Vote Canvass Is Scheduled For Saturday

Lubbock County Demo Group To Make Official Returns Here After Saturday Balloting; 6,600 Votes Are Cast

Run-Offs Slated

Nine Run-Off Contests To Be Held; Voters Favor Hunter And Submission; Convention To Be Saturday

LUBBOCK county's Democratic executive committee will meet at the courthouse Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to canvass returns of last Saturday's primary which resulted, according to unofficial totals, in nine run-offs. More than 6,600 votes were cast, complete returns from all 32 boxes showed.

Five major office run-off contests are: Sheriff Wade Hardy and Tom Abel for sheriff; Ed Allen and Mrs. Floe Swenson for county clerk; William Hurley Carpenter and Sam T. Davis for county tax collector; W. H. Meador and C. W. Payne for assessor; Miss Anne Ford and S. E. McMillan for county treasurer.

County For Hunter

Final returns showed that the county went for Tom Hunter in the governor's race with Mrs. Ferguson a close second. Hunter polled 2,414, Mrs. Ferguson 2,370, Sterling 1,155.

Lubbock county voters favored submission of the 18th amendment, voting 3,010 for submission and 2,049 against.

Few Changes Made

The county Democratic convention will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. County Chairman J. K. Wester yesterday urged a "good attendance, for the state convention meets here September 13."

Comparatively few changes in position of candidates were made as the full returns came in. C. W. Payne nosed out County Tax Assessor A. B. Ellis in second place in the assessor's race, Payne polling 1,482 and Ellis 1,480. W. H. Meador will oppose Payne in the runoff, the former receiving 1,859.

Florence Holds Lead

Another race on which the votes in the three unreported boxes would have changed the runoff candidates was in precinct two, commissioner. W. P. Florence gained enough ballots to keep his margin over K. L. Scudder. Mr. Florence ended up with 297 votes to Scudder's 291. J. T. Pinkston, present commissioner, will face Florence in the runoff.

Only one race, the district attorney's race, was decided in the county where there was more than two candidates. Dan Blair had a majority of 514 votes over his two opponents, George Berry and Frank Brown. Blair polled 3338 votes, Berry 1,572 and Brown, 1,255.

Other Runoffs Slated

All three commissioner's races will have runoffs with B. O. McWhorter opposing C. U. James in precinct four, T. L. Holt and W. F. Pruitt in precinct three, and Pinkston and Florence in precinct two.

C. E. Luce and Cap Moore will be in the second primary in the race for constable, precinct one.

Totals of complete returns of Lubbock county's 32 precints follow:

Baxter Honey Is Named As Deputy

Baxter Honey, former Lubbock city policeman, who polled 779 votes in Saturday's election to place him third in the sheriff's race, Monday was named a deputy by Sheriff Wade Hardy.

The new deputy began work at once. Sheriff Hardy and Chief Deputy Will Earnest left Monday for Bakersfield county, California, to return Herman (Bib) Robinson, a negro, to Lubbock county for trial on a murder charge. Robinson is accused of shooting and killing one negro and fatally wounding another here Jan. 19, 1930.

It was said yesterday afternoon at the sheriff's office that the department had been "short-handed for some time." Fourth member of the sheriff's staff here is Deputy Sheriff Joe Rieger.

Stocks Beat Through Low Quotations To Post Gains Of $1 To $5 A Share

Oil Industry Jumps Out Of Red With Others Strong

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 25.—The stock market bulged up in the most decisive manner in weeks today, with a number of prominent issues advancing $1 to $5 a share in the most active trading since early June.

The general level, as measured by price averages, was boosted through the point where the early June rally was checked, and reached the best level since mid-May. Trading in the stock exchange, where the turnover approximated 1,500,000 shares, was the most active since June 3.

Shorts in the steel issues took fright at approach of tomorrow's meeting of directors of the United States Steel Corp. Brokerage rumor had it that the regular quarterly preferred dividend would probably be ordered, and that the quarterly earnings report might not show as serious a deficit as some quarters had been anticipating. The preferred stock rose $5.25 to $66 a share, and the common $1.50 to $26.37.

Oils also forged ahead, as the few quarterly earnings statements thus far published have indicated this industry is out of the red, and about the only major line now showing better earnings than a year ago. Standard Oil of California closed at $24.87, up $1.75, and Standard of N. J., at $29.37, up $1.25. In the curb market Standard of Indiana rose $1.25 to $21.62, the highest price for 1932. Consolidated Oil rose $1.37 to $7.50 in a large turnover, also registering a new high.

Miscellaneous issues up about $2 to $3 included Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel preferred, Delaware and Hudson, American Tobacco B, Liggett and Myers B, Peoples Gas, Union Pacific and Woolworth. General Electric advanced 75 cents to $11.75.

Ten Injured, One Missing In Blast

ST. LOUIS, July 25. (AP) — Ten men were injured, three seriously, and one man was missing in an explosion today which wrecked the front of the large service garage of Pickwick-Greyhound Lines, Inc., while about 25 mechanics and bus drivers were in the building.

The missing man was Joseph Barber, district passenger agent of the lines from Chicago, whose car was being refueled at time of the blast. Firemen searched the wreckage for him. All others known to have been in the building were accounted for.

Firemen expressed belief the explosion was caused by accidental ignition of a gasoline tank. Windows for a distance of seven blocks were broken. Damage was estimated at $50,000.

Major James Doolittle Monday Flies 2,900 Miles Over 14 States To Commemorate U. S. Postal Service Founding

(By The Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., July 25.—Over a domain George Washington took a lifetime to traverse Major James Doolittle flew between an early breakfast and a late dinner today to commemorate the 157th anniversary of the founding of the United States postal service.

With Anne Madison Washington, great-great-great grand niece of the first president, and A. F. Maple, representing the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, he arrived at Newark airport at 7:20 (central standard time) tonight, 16 hours and 55 minutes after he left Boston this morning.

He had covered some 2,900 miles in 14 states along the Atlantic seaboard, stopped once in Washington to refuel and dropped packets of letters on a score of airports as he hummed over the trails plodded one hundred and fifty years ago by Washington, an ardent supporter of the postal system.

Lockhart Has Small Lead In Senate Battle

Additional Returns On Monday Boost Duggan To A Position With Chance To Take Lead; Thomas Is Third

The fight between G. E. Lockhart of Lubbock and Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield for leadership of the 30th senatorial campaign continued as additional returns Monday brought the total to 37,466 votes from 20 to 24 counties.

Except for 21 votes, the 440-vote lead Lockhart held Monday at noon was wiped out as additional returns came in last night. Earlier reports definitely established Lockhart and Duggan in the senatorial run-off August 27.

To Open Campaign

Certain that Duggan would be his opponent in the second primary Lockhart last night was marshaling his forces to open his run-off campaign in the heart of the former West Texas Chamber of Commerce president's support. The Lubbock man will speak at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Littlefield, home of Duggan. Lamb county and Littlefield gave Duggan 2,360 votes and Lockhart 620.

Te second speaking date will be at Levelland in Hockley county at 4:30 o'clock Saturday. Mr. Duggan carried Hockley 612 to 304.

Duggan had pluralities or majorities in eight counties, Lockhart in seven, Levens in three and Thomas in two.

Unreported counties, Borden, Cochran, Kent and Martin, will add about 2,000 votes to the total, it is estimated.

Bonus Seekers And Police In Sharp Fighting As Veterans Make An Attempt To Picket White House

Leaders Arrested

Additional 24 Hours Of Grace Given Conservative Vets By Officers And Then Evacuation Must Begin

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Another attempt to picket the White House by members of the radical wing of the bonus army was broken up today with police clubs after a half hour's sporadic fighting along Washington's busiest thoroughfares.

At the end of the melee, witnessed by thousands of government workers who were out for lunch, nine of the hundred-odd men who marched forth to parade were in jail. The others were scattered and leaderless.

Leader Is Held

Among those hauled away in patrol wagons were John Pace, of Detroit, leader of the left wingers, and his first lieutenant, Walter Elker, of Washington, D. C. Elker was chased up a tree near Pennsylvania avenue and came down only when the blue coats threatened to shake him out.

Both were charged with inciting a riot. They were out of jail on bond for a previous attempt to picket the executive mansion.

Meanwhile, authorities went ahead with plans to evict the more conservative bonus-seekers from their billets on and near Pennsylvania avenue, several blocks from the scene of today's fighting, but gave them an additional 24 hours before putting into effect the evacuation order which had been set for midnight tonight.

W. W. Waters, leader of that faction, said his men would offer passive resistance if force were used. His following obviously was much thinner than last week as more than 5,800 of the veterans have taken advantage of transportation loans offered by the government.

Two District Races Waxing Hot Near End

Thomas Leads Winston In Race For Representative While Judge Homer L. Pharr Paces Crosbyton Attorney

Two hot district contests in the August runoff primary are seen for the state representative race and the district judge race for the 72nd district, as a result of the first primary results.

John N. Thomas, Tahoka, pioneer resident who opposed G. E. Lockhart for the honor two years ago, is leading the state representative ticket. He is opposed by Homer R. Winston, Brownfield, clerk of the district court. Tom Carter, Lubbock printer, was third, with Al Hill and Elmer Adams in the "also ran" class. One county is absent.

Walker Is Behind

W. P. Walker, city attorney of Crosbyton, is 250 votes behind Judge Homer Pharr for the 72nd judicial race, with Robert Bean trailing.

Dan Blair, Lubbock war veteran, can go fishing on primary day as he is nearly 1,200 votes ahead of his two opponents.

Personalities Outstanding In Oklahoma Voting Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25 (AP)—Personalities smothered issues tonight as candidates made final appeals to the 425,000 or more Oklahomans expected to vote in the state's run-off primary tomorrow.

Outstanding were J. C. (Jack) Walton, impeached governor, seeking to win the Democratic nomination to the important state corporation commission; Governor William H. Murray, whose fight for a friendly legislature took him on a roaring stump tour; Will Rogers, slight, blue-eyed country schoolmaster, and his congress-at-large opponent, Mrs. Mabell Bassett, outspoken foe of Murray who led the ticket to win her present post of charities and corrections commissioner.

Corn Standard Now Prevailing In New Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

LOVINGTON, N. M., July 25. Farmers in northern Lea county, New Mexico, have abandoned the gold standard in favor of the "corn standard."

Corn is money, and the new medium of exchange is plentiful. It is heaped in hill-like pyramids on almost every farm. Farmers pay their bills with so many bushels of corn, trade it for necessities and exchange it for livestock and farm implements. Even itinerant pedlers accept it.

In addition to using it for money farmers feed tons of their corn to livestock and grind it into corn meal for the table.

Late Tabulation Gives Woman Good Margin; Parrish Clings Tenaciously To Second Place

Submission Advocates Hold Two To One Lead; Shaver Keeps Well To Fore Along With Terrell, Thompson, Strong And Bailey; Next Tabulation Scheduled At Noon Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 25.—Mrs. Miriam Amanda Ferguson tonight had run up a lead of 77,000 votes over Governor R. S. Sterling as returns kept pouring in from Saturday's Democratic primary, but had no prospect of attaining a clear majority.

She was going away at the finish, her lead having grown by some 7,000 during the day. Latest returns to the Texas Election Bureau gave Mrs. Ferguson 300,805, Sterling 223,813, and Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls 157,208. Six also-rans in the gubernatorial contest divided 29,953 votes.

Submission Sentiment Heavy

Advocates of a petition to congress asking a new vote in the states on federal prohibition kept a two to one lead over opponents of the plan. The figures were 261,389 to 101,497. Since the total vote tabulated was 711,779, it appeared that little more than half the Democrats had recorded themselves either for or against resubmission.

The larger figures made few significant changes in most of the races. Only one congressman seeking reelection failed to show a clear majority of the votes tabulated. In the fourth district, Sam Rayburn of Bonham, who managed the preconvention campaign for Speaker John N. Garner, had 15,247 votes, while Jess Morris of Greenville had 9,965 and C. B. Randell of Sherman 6,129. Unofficial returns however gave Rayburn a majority, 17,895 to 17,392.

Blanton Is Leading

In the seventeenth district, Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene had 23,181 votes to 21,002 for his opponent, Joe H. Jones of Eastland.

Charles N. Shaver of Huntsville, appointed state superintendent of public instruction after the death of S. M. N. Marrs, had 294,529 votes to 282,505 for his opponent, L. A. Woods of Waco.

Run-offs were indicated for the three places as congressman-at-large given Texas by the last congressional reapportionment.

Parrish Is Second

George B. Terrell of Alto had 87,187 votes for place 1, State Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock had 63,390 to 53,887 for W. Erskine Williams of Fort Worth, staunch dry.

Joseph Weldon Bailey, jr., of Dallas, son of the former senator, now dead, had the largest vote of all the congress-at-large aspirants, with 127,135 for place 2. Oscar Holcomb, former mayor of Houston, had 79,219 and J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Sulphur Springs, 76,893. Bailey favors repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Sterling P. Strong, Dallas prohibitionist, led for place 3 with 102,091 votes, Douglas W. McGregor of Houston was second with 58,939 closely pressed by Joe Burkett of Eastland, former highway commissioner, who had 57,314.

New Currency To Be Issued

Scores Of National Banks In Country Are Interested In Amendment; Security Bonds Must Be Deposited

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 25. — More than $6,000,000 in new currency will be issued by the treasury shortly if inquiries by a score of national banks as to the workings of the new money expansion law are followed up with deposits of the necessary security bonds.

Banks in all parts of the country were said at the treasury today to be showing a lively interest in the recently enacted Glass-Borah amendment to the home loan bank law which permits national financial institutions to issue currency on security of government bonds bearing not more than 3 3-8 per cent interest.

These banks could issue new currency to the extent of their individual capital stock and if taken advantage of to the limit the law would put $995,000,000 of new money into circulation.

Two Youths Are Charged In Burglary In City Monday

Ferguson Anxious To Get Into Fight

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, July 25.—James E. Ferguson, veteran hard-hitting, gloveless political campaigner, waited impatiently tonight to take on his favorite antagonist, Governor R. S. Sterling, in a showdown contest for the governorship of Texas.

Ferguson, twice governor and merciless stump speaker of many contests, feeling chipper over the big lead his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the state's first woman governor, rolled up in Saturday's primary over Sterling in his bid for a second term, visibly was anxious for the fray.

Sterling Cheerful

His frame of mind, however, was no more cheerful than that of Governor Sterling, who came back to his executive desk early today full of enthusiasm for his work and expressing confidence he would win from the Fergusons in the runoff, as he did two years ago.

Governor Sterling, who described himself, in his stump appearances, as "The Big Fat Boy," had expressed a hope during the first primary tour that "you people will not make it necessary for me to campaign in a runoff during the warm August weather."

Actually Oppose Jim

Sterling and his partner in politics, former Governor Dan Moody, who defeated Mrs. Ferguson for a second term in 1925, considered that they were actually opposing James E. Ferguson, since it was Ferguson who did virtually all the campaigning, although Mrs. Ferguson delivered brief addresses at most of their speaking engagements.

Ferguson always has been at home on the stump since he went forth in 1914, forsaking the quiet life of a banker and farmer, to become one of the best known political figures Texas has ever known. Politicians have had him to deal with ever since. He was impeached and removed from the governor's office during his second term. Because of that impeachment the state constitution bars him from holding office again.

Has Lost Fortune

Sterling, a man of wealth until comparatively recent months, never had dabbled in politics publicly until Moody made him chairman of the Texas highway commission. The highway commission during Mrs. Ferguson's tenure had been the object of travail and confusion and Moody said he picked Sterling to direct its affairs because of his business success. Sterling had worked up from a lowly start as a boatman on the coast with a small general

Church Women Of City Meet For Regular Programs Monday Afternoon

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

MAYBE you thought you were all dressed up when you got married. But to the Japanese bride, your wedding was a flop because you wore only one dress—with perhaps a going-away suit thrown in—because she wore 15 gowns at her wedding feast alone.

It seems that is the way things are done in Japan and it looks like a lot of unnecessary formality from over here where we wouldn't think of running in and out on the guests all evening changing dresses. However, one supposes, it is the equivalent of these times when the bride brings out her trousseau for all her friends to admire.

At any rate, it looks like a good thing for the groom. If his bride has 15 new dresses for the wedding feast, it seems possible for her to get through the first few months of married life without having to buy a lot of new clothes in order to have something to wear.

FOR THE CHILDREN

AUGUST, which begins in a few more days, has the appearance of being a quiet time for a lot of people. However, the time can be profitably used by a lot of parents in preparing their children to enter school in September.

Through the parent-teacher associations, a number of children received physical examinations in the spring. Since that time, visits and telephone calls have been made by women who are in P.-T. A. work to encourage parents to have corrections made of imperfections found at the clinic. Yet, in spite of their importunities, some children are going to enter school with bad teeth, diseased tonsils or ears or with other troubles simply because they were neglected during the summer.

These conditions make the children more susceptible to disease during the winter and lowers their efficiency and vitality.

Realizing that what may be a minor ailment now may grow into a permanent one or cause serious illness, members of the parent-teacher association have clinics each spring for children who are to enter public school for the first time the following September. The diagnosis is free. However, the corrections are not free.

The clinic isn't conducted to get practice for the doctors. No recommendation is made about who is to do the work—and much of it is usually charity, anyway. But the mothers and teachers sponsoring the clinic are eager to see children entering school in the best physical condition that is possible.

Many clubs are not meeting in August. Society will enjoy a sort of lethargy before things open up again in September. Now is a good time to have the tonsils removed, to have the child's eyes doctored, to have teeth worked over or to have other imperfections treated so that he enters school in September free from physical handicaps.

Of course it is going to cost something. But as a general thing the cost of prevention is less than the cost of cure. Bad tonsils may cause a child to be ill repeatedly during the winter and the chances are that they will have to come out eventually. The same rule holds for other things and in the meantime the child suffers.

UNSIGNED NOTICES

UNSIGNED notices continue to be mailed to the Avalanche-Journal for publication and some of them defy verification. As a consequence notes usually get no further than the wastebasket.

One such note came in last week concerning the meeting of a club of which no one down here had ever heard. After looking through the telephone and city directories, we took a chance on a similar last name and called a man in a wholesale house. The meeting was supposed to be with his sister, although he knew nothing of it. Word was left for her to call this office and so far the call has not come in.

No wedding notice is ever run down here unless it is verified and few other such notices are printed. We aren't trying to be smart with these refusals. Occasionally some one decides that a marriage notice about a couple of friends is a good prank. However, for the couple concerned the notice is likely to be a serious matter. So, as a protection for other people and for our policy of integrity, the notices have to be passed up unless we are assured of their authenticity.

Oil Companies Show Profits

Tulsa World Reports Profit For First Six Months For Consolidated Oil Company Following Losses

TULSA, July 25 (AP)—The Tulsa World says it had learned from high official sources that the Consolidated Oil company has made a profit the first six months of this year in contrast to a loss of approximately $20,000,000 during the corresponding period of 1931 by the Sinclair and Prairie companies merged into consolidation last January.

Definite figures were not given by the newspaper, and it was understood these will not be available until the official statement for the second quarter is released.

Harry F. Sinclair, Consolidated chairman, and Daniel T. Pierce, his assistant, were in Tulsa today en route to the west coast to continue negotiations for the properties of the Richfield Oil company, but were reported in conferences at the Sinclair offices.

The World says that economies estimated at more than $16,000,000 annually were made through consolidation of the three companies, accomplished in March.

Consolidated operated at a considerable profit in June and will show even larger profits for July, the newspaper says.

With the nation's demand for gasoline off about seven per cent, the paper continues, Consolidated (Sinclair) service station sales are above those of last year. Lubricating oils, off 16 1-2 per cent through-out the country generally, are up between 4 and 5 per cent at Consolidated stations.

In addition to direct factors affecting profits, it will be realized that when the Sinclair-Prairie consolidation was made asset values were written down to what the last annual report calls 'present day levels.' This has reduced depreciation charges by more than $1,800,000 a month, and by that amount increased the sum available for dividends," the paper says.

Motorist Has Good Excuse For Violation

HOUSTON, July 25. (AP) — A motorist, up for running a red traffic light the other day, bespoke an excuse that appealed to City Judge Fred Turner as eminently sound.

"Well, judge," said the defendant, "it was this way. I was driving along when all of a sudden I felt something hot down by back. The fellow in the car next to me had tossed a lighted cigarette down my shirt."

"I saw the light was red, but I ran through it anyway. You see, my back was getting red, too, and I was in a hurry to catch that fellow and find out what it was all about. It was an accident."

"Case dismissed," said Judge Turner.

Troops Tie In Scout Contest

Troop 4 Of Lubbock And 22 Of Lamesa Will Get McMillan Cup For Six Months; Camp At Post Closed

For the first time in the history of the anual South Plains Area council Boy Scout camp, two troops this year tied for the McMillan cup, for the best all-round troop at camp. Troop No. 4 of Lubbock and troop No. 22 of Lamesa consequently will keep the trophy six months each.

The 1932 encampment was conducted at C. W. Post Memorial camp near Post last week. Willard McSpadden of troop No. 22 of Lamesa won the camper's medal in competition, although he did not know such a medal was to be given, with 63 other scouts. Twelve leaders attended the camp.

Operation of the camp on a troop basis with scoutmasters and assistants supervising their respective scouts proved successful, D. T. Jennings, area executive and camp director, said. No disciplinary problems cropped out. Less sickness occurred than usual.

Troop No. 8 of Lubbock won the kitchen-police cup, No. 4 of Lubbock captured the swimming championship and Clarance Mast of No. 4 received the best swimmer's medal. James White, assistant scoutmaster of No. 8 was elected camp-goat, and Joe Coursey of No. 4 camp-pest.

Several troops are considering developing troop camp sites on the Post site, Executive Jennings said.

The customary district monthly court of honor will be conducted in the district criminal courtroom here at 8 o'clock Friday night. First aid and civis examinations were to be given Monday night at the scout office in City hall, the first and second class board of review will meet there tonight and the merit badge reviewers Wednesday night.

Lamesa Meets Levelland For Feature Today

Nudie Moore Tosses To Dick Ratliff As Littlefield Is Winner Over Hale Center; Texas Utilities Win

What the first Lubbock Avalanche-Journal invitation baseball tournament lacks in quantity, it makes up two-fold in quality.

In two of the best games seen in these parts all season, the Texas Utilities team of Lubbock and the Littlefield team swept through to victories in their first round contests, defeating Hale Center and Wolfforth respectively.

A glittering array of amateur, semi-pro and professional players faced a good crowd yesterday and got down to business in what promises to be one of the biggest baseball weeks in many seasons.

Familiar Forces Show Up

Yesterday's games saw the return to local lots of almost the entire delegation of baseballers who trek-

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Hale Center and Wolfforth play at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the first game. Both were defeated yesterday but neither are eliminated.

In the feature of today's program, Levelland and Lamesa will play their first games. Both clubs have drawn players from the leading teams of the Plains, and fireworks are expected. They play at 4:30, or as soon as the first game is over.

Tournament Manager Weldon Chapman announced yesterday that a three-game elimination process instead of the usual two-defeat elimination system would be the order of the tournament provided managers are willing.

ked hither and yon last spring to receive seasoning in professional uniforms, Dick Ratliff of Littlefield, one of the outstanding catchers of these regions, and Red Gaither of Lubbock, outfielder and slugger of modern type, returned from big league farms late last week and played at home yesterday. Jim Ballard of Hale Center, Ed Hambright and Ray Marshall of Lubbock who went north with Gaither and Ratliff last spring, were playing for their respective clubs yesterday.

Playing smart baseball all the way, Manager Art Mueller's Littlefield clan took a four-run advantage in the third inning in the first game yesterday, added three in the seventh and four in the eighth to beat Hale Center, 11 to 1. Nudie Moore, gangly hurler who has shown great stuff on the Plains in previous years, got here in time to pitch a good game for Littlefield. He was nicked for ten bingles, but kept them well scattered. A double by Ballard, a single by Scaling and a triple by Centerfielder May resulted in the one run gained by Hale Center in the ninth inning. It was Ballard's second double of the day.

Moore, Mickey Ratliff and Art Mueller filled the bases to start the third for Littlefield and a triple by Chief Hanks, veteran catcher and first baseman, brought in the tallies. A passed ball, two walks and a couple of singles brought in three runs in the seventh, and Littlefield went on a spree in the eighth to clinch the victory with a quartet of runs. Hale Center used three pitchers to stem the tide and except for the three bad innings the Hale county youth played good baseball.

Manager A. D. Chase's Texas Utilities team fought brilliantly against the hustling Wolfforth delegation composed of some of the best players on the South Plains, and broke through the tight pitching of Herring and Hoyle for a pair in the sixth and three in the seventh to add to the one gained in the fourth for a 6 to 3 victory.

Blackie Can Go!

The short stopping of Blackie Hilliard for Wolfforth featured the second encounter. Twice he made plays that would have done credit to big league baseball, leaping high for Hambright's liner in the third and choking off a blistering knock by Gaither to throw him out at first in the fourth. His playing was superb all the way except once when he made a perfect catch in an attempted double play but failed to stab second.

Big Herschel Galey did a usual good job at catching for the Lubbock team, and little Greer Dickey, recently returned after a spring of wandering, pitched 9-hit baseball, scattering them over the route, for the TUCO bunch, one of the favorites to come through for the money.

Harold Crites' slashing single in the fourth brought in Evo Marshall who had singled, and a crashing three-base blow by Lefty Bettes in the sixth brought in two more. A series of hits by Dirth Waller, Gaither and Marshall, the latter a two-placer, let in three more runs. Blackie Hoyle set them down, one-two, three in the last two innings.

Wolfforth got its first run in the first frame, Hilliard scoring after singling on B. Surat's single. A three-base wallop by Ray Waller started the eighth for Wolfforth and G. Surat walked. Caveness cleared the sacks with a burning triple. Thereafter Dickey had them on his hip.

Davis Cuppers To Rest For Matches With French Team

PARIS, France, July 25. (AP)—America's Davis Cup youngsters—Ellsworth Vines, Frank Shields, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, laid aside their racquets today until Wednesday to guard against staleness for the big week-end battle with France for the historic tennis trophy.

They may play a set or two Wednesday and Thursday but there will be nothing strenuous on the training program this week.

Bernon Prentice, non-playing captain of the team, took his athletes to Saint Cloud this morning and they will spend much of their time in the country around Paris until time for the matches.

Vines appeared fully recovered from the slight indisposition that made his play slightly erratic against Gottfried Von Cramm, the German he defeated yesterday to clinch the United States' right to a place in the challenge round.

Yank Ace Sees Only Two Bats But Is Beaten

Haas Hits Homer To Clear Out Bases And Beat Yanks; Score Tied As Lefty Goes In With Mahaffey Hurling Fine

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, July 25. — Vernon Gomez pitched to only two batters today but lost his fifth game of the season and his first to the Athletics when Mule Haas drove out a home run with Bishop on base in the ninth to give the American League champions an 8 to 7 victory over the Yankees.

Gomez, who defeated the Athletics at the Yankee Stadium yesterday, entered the game in the ninth with the tying run on base and Max Bishop at bat. He made Bishop hit into a force play, but Haas' circuit drive broke up a nip and tuck ball game, in which Mahaffey outlasted four Yankee hurlers — Pennock, Brown, Allen and Gomez.

In addition to striking out seven Yankees, Mahaffey hit a home run in the sixth to give the A's a temporary lead. The lead lasted only until the eighth when Babe Ruth, pinch hitting for Chapman, connected with a single, scoring two runs. Gehrig followed with his 24th home run of the season to put the Yanks out in front by three runs.

The Athletics cut the Yanks advantage to one run in the last half of the eighth when Allen and Brown loaded the bases with three successive passes. An infield out and a line drive sent two runs across the plate. Two more walks again filled the bases but Dykes fanned for the third out. Allen also put the tying runs on bases in the ninth with a base on balls.

The four Yankee hurlers issued 10 bases on balls while Mahaffey gave only two.

Arizona-Texas League Ordered To Halt Action

TUCSON, Ariz., July 25. (AP)—William McGovern, secretary of the Tucson club of the Arizona-Texas baseball league, announced today he had received word from F. A. Nathan, president of the circuit, that he had ordered the league to disband.

Nathan's action is believed to be the outgrowth of a controversy over the financial affairs of the Albuquerque Dons, who have announced they would not play until back salaries were paid.

McGovern said Nathan informed him he had been asked by El Paso club officials to continue play until August 1, but had decided the clubs might as well quit now as then.

McGovern said he understood attempts were being made by Bisbee to organize the league. He declared the Tucson club was prepared to pay off its players but would mark time pending outcome of these efforts.

Marty Fielder, business manager of Albuquerque said he had reached an agreement with his players. They departed for home today after an attachment on their bus had been lifted here. It had been held for a hotel bill.

Foreign Athletes Move Into Olympic Village; Canadians Present Threat Of Numbers

Sixteen Members Of U. S. Ring Team Move Into Los Angeles To Warm Up For Big Games Beginning On Saturday

LOS ANGELES, July 25. (AP) — More than two hundred fifty athletes, composing the last large group to arrive here for the tenth Olympiad, moved into the rapidly growing Olympic Village today.

The big delegation included 150 from Canada, twenty-five from Great Britain, fifty-eight from Hungary, eleven men and two women from South Africa and nine men and two women from Australia.

Tonight sixteen members of the United States boxing team will arrive. Spain, Portugal, Cuba, and Lithuania are the only nations of the thirty-eight competing in the athletic events not represented.

Lord Burghley, great hurdler, headed the English party, while Harry Hart, expert Weighman, was the chief center of interest in the South African group.

P. J. Mulqueen, who was in charge of the Canadian team, said it was his opinion that Bert Pearson, latest spring sensation of the north country, has before him an even better prospect in the short races of the games than did Percy Williams in 1928 when he won both the hundred and two hundred meters.

Here are five things to check up on when your irons begin to fail.

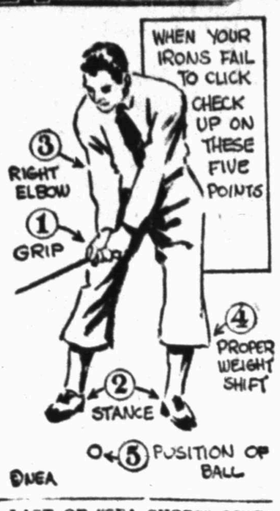
Notice the grip. Be sure you see at least the first two knuckles of each hand.

Remember that iron shots should be played with an open stance, which has the right foot advanced.

One of the most important points to check is the right elbow. Be sure it is tucked into the side.

Be sure you are shifting weight properly so the ball will be hit a downward blow.

The position of the ball should be at a point opposite a few inches behind the midway point between the feet.



SKY ADVERTISING WATCHED

Developments in Europe of advertising by projection of light or sound into the sky is being watched by Ulster, and it may bring the activity under public control "before any vested interests are established" there. In reply to a question on the subject the Deputy Leader of the House of Parliament said the government was aware that the methods of advertising referred to had already engaged the attention of the Imperial government, and that they were likely to form the subject of investigation by a select committee of the Imperial House of Commons. While there was, as yet, no indication that the new advertising methods were likely to be employed in Northern Ireland in the near future, the government would keep the matter under notice.

LAST OF "SEA SHOPS" QUITS

The Gleaner, the last "sea shop" of the Orkneys, has been taken from its salesvoyages and will become a West Coast of Scotland coaster. The Gleaner was the sole survivor of the fleet of vessels which plied in Orkney, Shetland, and North of Scotland waters' retailing everything from household necessities and farm requisites to newspapers, frocks and cosmetics. The principal fleet owners formerly sent these boats as far north as Fair Isle and desolate Foula, covering also the Shetland islands. Back in the earlier days they were all sailing crafts, but for the last 40 years they had been fitted with engines. They kept regular schedules, with calls a piers and in creeks. The invasion of chain stores and the extension of branches of many firms have rendered such ships unnecessary.

Alien Americans and foreigners residing in the United States sent approximately $173,000,000 in immigrant remittances back to their native lands in 1931.

Martial Law To Be Closed

Leipzig Supreme Court Refuses To Squelch Dictatorship In Prussia; Hindenburg To Rescind Order

BERLIN, July 25. (AP)—After the supreme court at Leipzig had refused today to squelch the Prussian dictatorship by the injunction method, the federal government decided to put an end to martial law in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg which was declared July 20 in order that the federal dictator might have a free hand.

President Von Hindenburg will be asked by the cabinet tomorrow to rescind his martial law decree, and it was authoritatively understood he would accede.

The action of the Leipzig supreme court was taken on a request by the deposed government of Prussia for an injunction restraining Chancellor Franz Von Papen, federal commissioner who assumed dictatorial powers over the state, from interfering with the regular Prussian government.

The court held that if an injunction were granted it merely would mean dividing authority in Prussia between the federal commissioner and the cabinet he ousted. Such a course was considered impossible.

The court recommended that the legal proceedings be expedited in order that the constitutionality of the emergency decree which empowered the federal authorities to take over the state might be passed upon as quickly as possible.

Before the government reached its decision to end martial law in Berlin and Brandenburg, the reichstag committee on safeguarding the people's rights demanded that this extreme measure be rescinded and that the Prussian government by commission be ended.

Chancellor Von Papen assured the committee members that regardless of the situation in Prussia the general election scheduled for next Sunday will be held. In that election the nation will choose a new reichstag.

August Wilhelm, fourth son of the former Kaiser, is taking an active part in the election campaign on the side of Adolf Hitler's national socialists. In a speech Saturday at Spandau he declared that a Hitler victory next Sunday would mark the beginning of the reascendance of the German people.

Nazi headquarters denied reports published abroad that the Kaiser's son had predicted the imminent return of his father.

As the campaign progressed toward its whirlwind conclusion there were rumors of a possible attempt by the national socialists to seize power if they did not get it through the ballots of the people. General Von Schleicher announced that if any such illegal attempt were made he would call upon the army to proceed against the nazi storm troops.

Lubbock County To Receive More Half Million Dollars In Road Bond Refunding Under Sterling's Gas Tax Proposal

LUBBOCK county would receive more than half a million dollars from the state in the refunding of its road bonds, if the plan of Governor Ross Sterling for diversion of one cent of the gasoline tax is carried out, estimates made in Austin show.

Under the Sterling plan, more than $77,000,000 in bonds would be retired. The first year $7,000,000 would be paid back to counties, with a gradually decreasing amount each year until all are paid off.

Would Have Enough Funds

The highway department would have enough money to go on to meet and match $5,000,000 in federal aid and also to continue the necessary road building program.

Lubbock county's probable refund under the announced schedule would be $533,354. Hale county would receive $623,590 while Motley county would receive $177,396. These amounts have been paid by these counties into the state highway building funds.

Other West Texas counties to benefit from the governor's plan and the amount paid in include: Carson, $783,208; Childress, $248,092; Cottle, $351,566; Hall, $443,160; Hemphill, $227,113; Hutchinson, $14,221; Howard, $157,592; Jones, $942,446; Kent, $198,844; Nolan, $385,322; Potter $504,694; Randall, $340,502.

Bird Life In Panhandle Is Believed On The Increase

CANYON, July 25. (AP)—Those who have made a study of bird life in the Panhandle express the belief that this area has more birds this season than at any time since the first settlers came. There are many mocking birds, yellow-billed cuckoos, cardinals, doves, titmice and several varieties of sparrows. A few blackbirds, wrens, grosbeaks, blue grosbeaks, blue jays, and several kinds of woodpeckers also have been seen.

Protected areas where hunting is not permitted, and the maintenance of feeding trays during the winter are believed to have caused the increase.

FIELD EXTENDED

RICHMOND, Tex., July 25. (AP)—The Rabbs Ridge field south of Richmond in Fort Bend county was extended a half mile north today by completion of the Texas company's number 1 Wolters for a 1,500 barrel producer. The hole was bottomed at 5,325 feet. The field now has 12 producing oil wells with a daily average production of more than 15,000 barrels.

How Long Does It Require For Bath

Carbon Black Worker Says He Can Do It In Ten Minutes; Practice Makes Perfect And He Has Lots Of Practice

BORGER, July 25. (AP)—"How much time would be required for a carbon black worker to take a bath?" is a question frequently asked in the black producing areas of the Panhandle.

And Martin Fate, who works for the Huber Carbon company, comes back with the answer, "Ten minutes."

"The average person would think I couldn't take a bath in two hours, if he saw me come out of the plant," Fate said. "But by speeding up I can do it in 10 minutes. Of course, practice makes perfect, and I have been doing it a long time.

"For eight hours a day we are the blackest men in the world, but for the other 16 we are the cleanest. You see the black settles all over us. There are no clean spots. So when we bathe, we must wash all over. If I happen to prespire much during the 16 clean hours, black may ooze from the pores of my skin, but that doesn't count. A visitor who hangs around the plant for more than 30 minutes may experience the same thing."

The carbon black workers bathe under a shower that spouts water almost with the force of a fire hose. The employes leave their work clothes in a locker near the shower, then don their street clothes in a separate room to keep the black from becoming imbedded in them.

Fate said the carbon black workers are clean even when they work. They wash their clothing three or four times a week in specially built equipment. Otherwise the black particles become so thick they scratch the skin.

Serious Affair

Man Shatters His Wooden Leg

FREDERICKSBURG, July 25. (AP)—Ordinarily, breaking a wooden leg wouldn't amount to much and would merely necessitate replacement.

But when Albert Kollet broke his wooden leg it turned out to be a serious affair.

Kollet had used his wooden leg satisfactorily for years. Recently he threw a stone at a rabbit munching in his garden. The throw whirled him on his wooden leg which splintered and sent Kollet crashing to the ground.

Kollet broke the hip to which the wooden leg had been attached.

Wife Of Chevalier Declares Divorce Is Mutual Affair

CANNES, France, July 25. (AP) — Yvonne Vallee Chevalier said today that she and her husband, Maurice Chevalier the actor, will be divorced by mutual consent. Chevalier filed a petition for divorce last week.

"Whether we are divorced or not," she said, "it will all be the same. We are getting the divorce only to keep our old friendship." She said Chevalier probably would visit her here since there is no enmity between them.

Teachers In Lubbock Area Are Given Slash In Salary

Teachers in schools of the Lubbock independent district, whose salaries were cut 14 per cent for the 1932-33 year, will teach nine months for eight and a half months' pay, they were informed at a meeting Monday morning in the senior high school auditorium with the district board of trustees.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, chairman of the board, said the measure was believed necessary in balancing the school district's budget. A 10 per cent reduction in 1931-32 salaries was taken from the May vouchers, on order of the board, which subsequently overruled a protest by a group of teachers.

Watch Your Horses ..... the Elephants are Coming

Remember how you thrilled, in childhood days at that cry, "watch your horses, the Elephants are coming." Circus Days,—gala days.

That was good ballyhoo.

It is not ballyhoo, however, when we tell you NOW, "Read the Ads.—Buy Advertised Merchandise,— PRICES ARE GOING UP."

Oil producers have raised the price of gasoline, based on an advanced price for crude oil. Other commodities, sugar, coffee, flour, etc., are advancing in the retail stores.

Advertised merchandise is dependable merchandise. It represents real value, plus the faith and reputation of its makers.

The Run-Off Prospects

JUDGING from returns thus far tabulated in the Democratic party's first primary staged Saturday Texas is in line for another hectic gubernatorial campaign to be climaxed on August 27.

If the past can be taken as a criterion, we may expect to be besieged on every side during the next four weeks with charges and counter charges, allegations and counter allegations. It is not a pleasant prospect, but politics is funny that way.

The Morning Avalanche, of course, will actively support Governor Sterling in the run-off campaign. By that we mean we will support him in our editorial columns.

News columns will be divided equally, as nearly as possible, and as the news breaks on the race.

But the editorial columns—which are the newspaper's own columns to be used for expression of policy—will urge support for the present incumbent.

Your morning newspaper thinks too much of the reputation of Texas to sit placidly by without trying to help stop another of those now infamous 'wood and water' administrations.

Your morning newspaper thinks it would be derelict in its duty if it did not urge the nomination of Governor Sterling as opposed to Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Judging from the looks of things, it will be a long fight with a short stick, but it's worth trying.

Governor Sterling is no super-man.

He doesn't claim to be; his friends do not claim he is.

But he is honest, conscientious, business-like and capable enough to hold the office and that's something.

Lest you forget, the laws of the state of Texas prohibit James E. Ferguson from holding public office within the borders of Texas.

If and when Mrs. Miriam Ferguson is elected to public office within the borders of Texas, that's just 'beating the devil around the bush.'

Neither James E. nor Mrs. Ferguson claim that she'll be Governor if elected. They all but admit that it's just her name that is being used for legal reasons—that Jim will be the Governor if his wife is elected.

The Morning Avalanche does not consider that a healthy state of affairs, at all.

It believes in legal government—in a government bounded by certain laws and precedents; a responsible government.

It doesn't believe in a proxy governorship because a proxy governorship leaves too many opportunities for star-chamber government.

For that reason, and many others, we will urge your support and vote for Governor Ross S. Sterling on August 27.

REVIVAL OF ART

Leaders in art movements in the United States foresee a renaissance of art in America, one pinning his hopes for an aesthetic revival on the soaring spirit of modern youth, another already glimpsing it in the erection of picturesque skyscrapers and in cultural currents of modern life.

While the machine age stunts the growth of art it also produces youthful pioneers in new fields of aspiration whose achievements are underscored with the virility of idealism. Current art activities, civic projects and new facilities for aesthetic training in educational institutions through the country are evidence of a fresh interest in the arts and pronounced trend to the renewed development.

Art has ever been the index of civilization. Material progress, while invaluable to the growth of nations, is not directly allied with the expression of the aesthetic impulse. It may and does profit by it handsomely but it encourages it only through the medium of patronage. It is true that wealth brings with it opportunity and incentive to cultural avocation and procurement of noble treasures and that these activities stimulate the artistic feeling.

Having attained the approximate peak of its material development, America can give more and more attention to its cultural development, which means the approach of a time when the world must concede that the United States is something more than the easiest place in which to make a living.

Bonus Problem Is Serious

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 25. — The departure of congress leaves on Washington's hands a serious problem, arising from the now chronic presence in the city of most of the old soldiers who began swarming into it six or seven weeks ago, seeking immediate bonus payment.

Until the lawmakers adjourned many of the veterans continued to hope for a last-minute compliance with their appeal. It was impractical optimism, but it served to buoy up their spirits. The scattering of the legislators deprives them of anything to look forward to earlier than next December — unless they can force an extra session.

To the dismay of the authorities, the extra session idea not only has occurred to the bonus crusaders; it appears to have "taken" among them, with a threat of worse trouble for officialdom than it has experienced yet in trying to cope with the movement.

THE PROLONGED siege of the capitol was bad enough. Still, at least it had the redeeming feature of keeping the B. E. F. members at the east end of Pennsylvania avenue, away from the White House. A demand for a presidential call of a special congressional session naturally will concentrate them around the executive mansion.

An attempt to blockade Mr. Hoover's official residence obviously will create a far graver situation than the mere picketing of the houses of congress—annoying as that was. In fact, it is not a situation that the capital's guardians are likely to see their way clear to permitting.

Nevertheless, 20,000 World war veterans are not easy to handle. Of course it can be done without great difficulty if sufficiently strenuous methods are employed, but it is of doubtful expediency to employ them—particularly in a campaign year—against men whose sole offense lies in believing themselves entitled to help, in their dire need, from the government for which they fought.

EVEN WITH the best possible management, the outlook evidently is fraught with danger—and there is a half-frightened, half-bellicose element in Washington which constantly jeopardizes all efforts of such cool-headed and really competent functionaries as Police Chief Pelham D. Glassford to prevent a catastrophe.

Chief Glassford's attitude toward the "bonus boys" unquestionably has been characterized by the highest degree of intelligence. Nevertheless, it is known to be regarded with deep disfavor by those who have insisted from the first on summary treatment of the demonstrators.

It generally is agreed, for example, that bloodshed might easily have resulted from the summoning of marines to Capitol Hill to sweep the neighborhood of bonus pickets, a night or two before the adjournment of congress—had it not been for the pickets' own good nature and Glassford's promptness in hustling the "leathernecks" back to their barracks within a few moments of their arrival.

IN ITSELF, however, the incident illustrated the hair-trigger acuteness of the crisis.

The marines, heavily armed, actually did make their appearance in the Capitol plaza. Who sent for them is a mystery. Commandant Henry V. Butler of the Washington navy yard, who dispatched the detail, insists that the call came from Vice President Curtis. The Kansan vehemently denies it. So, likewise, does everyone else who might conceivably have been responsible for the lawless summoning (the president alone being constitutionally empowered to issue such an order to the United States' military forces) of the devil dogs to deal with the bonus seekers.

For all that, there they were—with every prospect of a clash in the very shadow of the Capitol building, but for Glassford's courage in defying the unknown authority which had brought them. Obviously the affair ended peacefully by better luck than uniformly can be counted on.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON was bitterly disappointed at the veterans' failure to return home in large numbers following the offer of congress to advance them their transportation and traveling subsistence on their service certificates.

A couple of thousand did draw their money and leave, but fully as many more arrived while they were doing so.

A large share of the sojourners say frankly that they have no homes to return to. Here, at worst, they eat, after a fashion—or have, thus far. The suggestion repeatedly has been made that cutting off their rations probably would be the surest means of scattering them—but the truth is that the authorities are afraid to take that step.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE FIRE THAT LASTED FOR 79 DAYS:

During the winter of 1906 spontaneous combustion started a fire in McCarthy's Rag Shop, Troy, New York, and actually burned and smouldered for four days before it was noticed. The building, which was filled with cotton waste, was entirely surrounded by a huge wall of ice, preventing passers-by from looking in.

Then, when the fire was discovered, the firemen were greatly handicapped by the immediate formation of ice from their water hose, which, after some days, gave the building the appearance of a huge ice block. For 78 days the fire burned despite the ceaseless efforts of the fire fighters, and on the last day it took a combined force of 15 streams of water to quench the flames.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan and then, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her. They are married and Cherry for the first time finds what it means to lack money. They take a cheap apartment and her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, also on the News.

After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl is called home and there is a reconciliation with her parents but pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them. When MRS. DIXON is stronger she and her husband leave for several months at the seashore.

July brings an intense heat wave. Friends invite Cherry and Dan to a swimming party at a nearby resort. Dan is delayed at the office and Cherry sets out with Pearson in his car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

The hot wind whipped Cherry's hat back from her face and she caught the two sides, holding them down bonnet fashion.

"It will be cooler as soon as we get out of town," Pearson told her. He had to raise his voice above the sound of the car.

She smiled at him."I'm cooler all ready," she said, "just thinking about having a swim. Oh, it will be wonderful to be in the water!"

Swimming was the only sport at which Cherry could feel herself even fairly well skilled. She had learned at school where swimming was a required subject. She had only two strokes and a simple, running dive but she loved the water. There were no pools in Wellington except the public ones that were always crowded. She had not had a swim all summer.

"Like to play porpoise?" Pearson asked.

"I don't know. I've never tried it."

"I'll teach you," he promised, grinning. "Lots of fun. There's a good beach at Willow Lake. Clean sand that runs out under the water a long way. Do you dive?"

She said that she did after a fashion. Pearson began to recount swimming anecdotes.

They were out of the city now on a road dotted here and there by small dwellings. The sun was still visible over the tops of the buildings but for the first time Cherry noticed that the sky seemed darker. There were clouds in the west, gray and faintly menacing clouds. She called Pearson's attention to them.

"Do you think it may rain?" she asked.

"If it does 20,000,000 sinners are going to praise the Lord. No — I don't think there's much chance of rain, Cherry. I've figured it out there isn't ever going to be any more. After the last two weeks I don't think there's going to be any more winter either or any more snow. Just perpetual heat until the old globe dries up. No, I'm afraid you're letting your imagination get the better of you."

She was amused and smiled. But a little later she insisted. "I did feel a raindrop! I'm sure of it."

"Gosh, I believe you're right. Well, we'll try to keep ahead of it."

Pearson increased the car's speed. There was no doubt now that a storm was coming. The gray clouds had increased. Close to the horizon they were a sullen yellowish-gray that became darker above. The sun had vanished and the wind was rising. It was a hot wind that picked up the dry dust and carried it ahead in clouds.

Cherry looked down at her fresh white dress and saw that already it was ruined. She turned to Pearson. "Maybe we should go back?"

"And face right into the worst of it? No. I think the best thing we can do is keep going. Never can tell about these summer storms. Some times they blow over in five minutes."

"Do you suppose Dan has started?"

Pearson glanced at his watch.

"Can't tell. He was waiting for a long distance call when I left. But you needn't worry about Dan. That lad leads a charmed life!"

"I wish we'd all waited and come together," Cherry said.

Pearson gave her a quick glance. "You're not afraid, are you?" he asked.

She was but refused to admit it. The rain was falling in big drops now and the sky had darkened rapidly. Pearson drove without regard for speed limits.

Suddenly the storm burst in earnest. An ear-splitting peel of thunder was followed by flashes of sheet lightning. The rain fell in torrents. Both Cherry and Pearson were soaking wet. It was almost impossible to see through the windshield and the road ahead was like a rivulet.

There was another burst of thunder. The girl shuddered and crouched close to the seat as the countryside was illuminated by the blinding lightning.

Pearson drew the car to the side of the road, set the brakes. "We'll get the top up!" he shouted.

It took much tugging and pulling to get the top of the convertible roadster into place. Cherry helped. The wind and rain lashed about her as she struggled with strength she had not known she possessed. Her hat, her hair, every garment she wore was dripping wet.

At last they were inside with the cloth roof over their heads. Pearson turned on the headlights and they were on their way once more.

"Sorry to get you into such a jam," he mumbled.

"But it wasn't your fault."

"We should have gone back," he announced. "Could have made it to some sort of shelter. Wait—I've just had an idea!"

He stopped the car, got out and disappeared for a moment. When he returned he was carrying something that he threw into the seat.

"Raincoat," he gasped. "Put it on." It was a man's raincoat, old and soiled, but it was dry. Cherry wrapped the coat about her.

"You're as wet as I am," she protested.

"Never mind about me. I can stand it."

"But you're liable to take a dreadful cold!"

"Well," he said laconically, "there is nothing we can do about it except keep on until we come to some place where they'll take us in."

The houses seemed surprisingly far between. It was so dark they could not have seen a building unless there were lights at the windows.

They drove in silence. Cherry was shivering in spite of the coat. It was difficult to see the road ahead. A dozen times the girl was sure they were on the verge of disaster.

It seemed hours before Pearson said, "We're coming to something. There's a light!"

He brushed the rain from the windshield. Ahead through the darkness there was indeed a light. It was close to the road.

"Whatever it is they've got to let us come in and get dry," Pearson said. "If there's a telephone we'll call Dan. I don't think any of those cottages at Willow Lake have telephones."

In five minutes they had reached the building. It seemed to be an oil station. Pearson sounded the horn and the door opened, letting out a shaft of yellow light.

"Run for it, Cherry," he said. "I'll be right behind you."

The girl opened the door. She felt wind and rain on her head as she ran. Then she was inside a small, brightly lighted room. A young man in a brown sweater stood before her.

"Not much of a night to be out," the youth said, smiling.

Pearson had entered. "You're right about that," he agreed. "Have you got a fire here? Any place where we can dry out these wet clothes?"

The place was an oil station. The room they were in seemed to be an old shed that had been converted for its present use.

The young man motioned toward a door. "There's a stove in there," he said. "Maybe it'll help you some."

All three went into the adjoining room. It was larger and there was a counter evidently used for serving quick lunches. There was a stove at the far end of the room.

"Pa usually tends the lunchroom," the stranger told them. "He walked over to the next house an hour ago and I guess likely he won't be back for a while."

Cherry was beside the stove, holding out her wet skirt to the heat.

"How far are we from Willow Lake?" Pearson asked.

"Willow Lake? That where you're headed for? Why, it must be 40 miles to Willow Lake. Bad stretch of road between here and there. I'd hate to drive it tonight!"

"It can't be 40 miles," Pearson objected. "We left Wellington before the storm began—"

"Then you came a long distance out of your way. Must have taken the wrong turn. Willow Lake's almost due east of Wellington and we're 25 miles north. This is the Monmouth Highway, leading into Monmouth City."

"How far is it to Wellington?"

"About 35 miles."

"What are we going to do?" Cherry asked, raising frightened eyes. "Oh, Max, what can we do?"

Instead of answering he asked, "Do you have a telephone?"

The young man pointed to the instrument. "It isn't working," he said. "I tried to call Pa half an hour ago. Storm must have the wires down."

"Well," Pearson said, "you might give us a couple of cups of the hottest coffee you've got and some sandwiches. After we've drunk the coffee maybe we'll be able to figure out the best thing to do. At any rate I feel better now that I'm beginning to dry out."

Cherry went to the window and looked out. All she could see was

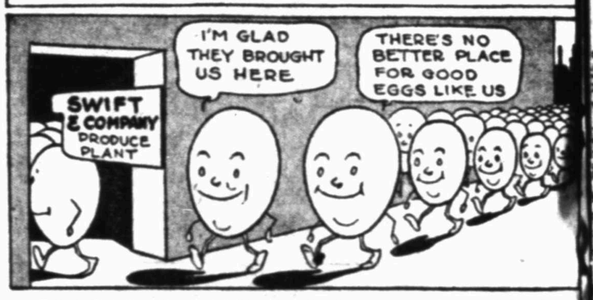
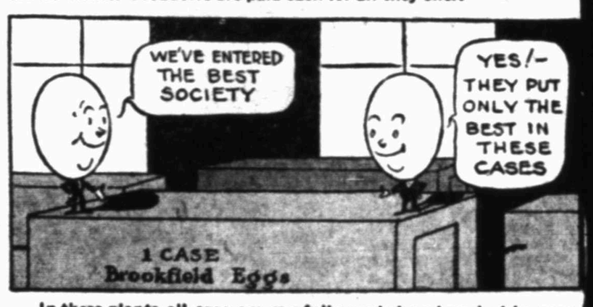
WHERE GOOD EGGS GET WHAT THEY DESERVE



Every day hundreds of thousands of eggs are delivered by farm patrons to more than 100 Swift & Company produce plants over the United States. Producers are paid cash for all they offer.



In these plants all eggs are carefully graded and packed in cases. Only the best, in size and quality, are destined eventually to go into cartons and be sold under the Brookfield label. Others, perhaps not so large or so even in color, are sorted to get the highest price for their grades.

Under refrigeration and in carload lots Swift & Company ships the eggs to more than 400 branch houses, each the distributing center for a great population. Every retailer customer of every branch house is a possible customer for any eggs that arrive at a produce plant.

In these branch houses the best eggs are packed in cartons with the Brookfield label. Thousands of salesmen daily make their rounds, selling eggs, poultry and butter as they sell meat. That means economy in sales cost. Deliveries are so frequent the eggs reach the consumer in perfect condition just as they were when Swift & Company selected them.

With Swift & Company as a guide, every egg has the chance to make the most of itself. Demand is dug up by the sales force and fostered by product advertising. Costs of service are as low as long experience and great volume can make them. Profits are low—over a period of years our profits from all sources have averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Large Sales Volume Is Recorded On Market; Good Price Boost Realized

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP) — The stock market shoved through its early June highs in relatively active trading today, accompanying another mark-up in bond prices.

Speculators for the advance were assisted by brisk short covering in a number of shares, notably United States steel preferred which jumped 5 1-4 points on gossip that the regular quarterly dividend would be declared at tomorrow's board meeting and reports that the company's second quarter financial statement might make a better showing than had been anticipated.

Industrials, rails and utilities moved forward in a manner that bespoke speculative optimism. Further word of scattered business improvement doubtless bolstered the case made out by professional operators and the list moved up with scarcely an interruption. The Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite closed 2.3 points higher at 43.6, the best level since mid-day. Thus the market was at last able to better June's peak of 40.8. Transactions totaled 1,845,966, the largest volume since June 2.

Most replacement steers bulked at 4.00@6.50 with three loads of feeders in Kansas City up to 7.25.

Chicago established a hog top of 5.15. Destrable lambs were included at 5.00@6.25 with a few loads of choice natives and rangers at 6.35@6.50. Range feeding lambs brought 4.00@4.60 with choice black faces up to 4.75.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 25. (AP)—Demand was still excellent for wheat Monday on the Fort Worth cash grain market but rather slow for other offerings.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 52@64. Barley, No. 2 nominally 29@30. Sorghums, No. 2 milo or kaffir, per 100 pounds, nominally 63@65.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 41 1-2@42 1-2. No. 2 white 42@43; No. 2 yellow 47@48.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 19 1-2@20 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 25. (AP)—Notwithstanding that grain values temporarily advanced today despite a shock from efforts at Washington to stop board of trade operations, prices afterward fell.

Concentrated selling that many observers attributed to government-financed agencies proved too heavy a weight to be resisted by speculative demand which had noticeably thinned out. Shrinkage of purchase orders was attributed largely to disturbance of usual market conditions as a result of threatened shut-down of the exchange here.

After a loss of about a cent a bushel wheat closed unsettled, 1-4 to 5-8 under Saturday's finish, corn 3-8 to 3-4 down, oats unchanged to 3-8 off, and provisions varying from decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Union Miners Being Watched By Guardsmen Of Arkansas

CLARKSVILLE, Ark., July 25. (AP)—Efforts of 500 union miners to halt non-union operations in the Johnson county coal fields caused disorder today that resulted in injuries to a mine boss and mobilization of national guardsmen.

The organizers, who flocked into the Clarksville area from Oklahoma and other parts of Arkansas, camped near the mines tonight under watchful eyes of troops who were ordered by Governor Harvey Parnell to hold themselves in readiness for any eventuality.

the black night. The rain was falling as heavily as before.

She came back and sat on one of the high stools before the counter. The steaming cups of coffee were set before them and sandwiches made of thick white bread and sliced ham. The sandwiches had been made the day before and wrapped in oiled paper. In spite of this fact they were appetizing. She had not realized that she was so hungry.

"Well, Max," she said, "I guess we've had our swim. It wasn't exactly the kind I'd counted on but I don't believe I've ever been wetter!"

She tossed her head back, smiling. The dark curls fell away from her face becomingly. The white dress was dry now but it clung to the girl's figure.

The oil station attendant disappeared into the next room. Pearson put a hand out and touched Cherry's bare arm. "Do you know," he said, "that you've never looked more beautiful than you do at this minute?"

"Why, Max—!"

Pearson moved nearer. "I'm not sorry for what's happened," he went on swiftly. "I've wanted to talk to you like this for weeks! Oh, Cherry, haven't you seen—don't you understand? I've tried not to let myself care but I can't help it. It's been agony for me! Cherry, don't you understand? I—I love you!"

merchandise store to a man whose judgment was widely sought in business management. He told his political audiences that since becoming governor he had lost much of his personal fortune.

Sterling was a novice at political speechmaking when he started out two years ago to win the governorship with Mrs. Ferguson, backed by her experienced husband, his chief opponent. He campaigns with all his might, speaking two or three times daily, but he never did pretend to carry the platform punch exhibited by his Ferguson rival and some of his friendly speaking seconds like Moody.

Margin Was Same

In the first primary two years ago Mrs. Ferguson led Sterling by about the same margin as separated them this time. In the runoff Sterling triumphed with approximately 100,000 votes to spare.

"It's merely a repetition of 1930," Sterling said today, "we will win over the Fergusons just like we did then. It looks like a cinch to me."

"My wife will win this race as sure as the sun shines overhead," Ferguson commented, and Mrs. Ferguson, standing at his elbow nodded her assent.

"He is the best old prognosticator I know," Mrs. Ferguson added in an aside.

Sterling today invited Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls and M. T. Wolfe of Dallas, who ran third and fourth in the first primary, to help carry his banner in the impending campaign. Hunter previously had given out a statement declaring he would not take sides.

Close Races Are Evident In Lamb

(Special To The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, July 25.—Incomplete returns from the 15 county precincts in Lamb indicated several close races. The Littlefield box and two small ones had not been reported.

In the race for county judge Simon D. Hay with 658 votes was trailing McGavock with 669 votes. Denton had 400 and Hazel 290.

Len Irwin, former sheriff, was elected. He received 1099, while his opponents, Miller, 420; Anderson, 435 and Courtney, 36, did not have that amount.

County attorney Dryden with 790 votes was trailing Herbert Martin with 833. Walker Barton was third with 401.

Jake hopping with 587 votes was trailing Stanley Doss for county clerk with 912 votes. Mrs. Gillette was third with 494.

Gaston Patterson for tax assessor was apparently leading his opponents with indications he had a majority. No figures were announced.

C. E. Strawn, commissioner in precinct 3 was apparently leading and Ellis Faust, precinct 4, had no opposition. C. A. Daniels in precinct 2 was without opposition. Nothing was known here on the race in precinct 1.

Nicaraguan President Has Praise For U. S. Soldiers

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 25 (AP)—The Press today carried a statement attributed to President Jose Maria Moncada to the effect that the announced retirement of United States marines in 1933 was "causing great anxiety for Nicaragua."

The president's declaration was made in a speech at a banquet Saturday night which was attended by the marine commander, the United States minister, the American election mission, and Nicaraguan liberals and conservatives.
