15 to 22.

Since Thursday they have been here, sightseeing and singing at military installations in the area.

They have had a big reception, their director, Mrs. Eloise Milam, said, and they have other singing dates ahead.

The group will disperse for a while. Thirty members will return home. The other 22 will fly to Europe.

The Europe-bound singers will leave tomorrow to sing at military installations in England and France. They hope to spend a week in each country and fly back here Aug. 1.

Once back in New York, they hope to line up other singing engagements in the area.

"They are just girls who like to sing," said Mrs. Milam. "But they are such good trouper."

The youngsters had to do more than be able to sing to make the trip. They sponsored all kinds of projects to raise funds for the jaunt. And they worked hard in rehearsal.

Some have been making concert tours with the group for eight years. Others are newcomers. Colorfully dressed, they usually sing light, gay music.

For Mrs. Milam, a voice teacher during the winter, work with the group is a hobby of 10 years' standing. And she considers the summer tours a vacation in which she lets the girls share.

And everybody has a lot of fun, she said.

As she put it: "It's kind of crazy, but lots of fun. In fact, everybody says it's crazy, so it must be."

"As a matter of fact, the people at home voted me the optimist of the year."

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

There will be a county-wide 4-H Club meeting at the Lomax School Thursday night (July 17) and all are urged to be present.

The program includes recreational features, refreshments, and most important, a business meeting for the purpose of discussing and developing plans for the junior rodeo which will be held the last week in August or the first week in September.

Dr. Lee Rogers, Big Spring dentist and Hereford breeder, was seen with 100 pounds of seed blackeye peas and 100 pounds of Guar seed, a few days ago, headed for his farm in the Lomax community. Most of that section has received rain for a good planting season.

County Agent Durward Lewter estimates there are from 10,000 to 11,000 acres of cotton in Howard County that stands a chance to reach maturity if enough moisture is received, if insect damage is held to a minimum, if it isn't hail-rotted and if all the other "ifs" work out favorable to the growers.

Lewter bases his estimate on a personal survey of the county coupled with a conference with gin men. In all they estimate there are from 20,000 to 22,000 acres of cotton in the county, but they reach their figure of from 10,000 to 11,000 acres on the basis that the higher figure will produce about half a stand.

In the Luther Community the cotton is fair where there is a stand at all. In the Center Point and Richland communities there appears to be about half a stand, on the average. In the Knott community it ranges from fair to good, and is described as generally fair in the Vealmoor community. The rest of the county's crop is scattered.

Lewter says he doesn't know of a farmer who doesn't consider the cotton-planting season at an end. For Doris Blissard, at Lomax, it ended at noon yesterday according to reports.

Blissard was planting cotton on the Martin County part of his place yesterday morning but was also ready to plant grain sorghums yesterday afternoon.

The county agent who has been investigating the possibility of a canny contract for field peas has by no means been disappointed by what he has learned.

There is definitely a shortage of seed peas, and there is the uncertainty of enough rain to mature a crop.

However, he is suggesting that farmers who have the seed or who can get it, and who have a planting season should go ahead and plant. He is confident there will be a good market for both green and dry peas. He also recommends that the seed be inoculated with pea culture Nitrogen, a bacterial inoculant.

A survey of possibilities also indicates that grain sorghum seed may not be as plentiful as many people might think. After investigating this situation, Lewter suggests that farmers will do well to provide themselves with seed even if they have to carry it over.

He is recommending 7078, C & P Rock, Plainman, Red Blue 66, and Early Hegari and Arizona Hegari.

FBI Gets High Rate On Case Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department said today that 97.2 per cent of the persons brought to trial in cases investigated by the FBI during fiscal 1952 were convicted.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported there were 8,356 such convictions during the year compared with 8,232 the year before.

"The FBI," said Hoover, "returned to the taxpayers in the form of fines, penalties and convictions a total of $60,000,000, an increase of more than 22 million dollars over the previous year."

The report said that during the year, 11,500 fugitives were located and 12,329 automobiles recovered in FBI cases.

Runaway Affair Halted By Law

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The law has ended the runaway romance of a 22-year-old divorcee and her teenage boy friend, but the loving couple says it's only a temporary setback.

"He's terrific," said blonde Mrs. Virginia LeTourneau after she and 6 foot, 3 inch James Sherwin were brought here in custody from Phoenix yesterday. "We're really in love and we'll wait this thing out."

Sherwin, blushing, said: "We'll get this thing straightened out. I'll go to work and be a family man." Both said they intend to marry as soon as her divorce is final, in about a year.

Mrs. LeTourneau was arraigned on four counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Sherwin is accused as a delinquent.

Mrs. LeTourneau said they fell in love "while we were horseback riding" and traveled 10,000 miles together before they were arrested, last May 24, was nearby Burbank.

Man Gets 99 Years On A Plea Of Guilty

BEAUMONT, July 15 (AP)—Vincent Paul Pavlik, 19, was sentenced to 99 years in prison yesterday for the death of Sol Mason Jones near here June 14.

Pavlik pleaded guilty in Criminal District Court. A jury returned the sentence after deliberating five minutes.

In a statement introduced as evidence in the case, Pavlik said he shot Jones to get his car and money.

Violent Blast Levels Building Of Gang Leader

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A violent explosion in a two-story brick building owned by the notorious Big Earl Shelton early today wrecked the structure and damaged several other buildings in the public square.

Most of the city's 6,000 residents were awakened by the blast, which occurred at 1:25 a.m. Hundreds rushed to the square.

Police were without clues in a hunt for persons who set off the blast.

No one was injured. The Shelton building, housing a restaurant on the first floor, was the last piece of property owned in Fairfield by the one-time Southern Illinois gang leader. The second floor—former Big Earl's gambling headquarters—was vacant.

Windows in buildings a block away were broken. Included were a score of windows in the city's Brown Hotel, a 30-room two-story structure.

"I thought the Fairfield National Bank had been blown up," said Wayne County Sheriff Elmer Brown. "I ran all the way over barefoot from the jail."

Sheriff Brown estimated damage to property at $50,000.

The notorious Shelton gang terrorized Southern Illinois in the prohibition era.

Big Earl, who is 58, left Fairfield more than 18 months ago and is believed living somewhere in Indiana. On May 24, 1949, he was shot and seriously wounded as he played poker in his gambling club on the second floor of the building bombed today.

Three of Big Earl's brothers were slain in gang style—from 1947 to 1950.

The county agent also suggests treating this seed with copper carbonate to stop smut and to control wire worms. Formulas for treating the seed may be obtained at his office.

Squash bugs and blister bugs have made a tremendous invasion of this county, according to word from all directions. They're hitting hard at gardens, trees, shrubs.

Lewter says they can be brought to a quick end with applications of Saberdia dust applied from a hand sprayer.

James A. "Hank" Gowdy, former Muleshoe lawyer, and New Mexico and Texas Angus breeder says he received, last week, from one to a little more than two inches of rain on the three ranches he operates in New Mexico, and about one and one-half inches on the Ed Bateman Ranch he leases near Guthrie in King County. He says he believes this is enough rain to carry him through the summer unless extremely hot weather returns.

Gowdy is running about 700 mother cows and calves, about 1,200 Angus heifers and will have about 1,500 calves for sale this fall. He says there is almost no trading taking place except for distress cattle, but that there is plenty of demand for calves for fall with buyers offering from $30 to $52. He says many cowmen think the fall market will be much better.

Speed Of Skyrocket Plane Gets Navy's Confirmation

By VERN HAUGLAND
MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. (AP)—An apparently inadvertent disclosure that the Skyrocket research airplane has flown twice the speed of sound was confirmed here today.

It also was indicated that the Skyrocket carries refrigeration equipment enough to cool a theater of 2,000 seats.

This would be necessary — in an airplane flying more than 1,300 miles an hour — in order to keep the pilot from being roasted alive, and to keep the airplane metal from turning soft.

The Navy has announced officially only that Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman flew its D558-II Skyrocket faster and higher than any other piloted aircraft has traveled.

The details were kept secret. The new world speed and altitude records were set over the Mojave Desert near Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., last August.

Strike Threatened Against Pullman Co.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Order of Railway Conductors has threatened to strike against the Pullman Company July 29 unless the firm increases its hourly wage offer by a little more than 1 cent.

The walkout would affect most major railroads, a union official said.

Union officers, meeting yesterday, said the independent union would go on strike unless the company meets its demand for a 12½-cent hourly wage boost granted other railway unions.

The company has offered 11.07 cents an hour, the union said.

At an air show at Edwards last Saturday, however, an announcer said the Skyrocket had flown more than 1,300 miles an hour.

A fellow officer said later that the announcer had been authorized only to say that the plane was capable of that speed.

The Skyrocket was launched from a B-29 mother ship, at about 30,000 feet, for the start of its record-shattering flight.

It has a turbo-jet engine with a rocket engine for the additional thrust to move into supersonic flight, and has wings swept back 35 degrees.

DESIGNING WOMAN Organize Brother, Sister Into Team Of Decorators

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Now that they're footloose and school-free for the summer, organize teen age brother and sister into a decorating team. Ask him to be a one-man carpentering and painting squad and her the sewing department and put them to work on their own rooms, each helping the other. The two working together can do wonders and get twice as much done.

Organize the decorating team, but stay on the bench. Make suggestions and set the budget at the start then retire from the field because they'll enjoy their shared project much more if they make their own rules and play their own way. They have ideas and good ones and definite tastes of their own.

Make sure sister knows how to make the best of a sewing machine center if need be to start her out right with a good understanding of how to do her job easily and well. Her enthusiasm stays high pitched if she knows the time he can fit a long wood top over two small chests to make her a dressing table, and for his room a similar trick can gain him a desk. Ready-to-paint furniture is fine for both rooms because it provides so much furniture for the money as it comes in groupings of units that are easy to arrange. Even the beginner has little trouble painting it or giving it an attractive wood finish.

MENU FOR TOMORROW

COMPANY FOR DINNER
Melon Slices with Lemon Sherried Chicken Saute
Steamed Rice
Cooked Buttered Celery and Carrot Strips
Green Salad
Coffee Ice Beverage

(Recipe for Starred Dish Follows)
"HER ED CHICKEN SAUTE"
Ingredients: Two 3 to 3 1/2-pound frying chickens (cut in serving-size pieces), flour, salt, pepper, paprika, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup cooking sherry, 1 medium-sized onion (minced), 2 tablespoons minced parsley, Sherried Gravy.

Method: Coat chicken with flour seasoned with salt, pepper, and paprika to taste. Heat oil and butter in Dutch oven or other heavy kettle. Brown chicken, a few pieces at a time. When all chicken has been browned pour off and reserve fat remaining in kettle. Return chicken to kettle with sherry, onion, and parsley; cook over low heat 40 to 50 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken from kettle and keep warm. Add any drippings to reserved fat and prepare gravy according to the following recipe. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

REPORT TO PARENTS Handicapped Children May Also Enjoy Summer Camp

By DR. MARTHA M. ELIOT
Chief of Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency

Laughter and shouts echoed around the lake.

Out in deep water, a few children were diving off a float, swimming several feet way, then back again.

A camp counselor was watching a little boy wade into water up to his chest. Finally, the lad stretched out his arms, lifted his feet off the lake floor, and swam unaided for a few strokes. When he pulled his face out of the water, there was a look of wonderment and pleasure on his face.

On shore, a member of the camping staff said, "Isn't it swell they can all get out in the water. That boy has cerebral palsy. This is the first time he's ever been able to swim."

For many of the children in the water were handicapped children. Some children have to get about with the aid of braces. Some have unseem handicaps—speech difficulties, hearing loss. These conditions do not need to rule out summer camping for them. For a handicapped child can get as much—and sometimes more—out of the camping experience than a physically normal child.

This does not mean, of course, that a summer camp may take handicapped children without making some adjustments in campfire routine. And some handicapped children would not be able to participate sufficiently in a camp program to make it enjoyable to them.

Miss Smith Is Honored With Shower

Caroline Smith, bride-elect of George Edward Stagnate of Bennington, Okla., was honored this morning at a pottery shower in the home of Mrs. Coy Nalley, 908 Gregg.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Ray C. Clark and Mrs. H. M. Jarratt.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Nalley, Mrs. Tracy Smith, mother of the bride-elect, and the honoree.

The serving table was laid with a rose rayon cloth. An old-fashioned inverted cake stand filled with red and green plums, green grapes, peaches and berries formed the centerpiece.

Placed at vantage points throughout the entertaining rooms were arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow lilies.

Mrs. Jarratt and Mrs. Smith served.

About 35 attended.

Gamma Globulin Shots Have Been Used Here

Gamma globulin, the blood fraction now being tested in Houston for its effect in preventing polio, has been used on approximately 75 or 100 patients of a Big Spring hospital during the past year.

The inoculations have been made on persons who were definite exposures—relatives or playmates of polio victims. But there has been no definite program of inoculations—three shots have been given only in those cases where they were requested. Doctors explain that there is no way of knowing how effective the shots are in preventing polio, but they are used extensively in the prevention and treatment of measles.

Approximately 18,000 Houston children from 1 to 6 are now receiving gamma globulin injections in a mass experiment being conducted by University of Pittsburgh researchers under the sponsorship of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

Gamma globulin cannot prevent polio, but medical scientists believe it can prevent the paralysis that so often occurs with the disease.

Pyromen, a new drug which scientists hope may be effective against polio, is still in the experimental stage, and while it has not been used locally on polio victims it has been used in the treatment of eye diseases and allergic states.

In some cases whole blood transfusions have been used here in treating polio, but such treatment is mainly for victims whose general condition makes a blood transfusion necessary.

The success of the Houston experiment with gamma globulin won't be known for months, probably early in 1953, but it offers the best immediate hope of preventing paralysis from polio.

Stormy Race In Virginia Hits Climax

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's stormy Democratic primary campaign between economy-minded Sen. Harry F. Byrd and Francis Pickens Miller wound up at the polls today.

Upwards of 250,000 voters were expected to cast their ballots in some of the summer's hottest weather. Polls at the 1,517 voting places across the state open at 6:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and close at 7:30 p.m.

The prize to the winner almost certainly will be the Senate seat which Byrd has now held for 19 years. In Virginia, the Democratic nomination has meant almost certain election.

Miller, 57-year-old former colonel who served on Gen. Eisenhower's staff for three years in World War II, has attacked Byrd's record in the Senate on both foreign and domestic policy.

Byrd, 65, has labeled Miller's campaign one of innuendo and falsehood. He calls the Albemarle candidate "a 100 per cent supporter" of President Truman's policies and has termed "Trumanism" the basic issue of the campaign.

Last night he pledged in his final speech, if re-elected, to continue his long fight on what he termed "reckless, wasteful and irresponsible spending and programs in the national government."

In addition to the senatorial scrap, the state also has two contests for nominations to the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON (AP)—From now on, retail price-cutting on trademarked or brand name merchandise is illegal in any of 45 states if manufacturers first fix prices by agreements with one or more retailers within a state's boundaries.

President Truman yesterday signed a federal fair trade law, ratifying such agreements in states having fair trade laws.

The federal measure requires all merchants in a state with fair trade laws to charge the retail price set by the manufacturer, whether or not they sign the agreement, if at least one retailer has signed such an agreement.

In this respect, it supersedes a 1951 Supreme Court decision that merchants who did not sign the agreements could not be required to observe the fixed price.

Enforcement will be up to the 45 states—all except Missouri, Texas and Vermont having fair trade laws.

Signing the controversial bill, President Truman said it will eliminate "certain unfair competitive practices and thereby will help small businessmen to stay in business."

But, he said it also will "remove some competitive force which otherwise would operate to help keep prices down."

He asked Congress to study the question further next year in the hope—of finding a better solution.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millard Caldwell said yesterday Civil Defense funds voted "by a shocked and aroused Congress" after bombs had fallen on Japan.

The statement by the civil defense administrator was another of a series of his blasts at Congress for voting only $3 million dollars for a Civil Defense program for fiscal 1953. A total of $60 million had been requested.

"By its action, the Congress has put the Civil Defense issue squarely up to the states, the cities and the people who must bear almost the entire cost and responsibility for bringing Civil Defense into being," he said.

Deserter Believes War Unlikely Soon

BONN, Germany, July 15 (AP)—A bushy-haired Russian, described by American officials as the "most knowledgeable" civilian deserter to the West in recent years, told a news conference today he does not believe there will be any major war for several years.

But if "international dissensions between the western nations ever become serious enough to give the Soviets the advantage," he warned, Stalin would not hesitate to throw his troops into war.

The Russian is 32-year-old Eugeny Volchansky, an engineer who worked for six months in East Germany as the official Soviet representative at a factory before he escaped to the West with the aid of friendly Germans. He has applied for political asylum.

"Stalin desires others to fight for his objects," said Volchansky. "If he decides, however, that a favorable time for war has come, he will then use Soviet troops."

"The idea of war is completely repugnant to the Russian people," he said, but added:

"I believe that Russians would fight if they were convinced that they were again defending their homeland. And because the Soviets have the greatest propaganda apparatus known to man, it is highly conceivable that they could be so convinced."

Volchansky told the news conference that one deterrent to the "Soviets" starting a shooting war "is the fact that revolution within the U.S.S.R. would be possible under war conditions."

"Today, revolution is unthinkable because of the entanglement of controls exercised over the people. In wartime, a disturbed and resentful people would be able to liberate themselves upon receiving arms."

If a cold war lasts and a hot war is averted, there is a long-range possibility that revolution without war can occur in the Soviet Union, Volchansky said, adding:

"This can only happen if the people can organize themselves, find adequate leadership, run frightful risks and arm themselves."

He reported active resistance to the Moscow regime among both the military and civilian population in the Soviet Union and in Communist-run East Germany.

As an example, he said industry and transport leaders "make many attempts to fulfill industrial plans. Workers have become skilled at stealing parts from nearby assembly lines and claiming they made them, thus cutting down on total production."

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana held its primary election today with voters choosing party nominees for national, state, city and county offices.

A record 274,929 Montanans were eligible to vote and the forecast for partly cloudy, warm weather promised to bring them out in large numbers.

Rep. Mike Mansfield was running unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate, as was incumbent Sen. Zales N. Ecton for the Republican nomination.

The big fight was for U. S. representative from the state's 1st District. Five men were after the Democratic nomination and three Republicans sought their party's bid.

DALLAS, July 15 (AP)—Sale of 10,399 hundredweight of No. 1 and No. 2 pinto beans for export to Mexico through border points from El Paso to Nogales, Ariz., has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Officials said the sale price was $7 per hundredweight for No. 1 beans and $6.75 for No. 2 grade.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans are moving around more than they used to. The Census Bureau says 31 million moved to a different house in the 12 months ended April, 1951, an increase of four million over the preceding year.

State Candidates Start Tongue-Lashing Tactics

By The Associated Press
Feuding Texas Democrats watched the breach in state party ranks grow wider Tuesday while Republicans continued harmony moves and candidates tongue-lashed their opponents.

With the first Democratic Primary just 11 days away and the Democratic National Convention five days off, there were these developments on the Texas political scene:
1. Gov. Allan Shivers and the chief of the Loyal Democrats, who oppose the Shivers Democratic faction, planned to be in Chicago Thursday for the meeting of the Democratic credentials committee. They planned to make a fight for delegates seating before the committee. Both will claim theirs is the "real" Democratic Party. Shivers' group is unopposed for national nominees. The Loyal Democrat group, led by Fagan Dickson of Austin, is pledged to support the Democratic nominee.

2. Governor Shivers planned a radio and television appearance Tuesday night in Houston in his campaign for re-election. He also planned a broadcast from Chicago, beamed to Texas voters, but details were unavailable.
3. Shivers' opponents for re-election—Ralph Yarborough and Mrs. Allene Traylor—stepped up their campaigning as the primary neared. Yarborough was to be in Waco

Tuesday and in Dallas for a radio and TV appearance Wednesday. Mrs. Traylor, the San Antonio housewife, was to be in Austin Wednesday. Lubbock on Friday, and Odessa on Saturday.
4. The campaign for U. S. Senate—with Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, Rep. Lindley Beckworth, and Atty. E. W. Napier contesting for the seat of retiring Sen. Tom Connally—turned even hotter as all three candidates made a vigorous drive for election.
Beckworth continued his marathon-type campaigning with 12 appearances in 12 towns in 12 1/2 hours Monday and planned a 13 1/2-hour campaign swing Tuesday which would take him to 15 Central Texas localities including Temple, Cameron and Austin.
Daniel made his first state-wide radio address since he formally opened his campaign at Waco on May 29. He predicted a 2-to-1 victory in the primary in his speech broadcast from Austin.

Napier was campaigning hard in West Texas Monday and Tuesday, planned eight appearances Tuesday and was to be in Crowell, Vernon, Electra, and Wichita Falls Wednesday.
5. A group of precinct and county Democratic chairmen organized "to insure that the Democratic nominee for President and vice president will be on the general election ballot in Texas."
Tom Green County Chairman E. E. Murphy of San Angelo said "statements being made by persons claiming to be close to Gov. Shivers suggest a plan to take the Democratic candidates for President and vice president off the ballot and substitute somebody else."

6. Walter McKay, candidate for state agriculture commissioner, charged Commissioner John C. White with "playing politics" and allowing insect control to get seriously out of hand. McKay, formerly a lieutenant of the late Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald, charged White's administration with waste, extravagance and inefficiency.
He said appointments in the department have been on a political basis rather than on the basis of experience.
The Shivers' broadcast Tuesday night was to be over 31 Texas stations. Most of them will carry the address at 8:45 p.m., the time of its origin; some will carry it later.

Shivers is expected to answer some charges made Monday by the Loyal Democratic chieftain, Dickson. Dickson said Monday the credentials committee at Chicago would ask Shivers' delegates individually whether or not they will abide by the decision of the convention as to nominees and platform.
"If the governor refuses to take this pledge," Dickson said, "and thereby repudiates majority rule, the Democrats can expect him to try to disenfranchise them this November by attempting to remove the names of the Democratic nominees for President and vice president from the head of the Democratic ticket."
"If Gov. Shivers says he will support the nominees and platform of the Democratic Party, he will double-cross his Disincrat friends who carried the ball for him in the precinct and county conventions and who sincerely believe that he is their leader."

That was about the same time played by the group led by E. E. Murphy of San Angelo. Murphy said Monday night that about 60 persons attended a meeting Sunday in San Antonio and elected him chairman.

He said the July 11 edition of the Dallas Times Herald carried a statement by Wallace Savage, former Dallas mayor and Dallas County Democratic chairman, which said "the Shivers forces... if not satisfied with the nominees, can come back to Texas and under certain circumstances remove the names of the Democratic nominees from the November ballot and place the names of Eisenhower and his runningmate both as Democratic and Republican candidates."
Savage had charged Monday that Loyal Democrats were leaning on the victory of Texas Eisenhower forces in their attempts to gain seats at the national convention. Savage referred to a Dickson statement saluting the "L-Like-Ike" faction and saying the Loyal Democrats were faced by the same sort of fight.

A leading Republican, State Rep. Edward T. Dicker of Dallas, said he would campaign for the U. S. Senate as a Republican nominee but would nominate Atty. Gen. Daniel on the Republican ticket if the attorney general would permit it. Such cross-filing, legal in many states, is permissible in Texas under the new election codes.
Yarborough in his state-wide broadcast from Beaumont Monday night said Shivers' record did not bear out his platform claims.
He criticized the governor's record on farm-to-market roads and the allocation of gasoline tax money for the schools, and added: "Water is a big issue in Texas. Where does the governor stand? He says he is for water conservation, but in January 1952 he vetoed for the second time a dam for the Corpus Christi area and thereby blocked the growth of that city."
Yarborough also said that as a state senator in 1939 Shivers "voted to saddle a general sales tax on the people of Texas."
Yarborough also spoke at rallies in Beaumont and Port Arthur.
Daniel, in his speech from Austin, flayed his most active opponent, Lindley Beckworth, in some of the hardest-hitting words of the campaign.
He said that because his platform "represents the Texas viewpoint" and did not please "the Washington crowd," there came from Washington "a last-minute candidate with 14 years of alleg-

First Collective Farm Displayed By Red Chinese
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chinese Communists have put their first collective farm in Manchuria on display with a broad hint to China's peasants that it is time they forgot their ancient desire to own land.
The Peiping radio says the collective farm is located on the south bank of the Sungari River, which flows midway between the cities of Changchun and Harbin.
A broadcast heard here boasts that "nation-wide interest is focused" on this collective farm and that letters of inquiry are "pouring into the collective from all over the country."
The Communists have made no secret of their ultimate aim to follow land redistribution with collectivization. The Manchurian farm was their first experiment, and the Reds admit they had trouble.
Peiping said the farm was established four years ago and "the peasants did not take easily to the new ways" of pooling their efforts and working on land owned by the state.
Some of these peasants "broke away from the mutual aid teams," presumably from the Communist farm bosses. What happened to these peasants Peiping did not say. But a lot of people have been shot in China for less, or sent off to slave labor camps.
"Ingrained ideas of centuries, in fact of thousands of years in China," said the broadcast, "are not so easily overcome in a few months."
It took a year for the farm bosses to pound into the peasants' heads that the land "belonged to the state and it was obviously unfair that people with larger families—should receive more land—should receive more (wages) than others who worked harder."
But the Communists persevered, and today, says Peiping, there are 81 families on the collective farm.

ance to the Washington viewpoint."
"Although they have never had the slightest hope of winning this race," the attorney general added, "some federal officials and their friends want the Washington viewpoint to show a serious case of resistance to the political rebellion which Texans have in their hearts."
Napier challenged Daniel's claim to being the only candidate in the Senate race with a war record. The Wichita Falls attorney said he did not see how that qualifies a man for Senator, "but in view of his statement, I humbly submit my World War record."

Foot-Mouth Study Plan Takes Shape
By The Associated Press
Establishment of a federal research laboratory to combat foot-and-mouth disease among cattle appeared nearer today.
At New London, Conn., a committee of dairymen approved a federal government plan to set up a research station on Plum Island, in Suffolk County, N. Y., for study of the disease in cattle.
And in Orono, Maine, the University of Maine's dean of agriculture said the only question on establishment of a federal laboratory to combat the disease was a satisfactory site.
The preferred site, Dean Arthur

L. Deering said, is government-owned Plum Island, near the eastern tip of Long Island.
The New London County dairy meeting, saying it represented 900 dairymen and nine million dollars worth of dairy business in Connecticut, voted 10-2 in favor of the Plum Island site.
Opposing factions said their main complaint was the possibility of the deadly disease spreading to cattle herds on the mainland.
Some farmers backed an idea that the stations should be set up on either the Mexican or Canadian borders in joint operations between the governments involved.
The hearings on the matter moved Tuesday to Saybrook, Conn., and on Thursday and Friday to Greenport and Bridgehampton, L. I., respectively.
Meanwhile, representatives from many state university agriculture schools voiced opinions favoring the Plum Island site.
Leroy W. Van Kleeck of the Connecticut State Department of Health said he was satisfied that the research laboratory would not pollute Long Island Sound.
The island is situated eight miles off shore.
Dr. M. S. Shahan, director of the hoof-and-mouth disease research in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said his office was convinced the laboratory could be located safely at any point in the country, but Congress had specified a coastal island.

Two Guardsmen Are Promoted
The Big Spring National Guard battery has two new officers, both elevated from enlisted ranks.
Elton Wallace and Johnnie Hooper wore their second lieutenant bars for the first time at the Monday night drill of the Guard unit. Both received their commissions following interviews Sunday with members of a promotion-examination board in Abilene.
Lt. Wallace was promoted from the rank of sergeant. He has been a member of the Big Spring Guard unit, Battery B of the 132nd Field Artillery Battalion, for the past two years, having transferred here from an infantry organization which he joined in Stephenville while attending John Tarleton State College.
Lt. Hooper has been a member of the local Guard battery since its formation in 1948. A sergeant first class prior to receiving his commission, he has served as chief of an artillery firing section and in other capacities.
Promotion of the two enlisted men brings to six the number of officers in the local Guard organization. Others are Capt. T. A. Harris, battery commander, First Lt. Charles K. Vaughn, Lt. Pete Jones, and W-O B. L. Eggleston.

THIRTEEN CASES SO FAR

County May Be Hit By Polio Harder Than It Was In 1949

Polio promises to strike Howard County harder in 1952 than in any year since 1949 when the county had probably its sharpest incidence of the disease.

Already diagnosed this year have been 13 cases, three more than in all of 1951 and only three less than the 1950 total. However, 24 more residents must contract the disease if the county is to equal the 1949 toll of 37 infections.

Though hard hit by the crippling disease, Howard County has a better record than many portions of the state where polio is spreading at an epidemic pace. Houston has the state's worst outbreak of the malady, which also nears the epidemic stage in Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other points.

On a nation-wide basis, there was more polio during the first half of this year than in the same period in 1949, worst epidemic year in history, according to the National Foundation for Infantile Pa-

Daughter Of Revolution Pioneer Shuns Kremlin

By ANDREW NAHAS

NAPLES, Fla.—The daughter of Mikhail Bakunin, a pioneer of the Russian Revolution, wants nothing to do with the men in the Kremlin today.

Now 75 years old and gray haired, little (five-foot) Maria Bakunin stamped her foot with rage when asked to comment upon the Kremlin masters and their attitude towards her father's ideas.

"I want nothing to do with those men. I know nothing. I cannot give interviews about things which I have lost contact," she cried.

An Italian government pensioner, Maria Bakunin is now "living quietly among the things of science." She has spent much of her life in Italy studying chemistry, and later teaching it.

Interviewed in one of Naples University chemistry examination chambers, she carefully shunned expressing opinions upon the present rules of Russia.

She recalled her only visit to Russia was in 1933 with other students sent there on mission.

"We went around," she said, "but I still have nothing to do with those people."

Her wide, blue eyes, which have not lost their fire with age, sparkled as she recalled how her father, persecuted, fled first to Siberia and then to Switzerland with his family. He died in Switerland and is buried in Bern's cemetery.

"There were three of us," Maria said, "my sister Sofia, who graduated as a doctor and now is retired and lives with her husband in Naples, and my brother, who died years ago."

She said her husband, Dr. Ollolago, died a few years ago. And as she said it she spread her hands in a futile gesture of resignation.

Sculptor Performs Impossible Feat

VISALIA, Calif.—Experts told Mrs. Hester Sibley it was impossible to hand-sculpture porcelain figures, but they were a little late with their advice—she had already made a hobby of it.

Porcelain is a little harder to work with than ceramic clay, said Mrs. Sibley, because it dries out faster and requires a higher temperature for baking. But she found nothing impossible about hand-sculpturing her beautiful figurines.

Her pieces of porcelain retain sharper detail than ceramics and also have a pleasing translucent appearance.

Leprosy is far more prevalent in hot, damp climates than in dry areas.

Directory Has A Variety Of Weather Listed

By JO HILL

You, too, may make your own weather if you thumb through the local telephone and city directories.

For within their covers are a variety of names that are guaranteed to make you switch from cool to hot.

Take for instance the subject of rain, and it needs to be more than a subject. In the directories you have Rainey, Rains, Rainwater and Rainbolt. Probably no mere mortal could explain the phenomenon of a rainbolt, but in this sandman's paradise we could stand one.

In wetter climates, to go along with the rain, you would have hail. And Big Spring can't be outdone. There are 12 Hale families listed in the telephone book and 17 in the city directory.

Snow in July? Certainly, just turn to the S's and you'll find them listed. But not Jack Frost. In fact, there simply isn't any Frost hereabouts.

One name that carries a connotation of ventilation and comfort is Ayres.

On the other hand, if temperatures get the upper hand, you may find such names as Summers, Sears, Fry and Frizelle. Well you frizzle in the heat, don't you?

Perhaps the most appropriate of all the names for the current season is Parchman. That's us.

This directory search is too strenuous; think I'll get a conditioner and see if it will make me a little Cooley?

Students Should Seek Deferments From Draft Now

College students who want draft deferments for the next school year should advise Selective Service officials of their wishes, Local Board No. 71 reminds.

To secure deferments, students must submit written applications with their local board prior to classification or re-classification. They also should request officials of their colleges to furnish draft board with a college student certificate (SSS Form No. 108).

Only persons eligible for the deferments are students with at least one year of college since grades for the past year must be considered by draft officials in granting the induction delays.

Showers Revive Hope For Averting Complete Agricultural Failure

Showers playing about this area have missed some places almost completely while pouring out young deluges on others. This, of course, does not mean that a drought is broken, or even thoroughly dented. But the presence of precipitation in any degree does preserve a modicum of hope that the year's agricultural efforts will not be a complete blank. Given some other timely showers, there are a few thousand acres which would make some cotton although the total would be insignificant beside that of previous years. More hope, however, is offered in the possibility of getting feed into the ground and up to a good stand. Here again repeated showers would be needed, but with a few timely breaks from the weather, the county and area could come through with a pretty fair yield. There's not the money to be made in feed as is the case with cotton, but the demand should be enhanced by the tragic state of ranges. And ranges can come in as perhaps the greatest beneficiaries of all. Most of the pasture land in this area is terribly sick. Showers may keep alive the roots and if others come, there could be some winter grass made. This is desperately needed because most ranchers who moved stock out to Mid-West and Northern pastures did so in the hope of bringing the herds back to winter. A medium of grass "making" before frost, plus water in earthen tanks, would be a lifesaver to hard pressed ranchers.

If You Want To Test Your Memory Then Recite Names Of 48 States

We were checking a list of the 48 states to see how each was for President, and there was one missing. Now, we are an old hand when it comes to calling the states in their proper order, having once used this device as a soporific; but we spent ten minutes trying to spot the absent member of the Union on this list, and finally had to give up and teach for the World Almanac. Oddly enough, the missing state was Kansas, Ike's legal residence. Millions of Americans heard the names of the states mentioned more often last week than in four years. The various roll calls in the Republican convention saw to that. They will get another earful of those fascinating names again next week, when the Democrats take over the amphitheatre in Chicago. It's a tough assignment to call of the names of all 48 in sequence or out of sequence, unless you've made a special effort to commit the list to memory. If you don't think so, try it. Sit down with pencil and paper and write down the names. Don't make any bets that you can do it in thirty minutes; don't even bet you can name all 48 at all. We will even help you by listing the initials. There are three that begin with A and three with C. Four letters of the alphabet are missing entirely. The rest of the list follows: D-1, F-1, G-1, I-4, K-2, L-1, M-3, N-3, O-3, P-1, R-1, S-2, T-2, U-1, V-2, W-4. Take it from there. Here is another hint: Try to visualize a map, and check over each region to see if you've named all the states in that area. Another: Memorize the number of each initial used, and check them off on your fingers. If you want to put your memory to a further test, try to recite the capitals of the states.

It Took Considerable Pressure To Get GI Bonus Bill Adopted

WASHINGTON.—Congress was in such a hurry to pack up and go to the conventions that legislation was ground out in wholesale lots without investigation or debate. Most senators and congressmen had no idea what they were voting on. As a result, several sleepers slipped through, as follows: TAX GRAVY—Senator George of Georgia introduced a complicated amendment to the excess-profits tax supposed to adjust the rates for fabricators of strategic metals. Significantly, however, the amendment was tailored to reduce the taxes of one brass company of Bridgeport, Herman Steinkraus, outgoing president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. George has long been close to Ellsworth Alford, tax adviser of the Chamber of Commerce. CLAIMS GRAVY—Congressman Beall of Maryland tried to slip through a bill, authorizing the Willmore Engineering Company of Baltimore to collect a $244,000 claim. It so happens that the claim had already been turned down by the Court of Claims and the U. S. District Court. In fact, the claim was so fantastic that the courts ordered the FBI to investigate the Willmore Company for alleged fraud. Yet Congressman Beall tried to get Congress to pay the claim that the FBI is now investigating as fraudulent. Fortunately he failed.

AIRLINE GRAVY—The big airlines almost booty trapped the small airlines with a bill that would have put them out of business. It would have allowed the Civil Aeronautics Board to slap $1,000 fines on the small, unwhipped lines for minor infractions of rules. For five years, the C.A.B. has faithfully followed big airlines pressure in trying to squeeze small lines out of business. But the courts have consistently stuck up for the little airlines. The new bill would have circumvented the courts, and allowed the C.A.B. to fine the little lines. The bill was drafted by Ed Sweeney, well known as the big airlines' friend on the Senate Aviation Subcommittee staff. In order to fool the senators, Sweeney prepared a report declaring that the comptroller-general and attorney general were in favor of the bill. This was not true. In the end, Senator Sparkman exposed the sleeper and blocked it on the Senate floor. TAX PLUMES—Senator Martin of Pennsylvania pushed through a tax amendment made to order for two companies—the Budd Company of Philadelphia and the Sangamo Electric Company of Springfield, Illinois. All these bills were introduced the last minute without a hearing—in the hope that they would be overlooked and enacted into law in the smoke and confusion of Congress' last days. PAY-TOILETS LOBBY—One bill which didn't quite sneak through was the amendment to benefit the Pennsylvania Railroad and increase its pay-toilets charge, from five to ten cents despite an OPS price ceiling. The man who pulled wires to pass this amendment was none other than Clark Clifford, and the senator who went to bat for the pay-toilets was Allan Frear of Delaware. Though the railroad pushed through its pay-toilet hike, it also wanted exemption from the $285,000 triple damage suit brought against it by OPS for violating price ceilings on pay-toilets. This suit was also introduced by "pay-toilets" Frear, however, though Congress agreed to dime toilets it refused to knock out the law suit. Unlike the Pennsylvania the New York Central had increased pay-toilets ten cents in the Grand Central station prior to the OPS ruling, but reduced the rate after the ruling was made.

In contrast to the way private bills benefiting a few people were sneaked through Congress, here is the play-by-play story of a tough, 2-year-battle to secure a combat bonus for G.I.'s in Korea. Almost two years ago, September 1950, this columnist pointed to the unfairness of a service pay system which gave extra risk bonuses to pilots and submarine crews but none to the boys in the foxholes. Senator Tom Connally of Texas took up the cudgels by inserting the column in the Congressional Record, following which Senator Dick Russell of Georgia introduced a bill giving a $50-a-month combat bonus. Russell did his best to push the bill, but was finally defeated in his own Armed Services Committee. At this point, three young senators took up the cudgel, for the G.I.'s—Moody of Michigan, Long of Louisiana, and Monroney of Oklahoma, all Democrats. Since under Senate rules it is impossible for the chairman of a committee to appeal a bill to the full Senate if it has been defeated in his committee, Long, with Russell's blessing, made such an appeal. He brought the combat bonus bill out on the Senate floor, where it was defeated. Some of the same senators who maneuvered backstage to slip private bills through Congress during the recent session voted against the G.I.'s in Korea. However, Senator Moody, undaunted, adopted a new tack. In order to get a new vote he reduced the bonus from $50 to $45 a month, then demanded a roll call. This meant that every senator would have to stand up and be counted for or against the G.I.'s. Naturally, some wanted a roll-call vote, so the combat bonus was passed at $45 monthly. However, in the House of Representatives the bill was killed. Republican economists turned thumbs down. However, Senator Moody filed notice that when the military appropriations bill came up he would move to suspend the rules in order to attach a "foxhole rider" to the bill. This is a difficult thing to do, because the "foxhole rider," or combat bonus, meant completely new legislation and would require a two-thirds vote of approval if a single senator objected.

There Were More Factors Than One At Work Last Week In GOP's Convention

WASHINGTON.—One of the best labor-saving devices in the field of ideas is to settle for a single answer as the only answer to a complex problem. It has been tried in explaining Gen. Eisenhower's victory. But there were more factors than one at work in Chicago.

For example, it has been said Eisenhower's win was the triumph of the isolationist wing of the Republican party. Isolationism versus internationalism was certainly an element in the delegates' thinking but surely not the only one. Although Sen. Taft denies being an isolationist, some of his supporters was, if the word has any meaning. But isolationism vs. internationalism is not new: Every Republican convention from 1940 on has chosen an internationalist to head the party ticket. It has been said flatly that Eisenhower's victory was the triumph of the younger wing of the party over the Old Guard. At Chicago it was. Whether it's a permanent triumph will be shown in Congress next year if the Republicans win a majority of the seats. But there were other, and important, forces working in Chicago: a large chunk of personal self-interest among the delegates themselves; morality; some smart political tactics and some wretched ones; perhaps some symbolism; and faith; and hate. It is possible a majority of the 1,200 delegates actually preferred Taft, who has been a longtime party faithful, to Eisenhower, who is a Johnny-come-lately in Republican politics, because a majority may have felt closer to the senator's thinking than to the general's. But for many of the delegates—those holding city or state offices or looking for them this year—there was a practical problem: which, Taft or Eisenhower, seemed to have the better chance of winning in November. The answer was important to the delegates with a stake in jobs, for a Republican sweep would carry them in, a Democratic sweep might knock them out. And the public opinion polls, plus Eisenhower's showing in the primaries, indicated he had a lively chance of winning. So it's possible that a lot of delegates who may have preferred Taft, personally, voted Democratic sweep might knock them out.

Guests Appear When You Purchase A Country Home

NEW YORK, July 15 (AP)—The first thing a couple does after buying a place in the country is to start having week-end guests. This is because they make a surprising discovery. They find that in the snug retreat they yearned for "to get away from it all" they have a new problem—they can't get away from each other either. So they start inviting week-end guests. And that serves a double purpose: 1.—It gives their rural Eden the thorns that every paradise needs. 2.—It provides them with someone to talk to and criticize—besides each other. Nothing brings a host and hostess closer together than their mutual disapproval of their house guests. The relationship between a week-end guest and his host and hostess is one of the most complicated rituals of American civilization. What is the problem of the guest? He has a double duty. He must be neither a complete bore nor an utter bore. And yet he must make himself at least slightly ridiculous, or those who entertain him will feel cheated. People who own country places love to trade tales of the strange you sit down on her antique sofa and break it. 3.—Bring a gift they can use to make their country home more livable. A small station wagon is always acceptable. 4.—Do something zany, such as standing on your head after every meal and explaining: "It's the only way I've found to confuse my ulcer." That'll give them something to tell their neighbors after you have gone. 5.—Observe these simple rules, and the word will get around that you are an ideal week-end guest. People will soon be fighting to have you handy to a guest who wants to visit them—again and again.

Mildred Dunnock Quite A Decorator For An Actress

NEW YORK—Miss Mildred Dunnock, it can be said without fear or favor, is the best paper-hanger in the entire acting profession. She was 24 walls of Dunnock-bung paper to prove it at her home in Chappaqua, which is in New York's swank suburban Westchester County. Miss Dunnock, who played Willy Loman's wife in the stage and screen versions of "Death of a Salesman," and currently is leading a very busy life between television and summer stock, is a dedicated house-fixer-over. So is her banker-husband, Keith Urmy. Their most recent effort has been the Herculean task of converting an 80-year-old red barn into a most attractive summer home. In addition to her role as chief architect of the project, her special contributions have involved sanding down the panelling of the living room, painting the kitchen ("Wrong color, because I picked it off a card instead of mixing it myself") and paper-hanging four bedrooms and two baths. Miss Dunnock is a little bitter about the way one of the rooms turned out. She picked up the paper—a real bargain, she thought—and didn't realize until it was all up that it was a bargain because the design was a tiny bit off center. It makes her a little dizzy everytime she goes into the room. "Unfortunately, I probably never will get around to changing it," she said. "I like to do things, but not those things."

What Happened To The Gun That Actually Killed Billy The Kid?

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

At four o'clock in the morning on this day, 71 years ago, the slumbers of Justice of the Peace Alejandro Segura of Fort Sumner, Lincoln County, Territory of New Mexico, were interrupted by an excited messenger who told the official that Billy the Kid was dead—that Sheriff Patrick Floyd Garrett, or Juan Largo, as the Spanish-speaking people called him, had at last made good his promise to rid the Territory of the outlaw. Segura hastily summoned a coroner's jury and they went with him to the home of Luz B. Maxwell where they found the body of William Bonney, alias Antrim, alias The Kid, on the floor where he had fallen. The little back-toothed killer had evidently been exterminated before midnight, or on July 14, 1881, according to the testimony of Pete Maxwell, principal witness before the jury. The Kid died then and there because he talked too much. It had always been his practice before to shoot first and ask questions afterward. This time he asked a question first, given in Spanish. Pete Maxwell said he had been in bed in his room and that about midnight Garrett, who was five inches more than six feet tall, entered his room and sat down on the side of the bed to talk with him. A short time after Garrett sat down The Kid came in the room, sensed the presence of some person other than Pete there and said: "Who is it? Who is it?" The question was punctuated with two shots from Pat's Colt and The Kid had been AS-softened and put in that state in which he would no more softly sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Just past 21, with 21 notches on his gun, The Kid was buried in a borrowed white shirt, that he never returned and which was much too large for him, in a thrown together wooden coffin made by a convenient handyman around town. His remains were planted alongside those of Tom O'Folliard and Tom Bowdre, members of his gang who had also been too slow on the draw. The cemetery where these Lincoln County War veterans are buried is a few miles southeast of present-day Fort Sumner and not far from the ranch of Cotton Lee, well known steer and calf roper. Also buried there are others including the fabulous Lucien B. Maxwell, father of Pete, and former owner of that land empire known as the Beaplien-Miranda Land Grant, but better known as the Maxwell Land Grant. Pat Garrett went on to Santa Fe where Governor Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur" paid him the $500 reward offered for The Kid, but that money didn't do "Long John" a bit of good when a few years later he met up with a man named Wayne Brazell and Brazell beat him to the draw, killed him, was tried and acquitted, all of which goes to prove that no matter how fast a man may be with a gun there is always one who is faster, and in time he'll show up. Personally, I've always wondered what really happened to the gun with which Garrett tucked The Kid into Eternity's blankets. I've seen three different guns represented as being the one, and I've heard of a dozen others. The latest is an old fellow up in Oklahoma who claims he has it. He claims Garrett gave it to him a number of years ago when the Oklahoman went to Albuquerque and killed a man in a family feud. We know what happened to The Kid, we know what happened to Patrick F. Garrett, we wonder what actually happened to the gun. Anyway, it was 71 years ago this afternoon and maybe just about the hour you're reading this, that pretty little Deluvina Maxweh, The Kid's sweetheart, walked up to Pat Garrett and shrieked at him in plain English, as The Kid had taught her, "You — — you!" Then in her native tongue she accused, "You didn't dare kill him face to face!"

Ike's Victory Only Tentative; People Yet Have To Be Shown

Reading the returns, there is, I would say, no mistake how thin is the margin, how precarious and tentative as yet is the victory that the Eisenhower forces have won in Chicago. They have pried open the door, which the Old Guard would have nailed shut for keeps, through which the Republicans of the modern age can come in to rejuvenate the party. But the door is not wide open. The rejuvenation and reinforcement of this minority party is still only a possibility and a prospect. If the victory in the convention is not consolidated in the campaign and confirmed by a victory in November, it is most probable that the control of the party will fall right back into the hands of the Old Guard, then so embittered that a man of Sen. Taft's fundamentally humane and liberal instincts would no longer be able to lead them. The stakes are enormous, and if the Eisenhower campaign is to be effective, the first beginning is to examine coolly what kind of victory has been won in Chicago and how it came to be won. This is a matter of judgment, of course, and no one will wish to form a firm conclusion until the experienced correspondents and observers, who have been in Chicago, have had time to catch their breath and to sum up their findings. What I have got to say, writing while Eisenhower is in fact just being nominated, is a first personal impression. As such, I would suggest, a cool examination will probably show that Eisenhower has been the rallying point, not the leader or the evangelist, of powerful forces long operating within the Republican party. He has not, of course, been drafted by the convention. Had he been, he would have been nominated by acclamation. But it is correct, and I think illuminating and important, to say that he was drafted to become a candidate around whom those opposed to the Old Guard could form a coalition. The serious Eisenhower movement is not something new in this campaign. It was not conjured up out of nothing by

Gov. Dewey. He has only served it well. This movement is the lineal descendant of an unbroken line of that wing of the party which was dominant until 1912. It is the wing of the party which has been modern, progressive, and conscious of America's emergence in the 20th Century as a world power. It is plain silliness to talk of these Republicans as New Dealers. They stem not from Franklin but from Theodore Roosevelt, and ever since 1912 they have been engaged in a struggle to recover the party leadership from which they were ousted by a ruthless and corrupt seizure of power. Since 1940 they have always been, when it came to the test, the strongest faction in the party. In each convention they have been able to nominate their man. But because their man could not win the election, they have never been able to achieve genuine control of the party. For this reason, except for the few months of the campaign every four years, the record and the reputation of the party have been made by the Old Guard. Indeed the capture of the nomination by Wilkie and Dewey never brought with it effective control of the party's central machinery, of its public purposes between elections, and of its actions in Congress. Gen. Eisenhower's victory is as yet as superficial as that of his predecessors. Once again the nomination has been wrested from the Old Guard. Beyond that there is only a magnificent chance not to miss once again a splendid but elusive opportunity. The opportunity will be lost, I believe, unless immediately, persistently and powerfully and convincingly, Gen. Eisenhower uses his victory to put the Eisenhower leaders in full control of the campaign. Otherwise despite all the excitement in Chicago, the Old Guard will sit out this defeat as they have so many others—and almost surely the election, which in the best of circumstances will be difficult to win, will be lost.

Water Polo Is Popular Sport

Last time I spoke about the sport of polo which men play while they ride so-called "polo ponies." These animals are tough and fiery, and usually live through the heavy jars and bumps which they suffer. Their owners may ride them at speeds of from 20 to 25 miles an hour when they strike against equally speedy ponies coming from the opposite direction. Other forms of polo have come into play. I am thinking of roller polo and water polo. In roller polo, men on roller skates use curved sticks to strike at a bright red rubber ball (the size of a baseball). This game is on the order of hockey. More popular is the sport of water polo. This has been a feature of the Olympic games at 10 meetings, including the Olympic meeting of four years ago. Water polo has been played for more than 70 years. It is a swimming sport in which teams try to make goals with balls about the size of basketballs. In early years of the sport, so-called "soft ball polo" was played. This was one of the roughest of all contests. There were six players on each side, and a great deal of tackling, butting and charging took place. It was common for players to be forced under water and kept there for 30 seconds or longer. That kind of harsh contest has given way to modern hard ball polo, which is played with leather-covered balls about eight and a half inches in diameter. A standard pool for this sport is at least 57 feet wide and 60 feet long; the length may be as great as 90 feet. Great Britain won the first Olympic water polo contest. Then came a victory for the United States. Later Olympic contests in this sport have been won by Great Britain, Germany, France, Hungary and Italy. In addition to standard water polo, men have developed a form of the sport in which small motorboats are employed. The ball is struck with sticks while the contestants stand in their boats. At any moment a player may fall over the side, or overturn a boat; in such a case he must be ready to do a bit of swimming. For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook. Tomorrow: Weight Lifters. # Russell Expecting A Fifth Ballot Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia says he expects the Democratic party to write a civil rights plank which "won't please some of the folks in my part of the country."

But the Georgia aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination adds that the plank also "won't please what you might call the extreme liberals."

"I think we're going to get a platform at Chicago that we can all stand on," Russell said here yesterday at a news conference.

He also reiterated previous statements that he expected no Dixie revolt similar to that of 1948.

Russell commented on the Democratic presidential nomination battle at his news meeting, and later last night on the Columbia Broadcasting System's "Chronoscope" television show.

These were some of his comments on the various candidates:

Himself — He will get the Democratic nomination by the fifth ballot and will be "the man to beat Gen. Eisenhower."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee — He will lead on the first ballot but will falter afterwards.

Vice President Alben Barkley — his age (74) is against him, but if he were 10 or 12 years younger he undoubtedly would be nominated.

Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman — He is the only candidate for the full civil rights program and wants "a double dose" of the New Deal and "Fair Deal."

Russell said he would have 300 votes on the first ballot, second only to Kefauver. The latest Associated Press tabulation has Kefauver on top with 252 1/2 votes, Russell next with 117 1/2.

The Georgia senator will go to Chicago today, first stopping off at Washington.

Chest To Use Same Plan For Its Campaign

The same organizational direction that brought the Howard County Community Chest campaign to successful conclusions in the past two years will be employed by the Chest again this fall.

Directors of the Chest Monday concluded an agreement with the National Fund-Raising Services, Inc., of Fort Worth. This organization provides clerical and executive organization standards to direct local volunteers in the fund solicitation. It operated here in 1950 and 1951, and is returning on the same basis as for the past two years.

The Chest directors agreed that organizational activities should be started about September 1, and that the first two weeks in October will be devoted to the actual solicitation.

The Community Chest ordinarily has raised, in one drive, sufficient funds to meet budgets of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA and Salvation Army. This year it has agreed to consider a budget request from the local USO organization, and indicated that a hearing would also be given to the public campaign. The Chest's aim is to combine, insofar as possible, all welfare appeals.

Believe Argument Prompted Slaying

WASHINGTON (AP)—An argument that flared up in an attractive Pentagon employe walked nude into the living room of her apartment, apparently unaware a man was painting it, is believed to have led to her strangulation-murder.

The victim was Miss Cordis A. Whitman, 29, whose fully clothed body was found in a bedroom closet of her apartment yesterday, two days after her murder. She came to Washington about six years ago from Cumberland, Md.

Police have charged Harry Clifford Porter, 24, airman 3-c attached to the 1025th Air Force Squadron, with her death. He is a native of Casper, Wyo.

Police report this is the story they have pieced together:

Porter, a gangling, bespectacled Korean War veteran, apparently had taken the job of painting the apartment to pick up some extra money. He was hired by the apartment manager.

He entered Miss Whitman's apartment Saturday and began painting. Apparently not knowing Porter was there, Miss Whitman walked nude from her shower into the living room. Angry words followed, and she went into her bedroom.

Porter told police she kept opening her bedroom door and he kept shutting it, and later she came out and "jumped" at him. At this point, he said, he suffered a dizzy spell, and remembers nothing until he saw her lying on the floor, dead.

He then picked up her body, he said, and moved it into a bedroom closet.

The body was not found until yesterday after Pentagon friends of Miss Whitman, knowing she had a heart ailment, became alarmed when she failed to report for work.

Porter was arrested when he returned to the building last night to continue painting.

Henderson Found Guilty By Jury

AMARILLO, July 15 (AP)—Former Mayor C. M. Henderson of Farwell, Tex., has been found guilty on 47 counts of a 53-count indictment charging misuse of government-owned grain.

The Federal Court verdict was returned yesterday after 2 hours and 45 minutes of jury deliberation.

Henderson's defense attorney, R. A. Wilson of Amarillo, said he would file a motion for a new trial. Sentencing of the 61-year-old grainman was deferred until the retrial motion is heard.

Henderson was charged with converting large amounts of grain owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation to his own use.

He was found not guilty on six counts that involved a quantity of grain he allegedly shipped to an elevator at New Braunfels, Tex.

The week-long trial was held in the court of Federal District Judge Joe B. Dooley.

Henderson was free on the original $5,000 bond set under indictment.

Webb AFB Is Put In Albuquerque Engineer District

DALLAS, July 15 (AP)—Construction responsibilities for six Texas military installations has been shifted by the Corps of Army Engineers among its district engineers.

Col. Herbert B. Vogel, Southwest division engineer, made the announcement yesterday and said the transfers were made to balance work loads. The transfer, he said, will be completed by Aug. 4.

Bryan Air Force Base, Bryan; Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin; and Camp Swift, Bastrop, will be moved from the Galveston district to the Fort Worth district.

Switched from the Fort Worth district were Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, and Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, both to the Albuquerque district; and the Longhorn Ordnance Works, Marshall, to the Tulsa districts.

Negroes Protest Teacher Dismissal

SULPHUR SPRINGS, July 15 (AP)—Officers were prepared today to forestall any demonstration at the Douglas High School for Negroes over the principal's refusal to reinstate two women teachers.

A crowd of about 150 Negroes milled around the school yesterday protesting the action of Principal W. B. Jones.

Jones and all the teachers at the school are Negroes.

Hopkins County Sheriff Evers Rasura said the crowd dispersed quietly when ordered to do so. One Negro woman was arrested and charged with disturbing the peace, Rasura said.

A petition was presented last week to the county school board, asking that Jones be forced to rehire the two teachers, and that a parent-teachers association be formed at Douglas High School.

The board granted the request for the P-TA, but backed Jones in his refusal to reinstate the two women teachers because of what he called "non-co-operation."

Amarillo Man Is Serving 5th Term In Brockton Jail

BROCKTON, Mass., July 15 (AP)—Louis B. Conley, 31, Amarillo, Tex., is serving his fifth consecutive jail term here for contempt of the Plymouth County Probate Court in a child custody case.

Conley neared completion of his fourth six-months jail term on contempt charges when he was given an additional four months yesterday. His ex-wife, Lucille B. Conley, of Brockton, complained that Conley had not yet returned their seven-year-old daughter, Lynette, despite a court order.

The girl was taken to Amarillo in 1946 by Conley. Recently he was convicted in Plymouth County Superior Court on a kidnapping charge. He was given a three-to-five-year state prison term on the conviction and the sentence suspended for five years.

The probate court order Conley has defied calls for him to contribute $20 weekly support to his wife and two children and to return Lynette to her mother.

Conley has been quoted by officials as saying he would "rot in jail" before returning the girl to Brockton.

Jet Is Damaged On Take-Off Try

A Lockheed F-80C jet fighter sustained considerable damage in an emergency landing at Webb Air Force Base just before noon Monday.

The pilot, Capt. J. W. Gosnell, 132nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron, Dow Air Force Base, Maine, was uninjured.

Capt. Gosnell was taking off from the field here when mechanical trouble developed. He elected to set the plane back on the ground rather than hazard the take-off. With the landing gear retracted, the craft skidded a considerable distance before coming to a stop. It was damaged extensively. Cause of the trouble has not been determined.

Napier Makes Another Visit To Big Spring

E. W. Napier, who is beating well-worn paths across Texas in his campaign for U. S. Senator, paid Big Spring a second visit Monday.

Returning from South Texas and from Valley points, he was headed into the Panhandle and toward the North Texas metropolitan centers. To his platform calling for immediate settlement of the Korean war and halting of global spending, Napier added another position:

"He would not have any military alliances with any other nation. Rather, friendly nations wishing to provide their own security would be given aid."

"History teaches us that military alliances have never brought peace," he said. For that reason, he would pull out of NATO and the European community defense.

Eisenhower's nomination to top the GOP ticket proved his contention, he said.

"If the European community defense had a ghost of a chance," he asserted, "Eisenhower would have stayed with it. That is a far bigger responsibility than being the President of the United States. Eisenhower was the only man whose international popularity and organizational ability could have put it across—but he couldn't."

"The U. N. would have been the salvation of the world, but we have decided to supplant it with military alliances and have to all practical purposes killed it because we could not control it."

Napier, who speaks from the top of his car because he finds he can reach more people that way, is under no delusions about people flocking to hear a candidate. He says he never makes a "set speech" unless "I can find a crowd already assembled. Then I make them promise to stay if I make a little talk and sometimes there are as many when I get through as when I start."

Other planks which he stressed are to "debunk the myth of a Russian threat to our security"; work against "the government's penny-pinching attitude toward compensation and pensions for disabled veterans and servicemen's widows"; and "fight for the rights of the laboring man, the farmer and all minority groups."

Damage Suit Filed Against T&P Road

TYLER, July 15 (AP)—A $50,000 damage suit against the Texas & Pacific Railroad was set for hearing here today.

The suit was filed yesterday in Federal Court by Mrs. Zella A. Koepke, Texarkana, who alleged her husband was fatally injured May 4 when a derailed freight car fell on him.

Truck, Train Collide

CHILTON, July 15 (AP)—Earl Johnson, 19, Cameron, was killed near here last night when his watermelon-loaded truck and a freight train collided at an intersection on U. S. Highway 77.

Marine's Return Is Asked For Funeral

NEW YORK (AP)—A U. S. Marine's mother is asking for his return from Korea to attend the funeral of his slain fiancée, mysteriously shot in a Columbia University office.

An unidentified gunman killed pretty 20-year-old Eileen Fahey yesterday as she sat at her desk reading a letter from the Marine, Pfc. Ronald Leo, also 20. Two other letters from Leo, both unopened, lay on the desk.

Police pressed the search for both the gunman and a motive in the baffling case in which the slayer announced his deed to several persons. A professor saw him, but was afraid to stop him.

Leo's mother, Mrs. Margaret Leo, sent a telegram last night to Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., head of the Marines, in Washington. She asked that her son be granted emergency furlough for his fiancée's funeral, scheduled Friday.

Deputy Chief Police Inspector James B. Leggett, working with 35 detectives, discounted the possibility that the slaying was the result of a love triangle.

Friends and relatives, among 75 persons questioned last night, all told the same story: that "Ronnie is the only boy she ever went out with," that she was devoted to her family, that she was a faithful Roman Catholic churchgoer.

"All we have at present is that somebody shot and killed her," Leggett said. "We have no motive."

The shooting occurred in a ninth floor office used by the American Physical Society, for which Miss Fahey worked as a secretary.

Ten Towns Bid For Lake Water

FORT WORTH, July 15 (AP)—Early bids for water from Lavan Reservoir, only 80 per cent completed, have been placed by ten Northeast Texas towns with the Corps of Engineers.

The reservoir is under construction between Wylie and Lavan on the Trinity River's east fork.

Seven directors of the North Texas Water District, composed of Princeton, McKinney, Garland, Wylie, Mesquite, Forney, Royse City, Rockwall, Plano and Farmersville, made the request yesterday for 100,000 acre feet of storage space in the reservoir.

Col. H. R. Hallock, acting district engineer, said the amount is all the available conservation storage capacity of the reservoir.

Hallock, who said no water will be impounded until next spring, said the reservoir's storage capacity would be 423,400 acre feet with all but 100,000 set aside for water conservation earmarked for flood control.

The State of Texas will own all the water in the reservoir, Hallock said, but the Army Engineers will have the say on storage requests.

Poultry Group Is Holding Convention

FORT WORTH, July 15 (AP)—A junior judging contest with 100 farm boys taking part was the scheduled highlight today of the convention of the American Poultry Association here.

More than 50 delegates representing 10 association districts in the United States were on hand for the second day of the meeting.

The poultrymen yesterday heard Dewey Termonien of the Production & Marketing Administration, Washington, in a call for an aggressive campaign and a forecast of return to standard-bred poultry types.

Other speakers today include George P. McCarthy, director of feed research for Universal Mills; Prof. H. D. H. Reid, retired head of the Texas A&M poultry department; and Dr. R. T. Klemme, vice president of Oklahoma A&M College.

Donnelly Is Due To Take German Post

BONN, Germany (AP)—The appointment of Walter J. Donnelly as United States high commissioner for Germany will be announced in Washington late this week, a high American official said today.

Donnelly, who now is U. S. high commissioner for Austria, is slated to become America's first postwar ambassador to Germany when ratification of the West German Peace Contract ends the occupation. The Allies hope this will come in the fall.

First, however, he will succeed High Commissioner John J. McCloy, who is returning to the U. S. next Monday after three years as America's top diplomatic representative here.

A COMPLETE CHANGE

Democrats Trying To Out-Do GOP On Decorations For Hall

By HOLLEN HYNDMAN
CHICAGO (U)—The Democrats will outshine their GOP foes in decorations at their convention opening next Monday if plans announced today are any indication. The International Amphitheatre will undergo a complete decorating change during the week that will add more color, signs, paint and flags than the Republicans displayed.

the material will be pleated nylon satin. The GOP blue ceiling bunting will be taken down. A dozen 12 by 18 feet American flags will replace it. Democratic party slogans, such as "16 million unemployed in 1932, but practically none today," will hang in placards on balcony rails. Huge portraits of President Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt will replace Republican eagle emblems in the hall. The background portrait of Abraham Lincoln will give way to a stairway providing easier access to the main platform. The gold seal of the United States will replace the GOP shield on the front of the podium.

sign, "Welcome Delegates." GOP decorators left out the word "welcome." The greatest alteration in the convention site possibly will be the relocation of television camera positions. Frank E. McKinney, Democratic National Committee chairman, said a television platform will be erected in the center aisle to give viewers a head-on picture of the speaker. Platforms at the GOP convention allowed only side or angle shots at the platform. The teleprompter, a paper rolling device allowing speakers to read their text without appearing to do so, will be eliminated. A Democratic spokesman said the prompter would not be used because of the different platform set up for TV. He said the committee expected no hardship on speakers and would cause no difficulty. The Democratic presidential aspirants will have their public headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, as did the Republicans.

Horned Toads Are Worn As Ornament

CANNES, France (U)—Guests at Texas Week on the French Riviera wore horned toads in their lapels at a party last night and the lizard-like little creatures were the belles of the ball. They were flown over as party favors by host Jimmy Radford, Abilene, Tex., oilman. Squeamish guests took to them enthusiastically as soon as they found they would cling docilely on their shoulders during beady glances about. A two-foot derrick on the bar spouted cognac all evening. Over-sized 100 dollar bills, "payable in Texas hospitality," were passed out. A French maid passed each toast out from the kitchen with grave instructions to "keep him dry and feed him a fly a day."

Hague Stays Home On Doctor's Order

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (U)—A "stay-home" order from his physician prevents Frank Hague, 76-year-old onetime boss of the New Jersey Democratic party, from going to this year's national convention. It will be the first time in 32 years that Hague, recuperating from a recent operation, isn't part of the New Jersey contingent to the party's convention.

Former Croatia Minister Is Free On Habeas Corpus

LOS ANGELES (U)—Andrija Artukovich, former Croatian minister arrested here last fall when the Yugoslavian government sought his extradition on mass murder charges, has been freed. He was released on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday after U.S. Judge Peterson M. Hall ruled a 1919 extradition treaty with the former kingdom of Serbia is not valid. The present Yugoslavian government charges Artukovich was responsible for 23 murders while Croatia, now a part of Yugoslavia, was a Nazi puppet state during World War II. Judge Hall held that the present Yugoslavia is an entirely different country than the Serbian kingdom. He also stated the old treaty was never ratified by the U.S. Senate. Artukovich, who had been held in lieu of $50,000 bail, was released under $5,000 bond pending an appeal.

Radio Station Is Destroyed By Fire

GUATEMALA, Guatemala (U)—Fire destroyed Guatemala's second most powerful radio station yesterday and police questioned the station manager. The station, Voice of the Americas, was owned by former presidential candidate Jorge Garcia Granados. The loss was estimated at about $50,000.

Judge's Widow Dies

MINERAL WELLS, July 15 (U)—The widow of the late Judge W. H. Gross died here yesterday at the age of 84. Survivors of Mrs. Gross include two sons, L. H. Gross of Corpus Christi and W. O. Gross of Mineral Wells.

Meanwhile, a recommendation by local immigration authorities that Artukovich and his family be deported is pending in Washington. The Immigration Bureau charges the family has overstayed visitors' visas and should be deported to Ireland, where the family fled from Yugoslavia. Artukovich, who says he is innocent of the mass murder charges, contended it would have meant certain death had he been extradited.
