Will Rogers Is Dinner Guest Of "Alfalfa Bill" On Monday

Oklahoma's Funniest Son Is Given Staff Commission Of "Colonel Of The Nut Brigade" By Governor

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 2 (AP)—Oklahoma's funniest son, Will Rogers, flew home today to eat his noon meal on a governor's desk and to wise crack for drouth relief dollars.

The jokemaker of the Scrub Oak country sharpened his funmaking wizardy on the keen humor of Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray. In return the executive desk was the site of "dinner" for the two and Rogers went away with the staff commission of "colonel of the nut brigade."

Tonight Oklahoma City paid an estimated $10,000 to hear the opening sallies of a week's tour of 18 towns, proceeds of which will go to the Red Crss for the relief of the needy and jobless.

Talks To Solons.

Will carried his wit from the governor's office this afternoon to a joint session of the Oklahoma house and senate. He told the legislators he wasn't out for a political job, although if he wanted one he probably could get it because his father, Clem Rogers, was a member of the constitution convention headed by Murray.

Introduced by the governor as the new member of his staff "representing the nut side" Rogers said it was the second best introduction he ever received. The best, he said, was made by a blind negro preacher.

"He couldn't see what he was introducing," he said. "Speaking of seeing, anybody that can see from

Suspect Faces Robbery Count

Bill Mills In Amarillo Jail In Connection With Canyon Bank Robbery; Arrested By Detective Agency

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Feb. 2. — Bill Mills, said to have been arrested in Oklahoma, near the Arkansas line, is held in the Potter county jail in connection with the robbery of the First National bank at Canyon January 10. Charges of robbery with firearms have been filed against Mills, Justice of the Peace B. A. Witherspoon, of Canyon, said late today.

Mills, who officers say came to Amarillo from Oklahoma, only recently, was armed with two rifles, an automatic shotgun, an automatic pistol and several rounds of ammunition, arresting officers said. A warrant for his arrest was issued soon after the robbery.

Local officers said the arrest was made by a detective agency that specializes in the investigation of bank robberies. They refused to comment on Mills' arrest or evidence purporting to connect him with the robbery.

Sheriff John Fry of Randall county, one of six persons held captives by two men while they robbed the bank, said he knew nothing about the arrest.

More than $13,000 was taken in the robbery. Two men arrested at Borger were released last week complaints against them never reaching the grand jury.

Mrs. Julian Asks Alimony, Children And Receivership

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2. (AP)—Five thousand dollars monthly alimony, custody of two children and receivership for $10,000,000 property was asked by Mrs. Mary Olive Julian today in a suit for divorce from Courtney C. Julian, spectacular oil promoter.

Cruelty was charged in the complaint which named a number of other women and enumerated several luxurious apartments as being maintained by her husband to domicile them.

The Julians were married in Winnipeg, Canada, December 1, 1910, Julian then being an assistant in a plumbing shop, she said.

Buses Adopt Two-Cent Fare To Meet Rail Competition

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 2. (AP)—Railways of the southwest which recently announced a two cent a mile tourist car passenger fare to "meet bus competition" faced another problem today.

Officials of 12 bus companies, meeting to consider the new rail rate, inaugurated by the Frisco lines, and since adopted by other companies, decided to begin a similar fare, effective February 5. The fare was said to be a means of "meeting railway competition."

Hoover And Lower House Are Assailed

Senator Borah Gets Applause During Attack

Leaders Of Senate Coalition Flay Republicans Of House For "No Compromise" Stand Against Red Cross Relief

Democrats Cheer

Scene Unparalleled In Recent Senate History As Bitter Attack Launched; Compromise Seen As Only Hope

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—With a fervor seldom exhibited in senate debate, leaders of the senate coalition today assailed the "no compromise" stand of the house republicans against the $25,000,000 Red Cross relief fund.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, a spokesman of the republican independents, drew a roar of applause from the determined democratic forces and from the gallery as he shouted an acceptance of the house challenge, and declared for an all-summer fight, if necessary, on the relief issue against the administration.

Demos Applaud Borah.

It was a scene unparalleled in recent history of the dignified senate as Borah brought the democratic leaders across the aisle to shake his hands amid applause from the galleries.

Silent throughout the assault by the Idahoan and during a more personal attack on President Hoover and the house republican leaders by Senator Caraway, democrat of Arkansas, the senate republican leadership bided its time tonight awaiting a break in the tense deadlock.

It was generally agreed that a compromise was the only way to avoid an extra session after March 4. Borah today assured the democrats he would help to bring it about. Compromise proposals were being discussed tonight by senate republican leaders, but they were not made public.

Conference Called.

Conference was called for tomorrow afternoon to seek an adjustment of the dispute on the $25,000,-

Fifteen Applications Completed In Lubbock By Monday Night For Federal Drouth Relief Loans; 28 At Slaton

Fifteen of 40 applications received at the Lubbock office Monday for loans as provided in the federal drouth relief program had been completed Monday night, J. B. Shannon, who is in charge of the local office, said.

The Slaton office, headed by F. C. Rector, had completed about 28 at closing time Saturday night and was expected to complete as many or more than the Lubbock office Monday, according to Mr. Shannon.

More than 300 application blanks were received here last week and additional blanks are expected as soon as they come from the government press.

Mr. Shannon explained that the office force could handle only about 16 to 20 applications a day. He is arranging for that number of persons to meet him daily for the remainder of the week.

Daisy De Boe Denied New Trial; Accepts Her Defeat

Former Stenographer Of Clara Bow Throws Herself On Mercy Of Court Monday

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—With a stoic acceptance of defeat in a fight for a new trial, Daisy De Boe threw herself on the mercy of the court today at the end of her fight to escape a conviction of stealing $825 from Clara Bow.

A hope she might gain another chance to fight the grand theft charge filed against her by the film star, whom she served two years as secretary, disappeared in a decision by Superior Judge William Doran, denying her a new trial.

Judge Doran's decision followed two hours of argument by her counsel, William Beirne, in which he tried unsuccessfully to show the verdict was reached by "lot or chance." The defense, prepared for an adverse ruling, immediately sought permission to file an application for probation which was granted and a hearing set for February 10.

Flaxen haired Daisy sat quietly at the counsel table in strong contrast to the emotion that overcame her the afternoon of January 23, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty on one of the 35 counts after nearly fifty hours of deliberation. She watched the judge closely as he considered for a moment the request for a probation hearing and without a change of expression heard him grant the plea.

In a spectator's seat, her mother, Mrs. Ida De Boe, face drawn and pale, watched sorrowfully as a jail matron took her daughter back to a cell. Tears came to her eyes.

Defense In Emmett Thompson Murder Trial Brings Out Quarrels Between Slaying Victim And Defendant

(By The Associated Press)

VERNON, Feb. 2.—Ill feeling that existed between Carl Hefner and Homer Crabtree prior to the day on which the latter was killed was described here today in the trial of Emmett Thompson for murder in connection with the slaying of Crabtree. The defense brought out that Hefner and Crabtree had quarrelled and cross examination of one witness revealed Thompson and Crabtree had fought once, but had become friends again.

Claude Stanton, employe of Thompson and Crabtree in a ranch corridors and court room in the days of the trial, was on hand.

The opportunity for a probation hearing paved the way for consideration by the court of a letter sent to District Attorney Buron Fitts by Miss Bow in which she pleaded for "mercy" for Miss De Boe.

The crux of the defense argument, an attempt to prove the verdict was reached by "lot of chance," foundered on a curt remark by the court that he was "not interested in that speculation."

In an affidavit of oral testimony from eight of the twelve jurors, Beirne succeeded in showing that the count on which Miss De Boe was convicted was "selected at random," but this proved of no influence on Judge Doran's decision.

Woman Hijacker Arrested Twice

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 2. (Special)—Walking into a filling station here with a .38 caliber revolver dangling in one hand, a young woman tonight caused a commotion which resulted in her arrest by Sheriff J. M. Tilford.

The young woman was rearrested a few hours later after a hardluck story and her evident horror of being jailed had caused the sheriff to furnish her a hotel room.

She and her husband had separated in New Mexico, she had caught automobile rides to Brownfield, and was enroute to Houston where she had left her three-month-old baby, the young woman told Sheriff Tilford. The officer gave her money to buy breakfast, obtained a hotel room for her, and exacted a promise that she would report to him Tuesday morning.

Clad in another and much longer dress, which she had been carrying in a shoe box, the young woman was rearrested by City Marshall James Brown shortly afterward and transferred to the Terry county jail.

Former Broker Convicted Of Misuse Of U. S. Mails

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—A jury in the court of Federal Judge John C. Knox required only 20 minutes late today to convict James A. Connolly, erstwhile St. Paul broker, on three counts for misuse of the United States mails in the sale of bonds stolen from middle western banks.

Judge Knox sentenced Connolly to a total of 15 consecutive years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined him $25,000. The last five years of the sentence were ordered suspended on the endition that Connolly never again sell securities.

Bishop Cannon Is To Answer Charges Today

Methodist Bishop To Leave Hospital For Investigation Of Charges Brought By His Fellow Clergymen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, planned tonight to leave his hospital bed tomorrow to answer charges brought against him by fellow clergymen.

Weakened by long months of illness, the temperance leader, nevertheless, planned a vigorous defense. Tomorrow's hearings, to be conducted by twevle ministers appointed by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, of Birmingham, Ala., are in the nature of an investigation and not a trial.

If charges filed by four prominent Methodist ministers are found to have weight in the minds of the twelve, Bishop Cannon will be suspended from active duties and brought to trial by the general conference of the church which meets in 1934.

The nature of the charges never has been disclosed, but they are supposed to be based in part on Bishop Cannon's dealings with a brokerage house in New York, found by the New York courts to have been a bucket shop.

Complete secrecy surrounded plans for the investigation. The names of the ministers who will hear the charges have not been announced and plans were made at Mount Vernon Place Methodist church, where the hearings will take place, to see that neither the press nor the public gets near the rooms selected for the investigation.

Predict 50 Per Cent Increase In Loan Value, Reduction In Interest Will Be Approved By Administration

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Out of the host of conflicting plans for cashing veterans' bonus certificates, there grew today talk of a compromise and a new warning of disastrous effects that might be expected from a $3,500,000,000 bond issue to pay cash in full.

Representative Patman of Texas, a Democratic advocate of cash redemption, said Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, had expressed belief after a visit to the White House that a 50 per cent increase in the loan value and a reduction in interest would be approved by the administration.

Forecasts Bank Failures

Meantime, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank of New York, predicted "hundreds" of small bank failures would follow a bond issue to pay in full the face value of the certificates. He made the statement before the senate banking sub-committee.

Mitchell said such an issue would force down prices of other government bonds and would cause even greater declines in municipal state and industrial bonds.

Pattman said he had definite information that the compromise proposal would please Secretary Mellon and the administration.

Senator Vandenberg has proposed such a measure. It would, if all veterans took advantage of it, involve a total cost of 1,700,000,000 but the government already has

Huge Building Programs Are Being Pushed

Congress And Hoover Join To Expedite Proposals To Aid Employment Stabilization; Would Provide Millions

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. — Congress and President Hoover joined hands today in pushing forward gigantic public building programs.

The administration's $100,000,000 public building authorization measure was passed by the house and sent to the senate where its public buildings committee approved it. In addition, the house passed the Wagner advanced planing public works measure and received from the chief executive a request to appropriate funds for more than 200 public buildings projects to cost $68,764,000.

Goes To Senate

The Wagner measure now goes back to the senate for agreement to house amendments. It is designed to stabilize employment and provides for the creation of a federal employment stabilization board to watch the trend of employment and to advance construction programs during periods of depression.

Under the $100,000,000 expansion measure, the administration's public building program outside the district of Columbia will reach $415,-

Lubbock Red Cross Is Asked For Aid

Applications for aid were received at city hall Monday by representatives of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter. Although applications had been collected for several days by field workers in the county, Monday was the first day the petitions for help were received here.

A survey of conditions throughout the county is underway and is expected to be completed within the next several days. The number of persons who will receive aid as a result of applications to the Red Cross will not be determined until the survey has been completed and additional applications have been investigated, it was indicated.

Farmers sat on folder chairs about the lobby on the second floor of city hall Monday awaiting their turn to make application for aid. Only those who have been residents of Lubbock county for a reasonable period of time and who show conclusively that they and their families are in need of life's necessities will be aided, persons connected with the Red Cross relief program said.

The Lubbock office will receive applications from throughout the county, there being no sub-station.

Representative Weinert Introduces Resolution Which Would Eliminate Appropriations For 1931 Sessions

Heated Debate Aroused When Proposal Announced; Seek To Keep All Expenditures Within Revenues Of State

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—A move to abondon summer schools in 1931 unless additional funds are available was started in the house today when Representative Weinert of Seguin introduced a resolution to eliminate summer school appropriations from the emergency appropriations bills. Introduction of the resolution occasioned heated debate with the resolution finally referred to the committee on state affairs.

Weinert declared all expenditures should be kept within the revenues of the state and that rigid economy was necessary if the state was to weather the business depression. He pointed out the state be would hampered through postponement of tax collections until October fifteen and that regular terms of the public schools probably would be shortened due to lack of finances.

Supported By Gilbert

He was supported by Rep. Gilbert of Cisco who declared the state deficiency when the legislature adjourned would be $20,000,000.

Both Weinert and Gilbert declared the tax burden was destroying home ownership and argued the burden on the home owner should be reduced or there would be no need for schools.

Elimination of the summer school appropriations would save approximately $786,000, Gilbert said, expressing the belief the school sys-

Groundhog Crawls Back Into Hole—It's Old Marmota Monaxian Custom

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—The Marmota monax—to give its right name—waddled forth today, put on its spectacles, looked around for its shadow, and crawled back into its hole.

Whether he saw it, and whether it makes any difference, depends on where you sit.

By nightfall he was back in his hole asleep. The marmota monax is [illegible] of the sleepiest members [illegible] the animal kingdom. The little creature—he measures [illegible] out 18 inches in length, as [illegible]ybody knows, and is a burro[illegible]—sleeps most all winter.

Groundhog, woodchuck, Marmota monax—call it what you will—spent only a short time in the open today, according to comparatively reliable statistics collected from hither and yon.

Skies were clear today in most parts of the south and middle west and along the Atlantic seaboard. There were some clouds out west, but it is believed that if the marmota monax made a quick dash out at the right moment, it saw its shadow.

Wheather it did or didn't, the fact remains that his excursion

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

WHEN the Texas Fine Arts League brings a group of paintings to Lubbock next month, several art lovers of this city will have realized an ambition they have had for some time and they will have scored another triumph in their art education program.

Lubbock has never been known as an art-loving center and few exhibits of any sort have been shown here. In fact, until recently any exhibit was likeyl to draw an exceedingly short crowd. But the appreciation of paintings is growing and each group of canvasses is viewed by a considerable crowd. Much of the appreciation is real. People express genuine likes and dislikes for the paintings, and many who have always thought of all paintings as falling in the same class are learning some distinction between a worthwhile piece of art and a mere daub of paint on canvas.

THE NEW BEADS

PARIS has a new fad, "arithmatic" beads—that is, beads that add, subtract, divide and multiply. They are big silver balls strung on a silver chain in such a manner that they can be moved from one position to another in the manner of kindergarten counting beads. A chain of a dozen or so of these beads makes a necklace that is just long enough to fit around the base of a woman's throat.

FROM MY PUBLIC

WHEN I expressed some opinions about serving meals or refreshment courses to people in order to get them to attend church last week I struck a responsive note, apparently. My phone has been ringing ever since. One woman, who wouldn't give her name, even went so far as to compare me to Martin Luther—whatever that may mean. I think I have heard from at least one person in every protestant church in town and almost universally they have agreed with the views which I expressed in the article.

I have received two letters, too, which I shall run. One is from "A Reader" and the other from Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the First Methodist church, and this is what he has to say:

"My attention has been called to your column, 'The Woman's Angle,' on Thursday morning, in which you expressed yourself on the matter of the open house program, especially the refreshments. I note that you said you would expect a call from me. Well, I have a terrible cold and the doctor told me not to talk, so I am writing you.

"I agree with you on the major premise in your article, that is that to serve refreshments just for the purpose of inveigling people to come to the church is altogether unworthy. But your supposition that this is the only, or the main, motive in our having lunch on Sunday evening at First Methodist church is incorrect.

"The fact is that it is not 'refreshments' in the ordinarily accepted use of the term that are served, it is a meal. The young people are asked to pay ten cents each to care for the actual expenses of the lunch. Many of the boarding houses in town, I am told, do not serve a Sunday evening meal. Many of the young people go down town and probably pay 40 or 50 cents for lunch. Here, they get enough to satisfy their appetites for ten cents. We are suggesting that the thirty or forty cents saved be given to charity. Those in charge of the open house program, believe that since they are asking the young people to remain at the church over the hour for the evening meal, they can meet the demands of the physical appetite at a minimum cost; and they believe they are doing it without making the primary appeal to the physical. The primary appeal is to the social, the aesthetic and the spiritual. The lunch is certainly not meant for a bait, but for the convenience of those who wish to spend their Sunday evenings in a wholesome environment.

"I am sure you recognize the value of congenial fellowships enjoyed at lunch. All luncheon clubs are established on that principle. We are mindful also of the spiritual value of wholesome social contacts and the opportunity for the formation of new friendships between the sexes in an environment such as you are supposed to find around a church. There are many other values accruing from the open house program, values to the young people themselves, which I do not have time to discuss just now.

"Please allow me to extend to you a cordial invitation to attend the open house next Sunday. Be sure to bring your dime.

"P. S. It might be interesting to note that by actual count about ninety per cent of those who come to open house remain for the league and evening service. Also, please bear in mind that these meetings belong as much to the town young people as to the college students."

I do want to explain that my remarks were not about the First Methodist church in particular. I did mention going there because it is the church in which I have a membership. My remarks concerned serving food in order to swell church attendance, merely, and I think it is unnecessary.

The other letter came in Saturday afternoon and says, "Speaking of cutting eats, etc., to save for charity, why not suggest that the smokers cut smokes one day of each week. What a saving, and from a luxury, too, not a necessity. In fact, how much better off the old world would be without tobacco, not only a monetary saving but prolonged life as well. What does the "Woman's Angle" think? A Reader."

Sorry. I don't want to get mixed up in any argument about smokers and smoking. There would be no end. I do think, however, that anything we give for charity if of more value to the giver if a sacrifice is involved.

FINEST CHOCOLATE CREAMS ARE DIPPED ONE AT A TIME
For a Similar Reason Hills Bros. Roast Their Coffee a Few Pounds at a Time
Candy makers agree that when creams are dipped one at a time in the chocolate, the coating is applied much more evenly than when dipped in big batches.
According to the results achieved by Hills Bros., this same principle holds true in roasting coffee. By roasting a few pounds at a time by a continuous process, instead of large batches, a uniform roast is certain.
This process originated, and patented by Hills Bros., is called "Controlled Roasting." "Controlled" is a most appropriate word because during the entire roasting process there is automatic regulation. This control accurately regulates the flow of coffee through the roasters—also the temperature. Every berry of the rare blend is roasted to a degree that insures perfection. No other coffee has the same delicious flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee.
Freshness is always guaranteed in Hills Bros. Coffee because it is packed in vacuum cans. By this method, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out, and kept out of the can. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold everywhere by grocers.

Chest Pledges Are Announced

Total Of $235 Given During Cleanup Drive Last Week, Compilation Of Reports From Team Captains Shows

Pledges to United Charities during the cleanup drive last week totaled $235, a compilation of reports from team captains Monday showed. Although all reports had not been submitted, a major portion of the work had been completed.

Adding the $235, total for the 1931 Community Chest drive now stands at $18,044. Goal of the drive had been set at $25,700 when workers took the field for the first time.

Following close of original dates for the campaign, officials announced that a cleanup group would be organized and that efforts would be made to raise the remaining funds.

Checks Issued

Checks for January operations of the six participating agencies of the Chest were issued at headquarters of the organization Monday. These checks were authoritzed by the board of directors at the last meeting and represent only 50 per cent of the amount asked for by each agency.

Funds were issued as follows: Salvation Army $150; Boy Scouts $166.66; United Charities, $416.66; Y. M. C. A. $93.75; Y. W. C. A. $72.92; Campfire Girls, $91.66.

A meeting of the board will be held on February 10 at which time definite allotment for each of the agencies will be made for the remainder of the year. According to officials, the Salvation Army and United Charities have requested a substantial increase in their allotments for January, February and March and the request is being considered.

Records of last year's operations of the charity organizations reveal that nearly 50 per cent of their funds were used during the four months of December, January, February and March.

Seed Demands Are Increased

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock County Agent, Reports Farmers Of South Plains Wanting More Certified Grain Sorghums

An increased demand by South Plains farmers for certified grain sorghums was reported Monday by D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agent, who said that local raisers of certified seed were enjoying a brisk demand.

Lubbock county has two such breeders, James A. Burrough and W. A. Goeth. Both men are handling their work under supervision of the state plant seed board.

Milo maize, kafir and feterita are the main sorghums grown by these breeders.

Urging More Planting

County agents over the territory are urging all farmers to plant more sorghums, such as kafir, maize, red top cane and the like. These sorghums are much in demand.

"Every farmer should plant some red top cane or other sorghum," Mr. Eaton explains. "Red top has more tonnage of hay per acre than other types.

"I am urging all my farmers to plant sorghums for their cattle. It is a cheap feed and will enable the farmer to save money."

Breeders of certified seed have their crops inspected during the growing season under the direction of employes of the state board. The work is exacting and the seed grown and cured under supervision.

Lubbock Woman Injured In Crash

Bruises and abrasions about the head, face and eyes were suffered by Mrs. H. M. Cowan, of 1711 Sixteenth street, when she was thrown to the pavement as a result of a collision in which an automobile in which she was riding figured.

The accident occurred at Broadway and Avenue N early Sunday night. Mrs. Cowan was taken to Lubbock sanitarium and still was there Monday night. Hospital attaches said her injuries were not serious.

The crash occurred when the sedan, in which Mrs. Cowan was riding with her husband, collided with a Ford truck driven by Tom Gill of 2708 Twenty-Third street. According to investigations by the police, Mr. Cowan was driving east on Broadway and had started to turn north on Avenue N when his car collided with the truck, which was going west on Broadway.

Scouting Is Informal Education, Says Tom White, President of Area Council

Scouting is an "informal education," according to Tom A. White, president of the South Plains area council in commenting upon the forthcoming 21st birthday of the Boy Scout movement, which is to be celebrated throughout the nation for the week beginning Sunday, February 8 and lasting until February 14.

While few persons think of the Boy Scout movement as an educational institution, Mr. White pointed out, it is one nevertheless, functioning without class rooms and teachers in the accepted sense of these terms. "In the opinion of Dr. James E. Russell, dean-emeritus of Teachers College, Columbia Unievrsity, New York City, the public schools will not be adequate to the needs of the next generation unless they utilize the program of scouting in and out of school and fill up as many as possible of the leisure hours of the boy," Mr. White added.

"Thousands of men are giving of their time, expert knowledge and technical experience as counselors in the program of vocational guidance as embodied in the scout merit badge system, covering 96 subjects and ranging all the way from agriculture to wood working," he went on. "How important this is may be seen by the fact that during the last year alone 511,195 merit badges were awarded to the boys who developed a high degree of efficiency in the vocations, crafts and arts that are a part of this program.

In the South Plains area, Mr. White added, 1,542 merit badges were awarded during 1930. There were 60 courts of honor for the 31 troops, many of them holding several courts. Only two troops did not hold a single court during the year. In towns where more than one troop is functioning, the troops combined their court programs.

"In the South Plains area we have 39 per cent of our scouts who hold first class rank," he pointed out. "We do not permit a scout during the school year to get more than two merit badges a month. This is done so it will not interfere with his school program.

Good News And A Thought

GOOD news from 'down state' is contained in the week's editorial digest,compiled by George I. Seitz, editor of 'Editorials of the Month. The digest is compiled by Mr. Seitz after an exhaustive survey of newspapers of the state, bearing particularly upon economic conditions.

Reports Mr. Seitz, under the caption "Let's Make 1931 A Texas Year":

"Eleven hundred men, idle for months next week will return to their work in mills operated by the Kirby Lumber Company. The railroads are beginning to recall some of the men laid-off during the period of the depression. Seasonal purchases for mercantile stocks are injecting new life into hundreds of Texas factories. Everywhere there is evident a quickening of industrial activity.

"Some eminent authorities assert that the depression is a thing of the past. Particularly encouraging is the apparent improvement in general conditions. There is reason for confidence and optimism.

"If Texans will put into practice some of the precepts enunciated by Governor Sterling, Colonel William E. Talbot, John W. Carpenter and other leaders in the movement to "build Texas first," 1931 well may be a milestone in the progress of the state.

"In 1931 let's begin to give Texas-manufactured goods, not a preference, but just an "even break". When quality and price are equal, let a Texas label be the determining factor.

"Let's make 1931 a Texas year."

Texas is standing upon the threshold of an economic age which promises to be a new fruitful era and were Texas just taking its position on that threshold we could afford to feel better—more optimistic. But as a matter of fact, Texas has been in such a position for almost a decade and action is necessary to push the state through the doorway and into the green pastures which beckon beyond.

Texans need to be sold on the idea of 'What Texas Makes Makes Texas." They need to be convicted to the theory that a Texas-made product, if offered in the same quality and at competitive prices, should be given the buyer's preference over a product manufactured elsewhere.

Last summer, when Col. William Talbot stumped the state in behalf of the G. O. P. campaign for governor, he told Texans in every far-flung corner of the state what they were missing in failing to patronize, when possible, Texas-manufactured products. And until the rank and file of the citizenship heeds the Talbot call, Texas will continue to merely stand at the threshold of this new and promising econom-

In the everyday venacular, "Give Texas-Made Products A Break" when ever possible. "What Texas Makes Makes Texas" and the more Texas makes depends largely upon the home field—at least at the beginning. Texans who love Texas, who believe in its future, must give Texas the 'push' across the threshold by patronizing home products, industry, capital and ingenuity.

PART OF HER VARIETY

Some commentator has said that had Cleopatra's nose been somewhat longer the entire face of the world would have been changed, the implication being that an inch more of proboscis would have marred her fatal beauty to such an extent that Caesar and Antony would have done little warring because of her. Now, the world being as it is, the head of the department of English of Princeton University wants to know if Cleopatra hopped and if so, why? One of the minor characters of "Antony and Cleopatra" states seeing the beautiful queen hop 40 paces along the street.

Perhaps it was just part of her varied activities. Another character in the same play, commenting on her, says:

Age cannot wither her,
Nor custom stale her infinite variety.

The professor is puzzled about the hopping because Shakespeare took much of the material for his play from Plutarch's Lives and Plutarch makes no mention of the Egyptian having any habit of hopping. However, he does cite an instance to prove she was a practical joker and indulged in one at the expense of Antony. The latter, wishing to show off as a angler, had some ill-luck. They just were not biting, so he had a diver attach a fish to his hook and pulled it up. Cleopatra, on the bank, observed the deception and when Antony went to fish the next day she had one of her divers attach a salt fish to the Roman warrior's hook. Thinking he had a real "bite" he pulled up, providing Cleopatra with a laugh. Charmian refers to the incident in "Antony and Cleopatra" but no details are given.

CHECK OF SPINAL FLUID REVEALS STATUS OF NERVOUS SYSTEM

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

One of the most interesting substances in the human body is the cerebrospinal fluid, the material which surrounds the spinal cord and the brain.

Examination of this fluid has become a routine in medicine, because it yields important information, particularly in diseases of the nervous system. The spinal fluid is not red like blood, but clear, like water; in fact, it consists mainly of water and under normal conditions a very small amount of protein, some chlorides, some glucose and a few cells.

The total amount of cerebrospinal fluid ordinarily available is about 100 to 200 centimeters, or about one-fifth of a quart. However, in various diseases affecting the nervous system the amount may be tremendously increased and associated with this increase are changes in the content.

There are some conditions like hydrocephalus, or water on the brain, in which a tremendous amount of spinal fluid takes the place of brain tissue. There is some relationship between the cerebrospinal fluid and the general blood system, because the giving of a large amount of salt solution will withdraw fluid from the cerebrospinal system and lower its pressure. Hence, this is the method sometimes used when the spinal fluid is under increased pressure.

In diseases in which investigation of the spinal fluid is necessary, a needle is put into the back low down, and the fluid which passes from the spinal cord and tissues through the needle is collected and examined. When it is desired to produce anesthesia without loss of consciousness, anesthetic substances may be injected into the spinal fluid and in this manner the passing of the sense of pain along the nerves is blocked. It is quite possible under such circumstances for a person to be anesthetized at various levels so that he will feel no pain in the legs or in the lower part of the abdomen and will, at the same time, retain his full senses and be able to talk to the people who are doing the operation.

In meningitis, in syphilis of the spinal cord, in infantile paralysis, in general paralysis, in epidemic encephalitis, in brain tumor, in apoplexy, and in other conditions affecting the brain and the spine, changes take place in the spinal fluid. The physician is able by examination of the fluid to determine facts which are of the greatest importance in making a certain diagnosis.

Aims Of Wickersham Board

(The first of two articles analyzing the status of prohibition.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Analysis of prohibition's status, as developed by recent events, divides itself naturally into two chapters:

1. The Wickersham commission chapter.
2. The presidential chapter.

Chapter one deals, at the outset, with the genesis of the Wickersham commission, which has to be understood in order to understand what followed.

Originally the investigation, which the Wickersham commission has been carrying on, was to have been exclusively a prohibition "probe." That was what Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who introduced the initial resolution for it, intended. He says so. It was thus that it was described in advance, until after President Hoover's inauguration.

By that time, however, politicians had come to realize that an investigation of prohibition, pure and simple, would be bad business; a wet report would make the drys howl, a dry report would make the wets yell and a straddle would suit nobody.

Still, there had to be an investigation; it had been advertised so much, accordingly it was transformed into an investigation of crime in general.

BEGINNING as an investigation which must carefully avoid investigating the problem which it had been planned to investigate, it is obvious that the inquiry was launched in the face of a considerable amount of self-contradiction and consequent difficulty. Maybe it is not surprising that it never has succeeded in fully explaining just what it really was seeking to accomplish.

It was admitted, to be sure, that, as crime "probers," the inquistors must not wholly ignore prohibition crime.

Yet it quickly became apparent that, far from going after prohibition infractions alone, they deemed it an essential part of their jobs to prevent wet-and-dry criminality from monopolizing more than a relatively small share of their attention—because they were tied tight, from the first, to the assumption that prohibition has comparatively little to do with post-eighteenth amendment lawbreaking.

THE COMMISSIONERS have been deeply incensed, since finally being forced, willy-nilly, into submitting a prohibition report, by hints and even open assertions that they yielded to outside influence in arriving at their conclusions—if they can be said to have arrived at any.

Denials that their findings were dictated to them have been issued in extremely strong language from their official headquarters in the Tower building.

In a literal sense, I have no doubt of perfect truthfulness of these denials. Nevertheless, I believe almost any sophisticated persons would have agreed, as soon as the anti-crime board's membership was announced, that it seemed to have been chosen with a view to all-around ability (like Newton D. Baker's) to reconcile the same individual's signature among those "opposed to repeal of the eighteenth amendment" with his expressed opinion that "the eighteenth amendment should be repealed."

There were two or three exceptions, notably Monte M. Lemmann; but, by and large, it was a commission one would have been willing to guarantee to arrive at whatever conclusions it proved expedient for that commission to arrive at—and without being asked to do so, in so many words, either.

IF PROHIBITION were a subject that could be hushed up, the Wickersham commission undoubtedly would have hushed it. Never, I feel sure, did any commission try harder than that one, after it had crawled (prohibition question and all) to the bottom of the deepest available hole, to pull the hole in after it. No use; senators and representatives, press and public, wets and drys, everybody—all hands were right on top of it incessantly, clamoring for a prohibition report.

The harassed commission sought to throw the hunt off by scattering a few so-called "partial reports" about. These served only to whet the popular appetite.

Exactly at what point the commissioners decided it was hopeless to resist any longer, that they might as well make a full report and get it done with, I don't know. I fancy it synchronized with Secretary Max Lowenthal's resignation. Max, a forceful personality, had stood pat all along for a broad, general investigation. He quit about the time it began to take its recent narrow prohibition channel.

That is to say—

YEARS AGO, when I associated more with a lower class of criminals than I do now, I used occasionally to hear one or another of them refer, in his picturesque argot, to a process known as "easing a chiv" into some person it was desired to extinguish quietly. Today a machine gun or a pineapple would be employed, but in that era folk were less indifferent to the crash of artillery, and a "chiv" (pronounced "shiv") is a knife—a noiseless implement. The term "easing" it into its recipient's anatomy still further develops the pianissimo idea, employing so unostentatious a removal as to be practically unnoticeable.

I suspect that, figuratively speaking, Max had to have a "chiv eased" into him.

Anyhow, immediately following his secretarial extinction the commission got busy on its full-sized prohibition report, and after several months of toil, the other day we had it. Considering all its vicissitudes, is it much wonder that it turns out to be a somewhat mixed-up document?

(A second article follows tomorrow.)

If they intend to continue hopping the Atlantic in that plane, the British might as well begin memorizing "Hail, Columbia."

With a feeling of considerable relief, we learn from a medical publicist's column that hair dyes do not affect the brain, if any.

What ever became of the old-time useful custom of identifying any fast-ball pitcher as "Smoky"?

Driving in the country is safer. Rural telephone poles are fragile things.

Self-government doesn't long survive if government itself tries to do it all.

Well, let the game disappear. There is thrill enough in hunting for a parking space.

Murder At Bridge

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE believes that JUANITA SELIM and DEXTER SPRAGUE were murdered by a blackmail victim, while the police theory is that they were killed to avenge a racketeer whom Nita is thought to have betrayed. Of Dundee's six possible suspects— JUDGE MARSHALL, owner of the death weapon; POLLY BEALE and CLIVE HAMMOND, who married suddenly after Sprague's death; JOHN DRAKE, JANET RAYMOND, in love with Sprague, and FLORA MILES— his case is strongest against Flora.

He thinks it possible she killed Nita in desperation, and that TRACEY MILES killed Sprague to protect Flora from a charge of blackmail. In New York, Dundee learns that there are vague rumors of scandals involving Flora and Janet, which Nita might have known. From SERENA HART, stage star and graduate of the Forsyte School, which these girls attended and where Nita, on Serena's recommendation, directed the Easter play, he learns that Nita was married early in 1918, and that the dress in which she was cremated was her wedding dress, as he suspected. Nita was quickly deserted, however, but not divorced. Serena says that a picture of Nita was printed accidentally in a story about ANITA LEE.

Dundee is about to leave, when Serena asks him if he knows PENNY CRAIN, saying that she met her and ROGER CRAIN, who later failed in business and disappeared, at the Forsyte School. Dundee impulsively tells Serena that Penny and her mother would like to have Crain back again. After wiring Penny, Dundee learns that on the ninth of February, when Nita tried to kill herself, Sprague was rumored engaged, but that a denial was printed two days later. He receives an answer to his wire to Penny.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV

With a sharp exclamation of excitement and triumph, Dundee finished reading Penny's telegram:

THE HAMILTON EVENING SUN DATE OF MAY FIFTH NINETEEN TWENTY TWO PUBLISHED STORY OF SUICIDE ANITA LEE ARTISTS MODEL BUT PICTURE ACCOMPANYIN... WAS NITA LEIGH SELIMS STOP NO CORRECTION FOLLOWED STOP WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

"What does it mean?" Dundee repeated exultantly to himself. "It means, my darling little Penny, that anyone in Hamilton who had any interest in the matter believed Nita Leigh Selim was dead, and that the spelling of her name was wrong, not the picture itself! . . .The question is, who read that story and gazed on that picture with vast relief?"

Two hours before he had dismissed as impossible or highly impractical his impulse to investigate the 11-year-old scandal on Flora Hacket, who was now Flora Miles, as told him by Gladys Earle of the Forsyte School. Even more difficult would it be to find out why Janet Raymond's mother had taken her abroad for a year. Of course—he had ruefully told himself—Nita Leigh might have been lucky or unlucky enough to run across documentary proof of one of the scandals of which Gladys Earle had told her, or had dared to blackmail her victim by dark hints, as Miss Earle had unconsciously suggested.

But this new development could not be ignored. A picture of Nita Leigh as a suicide had appeared eight years ago in a Hamilton paper, and the paper had either remained unconscious of the error or had thought it not worth the space for a correction. . . .

Eight years ago in June three weddings had occurred in Hamilton! The Dunlap, the Miles, the Drake wedding. And within the last year and a half Judge Marshall, after proposing season after season to the most popular debutante, had married lovely little Karen Plummer. Suddenly a sentence from Ralph Hammond's story of his engagement to Nita Leigh Selim popped up in Dundee's memory: "And once I got cold sick because I thought she might still be married, but she said her husband had married again, and I wasnt to ask questions or worry about him."

If Ralph Hammond had reported Nita accurately she had not said she was divorced. She had merely said her husband was married again! Why was Ralph to ask no questions? Divorced wives were not usually so reticent. . . .

Had Nita planned to commit the crime of bigamy? If not, when and where and how had she secured a divorce?

To Serena Hart, years before, she had denied any intention of getting a divorce, for two reasons—because she did not know where her husband was, and because, being married although husbandless, was a protection against matrimonial temptations.

To Gladys Earle, a year ago in April, she had confided that she could not marry again, because she was not divorced and because she did not know the whereabouts of her husband.

And so far as New York reporters had been able to find out, Nita Leigh had done nothing to alter her status as a married woman dur-

Fair Circuit Is Organized

Expositions At Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo And Abilene Form Association; Sign Up Traveling Show

Organization of a West Texas fair circuit and completion of arrangements for a stop by the second largest traveling show in the United States at the 1931 Panhandle-South Plains fair were announced Monday by officials of the local fair association.

The circuit, to be composed of Amarillo, Lubbock, San Angelo and Abilene, is culmination of several years' work in an effor to form such an organiastion. Local officials revealed that with such a circuit a much larger number of exhibitors in agriculture, livestock and poultry will be obtained and that presentation of a better carnival and free attractions will be enabled.

Dodson's World's Fair shows, composed of 40 all-steel railroad cars is considered the second largest organization of its kind in America and will bring to the Panhandle-South Plains fais the very best in the way of carnival entertainment and attractions. Included as features of the show will be 14 major riding devices, 22 high class shows, two bands and the usual number of concessions.

The shows will play the Tri-State fair at Amarillo September 21 to 26. From that city they will move to the Panhandle-South Plains fair from September 28 to October 3. From this city they go to San Angelo for the All West Texas exposition October 5 to 10. The West Texas fair at Abilene will be the last stand the week following.

Contract with the shows was signed by local officials at a meeting held last week, although formal announcement was not made until Monday morning.

Although it is rather early to forecast conditions which might surround the 1931 local exposition, officials feel that with signing of the show and that with other attractions being equal, this year will see one of the best fairs in the history of the organization.

Assistant County Agent On Job Here

Duties of the recently created post of assistant Lubbock county farm agent were assumed Monday by R. N. McClain, a former assistant county agent in Louisiana.

D. F. Eaton, county agent, announced that Mr. McClain had begun his work here. Mr. McClain arrived in Lubbock last week and spent several days in familiarising himself with his new duties.

The new assistant agent is a son of Dr. J. H. McClain, one of the leading livestock and dairy authorities in the employ of the federal government and a high executive in the department of agriculture of the United States.

Mr McClain is a graduate of Clemson college, Clemson, S. C. He graduated in the class of 1929 and for a year was in charge of a cow testing association in Maryland. Several months ago he went to Louisiana.

Principal duties of the assistant county agent, Mr. Eaton said, would be to supervise feeding tests, dairy work and terracing projects.

Dr. McClain last summer made a tour of inspection of the South Plains, visiting nine or ten counties and looking over dairy herds. He is expected to make another trip to the South Plains this summer.

Ten persons were killed every day on French roads last year.

Paving Likely To Start Soon

Contracts For Paving Highway No. 9 Through County May Be Assigned At February Meeting At Austin

Contracts for paving of state highway No. 9 north and south through Lubbock county may be assigned at the February letting of the state highway commission, it was indicated Monday by Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer of this district.

Plans for the proposed pavement have been forwarded to Austin with recommendations that the two contracts be let immediately, Mr. Johnston said.

At the same time E. L. Pitts, county judge, announced that the commissioner's court by a vote of three to one, had adopted a resolution at its meeting late Saturday providing for the securing of right of way for highway 24 between Lubbock and the Crosby county line through Idalou.

Grading Completed

Grading and drainage work on No. 9 has been completed both north and south and the new work is now being used. Only the underpass beneath the Santa Fe tracks two miles south of Monroe remains to be completed.

"I am fairly certain that the paving contract north will be let and it looks pretty good for the contract south," Mr. Johnston commented. "I have sent plans for the work to the state highway department and have recommended that the contracts be let."

Distance north of Lubbock is to be paved is approximately 17.2 miles, including the underpass, which will be around 1,500 feet long.

To Be Ready Soon

First grading work on the underpass will be completed about February 10 according to Mr. Johnston. It is expected that the entire job will be finished by the middle of March and the work ready for paving.

Route of No. 24 between Lubbock and the Crosby county line is east on Broadway to the state experiment farm, thence in a northeasterly direction through the farm and to a point several miles east where the present road is touched. This place is just west of the crossing of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains and Santa Fe railroads. From there on east, the present route through Idalou will be used.

Only W. L. Brashear, commissioner of the Idalou precinct, voted against the proposed route. The state highway department had requested that the commissioner's court secure the right of way for this highway.

It was understood that a large percentage of the right of way already had been secured and that a committee will work on the securing of the rest.

Mr. Johnston later stated that he was sending plans for the grading and drainage work on this highway to Austin and that he hoped the contract would be let at the March letting. With securing of the right of way completed by the time the contract is let, the actual construction work will be started in the spring and the road will doubtless be completed in the late summer or early fall.

Lubbock county has completed one paving project, Lubbock to Slaton and a fourth grading and drainage job is now under way, Lubbock to Shallowater. The grading work north and south was finished recently. The route to Idalou, if let, will make the fifth for the county.

Two-Thirds Of Cars Licensed

A 20 per cent penalty Monday was added to registration fees for motor vehicles which had been used during the last year and for which licenses had not been purchased. There will be no penalty for vehicles which were not operated during the last year.

Lubbock Negro Is Charged With Stealing, Selling Cow

Accused of stealing and selling a milk cow, a 28-year-old Lubbock negro was in the city jail Monday night and a complaint signed by the owner of the cow, another negro, was in the police sergeant's desk awaiting completion by a justice of the peace.

Police said the negro first had denied theft of the cow but subsequently had confessed stealing and subsequently selling the animal, after he had been identified by a white man to whom he sold it.

Silas Love, owner of the cow, reported to police that it had been stolen Sunday night from a pen at his house in The Flats and that he had learned where it had been taken. Love was said by police to have aided in the arrest of the negro suspect, who was taken into custody by Patrolmen Grady Harrist and Don Reeder. The accused man sold the cow for $11, police said.

Theft of a cow constitutes a felony.

Over Half Of Taxes Paid In

Collections On State, City And School Taxes Approximate 65 Per Cent, Local Tax Collectors Report

Collections on state, county and city taxes here approximated 65 per cent of the total assessments Saturday night, tax collectors estimated Monday.

No estimate on the collections was made by A. C. Jackson, collector for the school district who said he would not "guess" the percentage collected.

Have Many Letters

"I estimate that we collected 65 per cent of the taxes this year up to Saturday night." W. H. Carpenter, deputy collector, said. "We have several hundred letters from people with checks for their taxes that we have not opened. I base my estimate of 65 per cent including what I think these letters contain."

All of the railroads and utilities and the larger concerns of the county have paid their taxes, Mr. Carpenter explained. Nearly all of the taxes still due are from property owners.

Totals Listed

State taxes for 1930 amounted to $173,410.30; county taxes to $155,827.23 and road tax to $25,124.71, a total of $354,362.24. Sixty five percent amounts to around $220,000.

City taxes collected up to Friday night was slightly in excess of $140,000. R. A. Holland, city collector, reported. The collector and his force were busy Monday checking over cash receipts and also letters received in the mails with checks for taxes. He had not made a total of receipts for the day.

Total city taxes are around $304,000 and with an estimate of $40,000 collected in cash and by mail, for Saturday, according to J. Bryan Miller, the figures will be around $190,000 to $200,000 or about 65 percent.

School taxes amount this year to $250,000 according to Mr. Jackson.

To Be Penalized

Penalties of ten percent interest go on for unpaid school taxes with Monday, Mr. Jackson explained.

The city also will impose a penalty for non payment of taxes.

Mr. Carpenter said that the recent tax payment measure, signed by Governor R. S. Sterling would permit payment of taxes due the state and county up to October 15. "A 10 per cent interest charge per annum is payable for all taxes up to that date," Mr. Carpenter explained. "People may pay half of their taxes now and the other half before October 15."

Taxes go delinquent at midnight October 15. After that date penalty of five percent will be due, under the new statute, with interest reduced to 6 percent per annum, Mr. Carpenter added.

YOUR GAS METER indicates time saved from time-wasting tasks

Is your gas bill really a new and additional expense—or is it simply a host of old expenses modernized and grouped under a single monthly bill? So long as you need heat for cooking, dishwashing, bathing, laundering, cleaning and so on, you must pay for it in one form or another.

No matter what other fuel you may use, it costs you something in money, and considerably more in time, effort, waiting and general inconvenience. With gas, all the bother is banished, and the former expense practically covers the cost of this effortless fuel—GAS.

Perhaps your gas bill is too low! GAS for cooking costs no more than the fuel you formerly used. GAS for refrigeration is more than paid for by the elimination of the ice bill. GAS for water heating is remarkably low in cost. Are you denying your family the conveniences, comforts and pleasures they are privileged to enjoy with complete gas service? True Economy calls for a modernization of household expenses.

Sweeping Changes In Athletic System Made In East

Penn Will Try New System In Coaching Rank

Coach Staff To Be Regular Faculty Members; Report Of Official Causes Wide Comment; Hits Emphasis

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—Sweeping and sensational changes in the entire athletic system of the University of Pennsylvania, designed to eliminate so-called over-emphasis from competitive sports, were announced tonight by Thomas S. Gates, university president, as the result of an exhaustive survey of conditions here and elsewhere.

To Eliminate Spring Training.

Effective at once, the president's statement of policy reveals the decision to eliminate athletic training tables and spring football practice, to readjust intercollegiate schedules and reduce intersectional competition, to install all coaches as faculty members and abolish the present council on athletic control.

Under the shakeup, the trustees and president of the university will exercise full responsibility. Mr. Gates announced through a newly created department of physical education, which will have control of student health, physical instruction and the entire range of intercollegiate athletics.

New Man Appointed.

To fill the important post as dean of the department of physical education, Mr. Gates announced with his report, the appointment of Dr. E. Leroy Mercer, a well known Pennsylvania all-around athlete in 1910-12 and for the last 17 years at Swarthmore college as athletic director.

There will be three divisions of the new department of physical education—student health, physical instruction and intercollegiate athletics, each in charge of a director.

All coaches in addition to being required to serve as faculty members in the department of physical education, with academic rank, will be employed on a full-time basis and their salaries definitely established on the same scale applying to other members of the university faculty.

The scope of President Gates' statement, issued with the concurrence of the trustees, was covered in a 25-page pamphlet and created a sensation. Coming as it does from one of the original "Big Four" of Eastern colleges, the report may elicit widespread comment.

The new state of athletic affairs follows a report made to the trustees by Gordon A. Hardwick, an alumnus of the university, and Dr. Michail M. Dorizas, of the university faculty, after they had spent two months in a tour of the country surveying athletic conditions.

Howard Grubbs Named As Coach At Lufkin School

LUFKIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—Trustees of the Lufkin independent school district today announced the selection of Howard Grubbs, Texas Christian University's all-conference quarterback of 1929, as coach at the local high school for the coming year. Grubbs is to report September 1.

The state of Nevada permits 25-round boxing contests.

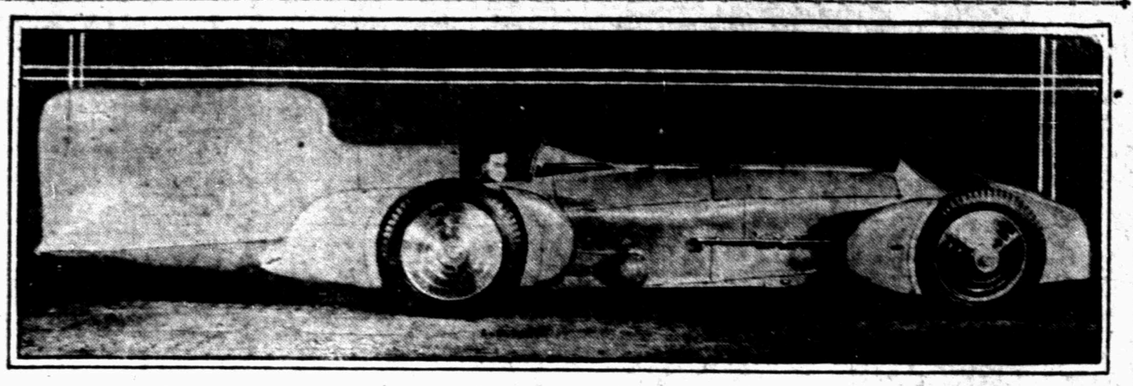
Campbell Makes 240 M.P.H.; To Try Today

Speedster Which May Set World's Record at Daytona Beach today



Newest challenger for the world's speed record on land, Capt. Malcom Campbell and the torpedo-shaped automobile which he hopes to drive faster than 231 miles an hour at Daytona Beach today are pictured above after the car had been assembled in Florida. Not the huge rudder designed to aid in keeping the machine on a straight course at high speeds, and the devices built to reduce air pressure against the wheels. At the front is a cooling apparatus lower than the rest of the car. Captain Campbell, who will attempt to better the mark set by the late Sir Henry Seagrave, is the only person who has driven more than 200 miles an hour.

Official Trial Made Today If Beach Permits

Beach Is In Fine Shape For Speed Test; Bluebird Good For 240 Miles Per Hour In Unofficial Test

(By The Associated Press)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 2. Having attained an unofficial speed of 240 miles an hour today, Capt. Malcolm Campbell, veteran British race car driver, announced tonight he would make his official trial for the world's land speed record tomorrow, beach and weather conditions permitting.

In the tremendous burst of speed, he drove his trim Bluebird racing car over the nine-mile stretch of beach at a rate of approximately four miles a minute, and afterwards declared he was "tickled to death" with the machine's performance.

As Campbell removed his goggles and climbed out of the huge racing car, a crowd of spectators gathered about and cheered.

"The beach was the best I have ever seen and if it is stillgood tomorrow, I shall go for the official record then," he said.

Although Campbell's speed today exceeded by approximately nine miles an hour the present world's official land speed record of 231, it was not recognized as it was not officially timed. Furthermore, he made only one run, whereas regulations specify a driver must make two trials, one with the wind and the other against it.

Odis Porter, official timer for the American Automobile association was notified late today at his Hollywood, Fla., home to come here tomorrow for the official trials.

Hack Wilson Signs With Cubs For Biggest N. League Price

Figure Not Named In Deal But Veeck Says Hack Will Be Highest Paid In National This Season

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—Whether Hack Wilson, the Chicago Cubs home run clouter, obtained the $40,000 a year he was reported to have demanded was unknown tonight, but at least the chunky outfielder was satisfied with the amount he will receive for the 1931 season.

Wilson and William Veeck, president of the Cubs, met here today and came to terms quickly. Wilson signed a one-year contract. As is usual in the Cubs' business arrangements with the players, the amount the slugger will receive next season was not revealed.

Everything was "ok" to Hack, he said, after his conference with Veeck. If it had not been, he added, he would not have signed. The outfielder would not comment on the reports he had asked for $40,000 which would give him a pay check half the size of Babe Ruth's.

Veeck said the terms also were satisfactory to the club. Asked if Wilson was now the highest salaried player in the National league outside the managerial ranks, Veek said, "I think he is."

Wilson, during the 1930 campaign led the major leagues in home runs with 56 and established a new record for runs batted in, 190.

Baylor, A&M In First Game In Four Years

Bears And Aggies Meet Tonight First Time Since Fall Of 1926; In Cage Contest At College Station

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 2.—Athletic teams of Texas A. and M. college and Baylor University will meet in dual competition for the first time since the autumn of 1926 when basketball teams from the two schools play on the memorial gymnasium court tomorrow night. Since the severance of athletic relations more than four years ago, competition between the schools had been restricted to events in which conference meets were held, such as track and tennis.

Relations were broken in 1926 after a battle between spectators at the football game that year in Waco. One A. and M. student later died of injuries received in the fight. Relations were severed to prevent further bad feeling. With the passage of four years, few students remain at either school who were enrolled at the time of the fight in Waco. Last autumn athletic officials of the two schools decided to resume relations and signed contracts for basketball, baseball, and football games in 1931.

The Baylor quintet will come to College Station supported by about 500 students and fans from Waco. The delegation will arrive tomorow morning and will visit with the A. and M. student body and have lunch on the campus. Morley Jennings, director of athletics at Baylor, and George Belew, business manager, will accompany Coach Ralph Wolf and the basketball team.

Construction work on the new $5,000,000, 24-story home of the San Francisco Olympic club will start early this year.

Tickets On Sale Now For Walter Hagen Attraction

Hagen And Kirkwood Here Thursday In Flight

Tickets for the Walter Hagen-Joe Kirkwood exhibition golf flight here Thursday are on sale at Bowen's Hilton hotel pharmacy, and may be obtained for $1.50 each. Promoters of the exhibition, which includes an 18-hole flight, special lectures and individual acts by past masters of the game, urge that Lubbock citizens purchase their tickets at once. It is thought that a large gallery of Lubbock, South Plains and West Texas fans will follow the internationally known professionals about the course.

The exhibition is being sponsored by the Lubbock Country club. Walter Hagen, one of the most popular professional golfers the present generation has known, comes fresh out of Hollywood, California. His traveling mate is Joe Kirkwood, famous trick shot artist, who will give a show following the exhibition and display his repertoire of trick shots, which include boomerang shots, teeing off a watch, and many other interesting shots. The pair is making a tour of Texas and have selected Lubbock as one of the main stopping points.

Hagen and Kirkwood are in Midland today. They will arrive here about noon Thursday, and will start the 18-hole flight about 1:30. Hagen's lecture and Kirkwood's show will follow the flight.

Kirkwood will be remembered by Lubbock fans who saw him here four years ago in an individual exhibition. A large gallery saw him perform at a local club.

Campus Teams In Grid Game On Saturday

Thirty-Five Men From Ranks Of Intramural Teams Picked To Play All-Star Game On Campus Saturday At 4

A football game that promises to have all the earmarks of a first class college clash is in prospect for Lubbock fans this week. Two all-star teams of the Texas Tech football department will meet on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock for a regulation tilt.

The teams will be known as the Reds and Blacks, featuring Tech's colors and a bevy of Tech's potential starting elevens for official football season.

The whole plan is an aftermath of the late intramural football season on the campus. was a stage name and that Nita had married conscientiously under her real name, but it was equally possible that the license had been obtained in New Jersey or Connecticut.

When he gave up his quest at noon Saturday and returned to his hotel, he bought at the newsstand a paper whose headline informed him that Sergeant Turner was, at that moment, even more discouraged than himself. For the big type told the world:

JOE SAVELLI "GETS" BROTHER'S SLAYER.

And smaller headlines informed the sensation-loving public:

"SWALLOW-TAIL SAMMY" SAVELLI'S DEATH AVENGED BY BROTHER WHO SURRENDERS TO POLICE; "SLICK" THOMPSON, ALLEGED MEMBER OF SAMMY'S GANG, SHOT TO DEATH ON SIXTH AVENUE.

Still smaller type acknowledged that Joe Savelli, after giving himself up, with a revolver in his hand had disclaimed any knowledge of or connection with the murders of Juanita Leigh Selim and Dexter Sprague.

Two hours later, Dundee received a long telegram from District Attorney Sanderson.

INFORMED BY EVENING SUN AND CAPTAIN STRAWN THAT SAVELLI ANGLE IS COMPLETE WASHOUT STOP HAVE YOU MADE ANY PROGRESS ALONG OTHER LINES STOP HAVE INFORMED REPORTERS YOU ARE WORKING INDEPENDENTLY WITH STRONG CHANCE OF SOLVING BOTH CASES STOP WOULD LIKE YOU HERE FOR ADJOURNED INQUESTS ON BOTH MURDERS MONDAY STOP MOTHER IMPROVED AM ON JOB AGAIN.

Since Dundee felt that there was little chance of following through either on the scandals which Gladys Earle had hinted at, or on Nita's strangely secret marriage of 12 years before, he immediately dispatched a wire to Sanderson, assuring him that vital progress had been made and that he would leave New York on the four o'clock train west, arriving in Hamilton Sunday morning at 8:50.

$700,000,000 which can be applied to it.

Another banker, George W. Shaller of Storm Lake, Iowa, suggested to the house ways and means committee that loans be increased for veterans in pressing need. He said the lending method probably would affect the economic situation, but not as much as the cash redemption proposal.

From H. H. Weimer, national commander of disabled American veterans, came a statement that if compromises should "be forced upon us we feel that any additional loan allowance should provide that loans already made should not be deducted from new loans, but carried along on the remainder of the certificates."

"We stand for full cash value," he added.

Andrew Mellon Attacked By Texas Resolution

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—Under the flare of a merciless fire directed at Andrew Mellon and Hoover prosperity the senate today passed the second Texas legislative resolution in a week's time memorializing congress to pay off veterans' adjusted compensation certificates, the senate voted 19 to 6 in favor of the resolution.

Senator Holbrook of Galveston said it would demoralize the financial structure of the country to turn such a flood of money loose as would be necessary to pay the certificates. He said the move contained much political bunk. He also charged that the American Legion in its convention at Boston had voted against bringing up the bonus issue. He also said politicians were taking this means of making a bid for the votes of legionnaires.

Parrish in Fight

Senator Parrish of Lubbock, author of a resolution memorializing congress to take action on the bonus question which was adopted last week, said 130,000 Texas boys would receive approximately $70,000,000 if congress provided for payment of the obligations.

In speaking of Mellon, Senator Parrish said: "This is not the first time that man has gone on record opposing the interests of the common people."

In a sharp rejoiner to those opposing the resolution, Senator De Berry of Bogata said: "Andrew Mellon is the greatest enemy to the working people and the service men on God's green globe."

Senator Poage of Waco, a proponent of the resolution said "Mr. Hoover does what Mr. Mellon says for him to do." Later Senator Poage said the people were "fed up" on Hoover prosperity.

Senator Woodul of Houston said he was tired of "seeing a political football" made of the bonus question. He opposed the resolution.

Groundhog

has no scientific significance. The weather bureau reports that it made no groundhog readings.

Sees Shadow Here

Wintry weather will return and remain for six weeks, the groundhog's interpretation of his annual shadow dance indicated Monday. The sun is responsible for all of that, if you're a disciple of the groundhog legend.

Each February 2, or Candlemas day, the skittish earth dweller is supposed to abandon his winter's hibernation and venture outside of his hole. The tradition is that cold weather must be anticipated for six more weeks, if the snubnosed little animal sees his shadow and returns to his nest.

If there is no sun—no shadow—he remains outside, presumably forecasting that winter is at the end of the rope and furs may be put in moth balls. Between 9 and 10 o'clock Monday morning, the sun elbowed out from behind the clouds over Lubbock to send the groundhog back for a six weeks' doze.

Candlemas day is that on which the feast of the purification of the virgin Mary or the presentation of Christ in the temple is celebrated. Name of the day results from the blessing of candles used on the altar and elsewhere during the ceremony.

partnership, testified Hefner and quarrelled over the alleged removal of a Hefner fence by Crabtree. Joe Phillips, real estate dealer, told of settling the trouble between Crabtree and Thompson.

Olive Pierce told of trouble between Crabtree and Hefner and of communication of utterances between the two.

The defense called witnesses in rapid succession in an attack on state testimony as to the location of Crabtree after the affray. They said he was lying in the bottom of a draw instead of on the top of a hill as the state's evidence tended to show. This was in line with the defense contention that the affray could not have been seen from a nearby road, as described by Major Evans, state's witness.

the road bond vote.

Other speakers included:

Grady Bell, secretary of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce; J. E. Shelton, secretary of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce; J. A. Rix, of Lubbock; Bob Means, of Odessa; J. H. Hankins, president of the Carlsbad Cavern U. S. No. 62 Highway association, of Lubbock; W. H. Steele, of Seagraves; L. L. Brock and W. E. Henson, both of Brownfield, and J. T. Long, of Odessa.

Mr. Shelton reported that Terry county was planning to introduce a road bond issue soon.

Toastmaster was A. L. Duff, of Seminole.

The proposed Gaines county bond issue would be for $250,000 to be expended in paving highway No. 137 through the county.

Cotton — Cotton Market Is Quiet On Monday

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2. (AP)—The cotton market was rather quiet today with price fluctuations narrow but generally easier owing to lower stocks but mainly because of unfavorable cables particularly the bad news from India where the boycott against foreign cotton goods continues. After opening 2 to 4 points down the market continued to ease off during the morning until active months showed losses compared with the previous close of 7 to 9 points. The market was steadier around noon and prices recovered 2 to 3 points of the earlier loss. The market experienced a spurt of activity in the late trading due to a recovery in stocks and the active months all made new highs 8 to 12 points above the lows and closed steady near the top the general market showing net unchanged to 3 points advance.

Liverpool came in 3 to 4 penny points lower than due and private cables stated there was hedge selling and local liquidation. Manchester reported a fair business in Egyptian yarns. First trades here were 2 to 4 points down and prices continued to ease off in the early trading until May traded at 10.57 and October at 11.08 or 6 to 7 points below the previous close at the end of the first hour.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet today. An early decline in response to easy Liverpool cables was followed by rallies on covering and trade buying. May contracts, after selling off to 10.54 under the early pressure, advanced to 10.66 and closed at 10.63, with the general market closing steady net unchanged to 4 points lower.

The opening was steady 3-8 points lower and prices showed net losses of 9-11 points during th early trading under some Southern selling and scattering liquidation. This was promoted by the relatively easy showing of the Liverpool cables but the offerings were absorbed by trade buying in the near months, while the decline seemd to bring in some covering or commission house buying in the latter deliveries. The volume of business became very quiet after these arly offerings had been absorbed, however, and the market showed a generally steady undertone during the balance of the day, with March advancing from 10.27@10.40, and July from 10.79@10.91. At the best, present crop positions sold 2-4 points above Saturday's closing quotations, while the new crop was relatively easy with prices 1 point higher to 1 point lower. A little realizing was considered responsible for closing reactions of 3 or 4 points from the best.

Another banker, George W. Shaller of Storm Lake, Iowa, suggested to the house ways and means committee that loans be increased for veterans in pressing need. He said the lending method probably would affect the economic situation, but not as much as the cash redemption proposal.

From H. H. Weimer, national commander of disabled American veterans, came a statement that if compromises should "be forced upon us we feel that any additional loan allowance should provide that loans already made should not be deducted from new loans, but carried along on the remainder of the certificates."

"We stand for full cash value," he added.

Andrew Mellon Attacked By Texas Resolution

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—Under the flare of a merciless fire directed at Andrew Mellon and Hoover prosperity the senate today passed the second Texas legislative resolution in a week's time memorializing congress to pay off veterans' adjusted compensation certificates, the senate voted 19 to 6 in favor of the resolution.

Senator Holbrook of Galveston said it would demoralize the financial structure of the country to turn such a flood of money loose as would be necessary to pay the certificates. He said the move contained much political bunk. He also charged that the American Legion in its convention at Boston had voted against bringing up the bonus issue. He also said politicians were taking this means of making a bid for the votes of legionnaires.

Parrish In Fight

Senator Parrish of Lubbock, author of a resolution memorializing congress to take action on the bonus question which was adopted last week, said 130,000 Texas boys would receive approximately $70,000,000 if congress provided for payment of the obligations.

In speaking of Mellon, Senator Parrish said: "This is not the first time that man has gone on record opposing the interests of the common people."

In a sharp rejoiner to those opposing the resolution, Senator De Berry of Bogata said: "Andrew Mellon is the greatest enemy to the working people and the service men on God's green globe."

Senator Poage of Waco, a proponent of the resolution said "Mr. Hoover does what Mr. Mellon says for him to do." Later Senator Poage said the people were "fed up" on Hoover prosperity.

Senator Woodul of Houston said he was tired of "seeing a political football" made of the bonus question. He opposed the resolution.

Stock Market Spends Most Of Day In Hibernation; Gains Late In Session

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. (AP)—The stock market, indolent as the sleepy ground hog, spent most of today in hibernation However, it did emerge in the final hour of trading, sufficiently roused to close with small net gains.

There was scarcely enough activity to move prices either way up to mid-afternoon. The day's news, although not particularly startling, was of a color to please the shorts, for two of the Standard Oil companies and a large metal producer cut their dividends. Sales reports of the leading mail order houses for January showed material declines in comparison with a year ago and bar silver weakened.

The market was mostly lower while these announcements were being digested, but so inert did the trading become that only 200,000 shares changed hands between noon and 2:10 o'clock. Activity during the late improvement was sufficient to bring the day's business to approximately 1,200,000 shares.

Baking shares rallied moderately in response to the change of management in Ward, and unofficial reports that continentals earnings were well maintained in 1930. Oils refused to be much disturbed by the dividend action on Standard of Indiana and Kansas, nor were the metals bothered by International Nickel's cut.

Sentiment in the bond market showed little change, although the smaller turnover in United States governments suggested the presence of less concern over the possibility of a maximum cash payment on the veterans' adjusted compensation certificates, nevertheless, libertier and treasuries again declined, but closed above their minimums.

Bolivia to a governor's chair has long sight."

Murray came back to Oklahoma from an unsuccessful colonization attempt in Bolivia to be elected.

Thought Farmer.

Governor Bill didn't know the humorist when he entered his office this forenoon. He asked him where he was farming.

"The government has taken it over," replied Will.

Then Murray recalled "Uncle Rogers" in the constitutional convention and that there was a "son Bill that was going to the bad." Rogers confessed he was the boy.

Will accepted the "dinner" invitation after he had asked and received assurances there wouldn't be "any of this undesirable element around, especially senators."

"I'll be glad to get back on common food for one meal," he said.

The talk turned to appointments and Rogers said he wouldn't attempt to fill offices "without a list of campaign expenditures. I would not let ability have anything to do with it."

Governor Murray said the only man he hadn't appointed was Jim Noble, negro janitor since statehood.

Mixed Up.

"Oh! that's who that fellow is," Rogers exclaimed. "I had him mixed up with Lew Wentz."

Wentz, millionaire republican recently was ousted by Murray from the chairmanship of the state highway commission.

Will told the legislature he'd be buried at his home in Claremore Okla.—not in Beverly Hills.

"That's a side issue out there," he said.

His ephitaph, he said, should read:

"He joked with every known man in his lifetime but he never met a man he didn't like."

Turns Serious.

Turning "serious" because he said "a little seriousness in this body is a novelty." Will told the senators and representatives that the more he sees of politics the less he wants in it.

"Not that I have anything against you — you are smarter than those who elected you."

He jabbed the Wickersham commission thus:

"I might have been for it if I could have found out what it means. It's more mysterious than Einstein."

As he left the chamber Rogers couldn't resist a jibe at his home state's record of impeaching and ousting two governors. He turned to Murray and said:

"I hope you have a fine administration—and live through it in the same house."

Major Shepard Reaches New Turn In Effort For Freedom

TOPEKA, Kans., Feb. 2. (AP) — Major Charles A. Shepard, convicted wife poisoner, reached a new turn in his effort for freedom today as his counsel argued the case against him was based on "suspicion, not fact," and the government replied by reviving evidence of the army medical officer's relations with Miss Grace Brandon, San Antonio, Tex., stenographer.

Harry S. Class, Denver, and C. L. Kagey, Beloit, Kans., representing Shepard in his motion for a new trial, told Judge Richard J. Hopkins, before whom Shepard was convicted last December 22, that evidence produced against the 59-year-old army medical officer was incompetent and immaterial.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2. (AP)—Heavy offerings met a rather good demand in the cash grain market today. Estimated receipts for the two-day period included: Wheat, 129 cars; corn, 20; oats, 2, and sorghums, 7. No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was reported bringing 77 1-2@80c, basis delivery Texas common points, with sales of country shippers to farm board agencies drawing the higher price.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid: Corn, No. 2 mixed, 72@72 1-2; No. 2 white 74 1-2@75; No. 2 yellow 74 1-2@75.

Oats, No. 2 red 43@44c.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 1.23@1.25; No. 2 kaffir 1.22@1.24.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—Disquiet about prospective drouth damage to United States winter wheat, and concerning lack of moisture for spring wheat as well, strengthened all grain prices today. St Louis reported conditions the dryest since 1929, with rainfall not half of normal. Every part of the domestic winter wheat territory was reported bare of snow and no moisture received today, except light showers at a few points in Texas and Kansas.

Wheat closed irregular, ranging from 1-4 cent decline to 1 1-8 advance, corn 1-2 to 1 cent up, oats at 1-8 to 1-2 gain, and provisions 5-12 cents down.

With forecasts pointing to widespread continued dearth both of rain and snow persistent buying of new crop deliveries of wheat was in evidence from start to finish. Experts said the most important influence determining crop conditions over the big wheat area southwest were United States harvesting first takes place was spring melting of mountain snows in New Mexico, Arizona and the south half of Colorado, but that only a trace of snow existed at present in the mountain region referred to. In the northern mountain region snow accumulation was also reported below normal, and the whole Great Plains area minus any snow blanket.

Strange Poisoning Takes Dozen Lives

GRAFTON, N. D., Feb. 2. (AP) — A dozen persons were dead tonight victims of botulism, a virulent form of food poisoning, which struck them down one by one over a period of four days.

Two of the victims died today after 10 others had succumbed at intervals since last Thursday when 17 persons partook of a salad during a party at the home of Edward Hein, near here. One of the diners who ate sparingly of the dish, suffered no ill effects, another was made only slightly ill, and three others recovered after attacks of vomiting.

Home preserved peas, included in the salad, were blamed by health officials for the fatalities which included five members of the Hein family, the parents and three children.

BROWNFIELD, Feb. 2. (Special) A grand jury hearing of the case of Mrs. J. Hugh Walker, of Lubbock who faces a charge of assault with intent to murder, will be continued at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Several witnesses from Lubbock were introduced and others were expected at the second day of the hearing. District Attorney T. L. Price, of Post, was reported to have gone to Lubbock in connection with the case Monday night.

Bill To Legalize Sunday Movies Introduced Monday

AUSTIN, Feb. 2. (AP)—A bill to give governing bodies of incorporated cities or towns the right to legalize Sunday moving picture shows was introduced in the legislature today by Representative Adams of Jasper. It was made an emergency, the bill setting out that since thousands of persons did not have automobiles, Sunday movies were a necessary entertainment.

The emergency clause also set out the law against Sunday movies was not being observed and that it was not conductive to law enforcement to have a law on the books that was not looked on by a majority of persons with favor.

"Big Bill" Thompson Begins Drive For Chicago Mayoralty

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (AP)—A brass band, a horse-mule-burro parade ridiculing his opponents, a burst of fiery oratory, and Mayor William Hale Thompson had opened another campaign today.

The showmanship that carried "Big Bill" Thompson to international renown as an "America First" adherent, a foe of King George and a flood control agitator, blossomed out in all its glory as he started his drive for renomination on the republican ticket and for the honor of being the "world's fair mayor."

Trail Of Leaky Suitcase Pushes Solon Into Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—The trail of the leaky suitcase found in the union station in January 1929, today again was leading Representative Edward E. Denison, of Illinois, toward a courtroom.

The District of Columbia court of appeals ruled Denison must stand trial on charges of violating the liquor law.

The District of Columbia supreme court had ruled that the indictment against the congressman was faulty. The opinion today reversed that decision.

Convicted of failing to pay income taxes on more than $1,000,000 in income for 1927, 1928, and 1929, Guzik has been sentenced to five years in prison and has been fined $17,500.

Summer Schools

tem would not be permanently injured through abandonment of the summer schools for one year.

Proposal Attacked

The resolution was attacked by Rep. Holder of Lancaster, chairman of the house education committee, who charged it was premature and should not be acted on until the legislature had a chance to determine the amount of money that would be available. Holder said it would be a tragedy, a great violence to the educational system and a great hardship on poor boys and girls.

Gilbert also opposed construction of a new state office building, a state museum, renovation of the capitol and other expenditures, until the tax system had been revised and intangible property made to bear an equitable share of tax burdens.

Dean Gordon States Summer Schools Vital

Advancement of education in the public schools is influenced largely by what the teachers gain in attending college and university summer schools, said Dr. J. M. Gordon, liberal arts dean at Texas Technological college, in commenting on the proposal to refuse apropriations to state colleges for 1931 summer schools.

A resolution to refuse such appropriations was introduced in the house of representatives Monday and referred to the state affairs committee.

Tech Has $15,000

Texas Technological college at present has $15,000 on which to operate a scheduled 12-week summer session, as compared to approximately $50,000 required for the 1930 summer school, according to Dean Gordon. The senate last week granted Technological college's request for an appropriation of $35,000 for summer school expenditures, Dean Gordon said.

Training and inspiration gained by teachers in summer sessions will be carried to their respective schools which in turn will be benefitted and teachers attending summer classes are increasing their educational qualifications, the liberal arts head said.

Although he did not venture an opinion as to whether or not the state college here would hold a summer school if appropriations were refused, Dean Gordon said that "an effective summer school" would not be possible under such conditions.

A statement was not available from Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Technological college, who was not in the city.

Albert Fall Has New Hopes Of Freedom; Seek Reversal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP) — Albert B. Fall, the only man convicted on criminal charges growing out of the oil leasing scandals of the Harding administration, today based his hope of escaping punishment on the claim he had no authority from congress to make the leases.

Frank Hogan, his counsel, in seeking reversal of the former interior secretary's conviction of accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, said since Fall lacked the proper authority, he could not be guilty of accepting a bribe to influence a lease he made.

Buck Jones Indicted For Shooting Of Abilene Man

Midland, Feb. 2. (AP) — A Midland county grand jury today returned an indictment of murder against Buck Jones, the charge growing out of the fatal shooting of Weldon L. Russell, Abilene real estate man. It was thought probable that Jones' trial would be set Tuesday.

000 funds but some negotiations were admitted to be necessary before anything like a solution can be brought out.

Borah pounded his desk as he thundered a denial of the administration's contention that the $25,000,000 fund movement amounts to a "dole." He denied it was without precedent for the American government to aid those suffering from an "act of God."

"We will either feed these people," he shouted, "or we will stay here and tell the American people why we don't feed them. I accept the challenge from the other end of the capitol. I do not propose to surrender upon that principle. I do not propose to accept the implication that the slur * * *"

Senator Caraway discarded the proprieties of congressional debate to call by name the house republican leaders and accuse them of inconsistency in their stands today as compared with their record of the past. He recalled the request of President Hoover just after the war for $20,000,000 for starving Russian women and children which congress approved. He recalled that then Representative Wood, of Indiana, the present chairman of the appropriations committee, moved to have the fund expended by the Red Cross.

"Representative Tilson, the republican leader, who now says this appropriation would stab the Red Cross in the heart, voted in 1919 then to stab the Red Cross in the heart," asserted Caraway. "So did Snell (the chairman of the house rules committee.) When did Tilson lay aside his dagger? Let him tell the starving American women and children whether he was telling the truth then or now. One of these statements didn't reflect the truth and he knew it."

Turns On Hoover.

Caraway turned back on President Hoover the accusation Mr. Hoover made recently against some members of congress of "playing politics with human misery." He said the only difference between the $20,000,000 fund for Russia advocated by the president and the $25,000,000 fund now proposed was "they were Russians and these are good Americans."

Caraway said it did not seem that Mr. Hoover was a "good American citizen" but he withdrew that statement a moment later. He did insist, however, after calling attention to Mr. Hoover's message to congress asserting "that no deserving persons must suffer from cold and hunger," that his present opposition to relief means "he believes the sufferers in 21 states are not good Americans or he is playing politics with human misery."

Caraway demanded that Chairman Payne, of the Red Cross tell "the origin of this determination to decline a federal contribution" adding that Payne had taken no such stand when he appeared before the senate appropriations committee.

Prescription Bill Downed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (AP)—The senate today refused to five Washington physicians unliminted authority to issue prescriptions for liquor, but the proposal mustered more votes than any move to liberalize enforcement laws has received in the senate since the 18th amendment was adopted.

Twenty five senators, mostly Republicans, voted to carry out in the District of Columbia the recommendations of the Wickersham prohibition report that restrictions surrounding the issuance of prescriptions by physcians be removed.

The amendment, proposed by Senator Hawes, Democrat, Missouri, to the Howell bill for a District of Columbia enforcement law, defeated 45-29, but a move to reconsider the vote was beaten only 39-29.

Comparison Shows Marriage License Law Big Handicap

Contention of Senator Pink L. Parrish that the present Texas marriage laws cause Texans to spend a substantial amount in fees in border cities of other states is supported by a comparison of marriage records in Texas Panhandle cities with those of border towns in Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Business men of Clovis, N. M., estimate that their city's location near the state line brought more than $15,000 into the town in 1930. Of this amount, more than $2,000 went for clerk's fees in issuing licenses, an estimated $7,000 went for marriage fees, and an equal amount was spent by the newlyweds and their friends and relatives.

Clovis Issues 1,417

The clerk at Clovis issued 1,417 licenses, most of them to Texas couples. Although Clovis probably profited more than other cities, all towns along the Oklahoma and New Mexico state lines were visited by those seeking to escape the requirements of the Texas law that intentions to marry should be filed three days in advance.

Roswell, N. M., more than 100 miles across the state line sold licenses to 100 Texas couples, so eager were they to marry outside of Texas.

Amarillo Falls Off

Amarillo sold 219 licenses in 1930 compared with 438 the preceding year, and more than 600 in 1928, before the law went into effect. Wheeler, 18 miles from the Oklahoma line, sold 34 certificates compared with 158 in 1929, although the new law went into effect June 12, 1929.

Crosbyton, which is more centrally located, issued more marriage licenses from January 1 to June 12, 1929, than has been issued since that date.

In Tulia, which is about midway between New Mexico and Oklahoma, and almost inaccessible to the latter, the 1930 figure was less than half that of 1928, or 30 and 64 respectively. Memphis, near the Oklahoma line, issued 43 in 1930 and 175 in 1928.

Reports are similar throughout the Panhandle, although the marriage rate should be rapidly increasing along with the growth in population.
