"Revised Proposal B" okayed

Commissioners accept proposal

The redistricting plan - Revised Proposal B - was accepted by commissioners at a called meeting of the Court, which met for the purpose of discussion and action on the proposals.

The commissioners approval halts future proposals from being submitted to the Justice Department unless objections are placed on the commissioner's approved plan.

J. Greg Hudson of the firm Bickerstaff, Heath and Smiley, of Austin, met with the Court to discuss the process and explain the options available to the Court.

He noted that a series of meetings had been held to study the redistricting options.

These meetings were held for the purpose of gathering information to assist in the redrawing of the current county precinct lines, which after the census figures were released, may be in violation of the Texas Voting Rights Act, he explained.

Hudson noted that as a result of the meetings, two proposals remain for the Court's consideration.

The first - Proposal B - being the plan presented to the court by the firm of Bickerstaff, Heath and Smiley.

The second, or alternate, plan was presented to the Court on Friday, July 26, by members of the citizens redistricting committee.

Hudson noted that the citizens committee had received several extensions for the purpose of either commenting on Proposal B or to present an alternative plan.

The alternative plan presented by the citizens committee was described as having a single drawn precinct and could not be considered as a plan that could be compared 'head to head' with Proposal B.

Hudson noted that he had met with Sara Ortiz and Esther Goss, representing the citizens committee, prior to the meeting to discuss the competing or alternate proposal.

The citizens committee told Hudson that it would take a week or two to present a plan with all four precincts drawn, he said.

Hudson told the commissioners that one of their options would be to approve an extension allowing time for completion of the competing plan, the other would be to approve Proposal B.

The alternate plan that had been presented by the citizens committee was presented by Hudson to the commissioners.

He explained that boundary lines at some points of the map were in question, especially of some areas in Colorado City.

Hudson noted that he had expressed this problem to the citizens committee and had been provided with a blow-up, more detailed, map of the west side of Colorado City, but that sufficient detail was not presented for him to recreate the east side of Colorado City and could not recreate the data at the firm's Austin office.

Due to this the figures presented by the citizens committee could not

County's medical insurance skyrockets

A new major medical insurance policy was adopted Wednesday by Commissioners who met with the County's health insurance administrator who discussed the County's insurance options and the substantial rate increase to medical coverage.

Commissioners were informed after a lengthy discussion on the various coverage options and benefit packages, that the County will pay insurance costs of $224,000 for the next coverage year which begins on September 1.

This represents an increase of $72,000 from the previous years funding.

The approved policy will differ from last years in that the $250 deductible level was raised to $500.

Also applied to the new coverage was a $1500 per employee cap on prescription drugs and a $3000 cap placed on employee's policy whose dependents are covered on the County's plan.

Rita Lawlis, Ted L. Parker and Associates, Lubbock, met with commissioners as a representative of the firm which administrants the County's health insurance plan.

She provided information on insurance options and provided the commissioners with information into the problems which have been part of the substantial rise in insurance coverage costs.

Parker and Associates serves as a third party administrator for the County's insurance requirements, Lawlis said.

She noted that in this capacity, Parker and Associates sends out bid specification sheets on behalf of the County's needs and works as an administrator for the County in maintaining the self-insured portion of the County's insurance framework.

Lawlis noted that bid specifications were sent to six insurance companies as they sought to find the best coverage and premium rates for the county.

Three of the six insurers returned no-bids on the insurance requirement.

One of the reasons they gave, she explained, was that three individuals currently covered on the County policy had incurred medical expenses in excess of $10,000 in the past year.

The other main reason that the insurance companies returned no-bids was that 35 percent of the County teachers learn new science program

Colorado City and Loraine elementary school teachers met Thursday to learn about the new videodisc-based science program that has been approved for use in the local school districts.

The one day seminar was led by representatives of Optical Data Corporation, New Jersey, whose 'Windows on Science' package will be implemented into the 1st thru 6th grade classes this year.

Forty teachers and administrators from the West Texas area spent the day learning about the new method of instruction and received hands-on experience with the system at the gathering held at Colorado Middle School.

Gail Knight, Region 14 Curriculum and Instruction Director, Optical Data Corporation, explained that the program is the first media presentation program to be adopted for classroom use by the State Board of Education.

The science package is consistent with the revised Texas Essential Elements and has been approved for adoption as a full textbook program.

'Widows on Science' involves the use of a laser disc which is used to display the curriculum on video monitors.

Budget projections given by auditor

County Auditor, Georgie Griffith, met Thursday afternoon with Commissioners as budget sessions wind down to report that budget requests and state mandates have pushed projected expenditures to a point where commissioners may be required to approve a defecit budget.

From rough figures that have not yet been finalized, Commissioners will meet next week to tentatively approve a 1992 budget for 3.7 million dollars.

The budget represents an approximate defecit of $570,000 according to figures presented by Griffith.

The 1992 budget represents an increase of approximately $450,000 over last years budget.

Griffith met with the court to give commissioners a preliminary indication of what the budget totals will represent.

She noted that Tax Collector/Assessor, Mike Burt, had released figures setting the effective tax rate for the county at .3857.

The effective tax rate represents the level of funding required to collect the same dollar value as the year before.

Due to value adjustments to the tax role, the County's tax base dwindled by almost eight million dollars from last year.

Commissioners noted that they have been working through the budget hearing process, knowing that the property values would be down from last year and hoping that an increase in taxes could be avoided.

Last year's County tax rate was .38 a decline from the .3907 the previous year.

Griffith estimated tax revenue, plus fines, fees, sales tax, and

Citizens committee contacts lawyer

The citizens redistricting committee has been in contact with their lawyers concerning the actions taken this past week by the commissioners court.

Sara Ortiz noted that the citizens committee was not allowed to work with the commissioners towards a redistricting plan, as was indicated to members of the committee when they agreed to become part of the committee.

She said that the committee members were treated as a seperate group instead of working with the commissioners towards a redistricting plan.

The citizens redistricting committee will continue to meet with their lawyers to prepare a

Attorney General steps back from CED suit

The Mitchell County Education District which currently has pending litigation filed against it, found out this week that the Attorney General will not be the main representing lawyer for the District.

The Attorney General's office will continue to work with the case, but will only handle parts of the suit which deal with the constitutionality of the County Education Districts.

It was noted that the question of constitutionality is already being tried in the courts.

The Mitchell County Education District will meet August 5 for their regular meeting and discuss the topic of legal representation.

STEVE HALL

E-Z Way owner introduced

E Z Way Superette will become C & S Grocery effective August 4, as ownership of the Colorado City establishment changes.

Steve and Cindy Hall, formerly of Abilene, will assume the stores ownership on Sunday from Vernon Lewis.

"This is the opportunity we've been waiting for," Steve said of the ownership decision.

The Hall's have experience in the grocery business. Steve has been involved in the business all his life through family involvement in a store in Winters.

Cindy has 8 years experience with M System in Abilene and 4 years of experience with Super Duper.

"We've always wanted to get back to a smaller town and own our own business," Steve said of the decision to move from Abilene.

The Hall's indicated that the store would remain as an Independent Grocer's affiliate.

The Hall's have 2 children, Tina, 8, and Troy, 4.

Lewis started E Z Superette in July 1965 and operated it until August 1977 at which time he sold the store. In July of 1989 he returned to the store and has operated it from that time.

"I appreciate the support the people of Mitchell County have given me," Lewis said, "so that we can have two grocery stores in town."

"I appreciate, very much, the many friends we've made," he added.

be verified by Hudson.

The citizens committee provided the following figures for the one precinct that was submitted. The precinct showed to be comprised of 1905 people, 1137 (59.7) Hispanic, 514 (27) Anglo, 248 (13) Black and 7 (.4) Other. This plan would have a minority influence district with a minority population of 72.7 percent.

Figures relating to Proposal B show that Precinct 1 would have a population consisting of 2053 people, 1437 (70) Anglo, 534 (26.01) Hispanic, 79 (3.85) Black and 3 (.15) Asian.

Precinct 2 would consist of 1932 persons, 1065 (55.12) Anglo, 782 (40.48) Hispanic, 83 (4.3) Black and 2 (.1) Asian.

Precinct 3 would be comprised of a population of 2016, 1448 (71.83) Anglo, 476 (23.61) Hispanic and 92 (4.56) Black.

Population totals for Precinct 4 show 2015 people, 1310 (65.01) Anglo, 597 (29.63) Hispanic and 108 (5.36) Black.

As a county, totals show that of the 8016 people, 5260 (65.62) are Anglo, 2389 (29.8) are Hispanic, 362 (4.52) are Black and 5 (.06) are Asian.

Hudson noted that Mitchell County is a fairly integrated community that lacks high concentration areas of minority percentages.

He found it impossible to come up with a minority influence district with over 65 percent minorities without running precinct boundaries all over the county.

The minority voting strength appears to be higher in the precinct presented by the citizens committee, Hudson noted.

Any plan submitted according to the Justice Department guidelines must however be a geographically compact unit, Hudson said.

He noted that he was concerned that the citizens plan is not - noting that it goes from Loraine to Colorado City, goes north to south, and at portions appears to be only the width of interstate 20.

Hudson also expressed concern that the precinct boundaries seem to follow numerous blocks within the city of Colorado City which would force the other three precincts to also have numerous boundaries.

These non-consistent boundaries would create voter confusion, Hudson said.

Hudson noted that in his talk with members of the citizens redistricting committee, he made these concerns known.

The committee agreed that the presentation was a rough plan which needed modification and expected to have a plan with all four precincts drawn within a couple of weeks, Hudson noted.

Hudson noted that it was imperative that the Court act promptly on the redistricting matter because the Justice Department could take up to 120 days to review the proposal.

An approved plan by the Justice Department is mandated to be in place by the January 2, 1992 deadline on the redistricting matter, he said.

After the commissioners approve commissioner precinct boundaries, the next step would be to approve Justice of the Peace and election precinct boundaries.

Hudson noted that he feels a workable plan can be adopted and that it would be up to the commissioners as to how the Court wishes to proceed.

During discussion concerning the citizens committee proposal it was noted that the location of precinct barns and road mileage could not be determined.

With this lack of information, and the inability to verify the numbers of the citizens committee plan, Commissioner Buddy Hertenberger made the motion to accept Proposal B.

It was then discussed that one revision needed to be made to Proposal B, taking a block from Precinct 2 and moving it into Precinct 1.

The location of the proposed block would have the Precinct 1 boundary jog one block into Precinct 2 territory from 11th to 12th Streets to Hickory in order to pick up the School Administration building to use as a voting place.

With this change noted, to make a Revised Proposal B, the order to approve county precincts to go into effect as of January 1, 1992 was accepted.

Hudson requested the commissioners again state their concerns about the citizens committee proposal, which were that commissioners were not able to tell road mileage, could not define the location of precinct barns, that the plan did not represent a compact geographical unit and that the precinct did not follow common boundary lines.

Also noted was that time had become an important factor in the process of making a decision so that the Justice Department could receive the material as soon as possible.

It was noted that a called meeting would be held next Tuesday and that the approval of election and Justice of the Peace

Commissioner's will meet next Tuesday at a called meeting for the purpose of tentatively approving a new budget.

Final approval of a 1992 budget is expected to appear on the agenda of the regular August meeting of the Commissioner's Court.

Commissioners Bill Preston, Ed Roach, Carl Guelker and Buddy Hertenberger were in attendance at the called meeting. County Judge Ray Mayo was absent.

Fire breaks out in storeroom

Fire broke out in a store room at Fuller Foods Thriftway late Wednesday evening.

Units of the Colorado City Fire Department were called to respond to the fire that was reported by grocery store employees at 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Two of the store's sprinkler systems were activated by the blaze.

Reports indicate that water and smoke damage affected a lot of the store's merchandise.

Fuller's was able to reopen for business at their normal time on Thursday morning.

56 vote absentee

As of Friday afternoon, 56 people have taken opportunity of absentee voting for the State Constitutional and County Education District elections that are being conducted at the County Clerks office in the Mitchell County Courthouse until Tuesday, August 6.

INSURANCE

County's coverage is for people aged 50 and older.

The County covers 63 employees on its medical insurance plan.

15 of the employees have chosen to pay in order to have their dependents covered by the County policy.

Lawlis noted that it is coming to the point where "insurance is not going to cover doctor's office visits anymore."

It was noted that medical insurance is moving towards only covering catastrophic illness.,

Because of the high dollar amount of the claims this past year, medical expenses have exceeded the County's claim liability.

Commissioners were informed that due to the unexpected demands, the County, which funds its own self insurance policy up to an amount of $10,000, where major medical becomes effective, underfunded the insurance account last year.

Several options of a Commonwealth major medical insurance policy were presented to the commissioners for their consideration.

After a lengthy discussion concerning the alternatives, commissioners adopted a policy which raised the deductible levels of the previous year and placed a cap on prescription drug expenses.

It was noted that medication received as a patient in a hospital would not be included in the ceiling limit.

Pearlene Stewart of Stewart Insurance Services, Snyder, attended the meeting as the agent of the approved Commonwealth policy that had been recommended by Parker and Associates.

Commissioners who were in attendance at the meeting included Bill Preston, Ed Roach, Carl Guelker and Buddy Hertenberger. County Judge Ray Mayo was absent from the meeting.

Ortiz noted that the committee members will meet with members of West Texas Legal Aid Service of Abilene on Monday to discuss options that are available to the group.

Rolando Rios, a San Antonio lawyer who specializes in redistricting issues, and Bill Garrett of Dallas, have been contacted concerning the issues that the citizens committee wishes to see resolved.

Ortiz noted that members of the committee have also been in contact with lawyers with Texas Rural Legal Aid of Austin and Southwest Voters Registration Education Project out of San Antonio.

Ortiz said that the committee will file an objection to the county's plan with the Justice Department.

TEACHERS

The program combines science with advanced photography techniques to create student interest in the studies.

Bill Clark developed the idea, using his strong background in both areas to develop the teaching - learning aid which has been met the approval of school boards.

This will be the first year for the program to be used in the local school districts.

Knight noted that she would be returning to Colorado City to work with teachers after the program has been introduced in the classroom.

Area towns in Region 14 that have approved the video-disc method of instruction, and will be using the system this year in their school system include: Colorado City, Loraine, Abilene, Breckenridge, Merkel, Clyde, Anson, Hamlin, Jim Ned, Ranger, Hawley, Albany, Eula, Roscoe, Trent, Hermleigh, Highland and Paint Creek.

Loraine Registration

Loraine Independent School District will hold a pre-registration for all students new to the district and for kindergarten children that have not already pre-registered.

The pre-registration will be held on Monday, August 12, from 9 a.m. until 12 p.m.

Students should bring social security cards, report cards if available and birth certificate.

Do you know what the difference is between MTV and the Persian Gulf War?

Both MTV and the Persian Gulf region appeared in the news this past week, each celebrated an anniversary.

It was on August 1, 1981 that MTV first appeared on television screens and almost single-handedly ushered in the video age. On Thursday MTV lit ten candles on their cake.

On the next day a more sobering anniversary was celebrated. August 2 was the date of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait one year ago.

MTV in ten years has become an undeniable influence in the music industry. 55.4 million homes in the United States receive MTV.

It has grown to be the eighth largest cable network and has a global reach, going into 194 million households in 40 countries, that was attained by marketing itself to an age group of 12 - 34 year olds who claim 'I want my MTV!'

Stars have been created by the television network; Madonna, George Michael, Billy Idol, and Sinead O'Conner, just to name a few, have careers that were launched upward by MTV appearances.

MTV has been called America's jukebox by those who like it and risque by those who don't, but either way it has revolutionized the music industry and affects the culture we live in.

The Persian Gulf War also affected our lives and culture. Few people were not involved in the events that began to unfold last August 2.

It seemed that everyone knew someone who was serving in the military at the time of the Desert Storm military operation, whether it be family member or friend, whose life was suddenly changed by the actions of Saddam Hussein's army.

People who had only flipped past CNN on the way to another channel came to intimately know their staff during the days of war.

There were prayers for the troops. People were wearing prayer bracelets with colored beads to remind them of the different needs of troops serving in the war zone.

Yellow ribbons were everywhere; church's, houses, cars, clothes and worn as part of hair styles.

There were flags in abundance that were hoisted and waved proudly.

And America watched with pride as the military proved it could perform as well as they had said it could.

But in a recent article, the Socio-Economic Research Institute has issued word that the burst of patriotism has died.

The Institute keeps up with trends which constitute "...a definite predictable direction that follows an event or sequence of events that has social, political and economic implications."

In order for actions to be considered a trend, it must meet all three of the conditions.

The Institute noticed that the patriotism which flourished during the Desert Storm period died as quickly as the battle, so it is cataloged as only a fad.

So what is the difference between MTV and the Persian Gulf War?

Trends started by MTV have proven to affect our culture.

Dorn Chapel to celebrate 100th birthday

The members of Dorn Chapel United Methodist Church and descendants of the J. M. Dorn family, proudly announce the beginning of the Church's second hundred years of joyful existence, August 11, 1991.

The celebration will begin at 9 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts, followed by the morning worship service at 10 a.m..

After the service, lunch will be served outdoors, followed by an open house and old-fashioned gospel singing.

Many in attendance will be dressed circa 1900, and the public is invited to the open house and gospel singing.

Dorn Chapel is located in the Lake Colorado City area, southwest of Colorado City and west of the lake.

The dignified little white church is just a short distance from F.M. 2836 connecting Interstate 20 and State Highwasy 163.

Pioneer settler J. M. Dorn, his wife, their ten children, two covered wagons, and sixteen head of stock came to the dry, parched range land of Mitchell County from Edgefield County, South Carolina in 1890.

The reason for the move was a search for free education for the children. Tuition and schooling were expensive back east.

Religion was equally as important to the settlers, so a church was founded in May 1891.

The Church, originally organized by Rev J. W. Montgomery, J. M. Dorn and other settlers, was named Union Church South.

Construction on a new church, school building was started on April 11, 1905 and is regularly attended by twenty-five members and many visitors to this day.

Consumers can expect discounts at 'markets

COLLEGE STATION -- Discounts on some beef, pork and poultry cuts -- and numerous produce items -- are in store for Texas consumers in August.

Dr. Dick Edwards of College Station, a food marketing expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said consumers will have a wider selection of quality products in both the meats and produce sections.

"Consumers have been expecting retail beef prices to come down for some time when large numbers of fed cattle were marketed," Edwards said. "It appears that this will not happen until later in the year, since cattle supplies coming to market thus far have been well managed."

He said pork prices will begin a slight downward trend because of an oversupply that is expected to last through the fall months.

He said poultry also continues to be a good buy, with whole fryers at 45 to 49 cents a pound topping the list and the thigh-leg cut at 39 cents a pound running a close second.

Sales on various forms of catfish and certain types of seafood also will be featured during the month, Edwards said.

The produce section will offer a wide variety of specials, particularly on vegetables for salads.

"The most popular salad ingredients are still lettuce and tomatoes, both now in abundant supply. Those wishing to add fresh yellow squash or cucumbers will find these items also discounted," Edwards said.

Edwards said cantaloupes, honeydew melons, watermelons, nectarines, plums and peaches still will be available, but he advised to shop for these early since supplies will be reduced as the month progresses.

Other sale items during the month will be discounted for people wanting to take advantage of the ample stocks of fruits and vegetables presently being featured. However, canned goods also will be on special late in the month to clear space for the new crop foods.

A mid-August blitz is expected on school supplies, with these being among advertised specials. Seasonal merchandise also to be greatly reduced will be lawn care items, lawn chairs, coolers and sunglasses, Edwards said.

Chevron receives approval

Chevron Pipe Line Company received approval of a request made to County Commissioners seeking permission to install pipeline in Mitchell County in action at Wednesday's called meeting of the Court.

The request sought permission to lay a 14 inch welded steel line adjacent to existing Chevron lines already in Mitchell County.

The line will be used to carry liquid propane gas.

The approved path of the line will run east to west across the county. The location is south of Loraine, Colorado City and Westbrook.

The path makes a jog around the southern end of Lake Colorado City as the line makes its way across the county.

The approved path of the line will affect 10 of Mitchell County's roads.

County Commissioners Bill Preston, Ed Roach, Carl Guelker and Buddy Hertenberger were in attendance at the meeting and gave the requested approval to Chevron. County Judge Ray Mayo was absent.

Junell attempts to clarify ballot questions

By ROBERT JUNELL

The August 10th ballot regarding property tax exemptions and taxation on tangible personal property has created some concern in our district. In an attempt to clarify the ballot questions, I have tried to simplify this explanation on the voting process.

Under court duress, the Legislature recently passed a new Texas school finance law which created a new entity called the county education district (CED). Article VIII, Section 1, of the Texas Constitution requires these new CED's to tax all real and tangible personal property unless specifically exempted by the Constitution. Therefore, the August 10th election is an opportunity to provide specific exemptions to property taxpayers in the new CED's.

On the August 10th ballot, voters will be asked several questions. On the statewide ballot, Amendment #1 voters across Texas will be asked whether or not they want the officials of the new CED's to grant homestead exemptions and tax tangible personal property or whether that decision should be made by the voters in the CED. This Amendment #1 is worded ambiguously; however, it must be emphasized that approval of the amendment does not mean that voters approve taxation of the personal property. Amendment #1 merely asks whether the decision to grant homestead exemptions and to tax tangible personal property should be made by the CED's or you the voter. A "Yes" vote on Amendment #1 means that voters will make that choice.

On the statewide ballot, Amendment #2 pertains to issuing general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to students. I will discuss this amendment further in my next column.

Also on the August 10th ballot will be the three local option questions that are related to Amendment #1. These local option questions deal with: 1) percentage residence homestead exemption, 2) disabled and elderly homestead exemption and 3) taxation of tangible personal property. As mentioned earlier, approval of the statewide Amendment #1 allows the voters to decide on these three local option issues separately.

The first local option question would allow CED voters to exempt 20% of the appraised value of a residence homestead. In the second local question, CED voters will be asked to exempt $10,000 of the appraised value of the residence homestead of an individual who is disabled or 65 or older. The third local option question is whether CED voters want their tangible personal property taxed. Tangible personal property includes all property other than residential property and property used for the production of income. Presently, most taxing units do not tax such property.

In summary, a "Yes" vote on local option questions 1 and 2 would grant voters the homestead exemptions while a "Yes" vote on local option question 3 would allow the CED to tax tangible personal property.

If my staff or I can answer any questions, please feel free to call or write at (512) 463-0472 and P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78768-2910.

1991 PROPERTY TAX RATES IN CITY OF LORAINE

This notice concerns 1991 property tax rates for City of Loraine, Texas. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's EFFECTIVE tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's ROLLBACK tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$63,574.1281
Last year's debt taxes	$0.0000
Last year's total taxes	$63,574.1281

TYPE OF PROPERTY TAX FUND	BALANCE
General Fund	$140,000.0000

SCHEDULE B: 1991 DEBT SERVICE

The unit plans to pay for following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid	Interest to be Paid	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
Sewer Bonds	$4,000.00	$3,000.0000		$7,000.00

Who pays the hidden liability tax?

By Sen. Teel Bivins
(R-Amarillo)

Ten years ago, there were 37,439 personal injury lawsuits filed in Texas courts, not including cases involving auto accidents. Last year, there were an estimated 59,259, an increase of over 58%.

While this mushrooming of lawsuits is good for some attorneys, it's bad for Texas. It's a symptom of a big problem facing our Texas.

Simply put, our system of law costs Texas families by inflating the cost of goods and services they buy. It reduces the options available to consumers by driving products off the market. It discourages economic growth and jobs by making it unprofitable for companies to locate in Texas. It presents a danger to the health and well-being of Texans by denying them access to life-saving drugs and safe products.

These problems stem from defects in our state's laws governing products liability. They have a particularly strong impact on small businesses, wholesalers, retailers and distributors.

Take the Lubbock retailer, who sold a ladder to a man who loaned it to another man, who tried to carry a piece of plywood up the ladder. The wind blew him off the ladder and he was hurt. He sued not only the out-of-state company that made the ladder, but also the retailer who sold it to his friend who loaned it to him!

Experts say as much as a third of the cost of a household ladder represents the cost of the manufacturer paying insurance and attorney fees from lawsuits like this.

If a simple ladder is 33% more expensive because of the explosion of lawsuits, you can imagine how much more your family spends for prescription drugs, kitchen appliances, cars, and athletic equipment than you need to. For example, the cost of a vaccine may be inflated ten fold because of liability costs, according to some research.

Dr. Peter Huber estimates the additional costs to America's economy of liability lawsuits and all that goes with them is $80 billion a year. Texas' share of that could be as much as $4 billion a year. That money is paid by every family, including yours.

That $80 billion doesn't take into account the cost to our Texas economy because of our reputation as happy hunting ground for plaintiff lawyers. Nor does it include the price we pay by not having some products which are never brought to market because of concerns about lawsuits.

All right, who benefits from the current system? Not most injured parties. For every dollar they receive, as many as two dollars are paid to attorneys and everyone else who plays a role in the courtroom drama.

Not consumers. For they pay the hidden liability tax on every product they buy.

Not small business people. It's small business people who wake up in the middle of the night, worrying about insurance bills and where the next law suit is coming from.

Mostly the people who benefit are the lawyers, particularly the personal injury lawyers who profit handsomely from these cases.

Why does the problem persist? Because it involves technical concepts of the law which most people don't understand. Because the pain is inflicted on everyone, but in small doses or hidden ways. So while the price tag for Texas is huge, the cost to any one family is small or concealed.

But we must do something about reforming Texas's products liability laws or we will never shake our growing reputation as a bad place to do business.

In a bipartisan effort, Democratic State Representative Curtis Seidlits (Sherman) and I tried to pass meaningful and reasonable products liability reform earlier this year, during the regular legislative session. The Texas House approved a reform bill by a wide margin (with the support of a majority of Democratic and Republican Representatives), but it was bottled up in the Texas Senate by a handful of personal injury lawyers.

Along with representatives of the business community, Rep. Seidlets and I negotiated with these plaintiff attorneys. Regardless of the concessions and compromises we offer, the plaintiff's attorneys were unwilling to budge an inch. Instead, they raised objection after objection until the clock ran out. We understand their position: since they are virtually the only people to benefit from the current lawsuit-happy environment, why should they want change?

We regret their intransigent attitude. Meaningful, long-term reform of our state's products liability laws is critical to economic growth and recovery.

Some legislative leaders are talking about a special study of the issue before we meet again in the regular session scheduled for January 1993. Such a study would help lay the groundwork for an answer to this problem, an answer based on consensus that reaches across party lines.

If we want jobs and good paychecks for all our people and if we want to give Texas families the broadest and least expensive range of safe choices in goods and services, then we must reform our products liability laws.

Band, sports teams start practice soon

by Tracy Hoover

August is here! You know what that means. Summer activities are coming to a halt and everyone is reluctantly getting ready for school to start. It's time to trade in the swimsuit, ball, and glove for footballs and volleyballs. Coaches are sitting around chalkboards improving plays for the new season, band directors are creating new half time shows, and players are regretting their lazy summer habits that they will definitely pay for during two-a-day workouts.

Because of school starting earlier this year scheduled workouts have been juggled around to accomodate the August 22nd beginning. Band members will have to be ready for action starting the eighth. Volleyball players have until the twelth to rest while football players have a team meeting on the eighth.

These workouts will only last two weeks, but soon enough players of all sports and instruments will be passing, blocking, setting, spiking, and marching their way into the new season.

There are others working towards success also. We can't forget the girls who back our team up throughout the season cheering from the sidelines. Yes, the cheerleaders and flags are preparing for the new year as well. They are constantly inventing and practicing new stunts, routines, and cheers to add to the excitment of the season.

With all of this in mind you might want to sit back and enjoy the last few carefree days of summer before the hustle and bustle of the new school year begins.

Rotary Visit: District 5730 Governor, Dr. Jim Cook, left, visited the local Rotary Club on Wednesday. Police Chief David Montgomery, center, a long-time Rotarian was welcomed by the Governor as a new member to the local club and local club president Lynn Hargrove was presented with a President Elect Training Seminar award at the meeting.

District Governor meets with local Rotary Club

The Colorado City Rotary Club hosted their District Governor at the regular noon meeting of the club on Wednesday.

Dr. Jim Cook, District 5730 Governor, spoke of the aims and accomplishments of Rotary International programs.

He urged those present to look beyond themselves in presenting the themes for the current Rotary year as he spoke to members of the local organization.

"Rotary International is a successful organization because it is interested in people," Cook said.

"We have a vision that goes beyond ourselves," he noted.

Cook told of the effort by Rotary International to eradicate the disease of polio that the organization took on as a program in 1985.

The plan was first designed to eradicate the disease by the year 2005.

Due to the response and support of Rotarians, who have funded the program with $230 million dollars, the program schedule was stepped-up.

It may now be possible to have the disease completely eradicated as early as 1995 or 1996.

Successes were also noted in Cook's speech about other Rotary programs such as the Youth Exchange which the Colorado City Rotary Club has been involved with.

The members present were encouraged to not only be members of a Rotary Club, but to be true Rotarians in every sense of the word.

Rotary International is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year and the organization has spread into 172 different countries.

Cook, an Amarillo veterinarian, and his wife, Sue, also visited with Colorado City Rotarians and their wives at a Tuesday night dinner and board meeting.

The governor makes an annual visit to each of the Rotary Clubs in his district.
