Dazed Refugees Saved From Devastated Isle

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (AP)—A mercy fleet from five nations brought more than 1,000 dazed and shocked refugees to Angra today from the earthquake devastation of Sao Jorge Island.

U.S., Norwegian, British, Italian and Yugoslav ships shuttled back and forth over the 20-mile stretch of water between this island of Terceira and Sao Jorge.

Refugees told of villages shaken to ruins, and said the air was thick with sulphur, an indication that a new volcano is building up on the ocean floor.

The evacuation operation was halted in the afternoon, however, "because authorities believe the situation has become stable," said Cmdr. Alvaro Cardoso, captain of the port of Angra.

"Tremors are becoming weaker and less frequent," he added.

The refugees said the earth on the Azores island had been rocking for four days, and one of them said the recurring quakes made it impossible to sleep.

Twenty tremors were registered by Azores authorities on Sao Jorge during Tuesday night.

The quakes have been most intense on western Sao Jorge. About 20,000 islanders call Sao Jorge home. It is an elongated island, 34 miles long and about 1½ miles wide.

Tremors also were felt Tuesday night on Terceira and elsewhere in the mountainous Azores, a Portuguese possession in the Atlantic 1,000 miles west of Lisbon. The quake waves have wrecked or damaged hundreds of homes on Sao Jorge, but no casualties have been reported.

Thousands of Sao Jorge inhabitants fled to a port at the east end of the island to await removal. They feared the quakes, now in their sixth day, would set off volcanic eruptions that would destroy their island.

Telephone and telegraph communications with Sao Jorge were shaky and reports from the stricken island varied. Some said virtually the entire population of 20,000 had assembled for evacuation; other reports put the number at about 7,000.

Gov. Teotonio Machado Pires, whose district includes Terceira and Sao Jorge, said the quakes on Sao Jorge were "getting worse each minute."

The Portuguese news agency ANI said the tremors on Sao Jorge were the result of a new volcano building up on the ocean floor.

Portuguese premier 6th graf 136

Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar called a Cabinet meeting in Lisbon to discuss the islanders' plight.

The Arizpa, another American ship, was among six vessels en route to the 35-mile-long island in response to an SOS broadcast by the U.S. Air Force base at Lajes Tuesday. Other rescue ships were of British, Japanese and Norwegian registry.

Two Portuguese navy patrol boats were dispatched to join the hastily assembled rescue fleet, but a navy spokesman said 27-foot waves in the area may delay them considerably.

Sao Jorge's telephone and telegraph communications with Lisbon and other Azores islands were restricted to official calls. Authorities said one man stayed in a badly damaged postal building to transmit over the shaky circuit.

Dependents In Viet Nam To Return

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Families of U.S. personnel in South Viet Nam are being permitted to return home in the face of stepped-up communist terrorism.

But U.S. officials have no plans at present to order home the 1,339 American wives and children still in the embattled Southeast Asian country. Dependents are still being allowed to accompany personnel newly assigned to South Viet Nam.

So far, only a few American dependents there have asked to be sent home.

There are indications, however, that the possibility of evacuating dependents is under consideration. In the past three weeks, 6 Americans have been killed and 85 wounded in the terrorist drive.

Present opinion here is opposed to any all-out evacuation.

"There are no plans to bring dependents of U.S. military personnel back from South Viet Nam at this time," the Defense Department said today. "There are no plans to forbid travel of dependents to South Viet Nam."

A similar view was expressed by State Department sources.

Officials who oppose sending the dependents home argue that such a step might indicate to the Viet Cong guerrillas that their terrorist tactics are successful.

Those who oppose this view say that removal of the dependents would permit Americans in South Viet Nam to devote their full attention to the military campaign against the Viet Cong.

They also raise the question of whether women and children should be exposed to unnecessary risks.

In Ruby Trial

Jury Chairs Still Empty

DALLAS (AP)—Three more jury candidates, making a total of seven, were rejected today in Jack Ruby's trial on charges of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald.

No prospective jurors have been seated.

The three were J. I. Richardson, 36, a purchasing agent; Jesse R. Jones, 59, a foreman, and J. H. Roper, 41, an insurance man.

Richardson and Jones were excused when they said they have scruples against voting the death penalty.

Roper was passed when he said he had formed an opinion as to Ruby's guilt or innocence.

In a surprise move, Ruby's chief defense counsel, Melvin Belli, said he wished to question Roper. He asked if Roper could put aside his preconceived opinion by hearing evdience. "It could be put aside by proper evidence," Roper said, "but I have formed an opinion."

Dist. Judge Joe Brown himself then excused Roper.

Before Roper's questioning began, assistant defense counsel Joe Tonahill moved a mistrial on grounds that Dist. Atty. Henry Wade in preliminary remarks to the jury candidates, said that Ruby is guilty of killing Oswald.

Tonahill and Belli said this point "is in contention."

The judge overruled the motion.

Tonahill also renewed the defense motion for a change of venue. He contended Dallas is "so saturated with feeling" that Ruby cannot be given a fair trial here.

Without formally overruling the motion, Brown said, "let's go ahead and hear some more."

Earlier, Belli said he wished to make a permanent objection to excusing prospective jurors on grounds that they would not return a verdict of the death penalty.

"This leaves us with a panel only of those with an affirmative state of mind on the death penalty," Belli said.

Wade had told reporters that Judge Joe B. Brown and defense and state lawyers agreed before court today that if a jury cannot be obtained from the current panel of 750 — plus 150 designated specifically for the Ruby trial — a new panel will be convened next week.

Normal jury duty in Dallas is for one week. Thus the court could dismiss those called for this week and start afresh with a new group of probably 650 prospective jurors.

After the first four prospective jurors, two men and two women, were dismissed Tuesday, Belli said he is "finally and utterly convinced that a jury cannot be had here."

But Wade said "two of the four actually did qualify."

Castro Is Probing Plane Hijack

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's government said today it is investigating the hijacking of a private U.S. plane by two Cubans who forced the American pilot to fly to Havana at gunpoint.

It was the first admission by Cuba that it had the twin-engine Piper Apache which left Tamiami Airport near Miami, Fla., Tuesday morning on a flight plan to Key West.

There was no indication from the government whether it would release the pilot, Richard Wright, 23, of Miami, or return the plane.

The government statement said Cubans Enrique Castillo Hernández and Reinaldo Lopez Lima chartered the plane and told Wright they wanted to fly to Key West, then to the Florida Gulf Coast town of Naples, where he could drop them off.

When Key West got the alarm that the plane was being hijacked, U.S. Navy jets were sent up from the Boca Chica Naval Air Station, but they failed to sight the Apache.

Wright is a part-time student at the University of Miami.

Survivors Rescued From Ill-Fated Ship

By CHARLES WEST

NEW YORK (AP)—A rescue ship today hauled aboard the first survivors from the storm-battered British merchantman, Ambassador, which had wallowed helplessly in mountainous North Atlantic seas for over 24 hours.

The Fruen, a Norwegian freighter, secured a line to the derelict shortly before 9 a.m. (EST), and removed three crewmen, the Coast Guard reported.

Four to six men still were reported aboard the hulk, which was listing at 50 degrees.

Other members of the 35-man crew abandoned ship early Tuesday afternoon as sea water crept higher in her engine room. Their fate was not known.

The Coast Guard Cutter Coos Bay, directing the search and rescue effort some 660 miles southeast of Halifax, N.S., said two liferafts, each with four or more persons aboard, had been sighted at sunset.

The Vulcania, an Italian passenger liner, was assigned to search for the rafts and any other survivors. Two aircraft flew search patterns, hampered by low clouds.

Forty-knot winds and 25-foot seas complicated the rescue efforts.

The 443-foot Ambassador, carrying grain from Philadelphia to England, sent out an SOS early Tuesday. Her distress signal said her engines were disabled but did not say why.

Unable to maneuver in the raging storm, the Ambassador was pounded by thundering waves which crushed in her forward hatch and flooded her engine spaces. About seven hours after the SOS, the abandon ship order was given.

Rescue aircraft dropped three 20-man liferafts that inflate as they hit the water.

Another Italian liner, the Leonardo da Vinci, was the first rescue ship to reach the Ambassador. After reporting that she was unsuccessful in attempts to pick up survivors because of heavy seas, the Da Vinci continued to New York when the Fruuen arrived.

Without power or operable pumps, the Ambassador floundered helplessly, the Coast Guard said.

The 7,308-ton vessel had radioed four minutes after the order: "Pumps can't handle overflow of water in engine room. Actual condition of the sea very dangerous. Have no lights. Oil flooding engine room."

The Ambassador is owned by the Hall Bros. Steamship Co. of Britain.

Baker Invokes Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Senate aide Bobby Baker invoked the 5th Amendment and other constitutional protections today and refused to give Senate investigators his records or answer any of their questions.

Baker's records had been subpoenaed by the Senate Rules Committee which is investigating his outside business activites while employed by the Senate.

The 35-year-old onetime Senate page boy showed up without the records but with two lawyers.

Baker was with the committee in a closed session for more than an hour. When he and his lawyers came out, they told a crowd of newsmen jammed in a Senate corridor of Baker's stand

With Baker standing at his side before TV cameras, attorney Edward Bennett Williams said he and Boris Kastelanetz, a New York tax lawyer, had advised the former Senate aide against waiving his constitutional rights.

Williams charged the rules committee with conducting "a legislative trial' of Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

He said he had advised the committee in advance that Baker would not produce the records, documents and memoranda called for in its subpoena.

The committee is investigating whether Baker's business and financial transactions while he was on the Senate pay roll at $19,600 a year conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

After a closed meeting of the committee Tuesday, McLendon said he thought public hearings could be concluded in less than a month.

School Board Approves 4 Contracts; Rejects One

The Snyder school board in a special called meeting Tuesday night, voted that the curriculum director's contract not be extended.

The special meeting was called for the express purpose of considering the contracts of the director of business services, director of cafeteria food services, maintenance and transportation director, curriculum director, and tax assessor - collector.

W. J. Schiebel, school board president, said that last night's meeting was called as the result of a vote taken at a previous board meeting. That vote, he said, had been taken after the earlier meeting had adjourned and the visitors at the meeting had been dismissed.

A number of interested citizens attended last night's meeting. After Schiebel, as presiding officer, made an opening statement as to the purpose of the meeting, the visitors were given an opportunity to be heard.

Mrs. Jonisue Bowden asked the board if the rumor that the job of Director of Curriculum was being terminated was true. She said that the job was essential for the good of the school. Mrs. Bowden added that the board was within its rights to dismiss C. D. Henry, curriculum director, but that the fair way was fire him and not do away with the job just to "get rid" of him.

Schiebel answered Mrs. Bowden and others who expressed similar views by saying that Henry was "professionally capable," that he had done an "excellent job in the way he has done the job as laid out for him," but that the board felt the position should be eliminated.

Dr. Robert Clinton, newly-appointed school board superintendent, who will take over his duties on July 1, was visiting the meeting in an unofficial capacity. He asked to make a statement, and did so, saying that the title of "Director of Curriculum" was becoming obsolete and that perhaps the title of assistant superintendent, or assistant to the superintendent, or director of educational services might be a better name. He added that he had made no recommendation to the board as to the person best fitted for this position.

Clinton also said that he did not yet feel he was capable of assessing the work of the present administrative staff since his contact with them has been from a different point of view. He said he had only asked that the board give him a helper who would be acceptable to the community and acceptable to the school board.

Henry asked the board why he had not been contacted prior to the day before the meeting if his work was not acceptable, and also why he had been informed that he would not be considered for the new assistant superintendent's job.

Schiebel said that Henry was not qualified for the position of assistant superintendent. When asked by Gene Dulaney what the qualifications were, Schiebel said that he did not yet know what those qualifications would be.

School board member J. L. Browning said that he anticipated that there would be new responsibilities for the new assistant superintendent.

In a concluding statement Dr. Clinton expressed his gratitude to T. E. McCollum, present superintendent, for his efforts in trying to make the transition to the new administration as smooth as possible.

The final item of business was the unaimous approval of the extension of the contracts of Doug Flynn, business manager; Mrs. Opal Spikes, director of cafeteria food services; Skipper Joyce, director of maintenance and transportation; and Hardy Scarborough, tax assessor-collector.

It was on the motion of board member Ray Martin, seconded by Dr. B. J. Weaver, that the contract of C. D Henry, director of curriculum, not be extended. All members voted for the motion except Dr. R.H. Hargrove who voted to retain Henry.

Cuban Fishermen On Trial Today

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The first of 29 Cubans caught fishing in American waters go on trial today in a showdown between Cuba and Florida.

Fate of the defendants, captains of four Cuban government - owned fishing trawlers seized by the Coast Guard Feb. 2 off Florida's Dry Tortugas Islands, was in the hands of 72-year-old Judge Thomas Caro of Criminal Court.

The four and their 25 crewmen waived jury trial on charges of unlicensed fishing in Florida waters. The Cubans, whose case has had repercussions reaching to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, appeared in good spirits as they began their third week in jail here.

Strains of Cuban revolutionary songs emanating from their second story "bullpen" are heard occasionally in busy Whitehead Street below.

Their meals, including some Cuban dishes such as arroz con pollo (rice with chicken) and always Cuban style coffee and bread, might be the envy of many in their food-scarce homeland.

One of the best known chefs in this Spanish - flavored city, Antolio (Big Boy) Placencia, is the jail cook.

The Cubans appeared neat and clean in court Tuesday, mostly in the gray fishing fleet uniforms they wore when captured.

In their cells, where there is no water rationing such as their detention caused at Guantanamo after Cuba cut off the supply from a river in reprisal, they have been washing their clothes.

Their only visitors have been First Secretary Frantisek Telicka of the Czech Embassy in Washington and two New York lawyers he hired for them on behalf of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Judge Caro denied a defense motion to dismiss charges against the captains, and withheld ruling on charges against the crewmen.

The defense contended the 1963 Florida law under which all are charged usurps federal fuctions and is unconstitutional.

US Pilot Feared Dead

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Vietnamese air force fighter bombers have been shot down by Communist groundfire in the past 24 hours, authorities reported today. A U.S. Air Force pilot was believed killed.

Both planes downed were T28s, which normally carry a crew of two — an American pilot and a Vietnamese copilot.

The first crash occurred near the "Seven Mountains" near the Cambodian frontier, 120 miles west of here. A single-engine craft crash-landed and burst into flame with the crew aboard, but both American and Vietnamese survived without injury. They were picked up by a helicopter.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I beg to differ with your reply to that mail carrier's wife who thought some of the women on his route were after him. You said that most women were interested in their MAIL nor her MALE. Well, my son was a meter reader. He said he had to keep his eyes straight ahead every moment being careful not even to look sideways at some of the women or he would have a hard time getting out of the house. (He was 24, six - foot - three, and very good looking.) One woman who was old enough to be his mother, was so aggressive that he reported her to the front office. They sent a detective out there to question her, and she got her claws into the detective and almost broke up his home. Most service men can tell you it doesn't pay to be too friendly to the lady of the house.

METER READER'S MOTHER

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We have been married 12 years and have 3 children. We have plenty of beds so that each of us can sleep alone now. My husband complained that he was crowded, so I changed our double bed for twin beds. Now, every night the children argue over whose turn it is to sleep with daddy. I try to force the "each to his own bed" rule, but my husband overrides my objections with the argument that he "doesn't mind." But the next morning he complains to me that the kids threshed around and he couldn't get any rest. But the next night it's the same story. What's wrong with this picture?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: HIS sleepless nights are the least of what's wrong. Children should not get into the habit of sleeping with their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I've managed to live 47 years without writing anyone for advice, but something happened the other day that I would appreciate a comment on. A friend of mine dropped in unexpectedly, and I explained to her that I was expecting my son and his wife at any moment. I told her that I had never met my daughter-in-law but my son said she was a shy little thing, and I thought it might be easier for her to meet her mother-in-law alone for the first time. My friend didn't take the hint. Rather, she said, "I would like to meet the girl—aren't you going to ask me to sit down?" I told her as nicely as I could that I thought it would be better if she came back the next afternoon for tea, and met her then. She left in a huff. How could I have handled a situation like that more tactfully?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I think you handled an awkward situation with admirable finesse.

Frank Sinatra Sr. May Be Questioned Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra Jr. is in London today, leaving the possibility that Frank Sr. will be the star witness at the trial of three men charged with kidnaping the young singer.

The father was on call all day Tuesday to testify.

A half-day session—due to a juror's wish to attend an afternoon family funeral — could even postpone the elder Sinatra's appearance another day.

Young Sinatra, 20, under contract to the revamped Tommy Dorsey band, was given government permission to rejoin the band in Europe. He is on a 12-to 24-hour call to return for further testimony if needed. London is a 10-hour transpolar flight from Los Angeles.

Key witness at Tuesday's session was Patrolman George Wendell of Carson City, Nev., police.

He testified that he approached the alleged kidnap car some 800 yards before it reached a Nevada roadblock last Dec. 8.

Defendants Barry Keenan, 23, Joseph Amsler, 23, and John Irwin, 42, are accused of kidnaping young Sinatra on that date and holding him for $240,000 ransom.

The government contends that Keenan was outside the parked car, Amsler hidden in the trunk and Sinatra lying on the back seat when Wendell approached the car.

Wendell said he was in a prowl car with flashing red light, accompanied by two other policemen at the time.

"As I got out of the car, I made the comment: 'It looks like the man's removing his chains.' Then the man asked if he could make it into Carson City without chains. I told him he could and returned to my vehicle."

Under cross-examination, Wendell said he did not shine his flashlight into the front or rear seat of the car and did not look in the car.

"I was sent out from the roadblock to see what the man was doing. I was satisfied so I went back."

Later, under government questioning, he stated that the man outside the car was not Frank Sinatra Jr.

The defense contends that the kidnaping at Lake Tahoe was a publicity stunt designed to advance the young singer's career.

Young Sinatra has testified that a policeman approached what he called the kidnap getaway car "about a half-mile from the roadblock."

Tax Bill Progressing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven Senate and seven House conference committeemen narrowed their differences down to half a dozen items in the tax cut bill in two long meetings Tuesday. They said they were confident of finishing their work today.

House leaders said their branch probably will not take the final bill up until next week. The Senate is expected to send the bill on to President Johnson soon after the House acts, probably on the same day.

Individual and corporate reductions will total more than $11 billion. Individuals will get cuts up to 19 per cent.

Among the issues to be settled in the conference is one on which the administration has taken a strong position.

That is the cut in capital gains rates voted by the House on assets held more than two years. The Senate eliminated the reduction at the Treasury's urgent request.

Billie Sol Appeals To Highest Court

AUSTIN (AP) — Billie Sol Estes, the former West Texas farm financier, takes to the state's highest criminal court today another appeal of his swindling conviction.

Estes' attorneys are appearing (about 10:30 a. m. CST) before the three - judge Court of Criminal Appeals to ask for a rehearing of the case.

After hearing arguments in October, the court affirmed on Jan. 15 the conviction and eight-year prison sentence assessed in 1962 by a state district court in Tyler.

The conviction stems from April, 1962 indictments by a grand jury in Estes' former hometown, Pecos, Tex., four weeks after his arrest by federal officers toppled his multimillion dollar financial structure.

The indictment charges Estes with inducing a farmer to sign a $94,500 chattle mortgage on a non-existent fertilizer tank. The trial was transferred across the state to avoid juror prejudice from publicity of the case.

If the appeals court rules against Estes without writing an opinion, state court relief is exhausted. His attorneys have said they will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if they get no relief in Texas.

In a brief filed several weeks ago requesting the rehearing, Estes' attorneys raised questions of possible discrimination against white persons in selection of the Pecos grand jury and the effect upon jurors of the widespread publicity the case received.

They contended a trial should be postponed until a defendant can get a fair trial, and if he can never get a fair trial, he should be discharged.

They also questioned the court's ruling that a grand juror could not be challenged for bias or prejudice and pointed to a ruling in another case decided Jan. 15 in which the court reversed a Negro's conviction Kaufman County because there was no Negro on the grand ujry.

France Sends Troopers To Congo

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP) — France sent troops to Gabon today in an attempt to reinstall President Leon M'ba, ousted by a military coup.

An undisclosed number of French troops were brought into Libreville, capital of Gabon, by plane from Dakar, Senegal, and from Brazzaville.

In Paris, French sources said the purpose of the French military intervention was to "re-establish legality" for the benefit of the M'ba administration. The M'ba regime was overthrown early Tuesday in a coup which has thus far apparently remained bloodless.

Houston Bank Is Robbed

HOUSTON (AP) — The First City National Bank, Houston's largest in deposits, was robbed of from $5,000 to $7,000 today.

Bank officials said a man about 20 approached a teller, pulled a gun, and said: "Give me the 10s and 20s."

The man was not masked and the bank officials said he quickly disappeared in the crowded lobby after taking the undetermined amount of cash.

Streets around the bank were jammed with crowds witnessing a huge western parade marking the opening of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Mishap Reported

The Snyder police department reported a mishap at 8 a.m. today in the 100 block of Browning Street.

It was reported that a 1957 Pontiac driven by Betty M. Derryberry, 114 Browning, collided with a parked 1961 Chevrolet owned by N. V. Bonner, 117 Browning, and a garage at that address. Damage to the moving car was estimated at $75. No immediate estimate of damage to the parked car and building was made. There were no injuries.

Hoffa May Go On Stand

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, may testify at his trial on charges of attempted jury tampering, his lawyers say.

The defense could finish up by the middle of next week, they added. The trial began Jan. 20. The government rested last Friday.

Thomas E. Parks, Negro handyman at a Nashville funeral home, testified Tuesday—the third of the five men on trial with Hoffa to do so.

Hoffa and the others are charged with trying to fix the jury in the labor leader's 1962 trial at Nashville on a conspiracy charge. That trial ended with a hung jury.

Parks and his nephew, Larry Campbell, are accused of offering $10,000 to Carl Fields, son of a juror in the Nashville trial if his father voted for acquittal. Campbell, a Teamsters business agent a Detroit, also is a defendant.

Parks, 45, said he never knew Fields' father was on the Hoffa jury. He said he once passed $100 to Fields at the request of James Walker, a Nashville policeman who testified for the government. Parks said Walker told him he needed some information and that he would pay me for helping him out to deliver the message for him that he wanted."

Council Asked To Study Redistricting

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally asked the Texas Legislative Council today to begin an immediate study of congressional redistricting in Texas.

Recommendations of the council could have an important bearing on any reshuffle of Texas congressional districts in case a special legislative session is called for such purpose. The 15-man council is a Senate-House body set up to make a continuing study of needed legislation, aided by a permanent professional staff.

Connally said Tuesday he still is studing U.S. Supreme Court decisions in the Georgia congressional redistricting case which say that population should be the fundamental guideline in mapping districts.

There has been speculation that the Supreme Court may rule next Monday on a Texas appeal of a Houston federal court order which told Texas to revise its districts or all congressmen would have to make statewide races.

"We are in agreement that the growth and transition of Texas' population has made congressional redistricting imperative," the governor said in a telegram today to Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, chairman the legislative council, and House Speaker Byron Tunnell, vice chairman.

"A good faith report to accomplish this was made by the last session of the legislature to no avail.

"As you know, there is a Texas case now pending in the U.S. Supreme Court. Although no action has been taken in our case, the court in a similar case from Georgia has decided it has jurisdiction over congressional redistricting and has said that population is the only factor which can be taken into account in apportionment of congressional distr[illegible]

"This decision will obviously have a bearing on the Texas case, and our actions now must necessarily conform to the guidelines supplied by the Supreme Court in order to prepare for any eventuality.

"Therefore, I respectfully request the Texas Legislative Council to immediately undertake a study of congressional redistricting in Texas in light of the Supreme Court ruling," Connally said.

Texas asked the court Nov. 15 to hear arguments on whether the Houston federal court ruled properly last Oct. 19 by ordering Texas to redistrict or require its congressmen to seek re-election in the state at large. Presently only one Texas congressman was elected at large —Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex.—while the other 22 were elected by respective congressional districts. Candidates for the 23 congressional posts have already paid filing fees for the Democratic and Republican primary campaigns on the basis of present district lines.

Mrs. Travis Rhoades presided for a brief business meeting at which time Mrs. Forrest Beavers was elected to represent the group in the Heart Fund drive, assisted by Mrs. Nellie Smith and Mrs. Gladys Johnson.

Mrs. Parker read a correspondance from Mrs. Percy J. Pace, division consultant for Area II. It said:

It is necessary at this time that branches submit suggestions for the Emerging Issues from which topics will be chosen at the next biennium. In order to help you involve your branch membership in the determination of these issues, a conference has been arranged for the present Program Development Chairman, the Area Representatives (Community Problems, Cultural Interests, Education and World Problems), and the Branch Presidents of Area II, on Saturday, February 29th, in Lamesa, Texas. We will meet at the Turner's Grill 514 South 1st Street. This meeting will be promptly at 10 a.m.

The morning session will be followed by lunch ($1.25). The meeting will close with a question and answer session. We hope to be adjourned by 2:30 p.m.

The reason for the urgency of this matter is that the Division Program Development Chairman needs your suggestion to present at the Division Board Meeting on March 20th. It is vital that the Program Development Chairman and the 4 Area Representatives attend this meeting and desirable that your Branch President attend.

Plans to attend the workshop, were made. Delegates are Laura Holladay, Ruby Butts, Nellie Smith, Louise London, and Mrs. Rhoades.

Michael Koenig, foreign exchange student presented the program, showing colored slides of his home town, Hanover, Germany, and answering many questions about the educational system of his native country.

Delicious spiced tea, coffee, orange-date cake on individual gold lace doily with strawberry creme topping, nuts, and mints were served from a beautifully arranged table with silver and crystal appointments.

Justice Harlan Concerned With Growing Court Power

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is almost 10 years since the Supreme Court, after watching Congress for half a century duck this country's most important social problem, decided to tackle the job itself.

This was the May 17, 1954, decision declaring segregation of Negroes unconstitutional. This, one of the most far-reaching court decisions in American history, began a social revolution still being fought out.

Again, after watching Congress and state legislatures fail for generations to give voters fairer representation, the court moved into this vacuum with two landmark poitical decisions.

In these—one in 1962, the second last Monday—the court said voting districts, from which representatives are sent to Congress and state legislatures, must be rearranged to make the population in each more equal.

As it is now, one district with 900,000 people may have only one representative in Congress while another, with only 200,000 people, also has one.

These social and political decisions had the effect of legislation, a field supposedly reserved under the Constitution for the legislative branch of government.

Nothing in the Constitution specifically gives the court the right to do this. But nothing in the Constitution says it can't. And it's the court which interprets the Constitution.

This is not the first time the court has assumed a right not spelled out. It has done that repeatedly, although for long periods haltingly.

In 1803 it decided it had the power to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional; in 1821 it claimed the right to do the same about state legislation. The court was denounced at the time.

But those decisions helped strengthen this country's unity. The 1821 decision—the power to knock out a state law—made it possible for the court in 1954 to knock out state segregation laws.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, who got on the court too late to take part in the 1954 case, opposed the redistricting decisions of 1962 and this week.

He warned last summer that if this kind of thing continued—when the legislative branch failed to act—there would be a "substantial transfer of legislative power to the courts."

What's the alternative? If the legislative branch fails to correct an obvious wrong, must the court also do nothing even though it has power to act? By its decisions the court has rejected such a philosophy.

Even after the 1954 decision Congress has gone less than all-out to end segregation. It passed two fairly mild civil rights bills—in 1957 and 1960. But now it is wrestling with a truly powerful antidiscrimination bill.

It cannot be plausibly argued that Southern Democrats were solely responsible for the failure of Congress to act in behalf of Negroes' civil rights through all of the 20th century until 1957.

They always were, and still are, a minority in Congress. The truth is that the rest of the members—always in a majority—never cared enough about the rights of Negro citizens to squelch the Southerners, as they could have, at any time. They just ignored the problem and the injustice.

If the court had not acted, segregation would probably still be considered constitutional as it was until 1954, and might have continued so for years, since Congress showed no inclination to ban it.

Wealth Not Only Goal In America

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Why aren't there more financially successful people in America?

If it is true, as much of the rest of the world suspects, that we are a dollar-mad nation, why aren't more of us rich? While as a country we are astonishingly wealthy, the individual man of vast wealth is still something of a rarity to most of us.

Millionaires, although we have them by the thousands, have never quite become commonplace.

The favorite native American legend is the Horatio Alger success story, the tale of the poor boy who claws and paws his way to the big money by hard work and other virtues.

Because of this rags-to-riches legend, foreigners often conclude that this is the main goal and dream of most Americans—to become Horatio Alger-type heroes themselves.

The chief goal of most Americans is better expressed in the popular wisecrack, "I don't want to be a millionaire—I just want to live like one."

Many of us enjoy creature comforts unavailable to millionaires only a generation or so ago and all of us have pleasures unknown even to kings of the 18th century.

The average U.S. old age pensioner today owns a better-fitting pair of false teeth than King George III could buy with all the gold in the British treasury. He can also sit at home and watch a baseball game on television, a privilege never achieved by Genghis Khan, Peter the Great of Russia, or Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany.

To live like a millionaire is one thing. To become a millionaire by one's own efforts is quite another.

There is no mystery about becoming a millionaire. It is a wide open secret.

Dozens of millionaires have written memoirs in which they clearly chart the path to great personal wealth.

The trouble with all these recipes is that they point inevitably to the old truism—you don't get something for nothing.

To make a million dollars the hard way, you have to sacrifice something else—leisure, friendship, loafing, or sporting with Amaryllis in the shade.

Some millionaires later in life believe the great concentration of effort that made them rich was worthwhile. Others think what they lost was hardly worth the gain. But few really yearn to be poor again.

The reason why there aren't more millionaire Americans is that most Americans think the price tag required is too high. Money isn't really that important to them. They'd rather spend the time being with their families, drinking, bowling, chasing girls, or going hunting or fishing.

Living like a millionaire is far more fun than working to earn a million dollars which, in the end, will have to be left to someone else, so he can live even more like a millionaire.

Junior Editors Quiz on COLORS

QUESTION: My sister said, "Something red has every color but red." How can this be?

• • •

ANSWER: Connie, our questioner, sounds confused; but actually, her sister is right. Color is a result of light. Back in 1666 Sir Isaac Newton, experimenting with a glass prism, made the great discovery that brilliant, white sunlight contained all the colors. His spectrum separated the colors in a beam of light and showed them to be red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. Looking at an apple in the picture, Edith sees it as red. Why does it look red? Many objects take in or absorb parts of the rays of white light which fall on them. Some will absorb the green rays, some the red and so on. The colored rays not absorbed are rejected, or bounced back away from the object. When Edith sees the apple as red, she is seeing the red rays the skin of the apple has rejected and pushed away from itself. The apple skin will have absorbed all the other colors, so actually, you can say that the apple is everything but red—just the point made by Connie's sister. In the same way Edith's jumper pushes away the green rays and absorbs the others.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Take something brightly colored like a pink ribbon and look at it under an artificial light, and then outside under daylight. Do you notice there is a difference in the color? There are more wavelengths outside than under the lamp and this changes the color. This will show that color results from light falling on things. 2-19

(Connie Martin of San Mateo, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Michigan, Duke In Surprise Setbacks

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe the Michigan Wolverines and the Duke Blue Devils won't be in the NCAA championship postseason tournament after all.

This unexpected development in college basketball came Tuesday night with Minnesota's 89-75 upset of the second-ranked Wolverines and Wake Forest's 72-71 surprise conquest of the fourth-ranked Blue Devils.

The defeat dropped Michigan into a tie for first place in the Big Ten Conference with Ohio State at 8-2. Duke's defeat ended a 28-game winning streak in the Atlantic Coast Conference and dimmed the Blue Devils' hopes in the ACC championship tournament next month.

Georgia Tech climbed back into a first place tie with Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference by nipping Tennessee 47-45 and Texas A&M kept its one-game lead in the Southwest Conference by defeating Baylor 77-71.

Davidson, No. 8 in The Associated Press poll, crushed East Carolina 105-45 while Chicago Loyola, the defending national champion, whipped Bowling Green 92-83.

A Minneapolis turnout of 17,019 saw the Gophers pile up an 18-point lead in the first half and stay ahead in their upset of Michigan.

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin combined for 48 points, but the Wolverine stars didn't get much help. Lou Hudson and Terry Kunze each got 19 for Minnesota. Mel Northway added 16 and Don Yates 15.

Duke took the lead for the first time against Wake Forest with three minutes to go, but the Deacons regained the lead at 69-68 on Richard Herring's basket. Two free throws by Bob Leonard and one by Ronny Watts then offset Hack Tison's free throw and Jeff Mullins' tip-in with two seconds left.

Frank Christie's 25 points led the Deacons. Jay Buckley got 26 for Duke.

Maryland defeated North Carolina 74-64, Portland downed Oregon 88-80, Virginia Tech edged Furman 78-75, Cincinnati whipped St. Joseph's, Ind., 99-84 and Eastern Kentucky overcame Tennessee Tech 88-72 in other Tuesday games.

Duquesne was named to the NIT postseason tourney and Southeast Missouri, Assumption, Mass., Fisk and Cal Poly of Pomona to the NCAA small college championship tourney.

The squabble over the possibility (or probability) of televised professional football games on Friday nights should be regarded as virtually pointless in Texas. If the network can find a sponsor willing to waste his money, we say power to him. It may not be the same in other states, but we doubt that a televised professional game on Friday night would have much of an audience in our state.

The program would be aimed at football fans, of course, and in Texas football fans go to their high school games on Friday nights. Those who are unable to do so listen to them on the radio. Those unable to either go in person or listen on the radio would likely be unable to see a TV game. That would leave only the non - football fans for an audience, and there's nothing more boring to a non-football fan than a TV game—or so we are told. So, what have you got for an audience? Nothing!

The Lake View Chiefs overcame all sorts of odds, jinxes, etc., to defeat Lamesa and force a playoff in the District 3-AAA basketball race. En route to Lamesa for the game last Friday, the Lake View bus broke down at Broome (that's down somewhere between San Angelo and Big Spring), and when they finally arrived on the scene of the game there was virtually no time to warm up because of the lost time in getting another bus. The jinx was a seven - year dragon—Lamesa had not lost a district game in its home gym for seven years.

Then, to add insult to injury, while the Lake View players were eating in a Lamesa cafe following the game, someone let the air out of the tires on their substitute bus. However, the one-point victory over the Tornadoes probably was sufficient balm to heal the Lake View wounds.

The two also-rans of the district battle it out once and for all tonight at Big Spring.

The latest issue of "The Interscholastic Leaguer," the official periodical of the University Interscholastic League, has plenty of comment on the awards rule and the Snyder case in particular—including an editorial to the effect that "just because everybody's doing it doesn't make it right." Of even more interest, however, is a notation that "the committee held that the giving of special awards in excess of limits to individuals by a district executive committee in football or any other interschool activity is a violation." This would indicate that medals awarded by districts themselves in many events such as track meets and perhaps even music and literary competition may have been illegal. When the ruling in the Snyder case was first handed down there was speculation that most districts themselves probably had violated the awards rnule.

Of this, you may rest assured: District executive committees and individual schools are going to be on their toes from now on.

As for keeping on one's toes, the inter-conference agreements on pre-enrollment applications and letters of intent may serve to broaden the recruiting scope of some colleges and universities who have seldom ventured into this area in the past. For example, under the agreement, if a boy signs with a school in the Big Eight conference now, Southwest Conference Schools cannot "change his mind," or vice versa. In this connection, it may be noteworthy that Kansas State has been actively recruiting in this area. A K-State coach signed one athlete at Big Spring recently, and made contacts with several others, including some in Snyder.

Before the inter - conference agreement, a boy could "sign" with K-State and then if an offer from a Southwest Conference School came along later he could sign with it and renounce his earlier action. That made it a waste of time for the far-off recruiters to come into the area, especially early in the recruiting season. If a Southwest Conference School decided later that it wanted a certain boy, it could go out and get him regardless.

The inter - conference agreement undoubtedly will serve its initial purpose: keep Oklahoma from getting athletes already committed to Southwest Conference Schools. But, it is a two-way street, and the Kansas State activities this season indicate that some of the "foreigners" intend to see that there is two-way traffic on it.

Rice Delays Drills Again

HOUSTON (AP) — After two foul weather postponements, the Rice Owls started spring football practice Tuesday.

The only first day casualty was Coach Jess Neely, who was suffering from the 24-hour virus. Trainer Eddie Wojecki expected Neely back today.

Of the 78 Owls who turned out, 25 are lettermen. They snapped through a spirited two-hour workout, most of it devoted to group work with emphasis on blocking.

In the final 40 minutes, the Owls concentrated on teamwork and punting.

The jigsaw puzzle of platoon football was slowly taking shape. In the past the Gold Shirts have been symbolic of the first 11 players. But 27 players were suited up in gold Tuesday—an offensive team, a defensive team and an extra offensive backfield.

Aggies Still Rolling; Tech Keeping Pace

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M rolled on at the head of the Southwest Conference basketball parade today with Texas Tech clinging grimly to the runnerup spot, one game back.

In case the front runners falter, Southern Methodist is another game behind and obviously poised to take advantage of any breaks. With time starting to run out, hopes of other conference clubs faded after Tuesday night, when all saw action.

Texas A&M turned back Baylor 77-71 to post its eighth league victory against a single loss, but the Aggies were forced to sink half a dozen free throws in the waning minutes for their margin.

At the same time Texas Tech beat Texas Christian 101-94 as the officials called 56 fouls. SMU shook off Texas in the last half to win 82-66 and Rice trimmed Arkansas 77-69.

This cleared the way for another pair of crucial games Saturday. Texas A&M will battle Arkansas at Fayetteville, where the Razorbacks seldom lose, and Southern Methodist will tackle Texas Tech at Lubbock itching to get even for a two-point loss to the Mustangs at Dallas.

Also on tap Saturday are games matching Baylor and Rice at Houston and Texas Christian and Texas at Austin.

Texas A&M managed only one field goal in the last eight minutes against Baylor in a Waco tussle which saw the lead switch 13 times and the score tied 15 times, including a 47-all deadlock at halftime.

Bennie Lenox cut loose after intermission and wound up with 27 points for the Aggies, but scoring honors went to Baylor's Spencer Carlson with 28. Winston Moore, top point maker for Baylor, missed the game because of a kidney infection.

A season high of 30 points by sophomore Dub Malaise paced the Texas Tech Red Raiders to their victory, while Bobby McKinley hit 24 and Pat Peebles 23 for the TCU Horned Frogs.

The Raiders led 55-49 at the intermission but TCU held the edge to no more than seven points until three minutes before the end when Tech spurted to a 96-78 margin. Of the game's 56 fouls, 29 were against Texas Tech.

Southern Methodist, now 6-3 in the conference, held onto third by whipping Texas while Arkansas dropped back to a fourth place tie with Rice at 5-4. Texas stands 4-5. Baylor 1-8 and TCU 0-9.

After a 30-all tie at halftime, the SMU Mustangs hit a hot streak as Gene Elmore contributed 14 of his 19 points for the evening and reserve Jim Smith added 13 more. Meanwhile the Ponies held the Texas Longhorns scoreless for as long as two minutes and 32 seconds at one stretch.

Rice never trailed Arkansas in their game at Houston, twice forging ahead by as many as 12 points although the Porkers pulled up to 35-30 at the midpoint. Rice pulled ahead by 21 with 5:35 left and substituted liberally thereafter.

Warren Vogel paced Arkansas with 23 points and team mate Steve Rousseau hit 17, matching the output of Elvis Spradling who was top scorer for the Owls. Kendall Rhine, pacing Rice with a 23.5 average for the season, was held to 15 points.

Lincoln Wins 1½ Games

Lincoln's Trojans outscored Lakeview of Big Spring in two basketball games here Tuesday night, or to be more exact, a game and a half.

With Lincoln leading, 29-25, in the second, or A game, the Lakeview coach suddenly called his players off the court, loaded them up and headed home. The incident occurred after a technical foul had been called on one of the Lakeview players.

Lincoln won the first game, 64-48. The score was 25-24 in favor of Lakeview at the half Lincoln put on a full - court press and streaked to 25 points in the third period while holding Lakeview to 5. For Lincoln, Paul Barnes had 19 points, Billy McClain 11, Langston Powell 9, Brady Cobbs 8, M. C. Powell 7, James Williams 4, Howard Todd, Sylvester McKnight and James Williams 2 each. Wayne Johnson had 17 for Lakeview.

In the abbreviated second game Vernon Clay had 11 points, Joseph Crayton 7, Linwood Durst 5, Curtis Clay 4 and L. J. Brooks 2. Brooks had 9 rebounds.

Durst wound up the season with 573 points for 24 games to set a new record for Lincoln. The old record was Ronald Green's 548 points in 26 games last year. Durst scored 217 points in 8 district games this years.

Buick Open Blacked Out

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A Buick spokesman said Tuesday that a disagreement over television rights will black out next summer's Buick Open Golf Tournament.

The tournament is set for June 11-14 at nearby Warwick Hills. The spokesman said the event would not be televised because of a dispute with the Professional Golfers Association.

He said the PGA reportedly wanted 20 per cent of the television proceeds, or about $11,000 of the total $55,000 tourney tab.

"We don't want to enter into that hassle," he added.

The issue over ownership of television rights to PGA tournaments came up earlier this month at the Phoenix Open.

Seguin, Brownwood Tournaments Okayed

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Sanctioning of two district tournaments in Texas was announced today by the National Baseball Congress.

The events, approved by State Commissioner Richard Walker Lubbock, will be held July 4-5 and 10-12 at Brownwood, and July 17-19 and 24-26 at Seguin.

District winners qualify for the state tournament at Lubbock in August.

PLAN HEART BEATS — Volunteer Heart Drive workers map plans for the door-to-door solicitations which start today and end Sunday. Pictured are Mrs. Jean Tyrone, team captain, Mrs. Rhylene Stoker, Heart Sunday co - chairman; Mrs. Jeanie Henderson of Hermleigh, rural area chairman, and Mrs. Ruby Anderson, team captain.

HEART FUND DRIVE AT CLIMAX

Starting today, a number of the Heart Sunday volunteer workers will kick off the final event in the current Heart Fund campaign.

Although many of the volunteer workers will be conducting a canvass of Snyder's residential areas during the afternoon of Heart Sunday, Feb. 23, some of them will be canvassing their areas prior to that time.

Mrs. L. A. Patterson, Heart Sunday chairman, advised that, in any event, all Heart Sunday volunteers have been supplied with "Official Volunteer" badges and only those persons so identified have been authorized by the Scurry County Heart Council to make Heart Sunday collections.

The results of the efforts of the apprximately three hundred volunteer workers will become known when the various Team Captains turn in their volunteer's envelopes.

Heart Sunday report meetings have been set for 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 22, and Sunday, Feb. 23, in the community room of the West Texas State Bank (next door to the Chamber of Commerce office on Twenty-sixth Street.) Persons who may inadvertently be missed by a Heart Sunday Volunteer may mail their Heart Fund contribution to Doug Flynn, Scurry County Heart Fund treasurer, in care of Snyder Public Schools.

Team Captains who have not yet picket up their workers' kits may do so at Mrs. Patterson's home, 3610 Fortieth Street, or may make other arrangements for picking them up by calling, HI-3-5996.

Beatles Plus Clay-Liston 'Too Much'

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miami Beach, somehow, got the Beatles. It also got Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston. Taken separately, even at odd times, this should be enough to satisfy any town.

But these various attractions got mixed up together and it's too much.

One could be excused for hoping that the fight between heavyweight champion Liston and Clay now will drift quietly toward the deadline Feb. 25 in Convention Hall. One could not count on it.

The four British rock 'n' rollers dropped in on Clay's training quarters Tuesday at the smelly old Fifth Street Gym.

Naturally, the Beatles were more interested in getting headlines for themselves than in building up Clay's fight. But "The Greatest" was so honored by the visit that he composed this poem on the spot:

"When Sonny Liston picks up the paper and sees
"That the Beatles came to see me,
"He will become so angree
"That I will knock him out in three."

At the Surfside Community Center where Liston trains the champion also was pleased. He expressed the hope that the publicity attracted by Clay and the Beatles would be reflected at the box office.

"Clay," he said, "is my million dollar baby."

The Beatles got their pictures taken by a mob of U.S. and British news photographers, but they obviously were not as happy about the whole thing as Cassius and Sonny were.

No teen-agers were present. There was no outburst of enthusiasm. The fight mob took little notice of the shaggy-haired visitors except one who remarked "Who's dem characters?"

Full-Employment Advocates Push Widely Differing Ideas

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Ideas on how to cut unemployment are almost as numerous as persons out of work. Everyone is against large scale unemployment. But often he's also against the other fellow's plan for making more jobs.

On the same day this week that the Secretary of Labor was making a plea for cutting down overtime to spread the work, labor leaders were advocating shorter work weeks with the same goal in view, and the president of the nation's second largest bank was saying both schemes were unsound and more harmful than helpful.

Tax cut advocates were sure their goal would solve the problem by boosting the economy. Some union leaders were saying higher wage scales would do the trick better by getting the money where it counts.

Government economists were urging labor and management to work closer on all problems, chronic or acute, including the role of automation in the loss of jobs.

Some saw more education and discouragement of student drop-outs as the cure. And plans for retraining those whose jobs had been eliminated were as varied in size and scope as they were numerous.

Earlier retirements appealed to many in labor ranks—especially the younger ones. The United Automobile Workers Union was reported studying a scheme whereby the work week of workers over the age of 60 would be progressively shortened. This would let the older worker "get used to retirement ahead of time" — and provide more of the available work for the younger ones.

The steel industry is trying longer vacations for senior workers.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz' assault on the recent increase in overtime when so many are out of work was in support of an administration plan to set higher rates for overtime in industries where it figured that that would make employers create more jobs instead. But the secretary was against the plan of many union labor leaders to cut the official work week to 35 hours from 40.

In the auto industry overtime averaged 5.4 hours last October. The union figured wiping that out would add 60,000 jobs.

Wirtz, looking at office jobs, said 1.5 million clerical workers currently work 41 or more hours a week while 400,000 others are looking for office jobs. The administration contends that making overtime too expensive would create more jobs.

But David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, told a Detroit audience that raising overtime pay from time and a half to double time was a defeatist approach, and a 35 hour week would also be inadequate.

Many employers have taken the same line: Double time pay for overtime would increase costs without creating many jobs, since much overtime is on an emergency basis to meet a rush of orders, equipment breakdowns or worker absenteeism. If it cost too much the employer was more likely just to eliminate it, thereby losing the order or delaying shipment; the worker would lose the extra pay he now gets at times; the consumer might have to pay higher prices because of higher costs.

So the arguments go on. The number of persons out of work doesn't drop much, if at all. The economy keeps on growing, but not fast enough to produce all the jobs desired.

Sandblom Trial Set March 10

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Notices have been sent to 539 persons and corporations that a meeting of creditors of Paul Amos Sandblom, bankrupt former insurance agent has been set for March 10.

James M. Easterling, referee in bankruptcy, has scheduled the meeting to be held in the federal courtroom.

Sandblom, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy Jan. 7, has been in the Nueces County jail since Jan. 12. He is under federal charges of using the U.S. mails to sell securities without registering with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He has since been charged with violating state securities regulations and is now under bonds totaling $125,000, including $25,000 on the federal charge and $100,000 on the state charge.

Along with his petition, asking that he be adjudged bankrupt, Sandblom filed a list of 168 creditors, including 147 individuals and 21 firms. An additional list of 371 possible creditors was later compiled at the request of Robert Burke, receiver for Sandblom's estate. The persons and firms in these two lists received the notices of the creditors' meeting.

Most persons listed by the receiver as creditors of Sandblom are residents of Texas and Oklahoma. Others were listed with addresses in six other states, stretching from Illinois to California and one in the Panama Canal Zone.

In addition to the bankruptcy suit and state and federal charges Sandblom is also under a federal court injunction preventing him from doing any business such as led to the charges now pending against him.

In asking for the injunction, the SEC filed sworn statements by two Dallas men and an Oklahoma minister who said Sandblom promised them high rates of interest for the use of money sent to him. They named 211 persons whom they said gave them more than $2 million to turn over to Sandblom.

Recruiters Still Busy

By The Associated Press

Recruiters for Southwest Conference schools are managing to stay busy getting schoolboy football stars to sign pre-enrollment applications.

Baylor reported Tuesday that four more have decided to attend the Waco school. They are all-district halfback and linebacker Raul Ortiz of Corpus Christi Miller, all-district end Don Gordon of Garland, guard Bruce Gober of Dallas Samuell and tackle Steve Daniels of North Little Rock, Ark.

Texas added Dan Kaderka, who was an all-district tackle choice with Austin Johnston.

Arkansas listed as new signees three home state products—backs Tom Dixon of Piggott and Don Richardson of Earle, both exceptionally fast in schoolboy competition, and all-state guard Lynn Greenwell of Wilson.

In New Zealand, where elk were introduced from North America some 60 years ago, they threaten bird and plant life in the mountain and forest area of uninhabited Fiordland. By damaging ground cover and killing young trees, the animals cause floods and erosion.

Strong Rights Bill Acid Test For LBJ

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A no-compromise attitude on the House-passed civil rights bill seems likely to provide an ultimate test of President Johnson's ability to get controversial legislation out of Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader who will serve as Senate floor manager for the measure, said the President is completely committed to the strong terms of the House bill.

Humphrey added there would be "no wheels or deals" to gain its passage even if it takes weary weeks to break through a Southern filibuster. The measure may be brought up next week.

Humphrey's optimism that the House bill can be passed without substantial changes was not shared by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

"There are going to be some compromises," Dirksen said in an interview. "I am going to give the administration an opportunity to compromise, and we'll see what happens."

Dirksen said he will offer a proposal calling for voluntary desegregation of hotels, motels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation. The House-approved bill would make such desegregation mandatory in a selected field.

If he can't get the Senate to accept his voluntary plan, Dirksen said he will consider falling back on an alternative proposal for compulsory integration of businesses offering food and lodging to interstate travelers.

Although Southern opponents of the House bill plan to talk at length in an effort to prevent any Senate progress toward its passage, they probably would be tempted to suspend their vocal marathon long enough to permit a vote on any proposal to water down its terms.

If that happens, a majority of the Senate would decide whether the controversial accommodations section should be changed and thus open the way to other possible alterations in the measure's provisions.

Southerners were called into a strategy session today by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.

Johnson has demonstrated the ability to wangle the votes needed for a majority. But he could risk final defeat of the bill if he fails to come to some kind of terms with Dirksen and the substantial number of Republicans who follow the Illinois senator.

It has been obvious to all concerned that Humphrey and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana now do not believe they can muster the needed support of two-thirds of those voting to cut off debate and thus open the way to action on the bill.

Furthermore, they are resigned to the likelihood that they will never fulfill the two-thirds requirement without Dirksen's active help.

The alternative is to try to wear out the filibusterers with around-the-clock sessions. But such attempts in the past usually have wound up by wearing out the majority, who have to keep 51 members on hand at all times in order to prevent adjournment for lack of a quorum. The filibusterers can rest in relays, keeping only a handful of their members in the chamber.

Pan American To Get Early Start

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Baseball starts early for the Pan American College Broncs this year.

They'll open the campaign at home Feb. 28 against Texas Southern. Twenty-five other games with seven more colleges and three service clubs are on tap for the Broncs.

Pan American's only Southwest Conference foe will be Baylor. They'll play at Waco Feb. 9-10.

Second Siamese Dies

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — A Siamese twin boy died Tuesday in Chelsea Naval Hospital, five days after he was separated by surgery from the body of his dead brother.

The boys were the children of Air Force T. Sgt. and Mrs. Alfred F. Richard of Pawtucket, R.I. They were born while Richard was stationed in Italy and brought the the Chelsea hospital Jan. 23.

Says Farmers Will Lose Some Voice

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)— Farm and rural areas face the prospect of further losses in representation in the House of Representatives as a result of a Supreme Court decision regarding the setting up of congressional districts.

The court held Monday that districts must be equal in population insofar as is practical.

In most states there has been a lag in redistricting to reflect losses in farm and rural population and increases in urban and suburban populations. Many urban districts have much larger populations than rural districts.

Today in the House there are about 300 members without a major farm producing interest in their districts compared with only about 135 members who can be classed as farm or rural. Only 30 years ago, it was just the reverse.

Full implementation of the high court's decision in setting up districts could reduce the farm and rural representation to around 100, farm leaders said.

Certainly this would further weaken what has been referred to for many years as the farm bloc. More and more, farm groups would have to depend upon votes of urban congressmen for farm aid legislation. This declining farm strength is one factor influencing some farm groups to press for legislation to lessen agriculture's dependence on government financial aid.

Red Wheat Boycott Brings LBJ, Labor To Showdown

By NEIL GILBRIDE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leaders, in their first full scale row with President Johnson, vow they will not retreat from their boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

"There's nobody who can change this deal but me," said President Thomas W. Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Unoin Tuesday. "And I will not back down."

Gleason had the full support of AFL-CIO officials, including President George Meany, in rejecting Johnson's plea to end the boycott.

Labor's attitude appeared to harden in the face of renewed attempts at a settlement by Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, special emissary of the President.

Gleason and Paul Hall, president of the AFL-CIO's Maritime Trades Department, insist that at least half the wheat be shipped in U.S. vessels.

Hall claimed the Johnson administration had reneged on the late President John F. Kennedy's promise that at least half the wheat would be transported in American ships. He demanded that the federal government renew the pledge in writing, with the signatures of all Cabinet officers invlved.

Compounding the dispute is the anger of Hall and Gleason at Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges for accusing the unions of trying to make foreign policy.

Hall, in an interview, said Hodges' statement was "the last refuge of an incompetent."

Gleason, in another interview, denied his union is trying to influence foreign policy.

The labor leaders also are angry at Hodges because the Maritime Administration, under the Commerce Department granted Continental Grain Co. a waiver permitting more than 50 per cent foreign shipping.

Continental claimed it could not find enough U.S. ships of the right size at the right time and place.

Reynolds, who failed in an earlier attempt at a settlement, began a new round of closed conferences.

A spokesman for the maritime unions said only Johnson's personal intervention could resolve the dispute.

Gleason's longshoremen are boycotting four foreign ships scheduled for loading on the Gulf Coast with wheat sold to the Soviet Union by Continental.

The Continental sale involves about $75 million worth of grain. Other export licenses issued by the Commerce Department could bring wheat sales to the Soviet Union to $00 million.

The longshoremen's officials say none of it may ever get off American docks if the deadlock isn't settled on their terms.

New Ruling Puts Spotlight On Nonconforming States

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislative oddities pop up in many states—Maryland and Georgia—have moved to get in line with the state laws governing the election of members of the House of Representatives. Although there were indications that many federal court suits would be filed to force compliance with the "one man, one vote" ruling, officials in many states apparently were hoping to stall off action at least until next year.

In Georgia and Maryland, it was a different story.

The Georgia Legislature had started to work on revamping its congressional district lines before Monday's Supreme Court ruling. A final plan is expected to pass Friday night.

Under Georgia's apportionment, which brought on Monday's ruling one district has a population of only 272,000 while another bulges with 824,000.

In Maryland, Gov. J. Millard Tawes accepted a suggestion by his legislative leaders to let a joint legislative committee try to come up with an equitable redistricting plan.

The Democratic governor said he would call the General Assembly into special session if the proposed congressional districts seem in accord with the high court's ruling.

Three of Maryland's districts have populations of less than 300,000, three others have more than 600,000.

In line with the court's decision the ideal constituency would be about 408,000 for each of the 435 House members—based on the 1960 population. But legislative oddities under many state laws permit gigantic variances.

For example, Rep. Bruce Alger, a Texas Republican, has 951,527 persons in his district. Another Republican, John B. Bennett of Michigan, has the smallest district, only 177,000.

One of Arizona's three districts has a population of 663,500, more than that of the other two combined.

California's 38 districts include 21 with population below 400,000 and five that exceed 500,000.

The population range of Colorado's four districts is from a high of 654,000 to a low of 196,000. The spread in Connecticut's five districts is from 319,000 to 690,000.

Florida, with 12 districts, has carved up the state into areas ranging from a low of 237,000 to a high of 660,000.

THE "Write" WAY

By RUTH FOWLER BROWN

Dear Ruth:

My wife died two years ago and recently I started taking different ladies to dances and movies. Last week my daughter-in-law gave a party and asked me to bring a friend's mother, who is a widow about my age — 60. I consented, but I hardly got to dance with her at all, she had so many men asking her to dance. She's very vivacious and seemed to have a wonderful time.

My sister-in-law said it was a scandal the way she carried on with the men — some of them younger. My daughter-in-law acted a little huffy and said the widow was a gay old bag with young ideas. My son said he thought she was a "ball," but probably had her eye on my money.

The whole family is down on her—except me. I want to take her out again. What do you think of the lady's writing?

Undecided

Dear Undecided:

I like it—and I think she'd be a real tonic for you. You're so serious-minded you need someone to kid you along and make you feel gay. There's no avarice in her handwriting. In fact, she has a generous nature and probably holds that money should be used to make others happy—especially those she loves. With such wide spacing between words, she could be called extravagant!

You're a big boy now—not married to your family. Take her out and enjoy life.

Dear Ruth:

I am just 20 years old and am taking a couple of courses at night school while working all day in a meat packing plant. Is it possible to tell what the future holds for me through my handwriting?

Jim

Dear Jim:

If you want me to outline your future like a gypsy fortune teller, I can't do it. Handwriting merely reveals your capabilities and characteristics, your temperament and personality, which, when understood throughly and used properly can be instrumental in insuring a successful future.

You left me in the dark as to what courses you're taking, but your script is constructive-commercial. If you're studying electronics, or the new business machine techniques, I forsee a promising future.

Dear Ruth:

My wife plays bridge four afternoons a week. Now she's started playing bridge with the "girls" in the evening. I feel she gets in enough bridge in the daytime and that her place is at home with me in the evenings. Does my handwriting show that I'm overly jealous?

Bridge Widower

Dear Bridge Widower:

Not overly jealous — just not overly zealous! Your handwriting reveals you're a level-headed, steady, competent, reliable, investor-type person. All wonderful business characteristics but not particularly indicative of a gay and exciting home life. How long since you've wined and dined her? Don't be a dummy—use some finesse and ace the girls out.

Constable Gets Revenge For Ticket

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Constable M. Murray Adler pleaded guilty to a speeding charge in traffic court and was fined $15.

Then he turned to Magistrate Louis Vignoli and said: "Your honor, I have four traffic scofflaw warrants against patrolman George Mitchell," and placed Mitchell under arrest.

Mitchell, who had given the speeding ticket to Adler, was charged in the warrants with overparking three times and disregarding a parking sign.

Smith Named Issues Of Next Legislature

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith says the two major issues in the next session of the legislature will be congressional redistricting and the education budget.

Smith spoke Tuesday to the annual county judges and commissioners conference at Texas A&M.

He said "We may someday see a one billion dollar annual education budget in Texas."

He said the redistricting efforts will result from the U. S. Supreme Court's decision in the Georgia case that representation in the U. S. House should be based on population as closely as practical.

Three Dead In Cave-In

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Three men were killed and a fourth was injured Tuesday when the side of a 20-foot-deep ditch gave way at a construction site near here.

The men were covered by more than five feet of the sandy soil. Rescuers managed to pull the injured man from the ditch and bring out one body before another slide piled six more feet of dirt into the ditch. None of the rescue workers was injured in the second slide.

The four were working for the Swatek Construction Co. of Oklahoma City, which is building a new sewage treatment plant 2½ miles southeast of here.

The injured man, Dave Stephens, 44, of Perkins, was treated for shock and was reported in satisfactory condition.

The dead were identified as Leslie Cantrell, 36, Midwest City; Glen Smith, in his 30s, of Oklahoma City, and Kenneth Harting, 39, Glencoe.

Smith's body had been partly uncovered and a rope was attached to his body before the second cave-in. The workers were guided to his body by the rope and found Harting's body nearby.

Oswald Rifle Fired At Gen. Walker

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas police say their ballistic tests of a mail-order rifle believed to have killed President John F. Kennedy indicates it was the same one used in an unsuccessful attack on former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

Chief of Police Jesse Curry and Chief of Detectives M. W. Stevenson made the report public Tuesday.

"The ballistics report cannot be final or conclusive, but generally the comparison points of the slugs were good," Stevenson said.

Walker, a former Army division commander, was near a window in his home last April working on his income tax return when a sniper fired at him.

The slug tore through a window casing, narrowly missed Walker, pierced a 9-inch wall and fell on a stack of packaged pamphlets in the adjoining room. The slug tore a golf ball-sized hole in the wall.

Mrs. Marina Oswald, Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of Kennedy, has told investigators and the Warren Commission that her husband told her that night he had killed the controversial former Army officer.

She said her husband wrote her a letter before leaving home the night of the attack on Walker, telling her the location of the city jail and how to contact the Russian Embassy if he should be arrested.

Boys' Club Sets Craft Instruction

A special course to enable parents, other adults and older boy leaders to learn a worthwhile craft and prepare them for work as youth leaders will be offered at the Scurry County Boys' Club, it was announced today.

Charles Hodges, teacher of arts and crafts at Travis Junior High School, has offered his services to train leaders to work with youth, Boys' Club officials said.

Classes will be held at the Boys' Club on Mondays and Wednesdays from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. beginning next Monday, Feb. 24. There is no charge.

Hodges is a graduate of West Texas State University where he majored in industrial arts. He is working on his masters degree in art and industrial arts. Also, he has had several years of actual business experience in this field and has taught arts and crafts in the YMCA program for three years.

Crafts offered as a public service will begin with general information on sketching and ideas. Then, actual craft participation will be in plaster moulding and sculpturing, braiding and weaving (Indian bead work, loop weaving, plastic lace weaving), novelty and miscellaneous crafts from scraps, papier-mache, soap and wood carving, popsicle or slapstick craft.

The Boys' Club hopes that from this program volunteer leaders will be found who in turn will be willing to volunteer their services in aiding youth to learn to think with their minds and do with their hands.

Phil Burton Wins Seat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Liberal Democrat Phillip Burton topped a field of seven and won a seat in the House of Representatives in a special election Tuesday.

He claimed his triumph "is a resounding victory for the Johnson administration out here in the western part of the United States."

Burton had to gather more votes than his seven opponents and any write-in candidates combined to win the special election in California's 5th Congressional District and avoid a run-off.

The election was called to fill the vacancy created when Democrat John Shelley was elected mayor of San Francisco last November. The term expires Jan. 3, 1965 and Burton must run for re-election in the November general election.

The 5th District, one of two in San Francisco, has 108,000 registered voters, of whom 70 per cent are Democrats.

There is a wider open diamond mine than the Kimberley — the Premier near Pretoria. But none is more famous.

Gorman Is Named To TCTA Board

Jack Gorman, a classroom teacher at Travis Junior High, was recently appointed to the Advisory Board of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association. Gorman received word of his appointment from Charles E. Sanderson, Executive Secretary of the Association in Austin.

As a member of the TCTA Advisory Board, Gorman will represent District IV, of which Snyder is a member, at four Board meetings each year. Normally these meetings are held in Sept. in connection with the Conference of Presidents, in Jan. at the Annual State Convention, and in June. The Advisory Board of the TCTA is responsible for establishing policy and directing the general management of the affairs of the Association. In addition, members of the Board transact all business between annual meetings and determine and approve all expenditures of the Association.

Gorman has been a teacher in the Snyder Schools for the past five years. He received his Bachelor of Science in education from the University of Texas and his Master of Education in educational administration from Texas Technological College.

WRAY, Colo. (AP) — Undersheriff Harold Williams found $10,000 or more in cash Tuesday, apparently part of $22,864 taken in a bank holdup at Enders, Neb.

Stacks of moldy currency were found in sagebrush 18 miles north of Wray in northeastern Colorado. The location was pinpointed in questioning of two men sentenced in the case.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sargent Shriver was sworn in Tuesday as a special assistant to President Johnson to direct the administration's antipoverty campaign.

Johnson and members of the Cabinet were on hand as Herbert Miller, White House administrative officer, administered the oath to Shriver.

"Now you can officially wage war and make peace at the same time," Johnson told Shriver who will continue to direct the Peace Corps.

'64 Corvair Monza by Chevrolet

It's got a frisky new engine

(that puts superior traction under you)

'64 Corvair Monza Club Coupe

Some cars do their best out on the highway. Others seem tailor-made for driving on city streets.

Then there's Corvair—that gets along just great most anywhere. Swishing along a highway. Scurrying around in traffic. Or wading through a soggy trail.

Take highway driving. Corvair's got a bigger new engine with horsepower up nearly 19% in the standard version. But in case figures don't impress you, just wait until you head a Corvair for some faraway places. You'll get the message.

Take city driving. Corvair's trim size, light steering (because the engine weight's in the rear) and flat cornering make anything from rush-hour driving to parking a cinch.

Take back-road driving. The weight of Corvair's engine bearing down on the rear wheels gives them remarkable gripping power on most any kind of surface, whether it's loose, solid, dry, wet—or even snow covered.

Something else you can take note of, too: There's no radiator to overheat or run dry. No hoses to check or replace. No need for anti-freeze. The engine's air cooled, the brakes self-adjusting.

Beginning to sound like a car you can really warm up to? Then there's only one thing left to take: a ride in one at your Chevrolet dealer's.
