Amarillo Plans Gas Tax Fight

AMARILLO, March 19. (AP)—Plans to fight the proposed tax on natural gas, now pending in the legislature, will be made at a meeting tomorrow afternoon of landowners, producers and others interested in the industry here.

The bill, proposing three-eights of a cent tax on every thousand feet of gas produced in Texas, is due to come before the house for vote Tuesday.

Since much of the gas produced in the Panhandle is bringing as little as one cent per thousand feet, it is the opinion of operators such a tax would be ruinous.

A substitute measure, fixing the tax at two per cent on the dollar value of gas, the same as the oil levy, will be urged by Panhandle producers. A delegation will be named to go to Austin in behalf of the substitute measure.

Life Sentence Given; Graves To Appeal

Lubbock Youth Found Guilty By 72nd Jury

Defense Attorneys Announce That Appeal Will Be Filed In Near Future; Exact Date Has Not Been Set

Appears Unmoved

But Slight Concern Noticeable In Graves' Expression As Verdict Of Court Read; No Demonstration Of Crowd

ALVIS GRAVES, 26-year-old Lubbock man, faces the prospect of living the remainder of his life within 'the walls' of the state penitentiary at Huntsville as the result of a jury in 72nd district court returning a verdict of 'guilty' early Wednesday in answer to the charge of murder made against him for the fatal shooting of Horace L. Smith at a dance in this city on January 11. The jury returned its decision after slightly less than an hour's deliberation.

The penalty of life imprisonment was assessed in the verdict. The verdict was read the court at 9:10 a. m.

Attorneys To Appeal

Graves' only hope of escape from the sentence is the appeal that is to be filed within the near future by defense attorneys, Vickers and Campbell of this city. They stated following the returning of the verdict that appeal of the case would be made.

Should the case be reversed and a new trial granted, the defendant also faces another charge of murder as the result of the death of Robert Averett from wounds received in the same shooting in which Smith was fatally shot and three charges of assault with intent to murder as the result of the wounding of three other people in the shooting. Court attaches indicated Wednesday that there would probably be no immediate action on the other murder charge until disposition of the appeal has been made.

Slightly Concerned

Graves appeared but slightly concerned as the verdict was read and his expression remained stolid throughout the reading of the de-

Matrimonial Sea Is Not So Blue

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 19.—An Austin couple set forth on a rocky matrimonial sea last night.

A few hours after they were married, rangers and constables swooped down on the wedding party, battered down the door, lined up bride, groom, guests and the hostess and confiscated some whiskey and beer.

The hostess was released under $500 bail on a charge of illegal possession and 15 of her guests, including the groom, were summoned to appear in justice court today.

Officers reported that an unknown person phoned them a liquor party was in progress at a residence on the post road. Not until the principals of the affair had been lined up over the protests of an outraged hostess did officers learn the nature of the affair.

Paul F. Kassay, A Reputed Former Hungarian Officer, Held For Federal Officers After Sabotage Threats

(By The Associated Press)

AKRON, O., March 19.—A confession he planned to see that the navy dirigible "Akron", now under construction here, "never did take the air" was made here late tonight to federal and county officials by Paul F. Kassay, 37, reputed Communist and former Austro-Hungarian naval officer, Assistant U. S. District Attorney William J. McDermott announced.

The announcement was made after McDermott and other officers questioned Kassay more than five hours after his arrest on a charge of criminal syndicalism.

Kassay, McDermott said, admitted in his confession he had told men at the Goodyear-Zepplein corp. airship dock, where the giant "Akron" is nearing completion, that he was "going to get into the control room before the ship left the ground and see that it never did take the air." He also admitted he had "left out rivets to weaken the structure," the federal officer added.

The men Kassay made these statements to turned out to be federal department of justice agents, who had worked beside him in the Zeppelin works. Kassay had been em-

Prominent Illinois Land Farmer Named By Hoover To Fill Vacancy Created By Resignation Of Legge

Accepts Position

Announcement Of Appointment Made At White House After Telegram Of Acceptance Had Been Received

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 19.— Sam H. Thompson, who owns a 500-acre farm in Illinois, today was appointed a member of the farm board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Alexander Legge.

The appointment was announced at the White House upon receipt of a telegram of acceptance. Thompson's commission was signed by President Hoover before he left on his Caribbean cruise.

Is Active Farmer

Thompson has been an active farmer for years and has been identified with organizations seeking agricultural legislation.

For the past six years, Thompson has been one of the most active proponents of national farm legislation. He supported the old McNary-Haugen equalization fee bill. In the 1928 campaign he urged the election of President Hoover.

Thompson was born in Adams county, Illinois, in 1863. There, he first became identified with agriculture and engaged in livestock raising and grain farming.

Beginning with an 80-acre farm he has added to it until it now totals 500 acres. One of his sons now is farming it, under Thompson's general supervision.

Missing Flier Is Unreported

Glenn W. Brophy, Los Angeles Pilot, Attempting Trail-Blazing Flight To Manila Is Believed Lost

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, March 20. (Friday)—Hope that Glenn W. Brophy, Los Angeles aviator, unreported since he took off from Macao, China, early yesterday on a trail-blazing flight to Manila, might be safe was quickly blasted today when it developed that a plane seen flying over Lingayen, Central Luzon island, was not definitely identified as that of the missing pilot.

Authorities here said the plane sighted over Lingayen might possibly have been an army ship searching for Brophy.

The Lingayen postmaster early today reported to the director of the bureau of posts that Brophy landed at Lingayen at 8:20 a. m. and took off for Manila five minutes later. Subsequently replying to a query from the director of the bureau, the Lingayen postmaster said no plane had landed at Lingayen, but that one pased over the city at that time.

Score Injured As Storm Hits In Two States

Clinton, Oklahoma, And Desdemona, Texas, Suffer From Twisters Which Strike Late Thursday Afternoon

Houses Unroofed

School Children Vacate Annex One Hour Before Structure Is Demolished; Heavy Rains Follow In Wake

(By The Associated Press)

CLINTON, Okla., Mar. 19.—Three persons were killed and nearly a score injured, six severely, by a tornado here late today.

Striking the west edge of town this evening, the twister carved out a path three blocks wide and 10 blocks long, demolishing a grocery and a school annex and unroofing at least a dozen homes.

Dead Are Listed

The dead:

Mrs. Louise Anderson, 81.

Charles Collins, 23, electrician, electrocuted while repairing power line.

A. W. Anderson, 54, son of Mrs. Anderson.

The more severely injured:

Miss Lillie Anderson, daughter, and A. E. Anderson, son of Mrs. Louise Anderson.

Mrs. A. F. Sams.

Mrs. J. G. Mercer.

L. E. Jenkins.

Mrs. J. T. Davis.

The Andersons operated the grocery. Mrs. Anderson and her sons were in the store at the time of the tornado and Lillie Anderson was in a nearby house.

A heavy deluge of rain preceded the tornado, which swirled into town from the southwest. It struck four blocks from the business district of this western Oklahoma city.

Annex Vacated

School children had vacated a frame annex to a brick ward school building an hour before the annex was demolished.

Mrs. Anderson died from injuries and shock. A. W. Anderson, 54, had a crushed chest and the other brother was suffering from bruises and shock. Mrs. Sams had both arms broken, Mrs. Mercer, cuts and bruises and Miss Anderson, bruises and shock.

At least a dozen other persons were reported slightly hurt.

Heavy rains were general over western and central portions of the state at the time. However, an early check failed to disclose serious damage elsewhere.

Swept Near Ground

Collins, employe of the Southwestern Light and Power company, was killed when he came in contact with a broken high voltage line.

The Mercer home was directly in the path of the twister, Oklahoma's first of the season. The second story was wrecked.

Witnesses said the wind seemed to sweep along from 10 to 20 feet off the ground. Scores of small buildings were tossed about and destroyed.

Estimates of the damage ranged from $50,000 to $75,000.

Local relief agencies offered aid to persons whose homes were damaged. Outside aid was not sought.

A. W. Anderson died at 8 p. m. Other victims, physicians said, probably would recover.

Mrs. Sams also was in the gro-

Fate Of 18 Men Is Still In Doubt Early Today

(By The Associated Press)

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 19.—Food came to the Viking survivors today, medical attention to the injured—but behind the hummocks of ice in the bleak sea of the northland there still was sealed the fate of two Americans and 16 Newfoundland seal hunters.

The struggle of the crews of three sealers to drag food and medical supplies from their ships to Horse Island, five miles over slippery, treacherous ice, was rewarded with success shortly before noon.

Extend First Aid

Doctors from the rescue ships dashed immediately to the injured extending first aid. They found 118 men who had been subsisting since Monday on tea and crackers, crowding for warmth in the five little homes that form the island's city. They were being put aboard the sealer Sagona tonight.

The 118 men had dragged themselves eight miles across the ice after an explosion tore the Viking asunder Sunday night. Six more, including Harry Sargent, explorer, were picked up by the Sagona from ice floes.

Famous Gold Rush Of '49 Is Recalled With Rich Strike In Mexico's Hills

(By The Associated Press)

SAN IGNACIO, Sinaloa, Mex., March 19.—Gullermo Laveaga graduate of Santa Clara university in California and once a Mexican senator, came out of the Sierras today with a story of a gold rush that has sent 600 prospectors into the mountains after a veritable treasure of natural wealth.

A hundred miles northeast of Mazatlan in this province, he said, 1,200 pounds of gold worth nearly $350,000 has been taken out of the earth and mountain rivers. Sometimes, he said, prospectors get as much as five pounds a day and in some places they are taking gold out of the rocks with their hunting knives.

Laveage is an engineer who has spent six months in the gold fields.

The river El Tambor, 50 to 100 feet wide with alluvial deposits six feet deep, is rich in gold, he said, and the modern forty-niners are searching for the mother lode which they believe is farther upstream than any claim now staked.

The district is not unknown to miners, for a Spanish mine three centuries old and several others moresmodern are within 150 miles. The deposits now being panned out of the stream probably were brought down by floods and exposed by erosion comparatively recently.

Laveage said 1,600 claims already have been filed. He filed his own last October.

His story of the discovery of the field is that Heraclio Bernal, a notorious bandit in the days of Diaz, used to bring raw gold into the towns he visited, but

Income Taxes Show Decrease

First Day's Collections Of 1930 Tax Dropped Far Below Those Of Year Previous; No Uneasiness Felt

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP) — Decreasing income tax revenue and mounting expenditures today threatened to push the prospective treasury deficit for the present fiscal year well past the $500,000,000 mark.

An actual deficit of $437,515,713 on last Monday was shown in the treasury statement issued today. In addition, veterans administrator Hines has called upon the treasury to provide $500,000,000 by April 11 for loans to world war veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates.

Meanwhile, reports for the first day's receipt for income taxes for 1930 showed a drop of $5,000,000 under the first day a year ago, despite a one per cent increase on normal taxes. The report for last Monday showed $13,100,362 collected compared with $18,148,963 last year.

The treasury did not consider these figures indicative of the total receipts, however, explaining a better indication would be given by reports received tomorrow and Friday. Officials had expected a reduction.

While treasury officials were looking toward the income tax returns for enlightenment on the prospective deficit at the end of the fiscal year on June 30, Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee estimated it would be at least $500,000,000.

Smoot made his statement at the White House but said he had not discussed the subject with President Hoover. He said it would be possible to get along without a tax increase by reducing the rate of retiring the public debt. He favored the latter course.

Treasury officials had estimated the deficit would be $500,000,000 on the expectation that $300,000,000 would provide for veterans loans through May. The request of the veterans' administrator for $200,000,000 more than this figure by April 11 upset this calculation. Hines also estimated $1,000,000,000 would be required to meet all loan applications.

In London in a recent week there were 1,354 births and 904 deaths.

Committee Report Passed By Senate

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)— Voting 26 to 0, the senate today adopted a house and senate free conference committee report asking $597,999 for emergency departmental appropriations.

Senator Moore of Greenville made a motion that the senate reject the report and send the bill back to the free conference committee for further consideration. His motion was defeated, 22 to 5.

Moore attacked the conference report yesterday on the grounds too much money was being asked for the sanitary livestock commission to be used in tick eradication work. Senator Poage joined him and asked that an additional sum be sliced from the treasury department's total.

The house accepted the free conference report Monday.

As finally accepted the departmental emergencies are approximately $400,000 less than asked in the senate bill and approximately $200,000 above the total requested in the house bill.

Bridge And Forty-Two Played At Parties In City

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE STORY of the Wendels probably goes deeper into pathos than most of us think who have been reading occasional stories of the hermits who adhered so closely to the advice of John Gottlieb Wendel to "buy property but never sell." The pathetic story was retold this week when the last of the Wendels, Miss Ella, died in her gloomy old red brick mansion on New York's Fifth Avenue.

Truth is stranger than fiction. Those of us to whom a few thousand dollars mean wealth gasp over the Wendel fortune, estimated at $100,000,000 while we ponder over their strange lives during which they shunned society wore clothing in the style of their youth and remained impervious to the hurly-burly of business that grew up around them. They clung to their father's maxim and refused to dispose of their property for even fabulous sums.

There were six of the Wendel sisters. Only one was married and after the death of her husband she returned to the Wendel mansion to live. The one brother, who became head of the family upon his father's death, frowned on marriage for his sisters because "no man was good enough for them." One of the daughters went to Europe in her youth and came back with a desire to live as she thought a woman of wealth should, but in a few years she was declared mentally incompetent and sent to a sanitarium where she died two years ago.

And a concluding note in this story was the first and last venture of Miss Ella's life when she went to Texas Guinan's night club a few weeks ago and remained till closing time, later sending Miss Guinan $4,500.

In that, it seems, I can read the regrets of an aged recluse for years that might have been full of all of the moving romance of her times. I think there must have been contrition, a longing for youth when she might have grasped the pleasures of living as others live and sharing in the everyday tragedies and joys that make up this glorious thing we call life.

SEQUINS ARE WORN NOW

SEQUINS, both dull and shiny, will be smart for evening wear this spring. Dull blue sequin frocks embroidered with shiny sapphire sequin flowers, silver sequin tunics worn over grey tulle skirts and shell pink net frocks decked with golden spangles are among the offerings.

CHAMPIONS THE CHINLESS

AND NOW we have someone coming forth to champion the cause of the chinless man. Strong-jawed males have always appealed in fiction, at least, and the hairy-chested hero of the stage and screen is the square-jawed he-man. But Mrs. Maude Bouldin, social secretary of a prominent Chicago hostelry, says that the most popular person in the whole world is the man who has no chin.

On the ballroom floor, at the gentler tete-a-tete, invariably all other types of men retire before the superior wit and grace of the chap whose jaw recedes, she believes. He is quicker at conversational repartee, has charm, listens well and as a type he has interested her until she has made a study of him. Now she believes there exists some strange compensating bond between popularity and a short chin.

All of which should serve as a balm for the man who must go through life short of chin in a world which acclaims the iron-jawed hero.

Traditionally we must be of types. The politician and orator must wear the bat-wing collar; the preacher must be in frock coat; the scholar in horn-rimmed glasses and slouchy dress; the reporter with an inquiring eye and an every-ready pencil; the financier must be a pompous sort of chap.

But the types are an exception rather than the rule. Some of the people who have the most typical exterior appearance for a profession are actually the least successful and the opposite is as often true. One of the most brilliant preachers I ever knew could easily have passed for a tramp or a thug; professors have looked like hayseed farmers or sleek men-about-town; lawyers, doctors, merchants run the range of types.

And the fates must laugh sometimes when Irishmen pose as Spaniards on the stage because of their appearance, for people of the show world and crooks capitalize on this eagerness of people to believe in what the eye is able to see.

DEEP FAT FRYING

THE ART of frying in deep fat is to fry in such a way that the foods have none of the ear-marks of having been near deep fat. And one of the secrets of this art is to use plenty of deep fat and to cook so quickly that the food doesn't absorb much fat.

FEMINISTS' UTOPIA

RUSSIA should appeal to a lot of feminists. There men and women work together in the fields, in carrying on the government, in the field of science and invention. Woman goes almost any place that man does and is receiving a lot of these equal rights that she has been crying for so long.

Truck Operators Hear Austin Man

Questions of self-preservation were discussed by the South Plains truck operators in a meeting held at the courthouse Thursday night. W. A. Wilson, a representative of the Texas Truck Owner's Service bureau at Austin, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Wilson told the local truck owners and operatives of the efforts being made by the powerful railroad lobbys at Austin to limit the activities of the independent truck operator. He stated that 7 of the 36 bills now pending before legislative committees regarding truck regulations had been drawn by railroad company attorneys.

During Thursday night's meeting plans were made for a state organization of truck operatives to work in conjunction with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

The greatest weakness of the truck operators is their fight among themselves rather than against the unlicensed or bootleg truck" and the railroads, Mr. Wilson said.

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—A contract has been awarded by the Texas company for construction of a pipe line from the Joiner field, Rusk county, Tex., to intersect with its truck line at Douglas, near Nacogdoches. The line will be 60 miles long.

After all, life teaches no more valuable lesson than that we profit by the experience of those who know, by actual test, what Konjola can do in the relief of ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Mrs. Allene Tipton

See what Konjola meant to Mrs. Allene Tipton, 2311 Broadway, San Antonio. She says: "For five years I had indigestion and neuritis, and was about to give up in despair. Improvement began with the first bottle of Konjola. I have taken three and am greatly improved in every respect."

Mr. T. A. Wilkinson

And see what Konjola did in the stubborn case of Mr. T. A. Wilkinson, 1109 Johnson street, Amarillo, who says: "For fifteen years I endured stomach and kidney troubles. I had to get up several times every night, and I always felt tired and worn out. My back ached and I could not eat solid foods. But since taking Konjola it is a different story. I certainly wish I had found this wonderful medicine years ago."

Mrs. Ella Mae Ivey

And how happy she found Konjola is Mrs. Ella Mae Ivey, 230 San Pedro avenue, San Antonio. She declares: "Three years ago I began suffering with my stomach. Nausea and vomiting followed meals, and I bloated frightfully. I had terrible headaches and dizzy spells. But after three weeks with Konjola I can not say too much in praise of this medicine. I am better than in years, and have gained weight."

The files of Konjola fairly overflow with such words of endorsement. Buy Konjola in any drug store and do not accept a substitute.

Wurzbach Will Not Seek Seat

Declares That He Is Not A Candidate For Judgeship To Be Released Soon On West's Retirement

SEGUIN, March 18. (AP)—Stating he was not a candidate for the federal judgeship soon to be relinquished at San Antonio by Judge Duval West who has reached the retirement age, Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach said today should he be offered a place on the bench "it would be mighty hard to turn down."

San Antonio dispatches yesterday said Texas' only republican congressman was seeking the place.

The Seguin Bar association endorsed Congressman Wurzbach for the judgeship without his knowledge.

San Antonio had pledged him support should he become an active candidate for the bench.

He said he would not make a fight for the office and expressed the opinion an office of that kind should seek the man.

"Should the judgeship be offered it would be mighty hard to turn down," he said.

The complaint was prepared by County Attorney William C. Culp and charged that Hickman "unlawfully committed an assault upon Ate Reece" by then and there striking the said Ate Reece with his fist."

County officers said the fight occurred on the courthouse lawn yesterday afternoon. Immediately afterward, Hickman went to the office of Sheriff Bert Browning and paid a fine for simple assault.

Reece retired as sheriff of Cooke county last January 1, having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Jake Wright.

The Progressive "Flop"

MUCH ado about nothing meets the specifications of the round-table conference of the Progressives at Washington if it is to be judged by the results, and by them alone can it be judged.

Unless they are holding something up their sleeve they stand for nothing the two major parties do not stand for in principle. They are avocating things so-called reactionary members of congress have been advocating for years, and which no self-styled Progressive can claim credit for should they become law in the near future.

Haven't the Progressives misrepresented things a bit? When they called the conference they left the public under the impression that they were about to undertake something drastic, something that would make this a Utopia in the twinkling of an eye. The voters, at least the imaginative ones, feel that they have been "taken in" like the movie fan who is induced by sensational posters to spend his money for a dull picture.

The conference reached a lame and impotent conclusion. Its warmed-over platform is excelled by any day's output of a conservative conference. If it was designed to germinate a third party, it failed utterly because the producers did not succeed in dramatizing their cause. In the parlance of the stage, it was a flop.

If there was anyone in this part of the world hoping for the formation of a strong third party as a result of the Progressive pow-wow, he has learned by now that his hopes have gone glimmering. About the only way a third party of strength will be formed any time soon will be when the dry or wet factions of both the Democratic and Republican parties withdraw from their present organizations and start a party of their own, dedicated to or against prohibition. Such a party, of course, would be short-lived.

The Morning Avalanche expects to see a permanent third party some day—a third party based upon something besides prohibition, pro or con. But that day is in the far future and will not come to pass until the two major parties grow closer together in principle than they are today. The Progressives are —to use a common expression—"just a little previous."

WILL EINSTEIN UNDERSTAND?

It is reported that Prof. Albert Einstein found himself more a celebrity in Los Angeles than any screen star. In newspapers—ever the barometer of public appraisal—the name "Einstein" flashed forth in bigger, bolder type than either of those charmed others, "Bow" or "Garbo."

Now Einstein and the amiable Frau Einstein have returned to their home in Berlin. On their last public appearance in California crowds battled to reach the author of the relativity theory. Men and women, brandishing pencils, beseeched him for autographs. Einstein "fans" flocked at the scientist's heels.

It must all have seemed very strange, very unusual to the professor whose home in Germany is a guarded retreat, who has summed up results of 20 years' grueling study in a paper of a few hundred words' length.

Einstein came to America to study stars and became one. He has starred in talking motion pictures, known all the glamours which surround Hollywood's most exalted. It is quite a different type of frame than that reflected when George Bernard Shaw declared him the one individual alive who is assured of a place among immortals.

Einstein's name has become synonymous with relativity—that revolutionary scientific theory which it has been said only 12 men in the world are learned enough to understand. Now that the professor has returned to Germany, after the tumult and shouting has died away, will he retire to a quiet study and there with that dynamic brain ponder a new problem in relativity? Will he seek to discover the relativity between senseless demonstrations by celebrity-crazed crowds and the essential soundness and sanity of the world's most prosperous nation? Being Einstein he should be able to make this discovery.

Practical Health Problems

TO ALLEVIATE RHEUMATISM PAINS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Heat applied to any inflamed issue serves several purposes. It brings about an increase in the circulation which results in the exchange of waste products and the bringing in of materials which combat infection.

The muscles in an inflammatory condition are painful on motion; the application of heat tends to reduce the spasm and tension and to stop the pain on motion.

Heat may be applied to people with rheumatism in many different ways. One of the simplest methods is simply to immerse the body entirely in hot water, and thereafter to put the person between blankets so that the perspiration will be induced, the temperature of the body raised, and the chemical interchanges in the body increased.

Baths may be modified by the addition of various types of oils and salts which serve to stimulate the skin and perhaps to increase the tendency to perspiration.

Hot air baths are provided by heating the air in a room to various degrees from 100 degrees Fahrenheit up to 190 degrees Fahrenheit. In a room in which the air is hot and dry, perspiration is profuse, but the temperature of the body is not raised much because the perspiration evaporates so rapidly.

In the Russian bath, steam is driven into the room, and hence there is not only copious perspiration, but also a rise of the temperature of the body. When the temperature of the steam or hot bath is over 100 degrees, a considerable tax on the system may occur, and such baths should not be taken by anyone except persons of fairly robust constitution and sound heart. Immediately after such baths, anyone who takes them should lie quietly for at least one-half hour before attempting to dress and go out-doors.

For people who are less robust, the bath at a temperature of 97 degrees Fahrenheit is more suitable.

Experts in the treatment of diseases by hydrotherapy have also developed the device called whirlpool baths in which hot water is driven rapidly around the vat by an especially arranged system of pipes and valves. The whirlpool bath is exceedingly helpful in softening tissue, relieving pain, and preparing inflamed muscles and joints for later massage.

Massage is a valuable therapeutic measure particularly when properly associated with heat and the care of the body generally. Great care must be taken with massage when tissues are painful. It should never be forcible as long as there is acute inflammation. Rough exercise or manipulation of inflamed joints may bring about serious injury.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Keep me from the snares which they have laid for me, and the gins of the workers of iniquity.

Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst that I withal escape.—Psalm cxii, 9, 19.

In Three-Way Split

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 19.—If economic and personal liberality could pull together, they would make a strong political team during the 19 or 20 months between now and next election.

That is to say—

If the economically conservative wets would turn economically progressive for the campaign and if the economically progressive drys would turn wet for the same period, thus effecting a temporary combination, their joint vote would be worth serious consideration.

OPPOSED TO SUCH an alliance the economically conservative drys would stand alone.

Not that their number is inconsiderable. Indeed, it generally is assumed now that President Hoover will run for a second term as an economically conservative dry, and even the most enthusiastic Democrats are no more than hopeful that he will be beaten. However, regardless of his expected dryness, no one questions that he will get a lot of wet votes. But he wouldn't get them, supposing the wet-progressive amalgamation above existed. How much difference it would make can only be guessed, but it certainly would be sufficient to reduce his chances.

It is true enough that an alignment of this kind appears absolutely impossible. Nevertheless, it is the most promising way for voters who object to present conditions, economic or alcoholic, to change them.

HOW LITTLE there is of the get-together spirit between the two elements was demonstrated recently by a couple of important political gatherings in Washington—the regular Democratic national committee meeting just after congress adjourned and the more recent conference of partisanly assorted progressive leaders.

Considering that both were called to discuss plans for putting a new tenant in the White House, it would seem reasonable to have expected some indications of a disposition to co-operate toward accomplishing it.

On the contrary, it is easier to think of ideas each has in common with Mr. Hoover than they appeared to have with one another.

DESPITE FORMIDABLE dissent in its own ranks, the group in Democratic control obviously is wet, and Mr. Hoover is supposed to be dry. But then, Mr. Hoover is conservative. Evidently the Democratic managers are conservative likewise.

Mr. Hoover's conservatism is anathema to the progressives. Still, he is dry. Mos. of the progressives are dry also.

Dry conservatism is in 100 per cent accord neither with wet conservatism nor dry progressive-ism but it is in 50 per cent accord with either one of them, separately. Wet conservative and dry progressive disaccord is 100 per cent.

WET PROGRESSIVE-ISM would offset dry conservatism if there were more of the former, but there isn't.

This is well exemplified in the senate.

Senators Borah, Brookhart, Cutting, Frazier, Howell, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Schall and William H. McMaster and W. B. Pine, whose senatorial terms have but just ended (Republicans), Senators Barkley, Dill, McKellar, Elmer Thomas and Tom Walsh (Democrats) and Senator Shipstead (Farmer-Laborite) all are more or less progressive and all are bone dry.

The wet progressive line-up cannot possibly be stretched to include more than Senators Blaine, Couzens, Johnson, La Follette, Dave Walsh and Wheeler—and of these Senator Couzens', Senator Johnson's and Senator Walsh's progressive-ism is erratic, Senator La Follette is not a very militant wet and Senator Wheeler only recently flopped from the dry side.

OF DRY CONSERVATIVES, on the other hand, the list will run to at least 40—old stand-bys like Senator Fess, the G. O. P.'s national chairman, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, prohibition Democracy's 1932 presidential hope.

Wet conservatives are no rarities, either. There are not as many of them as there are of the drys, but approximately there are half as many—Senator Tydings, the wet bloc's leader, and Senator Dwight W. Morrow, to mention a couple of names that everyone will recognize.

This does not account for quite the entire senate (a few of its members are rather difficult to classify, either economically or wet-and-dryly) but it is fairly representative.

THUS THE SENATE (and what is true of the senate probably is not far from true of the country) in effect splits three ways, wetly and dryly, conservatively and progressively, into

1. Conservative drys.
2. Conservative wets.
3. Dry progressives.

The progressive wets' number is negligible. In fact, Senator Blains alone really is as wet as he is progressive and as progressive as he is wet.

The conservative drys may not be in a majority over the conservative wets and the progressive drys combined, but they certainly are stronger than either of the two classifications divided. If they were to unite for a season there could be a show-down, but they are a pair of mighty unlikely-looking factions to form a partnership.

THE JET OF WATER AT GRENOBLE.—A vertical pipe 1,600 feet long, and less than an inch in diameter, leads from a water reservoir up on a mountain to factory near Grenoble, France. The force of the falling jet is used to drive a turbine. If this jet be allowed to escape by means of a lateral pipe, its velocity would be such that a strong man armed with a sword would splinter his weapon into fragments if he attempted to hack at it. The weapon is checked as effectually as if it had struck a bar of iron, although the jet is merely the thickness of a man's thumb.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

To keep life from growing too dull in Red Thrush, Iowa GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and stepdaughter of the wealthy and indulgent former PHIL VAN DOORN, organized a Junior County Club.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hoboing through the country, stopped in Red Thrush. Attracted by Ginger, he agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the clubhouse. He suggested sending to Chicago for NICOLO CALLENO, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Nicolo could not come. In his place came three of his countrymen. ANGELO could play; PIETRO could cook; BENITO could sing. Ginger took them on. Beginning to realize he was in love with Ginger, Bard suggested leaving. But Phil persuaded him to stay longer as their guest, and she wrote to SPEED RONEY, a former friend, of Ginger's, and invited him. She felt he would give Bard some competition.

Ginger met this move by inviting PATTY SEARS to take care of Speed. When Speed wired that he was bringing his sister she also persuaded EDDY JACKSON to come, and Eddy decided to ball things up by keeping Ginger and Bard separated. This he did. Speed's sister's nickname was COTTON. Eddy devilishly contrived to keep her and Bard together while he stuck to Ginger and paired Patty off with Speed. Everyone had a miserable time.

Meanwhile, Benitor had made a trip to Chicago and returned with presents for all and a plan to kidnap Ginger and hold her for ransome. He bided his time out at Mill Rush, site of the club, and waited for his opportunity.

When Speed Roney, not knowing how matters stood, told Bard that Ginger and Eddy Jackson were engaged, Bard determined to leave. And at that point of the proceedings Ginger disappeared. Shortly afterward a note was found, containing instructions and a demand for $30,000, Phil immediately wired to Chicago for the money and a pair of private detectives. When the detectives arrived they disclose the fact that Coton is not Speed's sister and denounce her as an imposter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

"Oh, Speed!" cried Phil.

"Mrs. Tolliver, let me tell you," he begged contritely. "It was all my fault. She's not my sister. She—she is my wife. We were married in New York that day when I stopped over. We have been engaged for a long time—and she knew how crazy I used to be about Ginger—she was afraid I would get it again if I came out and so we were—married

"She—only intended to come to Chicago and wait for me — but—don't you understand? We were in love—I couldn't bear to leave her—I persuaded her to come as my sister."

"But Speed, what a terrible thing to do! We—we would have wanted her as much—loved her as much—as your wife."

"But you wanted Speed to help cheer Ginger up," said Cotton. "And he had promised to do you a good turn—he showed me your letter. But it didn't seem to me that—that a married man—would be so very cheerful for a young girl. So we decided—not to tell."

"I am always acting a lie around you folks," said Speed regretfully. "And yet I like you and look up to you more than anybody I ever met in my life. I don't know why I'm always doing such childish things. But every word of this is God's truth.

"Cotton used to live in my home town—her uncle has a factory there. I've known her for years. You see, we didn't mean to do it, Mrs. Tolliver. I started in perfectly good faith. And then when we got together—we got to talking about it—and I've been terribly in love with her for years. Honestly, I don't know how it happened. Cotton didn't want to and I made her."

Phil smiled faintly, but her voice was reproachful. "I do think it was rather horrid, Speed", she said gently. "You know we are your friends and you could have been uite honest with us. We should have loved giving you your honeymoon.

"Of course," added Mr. Tolliver mildly, "knowing Speed, and the sort of scrapes he is prone to, I suppose we should have suspected that life must be less simple than appeared."

"Oh, Speed," cried Patty warmly, "my feelings aren't half as much hurt now that I know she is your wife and not just your sister."

"That was the secret we told Ginger," said Cotton. "It was terrible. I know it was. But at the moment it seemed a tremendous lark—getting married like that—and dashing off on such a strange exotic honeymoon—and none of our relatives object. They all knew it was coming. It just seemed exciting at the time—rather a joke—and Speed said you were all terribly good sports.

"But I am ashamed, Mrs. Tolliver

TO LEAVE ON RETREAT

Approximately 15 Tech students are expected to leave today for a trip to the Palo Duro canyons near Happy for a Y. M. C. A. retreat. The group will stay at the Methodist camp grounds in the Canyon and will do their own cooking. Newly elected officers of the Tech Y. M. C. A. will make the trip and plans for the spring term and for next year will be the main topic of discussion.

Practically the only expense involved will be the cost of transportation and the cost of food. Jack Boyd, Tech Y. M. C. A. secretary, will accompany the students. The return trip will be made Sunday.

The Lindsay, Cal., citrus exchange received its highest prices in 15 years this season—$4,283,187 for 895,583 boxes of fruit.

Anniversary Celebration Is Underway

M-System Stores Observing Second Birthday Of Organization; Roy Furr Is Area Manager Of System

Six years ago this month the present M System stores in Lubbock had their beginnings when M. G. McCarty opened the first store.

Two years ago this month, in fact two years ago Wednesday, Roy Furr, who has "grown up in a grocery store," came here to take over the management of the M System stores on the South Plains.

Now the stores are celebrating their anniversary.

Four stores are located in Lubbock and five in nearby towns. All of the stores south of Plainview have their headquarters in Lubbock, with Mr. Furr as the manager.

Followed His Father

"I was raised in a grocery store," said Roy Furr yesterday when asked about his experience. "It is all I know. My father has had a store for about 30 years."

C. W. Furr, of Amarillo, father of Roy, has 35 stores on the North Plains. He handles the business in that section and leaves the management of his business on the South Plains to his son.

Stores are: 1702 Broadway, H. V. Weir, manager; 1109 Avenue G, W. Biggers, manager; 1219 Broadway, C. B. Bovirie, manager; 1219 19th, H. D. Aycock, manager.

Out-of-town stores are located at: Littlefield, Slaton, Tahoka, Hale Center and Hobbs, N. M.

Lutz Manages Meats

W. E. Lutz is the manager of the meat markets for the several stores. H. V. Weir buys the produce for the stores.

At the No. 4 store, 1219 Broadway, Mrs. Lucy Chinn and her daughter Miss Agnes Chinn operate a delicatessen. They have had the place about two and a half years and have built up a large patronage.

"Prices in the grocery line are now lower than they have been for years, since back in 1914, I guess," Roy Furr said. "They are now about 15 to 20 per cent lower than they were a year or so ago. It was about two or three months after the stock market crash in the fall of 1929 that wholesale prices began to break.

"Some people seem to think that the bottom of the price market has been reached. I believe that prices are stabilizing now and I know that in some instances there has been a slight increase. The increase will be gradual and it[illegible] hardly be noticed."

Business Holds Up

In speaking of local business, Mr. Furr stated that he found his stores were doing just about as much, if not a little bit more, than they did a year ago. There seems to be a general pickup all along the line, with farmers all inclined to see better conditions in agricultural lines.

lots, the local stores have built up a good business. Local produce is handled, both chickens, eggs, turkeys and butter, as well as vegetables.

Clean stores, neatly kept shelves, sanitary appliances in meat markets and fresh stocks, enable the group to handle a large volume of business, Mr. Furr said. In spite of conditions that have prevailed for some months, the total for the South Plains stores is just about equal to the 1929 total and only slightly under the 1928 record, he reports.

Kiwanis Club Hears Garrard

St. Patrick's Day Program Is Presented Thursday By Local Kiwanians; Petitions Signed By Members

Members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club grinned, chuckled and then broke out into uproarous laughter Thursday noon when E. L. Klett, local attorney, presented a "St. Patrick's day" program in the regular weekly luncheon of the club at the Lubbock hotel. Much wit and humor featured the program.

Klett was chairman of the day and after making a few remarks regarding the program, he called on Rev. R. C. Campbell for an Irish joke then Tom Garrard, local attorney, who made a short talk on the significance of the day and legends connected with it. Following his talk, George Meiser sang "Mother Macrhee." He was accompanied by W. W. Rix at the piano. During the program the club joined in singing "My Wild Irish Rose."

R. J. Murray made an urgent appeal for support of the calf, pig and cured meat show here next week, asking merchants and organizations to join in with others in paying good prices for the club animals that are to be auctioned off during the show.

During the course of the meal, members signed petitions asking the city commission to set a special water rate for Lubbock during the summer months for irrigation work and also to adopt some form of a city plan for Lubbock.

TO BE PROSECUTED

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 19.(AP) —Judge Chester K. Hart today authorized Attorney General Richard M. Atkinson to prosecute Roger Caldwell, president of Caldwell & Company, investment banking house now in receivership on charges of receiving deposits in an insolvent bank.

The bank was not named. The Bank of Tennessee, which failed last fall, was a subsidiary of Caldwell & company.

Cleanup Award To Be Given Lubbock

Lubbock has been awarded the Texas cleanup trophy for the cleanup and paintup campaign conducted here last fall, R. W. Emerson, executive secretary of the national contest bureau at New York, notified the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Thursday morning.

The cleanup campaign was held in Lubbock last fall under the auspices of the chamber of commerce and was directed by a committee headed by W. B. Atkins. The trophy, a cup, will be engraved and sent here directly from the manufacturing jeweler within two weeks, Mr. Emerson stated.

Gov. Murray Makes Threats

Final Ultimatum Issued His Legislature Regarding The Passage Of Bills; May Not Call Special Session

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19. (AP) Gov. W. H. Murray today sent a final ultimatum to the Oklahoma legislature, advising members that if several designated revenue producing bills were not passed and placed on his desk five days before the session adjourned, he would not call a special session for tax purposes.

The delay in passage of the measures "at least creates a suspicion as to the purpose," the governor said.

While he might call a special session for other purposes, he will take his tax measures to the voters in a special election if this session does not pass them, he said.

Asserting there has been some criticism that he had no tax policy, the governor advised the legislature it was unchanged since his first message and that if the bills named were adopted, ad valorem tax would be reduced 50 per cent by July 1. If not passed, ad valorem tax would be the same or higher next year and the 13th legislature would get the blame.

Suit May Mean Great Fortune

San Angelo Man May Get Large Sum Of Money After Grandfather Helped Lay Off And Develop Houston

SAN ANGELO, March 19. (AP) — The fact that his grandfather helped lay off and develop the town of Houston may mean several hundred thousand dollars to Harvey H. Allen, Santa Fe conductor of San Angelo, and his uncles.

Suit instituted recently against the city of Houston involved properties now worth $28,000,000 Allen is to go to Houston in a few days to develop and assist collecting data in preparation for the trial. About 15 heirs are interested. The suit asks recovery of the property or an accounting.

Harvey H. Allen, John Allen and A. C. Allen bought the original townsite of Houston, laid it off, named it, and donated all the sites for courthouse, city hall, city market, schools, churches, parks and other things with the proviso that they should be used for these purposes and none other, or revert back to the estate, Allen says.

It has been found now that nearly all the original sites have been sold or used for other purposes. One of the sites now has a skyscraper belonging to Jesse Jones, he asid. The city was about to sell the market site at the time the suit was filed and this promptly changed the plan of action, he said.

Orcenith Fisher Allen, father of the local man, residing at Temple, has all of the original or certified copies in connection with the development of Houston.

The grandfather held a commission from Sam Houston, making him commissioner on part of the state, which carried with it similar duties to that of railroad commissioner today. He made reports on the progress of railway building in that day.

The original letters from Sam Houston to H. H. Allen, the developer of Houston, are in the archives of the University of Texas. The present H. H. Allen has photographic copies of all of them and these copies have been distributed to numerous relatives.

Added Punching Strength Dopes Robins To Climb High

O'Doul, Lopez And Lombardi Add Hit Power

"Don't Need To Run When They Hit Like That," Uncle Wilbert Says About Robins, "Who Look Like Winners"

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 19.—It might be a good idea to brace the National League balustrade before Uncle Wilbert Robins turns his Brooklyn Robins loose on the field next month. They are due take some punishment along with the opposing pitchers and the reputedly less livell ball, when the Flatbush crew comes to town.

A ponderous, powerful outfit are the Robins, a set of free swingers who lay on the sphere with gusto and do not take their base running too seriously.

It is the kind of a ball club that a good pitcher can make look bad for five or six innings. Then, just about the time he thinks it is in the bag, the fireworks will break loose and he will find himself bound for the showers. Such a club is likely to win a pennant or come mighty close.

"Yeah, it's a good team," agrees Uncle Robby. "My boys aren't fast, but watch them hit that ball. They didn't need to run much when they hit like that."

Hard Punching Outfield

The Robins were one of the hardest clouting teams in either league last year, and they are due to have more punch this season. The addition of Lefty O'Doul, a .383 hitter with the Phillies last year, rounds out an outfield that had a combined mark of .370 in 1930.

The acquisition of Fresco Thompson from the Phils to play second base cleared up any infield problem there might have been. Del Bissonette at first, Glen Wright at short and Walter Gilbert on third, round out an inner works that can both field and hit.

In Alfonso Lopez, 22-year-old sensation, the Robins have one of the finest fielding and hitting backstops in the National League, but they were not content with that. They gave $20,000 and two players to obtain Ernest Lombardi from Oakland. In addition to having averaged .370 with his bat the last three seasons, Lombardi is one of the largest catchers in capitivity.

Brooklyn's pitching staff shapes up exceptionally strong. Dazzy Vance, Hollis Thurston, Ray Phelps, Ray Moss, Adolfo Luque, John Quinn and Watson Clark comprise a set of veterans that moet any manager would welcome.

Phil Gallivan, a young right-hander who won 20 and lost 8 for Macon in 1930, is considered the prize rookie in camp.

Borotra Meets Winner In Today's Bell-Shields Tilt

French Net Ace Wins Singles, Doubles In Semi-Finals

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—Jean Borotra, outstanding French favorite in the men's national indoor championship tournament, gained the final round in both singles and doubles today, while Frank Shields and Berkeley Bell, American stars, entered the semi-final singles bracket and will meet tomorrow to decide who will play Borotra.

Borotra defeated Perrine G. Rockafellow, New York, in the singles semi-final, 6-4, 6-5, 6-4, and then paired with his native teammate Christian Boussus, to capture their semi-final doubles match with the team of Bell and Merritt Cutler of New York. The French pair gained their victory at 6-3, 8-6, 10-8.

Shields, the pick of the seeded Americans, turned in a surprisingly easy victory over Pierre Landry, third French entry to enter the semi-final round in the lower half. Shields took 25 minutes to dispose of the foreign player, 6-2, 6-2.

Bell Beats Aydelotte

Bell, favored second to Shields since the elimination of Clifford Sutter, gained the right to meet Shields in the semi-final round by defeating William Aydelotte, former national indoor champion who is seeded sixth, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

Borotra was given the toughest opposition he has had to face so far when he conquered Rockafellow, who had eliminated Sutter Wednesday.

While Shields had no difficulty in winning from Landry, Bell had a closer match with Aydelotte. Aydelotte pressed him in answering Bell's powerful strokes, but Bell had the upper hand throughout.

Bell And Shields Today

Bell's match with Shields leads the program for the semi-final day tomorrow, with Borotra and Boussus meeting Sutter and Landry for the doubles championship.

The latter team earned the right to meet Borotra and Boussus by defeating Aydelotte and Rockafellow, 1928 champions, in a hard, five-set match which lasted into the evening. The scores were 3-6, 7-5, 9-7, 5-7, 6-3.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 19. (AP)—Fishing will be taboo in the St. Louis Cardinals camp if there are any more accidents like the one yesterday, when a fish hook caught Allyn Stout, recruit pitcher from Houston, a half inch from the eye.

Stout was able to be around today, but was not in uniform and wore a bandage over his eye. The Cardinals had a two hour workout and were given a half holiday.

Helen Hicks Wins Augusta Golf Set

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 19. (AP)—Helen Hicks, long-driving Hewlett, L. I., star, today was credited with winning the Augusta women's invitation golf tournament with a card of 326 for 72 holes, though she was tied in net scores by Honor Bright of Niagara, Ont., Canada.

Miss Hicks played from scratch, leaving her net and gross the same, while Miss Bright's handicap of 8 reduced her seven-hole count from 358.

Club officials settled their difficulty by listing the Hewlett star as champion and giving her the trophy for low gross score.

Miss Hicks shot an 81 in the final round today. Miss Bright had 90, which her handicap reduced to 82.

The NUT CRACKER

BY JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Big League Pitcher

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 19.—While touring the training camps seeking morsels of news, I have asked a few of the managers here and there if they needed pitchers, thinking perhaps I might try a comeback.

When I arrived here, I told Burt Shotton, manager of the Phils, that I was a pitcher and he offered me a chance with the Phils. But come to think of it, I guess I don't want to pitch for the Phils, after all. I would rather play the outfield, because any old kind of a bunt in the Baker Bowl at Philly is liable to clear the wall by a good 10 feet.

While on the subject of feet, the Phillies' new outfielder, Buzz Arlett, ought to cover the outfield in Philadelphia entirely and with room to spare. He asked Burt Shotton for a pair of shoes when he arrived here, and after Burt took one look at his dogs, he wired to Philadelphia for a pair of skis.

They are going to take Buzz over to Sarasota some day this week to weigh him at the Ringling circus winter quarters, where they have the kind of equipment necessary.

Personally, I don't think he weighs much more than Wilbert Robinson or John McGraw, but it will be interesting to find out just what he totals in gross tonnage.

But then, feet and fat don't mean much in the Philly outfield, because in that park the only guy who has to take a short walk now and then for a fly ball is the center fielder.

Eight Leaders Break Par For Close Scoring

Craig Wook, Joe Turnesa Tied With 69's, One Above Gene's, With One 70 And Four 71's In First Day Play

By REX SAFFER

LA GORCE GOLF COURSE, MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 19. (AP)—Gene Sarazen, opened a new bag of tricks today to count an early advantage in opening 18-hole play of the $15,000 La Gorce open golf tournament and snatched the lead at the quarter mark of the 72-hole classic with a 32-36—68.

Gene's reversal of tournament procedure, as he contented himself with a par score on the back nine of this trap-filed seaside course, put him one stroke ahead of Craig Wood, Deal, N. J., whose 35-34—69 had seemed good until the dapper little Italian swept first day honors late in the day. Joe Turvesa, Elmsford, N. Y., played on Gene's heels to tie at second place with Wood with a 33-36—69.

Gene's 68, carded under a blaring sun, won the first day prize in one of the nation's richest golf purses, a $100 prize for low 18 holes.

Hagen And Kirkwood Fourth

Walter Kozack, North Hills, L. I., stood in third place with his 34-36—70 while four of the clansmen, led by Walter Hagen, stood in fourth place with 71s. The other were Harry Cooper, Chicago, Bob Shave, Cleveland, and Joe Kirkwood, New York.

Behind this quartet was another four at 72. They were George Christ, Rochester, N. Y., Ralph Guldahl, Dallas, Texas; Wiffy Cox, co-winner of the 1931 international four ball match at Miami and Ben Wepuhxan, Ashland, Ky.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, defending champion, and Johnny Farrell, who earned the title in 1928 were with a host of finishers at the 74 point, while Horton Smith, winner in 1929, had a 75.

Steers Meet Spudders In Dallas Saturday, Sunday

CORSICANA, March 19. (AP)—One long workout, featuring infield, outfield and hitting practice, was given the Dallas Steers today, the customary intra-club game was not played.

One club will go to Greenville tomorrow to meet an independent team there, while the other group will remain here until Saturday when the entire roster will be reunited in Dallas for several exhibition games with Wichita Falls, Southern Methodist University and Dallas independent clubs.

Canzoneri Agrees To Fight Berg In Lightweight Bout

CHICAGO, March 19. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, agreed today to meet Jack (Kid) Berg, British challenger, in a 10-round bout with the title involved at the Chicago stadium next month.

The date was not set but it probably will be April 24.

The weight will be 135 pounds at 3 p. m., the lightweight limit.

Berg, the White Chapel whirlwind, now holds the world's junior welterweight championship, but is capable of making the lightweight limit and still retain his full fighting strength.

The match will be Canzoneri's first defense of his championship since he won it November 14, in a sensational one-round knockout victory over Al Singer, who had won the title from Sammy Mandell.

CUB ROOKIE TO ANGELS

LOS ANGELES, March 19. (AP)—Vincent Barton, Chicago Cub rookie outfielder, obtained from the Baltimore Orioles last year, was turned over to the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League today, as part payment for Ed Baecht, right-handed pitcher. Four other players will be turned over to Los Angeles before the Chicago outfit leaves for the east.

For Ginger's Sake

nd I do hope you will forgive me nd not hold it against Speed."

"Take the names and heck up on e marriage," Marker said to Holt. It won't take long to find out bout that, though from what they y of the young man it sounds retty likely.

He turned then to Bard. "We vired to the references you gave Mrs. Tolliver and to the police to heck up on the references. Answers all O. K.—Bard Holloway, eh? —Well, do you mind telling me why, f you're as good an artist as everybody seems to think, you're hanging around a dump like this all ummer?"

"I'm perfectly willing to tell you r anybody," said Bard, but he glanced with some apprehensiveness toward Ginger's father. "I'm in love with Ginger. I want to do a lot of portraits so I can get enough money to marry her—and settle down. My impression was—that she probably wouldn't object too strenuously."

Marker folded up the telegrams d put them in his pocket. Then squared his shoulders and cleared his throat.

"All right," he said grimly to the cowering Italians. "You 're next."

Benito's firm hand propelled the weeping Angelo slowly forward and into the center of the circle. In a passionate mixture of ardent Italian and labored English, punctuated with voluble sniffes and sobs, little Angelo made it clear that he wished only to be rid of this place and away from these people for the rest of his life.

He wished he had never heard of Nicolo Calleno who had invigled him into this predicament, and he wanted of all things to retire safely to the security of his mother's ample arms. All his life he had been taught to love God and fear the Maifia. He had said his prayers faithfully, he had gone to church and paid money to the priest, and now the Mafia had got him.

When the fever of his passion had spent itself, he was constrained to tell a consistent story. He knew Nicolo Calleno, to whom Bard had written and sent money for a ticket from Chicago to Mill Rush. They were eating together—in a place—

"In a speakeasy," prompted Marker.

Angelo didn't remember. They had been eating together and Nicolo rather boastfully had shown him the letter and the money from his rich friend, a famous artist. Nicolo, however, could not go, he had a job, a very important job—

"Bootlegging," suggested Marker.

Angelo didn't remember. But a sudden wanderlust seized him, a desire to travel on trains and see the world, and he offered himself a willing substitute to take Nicolo's place.

Nicolo, for his part, was glad to get rid of the responsibility of writing a letter and returning the money, so he freely handed both over to his friend, and they parted amicably.

Little Angelo flew home with the great news that he was about to become a traveler, and Benito, who had a room in his mother's house, announced immediately that he would go with little Angelo to the middlewest.

Angelo protested in vain that only one was wanted, and that there was only money for one fare. But Benito always got his own way. He said he had money, he would pay his own fare. He said that if they were starting a night club ,they would require much help, and in the meantime he would find him a little farm in the country where he could settle down and become a farmer and bring over Marfa and the children from the old country.

They were on their way to the train when they met Pietro. Pietro was little Angelo's uncle. They told Pietro that they were traveling on the train to take charge of a night club for some farmers in the middle west, and Pietro said he would go to the railroad with them. On the way he explained that he was in a terrible jam with the police—

Benito's large hand forcibly withdrew Angelo from the center of the group and Pietro took his place. With forced ingratiating smiles wrinkling his stern face, he explained that he was not really in a jam with the police, that on the whole it was a mere trifle—a slight misunderstanding of the way the laws operate in this strange country.

Pietro had been about with his friends here and there, and they had always an abundance of—er—Italian grape juice, and so Pietro decided to make his own grape juice as he had done, in his home in Italy. But alas! Policemen with clubs had broken into his house and carried away all ihs bottles and put Pietro in jail.

He was released by a kind man who put him on what he called "parole," and Pietro rented him another house and got himself some more grapes and barrels and thought everything was settled. But the policemen came again. Fortunately, Pietro saw them first and had time to climb through the window and run away, so he did not go back to the jail.

Pietro did not understand this country. Every place he went in Chicago, he said, they had the wine, and sometimes the policemen drank it with you and slapped you on the back and the next time the policemen took it all away and slapped you into jail. He, Pietro, was a good man, who kept the laws and had taken out his first papers and hoped to become rich and go into politics, but just for putting a few grapes in a barrel he was sent to jail.

So he decided to leave Chicago, which seemed to him so unfairly inconsistent, and had joined little Angelo and Benito in their train travels.

Marker consulted his memorandum book and made a slight notation or two. Then he turned to Benito

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—Cotton was decidedly quiet during the greater part of today's session here and prices fluctuated within a narrow range with a slight upward trend in sympathy with the firmness in stocks and more or less support from trade buying. Traders appeared to be waiting on the final ginnings report for the season due at the opening tomorrow which according to the predictions of a private authority is expected to show a considerably smaller total than the government's December estimate.

The market after rulling quiet but steady most of the afternoon, prices keeping within the earlier range, rallied slightly at the end on covering in advance of the ginnings report. The general market closed stady and net unchanged to 2 points down for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)Cotton was inactive today and price movements were confined within narrow limits.

Early in the session the market declined 1-4 points owing to moderate selling on a show of heaviness in Liverpool and on a further decline in silver, but contracts were scarce throughout the day and prices rallied, partly in sympathy with the strength in the stock market. The May position declined 3 points early to 10.96 and later advanced to 11.02, closing at 11.01, a net gain of 3 points while the general market closed steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 1 point.

Prices Higher Thursday On Market And Liberal Add Given In Trading

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP) — The stock market added liberally to the Wednesday rally in today's more active trading.

Industrials and specialties featured the 3,500,000 share turnover, a volume that was a million and a half shares above yesterday's aggregate.

Prices were higher all day for the list as a whole. Some profit-taking was attracted in the last hour when a few rails began to show heaviness, but the bulls held the whip hand through their temporary control of the destinies of U. S. Steel and General Motors, and the market was rallying again at the close. Net gains ranged from 1 to 5 points for the industrials. Utilities and rails showed scattering losses. Oils and coppers were uninteresting.

A check at Enid, northeast of Clinton, failed to disclose additional damage and it was believed the storm had lifted after striking here.

Enid had .2 inch of rain early tonight; Blackwell three-quarters of an inch; Oklahoma City .2 and Shawnee reported a downpour.

Temperatures generally were moderate.

Oil Derricks Are Blown Down

DESDEMONA, Mar. 19. (AP) — About 20 oil derricks were blown down, a number of business houses damaged and more than 30 residences either unroofed or damaged by a tornado that struck here about 5:20 o'clock this afternoon. The wind, coming from the northwest, was followed by a heavy rain.

Probably the heaviest damage was done to the Stanolind No. 6 gasoline plant which will be forced to close several days for repairs and to the new $75,000 school building. The extent of the damage has not been thoroughly checked and no estimate of the loss can be made as yet.

No one was injured by the storm. Two or three business houses had their entire front ends blown in and several residences were twisted from their foundations.

One of the freaks of the storm was the fact that a bottle was blown through a glass door in the second story of one building.

Strong Winds In Lubbock Thursday

A north wind, hard driven and cold, Thursday night heralded the approach of spring to West Texas. After an all day typical "West Texas rainstorm," which the old-timer expects and at which the stranger marvels, the wind had not abated at midnight. Sharp decline in temperature brought the mercury skidding.

Skies remained clear.

A bulletin issued by the United States Weather Bureau at New Orleans ordered storm warnings to be given along the Texas coast, saying that the disturbances over western Texas expected to move eastward attended by strong south winds.

The wind storm here Thursday was the first of the several that usually accompany early spring. Persons in office buildings and hotels declared they could not identify the surrounding country beyond Lubbock for the swirling clouds of dust and sand. A few drops of rain fell around 3 p. m. Thursday.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP)—Lighter weights of hogs 240 lbs. and down, under the influence of a fairly broad shipping demand, found a moderately active outlet at steady to 25c higher rates but strong weight butchers at some centers ruled steady to slightly lower. The day's extreme top of 8.40 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings were around 21,000 as compared with 79,561 a week ago.

Fat lambs were around 25 to 35c lower than Wednesday's early trade but steady with the close. Outsiders in Chicago bought a few loads of fed lambs at 9.25@9.30 while the bulk of good to choice lambs 94 lbs. and down, on packer accounts brought 8.75@9.10. The supply approximating 46,500 was 11,000 short of last Thursday.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 26,400 against 21,893 a week ago.

cision by the court. No demonstration was made by the crowd which nearly half filled the courtroom, many of them being there since 7 a. m. Sentence on Graves is likely to be read Saturday by Judge Homer L. Pharr, presiding judge in the trial.

Graves was remanded to jail without bond, no bond being allowed under the law in sentence of over fifteen years where he has been confined since his arrest in Post in the morning of the shooting.

Death Favored

Five of the jurors voted in favor of the death penalty on the first ballot, it was stated unofficially in courthouse circles yesterday. The state had demanded the extreme penalty.

A. G. Hunt, Lubbock merchant, was foreman of the jury composed of married men with families. They were: Elmer Cowan, Lorenzo; O. B. Reasoner, Slaton; S. E. Blair, Idalou; J. H. Spence, Lubbock; R. W. Shelby, Lubbock; D. S. Rucker, Lorenzo; C. L. Goodnight, Lubbock; R. O. Short, Lubbock; G. K. Horton, Hurlwood, and A. R. Pendley, Lubbock. All of the jurors with the exception of Mr. Hunt are farmers.

The case is the fourth long-term sentence handed down in Lubbock county, it was recalled in courthouse circles Wednesday. Three sentences of 99 years have been given, this being the only 'life' penalty assessed.

Occured January 11

The shooting, from which the trial was an outgrowth, took place at the home of E. D. Chadwick, 2107 8th street, just after midnight January 11, testimony revealed. It was said to have been the result of an argument between Graves and the slain man in which Averett was also shot as he 'rushed' to Smith's side.

Two other adults, O. L. Bates, 802 Avenue X and Mrs. C. H. Hamilton, 1922 20th street, and the eight-year-old daughter of Smith were wounded by stray bullets. Graves was said to have fired at the two men as they stood directly in front of a crowd of about 20 people, guests leaving the dance.

Started Monday

The trial opened Monday, after being continued from March 9 due to the illness of District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, who was unable to continue in the case. L. A. Howard, former county attorney, was appointed by the court to assist Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks in the prosecution. Selection of the jury occupied Monday's sessions while testimony was presented Tuesday and Wednesday morning, arguments being heard in a night session Wednesday.

Much interest was manifested in the trial, the courtroom being crowded at all sessions. Nearly half of the spectators were women.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN
FORT WORTH, March 19. (AP)—Cash grains were quiet with little change here today.

Quotations basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Wheat, No. 1 hard of any protein 79@80 1-4c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 71 1-2@72c; No. 2 white 74 1-2@75c; No. 2 yellow 73 1-2@74c.

Oats, No. 2 red 42 3-4@43c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 44 1-2@42 1-2c.

Barley, No. 2 56@57c.

Sorghum, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.24@1.26; No. 3 kaffir 1.21@1.22.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, March 19. (AP)—Rains southwest and snowfalls west and northwest, with predictions of beneficial moisture extending throughout winter and spring wheat area weakened grain prices today. Enlarged wheat shipments by Russia and Argentina were also a bearish factor. Millers' stocks of wheat in Europe, however, were believed low, with supplies at six continental ports showing 1,800,000 bushels decrease in the last four weeks.

Wheat closed easy, unchanged to 1-2 cent lower, corn 1-8 to 1-2 down, oats unchanged to a shade decline and provisions 7 to 15 cents off.

office were returned to the county committees for correction. The number has now been cut to 20 per cent, Mr. Fisher said.

The Texas state office at Fort Worth through Wednesday had received 3,577 applications and approved 2,743 for loans totaling $409,-669.28, according to Mr. Fisher.

Payments Divided

Payments had been made on 2,-273 applications for a total of $299,804.90, he said. Dividing of payments accounted for the difference between amount of loans granted and those paid, Mr. Fisher explained.

Those who were at the conference from Lubbock and Lubbock county were:

C. E. Maedgen, chairman of both the county and chamber of commerce committees on federal drouth relief loans; W. O. Stevens and F. R. Friend, members of the chamber committee; J. H. Brewer, head of the Slaton office; J. S. Edwards of Slaton and Earl Davis of near Acuff, members of the county committee, and J. B. Shannon, head of the county office here.

to confer with representatives of other oil states on remedial measures.

The Texas committee would be composed of four senators, five members of the house, the governor, attorney general and the chairman of the railroad commission.

To Aid School

The house passed a bill by Senator Greer of Kemp to appropriate $14,000 to aid in rebuilding the Frost independent school district school house, destroyed last year in a tornado.

The bill aroused a protest from Representative Sanders of Nacogdoches, chairman of the house appropriations committee, who said the state was adopting the wrong policy by granting aid to schools blown down or destroyed by fire.

An amendment to appropriate $4,-000 for relief of the Desoto school district in Dallas county was defeated. The school also was damaged by a tornado last year.

The house passed a bill by Senator Moore of Greenville making it a felony to make a false return of the number of scholastics. There was no penalty in the present law.

The Beothic was the third ship to reach the island today. It was standing by ready to take aboard any survivors who could not be put onto the Sagona.

Gamblers Rushing Now Into Nevada

RENO, Nev., March 18. (AP)—With the seal of the state approval placed upon virtually all forms of gambling by the Nevada legislature today the old time members of that pursuit are preparing to open gambling houses in virtually every city and town in the state and Reno, and Las Vegas, especially, are making elaborate preparations.

As gambling at card games has been lawful in Nevada ever since the state was organized except during the period extending from 1910 until 1915, there are plenty of old time dealers still remaining here to operate the mechanical games such as faro, roulette, craps and keno that are made permissible by the law just approved. Notwithstanding this, many of the old time dealers from California, Montana, Arizona, and elsewhere are expected to head toward this state now that it has revived its old gambling statute.

Official Sees Decline Halt

Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary Commerce, States Business Men Are Free From Panicky Psychology

DETROIT, March 19. (AP)—Business men were described today by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, as free from "economic shell shock" and "panicky psychology," while business climbs upward.

Depression has reached or passed its bottom, Dr. Klein told the Detroit Board of Commerce, although "we may bump along" for a while in returning to higher trade levels.

Have Had Enough

"We have had enough of arm waving hysteria whether in a delirium of joy or despair," he added. "X X X business has, mentally speaking, stepped off the swooping roller coaster and is basing its plans on the solid realities. X X X

"The available statistical record for February shows that business in that month underwent a normal seasonal improvement from the low levels of January. This is pretty good evidence that the long decline has at last been halted, and that an appreciable degree of recovery is in sight.

No Sharp Advance

"The probability that the worst of the depression is behind us is not to be understood as foreshadowing a sharp and sustained advance from present levels back to normal. A brisk, spectacular ascending spurt might not be an unmixed good even in the rather unlikely event that it should come.

"We are in the convalescent stage after a prolonged economic illness. We should be well satisfied, I think, if our improvement is gradual at first lest we suffer another relapse. X X X"

Klein cited increasing output of automobiles, enlarging orders for cotton goods, and increased industrial employment during February as signs of betterment, while he added that "promising political developments in Europe and the far east have also a significant bearing on the situation."

SNOW PREVAILING

CHICAGO, March 19. (AP) — A soggy snowstorm plastered windshields and bedded down the lower lake region with slush today.

Man States Sale Was Authorized

AUSTIN, March 19. (AP)—Although Delbert Kyle of Paris, former county school superintendent of Lamar county told members of the house committee on education yesterday he had accepted commissions while in office for the sale of a school supply order, he said the county board of trustees authorized the transaction. Kyle stated the trustees authorized him to accept the commissinos with the undrestanding that they were to go to the schools. He was denied the right of entering his statements as testimony when attorneys objected to hearsay evidence.

The occasion was another hearing by the house committee on conditions surrounding the placing of charts on the required list for state aid schools and the alleged exorbitance of the price of each set.

Kyle stated the C. R. Jackson company, distributors of the charts, proffered him a commission of $10 per order to non-state aid schools, and the offer was accepted.

ECONOMY IS ESSENTIAL

Economy in the use of Natural Gas is essential as a means of keeping gas bills down.

Economy does not mean stinting. It means using only what is needed to perform useful heating and cooking operations and to check all waste.

The more miles an auto may run on a gallon of gasoline, the greater the fuel efficiency. When the auto engine is allowed to run without moving the machine there is no fuel economy nor efficiency.

When Natural Gas is allowed to burn without performing some useful heating operation, or when it is allowed to leak at fittings and valves, there is absolute waste.

Send for a Service Man to adjust your gas appliances and test your lines.
