Absentee Poll-Hits A New Peak Of 548

Local political experts scratched their heads today and conjured up a 5.500 vote for Howard county in the first democratic primary Sat-

They based their prediction or the formula that absentee voting normally accounts for one-tenth of the total vote in this county. With a record shattering total of 548 absentee ballots sorted out for delivery to 14 voting precinct chairmen, they could see nothing less than another record vote Saturday for the county. The last day rush boosted the vote from an already new record to more than 100 votes over the previous record established in All this, declared experts, portended a last minute and intense interest in the democratic primary. And in Texas the democratic primary is "the election."

While democrats were squaring off for the first phase of their biennial balloting, Howard county republicans, heartened by the nomination of Wendell Willkie as the GOP standard bearer and the subsequent nomination of President Roosevelt to lead the democrats in November, Thursday an nounced first steps toward waging an active campaign this year. G. H. Hayward, county chairman for the republicans, announced that the republican precinct conventions would be held Saturday at the Crawford hotel between the hours of $ p. m. and 4 n. m. It was conceded that the boxes might be all that would be affected. But the city, with three-fourths of the county vote, was assured of an active republican organization.

Nazi air bombs fell 12 miles from the outskirts of London today, the German high command reported, while in another daring operation a 50-mile-an-hour nazi torpedo speedboat bounced 60 miles across the English channel to sink an armed merchant ship near Britain's great naval base at Portland.

Skittering over the rough channel waters too fast for the big long-range guns of the naval base to make it an effective target, the German sea raider got in its knockout blow on an 18-000-ton craft and darted home again.

The nazi high command's report of this spectacular feat was quickly countered by Britain's first lord of admiralty A. V. Alexander, who declared the craft was the French ship Meknes with nearly 1,300 French officers and men ou board-en route home to German-conquered France.

"The boat was flying the French flag and had the French colors painted on deck and sides, and was fully illuminated.
"It was torpedoed by a motor boat at 10:30 last night. Each time she tried to signal her name, she was again fired on and sank in form or five minutes."

About 1,000 men were saved. The high command said German planes bombed the big British Vickers aircraft factory at Weybridge, just 12 miles from Lon Britain claimed victory in the first major phase of the 5-weeks-old struggle against nasi conquest of England—by repeated, violent attacks on German "blitzkrieg bases" across the channel— and at the same time tightened her blockade of the reich,

With more than 1,000 mass aid raids, a London spokess the British Royal Air Force now has "made it extremely difficult for Germany to organize massed attacks on this country from airdromes in Holland, Belgium and France, or from bases the enemy hoped to establish in Norway."

The spokesman said the RAF, although numerically outnum bered by German warplanes, had "to a great extent succeeded in breaking down" Hitler's scheme for a cross-channel invasion of the British Isles and had made new air bases "acquired nearer our shores practically untenable." "These violent, non-stop onslaughts are making the enemy reel nder hammer blows," he said,

The British report, taken at face value, might at least partially explain the mystery of Hitler's delay in launching his long threatened blitzkrieg on Britain. Another possible reason was advanced by the London Dally

Telegraph. Quoting "the most reliable neutral sources," the news-paper said a serious difference of opinion among Hitler's advisers was holding up the projected invasion

Hitler's warplanes nevertheless kept up the bombing of the United Kingdom. Anti-aircraft guns chattered again on the southeast coast and the sky was reported "alive with aircraft" as about 80 German raiders swarmed flown to attack a merchant convoy in the English Channel. British fighting planes quickly sent them fleeing. While fighting off new nazi raids, Britain took steps to plug a

Blitzkrieg Is A Success On The Prairies

BOISE CITY, Okia., July 25 (A) Five reconnaissance planes roared out over the bald prairie - the roving eyes of a mechanized army bent' on relentless extermination, In the half light before daybreak, the pilots scanned the flat lands below, marked moving formations, banked and flew back to report to headquarters.

Up from the airfield thundered eight planes. They swooped down on the moving formation, bombed, destroyed or dispersed them.

Thus, taking a cue from modern schanized warfare, did the United States bureau of entomology successfully battle this month one of the greatest hordes of grasshoppers ever to ravage the Oklahoma panhandle.

Back and forth from airfield to battle scene shuttled the fighter planes, equipped to sow 50 acres with poison balt within five min-On ahead the scouter craft sought out more formations and likely landing fields.

The department of entomology concentrator its fire on the grasshoppers overrunning thousands of acres of idle pasture land.

On adjacent crop lands, farmers themselves supported the offensive with mechanized equipment and poison bait furnished by the government.

Into the struggle were thrown 17 pickup trucks pulling poison bait spreaders, 14 bait spreaders and 15 one and one-half ton trucks carrying bait for ammunition On cool days, most favorable for spreading operations, the eight planes flew over 38,200 acres within eight hours Behind the planes and the bait spreaders came mop-up squads to

CONGRESS

To the people of Howard County:

I am deeply grateful for the loyalty and support which the people of Howard County have given me throughout my service in Congress. I have worked hard in Washington and tried to grow in influence in order that I might be of greater service to our District and our Nation and in the hope that I might justify to the best of my ability the faith you have shown in me.

I will deeply appreciate your again remembering me on elec-tion day. The sessions of Congress and my work on the Ap-propriations Committee in connection with national defense have made it impossible for me to be in our District for the primary campaign, but I know you have understood the situation. My thanks and best wishes to all.

It's been eight years since L. A. Woods was ast elected to the office of state superintendent ublic instruction; he is serving his fourth m and is asking for a fifth. For the sake of the record it may be honestly said by Mr. Wood's orters that some progress has been made in the state school system during his administration; but it may be open to question as to whether the school system has made the progress it should ave made, or any more than it would under any series of articles which have appeared to The Herald written by an Austin observer, has reviewed some of the things that happened dur-Mr. Woods' years in office, and not all of things are such to argue convincingly for wing Mr. Woods another term.

The state department has been under fire frequent occasions, legislative inquiries and unditor's examinations have suggested cases of improper conduct among departmental employes; cases of waste and extravagance have been listed; widence was produced to show an unusual interest on the part of the department in the results of the 1936 political campaign in which deputy superintendents were requested to make - Time For A Change?

a box-by-box survey of the vote. A letter from the Austin office to the deputies said Mr. Woods "feels this information will help him in the school program." There is ground for curiosity as to the probable good an election table would have on the formulation of a program to better the educational opportunities of the children of this

A legislative committee investigating the state department found that "the employes of the department, specially including the employes in the higher brackets, were called on at least every election year to donate campaign expenses of the state superintendent."

The findings of many investigating committees seem to indicate that Mr. Woods has been exceptionally able in building up a department that would work to his aims, even if the aims sometimes approached the political.

The voters should exercise enough interest in their public school system to see if this is the type of organization that is serving the best interests of the school children and the taxpavers who foot the bills If they delved into the matter thoroughly, they probably would be balloting for a change this year.

WASHINGTON-Leaves from a Chicago

Be sure to notify Wall street and the bookies that the odds aiready are on the democrats to remain in power. They are not wonderful odds, but they are an edge. They're 5 to 4.

Here's how. Of the 18 men who have been minated in Windy City conventions, 10 have con blown right into the White House by No mber balloting. The first was Abe Lincoln, in 90, when managers for Dick Horse Abe packed he galleries of the old Wigwam (which looked like an oversized pit for cockfights) and swept their candidate into power with as wild a hullacalloo as the city ever has seen Cleveland (twice), Grant, Garfield, Blaine, evelt L Harrison, Harding, Taft and Rooseat II all got "mandates" here—and residences Washington.

Old-timers around here like Pat Nash, the ite-haired veteran of Illinois politics, tell me hat the "hottest" convention ever held here wasn't democratic, but republican. It was 1912, then Roosevelt I, trying to rough-ride over Taft, got his cars pinned back in a scrap over scating of delegates and "took a walk" with his Bull Moose party. The politicians who figure Chicago the luckiest convention city in the land add the Bull Moose convention nomination of Teddy, because although he didn't win the election, he did give William Howard a licking at the the admitted embezzler cannot be prosecuted because the statute of limitations has outlawed it. And, he added, the man never received any benefit from his iligotten gains because someone, who found out about his past, blackmailed him of the money.

Schmid, who conducted the investigation with Immigration Inspectors Carroll D. Paul and C. T. for citizenship papers, related that the embezzlement occurred in 1904 and involved a bank at Galveston. The cashier took the money and disappeared.

Charges were filed but were dis missed in 1908 because there was no prospect of the defendant being arrested.

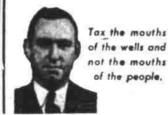

The man has resided in Dallas since 1932. He said, in a statement to Schmid, that he went from Gal veston to Costa Rica where he optained employment with a British steamship company. It was there that he was blackmailed out of the money in addi-fion to a goodly part of his salar?

"While I do not have any sympathy, for bank embezzlers, there is a providence that levels off in punishment of most all crimes and in this old man's case I think justice has been done," Schmid said.
