Eagles Capture Ozona Championship

Coach Sherwood Barker's fast flying Eldorado Eagles walked off with the Class A championship this past week end at the Ozona Relays. The Eagles were never challenged totaling 96 points. The speedy Eagles picked up six first places, two third places and one fourth place. Two of the first places came from the two fine relay teams. The 440 yard relay team composed of Bob Page, Wayne Doyle, Keith Williams and Paul Page set a new meet record with an excellent time of 44.5. The old record of 44.7 was held by Eldorado and made in '64. The mile relay team made up of Bob Page, Archie Nixon, Bobby Sykes and Paul Page turned in a fine performance and won the event. Two first places came from Wayne Doyle in the 100 and 220 yard dash. Wayne set a new meet record in the 220 yard dash with a time of 23.1. This is his first year to run this event and he is doing an excellent job. Another first came when Paul Page easily won the 440 yard dash; this was run into a very strong wind and Paul did an outstanding job in winning it. Archie Nixon added a first place in the shot put competition; he continues to amaze coaches and fans by throwing the shot the distance he does and weighing only 155 pounds. Archie also placed 3rd in the discus. Other points came from Bob Page who finished third in the 120 high hurdles. Bob is steadily improving and will begin to place higher in this event. The fourth place finish came from Keith Williams in the 100 yard dash.

James Larry Davis and Archie Nixon looked good in the 220 yard dash and the 100 yard dash and with some hard work they will get stronger and will soon be in good running form. Two other bright spots came from Jimmy Martin in the 880 yard dash and Steve Sykes in the mile run. They are continuing to improve each week. Also working hard is Terry Clingan in the long jump and high jump; Ricky Griffin in the 330 1/2 hurdles and high jump; and Billy Hubble in the 120 High Hurdles, Mickey Clark in the 120 High Hurdles and 440 yard dash. Mickey is still bothered by an operation he had last fall.

Sam Oglesby, an outstanding miler, received some bad news this past week; he will be out for about six weeks due to a broken toe. Robert Wilson, a pole vaulter, has been ill and may return in the future and help out.

Post Script

"Can we have two of them?" asked a pair of boys calling with their daddy at the Annette Engdahl home on Sunday.

The call was in response to an ad in last week's paper in which she was offering to give away a batch of German shepard puppies. When informed that they could have two—and even more—they quickly selected two and happily carried them off. Directly they returned with a neighbor boy and he also would dearly love to get two.

Monday morning at her regular station at the local coffee bar, Annette proudly announced that she was plumb out of the puppy business.

With our subscribers: Mrs. Vester T. Hughes reports that her new address is 2609 Jann Drive in San Angelo.

Kent Elliott, proprietor of Kent Elliott Roofing Company in San Angelo, must have a warm spot in his heart for Eldorado judging by what he has done for the Golf Club.

The roof on the club house no doubt had seen better days, when suddenly last week a new two-color job was seen being installed. By the first of this week the job was completed and the building looks like new.

We called Chas. Hahn, who is president of the Golf Club, to learn how the club members managed to finance such a major job, and were informed that Kent Elliott provided all the materials and labor, and installed the new roof, absolutely FOR FREE!

We're happy to recommend a man like that to anyone in Eldorado needing roof work done.

Charter Ordered For New Industrial Foundation

A group of 14 interested citizens met at the Co-Op office Tuesday evening to discuss and consider the advantages of organizing a county-wide industrial foundation.

County Agent W. G. Godwin opened the meeting by explaining the need of a chartered organization to promote the needs of the county and city, and cited examples of other small towns where organized effort had brought in new industries.

A general round table discussion followed with Co-Op Manager Elton McGinnes acting as chairman.

As the session proceeded many pertinent questions were asked which were usually answered by Attorney Barfield and Jack Hannis. A show of hands was called for and all fourteen were in favor of setting up the non-profit foundation. With that decision made, Attorney Barfield was instructed to file the necessary papers and order a charter.

The name will be "The Schleicher County Foundation" and the incorporators will be: Cecil Pearce, Elton McGinnes and Ed Meador. These three will also be directors along with Pat Wester and Raymon Mobley.

It was understood that the Foundation would work in co-operation with—but separate from—the Chamber of Commerce. Buddy White, president of the Chamber of Commerce pledged that the C of C would pay the expense of securing the charter and other preliminary expenses. When a charter is issued a permanent organization will be set up and more members will be solicited.

Present were:

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

A crop rotation system is important for many reasons but one that is often overlooked is plant disease prevention.

A disease of only slight importance to a crop the first year may carry over in the soil and become a very serious problem on land where continuous cropping is practiced.

Most of the common soil-borne diseases pass through unfavorable periods on crop refuse in the soil. Such diseases include damping-off, root rot, wilts and root knot plus many foliage diseases such as early blight.

After disease organisms enter a new field, a small infection can grow and become a serious threat to crops. Corn smut is an example of a fungus which is carried by wind-blown spores. It survives in the soil for several seasons.

A plant disease already established in a field may often be avoided by the planting of a different crop, one not susceptible to the disease.

Farmers should learn to recognize the important plant diseases of this area, and recommended control practices used to keep damage at the minimum. The planting of resistant crops is always in order.

Since some disease organisms can live in the soil for many years even in the absence of susceptible crops, knowing this fact can keep losses at a minimum and aid in disease control.

Information is available at my office on plant diseases most common in the county along with control suggestions.

Most of us are confident we could move mountains if somebody would clear the foothills out of the way.

For a pecan tree to produce an abundance of quality nuts, it must be protected from attack by both insects and diseases.

As an aid to pecan tree owners, whether a home owner or commercial producer, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service now has available a publication which should be of interest to all.

The publication, MP-313, "Pecan Diseases and Insects," is a fine reference bulletin which pecan tree owners should find very useful in identifying the diseases and insects common in the area. A brief but to the point discussion has been prepared on each disease and insect of economic importance. Illustrations are used to make the identification job even easier.

The new publication, while pointing up the need for controls, gives only general suggestions but recommends that L-245, "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases on Fruits and Nuts," be used for the needed pesticides and their rates.

Copies of both publications are available from my office.

Leadership is the process of helping people to do the worthwhile things they want to do.

Peaches and plums are beginning to bloom in the county and this is a critical time so far as disease control is concerned.

Chemical sprays must be applied at this time to prevent serious losses later in the year.

Initial sprays for the control of brown rot should be started at this time. This disease is characterized by a loss of blossoms and the rapid decay of fruit at harvest time. Wettable sulfur—6 tablespoons to 2 gallons of water or Captan—2 tablespoons to a gallon of water can be used to control this disease along with peach seab which occurs later in the year. The first spray should be applied when 75% of the petals have fallen after blooming. Other applications of the spray should be made at 14-21 day intervals until harvest time, he

Mimi Hill Writes From Burnet, Texas

From Box 149, Burnet Texas 78611, Mrs. Glynn Hill wrote recently:

We all love Burnet, Glynn is really enjoying teaching in this high school. Everyone he works with gets along real well.

I am working in an attorney's office. I work for three attorneys so I really stay busy. It keeps me hopping to stay caught up. But I really do enjoy my job.

Leslie had the Grand Champion Lamb at our Burnet County stock show. It was a Hampshire fat lamb. He got a ribbon and a trophy and also prize money. He didn't sell it though as he plans to show it at either Houston or San Angelo.

Glynn hurt his back somehow during January. He spent a little over a week in the hospital in traction. We now have a traction set-up at home which he uses some. But you know Glynn; not even something like that can keep him down long. He is nearly back to going full speed again. Of course during stock show season, he must be able to get up and go and be able to get the sheep fitted out to show, etc.

As much as we love it here, we do miss friends there. And I enjoy reading the Success to keep up with things there. Sincerely, Mimi Hill (Mrs. Glynn D. Hill).

Insect control is also important to effective control of fruit diseases, because injury resulting from insect feeding serves as an excellent entrance for the different fruit rots.

A really contented man has his yesterdays all filed away, his present in order, and his future subject to instant revision.

Recent changes in the income tax laws will affect all tax payers this year, and will be especially important for tax management by farmers and ranchers. A few of the changes affected the 1969 income tax report, but most of the changes become effective in 1970 and later.

Tax free exchanges of livestock, holding period for livestock, sale of farm land, recapture of depreciation on livestock and new rules for installment sales are among the many important changes.

Most of the changes affecting all tax payers are included in a new publication entitled "Highlights of 1969 Changes in the Tax Law." For your free copy come by the county agent's office or call 2610.

10 resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

- 1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.
- 2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.
- 3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.
- 4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.
- 5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.
- 6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.
- 7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.
- 8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.
- 9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.
- 10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

What is ahead in the new decade for food products and processes? How will consumers spend their food dollars? What will they want?

For one thing, the homemaker wants and is willing to pay for "instant" heat-and-serve and ready-to-cook foods, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Criteria for convenience foods is changing to quick serve and instant foods instead of foods to which only some degree of preparation has been added Mrs. Clyatt explains.

For example, a packaged pudding mix which requires stirring in milk and cooking is too old-hat and too much bother, she says. So canned and frozen instant puddings are high style.

Canned soups to which water must be added are losing an increasing per cent of their market to the soups with water in the can.

The second trend which the specialist lists is that Americans will eat more meals away from home in the 1970's.

Institutional food sales rose 36% from 1960 to 1966. During this same period sales in food stores rose only 14%. Forecasters say 40% of the food dollar will be spent for meals away from home by 1978.

In 1962, about 25% went for meals away from home. This figure jumped to 35% by 1966.

Mrs. Clyatt attributes this trend to: 1. homemakers working away from home; 2. increased leisure time; 3. improved technology; 4. decreased interest in learning how to cook.

Today 40% of all women more than 16 years old are in the American labor force. The largest segment (57%) of women in the work force are married.

Thirdly, fast foods services will increase in the 1970's. More food chains are going into institutional foods; they're opening franchised dining chains through facilities for on-premise food consumption and take-home prepared foods.

Mrs. Clyatt says this trend will continue and probably expand to most major companies.

Forecasters predict that supermarkets will go heavily into food service operations, too, offering all types of prepared, take-home foods from chicken dinners, fish and chips, pizzas, and Chinese entrees to fancy gourmet meals completely prepared from appetizer through dessert.

By the mid-1970's, 50% of the supermarkets will have luncheonettes and 84% will have take-out food services.

Mrs. Clyatt lists advances in food technology as the fourth major trend. Scientists will make new products from fabricated foods. As a protein extender in meats, snacks and low-cost meatlike foods and beverages, the soybean leads the parade, she says.

Great strides are being made in the development of cheese-like, meat-like and cellular textures to be used in foods.

Would it be cheaper to buy a side of beef rather than individual purchases at the supermarket?

This and other questions frequently confront homemakers who have a home freezer. There is no easy "yes" or "no" answer, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture experts.

The answer can be found only by making a careful comparison of costs among the alternatives available to you.

Basically, you have three choices in buying meat for the freezer: buying a whole carcass, side or quarter; buying wholesale cuts (loin, round, chuck, etc.); or buying retail cuts.

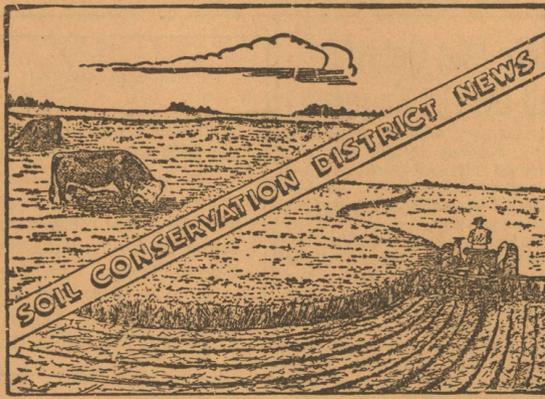

Making this decision is the subject of a booklet prepared by the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service. It's called, "How to Buy Meat for Your Freezer." The information provided in the booklet is intended primarily to answer the questions most frequently asked by consumer-buyers—those relating to costs, grades, kinds of cuts and yields of usable meats.

For instance, the booklet tells you that cutting loss of a beef carcass could vary from 20 to 30% or more. A 25% cutting loss, which is not unusual, means that a 300-pound side of beef would yield 225 pounds of usable meat cuts.

A rule of thumb for carcass beef is 25 per cent waste, 25 per cent ground beef and stew meat, 25% steaks and 25% roasts.

For a flavorful, yet economical, dinner, try blade-chuck roast. Although it is considered a less tender cut, this roast has excellent beef flavor if properly prepared.

In the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Prime and Choice grades, it can be oven roasted—the dry heat method of roasting—even though it has sections that vary in tenderness.

My Stake in the Natural Resources of Texas

By Gene Newport

Texas' natural resources are indispensable in today's highly developed society. Vital to our national security, our economic strength, and our physical well being natural resources provide our civilization with all that it needs to carry on. Of all the natural resources, soil is the most important to me. Without it there would be no food crops, no forests, no wildlife, or no grasslands. Civilizations have always flourished as long as the soil remained fertile and productive. Forests, grasslands, and wildlife helped the first colonists in America sustain their colonies. Just as in the past, these natural resources will have to support my generation with its growing demands.

Texas resources include soil, water, forests, oil, and wildlife. Each must be protected in its own way. Soil must be kept from erosion by terracing or planting grass to prevent siltation from flowing into our lakes and streams, filling and polluting them. Without our help streams and lakes cannot be purified. The waste removal processes today are very expensive and will cost more in the future. My family owns a cabin on Lake Buchanan where water skiing and fishing play a large part in our summer recreation. Clean water is necessary to both of these. Brush control provides game protection as well as preventing unnecessary depletion of soil minerals.

Conservation also involves many scientific and technological fields: soil science, agronomy, and woodland and wildlife management. These fields help decide the best uses of land and which practices will protect it the most.

In several years I shall have a voice in what happens to the natural resources of Texas. Whether they are preserved or not will depend on laws that are passed, scientific and technological fields, and improvements made in the next few years.

District Directors wish to thank Miss Katherine Hill, English teacher in the local public school, for her fine co-operation in helping sponsor this contest.

This year's theme for Soil Stewardship observance is "Resources and Renewal." The date of the observance is to be May 3-10, 1970. The focus is on "re-building the gifts of nature that sustain us, and renewing the spirit of stewardship which is vital to all if we are to survive."

Did you know "The earth grew by 71 million persons in 1969? (There were already 3.5 billion here when the year began). The highest percentage gain, 2.9%, was registered in Latin America. The largest increase in numbers was in Asia, 40 million. Here in the U. S., population grew by two million. This one per cent increase swelled the number of Americans to 204 million."

Gov. Smith Speaks At Dedication

PRESTON SMITH

Washington-On-The-Brazos — Gov. Preston Smith called on Texans to wage a vigorous war against air and water pollution in the State during the recent ceremonial opening of the Washington-on-the-Brazos State Park Museum.

"We have tamed the wilderness," Gov. Smith told a group of officials and visitors at the historic site Sunday, "but it is now time to tame ourselves."

The museum, located near the banks of the Brazos River, is operated by Blinn College and will be the center of a project to restore the village site as it was when the fathers of the Republic of Texas gathered there 134 years ago to draft a declaration of independence from Mexico.

The 71-acre tract in Washington County near Navasota is an official state park, but it is supported by the Washington-in-the-Brazos State Park Association and is the site of annual Texas Independence Day celebrations. This year's festivities attracted an estimated 36,000 persons from throughout the state to view the parade and other ceremonies Sunday.

Gov. Smith said it is no reflection against the state's pioneers to note that the conquering of nature has led to problems. "Our senses of sight, hearing and smell make it clear that our 'victory' over nature was a temporary thing," the governor said.

"Today, the fruits of that all too successful battle—sadly enough—include polluted water, polluted air, congested cities, crowded highways, ear-splitting noise, disappearing scenic beauty, and crime in the streets."

He said it is time to "... fight a series of San Jacintos—this time for human existence. We have fought nature long enough—perhaps too long. It's time to try making friends."

"Just as the signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence cast off the chains of tyranny and separated themselves from an unjust government, let us make Texas free again, free from the cancer of uncontrolled growth, free from foul air and spoiled waters, and free from the reckless destruction of natural resources.

"To restore this polluted land to some semblance of liveability will require the same attributes of courage and initiative and dedication that inspired the men of 1836," Gov. Smith said. "It is to them this celebration and this monument are dedicated."

S. S. Helps Establish Proof Of Age

How old are you? If you have a birth certificate or baptismal record made before age five, you can be sure of your birth date. However, if your birth was not recorded and you were not baptized prior to age five, you are probably relying on information which was passed to you by someone else, and is not recorded at an early age.

The assistant district manager Joe Trevino said, "Establishing the correct date of birth for a claimant is one of the largest single problems the Social Security Administration has today. Our goal is to get a check into the hands of the beneficiary in the shortest possible time from the day of filing the claim."

"Unfortunately," Mr. Trevino further stated, "quite a large percentage of claims are delayed an extra 15 to 30 days while a search is made for adequate evidence of age. There are many records available which are acceptable and are easily obtained. Most delays could be avoided if the claimant secured these documents before the time for applying for benefits."

He further explained that persons who know their birth was not recorded can get advice about evidence of age by calling their nearest social security office. Those calling or visiting the office should ask for a copy of Form SSA-9 which lists acceptable evidence of age. The Social Security Office is located at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Clark Given Citation For Army Duty

Tony Clark received an Award of the Army Commendation for Heroism last week. Tony was discharged on November 26, 1969. Among other medals received was the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, 1st Cavalry Combat and Nat. Defense.

Tony and wife are making their home in Eldorado where Joan is attending college in San Angelo. Citation received said:
"Army Commendation Medal with V Device, Date Action 26 January 1969. Theater Republic of Vietnam. Reason:
"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Specialist Four Tony A. Clark distinguished himself by heroism in action on 26 January 1969, while serving as a rifleman during a search and clear mission in Tay Ninh Province, Republic of Vietnam. As his unit was advancing along a trail, they began receiving heavy small arms fire from a large enemy force which wounded three men in the lead platoon. Two of these men were isolated from the main body of the company and were pinned down. Specialist Four Clark heroically advanced to the point of contact under heavy small arms fire, and began laying down suppressive fire on the enemy locations. His suppressive fire enabled the wounded men to be evacuated and prevented the enemy from advancing on the unit. His display of personal bravery and devotion to duty is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service, and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."

To Job In Ohio

Canton, Ohio.—A native of Hereford, Texas, has been named manager of dining services at Walsh College in Canton, Ohio, a co-educational liberal arts institution. James Dziuk, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dziuk Sr. of RD 2, Hereford, was named to the post, succeeding Irvin F. Kriner, 49, of Alliance, Ohio, who has been transferred by ARA-Slater School and College Services to a similar post at Grand Valley College in Allendale, Mich.

Mr. Dziuk, who is married to the former Eldra Gibson of Eldorado, Texas, has been manager of two cafeterias and a snack bar at Mankato State College in Mankato, Minn., for the past 18 months.

He graduated from West Texas State University in 1967 with a bachelor of arts degree and joined ARA as assistant food service manager at Winona State College, Winona, Minn. In January, 1968, he was named assistant food service manager at St. Catherine's College at St. Paul, Minn.

He assumed his duties at Mankato State College in September, 1969.

School News

Mrs. John Edward Meador is on the job as high school librarian and keeper of the study hall. She received her degree from ASU in January.

School Supt. C. T. Humphries reported this week that the faculty members will attend the district teachers' meeting next October rather than in March as has been in recent years. So school will be held as usual on March 20th.

On March 21st the Eagle trackmen will host the annual Plateau Relays here. Last year, the relays were rained out.

Also on the 21st, the Junior-Senior banquet will be held. The Juniors have already received their decoration materials and will start decorating the main room of the Memorial Building soon.

Ethnic Groups To Compose '70 Census

As in past censuses, the 1970 county according to the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, will show the extent to which the U. S. has tried to follow the famous inscription on the Statue of Liberty:

"Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free..."

It will measure, in short, the ethnic makeup of the population.

One entirely new question on the '70 Census questionnaire is designed to obtain information about the Spanish Americans. The question reads: "Is this person's origin or descent Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American, other Spanish or non-Spanish?" Answers will provide a basis for many new government programs in behalf of Spanish Americans.

A count of the population by color was made from the very first census (that of 1790) to the present. Since 1850, the census has included at least one question designed to obtain a count of various nationality groups in the population.

Under present census classifications, national minorities in the population are listed as "foreign stock." Foreign stock is composed of two groups, persons who are foreign born and those who were born in the U. S. of at least one foreign parent.

Of the total population of nearly 180 million persons counted in 1960, the foreign born numbered 9 million; those with two foreign born parents, 14.1 million; and those with mixed parentage, 10.2 million. Thus, the foreign stock totaled about 34 million persons. In addition, a total of 18.8 million Negroes and 1.6 million of other races (Chinese, Japanese, American Indians, etc.) were counted.

From the beginning of census taking in 1790, an attempt has been made to provide an ethnic profile of the population—in the Nation as well as in each of the States.

For example, in 1790 Negroes, both slave and free, totaled almost 800,000, nearly 20% of the approximately 4 million persons counted. After the returns were in, an attempt was made to show the nationalities represented in the population by classifying names of the heads of families. Such names were listed and posted in that first census. Thus, the nationality distribution for 1790 was as follows: English, 83.5 per cent; Scotch, 6.7 per cent; Irish, 1.6 per cent; Dutch, 2.0 per cent; French, 0.5 per cent; German, 5.6 per cent; Hebrew, less than a tenth of a per cent; and others, 0.1 per cent.

It was not until 1850 that progress was made in the effort to measure the foreign stock by direct question. That year the questionnaire included an inquiry about birth abroad. (In 1870 a question was added about parents' places of birth.) The result showed that of the 1850 census total of 23.3 million persons counted, 2.2 million had been born abroad. The major groups were the Irish, with nearly 1 million; the Germans, 584,000; the English, 279,000; Canadians, 148,000 (including French Canadians); Scotch, 71,000; French, 54,000; and the Welsh, 30,000. Only 1,135 Asiatic-born persons were enumerated in 1850, and 758 of these were from China. The population of Negroes and other races in 1850 was 3.6 million.

Subsequent census counts of the foreign born showed that, as the years went by, many other nationalities were added to the population. The count of foreign-born Italians, for example, was less than 4,000 in 1850, increased to 44,000 in the 1880 census; 183,000 in 1890; 1.3 million in 1910; and 1.8 million by 1930. In 1960, the count was 1.3 million.

Russians (a designation that included Latvians, Estonians, Lithuanians and Finns from 1850-1890) totaled 1,414 in 1850; 182,644 in 1890; 423,726 in 1900; 1.1 million in 1910 and again in 1920. In 1960, the count was 690,598. Polish-born persons were not separately enumerated in 1850, but there were 7,298 in 1860; 48,557 in 1890; 363,497 in 1900; just under 1 million in 1910; 1.3 million in 1930; and 747,750 in 1960.

Of the two large Asian groups, the count of persons born in China was 35,565 by 1860; 106,701 in 1890; 56,756 in 1910; 46,129 in 1930; and 99,735 in 1960; and those born in Japan numbered 401 in 1880; 24,788 in 1900; 67,744 in 1910; 70,993 in 1930; and 109,175 in 1960. Among both groups, a small proportion of each was white.

Spanish-Americans, the bulk of whom come from Latin America rather than Spain (the 1960 count of persons born in Spain was only 44,999), are currently the fastest-growing nationality group in the population. Spanish Americans come from many different countries.

One large group of Spanish-Americans comes from Mexico. The 1960 totals showed that there were 572,564 persons born in Mexico and another 1.2 million Americans with Mexican or mixed parentage. The bulk of Mexican Americans live in five southwestern states—Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas—where a special count of all persons with Spanish surnames was made in 1960. The total of such persons was 3.4 million in 1960.

Puerto Ricans in the U. S. were tabulated separately in 1960 as in earlier censuses. The number was just under 900,000 including 617,000 who had been born in Puerto Rico. The bulk of Puerto Ricans in the U. S. (70% of the total) lived in New York City in 1960.

The new question on Spanish descent on the 1970 census questionnaire is aimed at getting a complete census, for the first time, of this important ethnic group as a whole.

And, of course, intense interest will be focused on the 1970 count of U. S. Negroes. Census Bureau estimates for July 1, 1969, put the number at 22.7 million or a little more than 11% of the total U. S. population. Extra effort is being made to get an accurate count of Negroes, who, it is believed, were missed in proportionately greater numbers in 1960 than whites.

History Of Woman's Club Of Eldorado

In February of 1920, 12 forward-looking women of Eldorado met to discuss the organization of a study club. After other women of the area had become interested, they held their first regular meeting that fall with 27 active and 13 associate members. Their first yearbook, typewritten, was issued under the name, "The Woman's Club" with this stated purpose: "The object of the club shall be the mutual help and encouragement of all those desirous of mental culture and to cooperate in any work which may advance the welfare of the community." The club was admitted into Federation December 3, 1920.

Of that original group, these four are members today: Miss Sarah Miltia Hill, daughter of Mrs. D. C. Hill (charter members). Miss Hill is an artist and former teacher of art at Sul Ross State University; Mrs. J. L. Neill, long-time county employee and our club humorist; Mrs. Will Whitten, ranch woman and daughter of Mrs. J. S. Pelt (charter member); Mrs. W. N. Ramsey, our dedicated historian and library representative. Mrs. Ramsey has held continuous membership during the 50 years and missed very few meetings; one other, Mrs. V. G. Tisdale, ranchwoman, moved to San Angelo last year lacking only a few months of a 50-year membership, having used her time and talents in many worthwhile ways.

Throughout the years, the club has followed that purpose stated in 1920. Programs have been mentally stimulating and enjoyable, most often given by members themselves with only enough guest speakers from the community and elsewhere to bring specialized information and cultural talent. They have ranged in scope through different phases of education, fine arts, home life, conservation, public and world affairs and especially our own country and state. One entire year's programs consisted of book reviews by members themselves. Always appreciation for "a good try" has created a warm feeling and encouraged individual effort and growth.

Some early fund-raising methods were home-talent plays, bazaars, meager parties, oyster suppers, and the sponsoring of outside entertainment groups. When funds became really low, each lady contributed a dollar telling in rhyme how she had obtained it. Today we have bake sales and those lovely Texas place-mats which almost sell themselves.

Always subscribing 100% to The Texas Clubwomen, our club supports projects of State and General Federation and certain others of this area. Its members have served with distinction in district and state capacities. A signal honor came in 1949 when Mrs. J. W. (Gussie) Walker, native of Eldorado, was elected president of TEWC. The Woman's Club sponsored organization and federation of The '49 Study Club of Mertzon.

Here at home, they began with initiating a flower-growing contest among school children with 51 entrants and continued the resulting beautification each year by exchanging seeds and plants. They established a scholarship fund, helping several local students attain higher education. With other interested groups, they landscaped the courthouse lawn, planting trees, flowers and shrubs and laying curbs. Beautifying a roadside park and other small parks were special projects. Worthy families have been helped on holidays and sometimes throughout the year. The needs were many in those early years and the club was always concerned and ready to serve.

Their most far-reaching project has been the library. While supporting for years a small lending library, these dedicated women saw the need for more books for more people. A committee, appointed in 1934, met with the commissioners' court. After investigation, the court agreed to give its support, and on April 20, 1935, the Schleicher County library opened. It became truly a county-wide project with other organizations and individuals joining in book-showers, donations of money, and many fund-raising projects. Moved from one available building to another, it is now at home in two spacious rooms in the Memorial Building.

During World War II the ladies reduced their Federation and home projects, spending many hours supporting the Red Cross and U. S. O. and aiding all city and county drives. Increasing their scholarship fund to $500, they bought war savings bonds. After the war, Schleicher County citizens constructed a community building honoring their many young men who had served our country in the armed forces. Called the Memorial Building, one room is designated "the clubroom" and was furnished, together with supplies for its kitchen by our club and other women's organizations. We helped to landscape the grounds and equip the youth center.

Today, the Woman's Club continues with interesting programs and concern for the community, sharing in its beautification, supporting the library, and other area projects. Just recently we presented two table lamps to Schleicher County Medical Center. Last year, dressed in pioneer costumes, we entered the Christmas parade. At times, when funds are low, we still divvy up a dollar apiece for some special use. At the library where more than 7,000 books live in its shelves, a courteous librarian and her helper are on duty five afternoons a week. On the courthouse lawn, those trees have grown past the upstairs windows and pink primroses reseed themselves and bloom again every spring.

As we send to the printers our fiftieth yearbook we can say, together with our charter members, "It's been challenging; it's been rewarding; it's been fun!" —Rep.

Austin, Tex.—Local school districts will contribute $217.2 million toward financing Texas' basic foundation program in 1970-71. State Board of Education settled on this figure in approving local fund assignments of approximately 20% of the total program cost. State pays the rest.

Sixty-first Legislature set local fund assignment at $204.9 million, plus 20% of the cost of new programs.

Board approved the economic index for each of 254 counties, determining the contribution to be made by districts as a fair share of costs. Each district is further assigned an amount based on the percentage of tax valuations. Tentative indexes have been mailed to district and county superintendents.

Economic index is re-computed each year, based on three-year averages of valuations, scholastic population and income.

In other action, the board: —Reversed the Taylor County Sch. Board order to transfer 73.9 acres of land and 10 pupils from Wylie to the Abilene School districts, on grounds that local trustees made the original decision in a secret meeting, which is not legal under Texas laws.

—Approved for redemption $3,076,149 worth of textbooks in 36 subjects covering all grades.

—Awarded a $150,000 contract to Texas A&M University to train driver education teachers and teaching assistants in two summer short courses.

—Heard a report that there is no significant disadvantages for driver education students from use of non-degree teaching assistants in driving courses.

—Voted to continue the School for the Blind project to develop a perceptual training program for visually handicapped children into 1971 under a new $69,041 contract with the U. S. Office of Education.

Owners have a right to reasonable use of the surface to get minerals under such lands, says the Court, and where public use interferes with recovery of minerals, a second condemnation proceeding is necessary. Case involved 7.6 acres of land condemned by Chambers-Liberty Counties Navigation district.

High court also agreed to hear arguments April 1 as to whether a house owned by the San Antonio Methodist Church should be exempt from property taxation. House is used as a residence for the church's district supervisor. Fourth Court of Civil Appeals earlier reversed a local district court which contended the house is exempt.

Abilene appeal from judgment of $29,545 favoring a landowner whose 35 acres were condemned for a city airport was rejected by the Supreme Court.

Phase II of Gov. Preston Smith's "Goals of Texas" program was kicked off when representatives of each of the 21 planning regions of the state came to Austin for a conference, and presented recommendations for improvements in the Texas way of life.

These recommendations will form the basis of his 1971 recommendations on state goals, says the governor. Smith sees the process as "bringing the government close to the people"—a procedure he favors.

"If we win, we will have made state government more responsive and more relevant to all Texans," he said. "We will have taken the leadership among our sister states in providing solutions to our own problems and, more important, we will have involved people in the decision-making process."

There still are nearly 3.2 million Texas vehicles yet to be inspected before the mandatory April 15 deadline, Department of Public Safety warns.

About 2.4 million cars and trucks have complied with inspection requirements since the new period began on September 1. This is the last deadline under the old law. State now is on a 12-month inspection period, with stickers expiring on the last day of the month, 12 months from date of the sticker.

New stickers are placed on the left side of the windshield. They show the month of inspection and expiration. So, if you still have a sticker on the right side of your windshield, your car must be inspected by April 15.

Governor Smith gave Texas Jaycees a certificate of commendation for their efforts to re-open a rehabilitation hospital at Gonzales. The group is conducting a state-wide drive to raise $50,000 for the hospital, to help match a $140,000 Federal grant. When completed it will be able to treat 300 patients a year, doubling the state's facilities for rehabilitation work.

Cigarette tax increases upped the February revenue $3.4 million (from $94 million in February, 1969, to $12.8 million this year).

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a new opinion that the State Board of Medical Examiners has no authority to delegate to any other than a board member duty of holding and proctoring examinations for a medical license.

Business activity across Texas declined 7% in January, reports the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas at Austin.

Eight counties still refuse to participate in free food distribution programs for the poor, reports the Texas Welfare Department.

Counties are Gillespie, Kerr, Uvalde, Bowie, Edwards, Randall, Roberts and Colorado. Department said. Another 29 are undecided or have not indicated a preference to welfare officials.

In any county which refuses to cooperate in a food assistance program, Welfare Department will, under court order, operate a commodity distribution program at federal expense, Commissioner Burton Hackney said.

There were no new cases of screwworm developed in Texas in January, but the total for 1969 came to 160 laboratory-confirmed cases, according to a year-end report of the State Animal Health Commission.

Seven million sterile flies were released in Texas in January in the screwworm eradication program even though there were no cases that month.

Ray Lewis Ballew To Leave Vietnam In April After Training Natives On Boats

Navy Coastal Division 12
Disbanded At Da Nang

Da Nang.—The Cua Dai River in the Republic of Vietnam is a shallow, winding, treacherous river. It is a river that causes Navy men to feel a knot of fear in their stomachs when they go near it.

When these U. S. Navy men patrol the river in their small boats, they know that the Viet Cong lie in silence in the thick underbrush along the banks, waiting to ambush them.

"When we first went to the Cua Dai in September 1968, we had to go in with all our guns blazing. We knew the enemy was waiting for us. As a matter of self-preservation, we had to be prepared for them," stated a veteran of Cua Dai patrols.

The boats that entered the Cua Dai in 1968 were the Navy's new patrol craft fast, commonly referred to as "Swifts." The Navy men that manned these boats were all part of Coastal Division Twelve based at Da Nang.

Lieutenant Junior Grade Ray L. Ballew, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ballew of Box 494, Eldorado, Tex., has been serving as a boat captain of a Swift boat and as an advisor to the Vietnamese at Coastal Division Twelve.

Lt. Ballew was graduated from Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos in 1967. He entered the Navy on Jan. 22, 1968 and reported to Da Nang for duty in April, 1969.

Since Jan. 23, 1966, when the first Swift arrived at Da Nang, the division has had the mission of patrolling all of the coastline in the I Corps Tactical Zone plus several rivers in the coastal plain. Their job was to stop the flow of arms and supplies that the enemy tried to transport in waterborne craft.

Now, after more than four years of operations, Coastal Division Twelve has been disestablished and its 11 boats have been turned over to the Vietnamese as part of the Navy's ACTOV program (Accelerated Turnover of U. S. Navy Assets to the Vietnamese.)

The 11 boats became part of the Vietnamese Coastal Flotilla One along with six former U. S. Coast Guard patrol boats.

Coastal Division Twelve, prior to being disestablished on Feb. 23, 1970, prepared for the turnover by training the Vietnamese Navy men that now man the 11 boats. For the past 12 weeks, U. S. sailors have been working side by side with the Vietnamese Navy men teaching them not only how to operate the boat and all of its sophisticated equipment, but also how to maintain the Swift during normal operations.

"The greatest problem we've had during the training period with our Vietnamese counterparts has been with communications. You might say that most of the training was very animated on both sides," stated Lieutenant Commander Donald R. Breckenridge, the former commander of the division.

The 50 foot Swift boat is powered by two diesel engines capable of propelling it to speeds in excess of 20 knots. The firepower aboard the boat includes three 50 caliber machine guns, M-60 machine guns and an 81 mm. mortar.

Each Swift crew also carries several "Starlight" scopes for their weapons that enable them to sight the enemy during operations at night.

Operations for the Swift boats on the Cua Dai stopped Feb. 21, so that all boats could be prepared for the turnover. The Vietnamese Navy men resumed normal operations on the first of March.

Most of the U. S. Navy men that helped to make Swift boat history in the I Corps departed Da Nang for Cat Le and An Thi, Vietnam, to go aboard Swifts there. But, each man that left knew he made it possible for the people of Vietnam on the rivers to continue making a living from the river. The enemy is not gone from the rivers, but he is no longer feared as much. The people know that the Swifts are there to stay.

Thanks

The Texas Heart Association suggests that Schleicher County contribute a "fair share" of $502 to the campaign in February. To date we have received approximately $600. Isn't that a wonderful record! My sincere thanks to each one who contributed to the Heart Fund. The ladies in calling upon their neighbors did a magnificent job. A special "thank you" to each of you.

It is a pleasure to work with such willing helpers and friends.

And a memorial to the Heart Fund is a worthwhile way to honor our friends and loved ones.

"The more we give, the more will live."

Anti-Strike, HEW, Mark Leg. Program

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

An anti-strike bill, along with final action on a revised HEW appropriation measure, marked the legislative program on Capitol Hill last week.

The strike issue arose when a relatively small group of workers refused to honor a major management-labor agreement last December, under which 48,000 shopcraft workers were given wage increases of 18.8% over a two-year period. But under a unit-ratification rule, the agreement was disapproved by the Sheet Metal Workers, although okayed by the rank-and-file of the other three labor organizations involved.

The Congress voted to block a strike that was called, which would have stopped practically all rail traffic in the nation. This is interim legislation and will expire in 37 days. If no agreement is reached in that time, the Congress must act again.

Permanent-type legislation is needed, providing means of preventing nation-wide strikes which would clearly be contrary to the public interest. The President has asked for this, and the request has my full support.

After 8 months of delays and wrangling, the Congress last week finally approved the annual HEW appropriation—covering the fiscal year which began last July. The affected agencies have operated under stop-gap resolutions, from month to month.

As finally enacted, forced busing of school children was not disturbed. Anti-busing provisions in the House version were made ineffective in the Senate by a 42 to 32 margin, when Senator Case of New Jersey announced President Nixon

Methodist Notes

Last Thursday Rev. Palmos and Mr. Dick Preston were in San Antonio for a one day session of the Annual Conference. It was decided at that meeting that we would retain our present six districts after merger with the West Texas (Black) Conference, this coming June. This will save our Conference some $30,000 a year in administrative costs, as the earlier plan was to have seven districts.

Please remember our Special Lenten Dramas and Meditations on Jesus' Seven Sayings from the Cross. We will have the 6th of these special services Sunday evening at 7:00. The topic is, "It is Finished."

Next Sunday is our service at the hospital. All our people are invited to be a part of this service at 3:00 p.m.

Dr. Goodrich, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Dallas, will be preaching next week night through Wednesday at the First United Methodist Church in San Angelo. If you have the chance, go hear him. He is excellent.

—Rev. Bobby C. Palmos, pastor neighborhood schools was in vain.

Included in the $19-billion bill was an item of $520-million for federally impacted school districts. The first HEW measure contained $600-million for that purpose, and that was the chief reason for the President's veto. Prior to the veto Mr. Nixon had favored $200-million for impacted schools, although the federal government was committed to pay a much larger amount. A week following the veto, however, the President reversed his veto position, recognized the validity of the federal commitment, and asked Congress to provide $440-million for this purpose. The total was raised to $520-million, an amount reported to now be acceptable to the White House.

The Congress voted, with my support, to trim the total amount in the HEW bill down to the figure previously recommended by President Nixon.
