Iran paid $12 million plus for arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Accusing the Reagan administration of violating the law, House Majority Leader Jim Wright said today that Iran paid more than $12 million for the weapons it purchased from the United States.

Wright, commenting after a closed-door hearing with CIA Director William Casey, told reporters that 1,000 of the 2,008 TOW missiles bought from the United States were assembled in San Antonio last February. Others were shipped separately, he said.

"All were paid for by Iran — $12 million plus," Wright said.

Wright, who is likely to be House Speaker next year, said that other than the United States and Israel, "several other countries" have shipped arms to Iran. But he said these shipments were not necessarily connected to the efforts by the United States to improve U.S.-Iranian relations and free American hostages held in Lebanon.

"We have learned about people from other countries who have been involved in shipments (of arms) with the condoning of the United States and the complicity of the United States in some instances," Wright said.

And he said these countries "felt, at least, that they were abiding with the wishes of the United States" in shipping arms to Iran.

Wright said Casey assured members of the House Intelligence Committee that there are no other cases in which the CIA has been ordered to withhold information about a covert operation from Congress.

"I don't think there is any question that the law has been broken," Wright said.

He said the law forbids the United States from withholding secret information from the Congress.

Rep. Bob McEwen, R-Ohio, commenting on the situation, said, "Hell hath no fury like a congressional committee scorned."

Playoff 'picks' watched

For Snyder football fans undecided on which teams to root for in Class 3A and 2A matchups this Friday, the Sports Committee of the Snyder chamber has some suggestions.

Their recommendations are based on teams which, if they win, might consider their next playoff game in Snyder.

"It comes down to the right teams have to win," commented Tim Riggan, who is heading the committee this year.

The teams now pinpointed need wins for possible matchups in Snyder the weekend after Thanksgiving. Here's how the committee would pick the winners:

Region I
Class 3A

—Kermit to defeat Friona in their game at Brownfield; and Iowa Park to defeat Waco Robinson in a game to be played at Weatherford. A Kermit-Iowa Park matchup would place Snyder in good geographical location for a playoff site.

—Crane to defeat Childress in a game to be played at Levelland; and Breckenridge to defeat Lampasas in a game scheduled in Brownwood. The matchup of Crane and Breckenridge would again put Snyder approximately in the middle and Crane has already expressed a willingness to play here.

Region I
Class 2A

—A win by Abernathy in their game with Panhandle to be played in Canyon; and a win by Reagan County in the game versus Anson due in Big Spring. Abernathy and Reagan County might choose Snyder to play.

—Seagraves defeating Quanah in their game slated in Plainview; and Goldthwaite beating Forsan in the game due in Abilene. Seagraves has played locally numerous times, and a matchup with Goldthwaite would place Snyder approximately in the middle for traveling distance.

Riggan said committee members are watching these games in particular and should know something definite "depending on who wins" by Saturday.

He noted also that if the right teams win, other matchups are possible here for the weekend of Dec. 5-6. These again involve class 3A and 2A teams.

Burglaries added to reward program

Crime Stopper reward money is now offered for information related to two burglaries reported here in early November.

These include the Nov. 9 burglary of the Rainbow Bread warehouse located at 2503 Ave. F, and the break-in at the Bargain Center, 3002 25th St., reported on Nov. 15.

From the bread warehouse, an assortment of bread and dinner rolls were taken. The Bargain Center burglary included the theft of watches, knives, belt buckles and music lamps.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $1,000 for information leading to the indictment of individuals responsible for crimes.

Other cases tagged for Crime Stopper dollars include:

—An Oct. 26 hit-and-run incident during which a residence at 4517 Galveston was damaged.

—An Oct. 23 residential burglary at 2800 Denison.

—The Oct. 9 theft of chainsaws from Tom's Marine.

—The Oct. 6 theft of cartons of cigarettes from the West-T-Go Conoco Station.

—The Sept. 14 burglary of Thompson's Shoe Store.

Company G session due

A business meeting is scheduled Saturday morning in conjunction with the 13th annual "Company G" reunion, the World War II unit known as "Matney's Raiders."

The Saturday business meeting will begin with a 9 a.m. registration at the science lecture hall at Western Texas College. Don Adams, president of the group this year, will preside. The business meeting will officially begin at 9:45 a.m.

Friday night, the group will attend a barbecue dinner to be served beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Towle Park Barn.

Company G, which mobilized here on Nov. 25, 1940, was part of the 142nd Infantry, 36th Division.

The unit fought in six European campaigns over a five-year period.

The chief responded that these guys are only beginners, that a real professional car thief can break into a steering column and drive the car off in 40 seconds.

"I know," said the chief. "I've had mine stolen."

Cowtown police also reported an unofficial classification in their reports called "Come and Get Me."

Play tickets said available

Tickets were still available Friday morning for all three performances of "The Swinging Piper," the musical presentation due from the Snyder Junior High School choir and drama department.

The ticket price is $2 for general admission.

The opening performance is slated in the junior high auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Friday. It will be followed by a matinee show at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and a final performance that night at 7:30.

"The Swinging Piper" is based on Robert Browning's narrative poem "The Pied Piper." The local production features 36 junior high students plus a three-piece band.

The show is under the direction of Eleanor Dryden and Barbara Perkins.

Ask Us

Q. — How does one address mail to an ex-judge?

A. — In the case of a retired individual, it is proper to continue to address them based upon the highest rank they achieved in office. For a retired judge, the proper address is The Hon. John Smith. The salutation in a letter would be either Dear Judge or Dear Sir.

Resignation

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University President L. Donald Shields announced today that he is resigning almost immediately for medical reasons, officials said.

Shields, 50, who became president in October 1980, cited deteriorating health caused by diabetes as the reason for his early retirement, SMU spokesman Roddy Wolper said.

The early retirement is not linked to recent allegations of NCAA rules violations in the football program at SMU, which currently is in the second year of a three-year probationary period.

Man gets life

AUSTIN (AP) — A 19-year-old man who stabbed and robbed a woman in her home while dressed in a "ninja warrior" costume has been sentenced to life in prison.

A jury assessed the life sentence Thursday for Troy Wigley, 19, who authorities said may have spent two days in the attic of his victim's home before the brutal attack.

Ellen Duwe, 43, who survived the assault, said after the verdict, "I'm very pleased. It's always nice to see justice done."

Assistant District Attorney Paul Womack told the jury in final arguments that if Wigley had killed Ms. Duwe, he would have faced capital murder charges.

Key witness will not testify

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The refusal of a key witness to take the witness stand brought an abrupt end to the defense's case in the trial of a 16-year-old boy accused of killing four members of an El Paso family.

Jesus Soltero Jr., 16, is on trial on a charge of capital murder in the March 6 shotgun slayings of Jose Raul Castorena, 36; his wife, Luz Elena, 35; his son Fabian, 15, and daughter Ruby Marcela, 11.

Soltero has been certified to stand trial as an adult, but because of his age, the maximum possible sentence is life imprisonment. Testimony began Monday after two weeks of jury selection in state district court.

Closing arguments were to begin today with the case expected to go to the jury late today.

The reluctant witness, Eddie Corral, allegedly sold the shotgun used in the killings to Soltero, according to earlier testimony by Maria Esther Soltero, sister of the defendant.

Corral declined to testify Thursday on grounds that he could incriminate himself. Corral was on probation on a burglary charge when he allegedly sold the shotgun to Soltero.

A neighbor of the victims testified Thursday that she thought she saw Fabian Castorena the day after the killings are believed to have occurred.

"I knew Fabian. We were both in orchestra," Acelia Vaquera said.

Debate opens over health care plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Health Secretary Otis Bowen's proposals to help Americans finance the high cost of catastrophic illness drew mixed reviews on Capitol Hill, where key Democrats welcomed the report but questioned the method of solving the problem.

"I know it will provoke much debate and that is good," Bowen said. "The problem is complex. There are many potential answers, none are simple or easy."

The proposals, unveiled Thursday by the Department of Health and Human Services, include a $4.92 monthly increase in the Medicare Part B premium to help the 30 million Medicare beneficiaries pay for extended hospital stays and other medical costs.

The premiums would raise $1.77 billion a year so that beneficiaries would not have to pay more than $2,000 annually for their share of Medicare-covered expenses. About 800,000 recipients, less than 5 percent, pay more than this amount each year.

This proposal was called "right on target" by Rep. Fortney Stark, D-Calif., chairman of the House Ways and Means health subcommittee. But others said a higher premium would place an unfair burden on low-income elderly people without creating any new benefits.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairman of another key House subcommittee in the health area, said the report "shows no real commitment to putting new federal resources into addressing the problems."

The private Medigap insurance industry, which sells policies that pay for costs not covered by Medicare, accused Bowen of trying to take away their business.

"The $4.92 a month is really just taking over what the private sector is already doing and it's not really creating any new benefit," said John B. O'Day, president of the Insurance Economics Society of America.

Despite criticism, the report was welcomed by Democrats such as Waxman who said it "will help to move the debate foward."

Without endorsing the specifics of the plan, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the incoming chairman of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee also welcomed the report.

"After six years of Reagan administration cutbacks in health-care coverage for the elderly and the poor, Secretary Bowen deserves credit for recognizing the dimensions of the health-care crisis of our citizens," Kennedy, D-Mass., said in a statement.

WTC judging team qualifies

The Western Texas College Livestock Judging Team qualified for the National Western Lifestock Show by placing among the winners in the American Royal Intercollegiate Livestock judging contest in Kansas City, Mo.

The national western will be held in Denver, Colo., in January, Jim Judah, team coach, said.

In Kansas City, the WTC team placed 16 out of 31 teams entered. Teams came from 14 states for the contest.

Phil Carter of Ira was high individual for the WTC team and Kyle Cain of Frankston was second high. Other team members were John Beckmeyer of Conroe, Tim Long of Aspermont and Barry Ezra of Ira.

The livestock team will go to an invitational contest at West Texas State University on Dec. 5, the final competition for the fall semester.

'Good start' for deer season

AUSTIN (AP) — White-tailed deer hunters are generally having good success over the state, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said Thursday.

The season opened Nov. 8 and a cool front on Nov. 9 helped hunting, said Horace Gore, whitetail program leader.

Dear Abby

Family Circle Too Big by One For Wife Who's Left Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Fifteen months ago, I took my two children and left my husband of 10 years. For nine years I took an emotional battering from this man until I finally reached the point of "Let me out, or lock me up!"

We live in the same city with my entire family. They have seen how abusive he has been to me and my children, yet they continue to invite him to all family functions — birthdays, anniversaries and holidays — just as though nothing had happened. I have hinted that I'm very uncomfortable with him there, but they continue to invite him.

With the holidays approaching soon, I dread seeing him wined and dined by my family who know how rotten he's been to me and my children. I hate to stay away from family gatherings, but I am miserable when he's around acting extra charming so they will wonder what is wrong with me.

I may have to ask my family to make a choice between him and me. What do you think?

TORN

DEAR TORN: The moment of truth has arrived. Quit hinting and tell your family exactly how you feel. And if they continue to invite him, they will have made a choice.

DEAR ABBY: You nominated the word "hors d'oeuvre" as the word most frequently misspelled.

After grading tens of thousands of essays in the last 17 years, I have found that the most frequently misspelled commonly used word is "occurrence."

Amazingly, fewer than 10 percent of the students in my classes have spelled it correctly the first time. The most common misspelling of occurrence is "occurance" — but there are several others.

I consider the most difficult word to spell for one who has not heard it before to be "chthonic" (pertaining to the gods of the underworld). Whoever would expect the "ch" to be silent?

MARK GRAHAM,
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT,
ARVADA SENIOR HIGH,
ARVADA, COLO.

DEAR MR. GRAHAM: Thanks for the spelling lesson. Consulting the dictionary is a daily occurrence for me, but I have never heard of chthonic, and my chances for using it are slim. However, if I'm ever on a quiz show (or in a spelling bee), the information may come in handy.

DEAR ABBY: Thanksgiving will soon be here, and I want you to know how much your column helped us. Being single can be devastating during the holiday season, so I organized the "First Annual Lonely Hearts Thanksgiving Day Bash" (our second will be even better).

Divorced and widowed friends met at a restaurant for an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner. So many people are all alone during the holidays, and they shouldn't be. Eight of us got together, commiserated about life and, before we ate, read aloud the Thanksgiving prayer you run in your newspaper column every year. The queen of our day was an 82-year-old widow who kept everyone well entertained with wonderfully witty stories.

Please continue to print that beautiful Thanksgiving prayer every year, and may God bless you this year and always.

JAN BEDELL AND FRIENDS,
HOUSTON

DEAR JAN: Thank you for writing. Perhaps other readers will gobble up the idea of the annual singles Thanksgiving Day bash!

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been laid off for nearly a year and we are having a really rough time of it. Is there a tactful way to stop exchanging Christmas gifts? We can't afford to send any gifts this year, and we don't want anyone to send us anything. So how can we get the word out?

SHORT IN FORT WORTH

DEAR SHORT: I've made this suggestion in previous years: Come Thanksgiving, write a note to those on your Christmas gift list saying: "We are thankful for folks with whom we can be honest. We're not in a position to send Christmas gifts this year (nor do we expect any), but please accept our love and sincere good wishes for a happy, healthy, blessed holiday."

CRMWD water picture 'good'

BIG SPRING--The unusual weather pattern of autumn 1986 has had its affect on water demands from the Colorado River Municipal Water district.

Total deliveries for October amounted to 1,130,326,930 gallons, but the 965,124,400 gallons to municipalities marked the first time that this use had dropped below a billion gallons since February 1985 when the total was 916 million gallons.

Revenues to CRMWD through October amounted to $10,981,434, or only 1.1 per cent below budget projections for the first 10 months. The bright picture was in expenses of $5,261,930 which was 17.90 percent below budget. Principal cause of this was the $3,582,578 for electric energy, a $671,504 under-run of the budget. However, $264,425 of this under-run was attributed to fuel adjustment rebates.

The good news was that in October Lakes J. B. Thomas and E. V. Spence had a net increase of 112,600 ac. ft., and water quality improved 50 percent. At the end of October, Lake Spence contained 313,700 ac. ft. at elevation 1883.17, or 64.18 percent of capacity. This was in the face of the release of some 60,000 ac. ft. as a quality control measure, and which represented about six vertical feet. Lake J. B. Thomas at elevation 2231.96 contained 60,916 ac. ft., or 29.86 percent of capacity. Together the lakes had 374,616 ac. ft. or 54.08 percent. Moss and Powell Creek lakes southeast of Big Spring, used for on-line storage, also caught substantial amounts, which further improved water quality.

In 1953, Edmund Hillary of New Zealand and Sherpa Tenzing Norgay of Nepal became the first men to reach the top of Mount Everest.

Border violence marks anniversary

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Violence erupted on both ends of the 1,000-mile Mexico-Texas border on the 76th anniversary of the Mexican Revolution.

While 30 people were reportedly injured in Juarez, across the Rio Grande from El Paso, no one was reported hurt in rioting in Matamoros, whose Texas sister city is Brownsville, near the Gulf of Mexico.

About 1,000 supporters of the oposition National Action Party blockaded one of four bridges linking Juarez and El Paso Thursday night, vowing to stay in place until police free Gustavo Elizondo, PAN president in Juarez and a former mayoral candidate.

Elizondo was among 20 people arrested when riot police teargassed a PAN parade in downtown Juarez earlier Thursday, said Oscar Rivas, PAN federal representative.

In Matamoros, some 4,000 students and other youths broke windows, set a bus ablaze and damaged shops in a demonstration after a parade there. Police broke up the demonstration against higher transportation prices, but no injuries were reported, said Jose Mireles, secretary for a police magistrate.

In Juarez, former Mayor Francisco Barrio, an ex-PAN gubernatorial candidate for the state of Chihuahua, said the ruling party "made a grave mistake on their part, to use force against the people."

Barrio, who spoke to supporters blockading the Bridge of the Americas, referred to the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party, in power since 1929. PAN leaders claim the PRI, as the government party is known, used fraud to win July 6 elections in Chihuahua, traditionally a PAN stronghold.

This was the second time PAN followers have blocked the Bridge of the Americas, the most important commercially between the two cities. On July 24, the PAN blockaded the bridge for five days to protest alleged election fraud.

According to witnesses, police threw tear-gas canisters Thursday afternoon as the parade was nearly ending near Juarez's Plaza de Armas. Two shots were heard as police in riot gear tried to disperse crowds lining the street.

Police patrol cars and vans sped the wrong way down the one-way 16 de Septiembre Avenue as officers held smoking tear-gas canisters out the windows to spread the vapors.

Oliver Cromwell, who became Lord Protector of England, was born in 1599.

Hard-luck story

By James Jacoby

If there is reasonable distribution, you might think that South would be successful in four hearts. Unfortunately the singleton club in West's hand dooms the contract. I was the unlucky declarer at a regional tournament in Columbia, South Carolina, last August. The opponent sitting West found an unusual way to exact his full pound of flesh.

After the king of spades, West switched to his singleton club. East won the ace and returned the eight. West ruffed. It's rather natural now for West to play another spade or a diamond. Not this time. West figured out that I might be void of diamonds and missing the ace of trumps. So he led a trump. East gathered in the ace and quickly gave his partner another ruff, so I was down two.

If you want the rest of this hard-luck story — at many of the other tables the bidding went the same way. Many West players led the singleton club initially. What do you suppose happened after they had ruffed the club return? Well, what bridge player worth his salt would not now underlead his spade A-K to get partner in so that he could take the setting trick with another club ruff? Declarer would now swallow his astonishment at winning that spade trick, gratefully ruff a second spade and then pitch three clubs and his remaining spade on the A-K-Q-J of diamonds before coming off dummy with a low heart. Many declarers had that good fortune, but not this writer. Maybe I should dodge the next regional tournament in South Carolina.

Street woman is dead

DALLAS (AP) — In her mind, Sadie Thomas was a model, a musician and world traveler who found herself living in a shelter for the homeless in Dallas before resuming her journey to a grander life in San Francisco.

When she was found dead near downtown Dallas early Thursday she was a penniless, anonymous victim of street crime, her head bashed by a brick that was found nearby, not far from a paperback Bible.

Miss Thomas was 60. She had been in and out of mental institutions all her life.

She was from Alexander City, Alabama, 60 miles southeast of Birmingham. She had left home before, but she left for good in the summer of 1985. She had lived at the Union Gospel Mission in Dallas for the past 14 months, the Dallas Morning News said.

Her body was found early Thursday about a block from the mission. Police said whoever killed her had first tried to rape her. Her head had been smashed with a brick.

In her coat was a letter to her brother, D.C. Thomas, the first communication to her family since she left home.

"She was highly intelligent but wherever she was, she was in a world of her own," said her sister, Virginia Thomas Marbury. Both Mrs. Marbury and Thomas live in Alexander City.

Residents of the United Gospel Mission remembered Miss Thomas as a friendly person who swung between intense, rambling chatter and blank silence.

They also saw her as a symbol of the homeless.

"The ones who are here are down on their luck, but they're still humans," said Artie Thomas, an out-of-work painter. "People who pass by don't see us that way."

Thomas said some people on the streets get killed over nickels and dimes.

Jets examined for possible cracks in wing supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines flying the Lockheed L-1011 are examining the wide-body jetliner, looking for possible cracks in the wing supports after a 6¾-inch fracture was found in the wing of a Delta Air Lines jet.

The Federal Aviation Administration ordered the emergency inspections, covering nearly 100 airplanes, on Thursday, requiring the airlines to examine each plane within 50 flying hours, probably about a week in most cases.

U.S. airlines operate 117 of the aircraft, according to officials of Lockheed-California, which built 250 of the planes between 1970 and 1983. Three airlines — Delta, Eastern and Trans World — together fly 94 of them.

Spokesmen for the three air carriers said the inspections are either under way or — in the case of Delta — already have been completed. All three airlines said the examinations would not interrupt normal air service since the work can be done while the planes are undergoing routine maintenance.

The FAA action was taken after the National Transportation Safety Board raised concern about possible metal fatigue in the wing support beams of older L-1011 jets because of what happened to one of the Delta jets after it landed Nov. 13 at Newark, N.J.

Snyder surgeon...

Pate becomes fellow of ACS

NEW ORLEANS–A group of 1,564 initiates from around the world became Fellows of the American College of Surgeons, the largest organization of surgeons of the world, on Oct. 23, at convocation ceremonies held during the college's 72nd Annual Clinical Congress.

R. Mark Pate, M. D., F.A.C.S, Snyder surgeon, was included in the group.

Fellows of the College have earned the right to use the designation "F.A.C.S." (Fellow, American College of Surgeons) after their names by meeting the college's stringent membership requirements.

A candidate for fellowship must be a graduate of an approved medical school, must have completed advanced training in general surgery or in one of the surgical specialties recognized by the college, and must have been in practice for at least two years at the time of his or her application. He/she must also have taken and done successfully on the National Surgical Board exams.

Before admission into fellowship, the surgeon must further demonstrate ethical conduct and good character; his or her acceptance as a member of the college must be approved by three-fourths of its Board of Regents.

The convocation ceremony was the highlight of the five-day congress, which also included research-in-progress reports, postgraduate courses, panel discussions and symposia, and scientific and industrial exhibits.

Total attendance at the congress was more than 15,000 including surgeons, members of other medical disciplines, and members of the scientific and consumer media. Of the 1,564 initiates, 1,466 surgeons are from the United States and Canada, and 98 are from other nations.

The American College of Surgeons is a scientific and education association of surgeons that was organized in 1913 to raise the standards of surgical practice and to improve the quality of care of the surgical patient.

In addition to its dedication to the ethical and competent practice of surgery, the college provides education programs for its more han 49,000 fellows and others in this country and abroad, establishes standards of practice, disseminates medical knowledge, and provides information to the general public.

Group: evaluations need improvement

AUSTIN (AP) — The state's new process for evaluating teacher performance is further damaging teachers' already battered morale, an educators' group says.

"Teachers are tired, they are frustrated, and they want the classroom environment restored to a point where they can concentrate once again on teaching," said Kent King, an official of the Association of Texas Professional Educators.

King and the association's executive director, Mike Morrow, said the evaluation process, which began this year as part of the state's school reform movement, needs major improvements.

Morrow said the State Board of Education and the 1987 Legislature will be asked to overhaul the system. He voiced optimism that improvements can be made.

At a news conference Thursday, King noted that a recent Louis Harris opinion poll showed 55 percent of the nation's teachers have considered quitting the profession.

He said an ATPE survey showed 66 percent of its members are thinking or have considered quitting in the past year. That survey also found that 41 percent wouldn't choose to enter education if they were able to make their career choices over again.

"The appraisal system is a highly volatile issue that is adding to a serious morale problem that has been growing for at least two years," King said.

King, a former classroom teacher who has been certified by the state to conduct teacher appraisals, said the evaluation process is unfair and inadquate in many respects. He said the system calls for evaluation in 71 areas of teacher behavior during a relatively short observation period.

Morrow said the criteria for evaluation are too limited and don't take into account the individual styles of different teachers.

"It simply does not allow for the classroom teacher to demonstrate the individual instructional skills and styles that they possess," Morrow said.

"The current appraisal system ... requires teachers to put on performances for the evaluation and the appraisers rather than having the appraisers trained in such a way so that they can come into a regular classroom experience and seek out and see those good teaching qualities taking place.

"Teachers refer to the observation period as having to put on a dog and pony show," he said.

Your Birthday

Nov. 22, 1986

In the year ahead, reliable contacts will open doors for you that will lead to opportunities in the material realm. If you're willing to work, the payoff could be quite large.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your company won't pay you for conversation today, but it will for performance. This is to your advantage, because you'll know how to earn bread for your firm. Looking for a great Christmas stocking stuffer? The Astro-Graph newsletter is perfect for the entire family. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state zodiac signs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Unless your suggestions are explicitly requested today, keep them to yourself. What you have to say may cause problems for someone you are trying to protect.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something good for you is about to transpire, but it may be delayed a bit. If you boast prematurely, you could be embarrassed later when questioned by calendar watchers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It may be necessary for you to make rather difficult decisions today. Keep in mind that the easiest way out might not be your best course of action.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Those who labor at your side will not be inspired by an old-fashioned pep talk today. Actions will speak louder than words, so start working up a sweat.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Ignore impulses to jump into speculative pursuits today. Be safe rather than sorry. Take time to size up proposals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could be a trifle irresponsible today where minor issues are concerned. However, this will not be true if the stakes are serious.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may have to pull rank today in order to make it clear to subordinates that they are not to make important decisions on your behalf.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The way you manage your resources today could have others scratching their heads. In some instances, you'll be tight-fisted; in others, you'll toss money away.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Even though you'll look upon it as innocent fun, it's best not to tease sensitive pals today. Your barbs could strike tender areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you have to go hat in hand to another for a favor today, it's likely to be granted, but there is a strong possibility it will have unpleasant strings attached.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try not to spend too much seed money on a new venture in which you're involved. Use your head instead of your checkbook.

Double life shocks neighbors

DALLAS (AP) — Police investigating the death of a tire dealer who had homes and families in both Dallas and Waco say they doubt the death stemmed from his dual families.

People who know Harold E. "Jack" McCollum have said nothing but good things about him, said investigators. But neighbors said they are surprised he was able to keep his two lives secret for so long.

McCollum's simultaneous marriages spanned nearly three decades and overlapped at least two other marriages that ended in divorce, authorities said.

Only after his death did the families learn about each other.

McCollum, a 68-year-old Waco tire dealer, was found shot to death Oct. 16. His body was found with two head wounds on the muddy banks of the Navasota River, about 50 miles southeast of Waco and 150 miles southeast of Dallas.

No arrests have been made. Authorities say the motive for the slaying is unclear, but McCollum had received death threats in recent months. The killing may have resulted from a sour business deal, authorities said.

Neighbors said McCollum was a "super-charged, high-energy guy" who focused almost completely on his work.

Play Wharton today...

Dusters win eighth straight

BIG SPRING -- Western Texas College ran up a quick 10-point lead, then cruised to a 74-61 victory over Grayson County College in first-day action of the Hawk Queens Classic here Thursday.

The Dusters, now 8-0 on the season, are to play Wharton today at 4 p.m. and Angelina College at 3 p.m. Saturday as the classic continues. The action is taking place at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Western got off to a hot start when Wendy Milner and Dee Ann Marr uncorked a couple of 12-15 foot jump shots. Brenda Welch went to work inside for seven points and Lisa Thompson nailed a free throw with 10:40 left for an 18-8 advantage.

The Dusters zipped in six more points on baskets from Welch and Thompson to lead 24-8 a minute later.

Despite some fine play early, the Dusters got into foul trouble in the first half. Marr got her fourth with 5:53 to go and Welch had her third at the 3:29 mark.

Western led 43-25 at the half.

Marr didn't start the second 20-minute period and Welch went out after getting her fourth foul just 31 seconds into the half. Still, the Dusters were able to keep their advantage. The point-spread never varied from the 11-to-20 range throughout the last 10 minutes of the game.

Solid play by Milner, who had 15 points, and Thompson, who came off the bench for 18, kept the Duster effort steady.

It was Western's first action in almost two weeks, and Coach Kelly Chadwick wasn't particularly bubbling over the performance.

"I didn't expect us to look real good but I didn't think we would look quite as bad as we did," said Coach Chadwick.

He cited Milner and Thompson as sparking the effort, and noted that shooting and overall defense were positive signs.

"But we didn't block off the boards very well and for some reason we weren't picking up any loose balls, either. And those fouls. My gosh we had a lot of fouls. And a lot of turnovers."

Welch, who played only about five minutes of the second half, led all scorers with 23 points. Marr had 9.

Gwen Westbrook, a 5-10 sophomore, scored 16 for the Vikings. Lisa Remauldo pitched in 8 and Camellia Bowen added 7.

In other games Thursday, Howard defeated Wharton 64-38 and Odessa crunched Angelina 72-47.

In addition to today's WTC-Wharton game at 4 p.m., Grayson and Odessa play at 6 p.m. and Howard and Angelina vie at 8 p.m. Saturday's other games pit Odessa against Wharton at 1 p.m. and Howard against Grayson at 6 p.m.

Jury indicts Kirk on eleven counts

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Former Memphis State Coach Dana Kirk, fired by the university after building a Top 20 basketball program, has been charged by a federal grand jury with demanding payoffs for sending his team to tournaments.

Kirk, 51, also was indicted Thursday on charges of income tax evasion, obstruction of justice and mail fraud.

If convicted on all charges in the 11-count indictment, he could draw a maximum sentence of 62 years in prison and fines of $912,000, the U.S. attorney's office said.

Kirk surrendered to authorities two hours after the indictment was issued and was released on his own recognizance pending a hearing next Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate Aaron Brown.

He refused to comment on the indictment, ignoring questions shouted by the pack of reporters waiting for him outside the U.S. marshal's office.

U.S. Attorney Hickman Ewing Jr. said the charges against Kirk were not related to gambling.

Ewing also said that rumors of possible point-shaving in Memphis State basketball games were unfounded.

"Based on what we have determined, there is no evidence of any point-shaving or any game-fixing at Memphis State University," he said. "There is no evidence that Coach Kirk was involved in any federal gambling violations."

Memphis State President Thomas Carpenter has refused to discuss the reasons for Kirk's firing in September except to say it was in the best interest of the university. Former Memphis State player Larry Finch was named to replace Kirk.

Kirk was indicted by a grand jury that for the past 1½ years has been investigating allegations of sports gambling in the Mid-South.

He testified before the panel last year and acknowledged that his personal finances were under review. He denied any wrongdoing.

Kirk was charged with soliciting a $2,000 payoff to have Memphis State participate in a basketball tournament at New Orleans in 1982 and a $10,000 payoff to send the Tigers to a tournament at Los Angeles the following year.

"The negotiations for Memphis State's participation in the 1982 Sugar Bowl tournament were terminated due to Kirk's demands for a personal payment," the indictment said.

The indictment said Kirk was paid $10,000 for pregame telephone interviews with the media covering the Los Angeles tournament.

Officials at Memphis State were not told about the payment, and by receiving the money, Kirk defrauded the university of the honest services required by his contract with the school, Ewing said.

The indictment also accused Kirk of trying to influence the grand jury appearances of three Memphis State boosters expected to testify about basketball tickets allegedly sold by the former coach and about money given to him by other people.

The indictment does not go into detail about those transactions.

Tigers open season tonight in Abilene

ABILENE -- Snyder's varsity boys open the 1986-87 basketball season here tonight, playing Abilene Cooper at 7:30 p.m.

A junior varsity contest is set for 6 p.m.

Playing for the Tigers this season are seniors Chris Garrett (6-4), Earl Ware (5-11), Reynaldo Gomez (5-10), Shawn Rhodes (5-8), Daniel Chasteen (6-4) and David Martinez (6-0), juniors Trey Tippens (6-4), Terry Garza (6-3), Scott Lanier (6-0), Wayne Ware (5-7) and Brad Gartman (5-10), and sophomore Tom Martin (6-4).

Juniors on the junior varsity, some of whom could move into a varsity spot eventually, are Roland Romo, Kevin Combest and Kevin Ward, all 5-11, 5-9 Van Echols and 6-1 Craig Watkins.

Garrett and Tippens are two of only four lettermen back from last season's 19-7 squad. The others are Gomez and Martinez.

Garrett was a first-team all-loop choice last season. Tippens was honorable mention.

The Tigers play their first home game Saturday night at 7:30 in Scurry County Coliseum against Lubbock High. A JV game will also be held, at 6 p.m.

Arizona versus No. 5 UNLV...

NIT tips off this evening

by The Associated Press

One purpose the early-season National Invitation Tournament serves is to provide matchups of top teams, who otherwise probably would have scheduled easy opening games.

Two of the nation's Top Twenty college basketball teams meet tonight as the tournament starts its second year, when 19th-ranked Arizona, a leading contender from the Pacific-10 Conference, visits No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas, the Pacific Coast Athletic Association power.

In other games tonight, No. 7 Oklahoma, favored to win the Big Eight Conference, is at home against Brigham Young; Western Kentucky is at Notre Dame, Temple at Virginia, Texas Christian at Louisiana State, Bradley at Michigan and Howard at Villanova.

Memphis State, rebuilding under new Coach Larry Finch, and No. 20 Cleveland State, a major surprise last season, play Saturday night.

Second-round games will be held Monday night and the four winners move to New York's Madison Square Garden for the semifinals and finals on Nov. 28 and 29.

Despite the loss of guard Steve Kerr to a serious knee injury, Arizona Coach Lute Olson has four starters returning from last year's 23-9 Pac-10 champions, including 6-foot-8 sophomore Sean Eliott. Nevada-Las Vegas has 6-9 center Armon Gilliam and guard Freddie Banks back from last year's 33-5 squad.

"Sean Elliott is one of the premier kids in the country," UNLV Coach Jerry Tarkanian said. "He can put the ball on the floor one-on-one and is real tough to defend."

Oklahoma has plenty of scorers returning in Tim McCalister, Darryl Kennedy and David Johnson. Brigham Young, 18-14 last season, is led by Jeff Chatman, 17.5, and and Bobby Capener, 14.9.

Junior guard David Rivers, seriously injured in an automobile accident on Aug. 24, will be coming off the bench against Western Kentucky as Coach Digger Phelps brings him along slowly. Rivers, who changed the Irish into a running team, was a 16.7 scorer as a sophomore. Kennard Johnson, 6-9, leads Coach Murray Arnold's Western Kentucky team that is coming off a 23-8 campaign.

Temple, 25-6, has a premier rebounder and shotblocker in 6-9 Tim Perry, who shouldn't have any match against Virginia, 19-11, since 6-11 center Olden Polynice left school.

Fess Irvin, a highly regarded freshman guard, will make his collegiate debut for LSU, which has been hit with injuries to Ricky Blanton, who plays all positions, and 7-1 Zoran Jovanovich, and lost three starters from a 26-12 NCAA Final Four squad. TCU returns four starters from last season's 22-9 team which finished tied with Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference title.

Guards Gary Grant and Antoine Joubert hold the key for Michigan, which lost its front line from a 23-8 Big Ten championship team. Stan Albeck, the former Chicago Bulls coach, now leads Bradley, which was 32-3 last season.

"Everyone on our team, even the center, has the green light on three-pointers," Albeck said of the new rule this season which

Aggies aim for share of SWC football title

by The Associated Press

The Texas A&M Aggies will try to gain at least a share of the SWC football title against Texas Christian Saturday with a word-war between Coach Jackie Sherrill and TCU's Jim Wacker as a sideshow.

The 13th ranked Aggies, Baylor, Arkansas and Texas still are seeking the host berth in the Cotton Bowl and Texas Tech is trying to sew up an Independence Bowl invitation.

In other conference games Texas, 5-4 for the season and 4-2 in league games, plays at Baylor, 7-3, 5-2; Arkansas, 8-2, 5-2 plays at Southern Methodist, 6-4, 5-2; and Houston, 1-8, 0-6 is at Tech, 6-4, 4-3.

Rice, 2-7, 1-6, hosts Air Force, still in the Western Athletic Conference race, in the only non-conference game on the schedule.

Wacker, whose injury-plagued team is struggling with a 3-7 record and 1-6 in SWC games, accused Sherrill of "popping off" about the Frogs' failures this season despite having good talent.

"I'd like Coach Sherrill to take out his top three defensive players, take (quarterback Kevin) Murray out and all of his starting backs," Wacker said.

"Take out a couple of top receivers, take out about 11 starters with injuries and about three others.

"Then, find out how many games A&M would've won this year. It's kind of easy to pop off about the kind of talent other people have."

Sherrill said he has no feud with Wacker.

"You'll never hear me say one word about anybody," Sherrill said. "I don't have the time. If someone has a problem with us, that's their problem, not mine."

A&M won last year's game 53-7 in Fort Worth.

Arkansas got back in the conference race last week with a 14-10 victory over A&M and could stay alive for a Cotton Bowl bid with a victory over the Mustangs, who are once again reeling from accusations by former players.

The Hogs' flexbone offense is led by Derrick Thomas with 385 yards on 94 carries.

SMU's passing attack is led by junior quarterback Bobby Watters, who has completed 135 of 250 passes for 1,850 yards, the fifth highest season total in SMU history.

SMU, already on NCAA probation, has been on a roller coaster the past two weeks, losing to Notre Dame 61-29 and beating Texas Tech 13-7. There also are new accusations from a former player.

"We've still got one game to go this season and I guarantee that this team won't lay down," SMU Coach Bobby Collins said. "There is still a lot to play for and we'll be ready to play Arkansas."

Baylor quarterback Cody Carlson closes out his career for the Bears while his Texas counterpart Bret Stafford has another season to add to his UT records. Stafford already has tied or set nine school records.

Tech is closing out its most successful season in nine years while the Cougars are playing out their worst season since 1975 when they finished 2-8.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman is stepping down after 25 seasons, the longest consecutive tenure of any NCAA Division I-A head football coach.

Tech Coach David McWilliams could become the first SWC coach in 30 years to lead his team to a bowl in his first full season on the job.

The Cougars have a 7-game winning streak against the Red Raiders.

"Houston is struggling but they are playing well," McWilliams said. "Coach Yeoman is tough to call a defense on. He'll trick you up. They've done a great job of moving the ball, they just haven't been getting in the end zone."

The Raiders are expected to meet either Mississippi or Mississippi State in the Independence Bowl.

Layne condition remains critical

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A spokesman at Methodist Hospital in this West Texas city says former NFL star Bobby Layne remained in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit today.

Layne's condition has not changed since last Saturday when he underwent emergency surgery, the spokesman said.

Layne underwent the surgery to stop internal hemmoraghing in his esophagus.

The operation was to correct a condition Layne had experienced for about a year. The situation worsened in Pontiac, Mich., on Nov. 8, the day before Layne was supposed to have been part of special ceremonies at a Detroit Lions game honoring Doak Walker.

Layne and Walker were boyhood friends, played high school football together and attended competing colleges before they were reunited with the Lions.

rewards shots from 19 feet, 9 inches and further with three points.

Howard, the only team in the NIT field which didn't compete in postseason play last season, has four starters back from a 19-10 squad, including guard Fred Hill and 6-8 Robert McIlwaine. Villanova, 23-14 last season, tries to find someone to take up the slack of graduated Harold Pressley.

Defense gets honors after final ballgame

The entire Ragin' Tiger defense was selected as the Most Valuable Player this week as Coach Dennis Tomlin and the Snyder coaching staff released their special recognition awards.

The awards have been presented each week following a football game. Last week, Snyder completed its season with a 43-0 thrashing of Lamesa. It was Snyder's first shutout since the 1979 season.

Not surprisingly, the Tiger offensive line took Best Blocker honors. Snyder ran for 354 yards and six touchdowns in the ballgame.

Henry Treat was chosen for the Big Hit of the game. Treat had 16 tackles, including three quarterback sacks.

The offensive MVP was Troy Burton, who ran for 108 yards and a touchdown.

The Special Teams award and the Big Play award came on the same play. The action occurred when Trey Tippens blocked a Lamesa punt and Scott Lanier picked up the ball and ran for a touchdown. Tippens got the Special Teams award; Lanier the Big Play award.

Dessert supper for Tigers set

A dessert supper will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Towle Park Barn to honor the 1986 Ragin' Tigers. Everyone is welcome.

Those attending are asked to bring enough dessert for their family.

Key games this week for playoff hopefuls

by The Associated Press

The Denver Broncos and the New York Giants, a matchup Sunday between two of the top defensive teams in the NFL, is one of ten games in Week 12 with major playoff implications.

At 9-2, both Dan Reeves' Broncos and Bill Parcells' Giants are in the running for home-field advantages in the playoffs in addition to leading their respective divisions.

The Broncos have a 1½-game lead in the AFC West and are second only to the 10-1 New York Jets in the battle to see who would have the home-field advantage for all conference playoff games. The Giants are tied with the Washington for the lead in the NFC East, but are ahead of both the Redskins and the 9-2 Chicago Bears for the top playoff seeding in the NFC.

In other games Sunday that figure in the playoff picture, Dallas is at Washington, Chicago hosts Green Bay, New England hosts Buffalo, Minnesota visits Cincinnati, Pittsburgh is at Cleveland, Atlanta visits San Francisco, Kansas City is at St. Louis, and New Orleans is at the Los Angeles Rams. Also, Philadelphia is at Seattle, Detroit at Tampa Bay and Indianapolis at Houston.

The New York Jets are at Miami on Monday night.

Week 12 began Thursday night with the Los Angeles Raiders beating the San Diego Chargers 37-31 in overtime.

The task for Denver in its second trip this season to Giants Stadium - the first was a 22-10 loss last month to the Jets - is to beat New York in a matchup of imposing rushing defenses.

"I think the key for us will be if we are able to run the ball and not have to throw it a lot," said Reeves, who says the key on defense will be the exact opposite - stopping the running of Joe Morris, who has gained 1,040 yards this season.

The Cowboys-Redskins game in Washington also will be important to the Giants. Dallas, 7-4, needs a victory to remain in contention for the division title and to retain major hopes for a wild-card berth.

If the season ended today, the division champions would be the Giants, Bears and Rams in the NFC, and the Jets, Cincinnati and Denver in the AFC.

Washington and Dallas would be the NFC wildcard teams, while New England and the Raiders would make it from the AFC.

But Dallas Coach Tom Landry was not thinking of a wild-card berth as he readied the Cowboys for another shootout with the Redskins.

"As long as our record is no worse than four losses we still have a chance to win the division," said Landry, whose team managed to rally to beat San Diego 24-21 last week despite surrendering 12 quarterback sacks.

New England, 8-3, needs a victory over Buffalo and then must hope Miami can beat the injury-riddled Jets on Monday night if it is to move within a game of New York in the AFC East.

The Bears, locked in a three-way battle with the Giants and Redskins for NFC superiority, host a Green Bay team that came alive last week in a 31-7 drubbing of lowly Tampa Bay. Chicago will start Jim McMahon at quarterback for the first time in four weeks. The Bears have won the past 22 games McMahon has started.

The Rams, with a half-game lead over San Francisco in the NFC West, lost a 30-28 heartbreaker to New England last week on a "Hail Mary" pass. But the Rams discovered a badly needed air game in the form of rookie quarterback Jim Everett.

Reach tentative agreement in strike

DETROIT (AP) — A tentative settlement was reached today in a walkout that forced General Motors Corp. to shut down factories in eight states, but the 44,550 striking and laid-off workers stayed off the job, a GM spokesman said.

The agreement came about 2 a.m. after a 17-hour bargaining session between negotiators for GM's Delco Electronics subsidiary and United Auto Workers Local 292 in Kokomo, Ind., said GM spokesman John Mueller.

Details of the agreement would not be disclosed because of the pending ratification vote, scheduled for Saturday, he said.

"Work will resume as soon as possible following ratification," Mueller said.

Local 292 president Ron Cassis predicted the proposal would be ratified.

The strike by 7,700 workers at the Delco plant in Kokomo forced other GM assembly lines to shut down for lack of parts. Delco makes electronic components, including radios, heat sensors and on-board computers, for GM vehicles.

About 36,850 GM workers were told to stay home today as the parts shortage idled plants in Michigan, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Kansas, Delaware, New Jersey and Indiana. More than 16,500 of them had been laid off Thursday and the rest were told to stay home starting today, Mueller said.

Some laid-off workers expressed support Thursday for the Delco walkout, which stemmed from a dispute over subcontracting some jobs and transferring radio production to Mexico.

Drugs and Alcohol at School

The Texas State Teachers Association and this newspaper want to make Texas schools and Texas students No. 1. We offer this series to help parents and friends of education achieve this goal. Here is part five in a seven-part series.

Texas teachers know that drinking and drug-taking by students is a serious problem.

Teenagers are affected in several ways by the problem of chemical abuse, which includes the use of any chemical substance, legal or illegal, causing physical, mental, emotional, or social harm to a person or to people close to them.

Students who do not abuse drugs or alcohol themselves are often affected by the drug or alcohol problem of someone else, a friend, relative or even a parent.

Teachers also are affected by some students who come to class under the influence of alcohol or drugs. This problem is slowly stealing time from academics in many schools. The problem of chemical abuse does not stop at the end of the school day. It extends into neighborhoods, influencing and intensyfying the everyday problems that parents face in child rearing.

The problem of chemical abuse knows no economic, social, or age distinctions. Children of upper, middle and lower income classes are users. Even the families of United States presidents have been touched by the problem.

As a parent you can rear your children to be thinking, caring adults who weigh the consequences of their actions and make the sound decisions about drug and alcohol abuse. As a citizen, you can get your community to offer activities which help young people develop without the need for chemical substances.

As teachers, we can offer school programs to alert students to the dangers of drugs.

How do you tell if someone is drinking or taking drugs? Although symptoms vary, here are some warning signals that may help determine if someone is into chemical abuse:

- Loss of interest in school, sports, or other activities;
- Weight loss or personal injury from fights or falls;
- Exaggerated self-confidence or sudden mood changes;
- Decreasing ability to communicate, privacy is sought and guarded;
- Sudden or progressive apathy, performance declines, grades drop;
- Choice of friends who drink or take drugs, peer changes, different acquaintances;
- Increased feelings of inferiority or inadequacy;
- Greater impulsiveness, promises broken, lies frequently;
- Hidden drugs or bottles of alcohol;
- Clothing with drug emblems or jewelery with drug references;
- Possession of drug paraphernalia such as pipes, tiny spoons, cigarette papers, incense, breath deodorizers or mints;
- Power playing and manipulation of family or friends;
- Priorities change, problems escalate.

Teachers recognize chemical dependence is a family illness and a community concern. If you suspect someone may have a problem, whether you are a friend, a family member or an abuser, consult the school counselor for referral advice or contact one of the following agencies for information: Texas Commission on Alcoholism, Public Information, 1705 Guadalupe, Austin 78701 or Texas Department of Community Affairs, Drug Abuse Prevention Division, P.O. Box 13166, Capitol Station, Austin 78711.

Heart problem may need surgery

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had rheumatic fever when I was 14. As a result, I have a grade III systolic murmur in the apex and mitral insufficiency. I have pain and burning in my left shoulder and arm, shortness of breath, weakness and fainting. Should I be on medication? Is surgery the only answer? What can I expect as I get older? I'm now 27.

DEAR READER — The mitral valve is one of the heart valves that prevents backflow of blood. Years ago, when rheumatic fever — a consequence of some streptococcal infections — was common, patients were apt to develop mitral disease, as you did. In most cases, mitral stenosis (a rigid valve that does not open readily) or mitral insufficiency (a flail valve that doesn't close completely) were complications that needed correction.

Murmurs are extra sounds in the heart, caused by eddy currents and turbulence as the blood either has trouble passing though the valve or is inappropriately squirted backwards through a valve that doesn't close completely. In both instances, the normal flow of blood is disrupted and the heart has to work harder to do its job.

New tests, such as ultrasound exams and cardiac angiography, enable specialists to determine with precision which part of the heart valve is malfunctioning and to what extent.

Your murmur is loud (grade III) and your symptoms seem to indicate that your circulation is faulty because of mitral disease. Surgery may be the best option for you. However, this decision can be made only after appropriate tests are made on your heart.

In my opinion, you need treatment: medicine to reduce the work of the heart or surgery to repair (or replace) the valve. As you grow older, the situation is likely to worsen, because few health problems improve with age, your heart eventually will tire after many years of trying to compensate for mitral insufficiency. I suggest that you seek a consultation with a cardiologist and agree to have the necessary tests to determine which type of treatment would be best for you.

Be informed about prescription drugs: Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, CONSUMER TIPS ON MEDICINES. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.
