NEW DRILLING ACTIVITY SEEN FOR NEW YEAR

Odessa Operators Reported Moving In to Begin Lively Campaign In Sharon Oil Pool

Resumption of drilling operations in the Sharon Ridge oil field this week put operators and royalty holders alike "on their toes" over the New Year drilling program gaining headway.

It is estimated that 20 rigs will be engaged in drilling operations over the field during January. The Staley Oil Company of Wichita Falls is the latest firm to enter the field, with a development program scheduled to cover their recently acquired leases.

A note of excitement in oil fraternity circles prevailed today (Thursday) with the announcement that several Odessa operators are moving in to begin operations immediately.

Blue Streak Oil Company's No. 2 First National Bank of Snyder well, 990 feet from the north line and 165 feet from the east line of the northwest one-fourth, Section 129-97-H&TC, is cleaning out following a 360-quart nitro shot to make a good well.

Contractor states the well will be placed on pump within the next few days to establish potential on Railroad Commission test. Blue Streak's No. 1 well, now one year old, pumped over 90 barrels in 24 hours on recent test.

D. & R. Oil Company's No. 8 W. F. Burney test, 1650 from north line and 330 from west, Section 1-3-97-H&TC, resumed drilling Tuesday, and is setting casing at 1,700 feet.

On the pool's southeast front, Art Waggoner of Amarillo has marked up a strong producer, his well pumping 18 barrels per hour on a Railroad Commission potential test during the first 12 hours to insure Waggoner of a top allowable.

BRS Oil Company's No. 1-A Chapman, Section 100-97-H&TC Survey, has been completed for 150 barrels on Railroad Commission test.

Magnolia Petroleum Company has completed cleaning out operations in its No. 3 Rufe Sterling test, and is drilling on No. 4 test, location in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter, northwest one-fourth of Section 130. Big pipe was set and cemented Tuesday

Attorney Patterson Goes to Austin Place With Insurance Firm

Robert Patterson, local attorney, who has been located here the past year and a half, leaves Saturday for Austin, where he will assume charge of the Transportation Insurance Agency office in the capital city.

In operating the Austin office of the TIA, young Patterson will handle legal affairs of the insurance firm, and will appear before the Texas Railroad Commission in the interest of truck permits for truckers of the state.

Officials of the Dallas headquarters of the Transportation Insurance Agency state "We have had Patterson in mind for several weeks as the logical person to operate the Austin office."

Patterson was in Austin last Sunday in the interest of his new job, and was dinner guest of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and his family.

The local attorney has maintained offices upstairs in the Snyder National Bank since moving to Snyder, and gained quite a reputation for a "new timer" when he made a good showing last July in the county attorney's race.

Probability that Patterson will return to Snyder in the spring was voiced by the TIA Wednesday.

Tax Collections For County Fine For Close of Year

"Current tax collections the past three months of 1940 has resulted in the final quarter of the year just ended presenting an exceptionally bright picture in county governmental affairs," Herman Darby, county tax assessor-collector, stated Wednesday.

"The discount on current tax payments, offered by the state, greatly stimulated the payment of property taxes during the waning days of December," Darby continued, "with payments holding up fine through the first day of the New Year.

"Payment of current taxes can be continued through January without the addition of penalty and interest, which will result, we believe, in hundreds of dollars coming in this month," Darby pointed out.

Assessor-collector officials emphasize the fact that every effort will be made this year to collect delinquent taxes as rapidly as possible.

Due to adverse crop conditions and other factors the past few years, Scurry County has a considerable amount of delinquent taxes on record. Those who can possibly take care of back taxes are urged to do so within the next few days.

Hermleigh Future Farmers to Sponsor Program Thursday

C. B. Bentley, Hermleigh School vocational agriculture instructor, announced this week that the Hermleigh Future Farmers of America chapter will sponsor a special program Thursday evening, January 9, at the Hermleigh School auditorium.

Members of the Hermleigh FFA chapter are arranging prizes for contestants in the various events, and will be in charge of an amateur hour program, which will also carry a nice line of prizes.

Admission price to the Thursday program of gaiety will be 25 cents per couple. Proceeds will be used to give the Hermleigh FFA chapter operating capital.

An orchestra was organized Monday evening at the high school by Hermleigh FFA members. Orchestra members plan to furnish music for the special program, to which the public is cordially invited.

FLU EPIDEMIC SO FAR MILD IN SNYDER AREA

City Health Officer Issues Pointers In Curbing Spread of Malady During Crucial Season

Two cases of scarlet fever and one case of diptheria were reported in Snyder this week by local health officials, who state proper measures will be utilized to keep the communicable diseases from spreading.

Influenza hit Snyder and Scurry County in a big way this week, causing a number of local professional people to be confined to their homes with the ailment.

In confection with the epidemic of influenza now prevalent in Snyder, Dr. R. L. Howell, city health officer, issues the following statement:

"The influenza season is upon us, as most every one knows. As city health officer, it is my duty to give warning to everyone within the limits of the town as to just what to do in order to keep from catching or spreading the dreadful disease. Don't attend gatherings of any kind within very poorly ventilated rooms.

"If you have a cold where coughing or sneezing is a prominent symptom, be sure not to cought or sneeze in the face of any one. One of the most valuable things to follow when taking influenza is, when ever it starts and the aching-feverish stage is felt, go to bed and stay in bed longer than it might seem necessary. Lots of valuable lives have been lost by people trying to stay up until they wear it out. That weakens thier resistive power. Also, when one feels like it is over and are anxious to get back to business they got out much too early oftentimes.

"It is important, also, that the doctors cooperate in dealing with quarantinable diseases. Just a bit of negligence or failure in any way in reporting any condition that should be looked into for the safety of the health conditions of the town might cause an epidemic that might be a serious matter.

"The law concerning doctors reporting even suspicious conditions is very strict. I trust that all of the local doctors will cooperate so fully with me that we can keep down all preventable sickness to a minimum."

Ira Church to Host Sunday Gathering Of West Zone BTU

Good attendance from Baptist churches in the county's west BTU zone is expected to feature the New Year's first west zone BTU gathering, to be held Sunday afternoon at the Ira Baptist Church.

Mrs. Eugene Kruse of Ira, west zone director, reports that Sunday afternoon's meeting will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Following a talk by Edgar Eades on "What We Would Like to Accomplish in Each Church," Effie McLeod will outline "Objectives of the Year."

"How the Baptist Training Union is a Fruit-Bearing Organization in the Church" will be presented by a Bison BTU group. Special music for the program will be furnished by members of the Ira Baptist Training Union.

Evangelistic message of the afternoon will be given by Rev. W. B. Tatum, Union pastor.

Work on Gail Road Making Good Time

Cocke & Braden representatives reported Wednesday afternoon that dirt work on Highway 15, coming eastward from a point one mile east of Gail toward the Scurry County line, is getting underway at a fine pace.

The Amarillo contracting firm on the 14.8-mile strip of Highway 15 reports the arrival this week of additional steel and form material for culvert construction work.

L. P. Gilvin, general construction foreman, estimates that bridge work will take some three or four months for completion, with concrete being poured as fast as bridge forms can be put in place.

Motorists of this area going across from Snyder to Gail are being detoured north at the county line, and follow the old Highway 15 roadbed into Gail.

Homer Robison Runs Feed Store and Lots

Homer Robison announces this week the opening of Robison's Feed Store and Cow Barn in the building, two blocks north of the square on Avenue R, formerly occupied by McClinton & Noble.

Robison, owner of the building he is now occupying, states he will buy, trade or sell cattle, and has a complete line of stock and poultry feeds. He invites his friends to visit him in his new quarters.

Sane Holidays

Not a single arrest or fatal accident from last Monday through Christmas Day was the record marked up at the sheriff's office last Thursday—a record few cities in Texas the size of Snyder can equal.

The remarkable record, John Lynch, sheriff, points out, was made possible by the united cooperation of motorists and the public in so safely observing the year's gladdest holiday occasion.

Lynch is joined by officials of his department and city officers in asking that the public continue to make Snyder a safe city for motorists and pedestrians alike. "Of course," he says, "we cannot have holidays the year around, but we can practice safety on the street, in our homes and in public every month of the year."

NEW LEAVING DATE SET FOR GUARD GROUP

Captain Cook Advised Wednesday To Be Ready to Leave for Camp Bowie Saturday

A telegram received Wednesday afternoon from General Birkhead, commander of the 36th Division, ordered Company G boys to stand by for removal to Camp Bowie, Brownwood, early Saturday morning.

Captain Tim O. Cook states Company G's 106 men will be transported to Camp Bowie by army truck. The local guard unit will probably bid Snyder adieu Saturday morning about 6:00 o'clock, General Birkhead's telegram stated.

Delays in getting Snyder's National Guard unit to Camp Bowie have been caused by inability to get everything in readiness at Brownwood. Only three weeks ago, for example, camp contractors were ordered by the War Department to lay gas lines to every tent in the army camp—a gigantic job considering the fact over 3,000 tents have already been put up.

It was thought at first wood would be used as fuel in Camp Bowie's "tent city," but scarcity of available wood supplies has resulted in the need of furnishing the camp with natural gas before guard units of the 142nd Infantry move in.

Between 25 and 30 Snyder and Scurry County men have been employed on the Camp Bowie construction project for the past several months, word from camp contractors reveal.

First Lieutenant Roy O. Irvin of Company G left Saturday for Fort Benning, Georgia, where he will take a three-month officers' training course.

Yearbooks Printed For Demonstration Clubs in Times Plant

Total of 800 yearbooks—400 for county home demonstration members and 400 for 4-H Club girls of the county—are being mailed this week to all communities of the county by Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent.

The yearbooks, printed last week by The Times, contained information vital to home demonstration club members and 4-H Club girls of the county for carrying on their work during 1941.

In addition to the monthly schedules for the New Year, the yearbooks carry a space for club records and notes.

County 4-H Club girls, Miss Rabel reports, will carry poultry and clothing demonstrations this year. County home demonstration club members will carry clothing and home food supply (cake demonstration) projects this year.

A. L. Jordan Takes TES District Place

A. L. Jordan, formerly of Big Spring, was named this week commercial manager of the Sweetwater district, Texas Electric Service Company, to succeed the late A. A. Eberle, The Times was informed Tuesday.

Eberle, who was well known here, died of a heart attack at Odessa Armistice Day. Jordan will make his headquarters at Sweetwater, where Eberle lived. The Sweetwater district includes Snyder.

AGENT'S OFFICE IMPROVED

Appearance of the county agent's office, located in the basement of the courthouse, has been made far more attractive this week with the rearrangement of the "customer's counter" and relocation of filing cabinets. Creation of a special place for county farmers and ranchers in the office has resulted in more room for office desks and other equipment.

TWO CHANGES IN OFFICES AT COURTHOUSE

Least Amount of Shifting in Scurry County Official Family Seen In Many Years Here

Only two changes in the county's official family were made at the courthouse Wednesday — smallest number recorded in county political circles in many years.

Jimmie Billingsley, district clerk for the past four years, threw a new mantle around his shoulders Wednesday morning and became the new county clerk.

Mrs. E. E. Weathersbee, who ran last July for her first appointive office, assumed the district clerkship. She has been gaining pointers from Billingsley as to the duties of office for the past several days, and is well versed in the knowledge of how to handle her new line of work.

Billingsley will be assisted in the county clerk's office, for the present, by Ruth Tarter and Olita Robinson.

During his four years as district clerk, Billingsley filed 495 suits, 126 of which were divorce cases. Both the first and last cases filed by the retiring district clerk were by county residents seeking divorces. Total of 93 criminal cases were filed by the diminutive district clerk during his tenure of office.

Chas. J. Lewis, who Tuesday rounded out four years as county clerk, became manager Wednesday of the local Retail Merchants Credit Association. He will be assisted in operating the local agency by Mrs. Lewis, who assisted him in his duties as county clerk the past four years.

The local RMCA office has been operated the past month by Mary Maude Akers, who is well known to the people of this trade area.

Billingsley and Mrs. Weathersbee extend the public an invitation to visit them in their respective offices, and ask that county residents call upon them when they may be of service.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis also extend the public an invitation to visit them at the local Retail Merchants Credit Association office in the Harpole Building.

Building Permits In Snyder Total $68,165 For 1940

Reflected in 1940 building permits, city council members state, is a steady trend of construction activities, both for new structures and home repair work.

Permits were issued for approximately 25 new residences during the year which ended Tuesday night, and permits given for repair work on 30 homes already constructed.

Highest building permit figure for any recent year in Snyder, of course, was in 1939, when totals amounted to $145,725. This was due to the fact that a permit for $92,509 was given for construction of Snyder's new school plant.

"We find in 1940 construction activities in the city," council members report, "an indication that construction of new homes and repairing of those already built will extend well into the New Year. Building work going forward reveals that Snyder is experiencing an era of steady, but sure, growth."

County Draft Quota For January 29 is 13

Members of Scurry County's Selective Service Draft Board announced Wednesday that 13 draftees will be called in Scurry County January 29 to report to Lubbock for induction into the U. S. Army.

The 13 men who will be called will all be white draftees. No colored men of draft age have been called upon yet to begin a year's military training.

Draft board members state that enough registrants in Class 1-A have been obtained to fill the forthcoming January 29th call—the second to be made under provisions of the Selective Service Act.

A new batch of questionnaires will be mailed to Selective Service Act registrants within the next week or so, officials indicate.

WATKINS TO CHINA

Chalmer Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Watkins, who is in the United States Marine Corps, leaves with his corps during January for a 30-month stay at Pago Pago, China. Watkins has been stationed in San Diego since joining the marines several months ago.

PREDICTS WAR TO LAST UNTIL FALL AT LEAST

All Phases of Activity in Country Will Experience Upward Trends For Record Business

By Roger W. Babson

A question to discuss before making a forecast for 1941 is: "Will World War II continue throughout the year?" My answer is that it will surely continue at least until the fall. For the purpose of my forecast, this is equivalent to the entire year of 1941.

Germany is storing up huge quantities of arsenic to be used in an attempt to destroy the crops of Great Britain next summer or next fall. If England is also storing arsenic and succeeds in destroying the crops of Germany, the war may end next fall. It is evident that both sides will attempt destruction by arsenic, fire or otherwise. I say this because the effect of such a crop-killing campaign would be more serious for Germany than for England.

England is dependent to the extent of only 35 per cent on her home crops, while Germany's dependence is 90 per cent. Germany, moreover, is unable to import except by robbing adjoining nations, and hence must conserve all her own crops. People are not frightened by bombs, as only one person out of many thousands suffers from them; but the fear of starvation will throw a nation into panic. Hence, statisticians believe that the ending of the War in favor of England depends upon the success of the British blocade supplemented by the destruction of German crops.

Let me say that 1941 should be the best business year this country has witnessed. Everything from cradles to coffins, including dividends and pay envelopes, should show a gain over 1940. We hear much howling about taxes. When you consider, however, that the Excess Profits Tax on firms with large invested capital does not begin until they earn eight per cent net, even taxes are not so serious.

Industrial activity directly related to defense will account for about 10 per cent of total 1941 business. Production indirectly related to defense will also aggregate about 10 per cent. Thus, in 1941, 20 per cent of our total business activity will come from armaments.

I believe that we would have prosperous 1941 irrespective of defense program. The big business backlog, the great shortage of houses, and the unprecedented supply of idle funds are bound to lead to a return of good times. When we add to this fact the tremendous effect of the defense program, the result is staggering. If you have any doubt read in your newspaper of the contracts made by the government every day for supplies of all kinds.

Not only will the demand for goods be greater during World War II, but our industries are in far better position to handle the business. The automobile industry, for instance, has built approximately 76,000,000 cars since 1918. It is now prepared to build airplane engines

Banquet for Ex-Students of Hobbs School Is Success

A territory from Brownwood on the south to Lubbock on the north was represented Saturday evening at Hobbs School in Western Fisher County, when the first banquet of Hobbs Ex-Student Association was held.

The banquet, held in the high school auditorium, was prepared under the direction of Mrs. N. J. Guillet and members of the Hobbs senior class, who sponsored the get-together.

In reviewing the progress made by Hobbs School since its consolidation in 1925, Guy E. Casey, the school's first superintendent, gave a talk that was greeted by hearty applause.

Casey outlined the creation of Hobbs School from the consolidation of the four districts in the school's original area, Hobbs, Dallas, Old Grady and Baird, and emphasized the fact Hobbs was one of Fisher County's first districts to approve a consolidation.

Casey, Ben F. Thorpe, W. E. Cox, H. E. Kerby, R. K. Williams and N. J. Guillet, present superintendent, compose the school chiefs, the first superintendent said, to lead Hobbs to its present place in the sun—a district now composed of 280 square miles.

The formal program given Saturday evening follows:

Welcome, N. J. Guillet; response, Clifford Horton; an essay, Doris Hawkins; "What Hobbs Means to Me," Roy Moffett, Oma Bavousett, Grace Poteet, John and Jim Tom Casey;

"Bob's Lament," Henry Schwarz; "Hobbs of the Past," Earl Boyer; "Hobbs As I Knew It," Leon Guinn; "Sister Feared the Worst," Lena Weaks; and "Hobbs of the Future," Superintendent Guillet. Cleveland Littlepage, Duff Etheredge and Rose Mary Brown also gave brief talks.

Following the banquet's conclusion, the Hobbs Ex-Student Association was formally organized. Officers named were: Leon Guinn, president; Clifford Horton of Hobbs, vice president; and Tura Lou Etheredge of Brownwood, secretary-treasurer.

Ginnings for County Near 21,000 Mark As Season End Seen

Figures obtained by The Times early Wednesday night reveal that county ginnings through Wednesday totaled 20,912 bales—edging close to the 21,000-bale mark.

Ginnings in the county prior to December 15 totaled 20,343 bales, but since December 15 cotton has been moving to county gins at a greatly slackened pace.

County ginners reported Wednesday that days for ginning will probably be set within the near future, due to the fact that cotton is reaching the "wind-up" stage in cotton fields. Harvesting is virtually over within several county communities.

High winds which swept across the county a portion of last week have dried out bolls, cotton producers report, to the extent many late ones are cracking open. The late bolls will probably turn out fair samples, due to the fact ginners state, that continued pretty weather is drying lint at a rapid rate.

Work Resumed by School After Holiday

School students from all parts of Scurry County returned to class work Monday after an eight to 10 day dismissal through the Christmas holidays.

"All county teachers we have contacted believe that 1941 will be an outstanding year in county educational work," attaches at the county superintendent's office report. "Many schools are already formulating plans to take part in 1941 Interscholastic League activities."

Canyon Couple Die as Result of Waco Car Wreck

C. J. Allen, 48, tenant farmer southwest of town, died Tuesday night at Waco as a result of injuries received near the McLennan County city Tuesday in which his wife, Mrs. Katie Allen, 45, was killed.

Their two sons, Oscar, 15, and J. G., 20, were cut and bruised. Carl, their other son, was uninjured. Truck driver Randolph Jones, 25, of San Antonio, escaped injury in the collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen moved to Snyder about a year ago, and had been operating a farm owned by Rev. J. W. McGaha, veteran Baptist minister of the county.

A daughter, Mrs. Marion Peevehouse, and her husband left immediately for Waco, upon learning of the tragedy. Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Allen will probably be held at Grosebeck, their former home.

New Aerial Maps Of County Not to Be Ready Soon

Attaches at the county agent's office stated Wednesday that new aerial maps of county farmlands will not be available in time to check wheat compliance work in Scurry County for the current crop year.

Aerial survey maps of county farms, however, are scheduled to be made in time to check general crop compliance work, X. B. Cox Jr., county agent, reports.

Wheat compliance work in the county, the agent's office points out, is scheduled to officially get underway by January 15.

Wheat that can be destroyed to get within compliance provisions will be three acres, or three per cent—whichever is the greater.

Volunteer wheat, for example, that is destroyed before May 1, 1941, will not be considered acreage seeded to wheat, wheat crop insurance officials state.

Volunteer wheat, however, that is permitted to stand after May 1 will be considered wheat, the same as land originally seeded to grain for the current crop year. County grain producers are asked to keep the above facts in mind so that their grain crops may be in compliance with the Triple A farm program.

Agent Cox Asks for 4-H Club Yearbooks

X. B. Cox Jr., county agent, issued an appeal this week to county 4-H Club boys who haven't yet turned in their club yearbooks to do so at once. Only a small number of yearbooks have not been turned in to date, he reports.

"Although the deadline has passed for club boys to turn in their yearbooks, we will continue to accept them for a few days," Cox points out, "and give the club members credit on this phase of their year's activities.

Hammond Brothers Get Tractor Agency

Hammond Brothers of Colorado City became this week Scurry County's authorized Fordson tractor dealers, and have established headquarters in the Yoder Building, across the street from the city hall.

The brothers, R. Y. and A. T. Hammond, are handling, in addition to Fordson tractors, a complete line of Ferguson tools and implements. They plan to put in a line of implement hardware within the next few days.

The two Hammond brothers have lived in Scurry and Mitchell Counties all their lives, and are well known to a number of county people. They invite their old and new acquaintances to visit them

Needed Rain Is New Year's Gift

The New Year, 1941, slipped into town Tuesday night, accompanied by an appropriate amount of noise and gaiety around the square, but no violent demonstrations that an old year ceased to be.

New Year's Eve gift to the city and a considerable part of the county fell in the form of a badly needed rain—moisture which ranged all the way from .22 of an inch precipitation in Snyder to .64 of an inch southwest of the county seat.

The rainfall came on the heels of a local dry spell that had continued through Christmas Week, and fell at a time when the Central and Eastern portions of Texas were being deluged with more rain than can be utilized at the moment.

There were two dances at different places in town, one at the local W. O. W. hall Tuesday evening and one at the new Legion Hut, four blocks west of the square. There were those who gathered on the square's north side at midnight Tuesday to greet a New Year, but other than the dances and the gentle rainfall, local residents let the New Year roll around without an unusual amount of fanfare.

Myrle Tate Becomes Bride Saturday Of Fickas Bell in Church Ceremony

Myrle Tate, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Tate, became the bride of Fickas Bell, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bell, in a morning wedding service held Saturday at 8:30 o'clock at the local First Baptist Church. Rev. Ira Harrison, pastor, read a single ring ceremony.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Allene Tate; and the bridegroom's brother, W. R. Bell Jr. of Austin, was best man. Other members of the two families and a few friends also were present.

The couple stood before an arch covered with ferns and flanked by baskets of white gladioli, as two well-known families of this section were united. Mrs. Ira Harrison played organ music, the traditional wedding marches and a medley of love songs as the ceremony was read.

Miss Tate chose for her wedding costume a soldier blue frock, worn with a matching hat, black accessories and a single orchid. The maid of honor was dressed in a wine crepe dress and wore a corsage of rosebuds.

The Tate family moved to Snyder four years ago from Big Spring, and the bride graduated from the local high school last spring. Bell is also a graduate of the local high school and attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, for two years.

The couple will be living seven miles north of Snyder soon. They returned here early this week after a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas.

Out-of-town wedding guests included the bride's aunt, Mrs. Roy Clark of Stamford, and Mr. Clark; the bridegroom's brother, W. R. Bell Jr., and Mrs. Bell of Austin; and Bell's aunt, Miss Vela Bell of Ennis.

Mrs. Fickas Bell

Mrs. Fickas Bell, above, is the former Myrle Tate, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Tate. Marriage of the local couple took place at the First Baptist Church, Saturday morning, and they are living near Snyder.

"Build-Up" Important Protector of Women

A weak, undernourished condition often enables functional dysmenorrhea to get a foothold; thus leads to much of woman's suffering from headaches, nervousness, and other periodic discomfort.

CARDUI'S principal help for such distress comes from the way it usually stimulates appetite; increases flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion; helps build energy, strength, physical resistance to periodic pain for many.

Another way, many women find help for periodic distress: Take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time." Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

The couple met last summer here when the bride was visiting with her cousin, Kathryn Smith, and Miss Smith was the only wedding attendant. The bride was wearing a teel blue frock with a gold bag and necklace and other accessories in black.

SERVICES FOR PIONEER STORE MAN TUESDAY

Founder of Bryant-Link Company Buried at Stamford Tuesday—Local Employees Attend

Entire force of the local Bryant-Link Company store, headed by A. C. Kincaid, manager, motored to Stamford Tuesday afternoon, where they attended final rites held at St. John's Methodist Church for J. C. Bryant, 76, chairman of the board of Bryant-Link Company.

Bryant, one of the few surviving "first citizens" of Stamford, passed away Monday noon at his home. He had been in failing health the past two and a half years.

Rev. W. C. Clement conducted final rites for the pioneer business and civic leader of Stamford, who had visited in Snyder a number of times until recent years.

The local Bryant-Link store was closed all day Tuesday out of respect for Mr. Bryant. Local store attaches who attended final rites included: Kincaid, Mmes. Joe Caton, E. J. Anderson and E. E. Weathersbee, Dell Smith; R. C. Grantham, Edith Grantham, Arice Jones, Billy Pigman and Collie Fish.

John Cuthberth Bryant was born in Mississippi County, Missouri, December 8, 1864. He came to Anson in 1884. With his older brother, W. C. Bryant, he formed Bryant Brothers mercantile firm in Anson in 1890. His brother returned to Missouri and he bought half interest with George H. Baker in a business which they operated as Baker-Bryant.

When the city of Stamford was opened in 1900 Mr. Bryant and his partner opened a store here and in the early 1900s Bryant-Link Company was formed.

In November, 1877, Mr. Bryant was married at Anson to Sarah Caroline Hule, member of one of Jones County's first families. She died in April of 1913, and three of their four children survive.

In February, 1915, Mr. Bryant was married to Miss Jo Grimsley, who survives him.

Kinney Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements, with burial in Anson Cemetery.

"Oh, I know," the beverage-soaked gay stated as Best started to the hoosegow with him, "you're trying to pull a holiday joke on me." When locked in jail, the drunk decided his lockup was the "real thing." He decided this even more strongly Friday morning when he paid his fine in city court.

Speechified

The Times was given pleasant surprise Monday morning by a prosperous looking visitor from Wichita County, who rushed in the plant about 10:30 o'clock and requested "half a dozen copies of Monday's issue carrying President Roosevelt's address."

When told that "your home county paper" was issued only on Thursdays, being a weekly newspaper, the visitor asked if he might still obtain copies of Roosevelt's Sunday night address—a request that was speedily granted.

Following the incident, the visitor remarked that "a weekly paper is still allright, if one can get a copy of a speech the President makes." Several questions revealed the fact that Roosevelt is a 100 per cent favorite in Wichita County—a parcel of the state just south of Red River where political belief is built, so the visitor said, around "fighting words, such as Willkie."

and machine guns, as well as trucks and tanks.

The electric power industry, thanks to President Roosevelt, has covered the country with a vast network of rural electric transmission lines, furnishing today power at rates 40 per cent below those of [illegible] Our generous supply is from [illegible] Great Britain or Germany. Experts say that the war will be won by oil. If so, we are fortunate in having three-fifths of the annual world's production, distributed by over 95,000 miles of pipe lines to all parts of the country.

We enter 1941 with the highest known record of national bank excess reserves—about seven billion dollars. This means that banks are in a position to loan billions of additional credit. No such good condition ever existed in our nation before. Our outstanding bank notes are covered nearly 100 per cent by actual gold, while other countries have a coverage averaging only about 10 per cent. More money is being carried in the pockets of people today than ever before. The money in circulation in the U. S. as I dictate this column, amounts to $8,500,000,000.

It is estimated that it cost Germany $20,000,000,000 to arm. During the five years she was engaged in this, she paid her workers 25 cents per hour. If we must pay our workers three to four times this, you see what it will cost this country to duplicate the German war machine. A year from now it will be time enough to discuss 1942, 1943 and 1944; but as far as 1941 goes, nothing can stop us—not even peace talk if it should come in the fall of 1941. The world is entering a new era—industrially, economically and socially. It is hard for us older men to become reconciled to these changes, but [illegible] 4,000 funerals. The undertakers are [illegible]

During World War I, the building of homes was restricted. Contractors were not allowed the necessary cement, bricks, lumber and nails for building homes. World War—II, however, is an entirely different war. The building of a $100,000 airplane does not take much material, but rather labor, skill and time. It is true that we must enter a shipbuilding program — both of naval vessels and merchant ships—but otherwise, there is nothing to interfere with home building. I, therefore, forecast that residence construction in 1941 will show an increase of nearly 20 per cent over 1940.

Presumably, it will cost a little more to build a home in 1941 than it has in the past few years; but there is a reasonable available supply of building materials. Besides, masons, carpenters, plumbers and painters are primarily interested in their year's income, rather than their hourly wage. Therefore, if they can be sure of finding work every day they should be content with present wages. Another thing: During World War I, there were no such available funds as there are today. It was then impossible to borrow government money for the building of homes. All the conditions are entirely different now. Hence, I disagree with those who say that homebuilding will be shut off in 1941.

The year 1941 will witness a different Congress than has ever been seen before. This is a very rash statement; but you wait until the year is over. It will be neither a brave Congress nor a rubber-stamp Congress. It will be a paralyzed Congress. It just will not know what to do, or what not to do, except spend money. It will want to help Great Britain, and yet sees so much havoc ahead for both Great Britain and Europe that it will dread getting into the mess. Certainly Congress will be in no mood to vote for declaring war against Germany, Japan or any other nation. It will be bewildered and afraid to "fish, cut bait or go ashore."

Perhaps the most important figures for readers to watch in 1941 are those on the cost of living. During World War I, the cost of living increased greatly. But the prices of farm products went up with the prices of manufactured goods. Since then, however, the prices of farm products have fallen 60 per cent, while the prices of manufactured products dropped only 30 per cent. Prices may increase slightly more during 1941, but need not do so if no group kicks over the applecart.

We are now asked to supply Great Britain with food and goods; while during World War I, we had to supply France, Italy, Russia, Japan and other nations in addition. The airplanes, which England needs most, do not take a large amount of raw materials. This applies as well to many of our other exports, although not to the ships which England must build here. Concerning food products, which England will need in large quantities, we already have an excess. Certainly there is no fear of a shortage in 1941 of sugar, which in 1920 sold for 22 cents a pound; or wheat, which in 1918 sold at $2.30 per bushel. Perhaps most important of all is that we have learned much about controlling prices.

Ordinarily, farm income from marketing and benefit payments in 1941 should exceed the 1940 figure of around $9,000,000,000, but I can not promise this. Weather is a very unpredictable and important factor. Exports will be so severely cut and such large surpluses already exist that I am not too optimistic on farm prices.

Yet, if the cost of the things which the farmer must buy is kept down, he should be at least as well off in 1941 as in 1940. Interest rates will be in his favor, and taxes should not hurt him. There will be no new gadgets, such as automobiles, refrigerators and radios, offered to his family during 1941 which he must buy!

Furthermore, if Germany and Great Britain begin to use arsenic next summer to kill each other's crops, U. S. farmers may save the situation and really prosper. Considering all things, I think the farmers' cash income in 1941 may exceed 1940 by $450,000,000, or about five per cent, despite the reduced exports of cotton, wheat, tobacco and fruits.

All of this means that present benefits to farmers will continue throughout 1941 at around $800,000,000. In addition to the existing reasons for such benefits to continue, there is the additional pressure of South American diplomacy. The people of South America have only wheat, cattle and other agricultural products to sell. We must help them sell them to keep their good will. This, however, puts a real handicap on U. S. farmers. If our farmers are to accept this burden, it surely is up to the rest of us to help them carry it. Hence, farm benefits will be fore logical in 1941 than ever before.

Severe inflation would hurt shopkeepers; but 1941 will not see such. Certainly, the 1941 total volume of retail sales should exceed anything which this country has ever seen. With industrial activity continuing to rise, good merchandisers should prosper. This will also help service businesses and professional men. All down the line almost everyone should be in clover. Collections should be exceptionally good, while installment sales will reach great proportions. Main Street, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, will be wide open with music, lights and bill boards galore! The U. S. will witness a shortage of only two things—parking space and character.

There really is only one thing which troubles me about 1941. It is that our prosperity may make us less dependent upon God, Whom we need now more than ever. The material destruction facing Europe and England—terrible as it will be—may develop there a spiritual awakening of tremendous value. History shows that the rebirth of nations has come through adversity—never through prosperity. Hence, we must be on our guard that America with its material wealth is not left the most pagan of all nations.

Record for Christmas Card-Mailing Made

Postmaster Warren Dodson revealed this week that the local post office set an all-time record last week in handling Christmas cards, with slightly over 30,000 mailed out from the local post office.

The almost unheard of record for the local post office was made possible by greatly improved conditions, Dodson states. Almost 20,000 outside cards—establishing a record for the year—were sold last week and distributed.

Emphasizing the fact that postal receipts in Snyder have been steadily climbing for the past several months, Dodson states 1940 receipts totaled $17,500.

Tex Berry Victim Of Heart Attack On Western Coast

Tex Berry, 28-year-old former Snyder resident, died of a heart ailment last Thursday morning in Maywood, California, after spending [illegible] wife, two children and other relatives [illegible] day at Phoenix, Arizona, where Berry and his family had been living the past year.

Member of the Amarillo police force until a year ago, Berry visited here just 14 months ago, making the trip on his motorcycle. Several weeks earlier he made his solo airplane flight at the Amarillo airport. A seige of pneumonia and a resulting heart disturbance caused the former Snyder man to move at the suggestion of his physicians to Phoenix.

Included among immediate survivors of the former Amarillo motorcycle policeman are three Snyder women, Berry's grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Boles, and his aunts, Mmes. M. M. Gideon and W. C. Wenninger. Berry's wife, an eight-year-old daughter and a five-year-old son of Phoenix; his mother, Mrs. Curtis Hall, and two brothers, Dan and J. L. Berry, all of Maywood, California, are the other survivors.

WE'VE JUST HAD ANOTHER BIRTHDAY—

We were sittin' in our settin' room the other night, lookin' over a busy year—our fourth in the cafe business in Snyder—and thinkin' how nice the good people of this community had been to us.

The three of us—the Old Man, Lillian and Tracy Bill—begun to count up our blessin's and things, and before you knew it we were downright overflowin' with appreciation. We wanted to tell our friends in some sort of way that we are grateful from the inside out. But when we began lookin' for words, we don't have none in our dictionaries that express just what we wanted to say. So, guess we'll have to rely on those old worn-out words: THANK YOU!

Of course, as we enter our fifth year in this sort of business we want to make some sort of campaign promise that you'll be pleased in your dealing with this little business in the future or we'll know the reason why. So, come around, folks, and we'll try to do business again with the understandin' that you [illegible] and we'll try to fill your needs with drinks or foods, served up with the seasoning of human kindness, the sauce of courtesy, and toppin' of from-the-heart gratitude.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

A Banner Year Ahead

The New Year ushered into being Wednesday should be, by any man's scale of measurements, a banner year for Snyder and Scurry County. It is a year that gives promise of enriching the city and county by thousands of dollars—if we, as a community and county, grasp the opportunities that will come our way during 1941.

As a starter, Snyder has been promised a $125,000 National Guard Armory during this New Year. A Junior Chamber of Commerce will probably be organized within the next six weeks, Saturday auctions started up again at the stockyards and many new developments herald the fact that Dame Fortune will smile on the county—if we have the unity of purpose to go after new business and new federal funds for the county.

One of the first things that calls our attention to the fact 1941 is going to be a banner year is built around the development work underway in the 12-mile long Sharon Ridge oil field. New operators are inspecting the field with a view of locating here, and already 35 new tests are planned for the pool as a starter during the year just getting underway.

Also, if Snyder and Scurry County cared enough about the matter, Snyder could be assured of an oil refinery during 1941, bringing into the city a payroll of at least $35,000 per month. A proposed refinery for the city, as well as other needed enterprises, can be made possible, however, only by unity of purpose and objectives.

The year 1941 offers the city and county a direct challenge to make of it a banner one. So, join in Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, and help in every way you can, for there's plenty of work to be done!

Help For Britain

In one of the most vitally important talks delivered to the nation since he became 32nd president of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt pledged Sunday night every ounce of help possible to Great Britain. The president even went so far as to say, "Everything short of war should be done to help our ally across the sea before we, as a nation, have to live at the point of a gun."

Help of various kind that President Roosevelt proposes for Britain might be said to be a move contemplated just in the nick of time—a move intended to give the British Empire the tools of war it needs before it goes under the iron heel of Nazi domination.

"Frankly and definitely," Roosevelt pointed out, "there is danger ahead—danger against which we must prepare. . . . But we know that we cannot escape danger, or the fear of it, by crawling into bed and pulling the covers over our heads."

The president's talk, heard by approximately 70,000,000 United States citizens, left the subtle hint that this nation had better help a friend, before he is vanquished, than to have to face the enemy alone. Now that the road ahead has been clearly defined for the United States, we should face the future bravely and give over to no soft pedaling until the world has been saved, this time, for freedom!

Editorial of the Week

REMEDY FOR CROSS EYES

An exciting bit of food for thought is the fact that of the 2,584,310 persons in the United States afflicted with strabismus, or cross-eyes, about half have an 82 per cent chance to obtain normal vision and appearance by eye exercises and proper surgery. . . . The other half, however, may be afflicted with more serious complications, and to make easy the distinguishing of these people from their more unfortunate "brothers under the skin," Dr. J. F. Neumueller of the American Optical Company at Southbridge, Massachusetts, this week announced the development of an inexpensive instrument. The instrument Neumueller refers to is a $15 version of laboratory devices studied almost half a century ago—a glass tube containing a straight electric wire which glows after current is switched on. . . . The tube is placed in a horizontal position, with the cross-eyed patient due to look at the glowing line with one eye. . . . Follows another step wherein the tube is turned into a vertical position, and the wire scanned with the other eye.

Finally, the patient looks with both eyes at a bright wall. . . . Intriguing part about this procedure is that the brain, if the patient sees the image of a cross, has fulfilled its normal function of merging the eyes' two-line image into a single picture, prosing chances for a successful treatment are extremely bright.—The Scurry County Times.

If the electric light cure doesn't succeed in blinding the patient, his eyes ought to be good enough for any subsequent duty. But the specialists in strabismus know what they are doing, no doubt. Cross-eye is a rather common complaint, except that those who have it don't complain. They seem to get along very well, and are popular among their friends. State Press knew a cross-eyed man once who had a cross-eyed daughter. Neither seemed to mind it, and both were prosperous and apparently happy. The old man was genial, the daughter pretty, which was as it should have been. Long ago the eye surgeon found a way to cure cross-eyes by severing a tiny filament which held one eye on bias. But if the trick can now be done by looking at an electric candle horizontally and vertically, that is less expensive and perhaps more desirable. Some of us with two obedient eyes don't see very much. Or it may be that we see without profiting. We discern visually without gaining intellectually.—J. J. Taylor in State Press.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

Encouraging news for hundreds of small firms and corporations planning expansion programs during the New Year was contained in an announcement that investment bankers of the nation are beginning, in a big way, to underwrite or buy the stocks of small and obscure companies which are seeking ways and means of enlarging their production channels. . . . Our national defense program is justly given credit as being responsible for causing investment bankers to give small business a highly deserved day of recognition.

The thing that is starting the investment ball to rolling is built around a statement of certain commercial banks, saying that customers working on defense orders are borrowing much more than "normal banking" practice allows. . . . This has caused a number of banking institutions to back away from further loans to such small companies in scattered sections of the country. . . . Getting a hint of this, and realizing that defense orders make small companies and corporations mighty good risks, investment houses are canvassing commercial banks to get information on concerns which might desire more working capital during 1941.

★

The surprising fact has been brought to light during the past few days that there has been inadequate planning, in numerous instances, in the machine tool branch of the defense program. . . . While our major machine tool makers are badly overloaded with orders for standard type tools, the fact still remains that hundreds of such tools are lying idle in small shops throughout the country. . . . Now, two moves are being considered to break the log-jam: Give easy and fat inducements for machine tool expansion; see what tool facilities could be used, either by sub-contracting or by bringing the tools together at centralized places.

★

A suggestion this week that hot meals for healthier hogs might solve a problem that has been facing American pork producers for the past 20 years brought a deluge of comment, both for and against, this week in various parts of the country. . . . While it is an obvious fact with each and every housewife that pork must be thoroughly cooked to kill all trichina worms that may infest it, physicians estimate that more than 16,000,000 Americans carry some of the worms in their bodies. . . . Slightly over 700,000 people are estimated to have actually had trichinosis, which, though rarely fatal, produces some very acute digestive upsets.

★

Mention of hot meals for healthier hogs comes under the heading of an ounce of prevention suggested by Dr. J. B. McNaught and Dr. E. M. Zapata of Stanford University, who report, oddly enough, that trichonosis is 20 times more prevalent among garbage-fed hogs in San Francisco than among similarly fed swine in Canada. . . . Reason for this is woven around the fact the food wastes in Canada are cooked and partially sterilized before being served to animals, while in California, for example, all garbage fed to hogs is usually raw and infested with the dreaded worms of trichina. . . . For health and safety's sake, Dr. McNaught and Dr. Zapeta conclude cook the hog's meals as well as the animal itself!

Even impartial and unbiased observers of political events in the United States recall, with gusto, the keynote of Franklin D. Roosevelt's inaugural address March 4, 1933, when he declared, "The only thing we have to fear in America is fear itself," and demanded "broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency as if we were in reality invaded by a foreign foe." . . . In his second inaugural address January 20, 1937, Roosevelt portrayed a picture of "one-third of a nation ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clothed," and emphasized that "people need to be led along the road over which they have chosen to advance."

★

On a radically indifferent keynote, that of national defense, Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Soviet Russia and chairman of the 1941 Inaugural Committee, this week is planning the first third-term inauguration in United States history. . . . After taking the oath of office for the third time, President Roosevelt will mount a reviewing stand and witness a two-hour military parade down Pennsylvania Avene. What the 32nd president of the United States says in his third-term acceptance talk is slated to carry vastly more weight than have his two previous keynote speeches. . . . Tickets for Roosevelt's third inauguration are now on sale at prices ranging from $2.50 to $10, but there will be no tax levied on the tickets—a rare bit of political strategy executed with finesse by Davies.

Several months ago an announcement by the Department of Justice that all aliens in the United States would be shortly rounded up and deported to the land of their nativity carried very little weight at the time the announcement was released, but since the fall of France, Norway and the Low Countries, public opinion has been mounting for Uncle Sam to show the door to aliens or acknowledged foreign power sympathizers. . . . Last week Attorney General Robert H. Jackson announced that the roundup of aliens was obtaining real results, with his office refusing to renew hundreds of visitors' visas. . . . At such a crucial time in the nation's history, it is high time we get all aliens out of the U. S. as rapidly as possible, since 100 per cent of them feel obligated to their own country. We'll do well to keep all our Americans corralled during 1941, without having a lot of trouble cropping up from aliens, who always like to go around throwing wrenches into things.

Leroy Johnson, Former Merchant At Snyder, Dies

Funeral services for Leroy Johnson, long-time resident of Sweetwater who formerly operated two cotton gins here and who was well known in Scurry county, were held Monday afternoon, 3:00 o'clock, at the family residence, 901 Locust street.

Johnson, who had made his home at Sweetwater since 1912, was for 25 years a traveling representative of the John Deere Plow Company, with headquarters at Sweetwater. He was engaged in the hardware business in Snyder about 20 years.

He retired from active business in 1929, following an automobile accident near Abilene in which he was severely injured.

A heart attack was attributed to be the cause of his unexpected death Saturday after he had made a trip from his home to the downtown section.

Immediate survivors include his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Earl Wilson of Hereford and Teresa Johnson of Boston, Massachusetts, Ralph Johnson of Chickasha, Oklahoma and four grandchildren.

Yates Funeral Homes of Sweetwater was assisted locally by Odom Funeral Home, with interment in Snyder Cemetery.
