Safe Re-Entry Climaxes Great Space Adventure

Craft Lands Near Target

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford rode the red-hot Gemini 6 space ship back to earth today, triumphantly climaxing the great rendezvous adventure that brought the U.S. closer to the gateway to the moon.

Schirra guided the little spacecraft through its blazing re-entry to an expert landing in the Atlantic Ocean, just 12 miles from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

Schirra came closer by far to his target than any other Gemini pilot, although not quite close enough to allow a visual sighting by the hundreds of sailors crowding the deck of the carrier. Planes of the recovery force tracked him on radar.

One hour, 4 minutes after the splashdown, the Gemini 6 was hoisted aboard the carrier with Schirra and Stafford still inside. They had opened the hatches to let in some cool air, but declined a helicopter pick-up.

The sailors of the Wasp, decked out in bright white tropical uniforms in honor of the returning space heroes, cheered them as they stepped out on deck.

With the same skill he showed in the 2105,000-mile chase of Gemini 7 and the rendezvous high bove the earth, Schirra gave the other Gemini pilots a mark to shoot at when he landed. The earlier Gemini astronauts missed their target ships by 40 to 103 miles.

Walking a red carpet laid down by Marines, Schirra and Stafford went directly to sick bay for medical examinations.

Planes in the recovery force quickly reached Gemini 6 as it bobbed in the water and got the cheering report from the capsule: "We're in great shape."

Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell hovered nearby in the Gemini 7 when Schirra fired a blast of retrorockets that hauled Gemini 6 out of its orbit and dropped it into the grasp of the earth's atmosphere.

The fiery descent across the Pacific, Mexico, Texas, the Gulf of Mexico and Florida ended when a parachute dropped the space ship into the ocean. Planes of the recovery fleet had followed it in on radar.

Navy swimmers leaped from a hovering helicopter to attach flotation devices to the spacecraft and keep it from sinking. The astronauts remained in the capsule awaiting the arrival of the Wasp.

The spacemen brought back with them movies the world waited eagerly to see. They picture Wednesday's dramatic meeting of space ships high above the earth; a feat that took the United States a long way toward the goal of flight to the moon.

Borman and Lovell, bearded and "a little beat," waved farewell to their space companions and hurtled on toward another big goal—14 days in space. They will come down Saturday, holders of every manned space flight endurance record.

Schirra, who had missed his target by only 4 miles in his first re-entry during the Mercury program in 1962, brought Gemini 6 down at 10:29 a.m. (EST) about 630 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Oil Allowable Held Steady For January

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission ordered today oil production held to 32.6 per cent of capacity next month, giving a healthy send-off to 1966.

The percentage factor will provide a ceiling of 3,116,652 barrels daily next month, the highest January allowable figure since 1959.

The factor provides a small increase, in keeping with increased needs of major Texas oil purchasers. Of the 13 purchasers represented at today's hearing, seven asked the commission to increase the 31.4 per cent factor in use this month.

The December factor provided an allowable of 3,084,545. Last January, the commission set a 29.2 per cent factor, which provided an allowable of 2,938,083 barrels daily.

In pre-hearing nominations, purchasers predicted January buying would total 2,659,928 barrels daily, an increase of 56,067 barrels daily over December. The U.S. Bureau of Mines retained a December estimate of 2,890,000 barrels daily for next month.

36—Mobil, 275,100.

34—Texaco, 149,000.

32—Atlantic, 82,300, and Humble 432,780.

31.5 — Cities Service, 72,500, Standard of Texas 39,700, and Gulf, 222,800.

D. R. Wall of Dallas a Mobil executive, told the commission Mobil has "attempted to buy crude in December without success." He said the company's crude and oil products stocks were down three million barrels Dec. 1.

Commissioner Jim Langdon noted that "most refiners are refining at near capacity or over capacity" and observed that the increasing military effort in Viet Nam indicates that "We must look to increasing our refining capacity."

Commissioner Byron Tunnell added that 1966 "should be a more prosperous year" than 1965, which he said was a good year for the oil industry.

Stroke Is Fatal To Noted Writer

NICE, France (AP) — British author W. Somerset Maugham died early today at his beloved Riviera villa La Mauresque after he was returned there unconscious from a Nice hospital. He was 91 and suffered a stroke six days ago.

One of the world's most successful writers, Maugham wrote 30 plays, 26 novels and 120 short stories during a career that spanned more than a half-century. His last work, a memoir called "Looking Backward," was published in 1962. He gave up writing fiction in 1955 when he was 78.

Doctors said Saturday he could not recover from the stroke he suffered the day before.

He remained in a coma and when all hope was gone, he was taken from the British-American Hospital in Nice Wednesday to die at his villa on Cap Farrat, six miles away.

Maugham was best known for his fiction that made him a fortune few writers have matched.

His masterpiece was the novel "Of Human Bondage," published in 1915 when he was 41. It told of a club-footed medical student's romance with a slatternly waitress who disdained him. In 1946 Maugham presented the manuscript, valued by dealers at close to $50,000, to the Library of Congress in appreciation of America's hospitality.

Moon Travelers To Land In Sand

By LEIF ERICKSON

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The moon's surface probably is a loose layer of fine sand-like material. The stuff is at least 10 feet and possibly "tens of meters" deep.

But it won't cause any significant trouble for American astronauts when they attempt moon landings in their Apollo spacecraft, say Donald E. Gault and William L. Quaide, scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center here.

Gault, a 20-year veteran in NASA aerodynamics research, and Quaide, a geologist, base their theory on laboratory experiments by which they closely matched the moon crater pictures transmitted to earth by the Ranger spaceships.

The laboratory results were confirmed in field tests with missiles impacting into target areas at White Sands proving ground in New Mexico.

With Ames laboratory guns, they fired glass projectiles into 15-by-18-inch targets of ground quartz, pumice, and carborundum at angles ranging from vertical to 15 degrees.

Their purpose was to simulate the space particle bombardment which they assume the moon has undergone constantly throughout its more than four million year of existence.

The crater shapes in the Rangers' moon pictures persuaded Gault and Quaide that most were caused by secondary projectiles. These are tossed out as debris by the impact of a primary body—a meteorite or tiny micrometeorite.

Compared with the tremendous speeds of meteorites hurtling in from space, the secondary debris fragments move at very low velocities.

Gault, Quaide, and their NASA colleagues closely duplicated the geometry of the moon craters with low-velocity projectiles hifting into ground quartz and pumice targets.

An accidental finding convinced Gault and Quaide that a spacecraft landing on the moon likely would not sink deeply into the loose granular surface.

While hunting for test target materials, they drove a two-ton truck over pumice dust in the Mono Crater in eastern California. The four-wheel-drive truck rambled without difficulty over the powdered lava, a stuff finer than beach sand.

They expect a Surveyor landing on the moon, to be attempted next year, will confirm many of their experiments.

Sun Satellite Is Launched

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A heavily instrumented satellite called Pioneer 6 cruised in a complex orbit around the sun today and began sweeping up information that will guide future astronauts traveling between planets.

The drum-shaped spacecraft soared aloft at 2:32 a.m. (EST) from Cape Kennedy on top of a souped-up Delta rocket.

Two seconds after the spinning satellite was set in position about 345 miles above Africa, some 4,900 miles from Cape Kennedy, three spindly arms were deployed from it. Radio command from the ground turned on a gas jet at the end of one arm, orienting Pioneer 6 so its signals could be received on earth.

"Engineering data shows that all parts of the spacecraft are operating normally," said Charles F. Hall, Pioneer program manager from the Ames Research Center at Mountain View, Calif.

Students Working For Goodfellows

Many teenagers of today are engaged in worthwhile activities.

Take the Industrial Arts students of Snyder High School. They are repairing toys for the Goodfellows so that several needy children of the area will have gifts for Christmas.

Ronald Foy, instructor in the Industrial Arts class, said the 85 students in the Industrial Arts Club work on the toys in shifts with a group captain for each shift. Group captains are Dale Blythe, Carroll Marsh and Wendell Pinkerton.

"We even have four or five girls in the class that work on toys," he added.

The students make whatever repairs are necessary to put a top rate toy into workable condition, such as a bicycle or wagon or miniature tractor.

"We might have to replace a pedal, or weld a broken bar, or replace a wheel," said the instructor. "Whatever is required is done."

The students began their toy repair activity last week, working after school from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in the high school workshop. This week the hours have been from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. In addition, the volunteer workers also will repair toys one night of this week.

Students in the club also will conduct a "scavenger" hunt for the Goodfellows following the toy repair campaign. "We will go from house to house seeking food, clothing and toys for the Goodfellows," explained one of the students.

Following the "hunt," the group will go "carolling" and then have a Club social at one of the students' home.

Bodies To Be Returned

ASPEN, Colo. (AP)—A party of officers, forest rangers and other mountain men left Aspen today to climb into wilderness country and bring out the body of Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace II, the nation's director of space medicine.

Lovelace, 57, his wife, Mary, 53, and their pilot, Milton Brown, 27, all of Albuquerque, N.M., were killed in the crash of their two-engine plane southeast of Aspen.

The plane crashed Sunday, but the bodies were not found until Wednesday.

Brown survived the crash long enough to place the body of the doctor beside that of his wife and cover them with coats.

Officers said it might be late afternoon before the bodies are brought down to Aspen.

Wilson's Speech Prompts Walkout

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson today appealed to the General Assembly to support Britain's Rhodesian policy. Many African delegations walked out of the chamber without waiting to hear what he had to say.

Wilson ignored the walkout. He pledged that Britain will pursue its efforts until it has ended the rebellion of Rhodesia's white minority government. He expressed confidence his government was on the right track.

The British leader was given a round of applause by the remaining delegates, including some Africans, as the professing African diplomats headed down the aisles for the door.

Wilson once more ruled out the use of force to suppress the break-away government of Ian Smith. He omitted any reference to possible use of harsher measures, such as an oil embargo, which many Africans have been demanding.

"We shall not let up until Rhodesia has returned to constitutional rule," he said. "We believe that given time, given patience, the British government and the British Parliament will effectively assert their authority in consultation with those who can claim to speak more representatively on behalf of the Rhodesian people as a whole."

Wilson said he recognized that many nations in the assembly had "criticized as bitterly for not invoking the use of military force to suppress this rebellion." But he added: "This is the way to settle this problem."

The British leader planned to go to Washington later in the day for talks with President Lyndon B. Johnson on Rhodesia and other problems including Viet Nam.

Wilson stressed the need for a negotiated peace in Viet Nam bringing that China into Rhodesia's problems.

Texas Intervenes In Gas Import Cases

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas has intervened in three cases before the Federal Power Commission involving Canadian imports of natural gas to the United States.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr filed notices of intervention Wednesday in cases involving Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. Carr said the Midwest traditionally has been a major purchaser of natural gas from the Texas Panhandle.

Heavy Casualties Feared In Cyclone

DACCA, Pakistan (AP) — Thousands are feared to have died in a cyclone which battered Chittagong district and the offshore islands of Kutubdia and Maheshkhali, a Pakistan official reported today.

Thousands were believed dead on Maheshkhali Island alone.

NATO Ministers Eye Red Threat

By TOM OCHILTREE

2 Mishaps Are Logged

City Police investigated two accidents Wednesday, including one involving minor injuries to Bobbie J. Stroud, Route 3, Box 438.

Stroud was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment following an accident at Avenue R and Twenty-ninth Street involving his 1950 Model Ford and a 1959 Model Buick operated by Edna Gatlin Mearse, 2510 Avenue C. Stroud was released after treatment for a scalp laceration. Damage to his car was set at $300, and damage to the other vehicle was estimated at $350. The mishap occurred at 1 p.m.

Cars driven by Oleta P. New, 3718 Highland Drive, and Gene Doyle Barnes, 2212 Avenue Z, were in collision at Avenue S and Twenty-fifth Street at 2:16 p.m. Damage to each vehicle was set at $75.

Presiding Judge Sterling Williams handed the defendant a two-year prison term which was probated.

Mrs. Douglas Files Suit For Divorce

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — The May-and-September marriage of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and his third wife is ending after two years and four months.

Joan Martin Douglas, 25, filed suit for divorce in Superior (County) Court here Wednesday, charging the 67-year-old jurist with cruel treatment and personal indignities.

They met in 1961 when Douglas lectured at Allegheny College, where she was a student. Joan planned to do a senior year research project on Douglas' political philosophy, so a professor introduced them.

They were married Aug. 6, 1963, in Buffalo, N.Y.

In her divorce complaint, she said he agreed to pay her $500 a month for eight months beginning Jan. 1 and $400 a month thereafter until she dies or remarries. She asked for restoration of her maiden name.

In Washington, D.C., Douglas' office said he was out of the city. Mrs. Douglas' attorney, Dan Reaugh of Seattle, said he did not know where she was.

The couple had no children. Douglas has a son, actor William O. Douglas Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Frank C. Wells, by his first wife, whom he married in 1923.

Expert Spots Delinquents At Age Of 3

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A noted criminologist said today children who are likely to become juvenile delinquents can be singled out when only two to three years old.

Dr. Eleanor Tuoroff Glueck, a researcher at Harvard University, announced this conclusion after years of studying infant and family characteristics.

She said the findings offer new hope for preventive action in individual cases before serious delinquency actually develops.

Dr. Glueck and her husband, Sheldon, who is professor of criminal law at Harvard Law School, devised the widely-used Glueck Social Prediction Table based on a 1950 study of children in the 5- to 6-year-old range.

Dr. Glueck has now added two factors which she said makes the table effective for weighing up the delinquency potential still earlier in life.

Two years ago the New York City Youth Board reported that a 10-year study using the original Glueck table showed that of 33 boys it identified as having a high delinquency potential at school-entering age, 25, or 84.8 per cent, became persistent offenders before the age of 17.

Of 243 boys identified as unlikely to become delinquent, only 9, or 2.9 per cent, did so. Dr. Glueck believes the revised table will prove equally accurate in assessing younger children.

The original table was based on three factors. Two were social: (1) undesirable parental traits such as criminality, alcoholism, emotional disturbance or mental retardation, and (2) the degree of parental affection for the child. One was constitutional: the degree of child restlessness.

The revised table adds two constitutional factors, infant destructiveness and resistance to authority.

Dr. Glueck said that since the two parental factors are apparent from the time of the child's birth, she is hopeful that "identification of potential delinquents can eventually be pushed back beyond even the two- to three-year level."

Dr. Glueck said that while lack of family cohesion is the principal source of problem behavior, children with certain characteristics are more likely than others to respond to an adverse environment by becoming delinquent.

Suspected Counterfeiter Makes Bond

FORT WORTH (AP)—Jerry Boulware, 21, of Irving, Tex., was free on $1,000 bond today after surrendering to Secret Service agents on a counterfeiting conspiracy charge.

Boulware appeared before U.S. Commissioner Bill Atkins Wednesday on charges of possessing and concealing fraudulent $5, $10 and $20 Federal Reserve notes.

Atkins released him after he waived a preliminary hearing and posted the bond.

Boulware's sister, Mrs. Sherry Pearson, 21, of Grand Prairie, was arrested in Arlington Saturday night and charged with passing counterfeit bills.

The charges stem from the Sunday discovery of $200,000 in bogus bills in the Trinity River at Irving.

Secret Service agents Tuesday found $10,000 in bad bills and a suitcase believed to once contain a quantity of bogus bills.

Boulware and Bruce G. Reid of Corpus Christi were charged in the case Monday in Dallas. Reid was arrested last weekend in Corpus Christi and held in lieu of $15,000 bond.

Mrs. Pearson told police Reid left two suitcases of the counterfeit bills and engraving plates at her apartment.

Boulware threw the money and plates in the river after learning of his sister's arrest, officers said.

Air Search May Be Resumed Today

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) —Civil Air Patrol officials—thwarted by bad weather—hope to resume the search early today for two Garland, Tex., men missing since Saturday on a flight from Farmington to Dallas.

Wednesday's search was limited to ground work because of a hard storm. Search parties reported negative results.

Aboard the single-engine Piper Comanche were Robert Forte and Charles McIntire. Forte is the father-in-law of Dallas Cowboy football player Ralph Neely.

An Oriental Flair For Leftover Turkey

Puzzled by the proverbial question, "What to do with the leftover turkey?" Here's a way to give it a new flavor, sure to please the palates of the whole family.

The subtle flavors of ginger and nutmeg combined with turkey and served in patty shells give leftovers an Oriental touch. The convenience of using packaged frozen patty shells is that they may be baked ahead of time, then reheated for added crispness at serving time.

TURKEY CANTONESE

1 package frozen patty shells
¾ cup chopped onion
¾ cup sliced celery
¾ cup thinly sliced raw carrots
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon soya sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup drained pineapple tidbits
1¼ cups cooked diced turkey
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts; thinly sliced

Prepare frozen patty shells according to package directions. In large skillet, melt butter or margarine; saute onions, celery and carrots until crisp and golden.

Combine cornstarch, ginger, nutmeg, cream of chicken soup, water, soya sauce and lemon juice, mix until well blended. Add to sauteed vegetables and simmer over low heat until mixture thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Add turkey, pineapple tidbits and water chestnuts; cover, simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Spoon into baked patty shells and serve. Makes 6 servings.

An area nearly the size of Africa would be added to man's domain if he could work freely on the continental shelves. The shelves hold known reserves of oil, tin and diamonds. To exploit these riches, however, divers would have to conquer the ocean to a depth of 600 feet.

Vivace Club Christmas Meet Held

The Vivace Junior Music Club met Saturday at 10 a.m. in the home of Miss Revin Stoker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stoker, Clairemont Route. Revin and Don Stoker greeted guests to the background of Christmas carols played by Amy Dozier.

Molly Walker, president, called the meeting to order with all joining together repeating the club pledge and collect, followed by the club song.

Lending to the Christmas spirit, the den was alive with holiday decor. A big green Christmas tree blinked with red lights and tassels. A swag of fresh greenery bedecked the fireplace.

The program chairman was Debra Norton. The Christmas story was read from the Bible by Judy Hendrix. Jacque Patchell played "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Away in a Manger" at intervals during the story. Linda Hicks accompanied Janet Womack and Debra Norton singing "Silver Bells". Amy Dozier also accompanied them in "Chestnuts." All joined in singing carols.

Miss Vee Ann Johnson invited the club to her senior recital at the Martha Ann Woman's Club Sunday December 19th at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Richard Stoker served marshmallow creme fudge, sour creme fudge, jubilee jumble cookies and hot chocolate to: Mark Brock, Jana Bullard, Therisa Campbell, Ronald Clinton, Lynn Denton, Amy and Laurie Dozier, Judy and Susie Hendrix, Linda Hicks, Vicki Hinshaw, Cheri Hollis, Vee Ann Johnson, Don Montgomery, Raleen Martin, Debra Norton, Jacque Patchell, Revin Stoker, Candy Stokes, Jamie Stehley, Jacque Stehley, Shelley Traugott, Molly Walker and Janet Womack, and Mrs. Wayne Bethel, sponsor of the club, Mrs. Jim Stehley, Laurie and Charles Bethel and Don Stoker.

WITH CROP SUBSIDIES

Farmers Would Feed Needy

By OVID A. MARTIN

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation urged today that the United States continue to provide food for needy areas abroad.

Future donations would be financed by funds the government now uses to pay farmers for complying with federal crop production and farm price control programs.

Under resolutions submitted to delegates for approval at today's closing session of the big farm organization's annual convention, farm payments would be dropped. They now total about $3.5 billion a year.

This means that under the Farm Bureau plan, foreign food aid programs would add no new burdens on taxpayers. Money from funds now used for subsidies to farmers would be turned over to needy countries for purchase of essential foods in this country.

The Farm Bureau leaders figure that foreign demand will increase, making it necessary over the years ahead to increase production and permit the dropping of government controls.

The convention voted to stand firm on demands that government withdraw from agriculture. Resolutions said farmers are tired of government restrictions and want to be free to produce and sell on a market free of federal influence.

A policy statement declared that farmers do not have the standing with the public to which it said they are entitled.

"The elimination of unsound federal farm programs would be the greatest single contribution which could be made to earn the good will of the public," the statement said.

The convention sharply criticized new cotton, dairy wheat and feed grain programs Congress authorized this year on recommendation of the Johnson administration.

Cooperative Is Sending Out Checks

The Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative was set to place in the mail at 5 p.m. today checks totalling $45,784.28.

They are capital credit checks for the year 1957 and are being distributed to every member of the cooperative who used electricity any time during 1957. The checks range from a high of $1,302.32 down to a low of just a few cents. The size of the check each cooperative member receives is dependent on the amount of electricity the member paid for in 1957.

This is the third consecutive year Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative has returned member capital credit checks. The current payment makes a total of $102,310.30 returned to cooperative members.

Tigers, Brownwood In Bluebonnet Meet

The Tigers of Snyder High School collide with Brownwood at 9:30 p.m. tonight in the first round of the annual Bluebonnet Basketball Tournament. The tournament will be concluded Friday as not to conflict with the Brownwood-Bridge City football game in College Station Saturday.

Lake View meets Breckenridge in the other Class AAA Division. Class AA entries are Quanah, Dublin, Comanche and San Saba. Snyder is the defending champion.

Coach Ned Underwood of the Tigers probably will start Ronnie Laster at center, Tom Bullard and Bill Blum at guard, and Langston Powell and Eldon Woodward at forward.

The Snyder Junior teams also take the court today. Two important games are on tap at the Travis gym, where the Travis Blue and the Lamar Red meet at 4:30 p.m., followed by a tussle between the Lamar Gray and the Travis White at 5:30 p.m. The Travis 8th and 9th grade teams go to Colorado City for 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. tests, while the Lamar 8th and 9th graders have 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. contests set at Sweetwater.

Vince Dooley Has The Inside Track

By JERRY SCARBROUGH
Associated Press Sports writer

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) —The University of Oklahoma, its research and interviews completed for the moment was expected to offer the chore of rebuilding its tattered football fortunes to Georgia's Vince Dooley today.

Dr. George L. Cross, university president, was to meet today with the school's Athletic Council to ask them their preferences." Cross said the job offer might be made today, but he said no announcement would be made until the job was accepted.

Cross said if the council is ready to recommend one of the five coaches interviewed for the post. No additional interviews will be held unless the council's choice refused the Oklahoma offer.

"We'll just quit—if they recommend someone and he accepts," Cross said.

Dooley, 33, was the only head coach interviewed by the council after favorite son Darrell Royal, a former Oklahoma quarterback turned down a lucrative Sooner offer in favor of his present post as head coach and athletic director at Texas.

The council also interviewed Southern Methodist aide Chuck Curtis, Iowa State assistant Tom Steigleder, and two Oklahoma assistants, Dick Healty and Bobby Dreak Keith both of whom were aides to Gomer Jones, who resigned last week after a 3-7 season.

Cross said he still hopes a coach can be named this week, adding, "I would guess we wouldn't have one before Saturday.

Dooley was expected to get the offer because of the apparent feeling in the Sooner camp that a winner must be found to keep the fans contented.

Dooley's record at Georgia is 13-7-1 in his two years there. Georgia had won only 10 games in three years before he took the post.

However, Dooley has indicated he may elect to remain at Georgia even if the job is offered.

Both Dooley and his wife are natives of Alabama and all Dooley's playing and coaching experience has been in the South. He was a star quarterback at Auburn, then was an Auburn assistant for eight years until taking the Georgia post.

Mrs. Dooley may have given a subtle hint Wednesday when she discussed the many telegrams and phone calls pouring into their Athens, Ga., home urging her husband to stay on at Georgia.

"All of a sudden I feel so much like a Georgia Bulldog," she said, "I'd hate to leave. But of course I'm just like everyone else-sitting and waiting for Vince to make his decision."

OKLAHOMA BOUND?—Vince Dooley, above, young University of Georgia head football coach, has been offered the coaching job at the University of Oklahoma. A former Auburn assistant, he rebuilt Georgia football fortunes in two years. (AP Wirephoto).

Harris Stays With Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Houston Astro field manager Luman Harris says he plans to remain with the Houston baseball organization.

Harris, along with general manager Paul Richards, were fired last Sunday by Astro owner. Roy Hofheinz.

Harris said Wednesday he had been offered and had accepted a job to handle special assignments and scout both major leagues.

Harris, 50, managed the Astros last season and finished ninth. Before he was named manager he was a Houston coach.

Classic Sold Out

DALLAS (AP)—The Cotton Bowl is a complete sellout. You can't even buy a ticket through the competing schools—Arkansas and Louisiana State. They've sold their allotments.

The two schools got more than 25,000 tickets, bond and option holders of the Cotton Bowl bought between 18,000 and 20,000 and the remainder of the 75,504 tickets were sold to the public in November.

Royals, Big O Stop Celtics

By The Associated Press

Stop Oscar Robertson and you figure to do pretty well against the Cincinnati Royals, right?

Wrong.

The Boston Celtics forgot to finish the job on the Big O and his second-half spurt led the Royals to a 117-110 victory over the perennial National Basketball Association champions Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the NBA Wednesday, Baltimore ended New York's three game winning streak, 111-108, Philadelphia whipped Los Angeles 122-103 and San Francisco downed St. Louis 128-113 at Oakland, Calif.

The Celts held Robertson to four free throws in the first half but the Big O broke loose for 17 points in the third period as Cincinnati took control. Robertson finished with 27 but the big man for the Royals was Oscar's backcourt partner, Adrian Smith, who pumped a career-high 34.

Sox Trade Thomas To Atlanta Braves

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The inter-league baseball trading season has ended with three deals involving six clubs but the swaps rated in the ho-hum class compared with the big one involving slugger Frank Robinson last week.

Just before the gates were closed at midnight on trades between the American and National leagues, the reorganizing Boston Red Sox of the AL sent first baseman-outfielder Lee Thomas, southpaw pitcher Arnold Earley and a minor leaguer to be named later to the Atlanta Braves of the NL for right-handed pitchers Bob Sadowski, a starter-reliever, and reliever Dan Osinski.

The California Angels of the AL shipped right-handed pitcher Barry Latman to the Houston Astros of the NL for infielder Ed Pacheco and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, NL, traded infielder Dick Tracewski, 30, a .215 hitter who played in six World Series games as a sub, to Detroit, AL, for veteran right-handed pitcher Phil Regan, 28.

Regan, a previous winner for the Tigers, was 9-4 at Syracuse in the International League and 1-5 for the Tigers last year.

Arthur Red Patterson of the Dodger front office said Regan will fill the No. 4 rotation spot after Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen.

"Tracewski is a top short stop," Patterson said. "But we wanted to strengthen our pitching staff."

Thomas was the big man in the deals. The 29-year-old left-handed hitter batted .271, clouting 22 homers and driving in 75 runs. Earley, 22, a reliever, appeared in 57 games, had a 0-4 record and an 3.63 ERA.

Sadowski, 27, had a 6-5 won-lost record and 4.32 ERA. Osinski, 32, in 61 relief appearances, had a fine 2.82 ERA and an 0-3 record.

Latman, 29, a much-traveled big leaguer, was 1-1 with the Angels and 7-6 with Seattle in the Pacific Coast League. Pacheco hit .269 at Durham in the Carolina League.

From now on the big league teams will have to look within their own leagues if they want to trade.

The deal for the 30-year-old Robinson, the NL's Most Valuable Player of 1961 and a slugger who has averaged 100 runs batted in and 32 homers a season for 10 years, was a whopper. To get the super-star, the Orioles gave up solid pitching strength in Milt Pappas, 26-year-old right-handed starting ace, and recently acquired relief star Jack Baldschun and outfielder Dick Simpson.

In previous trades to set the deal up, the Orioles swapped veteran first baseman Norm Siebern to the California Angels for Simpson and shipped outfielder Jack Brandt and pitcher Darold Knowles to the Phillies for Baldschun.

Astros Get Latman

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros have acquired right-hand pitcher Barry Latman, 29, from the California Angels.

Astro officials said Wednesday the Angels received infielder Ed Pacheco and an undisclosed amount of cash in the deal.

Latman had a 1-1 record with the Angels and a 7-6 mark with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last season.

Pacheco was claimed on waivers by Houston from St. Louis last spring. He hit .267 at Durham in the Carolina League last season.

Houston, A&M Win 1st Round

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Columbia Lions, underdogs for years in football and basketball, may turn out to be the surprise team of the season in the collegiate dribble sport.

The addition of sophomore seven-foot Dave Newmark seems to have inspired the boys from Morningside Heights to equal the feats of the 151 Columbia team which was unbeaten in a 21-game regular season.

The Lions spotted Rutgers an 11-1 lead Wednesday night then virtually ran the Scarlet off the court with a fast break for a 108-78 victory. It was the Lions' fifth in a row against no defeats, a string that includes a surprise triumph over Cornell in the Ivy League.

The Providence Friars, seventh-ranked in The Associated Press poll, barely averted suffering their first defeat at the hands of a touring St. Mary's team from California.

Two free throws by Mike Riordan in the last 12 seconds broke a 79-79 tie and gave the Friars their fourth in a row 81-79. Jimmy Walker's 31 points had kept the Friars in contention.

The second-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, romped over Albright 85-54 behind Marty Ford's 23 points.

The Iowa Hawkeyes also remained unbeaten with a 99-70 breeze over Washington for their sixth straight. George Peeples, with 25 points, Chris Pervall with 22 and Gerry Jones with 19 led the Iowa attack.

Houston whipped Louisiana State 110-87 and Texas A&M downed Rice 89-81 in the first of the two-day Bluebonnet Classic doubleheaders at Houston. In other games, Dayton topped Louisville 76-59, Chicago Loyola crushed Missouri 108-85, St. John's of New York walloped Canisius 85-65, Temple overwhelmed Creighton 85-59, Arizona defeated Seattle 73-64, Maryland whipped Georgetown, Dc., 77-59 and Utah State conquered Morehead of Kentucky 90-63.

War Threatens To Mar President's Political Record

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam is President Johnson's most baffling experience and in the end it may do him more political damage than anything that ever happened to him.

He has had great success in the Senate and White House, persuading people he could reach by phone or in person. And for most of his political life his problems were those at home.

But Viet Nam is half-way around the world and the Communists there are out of reach. And they won't listen.

And here at home, unless there is a settlement in the war before the 1966 congressional elections, the Republicans are sure to make it a big issue in the campaigns. He can remember President Harry S. Truman and the Korean War.

One example of how much direct contact means to Johnson came Wednesday at the end of his two-day conversation with Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

American relations with Pakistan had become a little rocky since the Indian-Pakistani war this year when there were anti-American demonstrations in Pakistan and each side complained the other was using weapons supplied by this country.

Johnson and Khan wound up their conversation with an agreement to deal directly with each other in the future on matters of common interest.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said the two men had discussed the misunderstandings that had impeded communications between them in the past but that now the communications seem clear again.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on one side, and the North Vietnamese on the other, in making their separate declarations on how the war could be ended were not talking to each other directly but at each other.

In the process they have apparently talked themselves into a dead end since the terms each side laid down almost certainly would require the other to surrender, with no out.

Johnson has to be concerned to some extent about the anti-war groups in this country because, although to a limited degree, they reflect divided opinion in this country.

He may feel it necessary to keep them in mind as he ponders actions to win the war, actions which will have to be more drastic than any taken so far if the war is to be finished.

But his real political problem at home will be the Republicans if the war drags. This week their congressional leaders and some of their governors issued a unanimous declaration urging Johnson to stronger action.

The Republicans climbed on Truman's back within two months after the start of the Korean War in 1950, which was a congressional election year. They made a declaration then and made the war an election issue.

They continued making it an issue all through 1951 and it boiled over in the 1952 presidential campaign which Dwight D. Eisenhower won after promising to go to Korea if elected.

The desire to deprive the Republicans of an issue would, by itself, be a big incentive for Johnson to redouble his efforts next year to settle the war.

Federal Funds To San Antonio School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Harlandale Independent School District, San Antonio, Tex., has been allocated $457,287 by the office of education.

The money was granted under a law to aid school districts that educate children of federal employes who live or work on tax exempt property.

Adventure In Sending Yule Cards

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are bored with your present friends there is an easy way to make more interesting ones.

You do it with Christmas cards.

Instead of sending them to people you know — a waste of penmanship at best — you send them to total strangers.

There is little point in cluttering up postal bags with season greetings to people who make up part of the hamburger of your daily living.

You know their hypocrisies, and they know yours, and the ordeal of the commonplace has dulled your sense of mutual wonder.

To regain your sense of human adventure do this:

Get a copy of "Who's Who in America" and send at alphabetical random a Christmas card to 100 people in 100 different towns and cities.

Scribble the following note on each:

"Dear Joe or Jack or Pete or Algernon:

"I'll never forget your kindness in lending me a helping hand when I needed it, and now that I am in a position to return the favor I just want you to know that — well, I guess I don't have to say more."

The chances are that by return mail you will get only 99 cards wishing you the best of health during the new year. The 100th person will be out of town or dead or something.

None of the 99 who respond, of course, will know you at all. But you will have piqued their interest in two ways.

They will be flattered by the thought they have done a good deed that their vanity doesn't remember, and they will cherish the idea that your undying gratitude will support them if they ever need help.

All people, including those listed in "Who's Who," like the romantic illusion they have a rich uncle from Australia who may remember them in his will. This is your role — and you might as well play it to the hilt.

At the next yuletide they will send a greeting card to you with a warm message. They probably will include photos of their family.

Before long you will be exchanging friendly gossipy letters with them. They will complain about their wives, their troubles with their children, their ailments. They will send you their stock market tips, and ask you to send them yours.

It doesn't have to remain a friendship by correspondence alone. If you travel about the country, you will always be a welcome guest in their home. They will wine you and dine you and think it a privilege to do so.

Sooner or later, of course, a puzzled look will come across their face, and they will tactfully try to question you about that great favor they did you in the past.

You look them straight in the eye and reply:

"Well, Joe, you may have forgotten — but I'll always remember. Let's leave it at that. Shall we have another spot of your bourbon for auld lang syne — and call it a night?"

You will leave them feeling they are nobler than they knew. You will have enriched their lives. And, of course, you won't have made your own life any poorer.

A Junior Editors Quiz About CONSTITUTION

QUESTION: Who wrote the United States Constitution?

• • •

ANSWER: From March of 1781, Americans had as the law of the land the Articles of Confederation which had been approved by Congress on November 15, 1777. But following the American victory, it became clear that these Articles were not strong enough to serve as the framework for a new nation, especially because Congress did not have enough authority to act in national matters. Leaders like Washington, Hamilton and Madison pointed out this weakness. As a result, the states agreed to send delegates to a convention to draw up a new constitution. No one man, by himself, can be said to have written this wonderful document. Its ideas were worked out by discussion and compromise. It was the result of a meeting of brilliant minds, of men with different points of view, who were inspired to pool the best of their thinking for the general welfare. James Madison, by his particular ability to bring opposing ideas together, contributed so much that he is often called the Father of the Constitution. But the man who took the ideas as worked out and put them into final words was Governor Morris, and in this sense, Morris was the man who actually wrote the Constitution, even if the ideas back of the words had been worked out by many others.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 and happily married. My 25-year-old brother is able-bodied, intelligent, and unemployed. He lives at home and lets my parents support him. They buy his clothes, give him spending money and provide him with a car. He sleeps until noon, leaves his room a mess, and then takes off to play pool with his unemployed buddies all day. He tells my folks he's job-hunting. This has been going on for six months. My mother calls me constantly, moaning and groaning about how inconsiderate my brother is. He either doesn't show up for meals, or he brings home four or five free-loaders for a meal. All my advice to him has been ignored, and my advice to my mother (to throw him out) has also fallen on deaf ears. What more can I do?

"AUS-GESPIELT" IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR "AUS-GESPIELT": If a 25-year-old man choses to be a bum, it's unfortunate, but his mother doesn't have to help him. You've done all you can. Ask your mother to give you one good reason why the lazy lout should go to work when he's never had it so good.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who fancies herself as an expert dessert - maker. Whenever I invite her to my home for dinner, she insists on bringing the dessert and, of course, I have to serve it to my guests or she will be insulted. Abby, I hate to appear ungrateful, but this woman's desserts are not fit to eat. It isn't only my opinion. My guests will take a token bite and I can see that they have great difficulty choking it down.

Meanwhile, my lovely dessert remains in the kitchen. How can I get out of serving my friend's offerings without hurting her feeling? She's a nice person and I wouldn't offend her for the world, but this problem is getting me down.

OMIT NAME AND CITY

DEAR OMIT: Next time you invite this woman to your home for dinner, tell her that you appreciate her generosity, but please to refrain from bringing anything, as your menu is complete. If she ignores your request and brings something anyway, serve yours and hers, too.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion that asking school children to make a "Family Tree" is an invasion of privacy, has drawn a great deal of fire, pro and con. Regarding the one from "PROUD" IN VIRGINIA, who was thrilled and tickled to find proof of her "noble" ancestry, making her eligible to join the DAR:

It was Daniel Webster who said, "It is only shallow-minded pretenders who make distinguished origin a matter of personal merit." Voltaire said it better: "Whoever serves his country well has no need of ancestors."

Still a better one by Ovid: "Birth and ancestry, and that which we have not ourselves achieved, we can scarcely call our own." And perhaps the best of all, by the English poet, Sir Thomas Overbury (1581-1613), who was poisoned in the Tower: "The man who has nothing to boast of but his illustrious ancestry is like a potato—the only good belonging to him is underground."

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF SCURRY

By virtue of an execution issued out of the District Court of Scurry County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court on the 8th day of October, 1965, in favor of the O'Brien Corporation and against the said W. S. Salmon, in the case of The O'Brien Corporation against W. S. Salmon, No. 9144 in said court, I did on the 10th day of November, 1965, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., levy upon the following described tracts and parcels of land situate in the County of Scurry, State of Texas, as the property of said W. S. Salmon, to-wit:

TRACT 1: The West 100 feet of Lot No. 2, Block 36, Grayum & Nelson Heights Addition, to the City of Snyder, Scurry County, Texas;

TRACT 2: The West 50 feet of lot No. 2, Block 19, Grayum & Nelson Heights Addition, to the City of Snyder, Scurry County, Texas;

TRACT 3: Lot No. 2, Block 19, Grayum & Nelson Heights Addition to the City of Snyder, Scurry County, Texas; and

TRACT 4: The East 50 feet of Lot No. 2, Block No. 36, Grayum and Nelson Heights Addition to the City of Snyder, Scurry County, Texas;

and on the 4th day of January, 1966, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10:00 o'clock A.M. and 4:00 o'clock P.M. on said day, at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said W. S. Salmon in and to said property.

DATED at Snyder, Texas this 9th day of December, 1965.

Murder Trial Continues

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The murder trial of Ervin Faye Stewart, charged with murder in the slaying of a Texas Christian University coed, continued here today.

A convict serving a life sentence for murder Wednesday testified that Stewart told him of the slaying and earlier rape of Jane Langdon, 21, daughter of a Fort Worth, Tex., judge.

Ben Hitchcock testified about several conversations he said he had with Stewart, 37, an Arizona State Prison inmate from Denver, Colo.

He quoted Stewart as saying Stewart and an unidentified man saw Miss Langdon standing on a street corner and forced her into their car.

Hitchcock said Stewart told of taking the young woman to a mine north of Phoenix, raping her and then shooting her in March 1963.

Miss Langdon disappeared after arriving March 21, 1963, in Phoenix to visit her ill mother. Two days later her body was found in an abandoned mine.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D destroys the Voodoo man's evil mirror and tells Santa the story of the Zabbazara bus. Santa says there is such a place as Zabbazara and they will go there to break the spell of the Voodoo man.

CHAPTER TEN

A MAP OF DREAM LANDS

Mr. D patched up the broken gas tank with chewing gum and Santa filled the tank with gas from the joy automobile shop.

"I shouldn't drive," said Mr. D. "I can't see properly without my glasses."

"I keep a spare pair of glasses for myself," said Santa. "Try mine."

Mr. D put on Santa's glasses. For the first time in his life things looked straight and true.

"They're like magic! Everything is beautiful!"

"Not I!" said the crocodile. "Ever you," said Mr. D. "And the Fabulous Dunklebum, too!"

"Wait until we get to Zabbazara," said the little boy. "It'll be the most beautiful!"

The ugly old crocodile, in love with the ugly old monster, couldn't bear to leave him even though he had turned to stone. The donkey felt sorry for them. He said, "I'll stay, too. What if the Voodoo man comes back? Someone has to be here to protect things!"

"That's true," said Santa. "How sensible you are."

No one had ever told the donkey he had sense. He felt very proud. He almost didn't mind not going to Zabbazara.

"Goodbye! Goodbye!" He waved to Santa and the little boy and Mr. D as they climbed aboard the bus. "Don't worry. I'll take care of everything."

In the bus, the little lost boy sat beside Santa. "What will happen if you don't find a way to break the spell?" he asked.

"There'll be no Christmas," said Santa. "How can I make toys without my workers, and how can I deliver them without my reindeer? And when the Voodoo man finds I did not look in his mirror and turn to stone, he won't rest until he has cast another spell for me. We must get to Zabbazara, and we must get there very fast for it is only a few days more before Christmas."

"But," said Mr. D from the driver's seat. "How do you know there is truly such a place?"

"I have a map and I have seen it there," Santa unfolded a sheet of fine linen. On it, embroidered in silk threads, was a map of faraway places.

"It's not a map of the world at all!" protested the boy.

"It is a different world. These are lands where you go in your dreams." He pointed to an island embroidered in gold. "See, here is Zabbazara. I have heard there is a princess there who can give any gift and break any spell. That's where we must go."

"An island!" exclaimed Mr. D. "How on earth will I get the bus to an island?"

"Just follow the directions on the map."

Mr. D studied the map. There were directions in strange languages and roads whose names he couldn't pronounce. There were highways that seemed to leap across oceans and lands that seemed to hang in the skies.

Maybe it was because of the glasses Santa had given him or maybe it was for some other reason, but suddenly the map seemed very clear to Mr. D. He knew for sure that the Zabbazara bus really was going to Zabbazara.

Tomorrow: The Golden Island.

A boat of ancient design is still used by Welsh fishermen to net salmon from the swift waters of the River Teifi. Their craft, a coracle, consists of a wicker frame covered with pitch-smeared calico.

Small wonder with five beautiful kinds of '66 Plymouths to see. One special Plymouth is Satellite, . . . prized leader of the all-new Belvedere line. Its standard equipment includes front bucket seats, center console with glove box, safety door handles, special wheel covers with simulated spinner hubs, padded instrument panel, and a 273 cubic-inch V-8 engine. But that isn't all that's special. Satellite's still in the low price field.
