No Fault Of Hospital

AUSTIN (AP)-State officials have concluded the Terrell State Hospital was not at fault for the death two weeks ago of a 13-year-old boy who was sexually molested and strangled by another teen-age patient.

"The hospital was taking reasonable precautions and was following proper procedures," Jimmy Clemons, deputy commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said Thursday night.

TexasDoctorDefended

CLEBURNE (AP)-Defense witnesses in the case of a doctor accused of trying to kill his terminally ill mother testified Thursday that the tape and tissue paper placed on the woman's face could not have killed her.

Prosecutors have tried to prove that Dr. Robert Milton Rains, 52, Littlefield tried to kill his mother by suffocating her as she lay in her hospital bed July 29.

Talks Inching Along

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Mideast peace talks, now in their sixth week, are inching ahead as Israel weighs "new ideas" by Egypt to link their proposed peace treaty to future negotiations over the Palestinian issue.

The proposals, delivered to President Carter by Egyptian Vice President Hosni Mubarak, are understood to involve a series of steps to be taken toward Palestinian autonomy on the West Bank of the Jordan River and in the Gaza Strip once the treaty is completed.

Before flying home to prepare for a Sunday Cabinet meeting, the Israeli defense minister, Ezer Weizman, told reporters: "The peace talks will continue. They are not stopped. They are not going to stop."

Russian Flu Reported

ATLANTA (AP)-Four cases of the A-USSR variety of influenza have been confirmed in Houston including a rare case in a 63-year old woman, the national Center for Disease Control reported today.

Last winter, military establishments and college campuses were hit hard by the Russian flu. Americans younger than 26 had no immunity because they were born after a similar flu strain caused influenza outbreaks during the early 1950s.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Jim Cornish of the Post Dispatch says that in his opinion the Television people "struck out" with their so-called electronic election coverage on the night of Nov. 7.

"We turned on the tube three times and spun all three Lubbock stations and never did get a reading on either the Texas governor or senate races," says Cornish. "The TV watcher isn't going to sit glued to that set all night. That was a false premise to start with," Cornish declared.

Noting that there is no such thing as a good concession speech for a defeated candidates, Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter says the one he likes best was made by a candidate in New York who campaigned for the New York School Committee. After his defeat, he told his supporters: "I am ashamed to have participated in a process which kept the bars of the city closed for an entire day."

Speedy Nieman of the Hereford Brand tells about the little old lady who had stopped on the ramp waiting for traffic to clear a little before moving out on the expressway. She waited and waited. The traffic spaced some, but she still didn't move.

Finally, the guy in the car behind her leaned out and shouted, "It says 'yield' lady, not 'give up!'"

Walt Finley of the Big Spring Herald notes that the stock market has been operating at a frantic pace, but suggests that one of the big problems is that we don't have enough heroes to parade through Manhattan to use up all of that ticker tape.

"Stocks may go down some more, but this isn't 1929 with investors jumping out of skyscrapers," Finley reminded. "Nowadays most of those windows can't be opened from the inside." —WACIL McNAIR

Job Fair Set At Armory Saturday

If you are looking for a job, the place to be tomorrow is the National Guard Armory in Towle Memorial Park.

A number of local firms will have representatives on hand for a job fair which is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. and continue to 3 p.m. Several other firms have made arrangements for the Texas Employment Commission to represent them and conduct interviews with prospective new employees.

The job fair has been scheduled here by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Texas Industrial Commission and the Texas Employment Commission. The purpose is to bring together people interested in jobs and prospective employers.

Bill Warner, chamber manager, said that some of the business firms that plan to have their own people on hand to conduct interviews could possibly do some hiring on the spot.

Over 260 job openings have been included in the total and notices and advertisements about the job fair have gone out over this area, as well as some specific points where unemployment figures have been high. Warner said the chamber hopes that job seekers will be attracted from several areas.

Available jobs have been listed in industrial, retail, service and agriculture-related firms.

Planning for the job fair began here several weeks ago when officials noted that the chamber office was getting an unusually large number of requests for applicants.

No FBI Agents In King Murder

WASHINGTON (AP)-The House assassinations committee said today it has found no evidence that a squad of off-duty FBI agents assassinated Martin Luther King Jr. or that the agency was directly involved in the civil rights leader's death in any other way.

In an opening statement, Delegate Walter Fauntroy, D-D.C., denounced James Earl Ray's lawyer, Mark Lane, as a spiteful "consummate pitchman" and denied Lane's allegation that Fauntroy had said the panel had evidence King was murdered by an FBI assassination squad.

U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young was called before the committee as a surprise witness.

No Changes In Recount Here

Defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Hill will have to settle for losing Scurry County, a recount of the Nov. 7 ballots shows.

A ballot per ballot and box per box recount of the election results was held Thursday afternoon at the courthouse and showed Republican Bill Clements drew 2,183 votes to Hill's 1,410, the indentical figures tabulated during the bustle and mild confusion of election night.

A recount of the votes in 42 counties that used electronic or punchcard-type voting was asked by Hill.

Democratic senatorial candidate Bob Krueger, who lost to incumbent Republican John Tower, also asked for a recount, but did not post the required $400 to cover the recount expenses. His votes were not retallied in yesterday's activities.

In Scurry County, the outcome of the Tower-Krueger race showed Tower led with 1,907 votes and that Krueger came in with 1,440 votes.

Locally, the $400 for the Clements-Hill race was posted by attorney Tom Chorn Tuesday morning.

The county commissioners met in special session this morning and canvassed the Nov. 7 election results, including the recount. All figures were identical to those announced following the balloting election night.

It was the first time in Scurry County history in which mechanical voting methods were employed.

Voters Should Be Allowed To Check Ballots

AUSTIN (AP)-The public should be allowed to inspect voters' ballots in advance to detect and correct embarrassing errors, the Texas Election Code Revision Commission said today.

The commission voted to recommend an election law change that would require county clerks, city secretaries or county party chairmen in all general, special and primary elections to make available for public inspection all printed ballots or ballot strips used in voting machines and punchcard machines as soon as received from the printer.

Secretary of State Steve Oaks, chairman of the commission, said the need for the change became apparent during the recent general election when Galveston County had to reprint its ballots. A candidate brought suit after it was discovered the Democrat and Republican candidates' names were printed in different type faces.

Indicates Growing Economy...

Personal Income Rises In October

WASHINGTON (AP)-The combined personal income of all Americans increased by a strong 1.2 percent in October as 325,000 people found new jobs, the Commerce Department said today.

The increase, the largest since a 1.3 percent rise in July, indicated the economy is still growing steadily.

The $21.3 billion gain in personal income in October, figured at an annual rate, followed increases of $12.9 billion in September and $11.3 billion in August.

In the past three months, personal income has risen an average of 0.8 percent, about the same as the rise in consumer prices.

The big gain for October coincided with a decline in the unemployment rate from 6 percent to 5.8 percent, an increase of 325,000 jobs and higher average hourly earnings.

The department also cited these other factors in the October increase:

-Private wages and salaries increased at an annual rate of $12.3 billion in October, compared with $7.4 billion in September.

-A 5.5 percent pay increase for federal workers accounted for $2.3 billion of the October increase.

-Factory payrolls increased $4.1 billion in October after increasing $2.7 billion the month before. Most of the increase was in durable goods industries such as airplane, auto and metals industries.

-Farmers' income increased $1.3 billion after rising $1.1 billion in September.

-So-called transfer payments, such as Social Security and welfare, went up $1.5 billion, after a $1.1 billion rise in September.

Total personal income in October stood at an annual rate of $1.764 trillion. That would mean an average annual income of $8,060 for every adult and child in the country.

Neutron Weapon Tested By Soviets

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev told a group of U.S. senators today the Soviet Union has tested a neutron weapon but decided against putting it into production, one of the senators said.

Talking to reporters immediately after a one-hour Kremlin meeting with Brezhnev, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton also said Brezhnev told the group that he is willing to meet President Carter any time and any place, but "only when we have a new SALT agreement."

Eagleton quoted Brezhnev as saying Soviet designers tested a neutron weapon "but we gave it up. We never started production."

Ask Us

Q--My child transferred from one school to another within the city (both on the west side of town). This year his teacher wants him to memorize his addition and subtraction facts and be able to do so many problems in so many minutes. Last year his teacher discouraged such and had them using their fingers or putting marks on their papers and counting them. Why is there such a wide variation of methods? Teachers in the same grade seem to use different books and methods depending on the school. Why don't we have a standard curriculum within the city?

A--Supt. Bill J. Hood says school policy points up that "how school is taught is the prerogative of the teacher." In other words, the school system doesn't try to fit teaching techniques into a mold, although all have the same objective. How they reach the objective is, to a great extent, left up to the teacher, and teachers have their preferences and also their own variation of skills among methods of teaching. It boils down to the school (along with the state and Uncle Sam) setting standards, with teachers granted some lattitude in how they are achieved.

Clinic Building To Be Expanded

The Cogdell Memorial Hospital Board last night approved an expansion project for Medical Arts Clinic, which is located on hospital property.

A contract was awarded to T.E. Shelburne and Son for an addition of 900 square feet to the south end of the clinic building. The addition will provide office facilities for another doctor.

The Shelburne bid was $33,362, the lower of two received.

Cy Miller, hospital administrator, announced that Dr. Anil Goswami will join the hospital staff as a radiologist on Dec. 1. Dr. Goswami is coming here from Big Spring, where he has been a staff radiologist at Malone-Hogan Clinic and a consultant at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He also has been an assistant clinical professor in diagnostic radiology at Texas Tech School of Medicine.

Prior to going to Big Spring, he was an instructor and staff radiologist at the Medical College of Ohio in Toledo, was staff radiologist at Cleveland Medical Center Ohio and several smaller hospitals in Ohio. He is a member of the Texas Medical Association, the Howard County Medical Society, the General Medical Council of London, England, and the Indian Radiological Society.

In other business, Miller was authorized to purchase 10 used hospital beds from an Austin source at $60 per bed. Miller said that all available beds were in use for a time earlier this month, and at that time the hospital would have been unable to provide a bed for even one more patient.

The average patient load for the month of October at Cogdell Memorial Hospital was 75.4, and the average for the year so far is 70.8.

Snyder Merchants Plan Santa Bucks Event Again

Need some extra cash for Christmas shopping?

You could be one of the lucky shoppers to win part of $1500 to be given away by Snyder merchants this holiday season. For the second consecutive year, Snyder merchants have combined efforts to offer a spectacular $1500 shopping spree.

Popularly known last year as Santa Bucks, a total of 32 Snyder merchants will offer weekly specials on a double-page spread each Friday.

In addition to super bargains offered by the 32 firms, registration forms also will be available in each store where shoppers may register to be eligible for Santa Bucks.

The boxes will be collected each Thursday and the drawings will be held each Friday with winners announced each week in the Friday edition of the Snyder Daily News.

Winners will receive Santa Bucks which can be spent as money in any of the 32 participating stores. There is no purchase necessary to register, and there is no need to be present for the drawing to win.

The first four weeks of the Santa Bucks promotion there will be eight $25 winners and one $50 winner each week. On the fifth and final week, here will be four $25 winners, six $50 wnners and one $100 winner.

Participating Snyder Bucks merchants are This 'N That, Haberdashery & Cuttery, J.C. Penney, Men's II — Bea Owens, Snyder Athletic, Gray's, Four Seasons, Merle Norman, Nautilus, Thompson's Shoes, Roe's Furniture, C.R. Anthony, Virdie's, Whitfield's Fabric Center, Shoe Mart, Glover's, Western Auto, Tot-2-Teen, Gibson's, Snyder Drug, Bud's Office Supply, NJ's, Snyder Book Store, Fenton's Dad & Lad, Dryden's Shoes, D'Anns, Ann Lee, Farm & Ranch Western Wear, Perry's, Top Dollar and Forrest Lumber Co. and White's Auto.

going ever upward

There are people who seem to make a business of collecting odd bits of information. With some it is a hobby, a practice which has little value and holds little interest for persons other than those who collect it. There are instances, however when a real service is rendered by preserving, for the benefit of any who may be interested, information that can be put to good use.

An instance of this kind has received limited exposure in news media. A reader of a magazine, published for entertainment of persons interested in such matters as inflation, government spending and what the prospects for the future may hold, asked for a rundown on how Presidential administrations fit into the picture over the past three decades.

Period covered by the study began with Harry S. Truman, who became President following death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and ends halfway through the Carter administration.

The national economy began heating up early in the Truman tenure. Inflation rose to a rate of 5.3. It was a major factor in the election of war hero Dwight Eisenhower in 1952. Inflation dropped to a mere 1.4 percent. It declined to 1.2 percent under John F. Kennedy.

Deficit spending and a corresponding rise in the rate of inflation began with Lyndon Johnson, who told the American people they could afford a major war effort without sacrificing any of the delights of the Great Society trade mark of his administration. It has been rising ever since that heresy became national policy. Nixon's inflation rate was 6.3 percent. Ford's was 6.7 percent and now it is upwards of 8 percent and some are predicting it will hit double-digit levels in 1979 if something drastic in the way of corrective action doesn't take place in the meantime.

Summing up the story of inflation as related to Presidential administrations respondent to the inquiring reader incident mentioned above says purchasing power of the Carter dollar, compared with the dollar in the Franklin Roosevelt era is 27 cents.

Practical value of this information is slight. Return to the so-called good old days of the early 1950s is impossible. It is not even desirable. But we could wish that the madness of inflation could somehow be brought to an end.

welcome, visitors

Snyder might well proclaim this as "Sports Emphasis Weekend of the Year."

Seldom if ever has there been a weekend with so much local activity on the athletic front, and except for the fact that the Snyder Tigers will be engaged in the "big one" a week hence, it could be the most important of the season.

In case you haven't sorted out all of the offerings from the sports pages, we have the Junior College Basketball Classic going on at the Scurry County Coliseum. Tonight, the high school football teams of Jayton and Wilson High Schools will meet in Tiger Stadium to determine the champion of District 3-B.

Meanwhile, the Snyder High boys basketballers are poised to begin their season at 2 p.m. Saturday in the high school gym with Lubbock High.

We welcome the WTC Classic teams, Independence, Kan.; Tyler Junior College and Juarez University, and also the Jayton and Wilson High School teams and fans. We hope you have an enjoyable visit to our town.

Young people nowadays are resisting marriage because they want guarantees. They want to know that before they say, "I do, he "will" and she'll "try."

I don't blame 'em. Marriage is not a commitment to be taken lightly. I've always felt there are several ways a couple can test themselves to see if they could survive a term as husband and wife.

1. Nurse him through a simple cold.
2. Have him give you directions anywhere.
3. Have a meaningful conversation.
4. See one another with your hair wet.
5. Hang a picture together.

These are all "stress situations," but if you really want to test compatibility, you can go for the big one by playing Monopoly with your future spouse.

If I had played Monopoly with my husband just once before we were married, there is no doubt in my mind that today I would be on the arm of Duane Farquardt. If I saw my present husband across a crowded room, I'd say, "Let's get out of here, Duane, he's the turkey I was telling you about who once charged me $3,020 for landing on Park Place."

Something happens to a man when he sits down to play Monopoly.

His eyes become cold and impersonal, his jaw is set. He coolly surveys the entire board with the intensity of a hostess who has just found something moving in her raisin pudding.

As you throw the dice, he meets your gaze across the board and pronounces sharply, "I own the Boardwalk. If you want to stay in the game, you'll have to sell me all your utilities. I'll give you $150 for all three."

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS FOR ALL THREE! Is this the man talking for whom you have borne three children, picked lint off his socks, hand-washed his eleastic stockings, trimmed his hair over the ears when couldn't get to the barber, burnt your fingers on his three-minute eggs, kissed good night when he had a lip full of Novocaine?

I told him one night, "There are winners and there are winners, but Lord, I hate a winner who smiles when he wins!

So all of you people out there contemplating marriage (and you all know who you are), sit down at the Monopoly board and play a game. Better to know now that a man will not give you fake funny money when it's just lying there in a box than to find out after you're married.

The Mideast is certainly the place for crises these days, but Iran is not the place in the Mideast where a crisis was supposed to occur.

This is the country that virtually invented the power politics of oil, the producer that pressed earliest and most persistently to maximize the region's return on its resources while at the same time piling up political capital in the West as its staunchest adherent.

This is the politically stable, economically strong, militarily powerful country that counterbalanced Arab radicalism and increasingly dominated the entire region, the subject not so long ago of strategic scenarios in which, acting as an agent for the West or on its own, it used its might to take physical control of the entire Persian Gulf oil reservoir.

This is the country whose ruler was regarded as the Mideast's shrewdest and surest, the potentate whom former Secretary of State Dean Rusk once singled out as "the best-informed ruler in the world" after the president of the United States.

Yet Iran does indeed have a crisis, a bloody, destructive one that has the shrewd shah trying every expedient in a powerholder's bag of tricks to reassert control and has his friends, particularly in Washington, increasingly concerned about his and his country's future.

If the situation is unexpected, so is the nature of shah's opposition - an unnatural alliance between westernized, left-leaning students and ultraconservative religious leaders. The former object to the shah's authoritarianism, his disregard of legal niceties in pursuit of modernization and the corruption of the ruling elite surrounding him. The latter resist his modernization period, the transformation of Iran into a secular modern state in disregard of traditional Moslem values.

What they have in common is determination to overthrow the shah. His likely immediate replacement, given the unlikelihood that the two factions could ever agree on a common program, would most probably be anarchy and quite possibly dissolution of the Iranian state.

The shah brought much of his trouble upon himself. After a shaky beginning to his reign - the World War II allies placed him on the throne in 1941 after removing his uncooperative father - he gradually acquired both confidence and assertiveness, particularly after a 1950s attempt to overthrow him was squelched with the aid of the CIA.

As oil wealth rolled in, he launched an ambitious program to make Iran both a modern and a great power. Education was vastly expanded - current annual expenditure is $4.3 billion and there are 150,000 students on the teeming and rebellous campuses. Women were encouraged to come out from behind their veils and business expansion was pushed, at the expense of the traditional bazaar economy.

But the shah pushed faster than most of his people were capable of moving into the modern world. He did it with a take-it-or-else attitude, and he coupled social and economic modernization with political reliance on an ancient tool. His secret police, Savak, gave a new meaning to ruthlessness.

In the face of riots and spreading defiance of his authority, the shah has turned to military government, of which Iran has had plentiful experience in the past. The strong arm may work, and the shah's promise to reform once order is restored, to eliminate corruption and cruelty and to heed the "revolutionary message" now being heard in the land, may put Iran back on the track to 20th-century nationhood.

But it is also possible that the shah, who has fancied himself something of an irresistible Mideast force in recent years, may have encountered, in the strange coupling of revolutionary students and conservative mullahs, an immovable object.

The weather may be getting colder but the community spirit in Hermleigh, is getting warmer all the time.

Foremost in feeding the flames is an undefeated football team. Tonight Coach Clarence Spieker and squad will be traveling north to Southland and you can bet your antifreeze that halfback Stan Warren, quarterback Chip Roemisch and the rest of the Cardinal crew will be making things plenty hot for the Southland Eagles.

In their attempt to embarrass the Eagle the Cardinals will be seeking win number 10 and a cinch on the Distrcit 2-B title, their first since 1974. Should an upset occur, about as likely as Cincinnati in the Super Bowl, they will share the title with Trent.

The older folks are also demonstrating they can perform as a team when they have to. A few months ago at one of the town meetings they have from time to time it was decided that a volunteer fire department would be formed. Moderator, Ray Simmons informed the community that a firetruck could be purchased from the Forestry Service for half price.

That was great, but the community still needed $3500. Not a great sum but did you ever try sqeezing money out of farmers during a drought year? Not to mention the climate of foggy governmental thinking that has put farmers on the endangered species list. But I guess planting a few bucks in the community makes as much sense as burying them in the ground because the donations began rolling in. Add a bake sale and a barbecue and the goal is approaching realization. By this time tomorrow it should be real close.

All day Saturday, Hermleigh is staging a Fall Festival Bazaar. The location is south of Boyce's Grocery Store in Hermleigh near U.S. 84. Everything from an antique roll-top desk to Christmas decorations will be sold. And not only are you welcome to attend, you are invited to participate. For the paltry sum of $2, flea market spaces are being rented. While you are unloading your junk on impulsive bargain hunters you can get in some early Christmas shopping and catch up on the latest gossip.

Craftsmen from miles around will be hawking their wares and a lovely red afgan will be given away in a drawing. Also on sale will be plants, homemade candies, jams, pickles, baked goods, ceramics, toys and the usual flea market surprises. Buy something and claim a piece of the firetruck. Who knows? Hollis Ward might even make you an honorary fireman.

The next test of unity for the community involves the issue of consolidation of Hermleigh School. Lets pay them a visit while it's still safe.

Less Federal Help Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)— Individual states and the utility industry should make better plans to cope with energy emergencies themselves and depend less on the federal government, according to a government report.

The General Accounting Office said Thursday that "federal involvement should be kept to a minimum" in dealing with energy shortages. "We believe the best energy emergency management can be effectuated at the state and industry level," the GAO report said.

The time to cease observing birthdays is when they become milestones rather than celebrations.

People misty-eyed over the good, old days forget what it was like to have to turn on the water heater to take a bath — and then fall downstairs to shut it off before the thing blew up.

Save for a rainy day, and you might accumulate enough for a new umbrella.

lower insurance rates

NEW YORK (AP)-Some prices are coming down. Major insurers have already lowered their rates on individual life policies, and more cuts are likely by the first of the year.

Officials say the decline in premium rates reflects at least three factors:

-The increased return on company investments, particularly the yield on fixed-income securities.

-Greater efficiencies, particularly through use of electronic computers.

-Lower than anticipated death rates that might be attributed to medical progress, better personal health habits and safer driving.

An industry study of 90 companies shows that the average price of policies already has dropped from $15.60 in 1975 to $15.10 in 1976 and $14.3 in 1977. A sharper decline may have occurred over the past year.

Among the largest insurers, New England Mutual and John Hancock already have cut premium rates, and New England Mutual plans another cut Jan. 1. Metropolitan is "seriously looking into" the possibility.

Even if their own underwriting experience fails to warrant reductions, other companies might for competitive reasons be forced into line with the lower rates, an industry source suggested.

The better mortality rates - or less than anticipated death rates - are most pronounced in the 30-year to 60-year age bracket, said Walter Bussewitz of the Washington-based National Council of Life Insurance.

He said the trend has been observed for 25 years or so, and that it has compelled the Society of Actuaries to embark on the production of new actuarial tables, a task he said takes considerable time.

In the interim, he said, some companies have decided to go ahead with lower premium charges, or in some instances improved dividends, based on their own rather than general actuarial experiences.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Statistical Bulletins shows the average longevity of the residential population reached a record high of 73 years in 1977, with both sexes sharing in the improvement.

The investment return for insurers has also been better than expected, one of the rare positive consequences of inflated interest rates. While moderation is expected, levels could remain relatively high.

How far the three trends - internal efficiencies, better mortality experience and high interest - continue is not totally guesswork. The investment returns to companies, for example, can be almost guaranteed.

But, as a spokesman for John Hancock observes, you can't expect medical advances to prolong life indefinitely.

Which is to say, unfortunately, that improvement in the all-important mortality table isn't guaranteed.

WTC Jazz Ensemble Performs

Guy Gamble, instructor of music at WTC, presented a program on jazz ensemble playing for the Musical Coterie recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mark Cozart, a freshman student from Tyler, and Gamble presented a piano and sax jazz ballad, "Crystal Silence," written by Chick Corea.

Gamble is in his second teaching year at WTC. His goals are to establish two complete 20-piece jazz ensembles, one composed of WTC students only, and another with WTC students and community people.

This year the jazz ensemble is working with a jazz choir. There is scholarship money available for high school students interested in jazz playing. Gamble travels the state recruiting high school musicians for WTC.

The group rehearses four times a week from 5-6 p.m. Anyone interested is invited to listen or play, and can contact Gamble at 573-8511 extension 323.

Ad Nets 7,000 Bugs

SEATTLE (AP)-Chuck Hardy is not really bugged by it all. But he's had enough.

Hardy is the local school district's science coordinator. Last week, he was quoted in newspapers as offering a penny a head for 5,000 sow bugs for a schoolroom observation. He said Thursday he now has 7,000.

The sow bug, also known as the pill bug, potato bug or wood louse, is a docile, squishy insect with two bent antennae and 14 legs. It crawls under wood piles, garbage cans and rocks.

Its scientific value lies in how easily it can be observed reacting to environmental changes - it curls, straightens, moves quickly or slowly, depending on whether it is hot, cold, wet, dry, hungry or stuffed.

"People brought them in from all over," said Hardy 44. "One lady from Edmonds brought in 1,700 yesterday. We paid her $17" out of the district's science materials budget, he said.

About 3,000 students in 25 elementary schools study the bugs each year, he said.

Thanks to his current bumper crop, Hardy says he's "not going to have to call for sow bugs for another year or so."

Can the Stayman convention be used in response to a two-notrump opening?

Of course, it can't. Obviously, you are almost surely looking for game or slam, but you still want to be able to find those 4-4 major suit fits.

Three notrump really isn't a bad contract. It goes down because West holds the ace of clubs and the defense collects four hearts and a club.

Four spades is a far better contract. Of course, you can divide the East-West cards so that it won't make, but it is the sort of contract that you want to be in every time you get these cards.

The play is simple. South wins the heart, plays three rounds of trumps while stopping in dummy and leads a club toward his own hand. Give East the ace of clubs and he will probably make five odd, but West plunks the ace on South's king and South has to lose two clubs and a heart.

A Louisiana reader wants to know what we bid in response to partner's opening one notrump.

We raise him to three. It may not make, but we want to try for this game rather than for a club game or part score.

Over 200 Die In Bathrooms Each Year

COLLEGE STATON—Take precautions to avoid bathroom accidents, urges Carla Shearer, health educaton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. An estimated 120,000 injuries and more than 200 deaths occur each year in the bathtub and shower. The most serious bathroom accidents include falls, burns, electrocution and drownings, she points out.

Soapy water and the smooth surface of bath tubs are a slippery combination. Use a rubber mat or rough surface adhesive strips to make footing more secure when getting in and out of the tub or standing while taking a shower, the specialist advises. Securely mounted grab bars in the shower stall provide support for a falling person.

The young, aged and handicapped are especially vulnerable to burns from hot water because they are less able to react quickly to emergencies, she continues. Always test the bath water before bathing an infant or small child. Also, never leave a child alone in the tub. The child can easily be scalded by accidently turning on the hot water faucet.

The combinaton of water and electricity can be fatal, Ms. Shearer warns. Don't use electrical appliances while taking a shower or bath. Even when not taking a bath or shower, be cautious of electricity, she says. Dry hands completely before touching any electrical fixture and make sure that you are standing on a dry floor. When disconnecting an electric shaver, hair dryer, electric toothbrush or other appliances, disconnect the cord from the wall outlet rather than from the appliance. Dangling cords left in the wall outlet can be lethal if knocked into the water.

Children can drown in a very small amount of water, so never leave a small child unattended in the bath or bathroom. This also holds true for the elderly and handicapped, the specialist adds.

Pollsters Suffered With Democrats

DALLAS (AP)-Democrats John Hill and Bob Krueger weren't the only losers in this year's general elections. The pollsters who picked them to win have also been nursing post-election headaches.

What happened to those polls that showed Hill leading in the governor's race over Republican Bill Clements, and Krueger poised to move from the U.S. House to the Senate, knocking Republican incumbent John Tower out of a job?

The men who did the polling offer no definitive answers - just some educated guesses.

Clements and Tower each used Houston pollster V. Lance Tarrance, whose opinions more or less coincide with those of Hill pollster Alex Louis of Dallas and Krueger surveyer George Shipley of Austin.

Tarrance said late surveying by his team made results more accurate for his side, while Hill and Krueger polls shut down too early.

Shipley said Wednesday that the Krueger polling suffered from a lack of funds.

"We never eally had the money to say who would vote and who wouldn't," Shipley said. "We had severe budget limitations. We did not have the resources to poll until the last day."

Louis did not plead poverty, but said Clements had two things going for him - himself and his money.

"There were so many factors...and one of them could stand more or less on its own, but I really think it was a combination," Louis said.

How about the theory that the undecideds carried the day for Clements?

Not according to Tarrance. "Both Hill and Clements apparently were winning equal amounts of the last-minute undecided votes."

The theory that Democratic voters just didn't turn out in enough numbers to carry the day was more likely, the experts said.

"Clements moved people to the polls that do not normally vote, a lot were conservatives that are not normally Republicans," said Shipley associate John Henson. "The normal Democratic percentage represented a lower percentage of the turnout."

Henson's observations would also lend credence to the theory that Tower rode home on Clements' efforts.

Louis said that he polled what he was told to poll, and that he wouldn't change anything if he had to do it again. "I don't believe a pollster knows enough to advise," he said.

Louis did offer a couple of observations that he said could have contributed to Hill's decline, which did not show up in his polls.

Louis said the final Hill poll began just after a Dallas newspaper published a story in which allegations were made against Hill's performance. "That was a factor," he said. He also said Clements' image was as a Texan rather than as a Republican.

"He (Clements) won it fair and square, the way the game is played in Texas," Louis said.

Tarrance said both winners made late surges that threw off the Democratic polls.

He said Hill probably under-estimated the strength of the Clements campaign and may have made a mistake by thinking too much in terms of the actual governorship after beating Gov. Dolph Briscoe in the primary.

Tarrance said his polling allowed his clients to modify their strategies after studying indicated strengths and weaknesses.

Louis probably offered the most acceptable reason for Clements' victory: "He got more votes than Hill did."

Seeing Her Through It

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: When my 27-year-old daughter and I went shopping, she saw a blouse she loved, but they didn't have it in her size. Knowing how much she wanted it, I made several trips to the store trying to get it in her size. I finally succeeded and got it for her as a gift. (She knew how much trouble I had gone to to get the blouse.)

She and her husband (he's 29) came over to get it, and she tried it on for him. He said nothing, but two days later she called, in tears, saying her husband thought it was too sheer. (It WAS quite sheer, but not nearly as sheer as many I wear.)

I suggested she wear a slip under it, but she said her husband didn't want other men to see through her clothes—that he had forbidden her to keep it, and that was that!

I was furious and told her I wouldn't return it.

What is your opinion of this situation?

ENRAGED IN CALIF.

DEAR ENRAGED: I think you're making a mountain out of a molehill (or maybe two, for all I know). If your daughter allows her husband to impose his wishes on her, that's between them.

Too bad you went to so much trouble to get the blouse. Tell your daughter that if she can't wear it, return it. The whole fuss strikes me as sheer nonsense.

DEAR ABBY: When a person confesses to adultery, is he or she obligated to provide the details?

I am the wronged wife, and when I demanded to know when, why, where and with whom, I was called nosy.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: If it's your intention to forgive and forget, the less you know the less you'll have to forget.

DEAR ABBY: I asked a friend for advice about my problem and she said, "Write to Abby," so here goes:

I am engaged to marry the son of a minister. (I'll call my fiance Timothy.) Timothy's father, without even discussing it with us, has assumed that he will perform our marriage ceremony.

Timothy and I prefer to have his father sit with his mother at the wedding and be a guest with no official duties to perform.

Our problem is how to tell Timothy's father without offending him. He's a wonderful person, but he's very persuasive and we're afraid he might try to talk us into letting him have his way.

Is there a solution? Or should we just give in and grin and bear it?

WEDDING BELLS

DEAR BELLS: It's your wedding, and you have the right to do your own thing. Timothy should tell his father respectfully, lovingly, but firmly of your decision. And the sooner the better.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby; 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Four Arrested In Burglaries

Four persons have been arrested and the merchandise taken in eight burglaries and thefts has been recovered, police reported.

Two of the suspects were arrested Thursday night and the other two this morning. Recovered, police officers said, were two rifles, a cassette tape recorder, two citizens band radios, an eight-track car stereo, a tape box containing 14 eight-track tapes, a pair of boots, a gun cleaning kit, an electric drill, four cases of beer, and slightly over $7 in coins.

The stolen items were found at residences across Snyder and in pastures and fields in North Snyder.

The two adult suspects arrested were 17 and 18 years old.

The case was handled by Lt. Clay Scogin and Sgt. Johnny Hedges.

No Comment From White House...

Spy Planes Checking Soviet Crafts In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's most-sophisticated spy planes have been dispatched over Cuba in attempts to determine whether new Soviet-built fighter planes are capable of firing nuclear weapons, administration sources say.

Cameras and sensors aboard the spy planes have been aimed at Russian MiG-23s, reported to have arrived recently in Cuba, in hopes of learning whether they are designed strictly for air defense or have some "offensive" capability, the sources said Thursday night.

The Air Force SR-71 overflights, which would require approval by President Carter, are considered so sensitive some government officials were ordered to remain silent about them. White House officials refused any comment.

Other sources, refusing to be identified in any way, confirmed the flights.

However, it was not clear whether the missions are continuing and there was no word on what they have found.

The presence of Russian nuclear weapons in Cuba is forbidden by a 1962 U.S.-Soviet understanding that followed the near-war crisis over arrival of Russian offensive missiles on the island republic 90 miles south of Florida.

FTA Meet Set Saturday

Future Teachers of America will hold a district convention Saturday at Western Texas College.

Schools to be represented in addition to Snyder High School are Abilene Cooper, Abilene High, Roscoe High, Breckenridge High, Eula High and Colorado High (Colorado City).

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. Dr. Joe Reaves, associate professor of psychology at WTC, will be guest speaker for the general session starting about 9:15. Following lunch in the Student Center cafeteria, students will attend workshops.

Ollie Peek is faculty sponsor for the Snyder High School FTA chapter.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

It's really kilo calories

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I suffer from gassy bowels very much. I read your article on cereal without milk and I bought a quart of ProSobee. It is helping me, but there is one drawback. I am wondering if it is too rich for me at age 67.

Each quart contains 640 kilocalories, and one kilocalorie equals 1,000 calories. Does that mean that a single quart contains 640,000 calories? I noticed also that it contains 0.1 percent of lecithin, which is egg yolk, and I am not supposed to use any of that. I have had open heart surgery and am very worried. If you can help me I would be very grateful.

DEAR READER — As far as worrying about calories and lecithin in ProSobee is concerned, you can pack up your troubles and quit worrying. You have fallen into the trap that so many people will do about the meaning of calories.

In engineering circles, one calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one milliliter of water one degree centigrade. That's not an awful lot of energy. For that reason, the calories we speak of in terms of your daily diet, foods and so forth, are kilocalories.

If you were to eat a whole pound of lean, raw round steak with all the fat removed, it would only be about 600 calories. That really means 600 kilocalories. So when you talk about food and nutrition and you use the word calorie, remember everyone is talking about kilocalories. If you say a person consumes 2,000 calories a day, you really mean he should consume 2,000 kilocalories a day.

So ProSobee and other milk substitute products are not excessively high in calories. They compare favorably to milk. Incidentally, I am not recommending milk substitutes for everybody, just for those who have symptoms of milk intolerance and problems with consuming natural milk.

To give you more information about milk and milk intolerance, I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-2, Milk Products: Good and Bad. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now, about lecithin. It is true you can find it in egg yolk, but lecithin is a separate substance in its own right and found in many other foods. Therefore, you should not think that when you see lecithin on a food label that it means the product contains egg yolk. It does not.

In summary, neither the calories nor the lecithin content or any other factors about its contents should keep you from using ProSobee. It is not the only milk substitute made from soybean products, however. There are other milk substitutes that are free of lactose, but it is perhaps one of the most widely available ones.

There is no advantage to using one of the milk substitutes over ordinary milk unless you do have lactose intolerance. The exception to this, of course, are babies who may be truly allergic to milk which is a different problem entirely.

One advantage of the milk substitutes made from soybeans is that they are low in saturated fat and contain no cholesterol. That might be important to you if your heart surgery was for coronary artery disease. These products often make a satisfactory no-cholesterol, low-saturated fat substitute for cream if you use an undiluted can.

County Court Sentences 5

Five persons were sentenced Thursday in county court. All had entered guilty pleas.

Sentenced were Josephina Vera Medrano, Roberto Alvarado Saenz Jr., Bella Riggins, Alberto P. Rodriguez, and Louis Eugen Sprague.

Ms. Riggins, received a $100 fine, a 30-day jail term probated one year, and ordered to pay $120 restitution on a theft charge. She is alleged to have taken a cash box from the City Automatic Laundry earlier this month.

Ms. Medran, Saenz, and Spague were sentenced on charges of driving while their licenses were suspended. Szenz and Sprague both received $15 fines and 72-hour jail terms. Ms. Medrano was handed a $25 fine.

Sentenced to pay a $200 fine and serve a 30-day jail term, probated for six months, was Rodriguez. He was charged with driving while intoxicated.

The New York Symphony Orchestra held its first concert in 1858.

Arnold Rothstein, leading New York gambling figure, was shot to death in 1928, and his killer was never found.

Cats Crush Cubs; End Season 9-1

Snyder junior varsity football team concluded its season on a 9-1 note, whipping visiting Brownfield here Thursday night 34-0.

The Tigers rolled up 347 yards of offense while holding the Cubs to 72, picked off one interception and recovered a half-dozen fumbles.

Keith McClain got the Cats started in the first period when he returned a punt for 75 yards and a score. Robert Rodriquez tacked on the point-after.

A 13-yard quarterback sneak got Mike Roemisch into the end zone minutes later. Again Rodriquez locked in the extra point; his 17th straight.

In the second quarter Roemisch went to the air, finding Dale Jenkins for a 50-yard touchdown. Rodriquez again booted the conversion. In the third period Roemisch found Marty Hammond open for a 27-yard TD. Rodriquez missed the point-after, ending his impressive streak at 18 consecutive conversions.

Snyder scored once more in the game. Rodriquez, who led the Cats with 90 yards rushing for the night, galloped 32 yards for six points. He also added the one-point kick.

McClain had 50 yards rushing and Roemisch added 30. Vonnie Voss picked off a Cub stray pass, and Jason Johnston, Eddie Yerugas and Ricky Elliott each recovered a fumble. Mike Oretegon recovered two.

Coach for the Tigers was Winfred Shipp. Assisting were Ken Carson and Albert Lewis.

Classic Sees Pirates, WTC As First Winners

Western Texas and Independence Community College earned first-day wins at the WTC Classic which began here yesterday.

Tonight's fare was to pit Independence against Tyler at 6:45, followed by WTC versus the University of Juarez. Saturday, Tyler and Juarez will play at 6:45, followed by Independence and WTC at 8:30 p.m.

Paced by 19 points each from Paul Pressey and Greg Stewart, the Westerners rolled past Tyler Junior College 83-62. The contest was locked 37-37 at the half, but two quick baskets at the outset of the second period by Pressey put WTC ahead for the remainder of the game.

Arthur Housey, a 6-9 standout from New York City, garnered 10 points in the first half for Tyler, but was held to only two in the final 20 minutes of play. Teammate Johnny Pate, 6-3 from Denton, aided the Apache effort with 11 points.

It was the shooting skill of Pressey and Stewart which ignited a sparse crowd and put the game away for the Westerners, giving the team its fourth victory of the season against no losses. But Joe Mendoza and Freddie Davis chunked in 9 points each and Michael Smith added 8 more as 10 members of the team actually put points on the board.

In the late game, defending national junior college championship team Independence Community College (Kan.) blasted Juarez 115-to 63. Calvin Coleman, 6-7 from Memphis, Tenn. pounced on the team from Mexico for 26 points and floormate Bobby Potts, 6-6 from Trenton, N.J., added 21 more. Other players in double figures were Stanley Grove 15, Mark Moore 11 and Dewey Gachet 13.

Juarez was led by Rafel Holgoin and Mike Portray with 10 points each, while Arturo Ontiveros pumped in 11. The Juarez squad gave a good effort through most of the first half, but Independence's full-court press in the final 20 minutes allowed the team only 23 additional points to its half time talley of 40. Independence scored 55 in the first half and 60 in the second.

Classic continues with 6:45 and 8:30 games tonight and Saturday

Bulldogs Bound Past Robert Lee

IRA--Defense and more defense led Ira girls to their third win of the season here Thursday, whipping defending Class A state champion Robert Lee 35-30.

"The kids just did a super job putting pressure on them," commented Coach Mickey Rundell.

The Bulldogs shot 40 percent from the floor, but only 16 from the line - their major problem all season. Robert Lee, however, managed only 26 percent from the floor as Ira defenses continually kept the visitors from getting the good shots.

Brenda Cooley scored 13 points to lead Ira's effort. Shelly Maupin scored 8. Devoll led the Robert Lee team with 12 points.

Snyder Hosts Playoff; Wilson vs Jayton, 8 p.m.

They're called the Jaybirds and the Mustangs, but a dog-fight is what's liable to occur here tonight when Jayton and Wilson square off to determine a District 3-B champion.

Both squads bring a potent offensive attack into the 8 p.m. game at Tiger Stadium. Wilson offers a new look to the area playoff scene, while Jayton makes its fourth consecutive trip into the post-season wars.

Jayton, the east zone champion with an 8-2 record, touts nine seniors, a junior and a sophomore among it's starting lineup, including flashy tailback Robert Segura, who has broken losse for 1,200 yards this season. Fullback Donnie Shipp, at 195 pounds, has raced for 800 more. The "Hardin Simmons Wing-T" is led by quarterback Patrick Parker. Defensively, the Jaybirds line up with a 5-2-4 look.

Though only three seniors man the junior-dominated Wilson team, the Mustangs have rolled for 284 points this season, averaging 28.4 per outing. Pretty good when its considered that the defensive unit has given up only 28 points in 10 games.

The Mustangs are led by 173-pound tailback Calvin Wilke out of the Tandam Slot I formation. Senior quarterback Mike Nettles is one of the best around, and runningbacks Dan Cox and Tony Garcia accent the charge. Wilke has scored 70 of the Mustangs points this season, while picking up 1,104 yards.

'I think it will be a real good ballgame," says first-year coach Danny Chisum. "Jayton has a very good team. They always do. I'll tell you, I feel like whichever team wins will go a long way down the road."

For Jayton Coach John Richey, it may be just another playoff game. Afterall, he's taken the Jaybirds to the quarterfinals for three straight years. But still, he's not underestimating the Mustangs.

"We respect them," he comments. "They're ranked ninth in the state, and I believe we're something like 28th. We played them during our regular season for the last two years but didn't get them this year. Now we're going to meet anyway.

"They've got a fine football team, a good quarterback, a good tailback - a lot of quality in that backfield - and some good receivers. Hmm," he chuckles, "everything I mentioned about them was GOOD, wasn't it? Well, that's the way they are. It's going to be a tough ballgame."

Tickets for the contest are $3 for adults and $1 for students. Wilson has been designated the home team and will occupy the west stands. Jayton, as visitors, will take the east stands.

Jenkins' Group Ready For Cubs

BROWNFIELD--Snyder Coach Mike Jenkins had little to say prior to tonight's 7:30 kickoff here, but it's no secret what's running through his mind...a district championship.

"We're going to try to finish up on a good note. It looks like the weather's going to be good and we hope we are too," he laughed.

In a more serious mood earlier in the week, Jenkins told the real story behind tonight's contest.

"We want that gold ball (trophy) and the only way we can get it is to beat Brownfield. That's what we plan to do."

Snyder, 7-2 on the season, has already wrapped up a berth to the bi-district playoff. The game has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 24 in Snyder, against Burkburnett of 4-3A. But a loss tonight would give Snyder only a co-championship, and the Tigers want it all.

Game captains for the Cats are linebackers Wes Partian and Mark Davis, noseguard Cary Welsh, offensive tackle Baron Land, tailback Richard Crayton and quarterback Clay Johnson. Land also boots Snyder's point-after attempts.

A victory would give Snyder it's first championship since 1974. The Tigers will bring a capable running game into tonight's contest, and a rapidly improving passing attack, which was especially effective against Lamesa and Sweetwater in earlier District 3-AAA wars. Snyder also prides itself on a stout defensive unit.

Cubs Edge Freshman Squad

BROWNFIELD - The Cubs took advantage of a fourth-quarter fumble to edge Snyder freshman here last night, 7-0. The defeat concludes the Tiger season with a 5-3 ledger.

Snyder had several opportunities to score, but were unable to cross the stripe. On one occassion, a Tiger ball carrier crossed the goal with head and shoulders, but refs ruled the ball had not broken the plane.

"The kids played well both offensively and defensively," commented Coach Albert Lewis, who received assistance this season from Tommy Doyle, Wes Poarch and Roger Goodwin. "Overall we had a good season, and we felt like the kids really made progress, and that's what it's all about." Lewis did single out last night's defensive work of Bryan Limmer and Raymond Jeffery.

Fails To Win Parole...

Society Has No Place For Him, Says Manson

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP)-Mass murderer Charles Manson failed to win parole after staging a dramatic three-hour monologue denying his guilt in the Sharon Tate murders, but admitting: "I don't belong in society. There's no place in society that I fit."

Manson, speaking out for the first time since his 1971 conviction in the Tate-LaBianca murders, alternately stood and sat, flailed his arms and even sang a song in trying to show he was wrongly convicted.

"I didn't kill nobody and I didn't order nobody to be killed," the 44-year-old Manson said.

He told the three members of the Community Release Board that if he wanted to kill someone, he would never have entrusted the job to his rag-tag hippie "Family."

Leaning across the table, his face level with theirs, he said: "If I wanted anyone killed, I'd kill them myself. But I don't want anyone killed because I love my own life. Does that make any sense?"

He denied, as he had at his trial, that he ordered members of his "family" to murder actress Sharon Tate and six other persons in August 1969, or to kill grocer Leno LaBianca and his wife, Rosemary, the following night.

"I did not tell Tex Watson to do anything other than what Tex thought was right," Manson said of his chief lieutenant in murder. Watson, who says he worshipped Manson as Jesus Christ, has insisted Manson ordered him to kill.

Manson, who has been in prison for 9 years, was clad in dark blue slacks and a light blue sport shirt that showed his heavily tattooed arms. He was thin and had prison pallor, and his hair and beard were long and shaggy, unlike as they were when he was arrested in 1969.

He ridiculed his reputation as a demonic murderer.

"I'm not your executioner. I'm not your devil and I'm not your God," he said. "I'm Charles Manson."

Manson also let the board know he does not like being in prison.

"I'm mad," he said. "I'm indignant. I'm mad to every bone in my body that I have to come back to the penitentiary when I didn't break no law...I'm dying every day in this hole."

The parole hearing was a session granted automatically to each inmate who has served 7 years in prison. Manson will receive another parole hearing in a year, and one each year thereafter.

Originally sentenced to death, Manson's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment when the death penalty was outlawed in California. He is serving nine concurrent life sentences.

Asked what he would do if granted parole, Manson at first said, "I have no plans."

But a moment later he changed his mind.

"My plan," he said, "would be to go to the wilderness and live off the land. I'd go to the desert and talk to the animals. I couldn't make it running by the watch and making that car payment. My ways are simple."

He added, "I love life and I love living."

But Manson concluded, "No, I don't want to live in society...Society don't want me so why should I want them?"

After a brief recess, the panel returned with its expected decision. Chairman Rudy DeLeon told Manson: "You are unsuitable for parole."

He cited "the enormity and cruelty of the killings" including the death of Miss Tate's 8-month-old fetus.

Hearing the decision, Manson declared, "I agree. I'm totally unsuitable for that world out there. I don't fit in at all."

He rose to leave the hearing room under guard, muttering that he didn't know why the Tate-LaBianca murders occurred.

"Why were those nine people killed?" he asked. "People that have done nothing to nobody. What's the reason?"

Then he turned back to the board and said cheerfully: "Good Day."

SIDE GLANCES

"If we pull our troops out of South Korea, it'll hurt our economy. Look at all we'll lose in bribe money!"

A Polish pharmacist attempting to distill vodka from oil seeping from the ground produced kerosene, not liquor. Ignacy Lukasiewicz then went on in 1852 to develop a lamp to burn the clean, low-smoke fuel.

Senior Citizens Add Choir To Activities

Senior Citizens have added a choir to their activities in the Senior Center at Western Texas College.

John Wiman serves as director for the choir, with Virginia Whitson pianist. Eddie Skains assists Wiman in directing the group during practice sessions. Andrew Deen is choir president and LaVilla Holladay is secretary.

Other members of the choir are June Deen, Lou Wiman, Edith Blair, Mildred Lewis, Zada Townsend, Arven Townsend, Paulyne Eaker, Ferol Barrett, Edna McConnell, Jessie Pryor, Olen Johnson, Dean Cochran, Ray Summers, Jewell Summers, Emma Huffman, Millie Tutor, George Montandon, John Martin, Frances Martin, Lillie Flowers, Mable Cottle and Geneva Williamson.

CG Training Under Study

WASHINGTON (AP)— Coast Guard Commandant Adm. John B. Hayes is being ordered to review the Coast Guard's shipboard training program in the wake of a ship collision that killed 11 men.

Transportation Secretary Brock Adams ordered Hayes to assess, among other things, the number and type of training ships, the source of training instructors and procedures concerned with at-sea instruction. The order stems from an incident in which the Coast Guard cutter Cuyohoga collided with a freighter and sank in Chesapeake Bay Oct. 20, killing 11 of the 29 men aboard.

1st Christian Hosting Co-Op Choir Sunday

The Children's Co-Op Choir will sing at the 10:50 a.m. worship service this Sunday in the First Christian Church, 2701, 37th St. The choir is made up of children from four local churches. They are, First Christian, First Presbyterian, Grace Lutheran and Trinity Methodist. The children will sing two anthems, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest", and "Come Ye Thankful People Come."

A Christmas Cantata will also be presented by the choir at 7 p.m. on Dec. 10, in the First Presbyterian Church. The director is Joan Marble and the accompanist is Pearl Wheeler.

The owner of the dam at the time of foaling is listed as the breeder of a race horse.

Camp For Handicapped Theme For ARC Meet

Summer camping for handicapped children will be the theme for the November meeting of the Scurry County Association for Retarded Citizens on Tuesday Nov. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Community Room at Snyder Savings and Loan.

The speaker will be Patty Bodek, the director for Camp Rolling Hills, a camp for handicapped children which is located near Abilene. Miss Bodek received her B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State University with a major in therapeutic recreation. She has been working in the field of recreation for the handicapped for several years. In addition to her duties as director for Camp Rolling Hills, Miss Bodek serves as director of the Abilene Community Recreation Program for the Developmentally Disabled.

Camp Rolling Hills, which is supported by several community agencies in the Abilene area, provides swimming, horseback riding, arts and crafts, indoor sports and games, outdoor sports and games, nature study, social recreation and fun for campers during the eight one-week sessions during the summer.

The camp dormitories will accommodate 24 female campers and 20 male campers.

Miss Bodek will present a slide film program depicting the main features of the camping program.

A MOUNTAIN CLIMBER pausing before the final ascent? Actually, it's a construction worker putting the finishing touches on the roof of a new California department store. The roof is translucent, allowing natural sunlight to illuminate the store and help shoppers assess the true colors of clothing and other merchandise. Made of woven Fiberglass coated with Teflon, the roof is expected to last more than 20 years, says its manufacturer, Owens-Corning Fiberglass.

Says Catholic Columnist...

Married Men Should Be Allowed As Priests

DALLAS (AP)-The Roman Catholic Church should begin ordaining married men as priests, says a Roman Catholic deacon and columnist in The Texas Catholic newspaper.

In a column published Wednesday in the newspaper for Dallas area Catholics, Steve Landregan wrote that he proposes "dialogue on the question of ordaining men who are presently married and have never been priests to the priesthood."

Landregan, 50, who is married and the father of five, said the column did not necessarily indicate he wanted to be ordained a priest. He said being a deacon makes him a cleric rather than a layman, but "it would be a mistake to assume that the married deacons should be ordained."

Asked if he ruled out becoming a priest, Landregan said, "A decision like that would take an awful low of thinking and praying."

Landregan wrote that celibacy should never be completely abandoned in the church. "But we must ask the question today, is celibacy an essential part of the priesthood? History and theology seem to answer 'No.'"

He wrote that celibacy continues to be optional in several countries, particularly in the Orient. "Due to the efforts of Archbishop John Ireland, this universal privilege of orientat Catholics was denied those in the Americas, an action that is the cause of continuing controversy."

Landregan declined to categorize the Dallas area as a conservative stronghold within the church, but one clergyman said, "The public stand he has taken would be unique in New York. That tells you what it means in Dallas."

Landregan said he did not clear the column through Bishop Thomas Schoepe, who also acts as publisher of the newspaper.

"Nobody saw the article before it was published," he said. "I told the bishop what I intended to do and asked if he had any objection. He said no."

The writer-cleric also invited comment on his proposals from the paper's readership. He said such comments would be published in the paper.

Landregan said his proposal is within the tradition of the universal church and a matter of discipline rather than dogma.

"Priestly celibacy as a norm began to emerge in about the fourth century," he said.

"Even today, married men are ordained to the priesthood in some European countries if they are clergymen of other denominations who converted to Catholicism. Several Americans in this category have moved to Europe to be ordained and continue their ministry."

Weekend father

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

In about 95 percent of the 1 million divorces that occur each year in the United States, the mother wins custody of the children. The father, meanwhile, is reduced to playing the role of weekend father.

As this excerpt from a hotline conversation illustrates, the father's task is not easy. Overshadowed by the mother's influence, the relationship between father and children is often no better than a polite exchange of pleasantries. And it is fertile ground for frequent misunderstandings. (Personal information in all hot-line excerpts has been changed to protect the caller's confidentiality.)

HOT LINE

MR. J: Please tell me what to do so I won't lose my son. He seems to be drifting away from me and it has really gotten me down. I can't understand it. Even though he has lived with his mother since our divorce 10 years ago, my son and I have always been quite close.

COUNSELOR: How have you and your ex-wife handled the visiting arrangements?

MR. J: Jim comes to my apartment every other weekend for both Friday and Saturday nights. He and I do lots of things during the days. That is, we did until recently.

COUNSELOR: How have things changed?

MR. J: Well, he doesn't seem to want to stay overnight anymore. A month ago, he started asking if he could just spend Sunday with me instead of the whole weekend. Why wouldn't he want to sleep in the apartment with me after all these years?

COUNSELOR: Did he say why he wanted to change the routine?

MR. J: He said he wanted to spend Saturdays with his friends. But that excuse was probably just to make it easier on me.

COUNSELOR: What makes you think he isn't telling you the truth?

MR. J: I really don't know. Maybe it's just my fear that his mother is trying to influence him against me. But he is 14, and he certainly has his own opinions by now. I don't know what to think.

COUNSELOR: I am sure he has his own views — and his own friends.

MR. J: Pardon me?

COUNSELOR: Jim's friends are no doubt a very important part of his life right now. Remember when you were growing up? Saturday was always a great day to fool around with other kids.

MR. J: Maybe I am taking this change a bit too personally. But I will really miss Jim.

COUNSELOR: When you do things with your son, do you ever take any of his friends along?

MR. J: No, but that's a great idea. That would kill two birds with ... Wait a minute; I just thought of something. There was a reason I never invited Jim's friends to spend time with us. I asked a few times, but he seemed angry at me and never took me up on my offers.

COUNSELOR: How long has it been since you asked?

MR. J: That must have been five or six years ago. Maybe he will react differently now. Maybe he was just mad at me for something else then.

COUNSELOR: It's worth a try.

Many fathers, like this caller, feel rejected when their teen-agers want to be with their friends on Saturdays instead of honoring the visiting arrangement.

The counselor advised Mr. J to try to involve his son's friends in their activities. Later in the call, she also suggested that the father view the visiting days with less rigidity and not take so personally any changes his son might suggest.

'Little Foxes' Called Theatre At Its Best

(Editor's Note--The Western Texas College Drama Department opened its season last night with the first of four performances of "The Little Foxes," a production that has attracted regional attention. Danny Goddard, arts editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, sat in on the opening night performance and when it was over, he had plenty of praise for the cast and director.)

Western Texas College's staging of "The Little Foxes" is an intense emotional experience--this is theatre at its best and its most dramatic. You are swept up in a power struggle of olympic proportions as Lillian Hellman's tale of a Southern family, ripped apart by greed and jealousy is vividly brought to life.

Director Jeanne Kubuszewski has assembled one of the finest casts I have seen on a Big Country stage. And that would make Marca Parham, who portrays the power-hungry Regina Giddens, one of the best young actresses within a 150-mile radius.

She brings a tragic, but noble, aura to her role as the sister who wants her husband to back a chance for the family to make millions by investing in a cotton mill that Yankee businessmen want to build. Her husband, admirably played by Bill Martin, does not want her to have the money because he is going to die soon and he wants her to suffer for her past sins.

Their final confrontation is relentless in its dramatic impact as the two characters examine the deepest, darkest depths of the human soul. I don't see how anyone could remain unmoved by this scene. It's one of the most powerful fifteen minutes of drama in the history of the American theatre and the WTC players pull it off with style and finesse.

But this is not to take away from the performances of the rest of the cast. Rick Mantooth and John Hopkins as the greedy brothers match Regina's cunning with slick, snakelike manueverings--they are easy to loathe. Robby Moore as the sadistic nephew is equally repulsive.

Jean Schooler allows a few gentle laughs as the bubbly alcoholic wife of one of the brothers; but her happy exterior hides a tragic history and she paints a moving portrait of a Southern belle tamed by "the eaters of the earth." In her stage debut, Patricia Farmer is excellent as the bossy servant. I couldn't believe she had never been on stage before. Janet Johnson as Alexandra Giddens is also a standout. She ages several years during the course of the play from a naive young schoolgirl to a mature woman ready to take on the world on its own terms.

Mike Mahan is also engaging as William Marshall, the Yankee businessman who offers the greedy family a pot of gold if they can come up with the capital.

"The Little Foxes" represents educational theatre at its sterling best. The play is a land mark of theatrical history and the WTC production is also a landmark: the flawless performances and the finely-crafted direction represent a unique combination of talent and know-how. I only wish WTC could stage more plays each season, because it's a shame to let a theatre like this stay dark for so much of the year.

Dingy Garage Marked For Restoration

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)--It stands at a busy intersection abandoned, turreted, dingy. But don't let appearances deceive. Art's Auto - with its gas pumps out front - is about to be added to the U.S. Register of Historic Places.

"Rights now, you wouldn't believe how horrible it looks," said Katherine Oldham of the Pawtucket Redevelopment Agency, which acquired the service station. But with a little cleaning and discrete restoration....

"It's among the surprisingly few notable survivors of its period and is a significant relic of a distinct and important phase in the history of American commerce," reads the commission's report nominating Art's Auto.

Susan Dyness, the panel's preservation planner, said the garage was built in 1928 and "is the most interesting and best preserved early 20th century service station in Rhode Island."

National Guard Recruiter Will Attend Job Fair

Staff Sergeant Jimmy Harris, recruiter for the Texas Army National Guard, will be at the job fair tomorrow to explain options and benefits available with enlistment in the Army National Guard.

Sgt. Harris is stationed in Abilene with the 111th Engineer Battalion which includes Snyder. He plans to be in Snyder often during the next few weeks recruiting.

Harris explains that one of the newest concepts for enlistment is the split option program for 17-years or high school juniors and seniors. The young men can enlist on paid drill status for six months prior to their entry into active duty. Basic training is completed during the summer months so as not to interfere with school. Advance Individual Training is completed the following summer.

The army National Guard also offers to prior service individuals, immediate paid drill status, retention of last pay grade and one year enlistment options. No additional active duty training is required other than on the job with the unit, said Ssg. Harris.

New Weapons In War Against Hypertension

By ROBERT LOCKE
AP Science Writer

DALLAS (AP)--The isolation of a long-sought chemical from the human kidney promises potent new weapons for the medical attack on high blood pressure, which endangers some 34 million Americans.

Medical teams at two universities announced Thursday they have isolated and purified a human enzyme called renin - a goal that has frustrated scientists for more than a decade.

Renin, produced by the kidney in minute quantities, has a crucial role in many cases of high blood pressure, although scientists disagree sharply on how many. Estimates range from 16 to 75 percent.

Also called hypertension, high blood pressure can result in stroke, heart failure, kidney failure and other major problems. Its cause remains a mystery in all but a handful of cases.

But with the enzyme itself now available, researchers can begin to "understand what the enzyme looks like and how it behaves," said Dr. Eve Elizabeth Slater of Massachusetts General Hospital. "This hopefully will provide a prototype for a whole new classification of safer and more effective drugs" to control hypertension.

She said it provides an invaluable tool for discovering the causes of high blood pressure, and the way it progresses and may ultimately permit identification of potential victims so the disease can be prevented.
