CONGRESS PREPARES FOR GREAT BEER BATTLE

Senate Committee Reports Favorably On 'Market and Demand' Oil Measure

PASSAGE SEEN FOR PRORATION BILL THIS WEEK

House Vote on Amendments Indicates That Body Approves Plan

DEBATE DUE TODAY

Proposal May Not Go Into Effect Until 90 Days After Passage

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. (UP)—The house oil committee tonight unfavorably reported the West bill for per barrel graduated tax on oil and reported similarly on the Donnell bill for regulated gasoline prices.

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. (AP)—Legislation whereby the Texas Railroad commission would be given power to consider market demand and economic waste in fixing allowable productions for Texas oil fields showed marked progress today and gave rise to the belief that a bill containing these features would be passed this week by the legislature.

The senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, voted a favorable report to the market demand and economic waste bill pending before it. The vote was 18 to 7 and was taken after four days of public hearings at which arguments for and against the bill were heard.

Favored by House

Floor consideration of an identical bill was started in the house. A vote on amendments to set a date upon which the law would become inoperative showed a substantial majority in the house in favor of the proposed law. Leaders for the bill also were confident that few, if any, amendments could be added from the floor, expressing belief they had a sufficient working majority to maintain the bill in its present form.

There was some doubt whether the bill could obtain enough votes to become effective immediately. It must receive 21 votes in the senate and 100 votes in the house or wait until 90 days after adjournment of the special session to go into effect.

It was likely a vote would be taken on the bill in the house tomorrow. Representative R. M. Wagstaff of Abilene, floor leader, said he believed it would receive enough votes in the house to go into immediatee effect.

Debate Today

An effort was made in the senate to start immediate debate on the bill today but the attempt was blocked when a demand was made by Senator Joe Moore of Greenville that the rules be strictly observed and that printed copies of the bill be placed on the members' desks. It was agreed to start debate on the bill tomorrow.

Three amendments were offered in the house to set a date on which

Sentenced Boy's Father Dies of Gunshot Wound

PALESTINE, Texas, Nov. 9. (AP)—Nathan Wingate, 60, of Mount Alba, was found shot to death today at his home here. A shotgun was found near the body.

Wingate was the father of Howard Wingate, youth under sentence for an attempted robbery of the First National bank here a year ago. A daughter of Wingate died here three weeks ago after drinking poison.

Democrats Victors In Hawaiian Islands

HONOLULU, Nov. 9. (UP)—Lincoln McCandless, Democratic candidate, defeated Victor K. Huston, territorial delegate to congress in yesterday's election. McCandless polled 28,614 votes to 26,443 for Huston.

Democrats experienced a landslide, placing a majority of their candidates in territorial and municipal offices.

Three Dead After Riot At Geneva

Socialists and Soldiers Engage in Battle; 30 Wounded

GENEVA, Nov. 9. (UP)—A furious battle tonight in the streets of Geneva—seat of the League of Nations and disarmament conference—resulted in three deaths and 30 wounded after soldiers opened fire on a Socialist demonstration. Two civilians and one policeman were killed in the disturbance.

The demonstration started when the Socialists were denied admittance to a meeting protesting against war.

Swiss authorities rushed machine guns and truckloads of soldiers to the Plain Palais section of the city. The streets were barricaded against further disturbances.

After the Socialists had been refused participation in the pacifist meeting, they paraded, ripping up fences and stones. Then, they marched against the city barracks and attacked the soldiers. They tore guns from their hands and smashed them on the pavement.

The troops, unable to cope with the mob, fired into it. The demon-

E. C. BYERS DIES AT STRINGTOWN

Veteran Oil Driller Victim Of Heart Attack

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Nov. 9.—E. C. Byers, 62, an oil driller in this section since the early days of the boom, died early today at his home at Stringtown, near here. The veteran died suddenly of what was believed to be a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning from the Methodist church here. The Rev. C. W. Dennis, the pastor, will officiate. The body will lie in state at the Owens & Brumley Funeral home until the funeral hour. After services the body will be forwarded to Fort Worth, where burial will be made after final rites.

Pallbearers at services here will be Dale Boyd, Arthur Burnstine, Claude Cox, Clarence Jordan, Jim Morrison and Bill Cauthorne.

Mr. Byers had been a resident of this section for 15 years, coming here from Pennsylvania, where he was an oil well driller in the fields of that state. He had been an employe of the Magnolia Petroleum company for a period of 12 years and until a short time ago.

He was active in the Methodist church and the Odd Fellows lodge of which he was a member. He was widely known here.

Surviving are his widow; a daughter, Miss Marie Byers of Fort Worth; a brother, Elmer Byers of Littletown, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Anna Swartlander of Chicara, Pa.

Death of Prison Guard Confessed by Convicts

CROCKETT, Texas, Nov. 9. (AP)—District Attorney Ben Greenwood and County Attorney Henry Adams said today that H. G. Daniels, serving a 20-year sentence, and Buchanan Sloan, serving a 15-year sentence, had signed statements in connection with the fatal beating of J. H. Henson, guard at the Eastham state prison farm, who died last week. Henson was dragged from his horse and beaten with a pitchfork handle by three convicts attempting to escape. One of the men was caught immediately and the other two were tracked down with bloodhounds in the Brazos river bottoms.

Bandits Escape After Robbing Carmine Bank

CARMINE, Texas, Nov. 9. (AP)—Two bandits who robbed the Carmine State bank of $1,000 at noon, apparently had made good their escape tonight as officers here and in Houston continued to search for them.

Brandishing pistols, the pair walked into the bank and forced President W. H. Sturmer, Cashier H. L. F. Doerr and Assistant Cashier W. A. Plueckhahn to point out the money. Hurriedly one of the pair scooped up the $1,000 in the cash drawer while the other kept the bank officials covered.

AGED FATHER OF DICKSON TAKES STAND

His Son in Stupor Before Slaying of Plunkett, Jurist Says

PHANTOM ENEMIES

Dissipation Ended Bright Career for Student, Jury Told

Innumerable "fits of violent insanity" on the part of Temple Dickson of Seymour during the past two years were related by relatives and friends throughout Wednesday before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court, where young Dickson is being tried on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of San Plunkett in Seymour June 23.

Father Testifies for Son

For more than an hour Wednesday afternoon, just prior to adjournment of court at 5 o'clock, Judge Jo A. P. Dickson, father of the defendant, recited experiences with his son during the past several years which, the witness said, have convinced him beyond doubt that Temple Dickson is of unsound mind, and is frequently seized with violent insanity.

The aged jurist's voice often sank to almost a whisper as he detailed the repeated struggles to subdue maniacal outbursts on the part of the defendant. Sentences describing his son's actions at such times often trailed off in to inaudibility, and were completed by the witness' gestures to the jury.

The courtroom Wednesday was even more crowded than on Tuesday, with many Seymour people present. Throughout the trial, the defendant has evinced little feeling. When not drawing nervously on a cigaret, he sits quietly with both hands firmly clasped before him, and gazing imperturbaly at the witness.

Brilliant Student

Judge Dickson testified that Temple, his youngest son, graduated from the Seymour High school at the age of 16, and then was sent to the state university. The defendant's use of liquor first became known to him, the witness said, when the boy was a university student.

After having left the university, and having gone to Corsicana as a district court reporter, Temple was said to have become subject to spells of madness. Judge Dickson told of having gone to Corsicana, and of having endeavored there to rid the defendant's mind of hallucinations relative to imagined pursuers and plots.

Learning that young Dickson could not remain in his position at Corsicana, the witness said, he succeeded in obtaining for the defendant a position as court reporter at Paducah in the summer of 1931. After returning to Seymour preparatory to taking the position at Paducah, the witness related, the defendant became more and more irritable, flew into a rage frequently and refused as often as possible to see his father.

Attempted to Shoot Wife

After having gone back to Corsicana for a few days, the defendant's wife was said to have returned to Seymour. She was taken to the home of Judge and Mrs. Dickson. Temple Dickson came to the house and demanded that she return with him to the furnished

Joseph Stalin's Wife Dies in Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Nov. 9. (AP)—Nadya Alilluieva, the wife of Joseph Stalin, died last night. The Tass agency, official Soviet news organization, announced her death today but gave no details.

Nadya Alilluieva was a thoroughly self-effacing woman, going quietly about her own affairs, reflecting none of the glory of her husband, who is Russia's most powerful figure.

Only last July she was graduated from the All-Union Industrial academy where for three years she had studied the manufacture of artificial silk.

She married Joseph Stalin in 1919 when she was barely 17 years old. She was his second wife.

G.J.Burnam Loses Life In Accident

Hunting Companion Saved By Clinging to Edge Of Upset Boat

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Nov. 9.—G. J. (Gube) Burnam, 28, of Iowa Park drowned late today in the city lake five miles north of here, when his boat, in which he was duck hunting, overturned. P. W. Burton of Olney, who was Burnam's hunting companion, clung to the edge of the boat and was rescued.

Burnam's body was recovered an hour and a half after the accident by men dragging the lake floor with improvised grapples. Artificial respiration on the shore failed to resuscitate the man.

Lost Balance

The two hunters had moved their boat into the middle of the lake, which covers 95 acres. Burnam rose to a standing position to fire and lost his balance. As he plunged over the side of the boat into the water, the small craft overturned, spilling Burton into the lake.

Burnam struck out swimming toward shore, but the icy water quick-

HOOVER 'EYES' PRIVATE LIFE

President to Return to Business Interests

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 9. (AP)—President Hoover, private citizen and business man, was the ticket President Hoover wrote for himself today as of next March 4.

As the final straggling returns from yesterday's polls poured in, showing even more clearly the overwhelming victory of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the chief executive told newspaper correspondents quietly, but with a smile, that after the inauguration of his opponent, he would definitely leave public office and return to private life.

A half hour after he arose this morning, following what he termed his "best night's sleep in years," Mr. Hoover received newspaper men in the living room of his home.

Standing in front of a stone fire place in the dimly lighted room, he talked informally of his plans. Placing himself open to questions, he declined to speak only of the details of yesterday's election.

The chief executive reported the receipt of "a pleasant acknowledgement" from President-Elect Roosevelt of his own telegram of last night in which he declared that "in the common purpose of us all, I shall dedicate myself to every possible helpful effort."

"Literally thousands of telegrams have come to me last night and today," the president said, "all of them fine in their tenor. They especially express the determination of the Republican party to put in four years of constructive work."

The president said he intended "coming back to California" as soon as his term in the White House expires, adding "other than that I haven't given the matter much thought."

As to his immediate program, Mr. Hoover spoke of resting here until Saturday, with automobile rides into the country and possible attendance at a football game.

He plans to re-cross the continent by a different route than that he followed in his campaign, going southward by way of Los Angeles and by the southern route back to the national capital.

He pointed out, however, that all his plans depended upon the course of national events, adding if some contingency arose in Washington that required his presence he would start his return trip immediately.

Under the present program of stepping back into the White House by next Wednesday or Thursday, sufficient time would be allowed him to prepare his annual message to congress, to be read upon the day of its convening Dec. 5, and the budget message to be presented the next day.

Warm Springs Celebrates Roosevelt's Victory

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 9, (UP)—A complete holiday was observed as Warm Springs celebrated the election of Governor Roosevelt today.

The staff and patients at Warm Springs foundation, sponsored by Roosevelt who has a home here, took the day off. Patients did not take their usual treatment.

A parade, fireworks and a huge bonfire were on the program as returns came in last night. Roosevelt will be here for his Thanksgiving dinner, he said last week.

BITTERNESS FADING

Demcs Capture Senate, House and Governors' Seats Handily

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at 10 p. m. Wednesday night showed the following party standings in the house or representatives:

Democrats	291
Republicans	104
Farmer-Labor	0
Still doubtful	40

The senate standings:

Democrats	59
Republicans	35
Farmer-Labor	1
Still doubtful	1

(By The Associated Press)

The revolution at the polls which elevated Franklin D. Roosevelt to the presidency and cut down Republican officeholders was emphasized by late election tabulations.

The figures told the story of an electorate so determined upon a change that it braved almost every variety of weather to register the greatest popular vote ever known, millions higher than the outpouring drawn by the intensity of the 1928 campaign.

Five States for Hoover

President Hoover saw every state west of the Alleghenies turn against him. Only Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine kept the Republican faith. Roosevelt's electoral vote reached a new high figure of 472. Mr. Hoover had 59. For election 266 were necessary. Hoover received 444 four years ago.

Michigan went Democratic. So did Iowa, birthplace of Herbert Hoover; California, where he lives; Kansas, home of Vice President Curtis and among others, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Minnesota.

That was only part of a country-wide political upheaval. The result was substantially the same whether one looked at the senate, the house, gubernatorial races or even returns affecting prohibition.

Old Timers Lose

Political oldtimers blinked as they tried to envision a senate without such captains of the Republican old guard as "Jim" Watson of Indiana, Reed Smoot of Utah, George Moses of New Hampshire and Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, all beaten by Democrats. Add to them another veteran, Senator Wesley Jones of Washington. The eloquence of Senator Borah in Idaho apparently failed to save his Republican colleague, Senator John Thomas.

The opposition of anti-prohibition organization and of devoted followers of Al Smith, combined with the ordinary Republican opposition, did not prevent William Gibbs McAdoo from winning easily in California.

There were 34 senate seats at issue. The Democrats captured 25 of these to give them 56 seats in the 73rd congress. The Republicans took five. The others were still doubtful.

Demos Rule House

On the house side, already Democratic, the tale of Republican disaster was repeated. The winners have 218 seats there now. They are certain of about 260 after next March 4—and 78 house races are still in doubt.

The aggressive and independent LaGuardia of New York sides often with house Democrats but the label, Republican, seemed too much for him to overcome. A Democrat will take his place.

Ruth Baker Pratt of New York lost to a Democrat. Republican

Two Oklahoma Banks Looted by Bandits

ARDMORE, Okla., Nov. 9. (AP)—Robbers boosted the year's total of looted Oklahoma banks to 46 with two holdups today, but one pair lost their loot and their motor car and three others escaped with only a nominal sum.

Wood sections near Wirt were searched for a trace of two thugs who fled with $800 taken in a meal sack from the Wirt State bank, only to abandon both their car and the money two miles northeast of the town when a tire blew out and flung the machine in a ditch.

Three other robbers invaded the American Exchange bank at Collinsville, near Tulsa, scooped up about $1,000 in cash and vanished after locking a bank official and two other men in the vault.

Fort Worth Man Killed In Carbide Explosion

FORT WORTH, Nov. 9. (UP)—J. P. Laverty, 43, superintendent of the National Carbide Sales company, was killed late today in a plant explosion.

Accumulated gas in the carbide room is believed to have caused the mishap.

Laverty was hurled 20 feet through an open doorway. His neck was broken and his body was burned.

Late Count Of Texas Votes Maintains Ma's Lead Over Republican

DALLAS, Nov. 9. (AP)—Returns from the general election in Texas continued to show a 7 to 1 landslide for Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner over the Republican slate, as the tabulation was added up tonight. Texas Election bureau figures showed the Democratic ticket was leading President Hoover and other Republican nominees 346,587 to 47,220 in the last tabulation for today at 6 p. m.

In a hotly contested gubernatorial race, returns from 179 of the state's 354 counties, including 20 complete, indicated Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson would win her second term in the governor's office over Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, Republican nominee. The last tabulation gave her 256,398 votes to Bullington's 162,823.

Amendments Carry

Returns on nine constitutional amendments submitted indicated that all had carried by safe majorities. The tabulation was as follows:

The amendment which would permit the legislature to make appropriations for the University of Texas out of principal realized from income on university lands, instead of being restricted to the interest on such principal as now: For, 79,216, against, 24,750.

To authorize legislative appropriation of funds for the proposed Texas centennial in 1936: for, 63,613; against, 41,042.

Permitting retired army and naval officials to hold office: For, 67,285; against, 32,029.

Coast Bonds Approved

Permitting counties and cities bordering on the Gulf of Mexico upon a vote of two-thirds majority of their resident taxpayers, to levy taxes for construction of seawalls, breakwaters or sanitary purposes: For, 70,315; against, 29,253.

To exempt homesteads from state taxation up to $3,000 of their assessed ad valorem value: For, 88,087; against, 22,934.

To forbid the legislature to release or abolish any indebtedness owed the state or any county or municipality by any individual or corporation, excepting delinquent taxes which have been due 10 years or more: For, 69,666; against, 31,713.

Combine Offices

Combining the offices of county tax collector and assessor: For, 87,915; against, 20,502.

To allow tax collectors to sell property for taxes without filing suit in court, as now: For, 78,400; against, 27,872.

Permitting only qualified electors who own taxable property which they have rendered for taxation to vote in bond elections: For, 80,650; against, 23,253.

Mrs. H. C. Shanafelt Dies At Bryson

Mrs. H. C. Shanafelt, 77, a pioneer resident of Jack county, died at her home in Bryson Wednesday afternoon, according to word received in Wichita Falls by relatives. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bryson Methodist church.

Mrs. Shanafelt's husband, who survives her, is a retired president of the First State bank of Bryson and owns extensive farming, ranching and oil properties.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson, 1111 Alma street, a daughter and Mrs. R. J. Brown, a granddaughter, are the Wichita Falls survivors.

A son A. W. Shanafelt, lives at San Diego, Calif., and another son, S. C., resides in Bryson. Eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Hugo, Okla., Fire Leaves 30 Families Homeless

HUGO, Okla., Nov. 9. (AP)—Nearly 30 families were left homeless today by a fire which swept the southeast section of Hugo, causing damage estimated at more than $100,000.

The refugees, 22 families of whom were negroes, were being cared for by the Red Cross pending rehabilitation.

Suspended Term Given In Lindy Extortion Note

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 9. (AP)—Adam Jasewich of Claremont, charged with sending an extortion letter to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh last April, today retracted a plea of not guilty and pleaded nolo contendere in superior court. He was sentenced to serve a year in jail and pay costs. The sentence was suspended on payment of costs.

SHACKLED

Convict Off to Prison 15 Minutes After Wedding Girl

LONGVIEW, Texas, Nov. 9. (AP)—Fifteen minutes after Jess Nolen, under a 15-year sentence on a robbery with firearms charge, had been wed to Ruby Lee French in the Gregg county jailyard here today, he was shackled and hustled off to Huntsville to the state penitentiary to begin serving his sentence.

Tom Henderson, justice of the peace, performed the ceremony. Jess' brother, James, also under a 15-year sentence in a companion conviction, was best man and left for Huntsville with the groom.

TWO IMPEACHED GOVERNORS WIN

Johnston and Walton Take Oklahoma Contests

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 9. (AP)—The same unequalled tide of Oklahoma ballots that washed the state's first complete Democratic ticket into power, tonight drowned Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's initiated income tax measure.

A margin of more than 15,000 votes weighed against Murray's bill designed to boost rates on large incomes to a maximum of 10 per cent and to reduce levies for the little fellow.

Roosevelt Well Ahead

Cleaning up the last few hundred precincts, vote counters found:

A majority for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of over 325,000 votes, compared with President Hoover's previous record majority of 175,000 four years ago, and a total presidential vote which had climbed far past the 1928 record of 618,427.

Election of Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat, over Wirt Franklin, Republican oil man, by around 185,000 majority and defeat of the state's only Republican representative, the veteran M. C. Garber by E. W. Marland, who made and lost oil millions by about 20,000 votes.

"Jack" Walton Wins

A thumping majority of more than 70,000 for an impeached governor, "Jack" Walton, as Democratic corporation commissioner and tremendous margins for every other Democrat on state and congressional ballots.

Governor Murray's announced intentions of putting his tax bill over in the legislature, if defeated by the people, were enhanced by his winning a working majority of both state house. His favored candidates who were elected Tuesday included another ousted governor, Henry S. Johnson, who will sit in the state senate.

Governor Sterling 'Sorry' Bullington Defeated

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today said he "was happy that Roosevelt and Garner had been elected and sorry that Bullington was defeated."

Governor Sterling, a Democrat, supported Orville Bullington, Republican candidate for governor in his race against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the Democratic nominee.

The governor returned to his office after spending election day at his residence near Houston.

Rail Board Postpones Storage Rate Hearing

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. (AP)—The Texas Railroad commission today announced it had postponed indefinitely a hearing, scheduled for tomorrow, on crude oil storage rates and rules and regulations for storage utilities. Postponement was at the request of interested parties, the commission reported.

NEXT SESSION MAY CHANGE VOLSTEAD LAW

Antis Greatly Heartened By Landslide Vote For Democrats

DRYS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Southern Senators Indicate They Will Conform To Party Platform

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Out of a maze of conjecture of Tuesday's great Democratic victory emerged to new prominence today the question, will December's session of congress vote beer?

From wets—encouraged by the success of a national ticket committed to modification of the Volstead act—came a confident "yes." It was supported by predictions of beer legislation from Speaker John N. Garner, vice president elect, and Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, Republican stalwart, while Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the senate's Democratic leader, added that he saw "no reason" why the short session should not consider a beer bill.

Drys Plan Fight

But the drys answered "no" just as emphatically. They cited the sizeable majorities by which this same congress refused beer last session—two to one in the senate and 228 to 169 in the house. To maintain this alignment they plan an intensive campaign against dry law changes, reaching directly to each senator and representative regardless of party level.

But more than all else, the wets rested hopes of immediate beer legislation upon a belief that "lame duck" members of the 72nd congress will be influenced vitally by the voting sentiment registered in electing Franklin D. Roosevelt and a Democratic congress. Based on pre-election classifications of candidates by wet organizations (no parallel canvass having been made by drys), returns showed anti-prohibition sentiment in the next congress mounting rapidly to a point where a majority of both the house and senate favored either repeal or submission of such action to the people.

Beer for Revenue

These antiprohibition groups also counted heavily on the pressure for beer as a means of raising revenue to balance the federal budget. Still unanswered, however, was the question whether President Hoover would sign or veto such a measure.

Senator Robinson included in his statement the possibilities of considering at the short session repeal or amendment of the 18th amendment. This would require a two-thirds majority while a simple majority would suffice to change the Volstead law.

Senator Pat Harrison, Democratic whip in the senate has said the Democrats would take immediate steps in the December session of congress to modify the Volstead law to permit manufacture and sale of beer within constitutional limitations.

Deny Wet Victory

Deets Picket, of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, said in a statement today that Roosevelt's election "is in no sense a wet victory." He added:

"The acceptance speech of Mr. Hoover had eliminated the prohibition issue from the campaign as a clear-cut issue. Those believing that prohibition is the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic can and will win any national election in the United States when the people are not deprived of an opportunity for choice."

Garner Receives Congratulations But Has Mind On Squirrel And Quail

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

UVALDE, Texas, Nov. 9.—Parboiled squirrel and quail was on the mind of John N. Garner, vice president-elect, tonight as he contemplated hunting trips through the canyons of the Nueces and the Rio Grande before reporting to Washington for the short term of congress and the inauguration next March.

"I want to go out for a season in the open," he said. "I love this section and nothing pleases me more than to do my own cooking in the open." He explained that no matter how old the squirrel or quail, if it was parboiled and then broiled the cooking would be "done to a turn."

"If I live, I shall be 68 years old when I complete this vice presidential term," he said as he paced

Roosevelt Soon To Start Weighing Possible Members Of New Cabinet

By WALTER T. BROWN

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (AP)—President-elect Roosevelt is expected to commence the "weeding out" process that precedes the selection of a cabinet after the first of the year.

The presidential victor intends to be the "governor of New York" until Jan. 1 when he will pass the reins over to his friend and co-victor, Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. He said he would devote most of his time between now and the end of the year to state affairs. A vacation at Warm Springs, Ga., will take up some time.

It is considered a possibility the president-elect will break a precedent and name a woman to his cabinet. Mrs. John C. Greenway, national committeewoman from Arizona, has been mentioned. Mrs. Greenway has been a successful businesswoman and she is well known and liked in the West. She is the widow of a copper king and

ROOSEVELT IN BUSIEST DAYS

President-Elect Returns Home Amid Cheers

By W. B. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 9. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt rounded out the most completely filled day of his life tonight by returning as president-elect to the home town he left only a few short hours ago as only a candidate.

The citizens of the neighboring city of Poughkeepsie turned out in full force to give tumultuous welcome to the newly elected president who came home to them after thanking the citizens of the country for their "vote of confidence" and inviting their help in "the party task of restoration."

Troopers as Guards

The day whose early hours had brought him word of his election found him in the dripping evening shaking hands with rain-coated neighbors and rolling through the streets of his neighboring town behind a helmeted drum corps of the local American Legion post.

A two-hour automobile ride over slippery roads had brought him over the 75 miles from New York City where only a short time before he had addressed the citizens of the country in a radio address thanking them for voting him into the nation's highest office.

His automobile, flanked front and rear by New York state troopers, was met at the Soldiers Memorial fountain, on the outskirts of Poughkeepsie, by a delegation of citizens, the drum corps and scores of boys and girls.

Up through the streets that he had passed through many times without causing a head to be turned, he rode behind the bugle blasts while men and women cheered. At the head of the procession marched two men bearing the American flag and the New York state flag. Bursting bombs and rockets had signalled his arrival in Poughkeepsie.

Makes Speech

Leaving Poughkeepsie, he traveled the four miles to his home in Hyde Park to have supper before continuing the night automobile ride through the rain to Albany.

His first message to the American people was sent to the nation from his study in the East 65th street home of the president-elect which bore all the traces of the election night watching. Gathered around him was James A. Farley, the manager of his campaign, elated but with weariness plainly evident, and several members of his family.

Mr. Roosevelt said "the vote of confidence" was one "that had more than party significance."

"It transcended party limits and became a national expression of liberal thought," he said.

"It means that, I am sure, that the masses of the people of this nation firmly believe that there is great and actual possibility of an orderly recovery through a well conceived and actively directed plan of action. Such a plan has been presented to you and you have expressed aproval.

"This, my friends, is most reassuring. It shows that there is in this country unbounded confidence in the future of sound agricultural and honorable industry. This clear mandate shall not be forgotten.

"I pledge you this and I invite your help in the happy task of restoration."

Receives Reporters

In the first press conference since his election was definitely disclosed, Mr. Roosevelt received two score correspondents in his study. He was sitting at a small table littered with papers, and his daughter, Anna, was leaning over her father, whispering in his ear when the group entered. Beyond Mr. Roosevelt sat Farley and M. H. McIntyre, who has served as business representative for the president-elect on his campaign trips.

Mr. Roosevelt smiled in greeting the correspondents and shook hands warmly with those who had been associated with him on the various campaign trips.

He discussed his plans for the immediate future and said there had been received several thousand congratulatory telegrams during the day and last night.

Earlier in the day he had talked with Senator Byrn of South Carolina, Rymond Moley, a Columbia university professor, and Col. E. M. House. Byrn and Moley were associated with Mr. Roosevelt during the campaign. House was a confidential advisor to President Wilson.

Mr. Roosevelt expected to remain in Albany until Friday and return to Hyde Park for the week-end. He will go to Warm Springs, Ga., to spend Thanksgiving and stay there about a week. Before and immediately after his Warm Springs visit he will work on the state budget.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Willie Bradley of Burkburnett underwent an operation at the Wichita General hospital Wednesday.

In Hospital

T. W. Womack of Burkburnett was admitted to the Wichita General hospital Wednesday for medical treatment.

J. F. Walker of Iowa Park was admitted to the Wichita General hospital Wednesday for surgical treatment.

Mrs. Ellis Returns

Mrs. Al Ellis of Wichita Falls returned Wednesday from Alameda, Calif., after a visit with relatives since Oct. 11.

Senate Bill Would Authorize Water Board To Negotiate Bond Settlement

A bill to authorize Water Improvement District No. 1 of Wichita county to refund $4,000,000 outstanding bonds was introduced in the senate Wednesday by Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Austin to The Record News.

Senator Oneal's bill was senate bill No. 2. The measure was offered in the last special session of the legislature and passed the house, but failed to secure the necessary majority for emergency passage in the senate.

According to Harry Gray Jr., chairman of the board of directors of the district, the bill will place the directors in position to negotiate the settlement of the district's bonds, which have been defaulted for several months. Passage of the bill would permit the board to represent the district in dealing with bondholders and would allow an extension and settlement of the obligations over a long period of time. At present the board is without power to make such settlements without the issues being placed to a vote of the district.

The disturbance at its height was so serious that reinforcements were ordered from Lausanne. A rigid patrol was begun.

Police said the meeting the Socialists attempted to storm was conducted by anti-Socialists, and that when the soldiers fired on the mob they aimed at the pavement.

The bullets were deflected, causing the casualties, according to the police version.

man of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization, said:

"It's a wet landslide; an Anti-saloon league rout. The prohibition issue was clean cut between the two candidates."

State Laws Cited

Organized drys contend few states could take advantage of an act legalizing beer and that therefore the argument that such a law immediately would produce large revenues falls flat.

They pointed out before the election that only six states—Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Montana, Nevada and Wisconsin—were without statutory or state constitutional restrictions on liquor production.

In yesterday's election, however, nine more states, on the basis of latest returns, voted repeal of their constitutional bone dry laws or state enforcement acts.

These were Louisiana, Michigan, New Jersey, California, Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona and North Dakota.

In Connecticut the voters carried by seven to one a proposal to petition congress to propose prohibition repeal to the states, while Wyoming balloters went on record for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Iowa Park Man Drowns In Lake

ly sapped his strength. Hindered by heavy clothing, he sank.

L. F. Martin, pumper at the lake, heard Burton's shouts for help and rowed to the overturned boat and rescued him.

Aid was summoned from Olney in the search for Burnam's body. Jess McDonald, Oliver Norred and M. P. McCracken, the latter of the McCracken Funeral home, dragged the lake with a trot-line, with weights and hooks attached, until the body was found. The searchers used a motorboat.

Relieved Pumper

Burnam, an employe of the Humble Pipe Line company, had been a resident of Iowa Park for the greater part of his life. He left his home there early this morning to relieve a pumper on a Humble lease, three miles from the lake. After working all day, he and Burton set out on the hunting trip.

The accident occurred about 4 o'clock this afternoon. The body was recovered at 5:30 o'clock.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Wednesday night, but it was expected the body would be returned to Iowa Park for services.

Burnam is survived by his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burnam; a brother Bowen (Jack) Burnam; and a sister, Mrs. Shy Levy, all of Iowa Park.

has long been a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Miss Frances Perkins, New York state labor commissioner, also has been mentioned as a cabinet possibility.

For secretary of state several names have been discussed chief of which are those of Owen D. Young and Norman H. Davis, former undersecretary of state and an armament conference delegate of the Hoover administration. Sumner Wells, a career diplomatist, and Breckenridge Long, former assistant secretary of state, also have been mentioned. Richard Washburn Child, former ambassador to Italy, has been an active worker for Roosevelt. Child is a Republican.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, U. S. Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Bruce Kramer, Montana national committeeman, and Arthur Mullen, the Roosevelt convention manager, have been mentioned in connection with speculation as to who will be the next attorney general.

The treasuryship discussion has called up the names of Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier; Melvin Traylor, the Chicago banker, who was Illinois' choice at the convention for the presidential nomination and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, "father" of the federal reserve act.

Members of the Roosevelt party heard it openly asserted at Salt Lake City that Gov. George Dern of Utah would be Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the interior, and in Missouri the name of former Gov. Frederick A. Gardner, St. Louis manufacturer, was mentioned in connection with the commerce post.

It generally is supposed James A. Farley, the national chairman, will be postmaster general, a portfolio usually reserved for the successful campaign manager.

Robert Jackson of New Hampshire, secretary of the national committee; Joseph P. Kennedy, Boston and New York financier; Judge Robert Marks of Cincinnati; Senator John S. Cohen and Clark Howell, Atlanta publishers; former Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard are other cabinet possibilities.

Governor Ritchie, because of his popularity with naval people due to his long residence at Annapolis, also is considered a possibility for secretary of the navy. Senator Cohen was a naval officer in his younger days and has a particular fondness for the sea service.

Relieve Headache And Quiet Nerves In Three Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle, from most relief giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics, or such habit forming drugs. Texan Suggests Names For New Administration

AUSTIN, Nov. 9. (AP)—Albert Sidney Burleson of Austin, postmaster general under President Wilson, today made public his nominations for the cabinet of President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, and suggested consolidations of federal departments and bureaus.

With the statement that "in my opinion should Governor Roosevelt select the following cabinet officers he would be assured of success not only in effecting economies but in carrying out his legislative program," Burleson made the following nominations:

Secretary of State—Newton D. Baker of Ohio or Norman G. Davis of New York.

Secretary of the Treasury—Cordell Hull of Tennessee or Key Pittman of Nevada.

Attorney General — Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland or Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Postmaster General—Alfred E. Smith of New York or C. C. Dill of Washington.

Secretary of interior, which he said, should be combined with the departments of commerce and labor—George W. Norris of Nebraska, or Albert W. Barkley of Kentucky.

Secretary of Agriculture—Henry T. Rainey of Illinois or C. A. Cobb of Georgia.

Secretary of defense, which, he said, should comprise the war and navy departments—R. L. Batts of Texas or James A. Farley of New York.

Secretary of expenditures, which should embody the budget commissions, pensions, river and harbor improvement, public buildings, and reclamation service — Samuel G. Bratton of New Mexico or Barnard M. Baruch of New York.

The former postmaster general said that "President-Elect Roosevelt should of course be permitted to select his cabinet officers without pressure from any source." He predicted that the new president will be able to fulfill his campaign promise to reduce governmental expenditures one billion dollars "only if his cabinet officers give him active assistance."

Prohibition Not Tested In Election, Says Cannon

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 9. (UP)—Tuesday's presidential election was not a real test of prohibition, Bishop James Cannon Jr., said today.

"Prohibition was one of the issues," he said, "but not the main issue. Both Roosevelt and Hoover admitted prohibition's strength by stating the saloon has been driven out and must never return."

He said dry forces and church people will continue their fight to retain the 18th amendment through congress and state legislatures.

Blind Preacher, Friend Of Coolidge, Dies

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 9. (INS)—John Taylor, the blind preacher of Brule who at the request of President Coolidge conducted special services at the little country church in the village of Brule when the former president was vacationing there, died here today.

Prominent in the Presbyterian clergy in this area, he became nationally famous when he conducted the services for the Coolidge family in 1928.

Friberg News

Special to The Record News.

FRIBERG, Texas, Nov. 9.—Rev. and Mrs. Albert F. Heusel and family were generously pounded with good things to eat Thursday evening when members and friends of the Methodist congregation gathered at their home following the regular prayer services at the church. The table was heaped with packages by the guests after which a social hour was enjoyed. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Ben F. Greer, Barton, Othe Lamb, Frank Lovell, Vernie Lamb, W. T. Jenne, Jennie Jenne, Ben Roediger, Misses Lucile Barton, Ollie Roediger, Ethel Frances Lamb and Messrs. Leon Rankin, Charles Barton and Bruce Glimer and the host and hostess, Rev. and Mrs. Heusel.

The Friberg Parent-Teacher association will meet in the school auditorium Friday evening in regular session. The subject for the evening will be "Citizenship." Talks will be made and an entertainment program given by the school children.

Wheat sowing in this community is unusually late this season due to the dry weather. Many of the wheat farmers who had suspended planting in the belief that rain was imminent to put seasoning in the ground are now planting the grain in dry ground.

One of the largest cotton crops in recent years is being harvested by the cotton growers of this district. The cotton reached an unusually fine maturity due to the plentiful summer rains and a majority of the fields are yielding more of the product at the second picking than at the first. The dry, warm weather prevailing is proving a boon to pickers and producer alike. One more week will see the end of the season.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. M. A. Thornton at her home. The meeting was postponed from last Thursday because of the sudden illness of Mrs. Thornton's small daughter, Loretta Katheryn. The child, who was suffering with pneumonia, is improved.

Rev. A. F. Heusel, pastor of the Methodist church, addressed a large audience Sunday morning on the subject, "What's Wrong With the Country? And Why?"

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Emmert were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Roediger and at the Casper Geyer home Sunday afternoon.

WHALE OF A CATFISH

WILLMAR, Minn. (UP)—A 33-pound catfish was caught here recently by Allen Wallin, who was so surprised that he jumped into the lake to pull the fish ashore. The water was only about four feet deep. The fish was the largest caught in the county this year.

COLDS GO THROUGH 3 STAGES!

And They are Far Easier Stopped in the First than in the Second or Third!

A cold ordinarily passes through three stages—the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage. Relief is twice as easy in the first stage.

For prompt relief take a couple of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately upon catching cold. This will usually expel the cold overnight and thus prevent the spread of the infection within your system.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is effective because it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels. Kills the cold germs and fever in the system. Relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe to take. Contains no narcotics and produces no bad after effects. It is regarded the world over as the standard cold tablet. Comes in handy, pocket size box, cellophane-wrapped. For sale in every drug store in America. Make it your first-aid in all cases of colds and grippe. Accept no substitutes.

OLD TRADING POST IS TOWN

Thriving City Springs Up When Rails Come

LOVELAND, Calif., Nov. 9. (UP)—A Spanish trader, looking for a place where he could barter and trade with the Indians, established Namaqua Post, on the Big Thompson river, early in 1860. Today the trading post has disappeared and in its place is the thriving town of Loveland.

The Spanish trader was Mariana Modena, and when he moved from the San Luis valley, he took with him his squaw wife and her son, Louis Papa. The first thing they did upon coming to the new land was build a stage coach station.

Louis Papa and the stage coach station are still among those present in Loveland.

Construction of the railroad from Golden, Col., to Cheyenne, Wyo., caused settlers to rebuild Loveland so it would be closer to the tracks.

David Barnes donated one of his wheat fields and the town site was laid out in the fall of 1877.

From this start, Loveland has come forward to take its place as one of the most progressive towns in the state.

Frederick Sand Pit Gives Up Live Frogs Imbedded In Clay

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 9.—While several negroes were at work at the Holloman sand pit a few days ago, they broke open a clay ball, about the size of a water bucket, which contained three live frogs. They died upon being exposed to air and light. Holloman says he had not informed the negroes to notify him if they should find any frogs. He believes that if he had been there he could have saved their lives by placing them in wet sand. There were two species, one resembling a bull frog. They soon dried up so that nothing remained but their wrinkled skins. These frogs were found in three separate partitions or pockets of the clay.

Numerous frogs have been found by Holloman in the gravel pits during the past few years, some of which lived for more than a year, and created much interest among scientists throughout the United States.

Fossils of several extinct animals recently were found by Holloman and are now on exhibition, along with numerous other bones of prehistoric fauna. One resembles a portion of a horn of a bison, another a part of an elephant's tusk while a third is believed by Holloman to be a tooth from a gigantic five-toed horse. Holloman says he will send these curiosities either to the geological department of the state university at Norman or the Smithsonian institute at Washington to have them classified by some capable paleontologist.

There are three state capitals on the Missouri river and 18 on the Mississippi and its tributaries.

GOP LEADER IN KANSAS DIES

David W. Mulvane Claimed By Sudden Stroke

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 9. (INS)—David W. Mulvane, Republican national committeeman, and veteran political leader of Kansas, died unexpectedly here today. The cause of his death had not been determined.

Mulvane apparently was in good health this morning, associates said. He last night followed a custom of long standing by remaining at political headquarters all night assisting in tabulating returns, but early today had shown no ill effects from this exertion.

He was a close friend of Vice President Curtis, and had been a staunch supporter of the latter during his political career.

Mulvane had been an active leader in the standpat faction of the Republican party of Kansas for more than a quarter of a century.

Herbert Hoover is supposed to be the richest man who ever occupied the presidency of the United States.

No Beans, No Gold Fish At This Chow

War Veterans To Feast On 'Regular' Food

No beans, no gold fish!

Assurance that the 1932 Armistice day "army chow" of the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion would not contain these two items on the menu Thursday night was given Wednesday by Dr. L. L. Lucey, post commander.

The "chow" line will form at 6:30 o'clock at the Memorial auditorium and arrangements have been made to deal out grub for 600 ex-soldiers of Wichita and Clay counties. All ex-soldiers, regardless of affiliation with the legion, are invited. The Iowa Park and Henrietta legionnaires are members of the local post and are expected to participate.

The "chow" will be dealt out by Claude Staton, veteran army cook, and no sardines—gold fish in army vernacular—will be permitted in the pot. The invitation includes former sailors and marines, Dr. Lucey said.

The public is invited to attend an Armistice eve program at the auditorium at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the legion. The program opens with a 30-minute band concert by the Lions club organization.

Moody Nicholson, past commander of the Oklahoma legion, will speak. The program will close with 14 acts of stage entertainment with 13 units of dancing, music, acrobatics and readings presented by the Knickerbocker School of Fine Arts. The final act will be a tableld, "The Unknown Soldier" by the Wichita County 40 and 8 Voiture No. 939.

Texas Federation Settles Controversy At Convention

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, in annual convention here, today settled perhaps the most controversial issue ever to come before it and rounded out discussions of its arts and public welfare activities.

By a vote of 75 to 13 the delegates passed a charter amendment to extend the term of its president from two to three years, a question which was reported to have been long before the board of directors in a number of executive sessions.

Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston, president, in opening discussion on the matter, explained that the change would conform to the general federation's plan. Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., general federation president, concurred but said she wanted to make it clear that the national organization was making no request that the state body follow the parent group.

During the discussion which followed, she took the platform to admonish the delegates to "please keep the general federation out of this."

Mrs Frank Slater of Dallas, second vice president, joined the opposition to the move and other delegates expressed dissatisfaction with it. They were badly outnumbered, however, by proponents of the change when the time came to take a vote

Today's session also brought forth a report of the board of directors recommending a revision of the bylaws but the one recommendation expected from it that the president, upon retiring, automatically become general federation director in Texas was not forthcoming. Whether it would be brought out later was not learned.

A symposium of the various art activities of the federation, under the direction of Mrs. Greenleaf Fish of Abilene, was offered during the afternoon session. The public welfare session was included during the morning, with special emphasis placed on need for aid to the unemployed and under-privileged children.

Two speakers prominent in educational work addressed the convention late today—Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, and Dr. Annie Webb Blanton of Austin. Both painted a rather gloomy picture of the outlook in the educational field.

Dr. Benedict said denominational colleges in the state were in a particularly "desperate" financial state and that in general "higher education, as well as lower, except in the cases of a very few wealthy colleges, is facing a crisis."

Meanwhile, the drama and literature divisions announced a number of winners in various contests as follows: Best one-act play, Mrs. May Francis Michael, Sherman; best year book, Twentieth Century club of Stephenville; second, Beaux Arts Junior club of Waco; club offering the most cultural program during the year, Shakespeare club of Waxahachie; best short story, Mrs. L. N. Caudle of Houston; best Bible division work, first district, whose president is Mrs. Bob Barker of Fort Worth.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

And it is all over but the shouting, save perhaps the groaning in different sections. Like the millions of others in the United States we feel now that it is time to settle down, go about other than political business and hope for the best.

Wednesday when we arrive at the office (this being written at home), we do not expect anything we used on our desk. Even our typewriter may have disappeared into the far corners of the earth. Such is the habit when a newspaper office takes reports and tabulates.

For at electioneering times, a newspaper office is the busiest place on earth, and desks may be used regardless, with all the odds and ends that go on them. But the desk should be there. And we'll do a bit of housekeeping in looking for our possessions. Some very great good may thus come out of the election.

We love about as many Republicans as we do Democrats, but we are of course glad to hear that Roosevelt is our next president. For one thing we could not go through another term and see Mr. Hoover read sheet after sheet of his speeches. We only knew the other day that he refused to use his glasses when speaking, so a special type was used to write the speeches that he read.

Being intensely nearsighted ourself, we had begun to believe we will follow his example when we have the price to pay.

"The price to pay." It is a terrible expression, but conditions were ever so; men writers lay vanity at the foot of womanhood—they being great, strong, silent creatures who need nothing but severely-cut clothing.

It was not centuries ago when men wore velvet and satin coats and had lace frills around their cuffs and as jabots on their manly bosoms. Their breeches were knee breeches. But just think it over in your mind and guess how many of your men folk would look attractive in that romantic garb.

They must have chosen their best looking men to show off in ancient paintings, for there were bound to be then, as there are now, bandy-shanks and bowlegs. Then, too, lack of the strenuous exercise men used to have—say for one thing, lack of walking, has made the lower extremities of some gentlemen rather effeminate in looks. We can only think of a few who would have the "come hither eye" in such dress.

If men dressed so, we believe we would be glad to profit by near-sighted eyes. Women of a past date lived under something of a disadvantage also. If their silks and brocades and cotton goods had not been much more reasonable in price than now, how ever would they have dressed in the wide skirts of that period?

Today, woman as a rule, walks splendidly; rides splendidly (if she has a horse) and swims splendidly. How did she swim at all when she wore high shoes and long lisle stockings. In days gone by, she danced probably like a fairy when she danced the polka and the schottish or the waltz, but hampered by those voluminous skirts how could she have done the popular dances of this day.

Ah well, it is all in the mills of the gods. And in conclusion, Mr. Hoover's message to Mr. Roosevelt, when he acknowledged his defeat and offered himself in time of need, was the prettiest thing we have ever known from him.

Jubilee Celebration Featured in Magazine

Wichita Falls' golden jubilee celebration of September is featured in a two-page article in the November issue of Telegraph Wirld, magazine of the employes of Western Union.

The article is well illustrated with pictures of Wichita pioneers, early day and modern scenes, and leaders of the celebration. Pictures of the local Western Union staff, dressed in their "wild west" costumes, also are shown. According to E. E. Louderback, manager, the Telegraph World is circulated over the entire United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and in European cable stations. It has a subscription list of 35,000.

Anne Adams Jumper Frock
Pattern 2461

by Anne Adams

By ANNE ADAMS

What a love of a jumper frock for each tiny tot! We'll wager you've never seen a more adorable one. Of course, kiddies adore plaids . . . nothing could be grander to use here . . . and the blouse, with its cunning scalloped collar and pretty puffed sleeves, is delectable of cotton. But . . . we could rave on forever about it . . .

Pattern 2641 may be ordered only in sizes 4 to 12. Size 4 requires ¾ yard 54 inch fabric and one yard 36 inch contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Address all mail and orders to

Forum Crowded for Drama Program

Every seat in the auditorium of the Woman's Forum clubhouse was filled Wednesday night to hear the drama program presented as the first entertainment of the annual flower show, which opened at 12 o'clock Wednesday. Chairs had to be placed back of the ferns, palms and tall bird cages on the steps that led into the dining room to furnish equivalent seating space for an enthralled audience.

Mrs. John B. Rhea, chairman of the drama department directed the program and announcements were made by Kay Cason. The first number announced was a trio with Miss Annette Walsh at the piano, Mrs. Flora Greenwood playing the cello and Mrs. J. E. Hall the violin. In the "Scarf Dance," and the "Spanish Tango," played by these three, supremely perfect musicians in their lines, not a sound was heard from the large audience. The quietude paid beautiful tribute to the artists.

The second number to be presented was a real Spanish group. Mrs. Maurice Adams, accompanied by Paul Sisk on the xylophone, Viola Grace Doern on the violin and Miss Maurice Adams at the piano, sang a Spanish number "Borachita," after which Miss Adams, accompanied by her mother, Miss Doern and Mr. Sisk, sang "La Paloma." The beautiful ending of the scene, and one that called for an encore, was the national Spanish dance by Miss Adams and Scott Griffis, both in handsome Spanish costume and each using the castanets.

Harliquinade

The playlet that concluded the program showed a variety of magnificent acting with the parts taken by Misses Elrie Ward and Annabel Harrell; Mesdames D. A. Kahn, Porter Oakes and Sterling Crumpler.

Mrs. Porter Oakes, who directed the play, took the part of Columbine and Mrs. D. A. Kahn was Harlequin. Miss Harrell was a splendid peddler, calling "Old Loves for New," etc. Mrs. Kahn and Mrs. Crumpler were charmingly natural in their parts and Mesdames Oakes and Miss Ward were splendid actresses. The short playlet held the attention of the audience to the very close. Mrs. Crumpler, playing the little English maid, brought the part up to date with her 1932 exclamations.

Books, candy and cakes and the white elephant booth were almost emptied Wednesday. Thursday morning, the show will open earlier and a fresh supply of goods will be on hand for the forum minded public. The first day was a magnificent success.

The auditorium, library and foyer were never more beautiful than for the Fiesta de Flores.

Fiesta de Flores Proves Outstanding Forum Event

Rich color in the silken Spanish costumes and in the rows of magnificent flowers exhibited made the Woman's Forum clubhouse when members opened the fourth annual flower show Wednesday at 12 o'clock as charming a picture as has ever been seen in the club home. As one entered the foyer, a long table against the south wall covered with gold and purple, was filled with intriguingly wrapped white elephants. These were disappearing so rapidly that the chairman, Mrs. James P. Bowen, sent out an urgent request for articles that each housekeeper owns and which she does not use. It may be the very thing that others will desire, she stated.

Mrs. O. W. Harvey and her committee served behind the mammoth showcase where delicious looking pies, cookies, cakes and candies were selling rapidly.

Just inside the auditorium, the secondhand book stall, an innovation in the flower shows and the project of the literature department was surrounded by an interested group and across from it, the pushcart arranged by Mrs. Luther Hoffman was fascinatingly lovely. Before one enters the library, there is the work of art created by Mrs. C. E. McCutchen in a pushcart exhibit and in the library, one of the most delightful of the exhibits is shown on the north wall, deep black shadow boxes held an array of beauty not to be described. Across from these, the work of the school children in the junior garden club attracted greater attention than any other exhibit than the flowers.

Morgan Floral company, Bebb Floral company, Abbott Floral company and Mrs. C. B. Haynie had exquisite professional displays. But the rows where flower lovers put their wares, was the piece de resistance of the exhibit unless it was the stand of minature bouquets for which Mrs. M. T. Chamberlin was chairman. Even the judges threatened to quit there and the school display judges were as embarrassed in selecting the best exhibits.

Prizes were awarded as follows: The grand sweepstake prize with its gold ribbon, signifying the greatest number of blue, red and white ribbons was won by Mrs. Peyton Gwynn; Mesdames Luther Wright and Frank Timberlake tied for the silver ribbon which was the other sweepstakes prize.

In the beautiful miniature garden prizes for the exhibits shown by the school children, Carrigan school won the grand prize; Alamo and Huey schools tied for the blue ribbon, or first prize; second went to Fannin and third to Crockett. Honorable mention was given Ben Franklin and Austin schools.

Prizes awarded to school children for their individual displays were as follows: Huey school, Edith Wilson, Wilton Wilson and Richard Thompson, first; Ruby Goodson and Edith Wilson, second and J. T. Harriston, third. Austin school: Frank Stewart, first; Leo Kelm, second and Leroy Parks and Jacky Joe, third. Carrigan: Rose Dyer and Gene Cylon, first; Dorothy Jo Owen and C. O. Hamilton Home Opened To Many McKenney Friends

Members of the ministerial alliance and their wives, friends from all the churches, from the Rotary club, the Shrine organization, the chamber of commerce and other organizations together with the members of the First Methodist Sunday school were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hamilton on Brook street at an open house Tuesday night honoring Dr. and Mrs. S. S. McKenney, who left Wednesday for Tyler.

Dr. McKenney, after a pastorate of six years at the First Methodist church here, has been transferred to Tyler, where he will become pastor of the First Methodist church.

An ensemble group from the Raub studio furnished music during the evening. Members of the ensemble were Robert Honea, Holbert Jarrott, Wilma Sue Warman, Lois Fisk, Elizabeth Perkins, Mae Bartlett, Clyde Tittle Jr. and the pianist, Miss Helen Smith.

Assisting the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Basham, Mrs. J. D. Bright, Dr. and Mrs. Q. B. Lee, Judge and Mrs. W. W. Cook, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. A. Guest and Messrs. and Mesdames Wayne Somerville, Homer Lee, T. L. Davis, N. H. Martin, Guy Raley, C. Y. Tully, W. W. Silk, J. J. Perkins and J. S. Bridwell. During the evening 350 guests called.

Mrs. Collins Hostess to Wilson Memorial Group

Mrs. C. E. Collins was hostess to members of the D. O. D. Sunday school class at her home Monday in a joint social and business meeting. Mrs. Louis Ayers, president, presided over the business meeting and Mrs. Ben Bell led in the opening prayer. The devotional was given by Mrs. J. W. Donley and reports from officers were heard. Plans were made to adopt a day nursery family for Christmas Mrs. J. W. Thomas led in the closing prayer.

During the social hour progressive "bug" was played. High score prize was won in these games by Mrs. C. F. James.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames H. T. Burndt, M. R. Peeples, A. W. Davis, J. W. Donley, Ernest Owens, Louis Ayers, V. C. Hammersley, F. L. Arbuckle, H. O. Denson, Ben Bell, J. W. Thomas, C. F. James, L. B. Malone, G. H. Axline, C. W. Ridling, J. B. Tilson, two visitors and the hostess.

ATTACKED BY TRACTOR

FORT WORTH.—Soft sod was all that saved the life of Louis Cooper, 24-year-old ranch employe here recently. While he was attempting to couple a trailer on to a tractor the clutch slipped with the gears in reverse. The 1,400-pound tractor backed over Cooper's legs, chest, arms and stomach, and then, running in a circle, it ran over his feet a second time.

Wednesday Women's Clubs Study Interesting Themes

Even with the Fiesta de Flores opening at the Woman's Forum clubhouse, and some members of each club taking part in the activities there, splendid programs were presented by various units. Members of the Junior Travel club met at the Forum clubhouse in their regular room and the outstanding number on the program was a splendid original number by Mrs. Wilson Gray. "Bread Alone," based on the Russion five-year plan. A round table discussion followed.

Mrs. W. A. McCarty presided in the business meeting when Mrs. Caldwell gave an interesting parliamentary drill in place of Mrs. Wilson, who was absent and Mrs. Wilson Gray reported the recent conference.

Members present were Mesdames W. H. Caldwell, E. A. Deaton, N. H. Downing, Thelbert Martin, W. A. McCarty, G. H. Watson, E. T. Duff, Wilson Gray, John Humphrey, D. O. Johnson, G. K. Wilson and W. J. Morgareidge.

Sorosis Club

Mrs. I. Karrenbrock was hostess to members of the Sorosis club after a delightful luncheon served at the Woman's Forum clubhouse. Mrs. E. C. Jordan was leader and Mrs. Lowry gave a splendid talk on "The Road to Peace," which led to a refreshing round table discussion.

In the social half hour, a dainty refreshment plate was served to Mrs. Ammann, who was a guest, Mrs. Guy Airey, M. H. Glover, Joe D. Harris, O. R. Haynie, E. C. Jordan, W. P. Lowry, E. L. McCarty, Howard Renfro, Burke Taylor and the hostess, Mrs. Karrenbrock.

1922 Study

Members of the 1922 Study club met at the home of Mrs. Ray Keith Wednesday morning. Roll call was answered with current events about Mexico, the country to be studied by the club this year.

"Historic Mexico" was the general subject for the lesson. Mrs. J. M. Spoonts gave a very interesting account of the history of Mexico during the lives of Montezuma and Cortez.

Mrs. W. H. Newell read a well prepared paper on "Independent Mexico," giving the history of Mexico from the reign of Cortes until the present time. Mrs. Ira L. Cain Jr., director of the lesson, gave interesting facts about Mexico and read a paper on "The Last Days of George Washington."

Those present were Mesdames Irvin J. Vogel, C. C. Glover, John L. Gibbs, E. C. Stirman, J. M. Spoonts, W. H. Newell, T. A. Bradley, Ira L. Cain Jr., and the hostess.

How Does an Actress Manage?

Matinee and night, two performances, at the time of month that her menstrual flow is at its height. An actress often must submit to such an inconvenience, but does not suffer the usual pain. Midol blocks all possibility of any menstrual pain, for hours at a time. Taken in advance, you will not have one uncomfortable moment. If the pains have begun, they are stopped in seven minutes!

No woman need be a martyr to her monthly periods. One Midol tablet will convince you. It can't harm you, for it is not a narcotic. All drugstores. Simply ask for Midol.

The little Girl who wouldn't
EAT
When a youngster has no appetite, it's probably due to stasis. A little fig syrup will soon correct this condition — then watch the child eat.

Nature knows best! Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Not to correct this is inexcusable. It is so easy to do, if you will only use the "California treatment." Read what it is doing for listless children in every part of the country!

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children any constipating cathartic that drains the system and weakens twenty feet of tender bowels! California fig syrup is the only "medicine" they need!

Sluggishness ended in 2 Weeks!

That girl or boy with a furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts! California fig syrup will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food, digest it, gain weight.

Try the California treatment! Begin tonight, with enough of the pure fig syrup to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week until the child's appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone.

Be sure to get the real California fig syrup. Any druggist has it, all bottled, with directions. It's a natural, vegetable laxative. Just as good for babes of two years as boys of ten. They all love its taste!

NOTICE TO MOTHERS

There are imitations of California fig syrup, and those who would sell you some substitute even when a child's health is concerned. Don't ever take any bottle that is not plainly labeled CALIFORNIA.

You'll Never Say All Coffee Tastes Alike... After You Try This Really Different Kind

Not Just Another Brand—But a Richer, Rarer Flavor of Coffee From Mountain-Top Plantations

Grown Largely in the Famous West Coast Districts of CENTRAL America Where Coffee Acquires a Rare Tang Not Duplicated Elsewhere in the World

ALTHOUGH you may have changed "brands" a dozen times, you've probably never tasted coffee like this before. For it's one coffee that's really different—coffee that's mountain-grown!

It comes chiefly from certain tiny districts on the West Coast of CENTRAL AMERICA. And is grown high up in rich volcanic soil where mountain air and steaming tropical rains produce a rare coffee flavor which experts concede is not duplicated anywhere else in the world.

A Taste Adventure

These rare mountain coffees are much more difficult to secure than the ordinary kind. For each year's limited crop represents only a fraction of the world's total supply. So many people never taste them.

But you find these mountain coffees in Folger's—the coffee so many women are turning to today.

Coffee so full bodied that you may use 1-5th less than you do now. Coffee so mellow-rich and winey that it gives you an entirely new conception of how utterly good a cup of coffee can be! Brought to your table with all its mountain-freshness faithfully preserved in key-opening, vacuum tins.

Make This 3-Day Test

Just go to your grocer and get a pound of Folger's today. Drink it tomorrow morning.

A Coffee Depot in Costa Rica—Here Folger's rare Central American coffees, brought down from mountain plantations by ox-cart, are gathered to await shipment to San Francisco on Panama liners.

The following morning serve the coffee you previously used. The third morning serve Folger's again. Then choose between them.

If, for any reason, you decide against Folger's, your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. That's fair, isn't it? 153

AGED JURIST TAKES STAND

Seymour Father Tells Of Son's Violence

apartment he had rented. When the defendant seized his wife and ordered her to accompany him, Judge Dickson said he interfered. Yielding to the son's plea that he be allowed to talk with his wife, Judge Dickson said he permitted them to step into an adjoining room where they might talk in the presence of Temple's mother. The instant they entered that room, the witness said, he was called suddenly by his wife. Rushing into the room, he continued, he found that the mother had seized Temple in time to prevent his firing at his wife with a pistol held cocked and loaded in his hand.

Throughout the past several months, Judge Dickson narrated, the defendant required medical treatment every week in order to be quieted. The witness told of having struggled many times with his son before the latter could be subdued and put to bed. Often, he said, the defendant cursed his parents bitterly, threatened their lives, and on one occasion attempted to shoot the witness.

Asked by the defense attorneys what the defendant's attitude was during such spells, the witness replied that his son "looked then just as the Mr. Hyde looks in the 'Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde' play."

Judge Dickson told of having brought his son to a hospital here last fall, and of having kept him under treatment here for about two weeks. After that, the witness said, young Dickson seemed improved, but soon resumed his dissipation and was taken to a hospital at Paducah for treatment.

"Aside from that two weeks—those two occasions in the hospitals," he said, "there was not one week that we did not have to fight that crazy boy, who threatened our lives and his own, and kept me in fear that I should have to kill my own boy to protect my life."

On the night before Plunkett was killed, Judge Dickson said, he and his wife remained up until about 3 a. m. quieting the defendant after a violent outburst of crazed fury. They finally secured him on a cot beside the house just outside Judge Dickson's bedroom window, with the boy's mother sleeping beside him, and Judge Dickson lying with his head at the window. The defendant remained at home until afternoon of the following day, Judge Dickson said, and was in a dazed stupor when he returned home after the shooting of Plunkett.

Negro Servant as Guard

Similar descriptions of frequent struggles with the defendant were narrated by a negro employe of the Dickson family, who divided his time during the past year between serving as yard man and as body-servant to Temple Dickson. He said that when the defendant "went crazy," he often took the boy to the bathroom, "gave it to him hot," rubbed him down with alcohol, and then carried him bodily back to Temple's upstairs bedroom. There, the negro said, he often had to sit on the defendant to keep him in bed until he quieted down.

The defendant constantly was afraid some one was after him, the witness said, and demanded that the blinds be kept drawn tightly over locked windows. The negro said Dickson often went crouched, hurrying through the halls warning his servant against intruders that were "after him."

Donald Dickson, district attorney-elect of Baylor county, and an older brother of the defendant, took the stand Wednesday morning to recount his experiences with what he called Temple Dickson's "failing mentality."

The witness said Temple began using liquor about eight years ago, but said that about 18 months ago, after the defendant's wife left him, he went "all to pieces." He said Temple had remained in a drunken condition most of the time while married, and that the couple's married life had been filled with quarrels and unhappiness.

Donald Dickson told of his younger brother's once having gone gunning for a man declared by the defendant to have "insulted his wife." No such affront ever occurred, the witness said he learned from Mrs. Dickson. On another occasion, the witness said Temple threatened him with stabbing after Donald Dickson had sought to quiet a disturbance started by the defendant in a cafe.

Paducah Witnesses Testify

Witnesses from Paducah told of the defendant's having gone temporarily insane there last December after having taken a position as court reporter.

The youth left his hotel room one night, jumped in his car and drove away. Later he told people a woman had come to his room and threatened him with a revolver. She leaped on his running board and clung on despite the fact that he drove 60 miles an hour and swerved frequently trying to throw her off, witnesses stated he had told them.

When the woman crawled along the running board and reached the door he ditched the car and started running across a field. She followed him with the pistol, he said.

A farmer brought Temple to town and Sheriff A. A. Payne went to the scene of the hallucination and found Temple's hat and overcoat and his tracks across the field. He said even then Temple pointed to the woman's imaginary tracks, which did not exist, and kept recounting his terrible experience of the night before.

Several witnesses told of his behavior while being held in the judge's chambers in the courthouse, pending the arrival of his father. They testified that Dickson kept saying to his mother and father, who were not present, "Get back from that door. Don't you see that woman with the pistol? She is going to kill you."

They said he would look out of the window and comment on the terrible mob below, when in fact the courthouse square was empty. All witnesses said that on this day Dickson had had nothing to drink.

Other witnesses were presented by the defense during the day, to testify briefly their reasons for believing Dickson to be of unsound mind. Introduction of further defense testimony is expected to consume most of Thursday, it was indicated Wednesday.

Garner Plans Hunting Trip

an Associated Press correspondent's room in a hotel here.

"You know, I like you newspaper boys; I can talk and be myself and you will not write about me except what should be written. You are the gold of the earth, you fellows."

Then, he talked about a block of property he owns in this vicinity which brings him an income of $18,000 annually.

"I want to come back here and live my life in my own way after I get through in Washington," he said. "I would not have built that home at a cost of $20,000 12 years ago, with its pecan trees and all, if I had intended staying up in Washington all my life."

The Garner home is a great place, a retreat to which any one should like to go. It was there last night he slept while the country sat up to listen to his election as vice president. It was there that the otherwise quiet town of Uvalde paraded with its fire apparatus to cheer him.

To Town Early

Garner came to town early this morning after spending a period in his office with "Etta," his wife and political advisor more than 30 years. He read carefully hundreds of telegrams sent to him from all parts of the United States and directed how they should be answered.

Then he went to the bank of his son, Tully Garner, where he was greeted as "Jack." He walked the sidewalks of Uvalde and received the congratulations of a townsman who had been elevated to the second highest office in the land. He went to the hotel and called on "the newspaper boys."

Representatives of "sound pictures," however, were given a cold shoulder.

"I do not want you to record my voice on that thing," he said. "I can talk to these newspaper boys and rest my case with them. They know what to say and what not to say."

Garner, elected to congress from the 15th Texas district again, said he did not contemplate resigning from the national house until after he had qualified as vice president. He cherished particularly a message of congratulation from Rene B. Creager, Texas national Republican committeeman, who lives in Garner's congressional district.

Talks With F. R.

"All Texans, irrespective of party ties, are proud of you and of the honor you have brought our state," Creager wired Garner.

Hundreds of other telegrams poured in and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, president-elect, talked with him on the telephone.

"Let Roosevelt give it out; I shall not do any talking," Garner said as he left the telephone.

Garner said he wanted to fish and hunt as much as possible before he returned to Washington.

"I just want a single man to go with me," he said. "A crowd can not do any good in the woods. If there is more than one, you can't do as you please. I like to cook breakfast—eggs and sausage, or bacon. I know how it should be done."

A DANGEROUS TOY

MIAMI, Fla.—Betty Jean was playing on the porch recently and very much pleased that her nurse had left her for a few minutes. "Isn't that just the cutest, wiggliest little thing crawling toward me," thought little Betty Jean. Just then nurse came out and let out a shriek that brought Fordham Cheeseborough, 30, to the scene. He killed a rattlesnake the girl was playing with.

VOTERS OUST OLD FAVORITES

Democratic Upheaval Is Nation-Wide

Floor Leader Snell, was re-elected however, from upstate New York.

The tabulations tell another sad Republican story in the gubernatorial races. There were elections in 34 states. The Democrats won 18 of these and on the basis of votes compiled late today were leading in 11 others. They displaced eight Republicans. Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Labor, was elected in Minnesota.

The Kansas Democratic trend was reversed in choosing a state chief executive, however, and a Republican was leading Governor Woodring, surprising many who felt the choice would be the goat gland specialist, John H. Brinkley, independent.

In Wisconsin, the combinations of progressives and Democrats not only carried the state for Roosevelt but elected a Democratic senator and governor, beating Walter J. Kohler for the state office.

Bitterness Fades

Characteristic of the paradoxes of American politics, most of the anger and bitterness of the pre-election campaign seemed already dissipated.

Following a sportsman's tradition, President Hoover waited only until he was certain he was beaten to send his congratulations to Governor Roosevelt.

The latter, elated but sobered too by the responsibility so vigorously thrust upon him, expressed his appreciation for the president's message today.

For the second morning in succession, the New York governor had a late and leisurely breakfast. All his day, however, was not goven to rest for he made his first address as president-elect during the afternoon, thanking his supporters and inviting them in solving problems which bulk just as large after election as they did before.

Liberal Expression

"It is a vote that had more than party significance," he said of the election. "It transcends party lines. It became a national expression of liberal thought. It means, I am sure, that the masses of the people of this nation firmly believe that there is great and actual possibility in an orderly recovery, through a well conceived and actively directed plan of action.

"Such a plan has been presented to you and you have expressed approval of it. This clear mandate shall not be forgotten."

President Hoover, described by his aides as the "tiredest man in America," got a much needed rest at his Palo Alto home. He was considering a trip through the Panama canal before returning to Washington but he also thought of getting on his special train tonight to return to Washington and his job.

The Socialist candidate for the presidency, Norman Thomas, substantially increased his total over the 1928 record. He received 267,800 votes four years ago and today had exceeded that by more than 30,000 with less than a third of the returns in.

The Democratic platform and the Democratic candidate urged outright appeal of the 18th amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act but not all party candidates agreed with that stand, just as there were differences among Republicans on the issue.

Classifications by anti-prohibition organizations estimated that at least 47 senators in the 73rd congress would support repeal or resubmission of the 18th amendment. From the same sources came claims that approximately 203 house members in the same body would favor giving the people a chance to express themselves on the liquor laws.

Robinson Favors Vote

The question of repeal or modification in the coming congress moved further up front with the assertion by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, that he saw no reason why the issues should not be passed on when congress meets again.

At that, the economic situation may overshadow prohibition as it did in the campaign just closed. Economies encompass any number of specific issues—taxation, the tariff, unemployment and that gray bearded legislative query, what shall we do to help the farmer?

Childress Leads In Payment Of Loans

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 9.—Farmers in Childress county lead West Texas in payment of government loans, according to the report of John O. Stovall, field inspector for the seven counties of this district.

Of $5,007 borrowed by farmers of this county, $3,333.70, or 67 per cent had been collected by the first of November. A balance of $1,673.30 remains unpaid.

This district leads the 11 other districts, with an average collection of 45 per cent, the report indicated. The district comprises the counties of Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Foard, Hall, Hardeman and Motley.

PASSAGE OF OIL BILL SEEN

House to Vote on Measure Probably Today

the law automatically would expire. Representative Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo proposed that it expire Sept. 15, 1933; Representative Olin Van Zandt of Tioga wanted it to expire May 16, 1933, while Representative Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge proposed June 1, 1936, as an expiration date.

Metcalf stated the bill was an emergency plan, that was wrong in principle, and its operation should be limited. His time limit would give the regular session of the legislature, starting in January, time to enact a law and allow it to become effective that would more nearly meet the situation. It was defeated, 69 to 35.

Van Zandt's went down 81 to 28 and Hardy's lost 71 to 38.

Hailed by Long

The entire bill was thrown open to discussion in debate on the amendments. Questioning of several members indicated a strong belief that many doubted the constitutionality of the proposal.

Representative Pat Adams of Jasper stated he believed the law would be so unconstitutional that it would make no difference if it was passed or if a time limit was placed on it.

The bill was hailed by Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls as the only method left by which the railroad commission could control oil production in East Texas. Long stated that conservation on the basis of physical waste had failed and that the commission was powerless to stop thefts of oil or to examine books of companies believed to be producing excessively.

Others took exception to this statement that the proposed bill would be able to stop oil thefts in East Texas more effectively than the present statute.

Patterned after the Oklahoma proration statute, the bill would broaden the scope of the commission's powers and allow it to limit production to market demand and consider economic waste in issuing its proration orders.

Electra To Observe Armistice Day

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Claude C. McDonald post of the American Legion has been making elaborate plans for an Armistice day celebration Friday which will open with a huge parade at 9:30. At 11 a. m. memorial services will be held in the high school auditorium, and Friday night a vaudeville will be given at the school.

At 2:30 o'clock on Friday and Saturday a rodeo will be given under the supervision of L. E. Guthrie. No professionals will be allowed to compete. Several new stunts including a barrel race, cigar race, and a potato race will be included on the program. Leo Moore will be the announcer, and judges will be Lige Reed, Raymond Bradley, and George B. Ancell Jr. Red Lyons of Byers has agreed to bring several of his horses to the rodeo.

Legion at Stamford Plans Armistice Program

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 9.—Armistice day is being observed throughout the week of Nov. 11 with appropriate ceremonies. The real celebration will be made by members of the American Legion and ex-service men of Stamford when their annual banquet is held at the Legion hall Friday night.

Plans for the day include a march from the city auditorium to the federal lawn at 10 o'clock when Rev. M. B. Harris, post chaplain, will address the body. A firing squad from company K, 142nd infantry of the national guard, will give a salute honoring dead veterans, and taps will be sounded.

The afternoon football game will be the annual classic between Anson and Stamford, played on the Anson field. Local stores are expected to close since this is one of their regular holidays.

HOW TO STOP A COLD QUICK AS YOU CAUGHT IT

A New Method Doctors Everywhere Are Advising

Almost Instant Relief In This Way

If you have a cold—don't take chances with "cold killers" and nostrums. A cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

The simple method pictured above is the way doctors throughout the world now treat colds.

It is recognized as the QUICKEST, safest, surest way. For it will check an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

That is because the real BAYER Aspirin embodies certain medical qualities that strike at the base of a cold almost INSTANTLY.

You can combat nearly any cold you get simply by taking BAYER Aspirin and drinking plenty of water every 2 to 4 hours the first day and 3 or 4 times daily thereafter. If throat is sore, gargle with 3 BAYER Aspirin Tablets crushed and dissolved in a half glass of warm water, repeating every 2 or 3 hours as necessary. Sore throat eases this way in a few minutes, incredible as this may seem.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, see that you get the real BAYER Aspirin Tablets. They dissolve almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets dissolve with sufficient speed and completeness, leaving no irritating particles or grittiness. Get a box of 12 or bottle of 100 at any drugstore.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

WHAT CAUSES STOMACH GAS

Doctors Find Most Cases Due to One Condition. Stomach Sufferers Find Relief

Sufferers from gas bloating, indigestion and similar troubles will be interested to know that recent medical discoveries have found the cause of these disorders. The disease is called Intestinal Stasis. It is the result of the inactive life most of us lead today, and improper food that does not give our digestive organs enough exercise. It is one of the most common diseases known to mankind. Three out of four persons have it.

What is Intestinal Stasis?

Intestinal Stasis is the too slow movement of waste matter through the bowels. It is not a new name for constipation, for you can have ONE, or possibly two, INCOMPLETE bowel movements a day and still have Intestinal Stasis. Any waste food matter, from which the body has taken all nourishment, that stays in the bowel tract too long, will cause gas and poisons to accumulate.

This takes away your pep, gives you a logy, listless feeling. It often results in dull headaches and even more serious trouble. This suffering is entirely unnecessary for you can get quick and complete relief by giving your system a REAL intestinal cleansing with Adlerika.

Get Quick Positive Action

Laxatives or pills seldom overcome Intestinal Stasis. Soda, magnesia, "gas tablets," or powders give only temporary relief. Intestinal Stasis and the disease of which it is the real cause are helped best by continued REAL intestinal cleansing, and by increasing the natural activity of the bowel tract. Adlerika gets to the bottom of your kidney trouble by removing the cause. Ordinary laxatives and physics act on the lower bowel only, but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels. Adlerika is thorough in action, yet acts without discomfort of any kind. It can be given to any member of the family with complete safety for it contains no harmful drugs. Adlerika is quick in its action often giving relief in thirty minutes. Don't suffer another hour from indigestion, nervous dyspepsia, dull headaches, sleeplessness, sour stomach and gas bloating. Get Adlerika today at your drug store and learn what complete relief really is. FREE SAMPLE will be mailed on request. Address Adlerika, B. Wabasha, St. Paul, Minn. Sold by all druggists and drug departments. Sold in Wichita Falls by Allison's Drug Store and Renfro Drug Company.—Adv.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Hopeful word for men on the shady side of the half century mark comes now from Dr. Joel Boone, that alert, likable navy doctor who has put in a number of years physically conditioning presidents of the United States to endure the strain of the office.

JOEL T. BOONE

He regards President Hoover as the visible evidence that "heart muscles, and, indeed, all the body musculature, can be developed to meet consistently heavy physical demands even after the age of 50" provided the exercise is taken under proper guidance.

It Brought Results

That is Dr. Boone's analysis of what Mr. Hoover's morning round with his "medicine ball cabinet" has done for him. After three and a half years of a morning schedule of 30 minutes at heaving and receiving a five-pound ball with the doctor holding a watch on the affair, Dr. Boone notes that where once White House visitors commented on Hoover "overweight" they now remark his "trim" appearance.

"He has a quicker step, a deeper poise," the doctor added. "He has a fine muscular coordination system."

But even more than that, Dr. Boone thinks the medicine balling produced "definite mental response of exhilaration" in Mr. Hoover. While he did not say so, he may ascribe to that the greater verve for campaigning the president showed in his driving finish of this year. It was clearly discernible in the Hoover voice and manner before radio microphones.

Most folk thought it due wholly to the combative spirit aroused in Mr. Hoover by the political onslaught upon his administration. Doctor Boone implies, however, that the medicine ball routine had something to do with it.

The fact that Mr. Hoover never disclosed any fondness for exercise in his cabinet or food administrator days is behind the thought that perhaps he submitted rather reluctantly to the demand of his medical adviser that he go through this rigid conditioning routine. Before that the calm, meditative joys of a trout stream alone had lured him.

Times Have Changed

President Theodore Roosevelt was the most physically strenuous of White House occupants. Tennis was his favorite, but it is to be recalled that almost no pictures of Mr. Roosevelt engaged in that sport ever were seen.

The secret is out now. A recently published letter noting adverse remarks reaching him as to Taft's golfing activities, add that Mr. Roosevelt curbed his tennis cabinet's talk about those games and that presidential flat forbade pictures of himself in tennis costume.

Mr. Roosevelt regretted but heeded that public attitude. How times have changed!

Dr. J. T. Harrington Heads Baylor Uni Trustees

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Dr. J. T. Harrington of Waco was elected president of the board of trustees of Baylor university at a meeting of the board here today.

He succeeds Pat M. Neff, who resigned last June to accept the presidency of the university. Former Governor Neff had served as president of the board for many years.

A successor to Dr. Harrington was expected to be elected at the general Baptist convention at Abilene next Wednesday.

President Neff and Dr. J. F. Kimball, head of the Dallas units of Baylor university, also made their reports today.

Hambone's Meditations

The Soviet expelled a young woman writer who exposed methods of secret police at a prison camp. Well, being a woman, what would you expect her to do with a secret like that?

The gladsome season is at hand when the man who raised a garden is speaken again to the neighbor who raised chickens.

Ignoring World Problems

AN Indiana man, musing over the moral and economic state of the world, got so worried that he cut his throat and died a suicide, according to a recent United Press report; and while there is a sort of grisly humor to the story, most people probably will agree that it is a wonder there aren't more suicides of that kind nowadays.

It is hard to think of very many period in history when a thoughtful man had more reason to look on the future with a dark and pessimistic eye. Economic collapse, devastating war, a general breakdown, a bloody world revolution—these are only a few of the specters that flit in and out of the shadows along the borders.

Yet it doesn't really worry us very much. We wag our heads every so often and admit that the world is in a parlous state; but do we worry over it, in the sense that we worry over last month's unpaid grocery bill, or the hacking cough that junior can't get rid of, or our individual chances of losing our jobs?

We do not; and when we read of a man who really did feel so badly about it all that he decided not to live any longer our first impulse is to treat it as a kind of joke—horrible and tragic, but faintly comic none the less.

And that, probably, is the way it always has been and always will be in all times and places. Perhaps it is the way it ought to be. Life goes on, it must go on, under the shadow of no matter what catastrophe; and the homely, intimate matters of every day will always touch us more closely than any distant calamity.

Roman citizens of about 400 A. D. probably slept and ate and loved and worked just as they always had, even though they knew that the outer defenses of the civilized world were going to pieces under the long swords of Alaric's men. Society as they knew it was about to enter a thousand years of dreadful darkness, and thoughtful men were aware of it; but few Romans lost any sleep over it.

There are competent judges who believe the world's fix today is as bad as it was in the year 400. Ordinary life, meanwhile, runs on in the same old groove. We live always in the present.

Worthy of Emulation

In a telegram to his successful opponent in the campaign for the presidency, President Hoover Tuesday night said:

"I congratulate you on the opportunity that has come to you to be of service to the country, and I wish you a most successful administration.

"In the common purpose of all of us, I shall dedicate myself to every possible helpful effort."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the successful candidate in a telegram to his running mate said:

"I rejoice with you in the opportunity for public service afforded by this great victory of liberal principles."

In a statement Tuesday night Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, successful candidate in the Texas gubernatorial contest, said:

"We are deeply grateful to the people of Texas for this renewed expression of confidence and every effort possible will be made to render such service as will bring a satisfactory condition to the state's affairs."

Orville Bullington, defeated opponent of Mrs. Ferguson, said in a statement Wednesday morning:

"Subject to the limitations imposed by our constitution, the majority has the right to rule. It, therefore, becomes our duty as good citizens, regardless of who wins an election, to do our utmost to aid in solving the problems confronting the state which we all love."

In these statements and messages are breathed a spirit of service and cooperation on the part of our political leaders which the rest of us may well emulate. On the part of the victors there is nothing of a spirit of exultation over a defeated opponent, but rather a consecration to service. On the part of the defeated, no sting of bitterness or spirit of obstruction, but a dedication, as President Hoover puts it, "to every helpful purpose."

We commend these messages and statements to citizens of all parties and beliefs.

A Practical Air Plan

IT IS interesting to read that the Germans who are projecting a commercial transatlantic air service have discarded the notion of building colossal floating airdromes, to be anchored in mid-ocean as stopping places for airplanes, and have decided to rely on regular aircraft carriers instead.

A few years ago, when transatlantic flights were first engrossing public attention, elaborate plans for those airdromes were drawn up. They were to be the largest floating objects ever constructed, they were to house marine hotels and machine shops and heaven knows what not, and they were to become very common just as soon as oversea air lines were established.

But they didn't, somehow, ever look quite practical to the ordinary observer. We just couldn't believe in them. It isn't exactly surprising to learn that the first air line will go back to the ordinary aircraft carrier.

Reorganizing the Railroads

IT IS evident that the Reconstruction Finance corporation has no intention of carrying fixed railroad charges indefinitely. Appointment of a receiver for the Frisco road indicates that the government's lending agency is not going to hesitate to demand extensive reorganization of the roads' financial structures whenever that appears necessary.

It had been hoped, in recent weeks, that increases in railroad traffic would make extensive reorganizations of that kind unnecessary; and it is probably quite true that even a slight continuance of recent industrial gains would take most railroads out of the red.

Nevertheless, there are cases in which it is quite evident that a sizeable slice of a railroad's business is gone forever; and in such cases, where the financial structure is such that operations can only be conducted at a loss, some sort of reorganization seems inevitable.

SO THEY SAY!

In Manchukuo today there is a civil government, the like of which does not exist anywhere in China. As soon as that government overcomes its present disorders, the condition of the Manchurian people will be in conspicuous contrast to what prevails throughout China. We cannot throw the new state into the melting pot.—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japan's envoys to the League of Nations.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: I think you have a legitimate squawk this time. Cholly Knickerbocker on Sunday reported that there is no news for his readers in the London announcement that Viscount Castleross was divorcing his wife..."for in October, 1931," adds Cholly, "I foretold the Castleross divorce and said in cold type that Doris would become the wife of Sir Alfred Beit, once she was maritally free"...Your files for July 27, 1931, tell the same story in fewer lines to wit: "Lord and Lady Castleross (Doris Delayigne) are having it melted in London, and her new groom will be Sir Alfred Beit."

The day after your item appeared about that bank forcing its employes to contribute money to its Hoover fund, it returned the money to them saying they didn't want "certain newspaper men" to think they were intimidating their staff, etc....So score another for the column, mister...Ken Murray spent a fortune all week long-distant-phoning Mona Maris in H'wood...It looks like Fred Berrens, who stated he would give $100 to your pet charity, ought to—for Harry Barris can prove that his song, "Lies," has a range of only 3½ tones...Betty Starbuck, the actress, is worried because too many of her friends think she's gone tall millinery on them. Well, it seems that she hasn't, but her eyes have troubled her plenty lately, and she can't see well three feet away. I think if you say so for her, it will make her happy.

Len Golos thought you'd like his definition of New York—"a place for two-faced guys to double-cross on one-way streets"..."Hot Feets" is now getting the play in the Village since Barney's folded. It is the only really blazing spot left. plenty lowdown...Ethelind Terry's ex-groom, Ben Bogeaus has been reported married again on the coast...Well, he isn't, and is not rushing anybody...Rex Cole says he knows how "extremely fair" you are, and that you do not desire to do any one an injustice, and so he would like to straighten out the recent story about the fight between a flier and an aviation editor in Roscoe Turner's Waldorf suite. It was merely a fight over something the editor had written, and Miriam Hopkins was not there, and doesn't even know the parties concerned, etc. He will be deeply appreciative if you so state...The linking of her name, he believes, comes from the fact that Miss Hopkins was a passenger in the same plane with him, Cole (which Turner piloted), so do your stuff.

The other Tuesday a Sunday driver made an exceedingly poor left turn and almost hit me at 44th St...The driver stopped his car and gave me a dirty look, to which I barked: "See here! I'm the one who should be disgusted, not you!"...The very idea!...Well, this goes to show you something or other...A girl writes that she wants to write jokes for Burns & Allen, and describes herself as "the girl the Prince of Wales asked to dance"...Now, which one is that?...And is that what happens to girls who are asked to dance with the P. of W.?...Jeannette Hackett is now ballroom-dancing with Dan Carthe...She sends her fondest...Here's a depression note from Rhinebeck, N. Y....A woman there who washes clothes for a living couldn't deliver them last week "because her husband was off with their car on a hunting trip!"...Toss an orchid to the window decorator at the two Hudnut places on 5th Ave....No one except the decorator at Black, Starr & Frost-Gorham, Inc., can approach his work.

Frank Scully's "Fun in a Bed" doesn't deal with his adventures in hospitals. It's a book of gags, stories, etc., for people who are!...Jim Tully spent a week-end with Mencken at Menk's home and says that the report that no smoking is the law there, is a canard! Mencken smokes corncob pipes all over the place, and Menk states that he formerly paid five cents a dozen for them, but now they're 25 cents a dozen, and he blames it all on prohibition...If Roosevelt makes the grade, here's my suggestion for Sec'y of the Treasury—Bernard Baruch, and I know what I'm talking about, too!...John B. Kennedy, in his article about Hope Williams, is mistaken in saying that it was in "Rebound" that Miss W. described Park Ave. as the place where bad women walk good dogs...It was in "The New Yorkers," Peter Arno's best show....And when will the press agents cease reminding us that Hope Williams left society for the stage?...It makes me cranky.

When the news broke about young Rockefeller's wedding plans, some one on the Hurld-Trib made an amusing boner...In announcing the engagement of the boy, the paper's proofreaders permitted it to state that, in assuming the directorship of a certain bank in Harlem, the youth made his "debt" in the financial world...Incidentally, one of the prize mistakes of the year was that of a famous 5th Ave. jewelry shop. On display in its window they featured a plaster replica of the head of Amelia Earhart—her book—and various diamond pins in the shape of airplanes...On two cards in the window Miss Earhart's name was misspelled. Such is the fame that comes from risking your life soloing the Atlantic by air...Charley Mitchell, president of the Nat'l City Bank, is not a 100 per cent optimist. At a dinner party the other eve'g he said that the lifting of the depression will not be generally felt for another six to seven years!...A pleasure!

Tommy Lyman is now at the Surf and wishes you'd stop keeping it a secret...At the newsreel theater the other night the two big candidates were shown. Immediately followed "Aesops Fables" and the audience shrieked!...Fred Waring's ex-wife was also named Dot—and it is she who is romancing again, Dorothy Lee, by the way, is on the coast Marshall Duffielding it, yet...Of course I don't know his name or shield number, but he rates an orchid anyhow, according to a pal of mine. I mean the cop, who was called into Silvers at 48th and 7th the other night to arrest three youths, who were starving. They went in, ate their fill, and then told the manager they couldn't pay. So he sent for the cop, who asked the manager what the bill was, and then paid it. "One of the Finest" is right, this time, Walter...And so saying, I remain your faithful Eve, Sheba, Cleo and Girl Friday.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE SINGULAR LINK RIVER—Lying entirely within the city limits of Klamath Falls, Ore., is the one-mile Link river, connecting Upper Klamath lake with Lake Ewauna. Before the present dam was built to conserve the water in Upper Klamath lake the river was fed by the lake's overflow. At that time a strong prevailing wind from the south would actually blow the water away from the natural spillway, causing the river to dry up. This condition, of course, would exist for only a few hours at a time, its severity being felt most when the hydro-electric plant on the river bank was put out of commission.

SCHOOL—The word "school" is derived from the Greek word "scole" meaning "rest, leisure, employment of leisure," and inferentially a "house of leisure."

JUNGLE FILM BOOKED HERE

'Bring 'Em Back Alive' On Screen Tonight

Frank Buck's "Bring 'Em Back Alive," heralded as the most thrilling picture of jungle life ever made, will have its premiere at the Majestic theater at 8 o'clock Thursday night, it was announced by Manager C. H. Stewart Wednesday. The regular showing of this picture will open next Tuesday.

"Bring 'em Back Alive" appeared in The Record News several months ago as a serial, and created wide comment in this section. Frank Buck, the author, is a noted collector of wild animals and is a former San Angelo cowboy. Members of his family reside in the San Angelo area.

Terrifying fights between wild beasts and natives and among themselves are shown in the film. Every foot of the picture was "shot" in the jungles, it was said.

Commissioners Court To Canvass Wichita County Election Monday

Bullington Expresses Appreciation for Vote and Declares 'Defeat of Tuesday Is But Temporary'

Official canvass of Wichita county election returns will be made Monday at the regular session of the commissioners court, it was announced Wednesday by County Judge John P. Marrs. Unofficial returns collected by The Record News and Daily Times were practically complete Wednesday night, with the standings of the Democratic and Republican tickets and the nine constitutional amendments showing little change.

Bullington's Lead 1,368

A small increase in the majority of Orville Bullington, Republican, over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democrat was shown with the report of two additional complete boxes late in the day. Votes in the Reagan school and the Lamar Avenue Drug store boxes served to bring Mr. Bullington's total in the county up to 5,647, a majority of 1,368 over Mrs. Ferguson, who had received 4,279.

Reports were received from 44 of the county's 45 boxes, with only two of these incomplete. No report was available from the Barwise school box. Late returns increased the majorities of all nine constitutional amendments in the county.

Appreciation for the support given him all over the state was expressed in the statement issued by Mr. Bullington. With approximately 400,000 of the state's votes tabulated out of an estimated 800,000, it was indicated that Mr. Bullington would receive well over 250,000 ballots. His statement follows:

"It is gratifying to know that such a large percentage of the good people of Texas are courageous enough to put the principles in which they believe above their political party. The defeat of Tuesday is but temporary. The issue of honesty and responsibility in government still remains. Victory may be deferred, but it will come. Right will prevail.

"Subject to the limitations imposed by our constitution, the majority has the right to rule. It, therefore, becomes our duty as good citizens, regardless of who wins an election, to do our utmost to aid in solving the problems confronting the state which we love.

"I desire to express my gratitude to friends throughout Texas who have rendered loyal and faithful service during the campaign just closed. I have found great pleasure in serving with those who have done their best to advance the cause of civic righteousness."

Stamford Nurse Leaves For Austin Meeting

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Nov. 9.—Miss Maud Cooze, superintendent of the Stamford school of nursing of the Stamford sanitarium, left Tuesday for Austin to attend the annual session of the State League of Nursing Education Institute, which will be held there Nov. 10-12.

Miss Cooze is president of the state body. The institute will be held at the Seton infirmary. A number of social events has been planned for the session including a dinner honoring the president on Friday evening.

SHE'S NO BARGAIN

"Do you know your wife is going about telling everybody you can't keep her in clothes?"

"That's nothing. I bought her a home, and I can't keep her in that, either."—Tit-Bits.

Oldest Hoover Cleaner Sought By Manufacturer

"Who owns the oldest Hoover?" is the question which the Hoover company is asking its representatives throughout the country to find out. The women who supply the oldest models are to receive brand new silver jubilee Hoovers.

This search to discover the oldest examples of the oldest make of electric cleaners in the country has been undertaken by the company in connection with its silver jubilee.

"We want to get hold of the oldest Hoover now in use, and make it a part of our historical exhibit of old models at our factory in North Canton," said F. H. Whitley, local district manager for the Hoover company.

"I'd like to find one of the earliest machines here in town, if I can. If there is one of them to be had, I plan to exhibit it in our store. These early electric cleaners are extraordinary looking objects—big and clumsy and weighing two or three times as much as the present light weight Hoovers—but they are mighty interesting. They show the almost unbelievable progress that has been made in electric cleaner design and efficiency since we started 25 years ago to revolutionize home cleaning.

"If the women in this community who have old Hoovers will get in touch with our Hoover dealer here, I will be very glad to check up on their machines. For the oldest Hoover in this district, I will give one of our very latest models—a silver jubilee Hoover—in exchange.

"Other Hoover managers throughout the country are also searching out these old cleaners, and each district is giving away new cleaners for these old Hoovers. We hope to secure a number of early models in that way."

IN HIS RIGHT MIND

Doctor (at lunatic asylum): Mrs. Sharp was here today and wanted her husband sent home and placed under her care.

Superintendent: Did you let him go?"

"No, he said he would rather stay here."

"H-m-m! The man must be sane."—Tit-Bits.

The resources of our free information bureau are at your service. You are invited to call upon it as often as you please. It is being maintained solely to serve you. What question can we answer for you? There is no charge at all, except three cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Address your letter to The Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—According to eastern tradition, how many wise men were there?—W. H.

A.—Twelve.

Q.—What kind of a fish is scrod?—J. J. F.

A.—It is a young cod fish split and prepared for cooking.

Q.—When originally published, was Robinson Crusoe divided into chapters?—N. W.

A.—In its original form, there was no chapter division.

Q.—Is there a collegiate press association?—A. H. F.

A.—There is the Intercollegiate Press association with headquarters at Oberlin, Ohio.

Q.—Are fewer people playing golf?—C. C.

A.—In 1931, play was off 12½ per cent compared with 1930. The greatest slump came in private clubs. Daily fee course play was off about 5 per cent, while public course play was even and sometimes ahead.

Q.—How much does the federal government spend for police activities?—S. H. N.

A.—In 1930 there were 16 federal agencies, with police duties, and their total cost was $35,923,915.88. The largest item in this bill was coast guard, $13,557,581.50, and second was bureau of prohibition with an expenditure of $10,406,900.19.

Q.—Why does Maine hold her state election in September?—A. B.

A.—At the time of the framing of the constitution of Maine, transportation during the winter months was exceedingly difficult, and for this reason the state elections were fixed in the early fall when it would be possible for the greatest number of inhabitants to participate.

Q.—Have jockeys in this country always worn the distinctive clothes that they do now when racing?—W. P.

A.—In the original charter of the Maryland Jockey club which dates back to 1745 it is prescribed that jockeys be dressed in the following manner: Jockey cap, silk jacket, pantaloons, and half boots.

Q.—Why is a certain edition of a newspaper called the bulldog?—D. R. W.

A.—Editor and Publisher says that it probably got its name in the late nineties, when the New York World, Herald and Journal fought to get out editions that would catch the mails going out of town. It was said that they fought like bulldogs—hence, the bulldog edition.

Q.—When were chambers of commerce first established?—E. F. H.

A.—French chambers of commerce owe their origin to the city of Marseilles, where in 1599 the town council which had hitherto looked after the commercial interests of the city found it no longer possible to combine commercial with municipal functions, and established an association which it called the chamber of commerce to take up the commercial part of its duties. This seems to be the first time that the title was used.

Q.—How are the sand dunes along the shore of Lake Michigan formed?—P. C.

A.—They are formed by the wind. A stiff breeze blowing along the beach carries some sand with it. It meets some obstacle, a piece of driftwood of perhaps merely a tuft of grass. Some of the sand is deposited and a tiny dune is formed. More and more sand is added until a large mound is formed, sometimes rising to a height of 300 feet. The wind not only builds up dunes, but tears them down, so that the sand dunes are constantly changing in form and position.

Q.—How did Halloween orginate?—M. M. B.

A.—Halloween and the ceremonies that formerly attended it long antedate Christianity. The chief characteristic in the ancient celebrations of Halloween was the lighting of bonfires. The ancient belief was that on this night, the one night in the year, ghosts and witches were abroad. The main celebration of Halloween was, no doubt, Druidical, because the Druids held great autumn festivals on or about the date of Nov. 1, and lighted great bonfires in honor of the sun god as a thank offering for the harvest of the year. The Druids also supposed that the wicked souls that had been condemned to live in the bodies of animals were allowed to come forth on the eve of the festival. The custom of lighting bonfires on Halloween night survived until recent years in the highlands of Scotland and in Wales. On the invasion of the Romans, certain characteristics of the celebration of Pomona, such as offering of apples and nuts, were introduced into the celebration of the Druids.

STALLWORTH'S BRAVES IN GOOD CONDITION FOR TITLE SCRAP

The RAMBLER'S CORNER

By FRED THOMPSON

The Masons Play Today

The Masonic Home team of Fort Worth clashes with Central High school of Fort Worth today in Cowtown. The winner probably will sail right on to the district seven championship. Masonic Home and Central are tied for first place, the Masons with four victories and Central with three.

We pick the Masons to win. Central has ruled that district for a long time, but they'll meet defeat today, in our opinion. The game, however, will be a close one. Masonic Home will not score as many points against Central as it has in bowling over other conference rivals. The Masons so far, we believe, have not fallen below 18 points in winning a district game.

If the Masons win today and cinch the district, the team will meet the winner of the powerful Dallas district in the bidistrict game. If victorious there, the Masons will enter the state quarterfinals.

From Tyler

Gus Kuehn Jr., former linesman of Albert Acker's Olney Cubs who now resides in the wilds of East Texas, writes from Tyler as follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"Will you help me get this through my 'marble head.' Will Olney and Graham meet in the bidistrict if each wins its district? If they do, well put your cash, if you have any, deep down in your pocket and sit tight, 'cause it will be no game to bet on. Those Steers aren't to be taken lightly. They have the best team they have had in years. Their coaches are largely responsible for their success. The Steers have not had a coach for many seasons.

"Rambler, if you want to see some punk football come to East Texas. They don't know how to play the game here. Tyler has two of the best men in the state coaching them, Rufus King (Texas) and Alfred Neely (S. M. U.) but the players—hello Archer City or Seymour—just about their speed. But the state champs, in 1930 I believe it was, are real fellows and are good players. Tyler will never have a team like that again.

"Wichita Falls must have come to life all of a sudden. They let Childress down in fair style. Those 'mugs' could do the same each week-end if they would think football, talk football and leave off some of their social affairs. They let other things take up the time.

"Would you believe it? Well what I say here is true—In 1930 at Quanah, some of the Wichita players had time called so they could watch some airplanes that were flying over the field. During the time out they talked of their dates for that night and other things instead of FOOTBALL.

"How can you expect a team to win when they do like that? Believe you me, I'll take Acker and his way of doing things. It would have been the last of any one if he were caught doing anything but thinking, talking and sleeping football during the season.

"Acker shows his boys how to play the game, while others try to tell their boys. Acker gets results, others fail.

"My dad and I will be present for the bidistrict and regional games this year. We have to come up there to see real football, they don't have it here.

"Rambler, keep everything under control, I'll see you at the Steer-Cub game. What place will get the game, Olney, Graham or Wichita? I pick Wichita for these reasons, better fitted to handle the crowd that will attend, probably better playing field than either of the others, give Wichita fans a taste of real football, financial, and other reasons.

"Olney has lots of followers here that have never seen them play or know anything about them, only what they read in your 'corner' and what I tell them."

Well, Gus, Olney and Graham will not meet in the bidistrict. They are in different regions.

Mr. Kuehn's comments on the Wichita players in the 1930 Quanah game, whether true or untrue, are amusing. The Coyote boys don't do such things now. Coach Ted Jefferies has altered things.

From Crowell

Quite a lengthy epistle comes from Crowell, home of the Wildcats. It is penned by the exuberant Herr Mack Boswell, sports scribe of the Foard County News, enterprising chamber of commerce secretary, and all-around booster of his town's football team:

"Dear Rambler:

"Following Crowell's victory over Chillicothe I decided that the Wildcats fully answered the razzing that you and the Chilli scribe gave my views last Thursday and Friday in your column and that there was nothing I could say that would add to the glory of this well-deserved victory. However, after reading your summary this morning (Monday), I conscientiously feel that I would not be doing right toward Coach Graves and his Wildcats if I did not attempt to get the records straight in regard to some things said this morning and also last week, now that a reply seems necessary in the name of fairness. I promise to give only facts that can be verified.

"But before starting the fireworks I wish to toss a few bouquets, and in spite of a few things that you have written that are enough to make any Wildcat fan's blood boil, I hereby hand the first one to you, for I really believe your incorrect expressions are honestly given and that if you are convinced that you have committed a wrong, you will gladly rectify it.

"Now for the bouquets. To the Rambler and the Wichita papers for the wonderful consideration given all football in this section. And Fred, that 3½-column account of the game was so darn near perfect that until this morning we were glad to forgive you for the unpleasant remarks of the two previous days.

"Now for Chillicothe. There's a great team and one which I personally believe has the finest backfield man and the finest linesman in this district in Ramsey and Cook. And what a game at end that Wiginton played against Crowell! Why in the heck didn't he hold on to those passes in the Olney game? The Eagles put up a fine and clean fight against Crowell, but simply lost to a superior team.

"And to Olney. The Cubs gave Crowell a good licking—have since put up a great fight and fully deserve the championship which seems to be in their hands—that is, if they don't have to meet Crowell again. Anyway, the Cubs are a fine bunch of sports and we're for 'em.

"Now for the straightening process. Fred, is it possible for Coach Graves and his boys, through the use of the finest assortment of plays in the district and personal ability, to win hard-fought and well-played games against two great teams, to get credit for these victories without having much glory detracted from them by harping on the fact that they were won over teams that 'had been worn down by games of the previous week with Olney?'

"Today you state that Chilli was rather worn because of its great battle with Olney. Before me is a copy of the last issue of the Chillicothe Valley News, in which it is stated that the 'Eagles came out of the Olney game without a scar, but with greater confidence as to their ability,' and that they were in prime condition for the Crowell game.'

"You do not mention that Crowell also had a hard game the week before with Burk. And it so happened that the Wildcats did not come out of this game without a scar, for they received plenty, and to get things straight, I have not listened to gossip, but have gone to direct sources. The Wildcats state unanimously that the Burk game was the toughest one physically that they have ever played.

"Geo. Carter, regular Crowell end, received a kidney injury in this game, causing illness that kept him out of the Chilli game and yet in your summary you did not mention his absence, which was a tremendous handicap, since the ends play a great part in Crowell's offensive scheme this year in carrying and passing the ball on reverses, and to replace him with a boy who had never played end before was no easy task. Next to Allee, G. Carter was our best passer and also a great defensive man and pass receiver.

"And now about that 'famous' tough break for Chilli, which you state 'cost at least a tie and possibly the game.' You say that Ramsey seldom makes a mistake, but that he fumbled on the Crowell one-yard line and Crowell recovered. It's unfair to accuse Ramsey of making a mistake there. Bill Dunn simply broke through the line to hit the great Eagle hard enough to jar anybody loose from the ball.

"If you must mention 'breaks'—what about the time way late in the second quarter when it was fourth down and 20 yards to go and Ramsey let go of a pass which completely missed two Eagle receivers, yet Chilli got the ball on the 8-yard line on account of interference and from where they took it across for a touchdown? By checking your own write-up, you will find that the teams shared about equally in the breaks.

"Now about that veteran line of Crowell's that you referred to last Thursday in giving your reasons why you thought Chilli was better than Olney, and therefore better than Crowell. Gibson was the only person in the Crowell line against Chilli Friday that started against Chilli last year. The same is true in Olney's case. Only four of our regulars this year made the starting line-ups last season. With several boys in the line-up who had never played a real game before this year, doesn't Coach Graves and the boys themselves deserve plenty of credit for developing into such a smooth working team? The toughest luck we have had was in meeting Olney in the first game of the season.

"Since you gave considerable mention about Crowell beating a Burk team that was not the great team that held Olney to a 2 to 0 score the week before, I would like to add this. Although Chilli came out of its Olney game in perfect condition, as did Crowell, yet Burk did not; however, they were in by no means the 'frazzled' condition that you mentioned. Talk about your perfect offense—Crowell had it in that game, more so than against Chillicothe, and I believe it represented the difference between Crowell with and without G. Carter. Had the regulation 15-minute quarters been played in this game instead of 12-minute ones, Crowell, in all probability would have made a larger score. For instance—Crowell gained 21 yards to place the ball on the 4-yard line just as the half ended.

"Fred, this may be long, but I don't see how I could shorten it and properly answer statements made by you that I really believe were misleading. As for answering the Chilli scribe—his outburst was too ridiculous to justify an answer.

"Mack Boswell."

Friend Boswell, we regret to say, is wrong about every bone of contention he brings up. In the review of the Crowell-Chillicothe game we did not stress the fact that Chillicothe was worn out after playing the Olney game the week before. We haven't the time to dig up the exact words we used, but it was to this effect: that Chillicothe lost not so much because it was rather worn down by the Olney game, but because it went up against a well-rounded Crowell outfit.

And as to the breaks, we said clearly that they were equally distributed between the two teams and each team made the most of them.

We plead guilty, however, to omitting to state that Carter was out of the game. But it had been stated before the game that he would not play and that Crowell would miss him.

From Graham

C. H. Whittle of Graham wants some information. He writes as follows:

"Dear Sports Editor:

"Inasmuch as I am a constant reader of your sheet, I thought I might come to you for the information that I am desirous of obtaining.

"Kindly advise, if possible in public through your paper, as they are many others in this area whom would like to know, as well as myself, this information.

"Please give us the leaders, names of towns, in class B districts 6, 7 and 8. As we understand our district five is in that region. However, no one seems to know who they are. We are hoping to win our district; hence, we want to know who might be our foe for bidistrict, if we are fortunate enough to win this district.

"Also, who is in Olney's region, and whom they play, etc."

The Graham Steers, who will win district No. 5, will play either Bonham or Commerce, Texas, of district No. 6, in their bidistrict game. It so happened that L. O. Cook, our Graham correspondent, sent in a story on the district No. 6 race yesterday, and it is printed on this page today.

If Graham gets over the bidis-

QUANAH TEAM MUCH IMPROVED

Hard Battle Promised Lions Of Vernon Friday

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Nov. 9.—Sprains and aches and bruises have been brushed aside in the Quanah Indians' training camp and Coach Dan Stallworth's Braves are expected to be in the pink of condition when they tackle Vernon's Lions here Armistice day in the game that will decide the championship of district No. 5, class A, of the Texas Interscholastic league.

Coach Stallworth is putting the squad through strenuous daily field workouts and skull practice. The costly errors of former games are being corrected, new trick plays being developed, and the first string will go into this game in the best condition of any game of the year.

Captain Bolton is just getting over a badly sprained ankle received in the Electra game; Jones, fullback, is just now getting into top form after a season of injuries and sickness.

Mitchell and Page, the two backfield men shifted ends in the last month, are now well established in their new positions, and should be at their best in the Vernon game.

Richardson and Blue, veteran tackle and guard, always play a bangup game, while the other guard position is still a toss-up between Gregory, Slaton and Fulsom, with the former getting the edge.

In the backfield Willis is firmly established at quarter, with Wheat and Hall at halfs, and Jones at full, Harper alternating with Wheat at halfback.

As neither Vernon nor Quanah teams have lost a conference game this year Friday's game will be hardfought every inch of the way. Dopesters are giving Vernon the edge but the Quanah squad and fans are not conceding that they know what they are talking about. One thing Vernon may be sure of—IF they win it will be a well-earned victory after a hard battle.

LION ATTACK NOT CLICKING YET

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 9.—Vernon's Lions, nearing the end of their strenuous preparation for the invasion of Quanah Armistice day, were sent through a stiff workout Wednesday afternoon, their third of the week, before a large number of fans who took advantage of the "open" practice session to glimpse the Lions in action for the last time before Friday, Thursday. Head Coach W. C. Weir again bars the gates, and the Vernon gridders will go through a light session in polishing their plays to be sent against the Indians at Quanah.

Much improvement is noticeable in the play of the squad this week over the mediocre exhibition at Eastland, but the functioning of the Lion attack is not as yet entirely satisfactory with the mentors. Vernon's vaunted offense, featuring a running attack hinging on the performance of light, fast backs, was stopped effectively at Eastland, as much by the Lion backs' own errors as by the Maverick defense, and the Vernon eleven may be expected to unfurl its heretofore little-tried aerial game against Quanah.

For the second time this season, Vernon may enter a game the underdog because of the possible inconsistency of the running attack. The Lions entered the Eastland fray as second choice and emerged with the lower end of the score. While the Quanah and Vernon elevens at present are rated on an even basis, the failure of the Lion offense at Eastland the playing of the game on Quanah's home field may send the Indians into the contest as favorites to cop their second successive game against their traditional rivals.

In addition to playing on their home field, the Indians will enter the Vernon fray boasting a weight advantage of about five pounds per player over the Lions.

Hunter's Dead Bear Disappears in Cavern

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 9 (UP)—Herman Holzheimer, local hunter, shot a 450-pound black bear. He was certain the second shot had killed the animal, but it seemed to disappear in the ground.

Investigation revealed the bear had tumbled into a cavern, and had to be dug out before Holzheimer could retrieve it for mounting or rug-making purposes.

Electra Personals

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 9.—Circles seven and eight of the Baptist W. M. U. met with Mrs. J. F. Garner Monday afternoon. During the business session which was led by Mrs. Creek Brown, circle chairman, plans were made to send $10 in cash, a quilt and clothing to Buckner Orphans home. Those appearing on program were Mesdames W. F. Amonette, W. L. Capps, Lockett, and Ben W. Tipton. There were 12 present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Embrey on Nov. 14.

Circle four met with Mrs. R. E. Greenway Monday afternoon and plans were made to hold an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. L. Glenn to quilt for Buckner Orphans home. Those on the program were Mesdames L. H. Owens, A. F. McCormick and R. E. Greenway. Those present were Mesdames Greenway, Glenn, McCormick, Owens, H. Jones, J. L. Kinney, John Lightner, L. N. Cruse and W. A. Stanley.

Mrs. J. E. Cooper, president, presided at the Methodist Missionary society in the church basement Monday afternoon. A nominating committee consisting of Mesdames E. V. Hatton, Gillespie and K. S. Rippy was named. On the program were Mesdames L. J. Crawford, R. D. Cunningham, Dennis Dale and W. B. Jamary. There were 20 present.

There were 33 present at the Christ's Ambassadors meeting Sunday evening. Those on program were Geneva Maxwell, Ruby Treaux, Jessie Lee Andruss, Mildred Volmar, Lois Barker, Opal Sanders, J. D. Owens, Arveta Sanders, Artie Sargent and Mabel Bailey. Idell Gibson will lead next Sunday.

Plans were made at the Presbyterian church Monday for a luncheon at the church Friday honoring Miss Marion Hutchinson, home missionary, who will discuss her work in the field. Mrs. M. M. Amsden, president, presided, and Mrs. W. F. Gillen taught the lesson. There were 16 present.

Alma Bates presided at the young people's meeting at the Church of Christ Sunday. Arthur Cambron, Nadine Atchley, Juanita Chesher, Evelyn Wilson and Byrne Shofner took part on the program. There were 14 present.

Altus Invades Home Of Hollis Tigers Friday For Traditional Grid Battle

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Nov. 9.—Outstanding in importance among games of the Southwestern Oklahoma football conference to be played this week will be that of the Altus Bulldogs against the Hollis Tigers in the annual Armistice day battle which has been called for 2:30 p. m. Friday. It will be played at Hollis.

This annual battle between these teams which is always played on Armistice day and which attracts larger crowds than any other game of the season for either team, is of even more interest this year due to the position of the two teams in the conference, which will be brought to a close in the very near future.

Will Affect Clinton

The game will not only be of importance in the conference standing of Hollis and Altus, but will also materially affect Clinton, which is now in second place in the conference, and Carnegie and Elk City which are tied with Altus for third place.

Thomas Powers, who has been suffering with a broken jaw for a greater portion of this conference season, will be unable to play in the game Friday afternoon, but all other members of the local team are expected to be in good condition for play when the Bulldogs go to Hollis Friday. The local team is expected to be accompanied by a large number of Altus fans.

Altus Bulldogs will attempt to keep the record of the last 11 games, which includes all conference games of last season and this year, of no scores made by opponents.

Tigers Doped to Win

While the Hollis Tigers are doped to win the game Friday from the standing made thus far by the two teams, the Bulldogs are expected to put up one of the strongest fights of the year.

Altus defeated the Tigers last year in Altus by a score of 12 to 0, while the year before when the teams met in Hollis the game was a 12 to 12 tie.

Four of the past five games played with Hollis have been won by the Bulldogs and one tied.

At the present time Hollis tops the conference with three victories in three conference games played. Clinton has won five games and tied one while the Bulldogs take third position with three victories and two ties. Carnegie and Elk City, each with four victories and one defeat, are also tied with Altus for third position in the conference.

Carnegie Favored

Carnegie is doped to win from Frederick Friday since Frederick has won two, tied one and lost one game.

Clinton should defeat Weatherford at Weatherford Friday from the standing thus far of the two teams. Weatherford has lost three games and has won no conference games this season.

Mountain View is scheduled to play Cordell in a somewhat evenly matched game; Elk City and Sayre are about evenly matched in another conference game; and Hobart and Mangum are expected to play an interesting game at Mangum Friday.

GRAHAM AIMS FOR BIDISTRICT

Steers to Play Commerce Or Bonham

By L. G. COOK
Record News Correspondent

GRAHAM, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Graham Steers, favorites to win the championship of class B, district No. 5, are looking ahead of their district games. The Steers still have two conference games between them and the district championship, either one of which could throw a wrench into the machinery. The Steers meet Bowie Nov. 11 on Graham field, and the Jackrabbits will be pointed for this game and ready to give a better account of themselves than in previous games. The Steers meet the Nocona Indians on Nov. 18. The game will probably be played at Nocona. The Indians have lost only one game this season and they will be out to defeat Graham and get back in the running for district honors.

> The Graham Steers finish their conference schedule on Nov. 18 and have an open date on Thanksgiving. They would like to schedule a game with some strong team in the Wichita area. They would prefer a game with some class A school, but will be glad to hear from a strong class B school. Any one desiring a game for that date should get in touch with Coach Pat Knieff or Principal Stanley H. Peavy at Graham.

District Six Leaders

If the Steers win the district flag, they will be matched with the winners of district No. 6. Bonham and Commerce now appear the favorites in that district. Neither team has lost a game and they meet in Bonham on Friday, Nov. 11.

The standings in district No. 6, class B, for games through Saturday, Nov. 5, are as follows:

Team—	Won	Lost.	Pct
Bonham	4	0	1.000
Commerce	4	0	1.000
Ladonia	6	1	.857
Farmersville	3	1	.750
Honey Grove	3	2	.600
Clarksville	2	2	.500
Leonard	2	4	.333
Cooper	1	3	.250
Wolf City	1	3	.250
Van Alstyne	1	4	.200
Celeste	0	3	.000
Caddo Mills	0	4	.000
Emory	0	0	.000

All-Star Line

One of the main reasons why the Graham High Steers have gone so far in a football way this year, is their all-star line. Steer fans claim the strongest line in class B football. In spite of the fact that the Steer backfield has been continually changed on account of injuries, they have been showing up well because the line has functioned so well and opened holes for them. Many of the long runs made by the Steer backs have been possible only through the effective blocking of the linesmen. There is very little to choose between Jarnagin, Bigham, S. Parsley, Walker, Colwell, Bingham, John Wheeler, Holcomb, Kennedy, Butler, Stewart, Green and Hayes. Then there are a number of other linesmen that are not far behind and are always pushing the regulars for a place on the team.

There has not been a single point scored through the Steer line this season, and very few first downs have been made that way. They have been able to stop the powerful Olney Cubs with the touted "Bull" Graves, and the class A Cleburne Yellowjackets, who scored on a fluke pass after the line had held for three downs. No other team has been able to make a dent in the Steer forward wall all season. The Steers have found rather easy going in their district so far this season and the line can be counted on to help make things hard on all opposition the rest of the way.

Prepare for Bowie

The Steers are continuing their training for their game with the Bowie Jackrabbits. The Steer second team journeyed to Olney on Tuesday and gave the Olney Cubs second team a 12 to 7 defeat. The outstanding feature of the Olney game was the ability of the Steers' second string forward wall to stop the Olney running game. The Steer regulars took a light workout on Monday and settled down to more serious work later in the week.

Jack Wheeler and Vernon Bigham, two of the regulars that were out of the Newcastle game with injuries, are considerably improved and may be able to play in the Bowie game if their services are needed.

GREENVILLE TO PLAY LEOPARDS

Game Scheduled for 10:30 Friday Morning

The Washington High school Leopards will play their fifth game of the season Friday when they meet the Greenville colored high school Panthers here at 10:30 o'clock in the morning on the Washington school athletic field.

The Leopards beat the Panthers here three years ago 7-0. According to this year's record, Coach Bradford is bringing a better team to Wichita Falls for the Armistice game Friday. The fact that the Panthers have not been scored on this year should give them a slight edge on the local team, their goal having been crossed once.

The game will be played in the morning so as not to conflict with the Coyote schedule Friday afternoon. This arrangement will enable those who wish to see both games to do so as the Leopard game should be over by 12:30.

The Wichita Falls Porters club has arranged with Captain Armstrong to fly over the playing field at 10:25 when Wayne Foreman will drop the ball with which the game is to be played.

Clarendon Plays Memphis Friday

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Clarendon High school Broncs, badly crippled after a series of tough games, have fully recovered and are in the midst of hard training for the tilt with the Memphis Cyclone this week-end. The Broncs for the first time this season are expected to be up to full strength in the Cyclone game. Coaches Hutton and Stocking refused to schedule a game last week-end in order that their ailing cripples might be on good shape for the Memphis game.

Both teams appear to be about equally matched, offensively and defensively, and a tight battle is expected.

Vernon Marines Play Electra B's Today

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 9.—Vernon's Marines, favored to win their third game in four contests, will invade Electra Thursday afternoon for a tilt with the Electra "B" team. The game will start at 4 o'clock. Assistant Coach Bob Dickenson has announced that 16 members of the Marine squad will make the trip. The Marines compose the third string high school football organization here.

The Vernon aggregation has lost but one game to date this season, that to Acme High school by a 7-0 score at Acme. Last week, the Marines avenged that defeat by trouncing the Acme eleven, 19-0, here. In the initial game of the season, the Marines defeated Victory Consolidated High school of near Davidson, Okla., 13-0, in a game played on the Sooner's field.

Electrans Determined To Break In Win Column With Victory Over Childress

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 9.—The Electra Tigers have buckled down to hard work this week following their 19 to 0 defeat Friday night at Frederick, Okla., and are preparing for their game with the Childress Bobcats under the arc lights next Friday night at Childress. The Tigers emerged from the battle in first class condition, and 25 players reported for practice Monday. The disabled players, Lambdin, Able, M. Stroud, and Smith will be in condition for the Childress game.

The Tigers will enter the game as favorites for the first time in several weeks. Although Childress made a dismal showing against Wichita Falls last week, the Bobcats have renewed strength and will give the Tigers a fight.

The original line will probably be in evidence as Lambdin and Able, ends; Ellis and Hogle, tackles; O. Stroud, Minton, or Torvie, guards; and Cryer, center, will be in fine shape for the game. In the backfield, Coach Gibson can depend upon McCracken, Boutwell, Smith, Curfman, Foy and Watkins to make things hum. A hard scrimmage was held Tuesday with all the players participating. The Tigers have failed to win a conference game this season and are making every effort to bring home the bacon. The pep squad and a number of fans are planning to make the trip.

Reagan Meets Bowie Today

Coach A. D. Beck's Reagan Junior High Redbirds, badly crippled by ineligibilities and injuries, will meet the Bowie juniors at Bowie today in a desperate effort to plug important vacancies for the annual Reagan-Zundy game here next week.

Coach Beck this week lost three stalwarts through ineligibility—Raymond Roberts, a back; J. R. Decker, 160-pound tackle; and I. W. Lyon, 150-pound guard. Don Klonstead, regular back, sustained an injured ankle and is out for the season. None of the ineligible men named above will see service in the Zundy game.

Coach Beck early this week started preparing for the emergency and the new men will get their first test today.

trict game, the Steers will play the winner of districts seven and eight. In district seven, according to latest reports Roscoe is leading. In district eight, which includes Longview, Henderson, Kilgore and Gilmer, the Gilmer team is reported in the lead.

Olney probably will play the Floydada Whirlwind in their bi-district game. The Rambler doesn't know the numbers of the other districts in the Olney region, but we've sent a letter out to get this information and we should have the dope soon.

A Gentle Hint

"Dear Rambler:

"I wish that I were able to put what I feel into this letter but inasmuch as I am not a person who knows how to do that, I shall just attempt to pass on to you an idea of what I am inferring.

"Your paper must be complimented for its generous space given to the class B teams in your sport sheet, and also your much read articles. Now, Mr. Rambler, my bone to pick with you is that we are jealous down here in the southern part of Young county. I could say that we were being slighted, too. However, I am not of the opinion that it is done intentionally, it is merely that you have so much to say and do and think and write about class A-B that you forget there is a class B within your trade district. I am confident that our little town of Graham gives you as much circulation as our neighbors, Olney. So why is it that it is always and forever Olney this, Olney that, or Crowell this or Chillicothe this and so on?

"Our team started off with a 'bang' by beating the great Olney team more so than the score of 6 to 0 indicated. Both teams deserved a great deal of credit since they both played ball as if it was mid-season form. Since that time we have been handicapped by a 'jinx' of some kind, it having taken our two best backs from us for the entire season, due to injuries. But what would have almost made any other team throw up their hands and quit, it has done the opposite. Our boys seemed more determined than ever to fight for the district championship. We have put men into the backfield from the line, boys who never were thought of as such. Well, how are we doing? Very good under the circumstances we are compelled to subscribe to. Ours is an uphill fight. Some might say the Steers have no competition. Maybe it isn't as stiff as it has been in the past but we are handicapped in the backfield to offset any advantage we might have in competition. I might say that the Nocona Indians do not look like a set up for anybody's team.

"Now, Mr. Rambler, I have not even started to relay to you the entire thought in my mind. But, I see that I am not able to do so in an intelligent manner so shall prevail upon you to probably be able to conceive just what it is that I am complaining about. I want you to know that I am not being a critic to you or your paper, as I am a patron of the paper and like it. I am merely suggesting that inasmuch as you all are nice enough to donate the space you do to class B teams in this area, do not overlook our Steers here in Graham. For we have the best class B team in Northwest Texas, without trying to be a braggart in telling you this.

"Thank you, if you have taken the time to read this missile and may I see more in our paper of the progress and uphill fight of the Steers.

"A Record News Reader."

Yes, yes. We get a pretty fair idea of what the Graham reader means, after that lengthy "hint" and he is to be complimented for wanting his team boosted. In yesterday afternoon's paper, Brother Parker said that until Graham lost two of its best backs the Steers "probably ranked right alongside such a great class B outfit as Masonic Home of last season." We can't come within a country mile of believing Graham was ever that good, but there is no denying the Steers with Nicklas and Turney back in there would have some claim to being the best class B team in Northwest Texas.

We've given the Steers and other district five teams pretty fair amounts of publicity and will give them more in the next few weeks after Graham disposes of the rest of its rivals and gives some good opposition. The Steers have really played only two good teams this season — Olney and Cisburne. Graham really doesn't belong in such a weak district. The other teams, battling in the lower class, have waged a hot fight among themselves, but every one of the teams knew from the start it didn't have a chance against Graham and that took practically all of the punch out of the race. Had Graham been listed in district four, where it really belongs, the district five race would have been really exciting.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Nov. 9. (AP)—Scattered sales are being closed on 64's and finer western grown wools. The shorter combing staple wools principally are called for at present. Moderate quantities 64's and finer territory wools in original bags, are available at 40@43 scoured basis, with bulk of sales at the low end of the range.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (AP)—Cotton goods were unsettled today by a government cotton report showing an increased crop yield. Print cloths and some other unfinished lines eased in price. Rayon sales for January continue in fair volume. Burlaps were unchanged. Silk markets are firmer in the raw division and quiet in cloths. Business picked up slightly in women's coatings and overcoatings.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9. (AP)—Fed steers and yearlings were steady to 25c lower in the day's trading, lighter weight steers and long yearlings generally selling to good advantage. Medium and heavy weight steers had to go largely at wea kto 25c lower levels. Chicago had best weighty steers up to $8.50 where 1,135 pound weights made $8.75. Other markets noted consignments of 900-1,150 pound steers at $7.00@7.75 while the general bulk of steer and yearling offerings moved at $5.00@7.00. Stockers and feeders were scarce, values being quoted steady to strong. Majority of replacement steers sell at $3.50@5.50. Receipts for the week at eleven markets totaled 96,000 as compared with 162,382 last week.

Hogs were active at unevenly 10@25c higher levels. Chicago scored up to $3.90 on best butchers.

Lambs sold at steady to 25c higher rates under a comparatively light supply, most desirable fat kinds bringing $5.25@6.00. Feeding lambs were very scarce.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW WTORK, Nov. 9. (AP)—Unexpectedly large official crop and ginning figures caused an early selling movement in cotton today, but after showing maximum losses of about $1.50 per bale, prices recovered partially on trade buying and covering.

December, after selling off to 5.91 right after the publication of the government report, rallied to 6.11 and closed at 6.06, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 16 to 20 points.

The government report placing the indicated yield at 1,947,000 bales was about half a million bales above the average expectations, and the ginnings of 9,348,534 bales were also above the average of recent private forecasts.

Liverpool cables said trade buying had absorbed moderate hedging in that market before the opening here this morning, and reported a better feeling in Manchester owing to the stirring of the wage agreement in Lancashire.

The early selling here was accompanied by rumored indications of an easier spot basis, but nothing more definite developed in that connection and southern selling here was said to have been less active than on Monday.

Early in the session the market had advanced 3 to 6 points under the impetus of heavy buying by domestic and foreign cotton mills.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9. (AP)—With the market less active than is customary on bureau days, cotton showed a surprisingly small response to the government estimate for a 11,947,000-bale crop, 523,000 bales larger than the last estimate, and prices after showing an extreme reaction of 32 points, recovered rather briskly. The close was steady at net losses for the day of 13 to 16 points.

The market opened steady as Liverpool cables came in better than due by 1 to 4 penny points. Private cables said London and local trade buying absorbed moderate hedging and Bombay liquidation. Manchester cabled there existed a better feeling on signing of labor contracts and that there was an extensive cloth business with India.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 4 to 7 penny points up.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Nov. 9. (AP)—Cotton closed 17 to 23 points net lower today. The government report showing 9,945,534 bales ginned to Nov. 1, and estimating the crop at 11,947,000 bales proved a surprise and much higher than expected. Price yielded both before and after the official figures were posted, but made substantial advances in late trading. The opening was 1 to 6 points up on cables that were slightly better than due. Prices soon turned downward on easiness at New Orleans. Considering the sharp increase in the yield, the market acted well. Rain fell over the northern part of the belt and in South Texas. Light frost was indicated in the northwest quarter of the belt.

Financial Market Develops Nothing Interest Despite Election Result

By JOHN L. COOLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 9. (AP)—Financial markets were heavy today in the first "post election" trading. Activity was very light in both stocks and bonds, which led some brokers to feel that results of trading had not been entirely conclusive. In neither direction nor turnover did the markets vary greatly from many

C-C MEMBERS MEET FRIDAY

Armistice Day Breakfast Slated at 7:30

The entire membership of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will meet with members of the business council Friday morning at an Armistice day breakfast at the Kemp hotel. The meeting has been called at 7:30 o'clock by President Leon Deaton.

The chamber members will elect a nominating committee of seven at the meeting whose duty will be to nominate directors for the business group for 1933. The group will meet in 10 days to select 20 candidates from which five new directors will be named.

Retiring directors are Past President J. S. Bridwell, Roy B. Jones, Ed Howard, Pat Simmons and J. Wilkie Talbert. Under bylaws of the chamber of commerce directors cannot be named to succeed themselves. Each director is selected to serve three years. The board lists 15 members.

The date for the annual chamber of commerce banquet and the election will be Friday, Jan. 13, 1933. Voting will be between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. with the new board members to be introduced at the banquet.

The American Legion post here will be in charge of the breakfast program with Post Commander Dr. L. I. Lucey in charge. Activities of the local post and plans for entertaining the 1933 state convention will be discussed.

C-C Proposes Curb on Authority of I. C. C.

A new referendum has been received by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce from the United States organization. The referendum deals with reducing authority of the Interstate Commerce commission in technical and managerial affairs of railroads, a more economic I. C. C. administration and discussion of a flexible rail rate structure in determining schedules to meet conditions without delay.

The matter will probably be referred to the traffic and national affairs committee of the local chamber. The referendum is based on a report by a special committee on railways headed by Frank C. Dillard of Sherman, former president of the Rock Island general council. The referendum carries detailed material and arguments on both sides of each of 12 listed questions. A vote will be returned by Dec. 12.

Mahler Receives Majority In Race at Holliday

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIDAY, Texas, Nov. 9—The returns from the general election held here Tuesday gave Roosevelt 174 votes and Hoover 18.

For governor, Mrs. Ferguson received 80 and Bullington 113.

Herman Mahler, who received the majority of the votes in the August primary for commissioner of precinct 1, led here, receiving 128 votes. Dan Marshall, independent candidate, received 65 votes.

There was a total of 204 votes polled.

Fillers to Attend Educational Meeting

Supt. H. D. Fillers of the Wichita Falls public schools will go to Austin Saturday for a meeting of directors of the conference of education of Texas schools. The board will discuss plans for work with approaching sessions of the legislature regarding school matters.

TO FORT WORTH

Members of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce board here plan to attend a meeting called for 11 o'clock Friday morning at the Texas hotel in Fort Worth. Wichita Falls members are H. B. Dudley, state vice president, and Darrold Kahn.

JUNIOR C C DIRECTORS

Directors of the Junior chamber of commerce will meet for a regular business luncheon at the Wichita club Thursday. President Don T. Haynes said approaching membership programs will be discussed, including the annual banquet for Dec. 10.

Address By Korean Missionary Closes Southern Presbyterial Here

Rev. Robert Knox, Southern Presbyterian missionary to Korea now on furlough in this country, delivered an address on mission work in the Far East, and on general conditions in that area, before the semi-annual session of the Dallas presbytery Wednesday night at the First Southern Presbyterian church.

The service Wednesday night closed the presbyterial meeting which opened Tuesday night with the selection of Rev. Jan McMurry of Quanah as moderator. Rev. M. W. Baker of Spearman was made clerk. About 35 ministers and elders were in attendance. The presbytery's territory includes counties adjacent to the Fort Worth and Denver railway from Dallas to Amarillo, and all of the Panhandle area.

Rev. Mr. Knox also talked Wednesday afternoon in connection with reviews of missionary activities of the presbyterial member churches during the past six months. Dr. H. W. Burwell, pastor of the church at Waxahachie, delivered the presbyterial sermon on "Christ the Evangelist" at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Earlier in the day, devotionals were conducted by Rev. Paul F. Bobb, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Dallas.

A number of members of the First Presbyterian church of this city attended Wednesday night's service. Members of the presbytery were guests at luncheon served by women of the First Southern Presbyterian church Wednesday noon.

JACK CARTER LOSES PLEA

'Paper Sack' Bandit Must Serve Life Term

Affirmation of the life sentence given Jack Carter here several months ago for hijacking an American Refining company filling station was reported Wednesday by the criminal court of appeals at Austin, the court citing the fact that a second conviction had been shown in the case.

The three-year sentence imposed upon Jack Hollis in this country for burglary of a residence at Burkburnett also was affirmed.

Carter was convicted here in 1927 for hijacking a filling station on Brook avenue, one of several cases which gained for him the title of "paper sack" bandit. Subsequently, Carter was given a 99-year sentence for robbery in Dallas county, but was paroled from the state penitentiary last spring. While on parole he robbed the American service station here, and also was convicted at Abilene for a similar offense there.

Grand Jury Expected To Report Thursday

With a limited number of cases brought up for investigation, the October grand jury is expected to close its November session Thursday afternoon and to submit its report at that time.

The grand jury convened Monday morning, and recessed Tuesday afternoon. It will reassemble early Thursday afternoon to prepare the report of its action, according to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney.

DEATHS

JOHN M. GEHRIG

The body of John M. Gehrig, 75, 1632 McGregor, was forwarded to Muenster Wednesday afternoon for burial services by the Hines mortuary. Mr. Gehrig died at a hospital here Tuesday. Survivors are the widow; a son, William Gehrig of Muenster; and a sister, Mrs. Mike Fisch of Des Moines, Iowa.

VERAL MANNING

Funeral services for Veral Manning, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Manning, 1310 North Fifth, will be arranged Thursday when word is received from out-of-town relatives. The child died Wednesday morning at the family home. The body is held by the Hines mortuary.

Red Cross Leader To Arrive Friday

Royal Clyde Agne, president of Huron college, Huron, S. D., will arrive in Wichita Falls Friday to confer with Wichita County Red Cross leaders in planning the roll call opening Nov. 15. Mr. Agne served the American Red Cross as national director of war service from 1917 to 1925.

He has secured leave of absence from the college for the fall Red Cross drive and will spend two days in Wichita Falls. Mr. Agne will be available for talks on the subject during his stay here. Announcement of Mr. Agne's coming here was made Wednesday by County Chairman Ed Bebb.

Seal Sale to Follow Red Cross Campaign

There will be no conflict in the 1932 membership roll call of the Wichita County Red Cross chapter and the county tuberculosis association Christmas seal sale, it was announced here Wednesday. The Red Cross drive under Linton Estes will open Nov. 15, and will run through Nov. 24. The tuberculosis seal sale will open Nov. 25.

The two organizations are not connected either nationally or locally, but have reached an agreement not to overlap in their drive for funds to carry out the 1933 programs.

Milk Producers to Hold Meeting Today

All milk producers of the Wichita valley are requested to attend a meeting Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Judge R. V. Gwinn's courtroom at the courthouse. The meeting has been called by a local producers committee in view of the concerted action to save the industry here by a slight advance in the price schedule.

Industrial Draft in Time of War Urged

Plans endorsed by the American Legion for the universal draft of finances and industry in time of war were discussed before members of the Lions club Wednesday noon by Milton J. Gaines, leader in the local legion post.

Entertainment for the hour included sleight-of-hand tricks by R. L. Portwood.

$7,725 Suit Follows Fatal Auto Crash

Suit for damages of $7,725 was filed Wednesday by Thelma Owens against L. E. Whitham as the result of a traffic accident Oct. 13, 1931, on the Iowa Park highway near this city in which two lives were lost.

According to the petition, a car driven and owned by Reb Owens was demolished by collision with a heavy sedan driven by L. E. Whitham. Mr. and Mrs. Owens were killed, and Miss Mildred Pope, a passenger in the car, was seriously injured. The plaintiff in the case filed Wednesday is a sister of the man who was killed. She alleges damages through a cessation of the contributions received from Mr. Owens before his death.

C. J. Brannan and Luther Hoffman, local attorneys, filed the suit.

Taylor Street Blaze Causes $2,500 Damage

Damage estimated at $2,500 at the home of J. S. Nichols, 1800 Taylor, was caused Wednesday by a blaze starting at a hot water heater. Members of the family were not at home at the time. The alarm was received at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning and a second blaze was controlled at the home at 8 o'clock in the morning.

A unit of the department answered a grass fire alarm at 2123 Avenue I at 10:45 o'clock Wednesday morning.

School Notes

By BETH PERKINS

A special assembly was held Wednesday in observance of Armistice day, Nov. 11. The American National Insurance company presented to the student body a United States flag which will be flown over the new football stadium. Karl ten Brink, in behalf of the students, accepted the flag. William Hamilton led the group in pledging allegiance to the flag. Jack Robinson recited the well known patriotic poem, "The Name of Old Glory." Ed Peterson, a senior in high school, presided over the assembly.

Writers Club

The members of the Writers club continue to work diligently on their short stories. These manuscripts were the main topic of discussion at the regular meeting Wednesday. The next meeting of the club will be held Monday evening in hopes that more of the members will be able to attend.

Blue Curtain Members

Margaret Bone, Mary Brown Basham, and Grace Warman have recently been admitted into the Blue Curtain organization. The limit of twenty members has not yet been reached, and several other students are planning to try out for membership. More interest has been shown this year in the organization than ever before.

Wichita Falls Firms to Supply Banquet Favors

Preliminary plans for securing novel favors for the 1932 Junior chamber of commerce party Dec. 10, at the Woman's Forum clubhouse were completed Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the novelties committee. Chairman Ralph Eyer presided at the chamber offices. The group will contact business firms of Wichita Falls in giving them the opportunity of supplying the favors.

The favors will be placed at the 425 plates for the leading business men of this city and guests from 50 communities in the Wichita area. A meeting of the gridiron committee, set for Saturday night, was postponed until next week.

TURKEY BUYER SEEKS PICKERS

Armour Unable to Secure Sufficient Help

An increasing demand for turkey pickers was listed by Armour creameries Wednesday with receipts of birds reaching 6,000 for the day and more expected Thursday. Pickers are paid 5 cents per bird and wages range from $1 to $4 daily, depending on the ability of the picker to maintain speed in his work. Other produce firms handling birds for the Thanksgiving rush reported ample labor supplies but said the number of workers reporting varied daily.

It was pointed out that many pickers will work long day and night stretches, probably for two or more firms, and would then rest an entire day and night. Hundreds of pickers have been given work.

Manager's Brother to Operate Tire Store

W. H. Smitham of Big Spring has accepted the position of office manager of Firestone Service stores, 915 Eighth, to succeed Herbert H. Seale, who has been transferred to San Angelo. Mr. Smitham is a brother of City Manager V. R. Smitham.

Wichita Medical Group Discusses Two Papers

Papers on proctology and pneumonia were presented at the regular meeting of the Wichita County Medical society Tuesday night at the Wichita club with 40 members present. Dr. Curtis Rosser of Dallas discussed "Modern Trends in Proctology" and Dr. Gordon Clark presented the second paper on "Treatment of Pneumonia."

Dr. L. B. Holland, Dr. Everett Jones and Dr. C. A. Wilcox discussed the Rosser paper and Dr. Bailey R. Collins, Dr. O. B. Kiel and Dr. J. E. Kanatser discussed Dr. Clark's paper.

THE HUNTER HUNTED!
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the famous artist, R. Atkinson Fox . . . inspired by the battle between an enraged bull buffalo and the savage Indian hunters whose lances roused the beast to furious charge. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
