Texas Per Capita Total For Scholastics Slashed $1.50 For 1932-33 Year

Apportionment In Free Public Schools Of State Set At $16 By Education Board

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 26. — The state board of education today set the per capita apportionment for scholastics in the free public system at $16 for the 1932-33 school year.

The apportionment last year was $17.50 per student.

Nat Washer, chairman of the board of education said the apportionment of $16 was based on the anticipated revenues as figured by the state comptroller. Washer said that all school officials had been served with notice several months ago that the apportionment for next year probably would be reduced by $1.50 and had been advised to make their contracts with the anticipated decrease in mind.

A report issued today by the state comptroller estimated the outstanding obligations of the school fund at the end of the present fiscal year, August 31, at $5,515,637.

Figured on the basis of 1,566,000 scholastics entitled to the apportionment reduction of the per capita from $17.50 to $16 would decrease the demand on the school fund by $2,349,000, it was estimated.

L. W. Rogers, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, said that $4.50 of the $17.50 apportionment for the current year remained unpaid. He said this was due to be paid before August 31 and the amount unpaid by that date would be carried over into the next fiscal year and taken care of before payments were started on the 1932-33 apportionment.

State Tax Rate Cut Five Cents

Rate Of 69 Cents On $100 Valuation Is To Be In Effect

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 26.—The state tax rate, collectible on property valuations rendered this year and due not later than next January, has been fixed at 69 cents on each $100.

The new rate is five cents lower than the 74 cents levied on each $100 valuation last time. Although the constitution fixes the state rate maximum at 77 cents on the $100 taxable valuation, the second called session of the 42nd legislature last fall passed a law directing that the state tax not exceed 69 cents this year.

Levies Are Fixed

The constitution fixes the maximum levy for general revenue purposes at 35 cents, and to create a confederate pension fund at seven cents.

The automatic-tax board's latest levy provided for collection of the constitutional limits for school and pension purposes and fixed the general revenue rate at 27 cents. The five cents reduction was shaved off the general revenue levy, which was 32 cents last year.

To Show Shrinkage

The board, comprising the governor, comptroller, and treasurer, estimated that state property valuations would show a shrinkage of $261,000,000. Last year's tax was levied on valuations aggregating $4,181,000,000. Taxable values for the new year were estimated to be $3,920,247,156. The latter figure was used in arriving at levies for school and pension purposes. The general revenue allotment was calculated on valuations of $3,572,615,376, tax remissions on valuations of $347,631,800, granted various countries

Rogers Riding To Victory In Oklahoma Poll

Woman Gains As City Vote Is Tabulated; Jack Walton Is Dropping Behind In Attempt For Come-Back

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26.—Will Rogers—schoolmaster, not humorist—rode a rollicking tide of Oklahoma ballots toward the Democratic nomination for congress-at-large tonight.

Although his foe, Mrs. Mabel Bassett, gained somewhat as city returns were tabulated, Rogers was more than 50,000 votes in the lead as tabulations neared the halfway mark in reporting today's runoff primary.

Walton Is Behind

Meanwhile, former Gov. J. C. (Rarin' Jack) Walton, on a perennial comeback attempt, was dropping well behind A. S. J. Shaw, former state treasurer, for the Democratic nomination to the important post of corporation commissioner.

One Democratic congressional incumbent—F. B. Swank—found himself falling far behind O. B. Mothersead, in the fifth district, but Rep. W. W. Hastings, with a stiff fight on his hands in the second district, kept ahead of Alex Johnston, Okmulgee oil man for Democratic nomination. Mothersead is a former state bank commissioner.

Thomas Leading

Senator Elmer Thomas apparently was on his way to Democratic nomination over his lawyer opponent, Gomer Smith, while Rep. Tom McKeown, also a Democrat, led Bart Aldridge in the fourth district.

In the only Republican race attracting general attention, Wirt Franklin, Ardmore oil man, was leading James A. Harris, former party leader, for the senatorial nomination.

Three Die After Drinking Liquor; Two Are Officers

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 (AP)—Three men, two of them traffic officers, died today as a result of drinking liquor which police said had been poisoned.

The dead were: Joseph Charles Lorenz, traffic officer; Richard Roy Smith, traffic officer and Louis Jacogson, manager of a theater and also a member of the police force. Police said they were investigating the deaths on the theory the liquor had been deliberately poisoned.

TWO ARE KILLED

GREENVILLE, O., July 26. (AP)—Samuel Gray, 65, of near here today shot and killed his estranged wife, Mrs. Mattieanna Gray, 55 and her sister, a Mrs. Coe, 40, and then wounded himself, possibly fatally. The shooting occurred at Gray's home.

Mob Of 500 Citizens Seek Man After Election Fight

SALLISAW, Okla., July 26. (AP)—A mob of more than 500 citizens sought Henry Winter, Sallisaw merchant, tonight after Winter shot and probably fatally wounded George Mitchell, Sequoyah county commissioner, during a quarrel over the election.

Winter was rushed to Muskogee for safe-keeping. He had been active in supporting Jim Hardin for the county commission post against Mitchell.

Officers Believe Robber Is Wounded In Running Battle

CLEBURNE, July 26. (AP) — In a gun fight early today, officers believe they wounded one of two men they encountered trying to rob a wholesale grocery company. One of the robbers fell twice as he and his confederate ran to a car in which they escaped. Officers R. M. McClary and J. D. Miller and Joe Taft and his son fired 24 shots at the robbers.

Lubbock Senator Is Holding Own With Terrell; Voting Nearing 850,000 Mark And Record In State

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 26.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson ran her lead over Governor R. S. Sterling to 93,000 votes in the 6 p. m. tabulation of results in Saturday's primary by the Texas Election Bureau. The figures were Ferguson 346,658, Sterling 253,419, Tom F. Hunter 186,563. There was a scattering vote of 40,611 for other candidates.

The proposal to petition congress for another vote in the states on federal prohibition had 301,393 votes. The vote against it was 120,383.

Shaver Still Leads

Charles N. Shaver of Huntsville incumbent by apportionment, had 352,503 votes for state superintendent of public instruction as against 337,872 for his opponent, L. A. Woods of Waco.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the state railroad commission led the race for the six-year term with 295,386 votes. Lee Satterwhite of Odessa had 177,962 and was assured of the runoff place.

Thompson Leads Hatcher

For the four-year term, Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, recent Sterling appointee, led with 196,654 votes. W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas was assured of the runoff place with 186,874.

For the supreme court, Justice William Pierson had 236,684 votes. Judge J. C. Hickman was indicated as his run-off opponent, with 194,292. Ocie Speer trailed with 135,762.

Woman Is Stabbed To Death By Unknown Assailant And Her Husband Is Also Wounded In Bitter Struggle

(By The Associated Press)

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 26.—Mrs. Lillian Babcock, 44, was stabbed to death and her husband, Rider Babcock, 45, importer and exporter of copra and hemp from the Philippines, was critically wounded when they were attacked as they slept at Mountainview, near here, early today.

Babcock told police he was awakened by the screams of his wife and getting up grappled with a rather tall young man who stabbed him several times in the throat and chest.

Mrs. Babcock, he said, ran for the door as he fought the intruder, and called for her son, Charles Brown, 20, Stanford student. Then she dropped dead, her throat slashed. Officers found a new ten inch butcher knife and a can of coal oil on the front steps of the home.

PREDICTS PASSAGE

GADSDEN, Ala., July 26 (AP) — Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, predicted in an adrdess at the Alabama convention of the American Legion today that congress will pass bonus legislation "which will place American world war veterans on a level with those of European nations."

Navajos Search For She-Bear While Medicine Men Pray For Young Child

(By The Associated Press)

GALLUP, N. M., July 26.—Two hundred Navajos searched the Crystal mountain area today for the lair of a she-bear, believed by the Indians to have wooed to her own breast a three-year-old Navajo youngster.

It is legendary among the Navajos that she-bears have a maternal fondness for the Indian youngsters. The Navajos claim that credence to their belief is demonstrated because the boy left no trail to be followed.

While the Indians search the mountains, Navajo medicine men are conducting prayers and ceremonies to the she-bear for the safety of the child.

Superintendent John Hunter of the reservation area and Indian service employes are also searching for the child, but on a theory that some other Indian kidnaped the child.

Border Cities Swept By Floods; Alarms Sounded

Nogales Streets Are Inundated As Water Rushes From Mountains; Damage Slight

(By The Associated Press)

NOGALES, Ariz., July 26. — The two border cities of Nogales were damaged by flood waters which swept down today from the Sonora watershed, inundating streets to a depth of one to three feet.

A furious storm in the Sonora mountains this morning caused the flood to boom down to the valley cities. Little rain fell in this vicinity.

At noon flood alarms were sounded and residents frantically began to barricade their homes and business establishments.

The arroyos quickly overflowed their banks. Trees were uprooted and merchandise in stores ruined, although damage was small in comparison with other flood periods.

Mexican soldiers were ordered to clear away the debris when the waters receded in the Mexico city. Police were posted to prevent looting. Bridge was washed away on the Cananea branch of the Southern Pacific railroad.

Steel, Textiles, Automobiles Add Bit Of Cheer To Business World With Favorable Actions

Regular Quarterly Dividends Declared; Mills Resuming Operations And Many Men In Need Given Work

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 26.—Steel, textiles and automobiles added bits of cheer to the business news today.

Directors of the United States Steel corporation proclaimed faith in the future of the company by declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75, a share on preferred stock, but announced "that improvement in the business and earnings must in future determine dividend action on the preferred stock."

Favorable Action

The Studebaker Corporation, automobile manufacturers, likewise brightened the day with favorable dividend action, declaring the regular $1.75 quarterly dividend on preferred stock.

Reports from Fitchburg, Mass. in the heart of the textile industries of New England, indicated operations there were expanding. The Shirreffs Worsted company, a branch of the Aetna mills, is working full time days and has a night crew of 30.

It Was A Good Battle While It Was Raging

HEAT of the governor's runoff race caused two Lubbock men whose combined ages total 151 years to come to blows on the courthouse square Tuesday afternoon.

The "younger"—he's 70—Wednesday will pay $17.15 assessed by Justice of the Peace J. S. Connell.

Curbstone philosophers on the lawn, their attention diverted from more philosophical subjects, were considering the question: "Who will get Hunter's vote?" The 81-year-old man, who voted for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, opined that "Ma" would. The 70-year-old Hunter partisan had positive opinions to the contrary. He referred to Jas. E. Ferguson's impeachment.

One blow, perhaps two blows, were struck. In justice court the participants differed on this point. The Hunter supporter, charged with simple assault in a complaint signed by the other, pleaded guilty of striking at the older man and knocking off his glasses.

"Yes, I knocked his glasses off first, and he slapped me," the Hunter man explained in court.

"I'll plead guilty, judge, and take the least you can give me."

Fine and costs announced, he arranged "until the banks open tomorrow" to pay the assessment.

As the two men walked out the west courthouse door, the younger man said:

"If you don't quit following me, I'll get my money's worth yet."

"How about my broken glasses?" the older man wanted to know.

Mellon Emphatically Denies Report Of His Resignation

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—A lull "over there" brought Andrew W. Mellon, American ambassador to the court of St. James', back to America today, and reports that he intended to resign brought emphatic denial.

The former secretary of the treasury received more than a dozen reporters in his stateroom aboard the liner Majestic as it rode up the bay from quarantine.

"It (resignation) is news to me—midsummer news," he said. "There is no foundation for the report."

Armed Posses Are Searching Bottoms For A Crazed Negro

DALLAS, July 26. (AP) — Police, deputy sheriffs, and armed citizens tonight searched the Wahoo lake bottoms for a crazed negro who killed one man and attempted to kill three others.

James Newton Alcorn, 63, was the man killed. The negro, John Harris, 30, walked into a grocery store operated by his brother, Will Harris, and fired at him with a sawed-off shotgun. He missed. Walking into the street, the negro shot Alcorn, who was driving past with a wagon loaded with cotton seed hulls.

HAS BARE LEAD

AMARILLO, July 26. (AP)—With a scant 14-vote lead in a contest that polled 14,190 ballots, H. K. Stanfield, Amarillo attorney, tonight apparently had won over Clyde Warwick, of Canyon, incumbent, in a spirited race for state representative of the 123rd district.

Greta Garbo Is Coming Back And Enter The Movies Again

NEW YORK July 26. (AP) — Greta Garbo is coming back.

The Swedish actress said so today when she gave an interview after a mysterious vanishing act in the largest city in the world.

Would she return to America after her vacation?

"Yes, I will."

Was she planning to continue her screen career?

"Yes, I am."

"Please go away," she requested after that.

Program Is Hailed As A Step On Road To Recovery; Every State To Profit; 4,500 In Texas To Get Jobs

By RAY BRENNAN,

CHICAGO, July 26.—A quarter of a million men working 30 hours a week for eleven months—that will be the result, a nation wide survey indicated today, of the $120,000,000 federal appropriation to aid states in highway construction.

In practically every state, the construction program, designed to make the jobless self sustaining, was hailed as a vogorous step in the right direction. Relief workers generally were enthusiastic over the provision for a 30 hour week, thus providing jobs for more workers over a longer period.

Double Construction

Highway construction will be doubled or tripled in many states by the federal appropriation, which must be matched dollar for dollar by the states themselves. Governors of several states indicated as many as 40,000 men would be employed at road work.

In addition to the thousands working directly at road construction, others will be employed at manufacturing materials and machinery. Work for the unemployed also was expected to better business conditions in countless communities throughout the nation.

Definite Estimates

Highway officials of 18 states gave definite estimates of the additional number of men to be employed in their territory and the total was 118,740. Practically every other state reported substantial employment increases would result, but estimates were unavailable pending a

Captain Von Gronau Lands At Montreal With Companions; To Visit United States On Leisurely Flight

(By The Associated Press)

MONTREAL, July 26. — Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, veteran Garman airman landed his flying boat in Montreal harbor tonight at 7:06 p. m. (eastern standard time), completing in four and a half days his third 5,100-mile aerial trip between Europe and America by the Arctic route.

Civic and aviation delegations met the bronzed German and his three companions at the seaplane base as he taxied up after a 10 hour and 16 minute flight from Cantwright, Labrador.

Captain Von Gronau announced soon after his arrival he was blazing a mail route between Europe and the Pacific coast of Nortn America. He said he would rest here until Thursday and then make his way leisurely to Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and then probably north again to Winnipeg and across to the Pacific coast.

Pioneer Manufacturer And Sportsman Dies Following Car Crash On July 5

FRED S. DUESENBERG

(By The Associated Press)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 26.—Fred Duesenberg, 55, pioneer automobile manufacturer and sportsman, died in a hospital today. Duesenberg was injured in a motor accident July 5. While en route to his Indianapolis home from an eastern business trip, he swerved his car to avoid striking another machine.

His automobile crashed into an embankment near Ligonier, Pa., and overturned twice.

Duesenberg suffered two broken ribs, a partial fracture of the spine and dislocation of the shoulder. Since the time of the accident the victim had been in a grave condition and hope for his ultimate recovery was despaired of by attending physicians.

Duesenberg was treated with oxygen for pneumonia which developed after the accident.

Hoover Picks Pomerene For Finance Post

Atlee Pomerene, Democrat, To Head Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Prosecutor In Oil Scandals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—President Hoover today appointed Atlee Pomerene, former Democratic senator from Ohio, as a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The president simultaneously announced that Pomerene, who was special prosecutor in the oil scandals during the Harding administration, will be elected chairman of the board.

Demos In Majority

Three Democrats already hold places on the board of seven. Pomerene's appointment giving them a majority.

In his announcement, the president said:

"He will be elected as chairman of the board.

Had Long Service

"He has had long service as a lawyer and business man and as a member of the United States senate where he was a member of the banking and currency committee.

"His firm has been counsel for the Reconstruction Corporation's work in the fourth reserve district."

The president has yet to fill one more vacancy on the corporation's board.

Lubbock Pioneers To Meet In This City On August 19

The Lubbock Pioneer association is having an annual meeting on August 19, according to an announcement made Tuesday afternoon by the president, R. C. Burns.

This picnic was originally set for August 12 but the date has been changed because of the West Texas Old Settlers meeting in Crosbyton on that date.

The Lubbock pioneers meet annually for a picnic and reunion. There is to be no formal program this year, following the custom of other years. Pioneers and their families will gather at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds during the afternoon and a basket lunch will be spread in the late afternoon.

Bernard Shaw Declares He Is Not Fit But Overworked

MALVERN, Worcestershire, Eng., July 26 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, who celebrated his seventy fifth birthday last year by dozing at horse races in Moscow, observed his seventy sixth today by making a few comments.

How did he spend the day?

"Concealing the fact that I'm 76."

"I'm not fit," he told someone who said he looked fit. "I'm very much overworked. I've been that way all my life."

Europeans Think American Eyes Have At Last Opened

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler returned from Europe today with the observation that foreign nations believed Americans had "at last opened their eyes" regarding prohibition.

"The bright outlook for quick repeal of the 18th amendment is hailed in Europe as an indication that the American people have at last opened their eyes to the futility, the iniquity and the immorality of that provision of the constitution with its invitation to lawlessness," his statement said.

Three-Masted Sailing Vessel Used As German Trainer Is Struck By Heavy Gale And Goes To Bottom

37 Are Rescued

Naval Authorities Unable To Explain Disaster; Equipped With Motor But Operating Only Under Sail

(By The Associated Press)

KIEL, Germany, July 26.—A gale borne thunderstorm bowled over the three-masted German naval trainer Niobe off Holstein today and sent her and 69 men to the bottom.

Thirty-seven persons, including the captain, his lieutenant, 17 of the Niobe's crew and 17 naval cadets, were rescued by the steamer Therese Russ.

Steamer Passing

The steamer was passing when the storm struck the Niobe one mile off Fehmarn lightship, near Kiel. Although several naval vessels and airplanes soon were sent to the scene, there was no evidence of any other survivors.

There was a slight glimmer of hope that Danish fishermen may have taken more survivors aboard and landed them at the isolated settlement of Rodby, on the Danish island, Laaland. Naval officers were inclined not to believe this, however.

Not Using Motor

The fact that most of the rescued were members of the experienced crew instead of the cadets who had just gone aboard for a sailing cruise led naval officers to conjecture the crew was handling the ropes when the vessel went over.

It was apparent to them the Niobe was full-rigged and was not using her 240-horsepower motor. They thought perhaps the sudden blow came off land and bowled her over before the canvas could be reefed.

The Therese Russ tonight transferred the survivors, many of whom

Miss Ann Dohoney Is Hostess With Afternoon Bridge Party Tuesday

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

PERHAPS you have thought that some home improvement would be handy this year but have decided that expense was one of the draw backs. In that instance, a report received by Miss Isla Mae Chitwood, county home demonstration agent, might be interesting.

The report is from Mrs. J. M. Keesee, wardrobe demonstrator of the Broadview club. "We were discussing the wardrobe and Miss Chitwood asked why I did not take the wardrobe as I did not have a closet in the house," her report runs. "So I studied the problem over and decided I would take it. I got out and rustled up some scraps of lumber and Miss Chitwood was kind enough to let me have some cardboard. I built a wardrobe. I spent 11 1-2 cents for a role of paper and seven cents a yard for five yards of cretonne to make curtains. My wardrobe cost 48 1-2 cents.

"It is much nicer and we all enjoy it much better than we did the stick that I had nailed up in the corner with our clothes hung over it, so I am indebted to Miss Chitwood for making me believe I needed a closet."

WHAT THEY DO

RURAL women and girls of Lubbock county had made some improvements in their homes this spring that are marvels for those of us who haven't made any effort at such things. As a part of their club projects they have improved bedrooms and prepared storage places for wardrobes, as well as improved their wardrobes.

Many of these women have used enough ingenuity to create pleasant rooms with small amounts of money. Scraps of board and paint have been utilized and almost everything else has been employed in their various projects. And the results are things of which they are proud.

As a part of their wardrobe projects, they have invoiced the wearing apparel of their families, made out budgets and kept accounts of all their purchases. After making invoices they mended and renovated what they could, before starting out with their buying. By keeping these budgets and noting dates when clothing is discarded, they have a better idea of the quality of their purchases and of how much service they are receiving for their money. A part of this campaign is to teach women to buy sensibly.

To buy well is something that city women need as much as country women. The merchant who can sell to an informed woman is a lucky one. The average merchant is a responsible man and he likes for his customers to know what he is selling them. When he has a woman who buys for quality and who buys with a knowledge of what she is getting, he knows that he and the customer are going to profit.

Of course, many women always keep their clothing mended and watch their buying. But there are plenty of others who never get around to mending and buy new clothing when something catches their fancy. It is nice to be able to buy new clothes with such spontaneity and freedom but few of us can afford to do it. This system that farm women are learning should be a helpful thing for them, and give them a great deal of pleasure.

THE PAPER'S PART

PERHAPS you have wondered how many other women read the newspaper. That there are many is indicated in some data piled up by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers association in a survey of women's interests in the newspapers. The survey was released early this year.

Women of America write 40,000,000 letters a year to their daily newspapers, pile up an attendance of about 3,000,000 a year at cooking schools conducted by the daily newspapers and buy 5,000,000 patterns a year from their daily papers.

The bulk of the mail concerns questions of love and marriage, personal health and hygiene and the care of children. On each subject the women write their papers from six million to ten million letters a year, the bureau states.

Indicating, I should say, that women still have a lot of interest in these domestic problems, in spite of all the sermons we read and hear to the contrary. It also indicates the part that newspapers are playing in giving the general public its knowledge. The newspaper is teaching along with the public schools and it is very often supplementing the academic teachings of the school with practical knowledge.

And, in spite of the picture that the cinema has given us of the hardboiled and unscrupulous newspaper editors, most men of responsibility in the newspaper field realize rather humbly the part that they have in educating the readers, men and women.

Justiceburg And Post Lakes Are Drawing Many Fishermen

There is plenty of good fishing at both Post lakes and also Justiceburg, O. D. Cardwell, deputy district state game warden, said yesterday while here.

"At Two-Draw lake there is lots of fishing," he said. "Brim and crappie are the fish there. In South Lake, at Post bass is the only fish.

"The Justiceburg lake has a lot of bass, perch and some brim."

Telephone Fight Faces New Chief

AMARILLO, July 26. (AP)—One of the first duties facing Ross D. Rogers, newly installed mayor of Amarillo, will be settlement of the city's telephone fight.

The controversy has been suspended more or less in mid-air since last spring, before Col. Ernest O. Thompson resigned as mayor to accept an appointment to the Texas railroad commission.

New developments are: the franchise of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company expired June 28; an ordinance advocated by Thompson levying a tax of five per cent of the company's gross receipts for occupying is now in effect.

Efforts of the telephone company to renew its franchise while Thompson was mayor were unsuccessful. Thompson insisted that the rates should be written into the franchise, while the telephone company officials refused to accept such a proposal.

A small reduction in rates, amounting to 25 cents on residence telephones up to 75 cents for trunk lines, was granted when the fight first began last fall. Thompson pronounced the cut "a step in the right direction," and immediately launched a fight for still further reductions. The matter has been at a standstill since the company submitted an inventory of its property in February, showing an annual income of 6.48 per cent for the first four months under the new rates.

Veterans Rescued In Border Patrol

SAN ANTONIO, July 26. (AP)—Old hands in the border patrol were "rescued," but the younger men in the service were given no hope in a recent telegram received by Ed Cotulla, deputy collector of customs under Roy Campbell.

Earlier Campbell had returned from Washington with word that all of the 50 border patrolmen would have to submit to civil service examinations. Cotulla was advised that all men who had been in the service for five years will be exempted from the exam.

Federal officials had felt that a civil service examination might rule out veterans of the service whose only training has been years of taming the frontier and who would have little chance at "book" tests.

Campbell reported the furlough plan probably would be worked out by deducting two and one-half days' pay, preventing any lay-offs.

Lamesa Beats Levelland In Airtight Tournament Game

Dodgers Sweep Double Bill With Cardinals; Senators Fall To Browns

Littlefield To Meet Lubbock In Today's Opener; Wolfforth Defeats Hale Center Tuesday

Brownie Britt Tangles Up With Evans In Pitcher's Duel As Lamesa Surges To 5-1 Victory Over Levelland

A heat wave swept across Merrill Baseball Park yesterday afternoon and this correspondent doesn't mean to write a treatise on the weather. The heat wave in question originated in the good right arm of Brownie Britt, fireball artist who is playing for Lamesa in the Lubbock tournament. The wave spread through the ranks of Lamesa and Levelland ball boys to cause one of the hottest games of the tournament.

Those boys were on their toes, all of 'em, all the way. Not a single error was chalked up against either side, which means near the height of something or other in this league. Britt whiffed ten batsmen and gave up three hits during eight innings of airtight baseball. A big fellow by the name of Rutherford went in to pinch-hit for First-baseman Pope in the ninth and really did his duty as a pinch hitter. He laid down a double, the only extra-base hit off Britt, and scored on Catcher Whitis' sizzling single.

Ah, Yes—The Score

The score of that game, incidentally, was 5 to 1.

The score of the first game yesterday was 12 to 7, as Field Manager Blackie Hoyle's men backed him up in a free hitting spree to trounce Hale Center and get back on the winning side in the tournament. Battery trouble on the part of Hale Center failed to stack up with the club's offensive punch, for there are some fair ball players hailing from Hale county.

Hoyle pitched 13-hit baseball but was playing 'em close to his chin until the eight inning. Sam Scaling and Jim Ballard singled, advanced on an out, and Mitchell singled to bring the runners home. Wilson, first baseman, and Shortstop Collier scored on Ballard's double in the ninth and Scaling and Ballard came in on May's single to wind up Hale Center's rally. The losers had scored in the second when Mitchell chased across on Payne's single after Prather had singled. Hale Center, still saving their best pitcher, used three twirlers but the hard hitting Wolfforth clan nicked them for 14 bingles to show they were still in the running for tournament money.

Rich Hits Homer

Bob Rich hit a home run inside the park to start Wolfforth's scoring. The bat went around in the third for four more tallies, B. Surette, Fred Rich and Anderson loading the bases to score on Ray Waller's outfield fly and Caveness' single. Caveness came in on a passed ball.

Wolfforth added two in the fourth, three in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Britt and Evans tangled in a pretty pitching battle in the second game, with Britt having the upper hand. Frank Larkin's triple, his first of two yesterday, started the hitting in the second. He scored on Edwards' single. Addison singled and Peterson walked to load the hassocks with one out, but Britt whiffed and Louis White flied out to Pressley.

Evans had them on his hip through the sixth, letting them down in order while Britt was doing the same for Levelland batsmen. In the seventh, Addison flied out to left and Peterson singled. Britt drew a pass, and Peterson was nailed at third on L. White's knock to Breedlove. L. White pilfered second as Britt went to third and Banta sent one to center field to bring in two runs. Banta was snatched trying to swipe second. In the eighth, after Britt had whiffed two and made another fly out, T. White was struck out. Bailey White tripled against the boards and Larkin got his second triple right there. Edwards sacrificed to Breedlove and Larkin scored. Addison tripled, but Peterson popped out to Breedlove.

Levelland Rallies

Levelland's rally, after Dockray had gone out, Edwards to B. White, looked like it might amount to something when Rutherford doubled to right, but Lewis went out, second to first, and the odds were against the losers. Whitis singled sharply through second, however, to bring Rutherford home, but the hitter was caught at second on Breedlove's force out knock to Edwards.

Three double plays, two of them by Lamesa infielders featuring Addison, Edwards and Bailey White, and one featuring the Levelland trio, Blue Graham, Breedlove and Pope, added to the general air of pep and enthusiasm with which the game was characterized.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

The Texas Utilities team of Lubbock, victor over Wolfforth on Monday, meets the strong Littlefield team, which defeated Hale Center on Monday, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the first game.

Levelland and Hale Center play at 4:15 in the second game.

By agreement of the managers and according to announcement by Tournament Manager Weldon Chapman, a three-defeat elimination procedure will be followed during the tournament, making a team still in the running until it has been defeated three times.

Two games will be played daily until all but one team has been thrice defeated.

Arizona-Texas League Not To Be Organized This Year

EL PASO, July 26. (AP)—Efforts of Marty Fiedler, owner of the Albuquerque franchise in the Arizona-Texas league, to reorganize the circuit and finish out the season, failed here today.

Fiedler gave up after a telephone conversation with Joe Kobey, secretary of the Bisbee-Douglas club. Kobey said Bisbee-Douglas directors voted to disband the team.

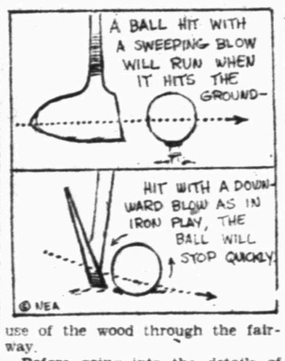
Fiedler came to El Paso last night after President Pat Nathan suspended the league.

His reorganization efforts met with partial success when El Paso officials agreed to allow local players to get up a team among themselves and play for gate receipts.

GOLF by ART KRENZ

Harry Vardon once said, "Show me a golfer who is accurate with his long irons and I'll show you one who is a master of golf."

A long iron tells the difference between fair and brilliant players. As a matter of fact, many of the leading players have eliminated the use of the wood through the fairway.



Before going into the details of the swing let me inform the readers as to the difference between iron and wood shots. An iron, unlike a wood which is a sweep, is a punch or direct downward blow. It usually must have sufficient backspin to bring the ball to a quick stop to prevent it from running into trouble.

Therefore the ball must be hit on the downswing, as this is the only way to obtain backspin.

Wood, Mangin And Doeg Lead Seabright Invitation Tourney

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26. (AP)—The Seabright lawn tennis invitation tournament reached the quarter-final round today with the favorites still running for the women's and men's titles.

Sidney B. Wood Jr., New York, Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J. and John Hope Doeg, Rumson, N. J., former national titleholder, led the advance in the men's division.

Miss Helen Jacobs, runner-up to Mrs. Moody at Wimbledon, lost only four games in her second round match to remain the out-standing choice to win the women's championship.

Mangin and Doeg won their matches in straight sets, the former eliminating Dr. Carl Fischer, Woodbury, N. J., 9-7, 6-3, and the latter defeating Robert Grant, Chattanooga, Tenn., southpaw, 6-3, 6-4. Wood, however, was carried to three sets before turning back Joseph Case, Woodbury, N. J., 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Nurmi's Place In Big Games Is Unsettled

Americans Hail Arrival Of Ben Eastman; "Will Nurmi Run?" Is Big Question On Olympic Grounds, Offices

By ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, July 26. — Developments along the beflagged Olympic fronts today, with the opening of the big games only four days off, ranged from the caucus rooms, where delegates argued over the Nurmi situation, to the athletic fields, where intensive training prevailed.

The Americans hailed the arrival, in improved health, of Benjamin Bangs Eastman, 400 meter star.

Directors of the tenth Olympics estimated that 325,000 visitors would be on hand by next week, when the featured track and field program is in full swing, and that $37,000,000 will be spent by Olympic customers during a period of nearly three weeks of activity, before and during the games. More than 100,000 visiting motor cars already have "checked in," they said.

The first question popped by most visitors is: "Will Nurmi run?"

Although the tip now has gone around that Finland will be able to swing enough votes in the I.A.A.F. by the end of the week to assure Paavo's presence in the competition, several barriers remained to be hurled. Chief among them is the fact the executive council of the I.A.A.F. now stands five to two against reinstating Nurmi, with Finland supported so far only by the United States in opposition to Sweden, Germany, France, England and Austria on the subject of altering the federation's rule.

Many of Nurmi's friends have been more concerned about his condition, due to strained achilles tendon, than the fate of his amateur standing, growing out of his European barnstorming activities.

Women who patronize Conoco Service Stations are delighted with the courtesy and helpfulness of Conoco salesmen. There is nothing forward or obtrusive about their service, but it has the little touches of respect and thoroughness that make it pleasing.

Conoco men always see that your windshield is polished clean, that your tires are checked accurately and that the radiator is filled . . . without splashing. They are glad to furnish battery water, if you desire.

Women are especially pleased with the spotless, plainly marked Conoco rest-rooms which are available for them.

Women who are traveling by car find Conoco service invaluable. At any Conoco station they can learn the condition of near-by roads, receive accurate mileage and route information, obtain dependable road maps and authentic details about local hotels, camps, sports and sources of supplies. The Conoco man will check packages and arrange to handle mail and telegrams.

All of these services are free, of course; not only free, but rendered with a spirit that leaves no doubt that the Conoco man is eager to be helpful.

Our Versatile People

INTERESTING facts regarding the occupational trends of the people of the United States are revealed in the compilations just issued by the census bureau.

In 1920 the number of people employed in manufacturing and mechanical pursuits surpassed for the first time the number employed in agriculture. The trend continued during the past decade, manufacturing accounting for 28.9 per cent of the workers, while agriculture included only 21.4 per cent, as against 25.6 per cent in 1920 and 37.5 per cent in 1900. And still the country produced more agricultural products than it could consume.

The number of professional people increased 1,082,633 during the decade, or nearly one-third, showing the greater demand for the services of such persons, and the activities of the colleges and universities in meeting it.

Singularly enough, the increase in governmental costs is not reflected proportionately in the number of people engaged in the public services. The growth in their number was 117,680, but the ratio to the entire number of those gainfully employed remained the same—1.8 per cent. Evidently the large increase in governmental expenditures was due to higher salaries and to heavier costs of public improvements, rather than to a large growth in the number "feeding at the public trough."

That the agitation against child labor has been to some degree effective is shown by the fact that in 1930 there were 2,145,959 children between the ages of 10 and 17 employed, against 2,773,506 in 1920. The percentage of employed children dropped from 17 to 11.3. One-quarter of the women of the country were working in 1930, but less than one-eighth of the married women. However, there was a gain of 3 per cent in married women employed.

The automobile industry has caused a significant shift. Filling station operators accounted for 89,000 jobs in 1930; there was no such classification in the 1920 census. Automobile and accessory dealers jumped from 29,000 to 61,500, and chauffeurs from 285,000 to 975,000. Meanwhile the number of teamsters and carriage drivers fell from 420,000 to 111,000, and blacksmiths from 195,000 to 124,000. There were 233,000 in 1910.

The progress of education is shown by the fact that in 1910 there were 595,000 school teachers; 10 years later, 752,000; in 1930, more than a million. While population increased 33 per cent, teachers increased 70 per cent.

On the whole, these trends are healthy. They show a large adaptability in our population. They indicate aspiration, a desire for improvement, and no diminution, but rather a fair increase, in the proportion of the population that is earning its way in gainful employment.

BUSINESS AND IDEALISM

It is popular among people convinced that they have mounted to a high plane of idealism to deprecate devotion to business as something unworthy of human beings sincerely concerned for the well-being of their fellows. Possibly practical business men might give more attention to spiritual interests without loss on the material side. Probably they are more bound up in practical idealism than they are commonly credited with being. One may be working toward establishment of an ideal condition without advertising the fact; he may be so working without being conscious that his practical endeavors, selfishly undertaken, tend to promote the ideal state.

Although millions appear to be unaware of the fact, everyone is dependent for the supplying of his material wants and for the gratification of many spiritual desires upon a common business prosperity. The more profitable business there is the better off all are, notwithstanding wails of complaint that a few "hog" the rewards. It is a curious fact that one of the most successful business men in the country seems not to excite the envy or malice of the "workers" whose hatred of others' success is unflagging. Our motto of this man sums up the sound principle of business on which all practical idealism is founded. It is written, "expansion of enterprise affording greater opportunities for profitable employment."

If a more ideal state ever is achieved by mankind it will come through cooperation in promotion of business rather than through antagonisms of labor and capital that are now so widely distressing.

Conservative Sweep Fails

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Signs of a landslide in a conservative direction in this election year are not materializing, as stand-pat statesmen hoped they would, and as some progressives feared.

The theory that hard times might engender an inclination on the voters' part to "play safe" undoubtedly was encouraged by the last English election result, which brought the reactionary element back into power, after an interval of radical government.

CHAS. P. STEWART

The world depression has not bred reaction everywhere, to be sure, but in spots it has. Politicians have not omitted to consider it as a possibility of next November in this country.

* * *

A CONSERVATIVE victory in the United States would not necessarily be altogether a Republican victory.

True, President Hoover's supporters proclaim him a "safe" conservative.

On the opposite hand, Governor Roosevelt is pronounced a progressive by backers who should be good judges of progressive-ism. Senator Burton K. Wheeler, for example, was prominently identified with the campaign for his nomination. Senator George W. Norris has abandoned the G.O.P. candidate, as he did in 1928, to fight for the New Yorker's election.

The Republican platform, too, indisputably is cautiously stand-pat; the Democratic relatively liberal.

Naturally speaking, a contrast appears to present itself.

Still, executive control, important as it is, is not the only prize at stake. Congressional control is at least as vital.

The White House tenant, being a single individual, is comparatively easy to classify.

The senate and house of representatives are more puzzling.

There are Democrats whom conservative Republicans like much better, in seats on Capitol Hill, than lawmakers who claim title to the G.O.P. label. There are legislators who, though they sit among the Democrats in congress, vote far more frequently with progressive Republicanism than with official Democracy. There are Bourbon Democrats and "Old Guard" Republicans who could change places without their constituents' knowledge, from any difference they would be likely to detect in their representatives' answers to the clerk's call of the "yeas and nays" on economic questions.

Thus the general test in November will be between the two rival philosophies—conservatism and liberality—rather than between Republicanism and Democracy.

* * *

PERHAPS one's first surmise would be that deep depression, in the midst of a conservative regime, should stimulate a desire for a change to liberality, but, as suggested above, such was not the case in England.

American conservatives were hopeful that it would not be so here.

Liberals were fearful that it would not.

Primary results to date indicate that the English criterion is not to be relied on over here.

IN THE Republican ranks—

Senator Peter Norbeck, decidedly of the progressive persuasion, had a walkover for renomination in South Dakota.

In North Dakota, Senator Gerald P. Nye, who especially is anathema to G.O.P. conservatism for his largely influential part in the defeat of at least two conservative senatorial candidates in 1930, and who was supposed to face a desperate contest in the Flickertail State, carried its recent primaries by every county except one, and lost that only narrowly.

In Iowa, while the ultra-progressive Senator Smith W. Brookhart was beaten for renomination, the victor, Henry Field, advertised himself as even more "ultra" than his opponent.

ON THE Democratic side of the fence—

The nomination of the hitherto nationally unknown Robert R. Reynolds over Senator Cameron Morrison is the sensation of modern southern politics. Wet, pro-bonus and overflowing with radical ideas, the youthful progressive snowed the astonished Tarheel old-timer under by the unheard of total of 100,000 ballots.

Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama's celebrated power trust baiter, more than held his own in the Cotton State.

Senator Elmer Thomas, in the forefront of the progressive group, though with a run-off on his hands, due to the multiplicity of his opponents, has an enormous renomination lead in Oklahoma.

The retirement of the conservative Senator Edwin S. Broussard is recognized as fore-ordained in Louisiana, in favor of Senator Huey P. Long's selection, Representative John H. Overton—virtually a stranger to Washington, but implicitly accepted by progressives as one of themselves, on the strength of the uncompromising recommendation of him by the "kingfish."

EVERYWHERE, in short, that a liberal has been called on to vindicate himself thus far, he has succeeded in doing it by a wide margin—except in the one instance in which liberality was outdone by a still more generous allowance of it.

It remains, indeed, to see what election day will bring forth.

The liberals can gain considerably and still not gain control. They have a substantial normal conservative lead to overcome before they can begin to count a net advantage. Nevertheless, the query, "Does the depression promise a conservative sweep this year?" seems to be convincingly answered in the negative.

What Other People Think

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE HOTEL BUILT ON A GLACIER:

Although the region in and around Rocky Mountain National Park is famous for glacial activity, it was not known that the hotel "Boulderfield Shelter" was constructed on a glacier until excavations were made for the outbuildings. The builders of the National Park Service then found that the site was a crust of glacial soil and rock overlaying the glacier beneath.

The hotel, situated just below the summit of Long's Peak, at an altitude of 12,700 feet, is but twenty feet square, yet at times it houses mountain climbing parties of thirty or more, and on one occasion thirty-eight camp girls were accommodated overnight.

It is operated under the supervision of the Park Service of Rocky Mountain Park, Estes Park, Colo.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Carra Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan and then, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her. They are married and Cherry for the first time finds what it means to lack money. They take a cheap apartment and her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, also on the News.

After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl is called home and there is a reconciliation with her parents but pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them. When MRS. DIXON is stronger she and her husband leave for several months at the seashore.

July brings an intense heat wave. Friends invite Cherry and Dan to a swimming party at a nearby resort. Dan is delayed at the office and Cherry sets out with Pearson in his car. A heavy rainstorm overtakes them and they lose their way. At last they reach an oil station and take shelter there. Pearson suddenly tells Cherry he loves her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIII

CHERRY drew back. "Don't, Max!" she cried. "You mustn't! Oh—how could you say such things?"

"Why shouldn't I say them? They're true! I've wanted to tell you for a long time! Couldn't you guess how I cared, Cherry? Didn't you know it?"

The girl was on her feet. Pearson would have caught her to him but she pushed him away. "Don't, Max!" she insisted. "Please—!"

She stood there facing him. The dark eyes seemed almost black in her suddenly pale face. There was terror and amazement written on Cherry's face. All at once she whirled abruptly, walked to the window and stood with her back toward Pearson.

There was silence. Then Cherry turned. "I thought you were Dan's friend," she said slowly. "I supposed you were all the things he thinks you are—loyal and honorable and—"

He stopped her. "You needn't say any more," Pearson said, rising. "I just lost my head for a few minutes. I hope you'll forget all about it—and don't worry that I'll bother you again."

Pearson's face was white, too. He left her, striding with long steps into the adjoining room.

Miserably Cherry sat before the counter, resting her chin in her hands. What a night! Who could have foreseen that the outing on which she had set forth so eagerly a few hours before could end like this? She tried to tell herself these things were not true. Pearson had not made that wild declaration. She was not alone with him in an out of the way oil station miles from home with the rain coming down in torrents and the roads flooded. Oh, where was Dan? Why didn't he help her—?

The tears welled in Cherry's eyes. She brushed them aside, rose and went to the doorway.

Pearson was sitting on a box calmly smoking a cigaret. The youth in charge of the oil station was talking and Pearson seemed to be giving him all his attention.

Cherry went back to the counter. She could hear the rain beating a sharp tattoo on the window pane. The fire had gone out and the room was becoming cold. She picked up Max's raincoat and drew it around her. Then she sat for a long while staring out at the storm.

Pearson did not return. It was the other young man who finally appeared in the doorway.

"Storm's letting up some," he announced. "He says if you're willing he'll try to make Scott Junction. You may be able to telephone from there."

Cherry hesitated. "Do you think it's safe?"

"Well, the car seems to be all right. The road will be bad but by driving carefully and going slow you ought to be able to get there."

Cherry was on her feet. "I suppose we'd better try it," she said. "We certainly can't stay here."

Ten minutes later she and Pearson were in the car. The motor sputtered, then settled down to a steady purr and they were off in the darkness.

It was difficult driving. Pearson and Cherry both kept their eyes on the road ahead. It was still raining, the drops coming down in a steady drizzle. The road that had been caked with dust before the rain was slippery and treacherous now. Part of the time Cherry could see only a few feet ahead.

There was little conversation. Pearson was intent on his driving and the girl had no wish to divert him. Once he spoke of a noise in the mechanism of the car.

"Doesn't sound right," he said. "Well, if the old bus can get us through this I guess she'll deserve a little garage attention."

Cherry listened. Here was a new prospect of danger. "You don't

Seventy-Five Get Work On Tuesday

Seventy-five men and women were sent out on jobs Tuesday by the Lubbock Unemployed council, C. W. Benson said yesterday. With the fields in better shape as weeds are being hoed out, there is less demand for farm work, it was explained.

"We are not getting as much milk as we can use," Mrs. J. F. Beesinger of the committee, said yesterday. "We can use a lot more. There are three new cases of typhoid fever reported and several more sick children."

With Mrs. Beesinger on the committee is Mrs. Edna Sullivan who replaced Mrs. D. C. Young.

"The council is in need of clothing and shoes," C. W. Benson said. "We find a good many people with almost no clothing.

"We have a girl that is in need of board and room so she can go to school. The committee also has a woman who wants housekeeping work."

The call for clothing is issued in anticipation of a larger demand for clothing for children when school starts in September.

Rates, Rules and Requirements of Classified Advertising Of The Lubbock Daily Journal (Afternoon)
Lubbock Morning Avalanche (Morning)
Sunday Avalanche-Journal (Sunday Morning)

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers—both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating in the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion, as this paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL Combined Rates:

Minimum words per insertion, 10
One insertion, per word 4c
Two insertions, per word 6c
Three insertions, per word 7c
Seven insertions, per word 12c
Thirty insertions, per word 45c

These rates are for consecutive insertions only. Additional consecutive insertions over 30 times, of 14c per word each.

All out-of-town ads received by mail must be Cash with order. No exceptions.

PHONE 13 or 14

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for our patrons and for one day only.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rate.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors, or any unintentional error that may occur, further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

Classified Advertising accepted until 5:30 p. m. on week days, and 5:30 p. m. on Saturdays, and all advertising received after 5:30 p. m. will be placed under "Too Late To Classify."

For classified display advertising information—

PHONE 13 or 14

TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 5 p. m., to some member of the Classified Advertising Department. We cannot be responsible for notices given before or after these hours, and to a member of some other Department.

Bright Spots On Business Horizon

Increasing Activity In Industrial And Business World Is Giving Rise To Hopes For Prosperity's Ultimate Return

(By The Associated Press)

BRIGHT spots continue to appear on the business map.

In addition to the advance in the securities markets yesterday, the following items were gleaned from the news:

The Tulsa World said the Consolidated Oil company has made a profit the first six months of 1932, with economies assisting. The profit, the size of which has not yet been announced, contrasts with a loss of about $20,000,000 reported for the corresponding period last year by the Sinclair and Prairie companies merged into the Consolidated concern last January.

At Fort Worth, the Williamson-Dickie Manufacturing company, which makes clothing, is working a night shift for the first time in two years. Operators numbering 150 were added to the force.

The Illinois highway department announced 8,400 men are at work on highway construction, a considerable increase over recent months.

More than 175 employes will be recalled to the Florence Stove company of Gardner, Mass., which will go on full time.

William H. Parsons, New York engineer, said he plans to reopen soon an extensive quarry at Branchville, Conn., to mine silica, mica and feldspar. That will mean jobs for 150 men when the plan is in full operation, he said.

The Crosley Radio Corp., cut its net loss from $144,957 in the three months ending June 30, 1931, to $77,698 for the corresponding period this year.

At Superior, Wisconsin, the grain committee of the northwest shippers advisory board forecast that big crops in the near-Northwest would require greatly increased transportation facilities. For grain alone, the forecast said, nearly three times the facilities used in July, August and September last year will be required in the similar period this year.

It would require 19 centuries to spend one billion dollars at the rate of one dollar a minute.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

think it's anything serious, do you?" she asked.

Pearson gave her a quick glance. "Not unless it gets worse," he answered shortly. His gaze returned to the road ahead.

How different he was from the eager, impetuous Max of a short time ago. Cherry, relieved, was nevertheless puzzled at the change Max's manner was completely impersonal. He scarcely seemed to know she was there. Once or twice his absorption seemed almost rude.

She asked the time and was told it was almost 10 o'clock. After that they settled down to a long silence. It was Cherry who cried out at the first sign of lights.

"Look, Max!" she exclaimed. "Do you suppose that's Scott Junction? Oh, if we can only telephone—!"

It was the junction, a rural neighborhood including half a dozen stores, a garage and filling station. WED STORY — 2 1b?r

Pearson halted the car in front of the garage and went inside.

"There's a telephone," he announced when he returned a few minutes later. "Do you want to come inside? I've put a call in for Dan."

A tiny corner of the garage had been walled off as an office. Inside this dreary, dimly lighted place they waited. The operator reported Dan was not at the apartment. They called the News office.

Five minutes later Cherry was calling eagerly, "Is that you, Dan? Oh, I'm so glad to hear your voice! No, we're not at Willow Lake. The storm caught us and we missed the road. We're at a place called Scott Junction. Yes, of course, we're all right only I've worried! What? You didn't start out? Yes, dear, I can hear you. Yes, we're coming back. You'll wait at the office? All right. Wait a minute—Max wants to talk to you."

It was well after midnight when the mud spattered roadster drew up before the office of the Wellington News. The rain had stopped at last.

Dan Phillips pulled the door of the car open. "Cherry!" he exclaimed. "Lord, what a time you must have had!" He grinned from the girl to Pearson. "Say, you two certainly look as though you'd had a soaking."

"Climb in," said Pearson, "I think Cherry's anxious to get home."

They related their adventures during the brief ride. Cherry let Pearson do most of the talking. Phillips was sympathetic. He explained that the storm had started just as Beach and he were ready to set out.

"But how did you lose the way?" he asked.

"I guess I was thinking about the storm and took a wrong turn," Pearson explained. 'I've only driven that road twice. It was a dumb thing to do, I'll admit. Cherry's half-frozen. She'd better get into some warm clothes and have something to drink."

"Come up for a while," Phillips urged. The car had stopped in front of the apartment

"No thanks. Want to be getting on to my own place. I'll call you in the morning, Dan. Goodnight, Mrs. Phillips."

Cherry could not see Pearson's face in the darkness. She said, "Goodnight," and followed Dan up the steps.

It was so good to be home again! The little apartment had never been a more welcome sight. Cherry paused on the threshold as Dan snapped on the living room light.

"I was afraid we'd never get here," she said. "Oh, Dan, it was an awful trip!"

"Never mind about that now, honey. I was worried about you, too, until your call came. Better get into some other clothes. Is there anything in the place to eat? All I had was a couple of sandwiches."

Cherry discarded her rumpled frock for a warm negligee. She combed out her hair and got into comfortable slippers. When she returned to the living room the fragrant odor of coffee was in the air. Dan had a flame in the gas stove and was rummaging about a shelf that held supplies.

"There's rye bread," Cherry informed him, "and cheese and a can of sardines. Wait, you'd better let me get them—"

They opened the gateleg table and set out their mindnight lunch. It contained all the indigestible favirites. Dan had made the coffee strong. He found dill pickles and insisted on adding them to the menu. There was thick cream for the coffee and each of them drank two cups.

Cherry felt Dan's arm around her. She snuggled close. "I shouldn't have gone without you," she whispered. "I'll never do it again. Oh, Dan, you don't know how frightened I was!"

He didn't and he never would. Cherry was thinking of Pearson's astounding announcement.

Dan said easily, "Don't think about it, Cherry. It's all over now."

But was it?

They spent a lazy Sunday together .The day was divinely cool. They had a late breakfast and sat about the house reading the newspapers until the middle of the afternoon. Then Dan went out for a time and returned to take Cherry to dinner. They finished the evening with a bus ride—a treat they had not indulged in for weeks.

Three days of uneventful calm followed. The heat wave seemed to be definitely broken. Cherry did not see Max Pearson, tried not to think about him. She kept busy with housework. Dixie Shannon was away on her vacation and Pinky, the kitten, was Cherry's only companion.

On Wednesday evening she prepared a dinner that was one of Dan's favorites—pork chops stuffed with dressing, broccoli and a fruit salad. She noticed with disappointment that he did not seem to be eating.

"Is there anything wrong with the chops?" she asked.

"No. They're all right."

Cherry waited. After a moment she said. "You're not eating, Dan. What's the matter? Arent' you feeling well?"

"I'm feeling well enough," he assured her but he pushed back his chair. "Not hungry, I guess."

"Lord, Cherry!" he went on again in a burst of impatience, "don't you get sick o fthis sort of life? Aren't you fed up on it?"

"Why, Dan, what do you mean?"

"The same old thing over and over. Day after day! I've had enough of it. I want to get out of this town!"

The girl was horrified.

"But we can't, Dan! You don't—oh, you don't really mean what you're saying, do you?"

"Of course I mean it! What chance do I have in a town like this? I want to go to New York o Chicago. Some place where there a little life! Where a fellow has chance to get some place!"

Cherry said slowly, "You mean you want to go without me?"

Nine Of 1,622 Claimants To Wendel Fortune Allowed Rights To Contest

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Nine of the 1,622 claimants to the vast estate of Miss Ella Wendel have won a legal right to contest the will by which the aged spinster left between $30,000,000 and $100,000,000 to religious and charitable institutions.

Since the death of Miss Wendel a year and a half ago, the estate formally had acknowledged only one surviving relative out of the hundreds in all parts of the world who rushed forward with claims.

But John M. Harlan, one of the heavy battery of lawyers engaged to protect the estate, made the concession which gave eight more the rights of surviving relatives.

The eight, all members of the Barney family and most from the west coast, are: Leah Barney Butler, Eddeva Barney Irwin, Gail Barney White, Effie Barney Bush, Holland Vaughn Barney, Hattie Simmons, Grace MacQuarrie and the estate of Laura Orsa Harrison.

They were conceded to be relatives in the fifth degree and therefore will stand on equal footing with Miss Rosa Dew Stanburr, 74-year-old spinster of Vicksburg, Miss., who had been the only one entitled to contest the will.

Dalhart Family To Return To China As Missionaries

DALHART, July 26 (AP) — After five years in the U. S. Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Thiessen and family will return this week to China as missionaries for the Mennonite church. They served there six years on a previous assignment. For the past year they have lived near Dalhart, he preaching at intervals.

Many exciting adventures are related of the former sojourn in the orient. One time three thousand bandits swept through a peaceful section, sending word ahead that all missionaries would be made captive, but the threat was not carried out. "I knew many men in those days," Mr. Thiessen said, "who were soldiers by day and ruthless bandits by night."

Hitch-Hiker Almost Starved Found Along Highway Tuesday

So weak from starvation that he could not stand, a hitch-hiker about 25 years old was found on a road about a quarter of a mile west of Wolffarth by highway department employes operating a grader Tuesday morning and taken to an automootle service station at Wolffarth, where he was fed. He indicated he had not had food for several days. The filling station operator agreed the unidentified man should work for him for food and lodging.

THE OTHER THREE LEADING BRANDS TO THIS SCIENTIFIC TEST OF CIGARETTE QUALITY

You three old-time cigarette brands are very proud of your cigarettes. You have a right to be! Your cigarettes are mighty good.

Each of you, quite naturally, thinks his cigarette is best. You say: "MY cigarette is Milder!" "It's Fresher!" "Kinder!" And so on.

But don't you think you might give Mr. and Mrs. John K. Smoker a little proof?

OLD GOLD begs to suggest that you have any of the great technical universities test your cigarette against OLD GOLD . . . for heat content . . . using the Calorimeter method approved by scientists throughout the world.

Coolness, as you veterans know, is a clue to cigarette quality. It indicates the choicest, purest tobacco. So how about a little cool test?

Maybe you suspect that we know OLD GOLD will win. We don't deny it. This "cool" test* of 4 leading brands has already been made 75 times . . . and OLD GOLD won consistently.

Old Man Science plays no favorites. It's merit that counts with him. He has found the finer and purer tobacco quality of OLD GOLD, just as he tells the purity of pure gold!

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

*The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B. T. U./lb. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Z

*Tests of the heat of the smoke showed Old Gold smoke definitely cooler than that of the other brands.
