Campers In Production

After a three weeks delay, a large shipment of aluminum was unloaded at Ace Campers here on Tuesday morning and by noon the first completed camper had been rolled out the door, and in the shop five men were busy putting two more together.

Al Lichnovsky, president of the new establishment, said that the first eleven completed were scheduled to go to Corpus Christi to fill an order there.

The initial shipment consisted of a large quantity of sheet aluminum plus ready-made windows and doors, with enough to complete 30 campers. Mr. Lichnovsky explained that a standing order had been placed for the aluminum material and that shipments from now on would begin arriving at regular periods.

The wooden frames are cut and assembled in their shop here.

Post Script

Remember one night earlier this Spring when the Junior C of C sponsored a wrestling match here put on by the Abilene Wrestling Club?

Every Sunday night on Channel 3 I tune in for a wrestling program from Abilene which is interspersed with announcements of coming matches in various towns in the Big Country. It runs from 10:30 to 11:30 p.m.

On a recent Sunday night the announcer said, "We are planning to go back to Eldorado at some future date!" And then he went on to say that at their first appearance here the attendance was larger than the population of Eldorado!

Sam Dannheim, Pat Wester, John Pitts and Dan Griffin were among the chief workers in the Junior CC's who worked with others to put on that program.

I am asking you boys to keep me informed about your future wrestling shows. If you are planning another, are you going to have it in the old gymnasium again? It couldn't hold everyone who wanted to get in.

I've heard of a town somewhere that staged a wrestling match out of doors on a football field.

I don't know where you intend to stage it or when, but I'm asking you to let me know well ahead of time so it can be publicized.

You didn't get enough publicity the last time.

The Success can help you if you will let us in on your plans.

Miss Crump and Jerry Stigler Marry At Ralls

MRS. GERALD WAYNE STIGLER

At 7:00 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Ralls, Tex., Miss Colene Frances Crump of Ralls and Gerald Wayne Stigler of Eldorado, Texas, pledged double ring wedding vows with Rev. Floyd Haddock officiating. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Crump of Ralls and Mrs. John Stigler and the late Mr. John Stigler of Eldorado, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white silk organza fashioned with a high Victorian neckline, overlay of Chantilly lace, elbow sleeves, a wide band of hand clipped Chantilly lace down the front of the empire bodice and on to the a-line skirt. Tiny pearls accented the lace. A detachable chapel-length train flowed from a bow at the center back. A forward cluster of organza and lace petals accented with pearls held a veil of imported silk illusion. The bride carried a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Jolena Schloer of Odessa was maid of honor with Miss Eva Stigler, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid. They wore formal gowns of blue frost crepe radiance and carried victorian nosegays of pink sweetheart roses.

Johnny Stigler of Irving, Texas, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsman was Larry McGinnes of Lubbock, Texas. Ushers were Steve Blaylock and Jimmy Belk, both of Eldorado and Earl Wayne Crump, brother of the bride.

Candles were lighted by Barbara Greene, cousin of the bride, and Lelon Crump, brother of the bride. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Campdon Lawson of Lorenzo, organist, and Miss Lynda McGinnes of Lovington, New Mexico, soloist.

The reception was held in Fellowship Hall of 1st Baptist church. The bride, a graduate of Ralls High School, is a student at Texas Tech. She is majoring in elementary education and minoring in math. She is a member of the Red Raider Band.

The groom, a graduate of Eldorado High School, has attended Texas Tech. He is presently employed by Atlantic Richfield Co. and helping manage Stigler's Jewelry in Eldorado.

The couple will reside here in Eldorado. They are presently in Fred Watson's rent house on North street.

Rehearsal dinner was held in the Caravan Restaurant Friday night with the groom's mother as hostess and his brother Johnny as host.

Casing has been set and operators were preparing to complete.

The well is about two miles east of Eldorado on the "old Joe Eden place."

Tuesday and Friday Set For Little League Games This Season

With the beginning of Little League games last week, fans will need to become familiar with a new schedule for this season. Instead of four games a week as heretofore, the schedule this year calls for just two—each Tuesday and Friday—and consequently a double-header is promised nearly each night.

First game usually starts at 6:30 when the sun is still high, and a shade had to be provided on the tower for the announcer and scorekeeper.

The season was launched last week on Thursday with the Christoval Cougars defeating the Red Sox 9 to 1.

In the second game the White Sox won over the Tigers 15 to 5.

On Friday night the Eldorado Minor Leaguers met the Christoval M-L's for a very exciting game which Eldorado finally won 6 to 3.

In the second game Friday the Red Sox improved their standing by beating the Tigers 8 to 4.

In the meantime the White Sox journeyed to Christoval where they continued their winning way by taking the game 3 to 0 from the Cougars.

Good crowds have been turning out for all games and grounds are in excellent condition.

Hospital Board Holds Regular Meeting

The Schleicher County Hospital District Board of Directors met Monday night in regular meeting in the dining room of the new hospital, with five members present.

Absent were Board President Carroll Ratliff and Elton McGinnes. Secretary Ronnie Mittel acted as president pro-tem and guided the meeting in a discussion on landscaping plans.

Several months ago the Board persuaded Jim Thornton to come up with a master plan for landscaping of the grounds. The board accepted his plans, which were free gratis. These included a specified place for ten live oak trees, plus other trees, shrubs and lawns. These plans were submitted for bids to several nurseries, and Monday night a bid from Scherz Nursery was accepted.

In the meantime David Meador, a local enthusiast, offered to provide the ten live oak trees and the first of these has already been planted on the patio. The Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op has used their men and equipment in digging holes for the other nine.

In accordance with an earlier agreement the county road crews are grading and calicheing an area to the rear of the hospital. This work has been going on this week and eventually it will be black-topped.

Rev. Salter Leaving; Palmos To Come

REV. D. G. SALTER

Sessions of the Methodist Church conference were held last week in Corpus Christi with announcement that the Rev. D. G. Salter would leave the local church after serving as pastor here for four years. His new assignment is Ganado.

His successor here will be Rev. Bobby C. Palmos who will move here after serving at Robert Lee.

Bishop O. Eugene Slater of the San Antonio Area, The United Methodist Church, announced the appointments of pastors for the coming year for the 300 churches in the Southwest Texas Conference.

As presiding bishop, Bishop Slater released the new clergy list Saturday at the closing service of the 111th annual meeting of the Conference, held in Corpus Christi, where some 500 delegates represented some 117,000 United Methodists in 76 counties in four days of business sessions. Dick Preston was local delegate.

The Rev. Mr. Salter came here four years ago to begin his pastorate here, succeeding the late C. M. Nyquist. Mrs. Salter has served as a teacher in the local schools while they have been here and he has been a Naval Reservist attached to the unit in San Angelo.

Wednesday evening of this week the congregation held a farewell covered dish supper for the Salter family and presented them with a gift.

The family were expected to leave today, Thursday, to make their move to Ganado and the new parsonage family will move here the same day.

Water Rights Commis Answers Questions

Joe D. Carter, chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission, sent a letter May 28 to this and other newspapers, as follows:

"For the past week the Texas Water Rights Commission has received numerous letters asking whether a rancher whose livestock drink from a public stream must file a claim under the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967. Another frequent question is whether farmers who irrigate from wells must file under the Act.

"The answer to both questions is NO. The Water Rights Adjudication Act specifically excludes all uses of ground water and all domestic and livestock watering uses.

"We would appreciate your publishing this letter in your newspaper in order that we might clear up the confusion."

Cathryn Is Five

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holt of Copperas Cove, Texas were in Eldorado on Monday and had a reunion with many former students of the local schools. Mr. Holt was superintendent and Mrs. Holt taught mathematics here in the late twenties and early thirties.

Austin, Tex.—Texas lawmakers have written the record of the 61st regular session, but their toughest job—levying the taxes to pay for what they have ordered—remains to be done.

In adopting a $2.8 billion one-year state budget (for 1970), they invited a special session to complete appropriations for 1971 and to decide on the inevitable major tax bill. Legislative leaders, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher, claim the latter will be smaller if the finance show-down can be delayed until next year.

Gov. Preston Smith, who holds the key to the timing of the special session, has made clear from the start that he feels the Legislature should face up to a biennial budget and the raising of the needed revenue. He could veto the single-year bill and call another session immediately—or accept it and schedule the remaining financial work whenever he pleases.

Many all-time legislative records have topped at this session.

Certainly, the 61st session passed more legislation than any before it, and it was committed in advance to spending more money.

A multitude of laudable ends were attained. Giant strides were made in the field of education. Teachers got a $61.9 million pay raise. Overhauls were ordered in the field of vocational and technical education. Three new medical schools, a dental school and two new nursing schools were authorized. Also, three new universities, plus an experimental upper level branch college in Laredo. Never have so many new higher educational facilities been launched in a single session.

A master water plan got all the legislative support it could expect. Workmen's compensation laws were updated. Sweeping controls were approved over air and water pollution. A constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink was submitted, along with many other proposed changes in the constitution. State employees got a 6.8% pay raise.

Texas' 61st Legislature was a busy, productive session. It was a liberal-spending one with the bills yet to be paid.

"The citizenship of Texas will applaud our work at this session and give us their full support when we return to appropriate and finance the second year of the biennium," concluded Speaker Mutscher.

Law Enforcement Plan

Texas' new State Criminal Justice Council has recommended a comprehensive $1.1 million law enforcement plan that covers a wide scope of activities.

Governor Smith will analyze it before it goes to the U. S. Department of Justice for approval and funding under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Funds for a two-year operation must be committed by June 30.

Texas received $234,000 for riot control and $830,350 in planning money six months ago.

Council voted priority funding to these programs: Prevention of juvenile delinquency, education and training in all elements of the criminal justice system, regional and statewide information and communication systems, community relations programs, experimental and demonstration projects to test and evaluate new approaches to solving problems in criminal justice system.

Approved funds will be disbursed to 21 geographical planning regions of the state. Congress now is considering funding which will provide Texas more than $11 million in action money, plus planning aid for next year to develop a long-range plan and begin putting it into effect.

Courts Speak

An order by the Midland District Court to jail nine union members for picketing the Texaco plant at Port Arthur was invalidated by the State Supreme Court. House of Representatives followed up in a matter of hours by passing a bill directing that lawsuits to halt picketing and strikes must be filed in the counties where the labor dispute arises.

Supreme Court ordered an Austin trial before August 1 of Clyde Durbin Jr. charged with killing two University of Texas students early this year.

Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a lower court condemnation awards of $247,526 against Austin in connection with Decker Lake and a park area east of the city.

Beautiful, Beautiful Texas Governor Smith will keynote a one-day workshop June 11 to stimulate the preservation and enhancement of natural beauty in Texas. This second annual clean-up and beautification conference of the Beautify Texas Council will be held at the Villa Capri Motor Hotel in Austin.

Other speakers will include O. P. Schrabel of San Antonio, president of the Council, DeWitt Greer, chairman of the State Highway Commission, R. H. (Dick) Hackendahl of Washington, D.C., director of the National Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Bureau, Mayor C. P. Waggoner of Grand Prairie, Earl Rudder, president of Texas A&M University and Reagan Brown, sociologist and community improvement specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

Beautify Texas Council was organized in 1967 to combat the litter problem and to advise and act as a coordinating agency through which business and industry, government, public and private organizations may work together to solve the problems of Texas beautification.

Attorney General Rules

A person not registered as a voter is ineligible for election or appointment as an independent school district trustee. So advises Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin in ruling on a Spring Creek school election issue. A similar opinion was returned earlier following a Honey Grove controversy.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:

—Texas Foundation School Fund Budget Committee must include cost estimates for the school program training all prison system inmates over and under 21 years of age who are not high school graduates.

—A bill providing for private road construction and maintenance in counties of 10,000 to 15,000 population is unconstitutional as a local and special bill.

—Bexar county is required to advertise for competitive bids on all purchases including road machinery, although some emergency buying is expected.

—State funds cannot be used for payment of group insurance policies for legislators and their dependents.

—An act to prohibit corporations from engaging in farming or ranching (allowing a 10-year period to sell interests) would be constitutional.

—State treasurer must publish information on unclaimed funds over $50 held and owing by life insurance companies.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

An absolute new high in the "do-it-yourself" department—

Not long ago a big hail fell in the town where a doctor friend lives. During the hail storm, he went out on the terrace to rescue a prized plant and while doing so slipped on the ice and broke his arm.

He went to the kitchen, got a wooden spoon and a cup towel, splinted it up and went to bed. The next morning as our friend started to his office at the hospital his wife said, "Call me when somebody looks at your arm."

The answer was a classic, "What for?" he asked. "I know it is broken."

Another friend had an experience one night not long ago that was not quite so painful but eerie just the same.

She said that some time during the night, maybe 1:30 or 2:00 a.m., she was awakened by a most unfamiliar noise coming from another part of the house. Following the noise she came to her sewing room and snapped on the light.

There, absolutely alone, sat her electric sewing machine, running to the top of its total power. In fact, she said, that she never knew it would run so fast.

A short in the electrical system, of course. There was no fire but there could have been one. And no one would have known exactly how it started.

May was Senior Citizens Month and May is gone but that doesn't make much difference when important things keep showing up which apply to every one and not just the Senior Citizens.

For instance, food.

It is becoming a well known fact that Senior citizens need better diets. Recent research on 300 older persons points to five major deficiencies: calcium, Vitamins A and C, Niacin and the proper intake of calories.

Over or under caloric intake, are problems among this age group, reports Minnie Bell, Extension specialist for aging.

In the study, 40% said they took vitamins no matter what they ate. Nutritionists tell us that this may be a waste of the food dollar and could be harmful, points out Miss Bell.

Studies in some states reveal that elderly people exist on such low incomes that they were unable to have all the proper nutrients.

Miss Bell, a specialist with Texas A&M, pointed to common problems in older people's diets. They forget to eat or eat too little. Very limited meals of "tea 'n toast" or "bread 'n butter" may occur often.

Others have dental problems and the need for various kinds of textures in food is important. Weight watching, special diets and wise spending of the food dollar give special concern to senior citizens.

Above all, said Miss Bell, following the Basic Four Food Groups for proper eating is as much a MUST for the older person as a younger one. The groups include meat, bread and cereal, dairy foods and fruits and vegetables.

And then there is the case of spare time. Many elderly people feel uncomfortable if they are not at work. Too many feel useless because they have retired. See what the experts say on the subject.

Leisure IS honorable! Its no sin! It is earned by working earlier in life and should be happily accepted.

To enjoy leisure time accept it positively. We have long given lip-service to "honor and work." It's time we develop the same attitude toward "honor and leisure."

Leisure activities may be work, play, travel, fun, visiting or just sitting. But an interest and desire exist and then free or leisure time is happily spent.

Most people cannot work right up to retirement day and then hope to establish an acceptable feeling about leisure time. "Plans for retirement" sounds like a stuck record. Begin in the middle life span to plan for it.

Actually, preparation for leisure time should begin in the early years of life. Broad interests in all kinds of activities, developed and enhanced thru the years are apt to provide a continued interest in the leisure years.

Leisure IS honorable and what you do with it depends on you!

Expert cooks know how to use onions to give just the right flavor to so many popular dishes. Nothing new on the popularity pools, onions have been eating favorites for ages.

With plentiful supplies of onions at the market now, according to USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, why not try some interesting new ways to use this old favorite?

For instance, the following will quite likely become a favorite with your family:

Curry Creamed Onions

- 1 pound onions
- 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/3 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon curry powder.

Peel onions. Cook in boiling salted water 20 minutes, or just until tender. Drain. Stir in cream of mushroom soup, milk and curry powder. Heat slowly, stirring once or twice, until bubbly-hot and creamy-smooth. Makes six servings.

Saucy Ham-Egg-Onion. Broil slices of onion with ham slices. Place onion on toasted English muffin, then ham slice and poached egg. Pour Hollandaise sauce over top.

Barbecued Onions. Cook peeled onions until almost tender in boiling salted water. Place onions in baking dish and pour a tangy barbecue sauce over them. Bake at 400 degrees about 45 minutes, basting several times. Serve with a sprinkling of chopped parsley.

O can be "Ooh how tasty—when you cook with onions.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Mainly for Mothers

by Carol Hart

Open Doors Can Be Hazardous

Sometimes it takes a smashed finger or a crack on the head to remind us that doors are meant to be shut as well as opened.

To help prevent such accidents from happening to you and your family, the Council on Family Health suggests a "door tour" of your home. The Council is a non-profit organization sponsored as a public service by leading members of the drug industry, to promote home safety and family health.

Start with cabinet doors, not only because they are the most numerous in a home, but because they are in areas where Mom spends so much of her time. There are cabinets high and low in the kitchen, utility room, basement, storage room, home workshop and bathroom.

Eye level cabinet doors can be particularly hazardous if left open. Painful and serious face and head injuries can result to the person who stands up suddenly under the corner of a cabinet door.

An open door on a medicine chest, paint locker or household chemical storage cabinet presents an additional hazard. A toddler, seeing it open, may investigate. In that case you may have an accidental poisoning to deal with.

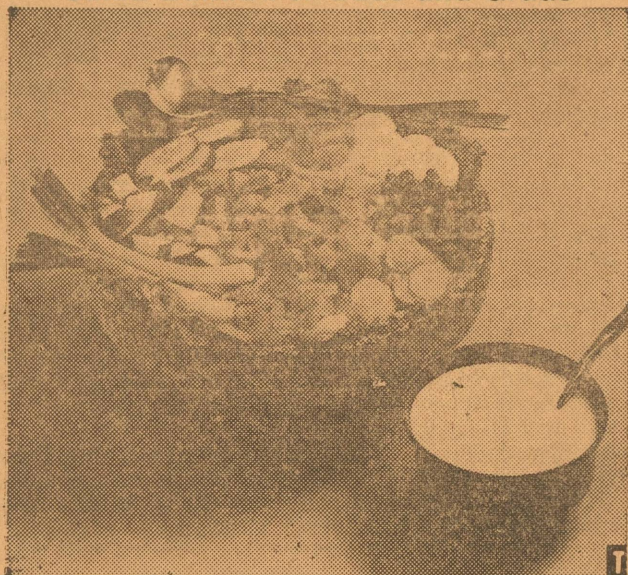

It's the unexpectedly open door that causes many accidents. Did you ever run into an open closet door? Many face injuries happen this way. If there are pre-school youngsters at home, watch out for open cellar doors, and doors that lead to the street.

Fingers seem to be particularly vulnerable to injury by doors, but a little extra attention can help prevent this. When a child is around, be careful how you close doors. Little children tend to put their fingers on the hinged side of a door.

When closing the door of an appliance such as a refrigerator, freezer, oven, washer or dryer, grasp the door by the handle and not by the edge.

Impala Custom Coupe

Match that, anybody.

We give you an honest increase in car at an honest decrease in price.

Take the '69 Impala above. We improved the ride. Made it quieter inside. Added an anti-theft locking device. Put steel guard rails in the doors.

Still, this Impala with a 300-hp V8, Turbo Hydra-matic, advanced-design power disc brakes, head restraints, whitewalls and wheel covers is priced $101* less than in 1968.

The 300-hp V8 is priced $40 less than last year's 275-hp. Turbo Hydra-matic costs less. Power disc brakes about half as much. Whitewalls a little less. Wheel covers about the same. And head restraints are now standard.

Upping value and dropping price. That's the way Chevrolet operates.

'Red River Dust' In Second Printing

A book that tells the story of the man who traded a thousand acres of the richest Red River blackland for a thousand boxes of malaria fever pills has now gone into its second printing.

'Red River Dust,' written by Eugene Bowers of Clarksville and Evelyn Oppenheimer of Dallas, is a fascinating book about the frontier Red River country. Word Books of Waco, Tex., is publisher.

Bowers, district clerk of Red River county for more than 20 years, began collecting interesting tales about the settling of the area many years ago. He asked Miss Oppenheimer, well known as a literary critic and radio commentator, to work with him in preparing a book about the half-forgotten names and places around Clarksville.

The co-authors went through court records, newspaper files, old diaries and personal letters to find stories of human drama and humor for 'Red River Dust.' They came up with material about long, raging court battles, love triangles, vigilante hangings, the Civil War and the coming of the Iron Horse.

Miss Oppenheimer and Bowers wrote about the man wanting the malaria pills, as well as chewing tobacco with the slogan, 'Chew Star Navy, Spit Ham Gravy,' the library on which Andrew Carnegie lost money; Dalby Springs with its healing waters; debates between Baptists and Campbellites; and the numerous river journeys on the Red River.

In an introduction to 'Red River Dust,' Dr. Frank X. Tolbert, columnist for the Dallas Morning News, says 'A good book... one that should have been written.'

Six Flags Is Now In Full Swing Of Season

A vacationer driving along the Dallas/Fort Worth Turnpike at 70 miles per hour suddenly catches sight of a massive 300-foot oil derrick towering above what seems to be a heavily wooded park.

Strange sight, maybe. But another quick glance reveals groups of people, near the top of the rig, who bear no resemblance to the popular movie image of grimy oil field roughnecks and wildcaters.

While the driver and his family ponder that scene, they begin to notice six bright and colorful flags fluttering majestically from in front of hedgerows bordering the south side of the park.

If curiosity gets the best of them, they'll turn off at the next exit for a closer investigation and will be rewarded with one of the most exciting and memorable experiences of their lives... a visit to SIX FLAGE Over Texas.

The 145-acre, historical-theme entertainment park situated in Arlington midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, is the state's most popular single tourist attraction. Some 13,000,000 visitors from all over America and numerous foreign countries have already been counted since SIX FLAGS opened in 1961, and an anticipated 2,000,000 visitors will attend during the 1969 season.

Inside SIX FLAGS, more than 80 rides, attractions and shows recreate the colorful facts, legends, and atmosphere surrounding Texas history under the six flags of sovereign nations that have shaped its destiny—Spanish (1519-1821); and French (1685-1690); Mexico (1821-1836); Republic of Texas (1836-1845); Confederacy (1861-1865); United States (1845-1861 and 1865 to present).

Though Texas history is the theme of the Park, in no sense of the word should one conjure up an outdoor museum. Nor is it anything like a state fair or carnival.

Far from it. The beauty of the grounds alone is enough to warm the heart of any latent landscaper. Lush greenery, thousands of trees and a profusion of flowers, shrubs and fountains. And you won't see a scrap of paper or cigarette butt strewn carelessly along the well-ordered grounds. The Park is kept immaculately clean at all times.

It's a remarkable achievement, keeping SIX FLAGS spotless with 20- to 25,000 visitors daily engaging in the business of having fun.

The secret is in the youthful corps of SIX FLAGS hosts and hostesses. Here you have approximately 1,500 young men and women, all college and high school students. Dressed in colorful costumes, the hosts and hostesses dominate every facet of the Park's operations. Clean-cut, attractive, refreshingly wholesome and exuding a friendliness that would make you wonder what ever happened to the generation gap.

The hosts and hostesses are responsible for keeping the Park immaculate in addition to their other duties.

Chances are that if you throw a cigarette butt down, one of the hosts or hostesses will pick it up and place it in one of the receptacles in the space of a few seconds.

After that, you get smitten by the cleanliness bug. And don't kid yourself. It's very contagious at SIX FLAGS Over Texas.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Horn flies are a continuous problem on beef animals in Schleicher county during the warm months. These blood-sucking parasites frequently develop large populations in county beef herds. In addition to the direct damage through blood losses, horn flies cause tremendous annoyance and irritation to animals. The constant attempts to fight the flies is a continuing drain on the animals' energy and nutrition, and the cattle may be unable to graze normally. Days and weeks of such attack results in immeasurable losses by the animals.

Horn flies are easily controlled with modern livestock insecticides. Numerous insecticides and methods of treatment are effective and the producer has a wide range of choices to fit his individual operation. All producers can call or drop by my office where a complete listing of horn fly control recommendations can be obtained.

Before purchasing and applying livestock insecticides, carefully read the label and pay particular attention to precautions and restrictions listed. Observe strictly the slaughter intervals as clearly stated on the label.

One good way to have a clean mind is to change it occasionally.

Add years to the life of your outdoor furniture by treating it with a wood preservative and water repellent.

The best available material for brush on preservative treatment is pentachlorophenol with an added water repellent, often called "penta WR". The preservative should be mixed with mineral spirits and be the paintable type. It can be obtained in either concentrated or ready-to-use form from local building supply stores.

Sold under a variety of trade names, the label should be checked to make certain that both penta and the water repellent are present. Penta safeguards the wood against decay and the water repellent provides resistance to moisture absorption, an important protection for wood to be used out of doors.

All types of outdoor furniture, including that made from cedar, redwood and cypress should be protected with penta-WR. The preservative may be applied with a brush on the dry, clean wood. Three or four applications are best with two or three days drying time between the coats.

All wood exposed to the weather or in contact with the soil is subject to rot. The heartwood of some species such as cedar, cypress, catalpa, bois-d'arc and redwood will resist decay for a longer period than other woods. The outer, lighter colored wood of these species, called sapwood, readily decay like other woods under outdoor conditions.

Life is a measure to be filled, not a cup to be drained.

Screwworm prevention is everybody's business.

The County Screwworm Eradication Committee calls your attention to the seriousness of the screwworm threat this year. Collection kits and vials for collection of worm samples may be obtained at 1st Nat. Bank, Eldo. Wool and feed store, and at the county agent's office.

No ranch in Texas is immune to the threat of screwworms this year, says Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde, rancher and president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation. He emphasized that Texas reported 9,268 screwworm cases last year, and that the fall epidemic also claimed the life of a South Texas woman.

"Preventive action is needed—such as checking animals regularly for wounds, treating all wounds and spraying herds with a product recommended for that purpose on the label. It is much more economical to spray a herd than to battle screwworm cases—for it costs about $800 to produce enough sterile flies to treat a single case of worms," Briscoe added.

"We all need to be screwworm vigilantes this year," he emphasized.

When cases of worms are found, a representative sample of all worms in a wound—or from 6 to 10 larvae—should be collected and sent to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory for identification. Only positive screwworm cases can be treated with the sterile flies. The area where the positive screwworm case has been identified will be "hot spotted."

When you reach for the stars, you may not quite get one, but you won't come up with a hand of mud, either.

PAR-TEE

The Welcome Mat is out this week to the Ted Short family and the Ronnie Sauer family. Glad to have you aboard!

Bridge Winners of May 22 were as follows:

1st, Dinsmore and Nichols (Kerrville).

2nd, Elnora Love and Sara Hall. 3rd, the B. L. Blakeways. Next Bridge session is June 12.

The Men and Women's golf tournaments are completed. Congratulations to the following winners:

In the Women's Club Championship tournament Ernestine Hext is the winner, with Mary Robinson being the runner-up.

We had 25 players in the Mixed Team Play Sunday—May 25. The winner of the play was the team of Dick Preston, W. L. Kinser, Ken Rosford, Delbert Taylor and Jim Brame.

The team of Jack Hext, Agnes Hannes, Charlie Hahn and Richard Preston tied for second place with the team of Vernon Rogers, Mary Waldron, John Pitts and Archie Mittel. The sudden death play off was won by the Hext team on the 7th hole. Needless to say, the players, as well as the large gallery, were all "plum tucked out" when Richard Preston sank the winning putt for a birdie on the 7th hole.

Speaking of winners! We are happy to offer Congratulations to Vernon Rogers for his recent hole-in-one. Vernon was on vacation in South Carolina playing on the Berkeley Country Club course with his son-in-law, Mike Edwards and three other local golfers when he accomplished this feat. He hit an 8 iron on the 135 yard par fourth hole. The pin could not be seen from the tee box, but as Vernon says, "I hit it real sweet" — and when they got up the hill the ball was not on the green. His partner said he was either over the green or in the hole—and "sure nuff" there the little darling was in the hole. This happened on May 12th at Monks Corner, South Carolina. We are proud of the "old Pro" even though we may be just a little envious. Again our warmest congratulations!

We have received several donations this past week toward the cover for the patio at the club house. Paul Page, Howard Derrick, Bob Bland, Pat Enochs, A. G. McCormack, and W. L. Kinser have each contributed to this fund. Thank you, boys!

The Page Brothers have been out practicing lately. Seems they are getting ready for the "Big Tournament" in San Angelo in June.

It was nice to see Joe Christian on the local course again. How did you do it, Weatherly? Karl McCormack and his dad have been challenging each other regularly. From the way Karl is improving I believe he can take A. G. before long.

Several improvements on the golf course are now under way. Work has begun on the patio cover. I hear that Bob Bland got his finger in the way of "something" and had to cut his hours of labor short. Hope it didn't damage the finger so it would interfere with his golf grip.

A new ball washer has been installed behind no. 7 tee box. Thank you, Charlie Hahn!

A slot has been installed in the door of the club house so that green fees may be dropped into the slot. Non-members are asked to Please Deposit Green Fees in this slot. We will all certainly appreciate it!

If you feel you have no faults—that makes another one!

Visit At Kerrville

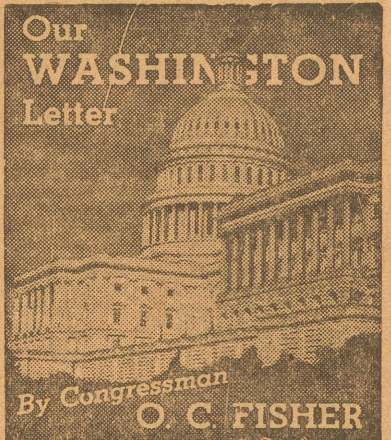

Mrs. Bessie Doyle and grandson Mike Doyle visited over the week end in Kerrville with Mrs. Doyle's sisters, Mrs. Henry Coker and Mrs. Rex Welty.

A sister, Mrs. Raymond Lindholm of George West, and a brother, Walter Yarbrough of San Antonio, also were in Kerrville over the week end.

Mrs. Doyle and Mike returned home Monday.

Jackie Susan and Greg Etheredge of Dallas are visiting this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Etheredge and Mrs. Bessie Doyle.

Jim Davis moved recently to the Rollin Haynes house which he bought.

Campus hooligans and negro rioters may run into some real trouble if a new invention of an anti-riot technique is made operational.

Necessity being the mother of invention, a famed scientist, Aristid V. Grosse of Philadelphia, has developed a chemical concoction in the form of golf-ball-size bubbles.

Being otherwise harmless, this product could create a wall of bubbles fired from a bubble-blower and this would be thrown up in the path of charging trouble makers. If they tried to cross it they would be in a peck of trouble.

The bubbles would soon cover the eyes and ears, reducing vision and hearing amid a sort of eerie atmosphere. Unlike soap bubbles, these will not dissolve or go away.

It is claimed one man could stop the movement of a whole mob of people. The president of the national sheriffs' organization is interested and has asked for a demonstration.

Rumor has it that the unshaven and long-haired hippie type don't like this device a bit. Not only would it interfere with their idiotic forays, it might cling tenaciously to those smelly beards and the stringy cave-man hair. Wouldn't that be just too bad!

Prospects for approval of a bill introduced by Rep. Robert Nix, a Philadelphia Negro, to initiate a repatriation program for interested American Negroes, are not bright.

Nix's plan would have our government negotiate with African states for undeveloped land where the repatriates would be settled. The African nations would be well compensated. Free transportation would be offered, plus a substantial donation to family heads each year until they become self-supporting.

It would be a sort of foreign aid for the countries involved. This plan is really nothing new. The idea was advanced by Thomas Jefferson, later by Abraham Lincoln, and some Negro leaders in the past have proposed a government sponsored plan for repatriation to the fatherland.

100-Year-Old Photos Go On Tour

U.T.U. Celebrates "Spike" As Labor Triumph

With a minimum of hoopla but with a certain amount of understandable boasting, American labor is planning its own celebration of the "Golden Spike" centennial.

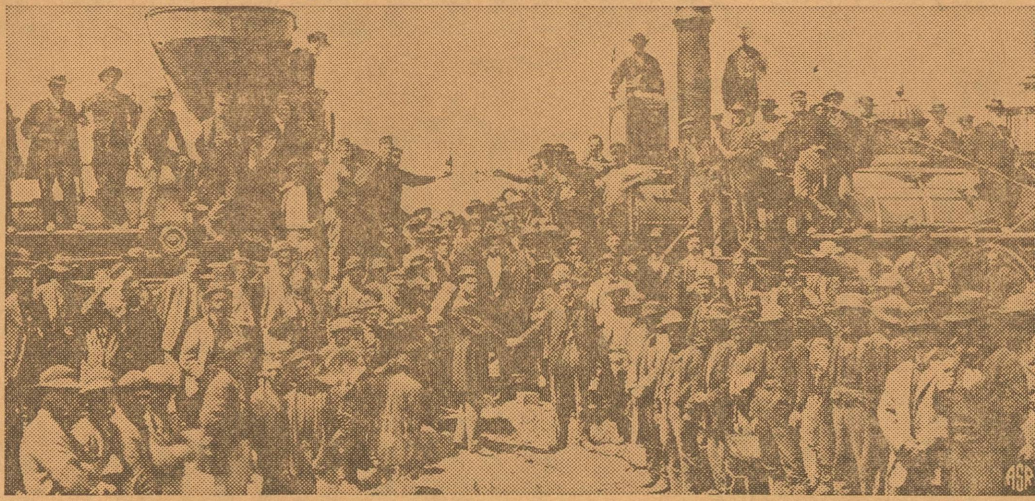

The program, co-sponsored by the United Transportation Union and the Oakland (Calif.) Museum, stresses the contribution of working men in building the nation's first transcontinental railroad.

Plans center on the only photographic record ever made of the almost legendary construction project. The pictures are printed off glass plate negatives shot more than 100 years ago by the Union Pacific Railroad's official photographer, Andrew J. Russell.

The photos, in an exhibit specially constructed by San Francisco architect Gordon Ashby, will go on tour, starting this year and continuing at least into 1972.

Russell's camera virtually wrote the script for labor's centennial event. He followed the UP work crews all the way from their starting point in Omaha, Neb., to the link-up with Central Pacific at Promontory Point, Utah, on May 10, 1869.

"In our own quiet way," said U.T.U. president Charles Luna, "we want to take fitting notice of the men who gave their muscle, brains and, in many cases, their lives—men who fought disease and hostile Indians while working under the whips of company supervisors—to make possible that famous ceremony at Promontory."

Ironically, Russell's remarkable plate-glass negatives went into virtual oblivion as soon as they were made. For one thing, large investors and sympathetic politicians were dissatisfied with his photograph of the link-up celebration, showing the two locomotives nose-to-nose on the finished track, and workmen dominating the area in a state of celebration.

When the union began research two years ago for its hour-long movie, "Movin' On," the whole Russell collection of glass plates, 500 in all, was discovered, carefully crated, in a remote storage area of the American Geographical Society in New York's upper Manhattan.

After making its way around the country, the exhibit, with working prints of "Movin' On," will reside permanently in the Oakland Museum.

The famous Gen. Jack Casement posed proudly for Russell—holding the bullwhip that was used to exhort Union Pacific workers to lay track at backbreaking pace.

The painting centers on Stanford, and it includes only three workmen—all kneeling before the mighty Leland. Many of the dignitaries here never saw Promontory; at least two were said to have died two years before May 10, 1869.

Gourmet Sausage Feast

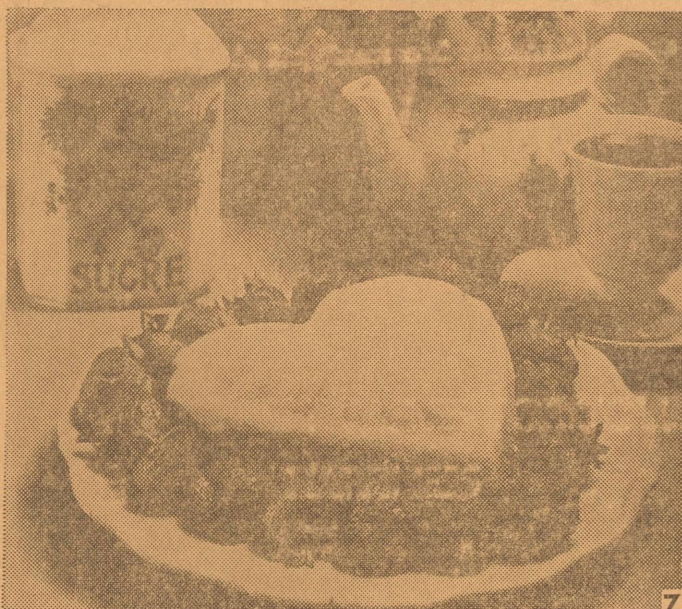

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING DIFFERENT and exciting to serve dinner guests? You probably never realized what a gourmet feast can be developed with unique sausage recipes. This delicious—and nourishing—suggestion from the Kitchens of DEVRO is ideal for either sit-down or buffet dinner.

SOPHISTICATED SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

- 1 lb. sausages (pork links, Spanish or Italian sausages)
- 2 (10½ oz.) cans chicken broth, heated to boiling
- 4 tbsp. butter
- 1½ cups uncooked rice
- 1 cup chopped onions
- ¼ cup sherry wine
- 1 cup chopped green peppers
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 cup diced celery
- ¼ tsp. pepper

Cut sausages in 2-inch pieces and brown in skillet. Remove sausages, pour off fat. Melt butter in skillet, saute onions, pepper and celery for five to seven minutes, stirring until lightly browned. In 2-quart buttered casserole, mix together the sauteed vegetables, sausages, rice, sherry, broth, salt and pepper. Cover and bake in oven 1 hour at 325° (until rice is tender and dry). Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Guess who's Coming To Dinner? The Dieters!

Have a dieter at your house? With some fifteen million of us dieting right now, it's getting to the point where good cooks count calories instead of courses. Not that meal-planning for waistline watchers has to be dull. The new approach to dieting is a delight: cut down, instead of cutting out. Substituting good-nutrition facts for passing-fancy weight-loss fads, today's smartest dieters enjoy every course—from soup to sweet. Big difference: they eat sensibly, consuming less of a lot, instead of overstuffing. Ways and whys of the new weight-watching are spelled out in a free guidebook and recipe collection, "The Sweetest Diet Ever Told." It's available on request from Sugar Information, Dept. D, P.O. Box 2664, Grand Central Station, New York 10017. Sweetest trick of all is happy-ending desserts—just right for dieters who are really starved for the fun of eating, as much as for actual food. To help your dieter resist fattening between-meal snacks, try winding up mealtime with a satisfying finishing touch that rounds out nutritional needs—and it provides the psychological boost that any weight-loss plan requires. Best bets from the new recipe book include classic Coeur a la Creme, every bit as good as it looks, at only 125 calories per portion.

COEUR A LA CREME

- ½ pint cottage cheese
- 3 oz. package cream cheese
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 tbsps. sugar
- 2 cups whole fresh strawberries, hulled
- 1 tbsp. confectioners sugar

Mash cheeses and mix with salt and sugar. Cream until smooth. Pack into a heart-shaped mold, lined with either waxed paper or cheesecloth. Refrigerate eight hours or overnight. Unmold onto serving plate. Surround with strawberries sprinkled with confectioners sugar and serve six. (Shallow mold in any fancy shape may be substituted for traditional, heart-shaped French basket mold. If French basket mold is used, place on platter while refrigerating, to catch excess moisture that may drip through while dessert is setting.)

SHRIMP-SPINACH DISH BIG ON FLAVOR

It's a swinging, singing sort of a dish, fluffy and tasty beyond belief, the kind you crave to serve after a lot of heavy going in the kitchen. And it is just about as fool-proof as a soufflé can be. You don't need to make a white sauce for it, as for most soufflés, and you can begin at the last minute to put it together, if you need to, starting with a frozen block of spinach. Biggest time-saver will be canned shrimp. These shrimp, cooked and ready to use, are absolutely right for this or any seafood soufflé or casserole. Simply toss them into a colander, drain, and that's it. This is a nice dish for company luncheon or late supper and suggests crusty rolls or French bread, crisp relishes and a fresh fruit-cup dessert.

SHRIMP AND SPINACH SOUFFLE

- 2 cans (4½ ounces each) shrimp
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
- 4 large eggs, separated
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon coarse black pepper
- 1 garlic clove, cut fine
- 1 tablespoon grated onion (pulp and juice)
- ½ cup commercial sour cream
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Drain shrimp; reserve a few for garnish; chop the rest. Hold the spinach block under water tap just to melt the ice coating. Break the block into a half-dozen pieces, using the point of a heavy knife, and chop thoroughly. Beat egg yolks slightly; add salt, pepper, garlic, onion, sour cream, cheese, butter or margarine. Mix well. Add chopped shrimp and spinach. Beat egg whites until they stand in stiff, moist peaks; fold in the shrimp and spinach mixture. Turn into a buttered 1½-quart soufflé dish or casserole with straight sides; "dot" with reserved shrimp. Place in a pre-heated moderate (350-degree) oven; bake 50-60 minutes or until soufflé is puffed, brown-flecked, set. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.
