Highway Issue Is Engrossed By House

Less Than Two Hours Thought Is Occasioned

Amendment Proposes To Authorize Issuance $212,000,000 State Bonds To Reimburse County Treasuries

Vote Is 80 To 59

Not Determined When Resolution Will Be Brought Up For Final Action; Will Attempt To Overcome Lead

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 15—Spending less than two hours in deliberation the house of representatives of the Texas legislature today engrossed a constitutional amendment proposing to authorize the issuance of $212,000,000 in state bonds, to reimburse counties for funds expended on the state system and facilitate new construction.

The vote on engrossment was 80 for and 59 against.

Doubt Expressed

The large number of votes against the resolution left considerable doubt in the minds of many that the resolution would be adopted when brought up for final action. Under the rules, the resolution must receive 100 votes before it can be submitted to the people.

It previously had been predicted the house would spend several days debating the resolution. It required more than three days to dispose of it in the senate, but the house evidenced no desire to spend a lot of time in debate and working under the previous question, which shut off debates listened to only three speeches for the resolution.

Date Not Set

No one spoke against the resolution and few questions were directed at speakers for it.

When the resolution will be brought up for final adoption could not be determined, proponents indicating they would attempt to overcome the 19 vote advantage of the opposition as soon as possible.

Indian Faces Death Friday

All Efforts Fail In Attempt To Save Life Of E. S. Hembree, Convicted Of Attacking School Teacher

(By Associated Press)

M'ALESTER, Okla., April 15. — Another bunk in death row at Oklahoma penitentiary was made up tonight for E. S. (Choc) Hembree, Indian condemned to die early Friday for shooting and attacking a school teacher.

Hembree, however, smiled and said he wasn't worrying, as he faced the move to a little cell only a few yards from the electric chair, tested today for its grim task.

Pleads In Vain

The wife who pleaded in vain with Governor W. H. Murray told Hembree boodbye yesterday. He saw his children, his parents and a sister Saturday.

A scheduled sanity hearing was not held.

The Indian and his brother, A. Y. Hembree, were convicted of attacking Leota Bosley, young Gainesville, Tex., woman, near Loco, thirteen months ago. The brother is free on appeal bond from a prison sentence.

The lighting system, consisting of flood and boundary lights, will cost approximately $4,000. Bids for furnishing the equipment were opened by city officials on April 8.

Pantages Will Face Superior Court Judges

Theater Magnate, Together With Four Co-Defendants, Will Be Called Into Court On Charges

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 15. — Judge Arthur L. Mundo, at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing today, ordered Alexander Pantages and four co-defendants bound over to the superior court on charges of a conspiracy to commit immoral acts against two 17-year-old girls.

The decision by the justice court followed four and one half hours pleading by the state and defense on the testimony offered during the two days of the hearing.

Gives Decision

In a brief of the evidence, Judge Mundo declared:

"A review of the testimony shows it is sufficient to convince me at least beyond a questionable probability that what has been related here took place and there is sufficient cause to believe the defendants committed the things charged. The motion to dismiss the complaint is denied and the defendants will be held for trail in the superior court."

Marines Land From U. S. S. Asheville As Protectors

(By The Associated Press)

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nic., April 15 —Heavily armed insurgent bands in the hills of northeast Nicaragua, have killed nine Americans and an undetermined number of natives since last Saturday, but today United States marines landed from the U. S. S. Ashville to protect the citizens of this port.

Refugees from the sector in which the attackers are operating said the band descended early Saturday morning on the settlement at Logtown, 70 miles from here. A commissary clerk saw them coming and had time to call the Wawa junction telephone exchange and cry for help before he ran.

Marines Notified

The operator notified the marines and an automobile carrying three Americans and four national guardsmen started for Logtown. They stopped to wait for Captain Harlen Pefley and four more guardsmen.

Insurgents ambushed the little expeditionary force, killing Captain Pefley and wounding two of the others. William Selser, an American, died of his wounds later.

Subsequently Lieutenant Clyde Darrah set out with 20 men, but they too were ambushed. They fought off the attack until marine airplanes bombed the insurgents out of position on Sunday morning. Monday the beleaguered patrol was reinforced and eight of the insurgents were killed.

The Americans killed were residents of southern and eastern sections of the United States.

Damages Asked By J. W. Rollo

Suit Filed In 99th District Court Wednesday For $600 Against C. A. Coleman, Of Lynn County

Charging that the value of his automobile depreciated $600 when it was struck by another machine driven by Grover Coleman, Dr. J. W. Rollo, of Lubbock, yesterday filed suit in 99th district court against C. A. Coleman, of Lynn county, father of the driver of the other car, for that amount.

The collison occurred on Avenue Q at Thirteenth street last Nov. 20, the plaintiff said. Rollo claims that the driver of the other car failed to check the speed of the car at a boulevard stop sign and was traveling at a speed in excess of 40 miles per hour when the machines collided. Rollo's son was driving the plaintiff's automobile in an orderly manner, the petition recited.

Rollo said his automobile was worth $650 before the accident. Now it will not bring more than $50 as junk, he said.

Shouse Appeals To Wine Industry Of California

First Mention Made Of Prohibition By Speaker

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15. — A series of questions centering around the wine industry was addressed tonight to a California audience by Chairman Shouse of the Democratic national executive committee.

In his first mention of prohibition during a speaking tour of the west, described as opening the 1932 Democratic presidential campaign, Shouse asked the Californians if they were satisfied with existing conditions.

Addresses Dinner

Addressing a dinner at the Elks club, under auspices of the Democratic club of California and the San Francisco county central committee, Shouse said:

"This is neither the time nor the occasion, perhaps, to bring prohibition into the discussion, but I ask you as self respecting men and women if you are satisfied with existing conditions? How do you like the state of affairs in your great wine industry.

Limited Market

"It is true that by a subterfuge you are permitted a limited market for the products of your vineyards. Your fathers founded a great industry. You were gaining the markets of the world for California wines. There were no better people in the world, no more industrious, public-spirited and enterprising folks than your vineyardists.

"How do you, who respect their memories, feel at having their activities made criminal? How do you in carrying out their work enjoy being placed in a position of accepting as a political favor a limping, insincere, tortuous and troubled expedient in lieu of your moral right?"

The attitude of prohibition Director Woodcock towards the makers of grape concentrates fermentable into wine was reiterated last Monday at Washington. He served notice they would be prosecuted whenever it could be proved their product was sold with "intent" that it become "intoxicating in fact."

The remainder of Shouse's speech was devoted to criticism of the administration of President Hoover, a Californian, and to predicting a Democratic victory in 1932.

Now Ty Cobb Is Thrown A Curve

(By The Associated Press)

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 15.—Mrs. Charlie Marion Lombard Cobb today filed in Richmond county superior court a petition for divorce from Tyrus Raymond Cobb, former major league baseball star. Her petition charged cruel treatment.

Mrs. Cobb requested temporary alimony and custody of their four minor children, Shirley, 19, Herschel, 14, Beverly, 11, and Howell, 9. The Cobbs' oldest son, Tyrus R. Cobb, Jr., is a student at Princeton. He is 21 years of age and would not be affected by any ruling of the court regarding custody.

The petition gave no details regarding the cruelty charge and Mrs. Cobb refused to elaborate.

"As never before, agricultural workers, farm leaders, farmers and ranchmen will be given a lion's share of the program," Mr. Hopkins said. "S. C. Evans, district agent of the Texas Extension Service, whose territory comprises a large portion of West Texas surrounding Lubbock, says that the program is striking a favorable chord throughout the area.

Set Three Sessions

"Three of the six group conferences, which are outstanding features of the convention program this year, will be devoted exclusively to a study of West Texas agricultural and ranching problems," he said. "A fourth conference, of the industrial development group, will consider problems of real and

Woman Convicted Mann Act Charge

EL PASO, April 15. (AP)—Mrs. Billie Freeman was convicted in federal court here today of violating the Mann Act and was given a two year sentence, the place of servitude to be designated later. Her husband, Martin Freeman, pleaded guilty to similar charges and was sentenced to serve three years at Leavenworth, Kansas.

They were accused of transporting Helen Agnes Young, 17, from Memphis, Tennessee, to El Paso. The girl testified Freeman and his wife drugged her at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. A. Young in Memphis and she woke up in Muskogee, Okla., four days later. Mrs. Young also testified.

The court was advised Martin Freeman was sentenced to 10 to 20 years at Nashville, Tenn., in 1920 for second degree murder and also was convicted at Mobile, Alabama, last year on a Mann Act charge.

Test Tubes, Mortars And Crucibles Play Lead Roles At Annual Banquet

TEST TUBES, mortars and crucibles were called into play at the Hilton hotel last night in order to make 30 Texas Technological college students feel at home. The occasion was the first annual banquet of the Chemical Society.

The laboratory motif was carried throughout in the arrangements and decorations. Even the tables in the Matador ballroom were stationed in work table style. Food was served in the mortars and crucibles and refreshments came in test tubes. M. R. White and Vernon Jones were in charge of the banquet arrangements.

Dr. E. F. George was the principal speaker of the evening. His subject was "The philosophical Trend in Science." The speaker reviewed the history of some of the most modern ideas of science and showed that some of them were not so modern. Explaining the parodoxical idea of progress, Dr. George explained that only in the field of applied science has any appreciable progress been made. In some of the other fields, it is possible that a degression is even occurring, he said.

Other speakers were O'Brain Thompson, president of the society; L. D. Barrick, Nina Marie Wolfe and Alfred Emanuel. Dr.

Requirements Of Tech Will Be Discussed

Free Conference Committee Of House And Senate Probably Will Decide Upon Appropriations For School

(Special to the Avalanche)

AUSTIN, April 15. — Whether or not funds will be provided for a new diary building at Texas Technological college, at Lubbock, may depend upon the recommendations of a free conference committee composed of members of the house and the senate, it was indicated here today.

The house appropriation bill submitted yesterday by the house appropriations committee failed to carry provisions for either the dairy building or library at the Technological college. The educational bill of the house carries a total of $15,988,734 for the biennium, which is $1,850,000 less than board of control recommendations. The board urged a $250,000 library for the Lubbock school.

Both Are Asked

Both the library and dairy unit asked by Technological college are included in the senate educational appropriations bill.

The forty-first legislature made an appropriation for the library, but the bill was vetoed by former Governor Dan Moody.

Need is Felt

The Technological college board of directors asked the house appropriations committee for a library and dairy unit, two improvements stressed for the last four years as essential to the college's growth. Increased enrollment has necessitated more buildings, it is contented. The school's enrollment now is more than 2,400.

The University of Texas and Texaxs A and M. college are the only state schools having larger enrollments. Both of these institutions, unlike the Technological college, do not have to depend upon appropriations for building purposes, members of the legislature were told. Oil royalties furnish the required funds for campus improvements, it was said.

Manifesto Is Forbidden In New Republic

Dethroned King Declares He Has Lost Love Of People But Says Disaffection Not To Be Permanent

Preserves Rights

States Other Means Could Be Employed But That He Wished To Avoid Civil War And Now Will Wait

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France, April 15.—Alfonso XIII renounced none of his rights as King of Spain when he left his capital in the hands of a Republican government, and in a manifesto to his people made public here today by the Havas news agency he hints he may return.

"I have lost the love of my people," the manifesto said, "but my conscience tells me, that the disaffection will not be permanent.

Can Make Mistakes

"A king can make mistakes and I have ered myself sometimes, but our country always has shown itself generous toward faults which are not malicious.

"I am the king of all Spaniards and I could have employed other means to fight my adversaries, but I wished to avoid civil war.

"I renounce none of my rights because they are the heritage of history and one day I shall have to answer for their preservation. I await the true expression of my people and while I wait for the nation to speak I deliberately suspend the exercise of royal prerogative and take myself out of Spain. Thus she is the sole mistress of her destinies."

Word from Madrid tonight said the manifesto had not been given out there and it was reported publication of the document in Spain had been forbidden. Previously it had been understood the king's farewell message would be read to the people after he had left the county.

Sterling Upholds Twitty Sentence

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—Governor Sterling said today he would not commute the death sentence of Moncus Twitty, sentenced to be electrocuted early Friday of next week for an alleged criminal attack on a three year old girl in Gray county. Several county officials, among them Clifford Braly, former district attorney who prosecuted the case, had asked commutation. They stated Twitty's actions in jail since he was convicted had led them to believe he had the mind of a child ten or twelve years old.

Governor Sterling said the issue of insanity was raised at the trial and the jury held Twitty sane. He mentioned further the state pardon board had reviewed the facts and had unanimously decided against commutation. He stated he gave no reason why he should inte

Activities Of Texas Federated Clubs Continue In News Spotlight

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE STATE convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs here next November is going to be a success. That decision was reached today while I was over eating at the expense of someone else and listening to preliminary plans that were being discussed with Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, of Mount Pleasant, who is president.

It's a long time from now until November and Lubbock is going to have a lot of conventions between now and that time but it isn't too early for plans to be started for the state convention. This event is going to be the major one for club women of Lubbock and for a lot of other women. And, unless I'm very much mistaken, it is going to be one of the most businesslike of the lot.

That observation is based to some extent upon the appearance of the president, Mrs. Lindsay. She is all business.

The sort of thing happened that newspaper people love. It was late in the morning when Mrs. Lindsay arrived and I called to ask if she could be interviewed for the afternoon paper. Mrs. Lindsay granted a few minutes immediately and in the interim necessary for me to walk from this office to the hotel she organized her remarks so that no time was wasted with preliminaries. She knew what the paper wanted—and everyone doesn't who is in public life—and she knew what she wanted to tell the readers.

Now there are a lot of people who have some notion about what they want to say but they have a hard time getting their ideas organized and put into speech. And there are other people, as everyone who has ever attempted interviews knows, who have to do such a lot of talking to get a few things said. But Mrs. Lindsay was of the class having something to say and she got it said in a hurry.

She was just as businesslike in her discussions with the committee. She was frank in her talk; she told us what will be expected of Lubbock and she impressed everyone with the fact that the business of the convention comes first and that it will be arranged to fill and not crowd the three days.

For those who have entertained women's conventions and who have worked weeks and months on receptions, teas, drives and other entertainment and have been worked to death during the meeting providing meals and beds and other accommodations, the state convention of the T. F. W. C. should sound like an ideal thing. The delegates pay their way — they buy their meals and pay hotel bills and Lubbock women aren't going to have to get up early to get breakfast for a group of delegates. We will have an opportunity to offer them some social courtesies preceding the actual opening of the convention but that is all—which should make that little bit of entertaining extra good.

They are planning to secure speakers who are authorities in their various fields for this convention next fall. The program is going to be concerned with health, highway beautification, city planning and such topics of the day. The program promises to be a serious one and one with a purpose so I'm going to send some of my friends around who are always casting aspersions at the frivolities of women's clubs.

Here I'm reminded of something else. Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women out at Texas Technological college, is among the women who have been chosen to work on the local committee arranging for the Federation meeting here next fall and today she told us that she attended the first state convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs. The one this fall will be the thirty-third annual meeting.

Seems to me that if there is a woman in Lubbock who is qualified to work on this arrangements committee Mrs. Doak should be—because she has attended at intervals since the

Preliminary Plans For State Meeting Of Clubs Are Talked

President Of Federation In Lubbock, Meets With Club Women; District Delegates Are Returning

Activities of Federated club women continue to be of paramount interest to Lubbock women this week.

Even though the seventh district meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs was conducted in Memphis, Lubbock clubs were represented there and the convention activities have continued to be of interest here.

The visit of Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, of Mount Pleasant, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, here Wednesday served to stimulate this interest. Mrs. Lindsay came directly from the Memphis meeting and went on to Big Spring last evening to speak at the sixth district meeting which opened there yesterday. While in Lubbock she met a local committee at luncheon in Hotel Lubbock to make preliminary plans for the state meeting of the Texas Federation in Lubbock next November.

Delegates Return

Delegates to the Memphis meeting from Lubbock were returning to the city last night after having been at the convention since Monday. Reports will be made at the Federated club meetings during the next few weeks on this annual seventh district gathering.

Mrs. Lindsay was making her regular pre-convention trip to Lubbock yesterday to set in motion the local machinery for the meeting next fall. She conferred with Mrs. F. R. Friend, chairman of the committee to be in charge of local entertainment, and with several others who are to work with Mrs. Friend.

The convention next November will be the thirty-third annual meeting of the state convention and the first to come to Lubbock. "We are striving to make this the best of the thirty-three," Mrs. Lindsey stated, saying that since this is an election year there is more interest than usual and that many women of the state have expressed a desire to visit this section.

Outlines Program

High points in the program were outlined by Mrs. Lindsay during her visit here. Outstanding speakers on health, on highway beautification, city planning, the work of a dean of women in high schools and other subjects in which the Federation is vitally interested will be secured for the program here in November, she stated. Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, is to be asked to appear on the program, she added.

One feature of the convention will be the art exhibit to be held in connection with the awarding of a cash purchase prize for some painting of a Texas subject. This picture will hang in the permanent headquarters for the state Federation in Austin and plans and specifications for this headquarters will be on display at the meeting this fall, according to the president.

The convention will begin in Lubbock the second week in November with a board meeting on Monday and three following days to be devoted to the convention proper.

The Junior Home Progress club of Miami was awarded first place for the best club report during the year. The second prize went to the Junior Althurian club of Snyder.

There May be Poison in YOUR Bowels!

STEP out tomorrow morning with the fresh buoyancy and briskness that comes from a clean intestinal tract. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription for the bowels—will help you do this. The compound laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other pure ingredients will clean you out thoroughly—without griping, sickening or discomfort.

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels, cause that dull, headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The difference it will make in your feelings over night will prove its merit to you.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for forty-sevn years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need to make their bowels help themselves. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to everyone. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the most popular laxative drugstores sell.

TRUE TO THE COLORS

CAREFUL housewives say it's a shame the way gingham and cotton prints are often washed in scalding water. No wonder colors and freshness fade! . . . But perhaps you think you can't get things clean any other way.

Then change to White King! Made from fine vegetable and nut oils. White King Granulated Soap will form quick, creamy suds, will cleanse thoroughly, and will swiftly rinse away in the lukewarm water that preserves the life and color of delicate fabrics. White King is pure. That's the reason. And the same purity makes it effective for dishes and heavy washing too.

White King is economical. You'll only need a teaspoonful in the wash basin, a cupful in the washing machine, even in hard water. Try it—today. Recommended by your dealer.

First State Bank Seminole Closed

SEMINOLE, April 15. (Special.) The First State bank of Seminole has been closed and the state banking department has assumed charge of the institution.

The bank, one of the oldest in this section, has served a wide territory for many years, including a large part of Lea county, New Mexico, as well as Gaines county. For years it was the only bank in the county.

It is understood that the chief reason for the closing was the fact that a large proportion of the deposits of the bank were tied up in certificates of indebtedness of the town of Hobbs. Nearly one-half of the bank's deposits were from Lea county.

S. I. Simpson was the president. Plans are reported under way to reopen the institution.

School funds of the Seminole district are tied up in the bank. Officials of the district do not believe that the schools will be closed until the regular time, because of expected receipts from state sources.

Dallas Will Ask Next Convention

For the first time since the organization of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Dallas will seek an annual convention of the regional chamber when the yearly session convenes here May 14, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce has been informed through a letter from J. Ben Critz, vice president and general manager of the Dallas chamber.

A concerted effort will be made by Dallas at the Lubbock meeting to gain the 1932 convention, Mr. Critz said.

Fort Worth is the most easterly city to play host to the West Texas body. The 1928 annual meeting of the organization was held in that city.

Mineral Wells, which entertained the West Texans in 1925, has indicated that it again will seek the convention.

Weldon Chapman Named Head Coach Lubbock High

Cats Whitewash Spudders; Senators Even With A's; Cubs Take Second

Former Cisco Mentor Accepts Contract Here; Will Succeed Henry Frnka, Resigned Coach

Chapman Unanimously Elected By School Board Yesterday; To Report In June; Brings Imposing Coaching Record

W. B. (Weldon) Chapman of Cisco was yesterday acclaimed head coach of athletics at Lubbock High school by a unanimous vote of the high school board.

For the last nine years head coach at Cisco High school, Chapman succeeds Henry E. Frnka, Lubbock High mentor for five years who has accepted a position as head coach at Greenville High school.

At a meeting of the school board and high school athletic council yesterday, a climax of several conferences which have been held since the announcement that Frnka had resigned his position here, Chapman was duly elected head coach of all athletics in connection with Lubbock High. He will direct football, basketball and track. He arrived here late yesterday and signed a contract in the presence of M. H. Duncan, school superintendent, and all members of the board.

To Report In June

Chapman's duties at Lubbock High will begin in an official capacity as head football coach next September, but he will return to Lubbock in June to align himself with the local situation and lay plans for summer and fall training.

A record that few high school coaches are able to attain is attached to Chapman's career. At Cisco High where he coached the Big Dam Loboes, popular football contenders for state championships, he is considered one of the best coaches anywhere, and his countless friends over the state and out of the state have nothing but the highest praise for him.

Austin College Grad

A former athletic and scholastic star at Austin College, Sherman, graduate of 1926, Chapman entered the coaching field with almost every requisite of a coach, and during his coaching experience he has added to an abundant knowledge of athletics by actual practice and by constant attendance at coaching schools conducted by the nation's leading authorities.

Since he has been at Cisco, Chapman has sent the Loboes to the state finals once, to the semi-finals twice, and has been a leading contender for the Oil Belt title five years, tying for first place twice and gaining second place twice, finishing third one year. He resigned his position at Cisco at the end of the 1930 season, after his team had tied for first place in the district race and lost the playoff.

Chapman has attended five football coaching schools conducted by Knute Rockne, three by "Pop" Warner, two by Jack Meagher, one by Bob Zuppke, one of Dobie of Cornell, one by Hanley of Northwestern, one by Charley Bachman, and one by Howard Jones of Southern California. He has attended basketball coaching schools by Dr. Meanwell of Wisconsin, "Phog" Allen of Kansas and Lambert of Purdue. An authority and a qualified track coach, Chapman has had instructions in track in schools conducted by Gill of Illinois, Schulte of Nebraska and Hurt of Oklahoma Baptist University.

Friend of Rockne

A personal friend of Knute Rockne and Glen S. Warner, Chapman presented a long letter of recommendation from the pen of the latter, along with nearly half a hundred other letters of high commendation from popular coaches and sportsmen.

Chapman's election came about as a result of a unanimous choice by the school board and the unanimous endorsement of leading Lubbock business and professional men. He was selected out of a field of more than twenty-five coaches who applied for the position. An assistant coach was not elected yesterday, though it was hinted that W. Leonard Hill, Chapman's assistant at Cisco, would be considered for the post.

"I am highly appreciative of the honor shown me in the selection of a coach at Lubbock High school," Chapman said last night, "and I feel that we shall have successful teams at Lubbock, if not this year then in future years. I regret the fact that Henry Frnka, whom I consider as one of the leading high school coaches in the state, is leaving Lubbock and his friends here and feel the great responsibility of replacing him. I do not expect to step into his shoes this fall and turn out a sensational team, but with the cooperation that I know is coming to me I feel that we will make a 'go' of the situation here."

Cawthon Pleased

P. W. Cawthon, head coach at Texas Tech, had nothing but praise for Chapman, whom he knew at Austin College, and congratulated the school board on their "wise choice."

Chapman comes to Lubbock and District 1 not altogether a stranger. His name is known where high school football is observed and the revelation of his record as a coach is no news to those who have not followed the state football and basketball races through the past nine years.

City League Men Meet Tonight In City Hall Rooms

A meeting of all managers and representatives of baseball teams which propose to become members of the Lubbock City Baseball league will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the chamber of commerce rooms at the city hall. J. R. "Dutch" Leuenberger, local sports promoter and former manager of the Lubbock Hubbers, was elected president of the league last Thursday night in the organization meeting.

Representatives from the four civic clubs of Lubbock, American Business, Rotary, Kiwans and Lions, from the Avalanche-Journal, Santa Fe, Cheri Casa dormitory, Rainbow and all other clubs who wish to enter the league, are requested to be present tonight. Plans will be drawn up for the season, team and player limits set and a schedule discussed.

Sutter, Shields And Van Ryn Win In Quarterfinal

PINEHURST, N. C., April 15. (AP) The four top favorites crashed with ease today through the quarter-final men's singles matches of the North and South tennis tournament.

Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, seeded No. 2, was the hardest pressed of any of the quartet in turning back P. L. Kynaston, New York, 9-7, 6-2, after defeating Bertram Hommell, Absecon, N. J., 6-2, 7-5, in the third round.

Bryan Grant, Atlanta, ranked number four, won an easy 6-0, 6-4, victory over Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C.

Frank X. Shields, number one disposed of Luke Abels, high points 6-1, 6-2, John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, beat John Hedlin, New York, 6-2, 6-3.

A default by Berkley Bell, Austin, Texas, who is ill with influenza, sent Hendlin to the quarter-finals. Bell's physicians said he might recover rapidly enough to play his men's doubles and mixed doubles matches.

Fish And Juniors Win Cage Contests

With one game forfeited when a team failed to show up, the Texas Tech intramural basketball program continued last night with the Fish beating the Sophs of the Engineer League, 27 to 19, and the Juniors winning a 17 to 12 victory over the Seniors in the Liberal Arts league. The Senior Engineers failed to show up and the game was considered forfeited to the Juniors, though a final investigation will be made to determine the legality of the forfeiture.

The work of Cowan, with three field goals and three free shots, and Owen, with six field goals, was largely responsible for the Fish victory over the Sophs. Weaver was the most effective scorer for the Sophs with three field and four free shots that counted.

Crites with two field goals and six free shots helped the winning cause of the Junior Arts team, while Ed McCullouch, with three field goals, scored mainly for the Seniors.

Augua Caliente, Baja California, plans to stage several championship swimming meets at its Spa pool this summer.

Max, Young Meet In 15 Round Bout

Cleveland Is Scene Of Title Bout On July 3

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 15.—Max Schmeling, world heavyweight champion, officially was told today that Cleveland had been selected as the site for his title conflict with W. L. (Young) Stribling, and that the date will be the night of July 3.

The bout, 15 rounds to a decision, will be the German's first defense of the title he won a year ago on a foul from Jack Sharkey. The new municipal stadium at Cleveland, with a seating capacity of 110,000, will be the scene of the fight.

Although a scale of prices has not been definitely decided upon, Dick Dunn, representing the Madison Square Garden corporation of Ohio, promoter of the bout, said the "top" for ringside seats will be $25.

Schmeling will go to French Lick Springs, Ind., tomorrow for a two-weeks rest before finishing his tour. He has five more exhibition engagements and will wind up in Chicago, May 8.

Joe Jacobs, the champion's manager, said Schmeling would be in training near Cleveland by the latter part of May. He will spend six weeks in camp, but will only train five weeks.

University Of Arkansas Track Captain Ineligible

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—University of Arkansas track prospects were dealt a hard blow here today when Ivan Jackson, sub captain, was declared ineligible for the remainder of the season. Jackson was high point man last season for the Arkansas thinly clads. Scholastic difficulties brought his suspension on the eve of Arkansas' dual meet with the Springfield, Missouri Teachers.

Headed by Captain Jack Dale, the Arkansas track squad left today for Springfield where they will compete tomorrow.

District Track Meets Held For Nineteen Loops

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Several hundred high school track and field men will trek to 19 interscholastic league district centers this week end to win, lose or draw the right to participate in the annual university interscholastic league track and field meet to be held here May 7, 8 and 9.

BROWNS BUY SPUDDER

ST. LOUIS, April 15. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today announced the purchase of Wallace Hebert, a young left-handed pitcher, from Wichita Falls of the Texas League. Hebert made the training trip with the Browns.

Maiola Kalili, Hawaiian swimmer, has a younger brother, Manuella, who appears to have a brighter future than Maiola, 1930 national A. A. U. quarter mile free style champion.

The NUT CRACKER

BY COL. JOE O'GOOFTY

One-Time Big League Pitcher

BROOKLYN, April 15.—For some time I have been reading a tome by an eminent Swami of Bankok, and now will be able to tell you by the science of numbers who will win the big league pennants this year and the world series.

It is an uneven year. That gives the Robins first choice for the National League flag and the series because they are an uneven ball club.

On the other hand, I expect to see the Senators victorious in the American League. The science of numbers tells you that. The total ages of the three regular outfielders is 95 years. Subtract 95 from 96, which is the age of Jack Quinn, pitcher for the Brooklyn Robins, and the result is one. That means first place.

I do not think the Cleveland Indians can win because too many of the players are friendly with blond numbers.

This will be an off year for the Phillies, the Reds, the Red sox, the Browns and the White Sox. The reason is that too many pitchers on the other teams have their numbers.

The Cubs are out of it, I foresee, because there are too many club-house lawyers trying to get Hornsby's number. The Athletics have some pretty good pitching and batting numbers one the payroll, but Mr. Mack's pitchers are outnumbered by the Washingtonians.

The Yankees, Braves and the other teams in the big leagues fail mostly because of an inverted numerological sequence. Also I am told that several of the Braves have ingrown toenails. Selah!

League Champs Loom Potent In Blanking Spuds; McCabe Is Winning Hurler; Bucs Of Galveston Win First

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, April 15. — the league champion Fort Worth Cats blanked the Wichita Falls Spudders, first half champions last year, 11-0 today in the opening game of the 1931 season.

Featured by a high home run over the left field fence in the fourth with a man on base, the Cats hitting attack was mighty to behold. The deadly rivals of the Williamsmen pounded out 16 safe blows off Milton Steengraff, Fred Vincent and Ash Hillin.

About 5,000 fans turned out for the contest.

SAN ANTONIO, April 15. (AP)—Robert D. Kohn of New York, president of the American Institute of Architects in convention here, was nominated today for re-election and his retention was assured by the absence of opposition nominations.

Ernest J. Russell of St. Louis, was named for re-election as first vice president; Horace W. Peaslee of Washington, as second vice president; Frank C. Baldwin of Washington, D. C., for secretary and Edwin Bergstorm of Los Angeles, treasurer. Three new directors will be chosen at the close of voting Thursday to fill expiring terms.

Establishment of a federal department of public works, which would place designing and construction of public buildings in the hands of private architects and contractors was discussed this morning.

Under resolutions adopted last night, the board of directors was empowered to actively sponsor such legislation which might result in the establishment of a department, with its director possibly of cabinet rank, which could utilize the talents of private architects and engineers in the construction of public buildings.

The convention today unanimously expressed its favor of the board's report that private architects should be called in by the government in the design of its larger buildings.

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—These men who had been adrift in the disabled motorboat "Mary," off Miami, Fla., for 13 days were rescued by the tanker Samuel O. Brown the New York officers of the Tide Water Oil company announced.

The three men, Joseph Roberts, Joseph Knight, and Carlyn Monetcino, all residents of Florida, set out from Bimini, one of the Bahama islands March 31, for Miami. Shortly after leaving shore their engine broke down and for 13 days they drifted 400 miles north in the gulf stream.

The men suffered mostly from lack of drinking water and were on the verge of giving up hope when rescued 350 miles off Cape Matteras by the tanker.

The tanker, six days out of Houston, with a cargo of crude oil when the rescue was affected, is scheduled to arrive in New York tomorrow.

"Remember the Alamo!"
changed the map of America

SANTA ANNA SURRENDERS TO HOUSTON (From a Painting by W. H. Huddle in the Capitol at Austin, Texas)

This is the fourth of a series of historical sketches portraying the pioneer history of the Southwest, in commemoration of Founders' Month of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, pioneer Southwestern refiners.

A FIFTEEN minute battle, ninety-five years ago this month, changed the map of all America and brought the Pacific Coast within the political view of the Atlantic. A pitiful handful of men, principally from Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, led by a stalwart Virginia-Tennesseean, swept Santa Anna's proud army from the field of San Jacinto and set the seal of liberty on a domain soon to be extended from the Louisiana Purchase to the Golden Gate.

The soldiers who marched painfully from Gonzales to San Jacinto, their families who fled destitute before the invaders, left sons and daughters to develop the magnificent country they had saved for liberty. Oil, a resource undreamed of by Houston, Rusk, Burleson or Deaf Smith, has, within a single lifetime, contributed more to the material comfort and happiness of millions of people than any other single resource.

From the beginning of commercial production in Texas at Corsicana in 1896, oil, within a little over three decades, has proven a magic wand... changing the tide of an empire, turning pastures into towered cities, giving employment and fortune to thousands and placing the Southwest fifty years in advance of what it would have been without the assistance of petroleum and its many diversified by-products. With the discovery of Spindletop in 1901, Texas forged to the front as an oil producing State.

The domain, directly or indirectly, brought into the United States by the battlecry of "Remember the Alamo!" now produces three-fourths of the crude petroleum of the entire country and about half of the world production. Refineries of the Southwest handle over a half billion barrels of crude annually, while Texas produces more gasoline than any other State.

The history of the Magnolia Petroleum Company is closely entwined with the successful development of Petroleum as a Southwestern industry. An outgrowth of the first refinery in all the Southwest, Magnolia Stations and Dealers today dot every highway in the Southwest, serving Socony Motor Oil and Magnolia Ethyl and Maximum-Mileage Gasoline to thousands who motor over historic trails to visit scenes where pioneer Texans struggled for independence.

Mr. Rodgers Moves Up

SELECTION of W. H. Rodgers as acting City manager to succeed J. Bryan Miller in Lubbock, was entirely logical and The Morning Avalanche concurs in the action of the City commission in this regard. Mr. Rodgers' five years experience as City secretary, his ability to satisfactorially serve through parts of three administrations, and his unquestioned popularity with the rank and file of city workers stamp him as the man for the place.

Unlike his predecessor, Mr. Miller, who hasn't had an even chance to perform his duties unentrammeled, Mr. Rogers takes the post with almost everything in his favor. That is, of course, as it should be, for any man can function better with favorable circumstances surrounding his efforts. We make bold to opine that when Mr. Rodgers entered his office as acting manager yesterday morning, he commanded more support from more quarters than any man who ever preceded him. That point alone bodes well for the new executive.

Mr. Rodgers' elevation, aside from being a promotion for a loyal employe who has filled a lesser post with honor, also holds the spotlight from an entirely different angle. It offers another opportunity to answer a decided public appeal to try a local man in the office.

The Morning Avalanche has never felt that because an applicant happened to be a Lubbock resident that fact should land him the appointment as City manager. We have felt that the qualifications of an applicant came first, his place of residence second. But we had agreed in the theory of all things being equal, a Lubbock man should be given preference any time the office was to be filled.

And we have faith in Mr. Rodgers.

Although he is not a technical man, makes no claim to special training or experience in engineering and utilities lines, he has had experience and training in municipal work by virtue of the position which he has held for the past five years. We believe his native knowledge of business and his executive ability will take the place of technical knowledge, which can be supplied by subordinates to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Dr. Paul Horn is president of Texas Technological college. But it is exceedingly doubtful that he could work a problem in advanced physics, for his training has not been in that line. Yet no one doubts Doctor Horn's ability to operate the college efficiently and satisfactorially and as we see it, Mr. Rodgers' position is comparable to that of the educator.

So Mr. Rodgers, sans engineering degree or labor, enters the office of acting City manager with the good will and support of a very appreciable number of persons. We believe—and hope—that he will fill the biff. At any rate, he's earned his chance and his record discloses that he is the type of man who will give his all to satisfy.

Wide Power Looms

(Charles P. Stewart, Central Press Washington correspondent, who covered the Chicago campaign on the ground, covered Cermak years ago as a newspaperman in the Windy City.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 15—Anton J. Cermak's election to Chicago's mayoralty, especially by his record majority, immediately gives him a national standing of formidable proportions. Cermak's position for many years as head of the Cook county board was a post of power rivalling the governorship of Illinois, but it was not so spectacular. The mayoralty is.

Cermak has gathered together the strings of party authority more effectively than any Democratic leader ever did in the Sucker State's history.

Various of his predecessors have been absolute in Chicago, but at the same time some other management usually has prevailed in Cook county and still anther has been predominantly potent down state. Cermak becomes the whole thing.

Add to this the fact that hithehto normally Republican Illinois appears to have shifted at least to the doubtful column with maybe a shade of temporary Democratic advantage, and it becomes apparent that Cermak's leadership than the past has had to offer to the Brennans and Sullivans and Harrisons of yore, but that it is worth more.

Cermak has decided advantages in his own personality. He is highly respectable—a sober, rational, responsible family man. Bankers approve of him. Big business considers him safe. Nevertheless, he is a liberal on such questions as sumptuary regulations.

Chicago's old-time uplift element did find some fault with him during the camgaign as a friend of the bygone saloon, of dance halls and the like, but it was not a damaging criticism and even the uplifters did not press it vigorously.

Cermak will be awarded no medals by advanced progressives. He is an economic conservative, but undoubtedly he has the sense—he is shy on color and brilliancy, but strong on sound common sense—to be moderate even about that.

What Cermak will do toward development of his possibilities along national lines remains to be seen. He himself certainly has been too much occupied with his immediate present to have given many thoughts to the future. But its promise for him is too bright to miss attracting his attention soon—as it probably already has, dependent on success in his mayoralty venture, for Cermak is ambitious.

George Brennan, it is to be remembered, had a try for the senate. His chance at such high honors never was better than a forlorn hope. Cermak's is the real thing.

Cermak's first opening will come in 1932, when Republican Senator Glenn is due to face the voters again. Possibly Cermak will deem that too soon, preferring to solidify himself somewhat more securely. In the long run, however, he will not be the person to be satisfied with less than all he can get in any line of endeavor.

Practical Health Problems

LIFE AN DHIGH TEMPERATURES

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The recent report of a case in Chicago in which child with a fever of 109 has continued to live for a considerable period has again roused interest in the possibility of life after a high temperature.

Unquestionably when a temperature exceeds 110, which is the maximum registration on the ordinary fever thermometer, conditions occur affecting the cells of the body affecting which are incompatible with life. A British investigator, in 1930, reported a case of a child who had a temperature by rectum of 110. The child was immediately put into a tepid bath; the temperature came down to 102, and it did not again reach the exceedingly high point first mentioned. If it had remained at that high point, death would, no doubt, have occurred. Apparently such temperatures result from some disorder of the portion of the brain which is primarily concerned with regulation of the body temperature.

It is well known that exceedingly high temperatures may be present as the final temperatures in case of certain diseases. In the case of complete absence of water from the body for any considerable period temperatures may be reached. Two cases have been recorded in which patients with meningitis reached temperatures of 109 and 109.06.

In one case of food poisoning the temperature reached 107.4 just preceding death. One case of meningitis is reported in which a baby 10 weeks old reached a temperature of 109 with recovery. Two physicians listed 38 patients with severe influenza who reached 110 momentarily with ultimate recovery.

In cases in which patients have endeavored to fool physicians, the hoax has been exposed by the use of two themometer indicates a normal temperature of somewhere between 98 and 100 and the mouth thermometer indicates a temperature of 109 or 110, the person is unquestionably malingering.

Another method by which the malingerer gets away with his attempt to fool the physician by a high temperature is to break the thermometer when he is unable to carry out his stunt. In such cases questioning results in the information that numerous thermometers have been broken in an attempt to read the temperature of the patient.

British observers have recorded 14 cases of heat stroke with temperature over 110, of whom six died and the remainder recovered. The terminal temperature just before death may reach exceedingly high figures, but it may be stated in general that life is incompatible with temperatures of 110 very long sustained.

THE WEST LEADS

No part of the United States can come upon a bonanza without the whole benefiting, and, by the same token, no part can meet with economic reverses without the whole feeling a sympathetic depression of some degree. Therefore, the whole nation has reason to rejoice in the reawakening of the Pacific Coast industrially.

The buds of business in the Pacific states include the Hoover dam operations on the Colorado river, public and private developments all the way from the Mexican to the Canadian border running into the hundreds of millions and ship building that will increase transpacific business to the enrichment of the United States.

Hoover dam is the largest engineering project ever undertaken in the United States. It will provide work directly or indirectly for thousands for many months, and completed will furnish power and water for new enterprise and augmented employment over a wide area.

Pacific coast ways are now launching the largest American-built ships all for the Pacific trade between the United States and the Orient. Capt. Robert Dollar, dean of American shipping, and other men of vision are launching ships at the rate of one every 10 days in answer to the urgent cry from the Far East for trade with the Far West. He sounds the keynote of the near future in his words: "If America will heed the call of the East, the United States will enter upon an era of foreign trade which has no duplicate in the history of our nation."

APPEAL OF THE CIRCUS

Everyone at some time or other has yearned to fly—not soar aloft behind a roaring motor supported by planes and propellors, but to soar gracefully in the blue like a bird just as one can dive and swim in another element like a fish. This instinctive desire to fly may account in part for the magnetic attraction of the circus. The circus shows human being soaring through the air from bar to bar and ring to ring like large, graceful birds. There are few things more lovely and graceful than a lady in blue diving from one flying trapeze to another or from tent-top to net far below.

The whole circus is like the trapeze performer. One after another, it takes a childhood's longings and brings them to pass, forcefully, gloriously, with bespangled ease. Like all art it gives life and color and reality to this too often drab world. The circus, big or small, is one grand carnival of grace enacted by the most graceful of men and beasts. There is even a sort of graceful dexterity in the antics of the clowns.

To whatever fields the circus may go it always remains gracious, gay and whimsical. Circus folk and circus animals take their art, not themselves, seriously.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE LARGEST MOUTH IN THE WORLD

The owner of the largest mouth in the world was a Baltimore negro, member of a traveling troup of freaks, exhibited in all parts of the United States and Europe more than a decade ago. He contrived, by some specific extension exercises to enlarge his mouth to such an extent that he could with ease introduce a 12-inch plate into it.

I have drawn my cartoon from an original photograph depicting him in the act of performing this amusing feat.

Embraces a splendid variety of colors and many beautiful combinations. 1-128 oz. $1.65." An ounce would therefore cost 211.20, and a pound $3,379.20.

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

Dick Penhampton, friend of assistant police commissioner, Sir Edric Conway, is put on the trail of the stolen Hardway diamonds, after Inspector Brooks has been killed. Disguised as a down-and-outer, Dick wins the confidence of several suspects. He is looking for a job and the gang tells their boss who sends for Dick. He is interviewed in a darkened room by a man who tentatively hires him. As he is leaving, the man who he cannot see breaks into a frightful laugh. Dick is in love with Alison Weatherleigh and he does not tell her of his dangerous work. Arriving home Dick is asked to draw a picture of the Hardway diamond necklace for Inspector Pollard, a Scotland Yard officer, who is working independently on the case. Dick gets back into his disguise as Captain Blackwood and returns to Jerry, his companion. The gang leader sends Dick a map with a place marked on it and notifies him to be there at 11:30 p. m.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 17

This ruined house must be the place marked on the map, and, after a moment's hesitation, Dick set off along the wall towards it. As he drew nearer, he could see that it had once been a four-roomed cottage, builit probably for the accommodation of the wharf keeper. But it had longfallen into disuse. The glass has disappeared from the windows, the roof showed ugly gaps where the slates had slipped and fallen. At last Dick stood looking down upon it. But not a gleam of light greeted him, not a sound disturbed the grave-like silence of the marshes.

Dick clambered down the sloping side of the sea-wall, and waled round the house to the gap where the front door had been. With a shudder of distaste he entered. It was utterly dark within, a darkness charged with the heavy stench of the gases from the refuse heaps, which seemed to have collected here through the ages. A furtive scuttling sounded all round him, and he wondered vaguely what even rats could find to live on in this barren spot. And at regular intervals the beams of the beacon shone through the yawning window frame, casting a faint, ghostly radiance on slimy floor and reeking walls.

He took out his torch and threw its rays rapidly round the room. It was bare, empty, stripped of everything that turns a mass of bricks and mortar into home. But there was a doorway leading into a second room, and through this Dick passed. He fancied that his torch was nearly exhausted; he had called upon it too frequently during his journey from Rainham station. The dim light of the beacon was enough to guide him through the doorway and to show him at intervals the faint outline of this second room. It, too, was empty, save for something, ill-defined in the intermittent glow, standing in the center of the floor. But, as the light of the beacon showed for a second or two before expiring into complete blackness, it fell upon a point, which reflected the beam like an eye of fire.

Dick stepped cautiously towards the object, his hand outstretched before him. His groping fingers felt the outlines of a table, then, moving upwards, encountered something which made him leap backward with a half-suppressed cry of terror. In trembling haste he fumbled for his torch once more, and threw its rays upon the table. Upon it lay, rigid with the horror of violent death, the body of a man, and on his breast, sparkling with lurid beauty, was a diamond which Dick recognized as having been torn from the Hardway necklace.

Dick stood rooted to the spot with horror. His whole soul clamored for flight, to escape from this terrible place, from that awful stretched-out form, with the diamond gleaming upon it like some malighant talisman. But his muscles refused to act, he was unable to do more than stand there, trembling violently, the light of the torch, held in his shaking hand, causing strange shadows to play across the ghastly face, until it seemed to mock his terror.

The utter silence fell upon him like a pall, till his ears rang with a thousand imagined voices. He fancied that he heard whispering all about him hoarse threatening whispers as of hidden men creeping towards him stealthily. And then, above the whispers, he imagined the echo of a laugh, a cruel scarce-human laugh, running up and down the scale with a menace which seemed to freeze his blood.

How long he stood there he could not tell. At last with a sudden shuddering gasp a rude awakening into consciousness, he stretched out his hand had grasped the diamond. Then, with faltering steps, he groped his way out of the house and clambered once more on to the summit of the sea-wall.

After the horror from which he had escaped, even the dismal, sulphur-laden atmosphere of the marshes seemed to him fresh and invigorating. A vessell was coming slowly up the river and he gazed eagerly at her lights. They seemed to him the emblem of clean healthy

Rare Coffees from the West Coast of Central America Are Giving A New Idea of How Good Coffee Can Be

From mountain plantations mules bring these coffees to town.

IF your coffee has lost its oldtime zest and delight . . .

If it tastes suspiciously "flat" or thin —no matter how you make it . . .

Try a change—a real change, not just another "brand,"—but a different kind of coffee. Try the flavor of rare coffees from a different part of the world.

They come from certain mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America. A region where Nature produces coffees utterly unlike any you ever tasted before. Coffees with a rare tang and rich mellow body that, world experts concede, have no equal today. Coffees from which Nature leaves out the "rough" offensive oils.

Introduced by Folger

Years ago Central American coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco, where it was introduced by Folger. Travelers tasting it there were captivated by its unusual flavor. Flavor produced by a peculiar combination of rich volcanic soil, altitude, sun rays and tropic rainfall—that found nowhere else in the world.

The Folger Test

Would you like to see for yourse just how different these coffees are in richness and in flavor? Here's test that is as simple as it is fair.

Tomorrow morning drink Folger'. The next morning drink the coffe you have been using. The thir morning drink Folger's again. In morning or two you will decidedl favor one or the other; the bes coffee wins. That's fair, isn't it?

THRILLING MYSTERY STORY — by MILES BURTON

evidence that he was again rld of honest human endea- en the melancholy beacon, its pallid rays over the black seemed to him a symbol of ade his way back along the lden road, forcing his mind e contemplation of the ruin- e and its awful occupant. He ecide upon his course of ac- h that at once. The day when so lightly embarked upon his seemed far away. He had ought face to face with tra- stern reminder that he could r play the half-scornful role e had assumed.

am station was dark and de- the last train had passed , and, unless he waited for hours, there was no prospect hing London by the railway. could not face the prospect ing. He was in a fever of ex- t, and he felt that whatever be done, must be done at or a moment he thought of the nearest policeman and ing him of his discovery. But ected that this would lead to e delay, possibly to his own ion. No, there was only one whom he could unfold the story—Sir Edric Conway.

lutely he set out to walk to g, six miles perhaps on the London. He calculated that uld arrive there about three in the morning, and al- it was unlikely that trains be running at that hour. was at least the possibility of some vehicle in which to te his journey. And as he , his mind became clearer was able to consider the sig- nce of his experience.

first and most obvious fact struck him was that he had iven a terrible warning. There ery little doubt that he had sent to the lonely house in that he might see for himself te that overtook those who the wishes of the unknown e could form no idea of whom tim had been, in this instance man's features, distorted in had been utterly strange to retained the vision of a athletic-looking form, dress- he garments of an East-end The man's clothes had been with water, streams of which ickled down the legs of the on to the floor. This might een accounted for by the posure to the rain. But from earance of the man's face, agined that he had met his drowning.

shuddered as he pictured the some recalcitrant member of ang, no doubt, lured to that spot as he himself had been. m a sudden attack, a brief , and then the wretched gged and bound, no doubt, into the black water that beneath the rotten piles of andoned wharf. A few minutes of silence, broken only perhaps by a strangling gasp, and then the recovery of the body, that it might serve as an awful warning. Dick's imagination drew for him a vivid picture of it lying in that lonely room, and with a cold thrill of horror he remembered the scuffling of the rats—

This would never do. He must pull himself together and concentrate upon some fearful aspect of the matter, if he wished to retain his reason. The diamond! Why had that been left there, to glitter evilly upon the dead man's breast? It could not be sheer coincidence that one of the Hardway diamonds, the object of his quest, had fallen in his way in this dramatic manner. It had been placed there to emphasize the warning, to show him that the search for the remainder of the necklace could have only one end, so far as the was concerned.

With a shock he realized that, if this were the case, two other facts were indicated. The first was that the unknown man, with whom he had almost by accident got into touch, if not actually the present possessor of the necklace, had at least the disposal of it. This was scarcely helpful, since he had not the slightest clue to the unknown man's identity, and was pretty certain that a search of the house in Creek Street would fail to reveal any traces of him. The second fact was far more disturbing. Whoever placed the diamond for him to find must have known of his own connection with the necklace.

Cotton — Cotton Market Rather Nervous

Livestock — Further Weakness In Cattle Trade

Grain — Wheat Rises To New High Record

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 15. (AP) — The cotton market was rather nervous in today's somewhat more active trading, being influenced mainly by the action of the stock market, particularly the early break in U. S. Steel. As Liverpool cables came in lower than due the market opened 2-4 points down and after a brief period of steadiness due to spot sales in Liverpool and more favorable Manchester advices, prices weakened owing to an early slump in stocks which induced liquidation. Before the offerings were absorbed the market had declined 13-14 points from the previous close.

As stocks rallied near noon the market here recovered in sympathy gaining 8-9 points from the lows. The market turned easier again in the late trading in sympathy with a recurrence of weakness in stocks and made new lows 14-15 points below the previous close. Prices rallied 4-5 points at the end on covering and closed steady showing net declines for the day of 10-12 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—An early decline in cotton was followed by a partial recovery on trade buying and covering today, but prices eased again later under continued liquidation and scattered selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables, a fairly favorable view of the weather map and weakness in the stock market. July contracts, after selling off to 10.39 rallied to 10.48. But later declined to 10.37 and closed at 10.38. The general market closed barely steady at net losses of 11-15 points.

Reports that planting was making considerable progress after recent delays as a result of low temperatures, encouraged talk of a favorable start for the new crop with seasonable weather from now on. This view combined with uncertainty as to the acreage and the easier ruling of the stock market was quiet generally mentioned in connection with the selling, while the rally during the middles of the day was attributed partly to an improved technical position.

King Alfonso

Nicveto Alcala Zamora and his ministers, the decree pledged respect for personal property, religious freedom and public assembly, guaranteed a new agrarian policy to aid the farmer, and promised to turn over its power to a permanent government whenever formed.

Without Royalty

Meanwhile, the nation was without a royal family for the first time in nearly a century. Former Queen Victoria, the Princesses Beatrice and Christina and the Infantes Alfonso, Jaime and Gonzalo were en route to Paris, speeding into exile to rejoin former King Alfonso. The younger Alfonso, prince of the Asturias and the oldest son, was reported to have left alone last night, but the report was not borne out by later facts.

Stimulated by declaration of a national holiday, the people's celebration of the fall of the monarchy late yesterday continued unabated.

Ministry Confers

The new ministry conferred through the day on their tremendous task of converting a weakened monarchy into a stable republic. It was announced decrees would be passed abolishing all titles of nobility and dissolving the status of life members of the senate, appointed by the retired monarch.

Their program provides for the right to condemn and purchase property needed for public welfare. If carried out, it may mean the splitting up of the large estates of the grandees and their sale in small lots to the people.

The government's tentative plan is to hold parliamentary elections at some date not yet decided, allow the parliament as a constitutional convention to write the permanent constitution, and then, either by direct vote of the people or by the action of parliament, name a constitutional cabinet to replace the present "provisional government."

Pessimistic Reports From Steel Add To Gloom And Prices Skid Downward

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Pessimistic reports from the steel industry added to the stock market's gloom today and prices skidded sharply, with the high grade issues heading the decline.

Although the turnover of only 2,000,000 shares emphasized the professional character of the trading, the absence of support could not be overlooked. U. S. Steel broke 3 points to the lowest since 1928 and closed at the bottom, 133 3-8. New York Central's similar loss carried it back to 1924 levels, while Allied Chemical and Westinghouse, off more moderately, were down to 1927 prices. Railroad averages broke through their previous 1930 minimums, but the standard statistics' composite for the group held above the December bottom.

practical concern to West Texas agricultural interests.

"Manager D. A. Bandeen, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who conceived the idea of the group conference plan of the convention, is trying to make the program carry out his idea of getting practical results from timely work, on problems of vital concern to West Texas, at the convention. To do this, agriculture must be given a large share of the program."

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Despite low price records in stocks, wheat rose buoyantly today to a new high price record for the season, 86 1-8 cents a bushel. Huge purchases of North American breadstuffs for trans-Atlantic shipment, more than 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in particular, were largely responsible, with reports that Europeans had missed their best opportunities, that overseas homegrown supplies were becoming exhausted, and new crop prospects unsatisfactory. As a result, however, of heavy profit taking sales, late reactions from top prices ensued.

Wheat closed nervous, unchanged to 1 1-4 cents higher, corn a shade to 3-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 advanced, and provisions 5-15 cents down.

amendments onto the Greer substitute congressional redistricting bill. Eight amendments calling for twice that many changes in the Greer bill, were adopted. An equal number of amendments was rejected.

East Texas, which is to get a new congressional district under the Greer plan, took its fling today. Senator Pollard of Tyler was successful in having Upshur county changed from district two to district three.

District Undisturbed

Congressman John Garner's proposed district remained undisturbed.

First charges of political moves in redistricting were heard this afternoon when Senator Hardin of Stephenville, said Senator Poage of Waco sought to secure Milam county for District 11 for political purposes. He called the Poage proposal a "political amendment." The Poage amendment was adopted.

Substituting the Greer redistricting plan for that offered by Representative Metcalfe of San Angelo, the senate late this afternoon rushed the Greer bill through to final passage. The vote on the Greer redistricting bill was 15-1.

The Greer bill, as did the Metcalfe bill, gives a new district to the South Plains section of West Texas and to the San Antonio area. The senate bill provides a district for the oil and timber section of East Texas.

Prior to passing the bill, the senate adopted an amendment which sent Liberty and Chambers counties from the fourth into the 13th district.

King, tried in county court on an insanity count, has been committed to an insane asylum.

Highway Work Is Scheduled

Resident Engineer In Gaines County Expected To Be Named Within Ten Days; Plans Are Being Drawn

Within the ten days or two weeks, a resident engineer for Gaines county will have been named by the state highway commission and preliminary survey work started on the proposed highway 137 between Seminole county seat and Seagraves, Guy R. Johnston construction engineer for this division, said yesterday.

"As soon as the survey is completed we will begin plans for the work and I hope that we can get the road payed by late in the summer," he said.

"The plans for Andrews county, between Andrews and the county line at Ector county are being drawn. We hope to get the contract let on this work as soon as possible."

Following this, the completion of the gap between the two county seats will be begun. There is a six mile stretch of heavy sand between Seminole and Andrews that will be the hardest job of the entire mileage in the two counties, he added.

Both counties have voted bonds for the paving of the 65 miles of highway. This will leave only a short, undesignated stretch between Seagraves and Brownfield, on No. 137, between Lubbock and McCamey, a distance of over 200 miles. Should Lubbock county get its program for No. 137 between Lubbock and the Hockley county line completed next year, it will leave the Terry and Hockley county mileages the only unpaved sections of the highway.

HOUSE REFUSES

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—The house today refused to concur in senate amendments to a bill to levy a tax of two and three quarters per cent on natural gas and asked appointment of a free conference committee. The senate reduced the gas tax to two per cent and added an amendment to levy a tax of $1.50 per thousand, three cents per package, on the sale of cigarettes. The vote to send the bill to free conference was 62 to 61.

OVERTON NAMED

ALEXANDERIA, La., April 15.(AP) John H. Overton was nominated for the house of representatives as successor to the late James B. Aswell by a majority of 7,221 votes on complete unofficial returns from yesterday's Democratic primary in the eighth congressional district.

RUSSELL NAMED

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Governor Sterling today appointed B. L. Russell of Baird as special chief justice of the court of civil appeals at Eastland to sit in place of Chief Justice John E. Hickman, disqualified, in the case of the Republic Production company vs. J. A. Collins, appealed from Stephens county.

Construction Company On Paving Is Using 70 Per Cent Local Laborers

Seventy percent of the employes of the Interstate Construction company engaged in paving state highway No. 9 north of Lubbock are local men, H. L. Schwalbe, president of the company, said last night in announcing a list of employes of the company.

"We have 84 men on the job and of these, 21 are skilled men that I have had with me for years," he said. The others, 63 in number, are all local men, living here in Lubbock.

Have Own Drivers

"I own ten trucks and have my own drivers for these trucks. I have hired ten local trucks, with local drivers. These are in addition to the 84 men who are doing the work of pouring cement.

"My books and records are open to inspection by any one qualified to make an inspection to see if I am employing more local men than out of town men."

Some Complaints

Mr. Schwalbe explained that he understood some complaints had been made to the county commissioner's court and to the state highway department that he was not employing many local men. "I am in sympathy with the ruling of the state highway department that on all highway contracts as many local men be employed as possible," he added. "I am trying to do that as much as I can and I believe I am working as many, if not more, local men than any other contractor on a state highway in Texas."

Besides the men engaged on the out of door work, there are three office men in the town office, 1218 1-2 Avnue H. One of these is a local man.

Some Are Negroes

Some of the men working behind the machines are negroes. Mr. Schwalbe explained that it was almost impossible to secure white men for some of this cement work. Therefore it is necessary to get men to stand the physical strain of this type of heavy manual labor.

"One of my men has been with me for 12 years," the contractor said. "The others have been with me from three to seven years. I know them and what they can do and they know me and I find I can get much better work by using trained, experienced men for the more technical jobs of paving."

Mr. Schwalbe explained that since he had come to Lubbock he had found the South Plains such a delightful place in which to life that he is contemplating the moving of his family here as soon as he can. "I can hardly wait until I get them here," he said. "I like this country, it is high but not too high, and dry, and just the best place I ever saw."

It is expected that the job of pouring concrete on the highway will not be completed until about October 1.

DISCUSS ELECTION

Besides stunts, songs and other sorts of entertainments featured at the all girls' convocation at 11 o'clock yesterday, discussion of the coming election of the Tech Association of Women Students was taken up. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the engineering building.

Candidates for the various offices were introduced. Two students are running for each office with the exception of the president's office which is being sought only by Miss Hazel Gruver.

If no other students run against Miss Gruver she will represent Tech at the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students meeting at Ann Arbor, Michigan, April 22-28. It was decided some time ago to send the new president to the meeting.

The election will be held Friday with all Tech women eligible to vote. Ballot boxes will be placed in the east and west rotundas of the administration building and in the home economics building.

CAPTAINS NAMED

Thirty-two freshman aggie students will compete in the annual first year student judging contest in Tech Saturday and the eight team captains already have been chosen. Each of the eight will pick three others out of the remaining 24 students for the contest. Captains chosen include freshmen J. Young, L. P. Campbell, Cunningham, Leslie, Tate, Fine, Gregory and Gentry.

For the first time senior aggie students will be judges in the contest. Jim Williams and Bruce Parks will act as one judging committee while R. B. Davis of Plainview and F. G. Blackman of Shallowater will serve as judges also. Percy Powers is general superintendent of the contest and Willie Roane and T. J. Harris are section leaders. The college bookstore is offering a gold medal to the winner Saturday. The entire day will be taken up in the event.

ELECT OFFICERS

New officers named for the Tech Inter-club council include James Loughridge of Waco as president, Vincent Foster of Amarillo as vice president and Virginia Murray of Lubbock as secretary. The officers were elected Tuesday night and took office immediately.

The council, made up of the president and one representative of each social club on the campus, seeks to cope with the problems arising among the various social clubs on the campus.

Aid Is Sought By Brownfield

Federal Designation For Highway 84 Is Being Asked By Officials; New Mexico Has Taken Action

BROWNFIELD, April 15. (Special)—The Brownfield chamber of commerce is seeking aid in securing federal designation for state highway No. 84 between Plains and Brownfield, and Tahoka, Post, Clairemont, and other towns to the east, J. E. Shelton, secretary of the chamber of commerce, announces.

Recently Mr. Shelton, Roy Burrus and Clifford Pray, went to Abilene and there Mr. Shelton made an appeal to W. R. Ely, chairman of the state highway commission. Last summer, he said, the commission voted to recommend to the federal bureau of roads a federal designation.

Only a few weeks ago the New Mexico highway commission took similar action. It was this that prompted Mr. Shelton to seek action by the Texas group.

Rotarians To Attend Confab

Texas Tech Band Will Head Local Delegation Which Is To Parade Through Plainview On Monday

Lubbock Rotarians will attend the annual district convention at Plainview, Monday, in a body if plans announced at the club's regular weekly luncheon program Wednesday are perfected. The club voted to consider the Plainview trip as the regular meeting of next week, no session being scheduled for Wednesday.

Besides the club members, the Texas Tech band will also attend the convention, heading Lubbock's parade through Plainview streets Monday morning. G. E. McCelvey, R. D. Grant and D. K. Bondurant were named as a committee to provide transportation for the band.

Wednesday's program was featured by vocal selections by Mrs. A. B. Short, accompanied by Mrs. T. C. Meinecke, by George Meiser accompanied by W. W. Rix, by Mr. Meiser and J. A. Raley, who was in charge of the program and a classification talk on titles and abstracting by Chas. Adams. Club members joined in singing under the direction of Mrs. Short.

Mr. Adams gave a brief history of titles and abstracting and explained phases of his work in his talk.

Plans For Operation Of City Swimming Pool Are Underway

The city swimming pool has been turned over to the city park board for operation during the summer, a statement from the city hall revealed Wednesday. The pool was successfully operated by the board last year.

Plans for opening of the pool will be made in the near future, it was said.

A Utah surveyor found a deposit estimated to hold 1,175,000 cubic yard of bitumen, suitable for paving material.

College To Wage War Against Dogs

Shotguns are liable to bark out around the barns of the livestock department of Texas Technological college in the near future with several dogs of Lubbock citizens on the receiving end.

Such was the gist of a warning issued by college officials including Business Manager W. T. Gaston Wednesday as the recent raids on the livestock pens of the college by a gang of dogs. In the raids, the ears of a number of registered calves, show stock of the college, were almost bitten off by the mongrels. Included in lot were several valuable animals. Two prize sheep were also attacked by the dogs, it was stated.

Guards have been placed around the pens and are on constant lookout for the marauders.
