BODY OF YOUNG GIRL FOUND TUESDAY

HUNT FOR CALIFORNIA MURDERER EXTENDS TO PANHANDLE

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Mar. 11.—A trail of tracks and fingerprints was sought today by investigators searching for the slayer of Virginia Brooks, 10, whose dismembered body was found at Camp Kearny yesterday, just one month after her disappearance.

The girl's school books, evidently tossed from an automobile in a sack with another which contained her broken body, were being examined. Imprints of tires left in the soft soil by the car which carried the bundles to the spot where George Moses, a sheepherder, found them, were photographed. Newspaper clippings which tumbled out of the burlap sack with the body were scrutinized.

These offered slender clues which might lead to the apprehension of a killer as brutal as the one who kidnaped, slew and dismembered Marion Parker in Los Angeles four years ago. It was through fingerprints that William Edward Hickman was identified and later executed for the Parker girl's murder.

A search which spread fanwise from Oakland, Cal., across Arizona and New Mexico to the Texas Panhandle followed the disappearance of Virginia Brooks the morning of February 11 after she left her home for school.

The gruesome discovery by Moses, who was led to the sack by his sheep dog, convinced officers the girl had been slain in or near San Diego.

KIRKLAND GETS LIFE TERM

YOUTH CONVICTED OF SLAYING GIRL AT WILD PARTY

(By The Associated Press)

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11. — Bars behind the turreted walls of the state prison at Michigan City loomed ahead of Virgil Kirkland, 20 year old steel worker of Gary, Ind., today.

The former high school gridiron star was convicted last night by a Porter county jury of murdering Arlene Draves, 18, his sweetheart, during a "flaming youth" drinking party at an obscure Gary home last November.

The jury of nine farmers, a railroad telegrapher, bricklayer and a grocer, finished 12 days' work by finding him guilty of first degree murder and fixing his sentence at life imprisonment. This was an alternative from death in the electric chair which the state had demanded as punishment for the murder and attack on the girl.

Judge Grant Crumpacker will sentence Kirkland formally next Monday. Kirkland, soon after, will be taken to the Michigan City state prison to remain for the rest of his life unless Judge Crumpacker finds merit on a motion for a new trial, or a superior court finds an error in the proceedings, or future executive clemency is evoked to liberate him.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11 (AP)—Attorneys for Virgil Kirkland, found guilty of murder of Arlene Draves, his 18-year-old sweetheart at a drinking party, announced today they had uncovered new evidence from a woman witness to the tragedy which would be presented in their appeal for a new trial to save the youngster from life imprisonment.

AUTONOMY SET AS GOAL OF SPANIARDS

CATALANISTS PARTY PLANS TO PROCLAIM NEW REPUBLIC

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Mar. 11.—Dispatches from Barcelona, Spain, today said the new republican catalanist party there had published a declaration expressing Catalonia's aspiration to full autonomy and consecration to the principle of self-determination.

The declaration proclaims complete separation from civil and ecclesiastical powers so far as schools are concerned. The right to use the Catalonian language, a guarantee of protection for private property honestly acquired, the right of workmen to sufficient pay, and insurance against illness, old age and unemployment.

"The new party," the proclamation reads, "erects a republic of democracy and catalanism in their general principles. On the 22nd of March we will accomplish various public acts to inaugurate our activities."

A manifesto proclaiming a republic of Catalonia and the independence of the northeastern province of Spain, although unsigned, was given wide publicity in France. It shared attention with publication of the tripartite naval accord.

The manifesto was placarded on both sides of the frontier near the Mediterranean, particularly around the Catalonian town of Port Bou, and around the French town of Saint Jean De Luz in the bay of Biscay. French troops on the frontier were awaiting developments.

LOAN CHECKS ARE RECEIVED IN CITY

Eight checks have been mailed to Lubbock county farmers by the Federal Seed Loan Fund office at Fort Worth, increasing the total of federal crop loans to residents of this county to 37, according to the office of J. B. Shannon, head of the Lubbock county federal seed loan bureau.

Three loans—the first to come from the state office recently established at Fort Worth—were received here Tuesday morning, and five others have arrived here since then. Previously, 29 checks had been sent from the regional office at St. Louis, where Texas applications were handled before opening of the Fort Worth office.

Lubbock county loans average $200, and range from $100 to $500, according to Mr. Shannon.

A separate field meet probably will be held in each district of the area under direction of the district committee. Change of the type of meet from a competitive to a standard qualifying competition will be considered. The standard series of events is supervised so that each troop meeting specific qualifications receives a streamer-award in the event.

FLOGGING WILL BE PROBED

KIDNAPING OF DALLAS RED ORGANIZERS TO COME UP TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 11. —The Dallas county grand jury planned today to delve into mysterious circumstances connected with the reported kidnaping and flogging a week ago of J. C. Coder and Lewis Hurst, communist organizers, from the steps of the Dallas city hall and the abduction and threatening of their attorney, Charles Clifton Edwards.

Police Commissioner W. C. Graves expressed confidence last night that all investigations would bear out his belief that "the whole matter is a hoax framed as a double-barreled publicity stunt" to promote, first, sympathy for the communists, and secondly, Edwards' candidacy for city councilman.

After Mayor J. Waddy Tate and Governor Ross Sterling exchanged verbal shots by telegram yesterday, the mayor demanding the governor recall two state rangers from the investigation and Governor Sterling refusing the request, Police Chief Claude Trammell took personal direction of the investigation. He said if his investigation disclosed that any police officer had any knowledge of the abductions any such officer would be driven from the police department.

Lew Wentz, Republican, is the third member of the commission. Governor Murray's attempts to have him ousted have failed.

DIARY OF SLAIN GIRL REVEALS HER SECRETS, INTENSIFIES WIDE SEARCH

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—The anniversary of the most unhappy day of my life—the day of my birth, as he."

That's what Vivian Gordon, Broadway-wise blackmailer and vice inquiry witness, whose body was found February 26 in a Bronx park, wrote in her diary September 27, 1930.

The entry was revealed today by District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin, in charge of the investigation into the slaying.

On March 6, 1930 the woman made this entry concerning a visit to the office of her attorney:

"In John A. Redeloff's offices—looked in his memo—found that while I was in the hospital he was racing around with (name deleted) whom I introduced to him last June. Fickle persons he is.

"No wonder he had no time to see me. All men are beasts. He was also running around with (name deleted), sweetheart of a singer at the Dizzy (a

PROGRESSIVES OPEN THEIR SESSIONS

NORRIS FLAYS HOOVER FOR GOVERNMENTAL REGULATION PLAN

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The power issues was projected to the fore today by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, in opening the two-day conference of Republican and Democratic independents.

The Nebraskan who fought President Hoover, asserted the "combination" controlling the nation's power supply aims to boss both the Republican and Democratic national conventions with a view to fighting the 1932 race "on a false issue."

Warns On Partisanship

Norris disclaimed any political purpose in sponsoring the meeting but warned that "partisanship is one of the greatest evils of a Democratic form of government."

He rejected President Hoover's proposal for power regulation by the government and demanded federal operation and control of this industry which he said has organized into "the most gigantic, far-reaching and comprehensive monopoly which has ever been devised by the mind of man."

Of problems other than power, Norris said little except to mention evils besetting agriculture and labor.

"The farmer gets too little and yet the consumer has to pay too much," he asserted.

Assaults Tariff

"American agriculture, already suffering from a tariff which was too high on most of the products the farmer had to buy, was given a tariff by those who had promised to bring relief which was still higher and still more burdensome."

"American labor, suffering from the grinding evils of injunctive process," he said, had been promised relief in the last campaign.

"But those who were victorious to a great extent on account of such promises, forgot, after election the pledges which they had made and not only ignored them but frustrated every attempt which was made by the progressives in the United States senate to redeem the pledge and give relief to labor," he said.

HEARING ENDED ON PIPELINE MEASURE

BILL SEEKS TO LIMIT EARNINGS; EARLY ACTION SEEN

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 11.—Hearing on the bill by Representative Young of Wellington, proposing to limit earnings of pipeline companies to ten per cent, was concluded last night by the house committee on common carriers. Committee action on the bill probably will be taken next week, Representative Keller of Dallas, chairman, indicated.

T. P. Hunter of Wichita Falls, who has played a prominent part in the fight for the Young bill and for the Hardy bill to divorce producers, transporters and refiners of oil from the retail trade in the refined products, declared that unless some action was taken by this legislature, the death knell of the independent would be sounded and independents would be stifled through control of the market by the major oil companies.

COMMITTEE GETS PRINTING PROPOSAL

AUSTIN, Mar. 11 (AP)—After an hour of debate the senate today rereferred to its committee on printing a resolution by Rep. Graves asking that the prison system printing plant be authorized to bid on state printing jobs.

The resolution was reported out favorably by the committee last week. It was recommitted to the committee on motion of Senator Rawlins of Fort Worth.

Senator Purl said the prison plant could not exist on state work alone. He stated he understood the prison system had a "two by four" printing plant costing about $30,000.

WALKER PROBE DEMANDED

NEW YORK MAYOR IS TARGET OF ATTACK BY CITIZENS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 11.—Mayor Walker was under bombardment today by citizens demanding that his official acts be investigated.

Already magistrates' courts and the county district attorney are under official scrutiny. The mayor appoints magistrates. The district attorney is elected.

Mayor Walker

In a letter drafted for submittance to the legislature, the society for the prevention of crime asks that Samuel Seabury, already conducting two inquiries for Governor Roosevelt, empowered to inaugurate a sweeping investigation of the municipality, aiming at the removal of Mayor Walker, who is on the way to California on a vacation.

While Samuel Marcus, counsel for the society, refused to divulge the charges, newspapers understood they accused the mayor of nonfeasance in office without reflecting on his personal integrity.

NOT DISTURBED

KANSAS CITY, March 11. (AP)—Mayor James J. Walker said here today he was not disturbed by the demand of the New York society for the prevention of crime for an inquiry into his official acts and did not intend to let it interrupt his first vacation in more than a year.

BARE LOVE MART

Operations of an alleged "love market," believed to have exploited young girls in furnishing companions for gay parties with wealthy patrons and charging a fee, are under investigation at Los Angeles. Here is William Jobelman, a witness in the Pantages case, held by police after a card index of more than 100 girls was found in his office. Below is Olive Clark Day, charged with being an accessory.

CLAIM GIRLS PROCURED BY WEALTHY MEN AT HIGH PRICE

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, March 11—A whirlpool of charges growing out of the investigation of a "love bazar" in which school girls allegedly were procured at high prices for men of wealth today engulfed Alexander Pantages, theatre magnate who still is fighting a conviction of having attacked Eunice Pringle, young dancer, in August, 1929.

Jesse H. Shreve, prominent San Diego business man; John P. Mills, Los Angeles and San Diego real estate millionaire; William Jobelmann, former publicity agent, and Olive Clark Day were named with Pantages in a complaint issued by District Attorney Thomas Whelan.

Girl Involved

The complaint and another, charging Shreve, Mills, Jobelmann and the woman with four counts involving a girl, was the outgrowth of an investigation of the activities here of an alleged "girl mart" recently exposed in Los Angeles with the arrests of Mills, Jobelmann and Mrs. Day.

Whelan charged Jobelmann and Mrs. Day, alleged operators of the "girl mart," brought Helen Livingston, 17, here from Los Angeles October 30 last with the assistance of Mills, and that Shreve paid the girl for acting as Pantages' companion at a hotel. The second complaint charged that Lydia Nitto, 16, another purported "market girl" similarly was brought here by Mills, Shreve, Jobelmann and the woman.

Shreve Posts Bond

Shreve surrendered and posted $25,000 bond in justice court. He denied all the allegations and said he "would like to see the girls named."

Pantages, who was in Agua Calente, Mexico, with Mrs. Pantages, when the charges were filed, said over the telephone he was innocent.

Pantages' attorney rushed here from Los Angeles last night and made preparations to arrange the vaudeville impresario's bond, but Mr. and Mrs. Pantages did not return from Mexico. The attorneys Plaid the theatre magnate would come to San Diego and surrender today.

HAIR RESTORERS MADE TO DRINK ARE DESCRIBED; END OF BALDNESS SEEN

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—Hair restorers made to drink were described to the International Beauty congress today as a scientific hope for bald heads.

After 2,000 years of mostly rubbing remedies on the outside, said Dr. Herman Goodman of New York, the cause of one of the most ordinary types of baldness is beginning to appear deep in the sympathetic nervous system. This system controls involuntary activity.

Certain drugs, taken internally, have partly confirmed its connection with baldness.

This type of baldness denudes the top of the pate, leaving the well known fringe at sides and back. The Roman writer Celsus first described it 2,000 years ago, said Dr. Goodman. Celsus, like everyone since, noted that this loss begins after adolescence.

Recently, said Dr. Goodman, scientific evidence has been ad-

ANOTHER BEING SOUGHT IN OKLAHOMA

ATTENDANT AT FILLING STATION SHOOTS AS BANDITS FLEE

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 11.—One man was shot and killed and another escaped in an automobile today when the pair attempted to rob the First National bank of Harrah, 20 miles east of here.

The slain man, unidentified at noon, had in his possession about $3,000 loot from the bank. The robber who escaped took with him approximately $250 in silver.

Walter Fallwell, filling station attendant across the street from the bank, shot the robber with a shot gun as the two emerged with the money.

Became Suspicious

Farwell told officers he became suspicious of the two as they entered the bank and obtained his shot gun and waited for them to come out.

In the bank were O. O. McClugg, V. F. Miles, Miss Leah Rausch, bank officials and employes, and one customer.

The escaping robber fled eastward out of Harrah toward Shawnee, Fallwell said.

Suit To Set Aside Default Divorce Up

LOS ANGELES, March 11. (AP)—The suit of Mrs. Rose Lorraine to set aside a default divorce obtained by David G. Lorraine, inventor of a gas separating device used in oil fields, went to trial here yesterday.

Community property valued at approximately $1,016,500, is involved.

Mrs. Lorraine seeks also to void a property settlement agreement made Aug. 27, 1925, in which she obtained $10,000. She charged her husband obtained her signature on the agreement by fraud and misrepresentations that he was bankrupt. Lorraine won a divorce decree by default in Texas in 1927.

SURPRISE HERE NEXT MONDAY

FASHIONS ARE TO BE SHOWN IN WINDOWS OF MERCHANTS

A salutary surprise awaits Lubbock!

The latest 1931 offers in ready to wear, dry goods, home furnishings and allied lines will be revealed when the contents of local dealers' display windows are disclosed next Monday evening at 7:30 in a city-wide demonstration of authentic fashions.

Merchants are preparing intently for the showing. But for the daily arrivals from the fashion centers, the prospect might look dark for the window unveiling, so common has become the spectacle of a garment emerging from its tissue wrappings right into the arms of a waiting customer, with scarcely a halt for the gracile touch of the presser's iron. But these new shipments are arriving to be saved for this special event and windows are being prepared for the showing.

Whatever traces of depression there might have been in the stores has disappeared with the preparations for the style parade. The activities presage a crowded downtown section on next Monday. Arrangements are being made so that every citizen of Lubbock and vicinity will be afforded opportunity to view the spring offerings.

BUTLER PLANS TO RAISE PRO ISSUE

PASADENA, Cal., March 11. (AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, said today he would bring up the prohibition issue in the Republican party for the presidential election of 1932.

"And there will be many others with me," he said. "The 18th amendment must be repealed and the police power returned to the states."

Dr. Butler is here on a short vacation.

Dates Of Convention In Lubbock Are Set

Dates of the state convention here of the Texas League of Municipalities and City Managers association will be June 15, 16 and 17, according to a report from Harvey W. Draper, secretary, of Houston.

Mr. Draper will arrive in Lubbock next Monday to confer with City, chamber of commerce, and Texas Technological college officials in connection with the convention.

TO SET POLICY ON RUSSIA

ADMINISTRATION WILL ANSWER QUESTION FOR ITSELF

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Recognition of Soviet Russia is an official question the Hoover administration intends to answer for itself.

For the last two years the United States has followed a Russian policy laid down by former administrations. Secretary Stimson, believing there might be some need for a change, has decided to look into the situation.

Has Open Mind

So, with an open mind and a mass of background, he hopes to formulate a "definite" official attitude toward the government that rules more land than any other.

Stimson will review the entire problem of Russian affairs before mapping any policy. Since he took office he has been primarily occupied with other European countries, the far east and Latin America. With no momentous questions concerning these now awaiting his attention, he will be comparatively free to determine if there should be a change toward Russia.

As enunciated eight years ago by Charles Evans Hughes when secretary of state, the American policy has been that Russia must settle its official and private obligations to the United States and its citizens and cease its propaganda activities intended to overthrow the American government. Repudiated Russian obligations to American citizens are estimated to be near $400,000,000, while there also is in the balance a $187,000,000 credit extended by the United States to the provisional government which followed the czar.

Face Unusual Problem

Recent agitation of embargoes on Russian goods has been responsible to some extent for Secretary Stimson's decision. The state and treasury departments have been facing an unusual problem under the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, which forbade the importation of goods produced by forced or convict labor.

The question or trade is not a small one. In the Soviet's fiscal year ended last October American exports totaled $145,000,000 and imports $32,000,000, or 28 per cent more than ever before.

Most of this was handled through the Amtorg Trading corporation, unofficial Soviet agency which drew some criticism from a special house committee after its investigation of communism.

HELEN KELLER NOW TURNS TO RADIO; SHE'S SEEKING ONE FOR THE DEAF; EXPLANATION OF HER PLAN IS OUTLINED

PHILADELPHIA. — A radio by which the deaf may be enable to "hear" is the task set for scientists and inventors by Miss Helen Keller, famous for her accomplishments in having virtually overcome the triple handicap of being deaf, dumb and blind.

A radio speaker capable of emitting vibrations that can be received sensitively by the deaf, Miss Keller declares, should be more simple of development than television and would be an inestimable boon to humanity. That such a development is possible, she states, is clearly borne out by the fact that, even with present radio speakers, she can now identify the kind of program being presented, can distinguish spoken words from the music and can even identify certain instruments in musical numbers.

Miss Keller presented this problem recently to A. Atwater Kent, Philadelphia radio manufacturer.

"If you could construct a speaker," she said, "which would concentrate the second as it is concentrated when it comes through the lips, then the deaf could hear."

Shows How She "Hears"

Miss Keller demonstrated what she meant by "listening" to Mr. Kent, by placing her fingers against her lips, throat and nose as he spoke. Through the sound vibrations thus received she was able to follow his conversation as freely as others in the room with normal hearing.

"The one thing I want most before I die," she declared, "is to hear. Even with the speakers now made I can distinguish the click of the words, the rhythm of music and even the presence of certain instruments.

Helen Keller shows A. Atwater Kent how a radio set can be made for the deaf to hear. By touching her fingers to his throat, nose and lips, she can 'hear' him speak.

Likes Violin and Drums

"My favorite instrument is the violin. Oh, how it sings—I love it! It is so clear, so penetrating, so vibrant! And the drums—beating time. Their throbbing is plain, distinct.

"But the other instruments I cannot get so clearly. An orchestra becomes just a confused jumble of vibrations in which even the rhythm is often largely lost."

The marvels of sound vibration, learned by Miss Keller, which enable her to speak accurately words which she never has heard, she believes may be made to carry the sense, if not actually the sound, of words to thousands of deaf unfortunates who have not had her oportunity for specialized training. Certainly, she insists the way may be opened to the enjoyment of music by the deaf, since the sense of rhythm and tone conveyed through touch carries unmistakable pleasure to deaf "listeners."

POLICE ROW IS ALL FIXED UP

EAST HAZEL CREST, Ill. March 11 (AP)—Folks in this hamlet can stop worrying about highwaymen, bandits, bank robbers and the like now.

Their one-man police force, Clem Hankins, who was locked up in his own jail because he refused to tell two highway policemen the whereabouts in his town of some folks they wanted to arrest, got the matter all straightened out yesterday.

Hankins promised to be more friendly to visiting policemen in the future.

CONSIDERATION ASSURED

TOPEKA, Kas., Mar. 11 (AP)—Consideration on the senate floor of an oil proration measure virtually was assured when the senate oil and gas committee reported without recommendation an amended form of the house-approved Carpenter bill.

Practically all threatened strikes in Norway last year were settled by arbitration.

Wealth Returns

When J. Ogden Armour, Chicago packer, died some years ago he left Mrs. Armour in reduced circumstances financially. The other day Mrs. Ogden was examining some "worthless" stocks in an oil "cracking" company he had left her, and decided to see if the stocks had any value at all. She investigated—and shortly thereafter sold the stock for more than $8,000,000 to two big oil companies.

JOSEPH COTTON SUCCUMBS

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF DIPLOMACY, LAW, FINANCE

BALTIMORE, March 11. —(AP)—Ending a career that was unique in the fields of diplomacy, law and finance, Joseph Potter Cotton died here yesterday after having undergone two major operations in six weeks.

He was regarded as one of the keenest men ever drafted into government service, working as undersecretary of state in a manner that brought him praise from high and low alike. His latest diplomatic achievement preceding a breakdown in health was that of successfully handling affairs of state while Secretary Stimson attended the London naval conference.

Eye Removed

Last summer, Cotton took a leave of absence in an effort to rebuild his vitality. A tonsilitomy failed to give desired results and last January he underwent an operation for spinal infection. On February 16 his right eye was removed, but the end could not be forestalled.

With him when he died in Johns Hopkins hospital were his wife, his daughter, Isabel, and his New York law partner, George S. Franklin. He had been visited by his chief, Secretary Stimson, and the White House physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone.

Born at Newport, Rhode Island, July 22, 1878, Cotton graduated from the Harvard law school 25 years later.

Friend of Hoover

A friend of President Hoover because of his work with the chief executive when the latter was food administrator, he was appointed undersecretary of state in May of 1929.

In Washington President Hoover saw the death as a "great loss to the government and to our country." Secretary Stimson said Cotton had "rendered service of literally inestimable value."

A successor to Cotton has not been appointed, although William R. Castle, Jr., assistant secretary for far eastern and European affairs, has been mentioned.

A Great Bend, Kas., hunter who had shot at scores of ducks without ever bagging one finally struck and killed one with his car.

Wins Divorce

An absolute decree of divorce has been granted in London to Evelyn Laye, above, English musical comedy star who has scored a success on the American stage. She charged her husband, Robert Hale Munro, known on the stage as Bonnie Hale, with misconduct with another actress.

Lubbock Men Attend Show At Fort Worth

Promoting a registered Hereford auction which will be held here in connection with the first annual Panhandle-South Plains Fat Calf Pig and Meat show, several Lubbock men are attending the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth.

Dr. I. E. Barr, sales manager of the Hereford sale which will be conducted here March 27, is one of the Lubbock men attending the annual exposition.

Sam Arnett, a member of the committee, is also in Fort Worth attending the show and boosting for the local affair George Boles is another committee member as is W. L. Stangel, of Texas Technological college and one of the Fort Worth show superintendents. Dr. Barr left last night.

The local men are to be special guests at the feeder-breeder banquet to be held tonight in Fort Worth.

VISIT OF KING AND QUEEN OF SIAM TO AMERICA TO BE TRIP TO DOCTOR

BY HAZEL REAVIS

NEW YORK, Mar. 11. (AP)—King Prajaohipok of Siam and his wife, Queen Rambai Barni, probably consider their impending visit to America a mere trip to the doctor, for the king is coming to New York in April to be treated for cataract.

But for democratic America, where royalty is novelty, their arrival is an interesting event in the rather brief history of royal visits.

Has Absolute Power

It is a long time since Americans saw a monarch who wields the absolute power of King Prajaohipok, seventh monarch of a dynasty.

There was the visit of Queen Marie of Rumania and the 1924 sojourn of the Prince of Wales at the Long Island home of James A. Burden.

Before that were visits from the Infanta Eulalia of Spain, and Princess Theresa of Bavaria, sister of the king, and in 1860 a famous extended visit from the then Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII.

King Edward's call created so much enthusiasm here guests at the ball in his honor broke the dance floor and pulled down decorations. Carpenters had to prop up the floor before the party could go on.

He played tenpins with the inmates of a young ladies' seminary, his grandson substituted squash raquets at the highty-tighty raquet and tennis club for tenpins when he came to New York 60 years later.

When the present Prince wanted to dance one of New York's night clubs was closed to all but invited guests, when the other Prince of Wales danced in 1860, 2,000 persons performed quadrilles with him.

When the Infanta Eulalia came she upset the home folks by smoking a cigarette at the World's fair in Chicago.

Only a few years ago Queen Marie moved a faction of the W. C. T. U. convention at Steubenville, O., to attempt to censure her for smoking cigarettes, but the motion was lost.

BUSINESS AT BIG SPRING INCREASES

Although business in Big Spring is improving only slowly, it is "indicative of an upward trend," said Charles T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Watson was in Lubbock to attend the airmail conference Tuesday.

Big Spring is planning an expansion program that will likely give an impetus to general conditions. Farm conditions in general are much brighter than during the winter, he added.

Defeat of the proposed bond issue for $900,000 recently was in part due to the fact that the railroad shops at Big Spring had been closed temporarily, a ten day layoff having been started two or three days before the election, according to Mr. Watson.

"We are going back to our towns and advertise for air mail," Mr. Watson said in a discussion of the proposed mail service. "I believe if we can educate our people to the advantage of air mail, it will be only the matter of a few months until we can work up enough mail to make it interesting."

HOBBS, N. M. (Staff Special)—The Hobbs Chamber of Commerce has moved from its original location on Turner street to Carlsbad street. The S. C. Gurley Insurance agency and a short distance from the postoffice, is now the headquarters of O. C. Goodwin, secretary.

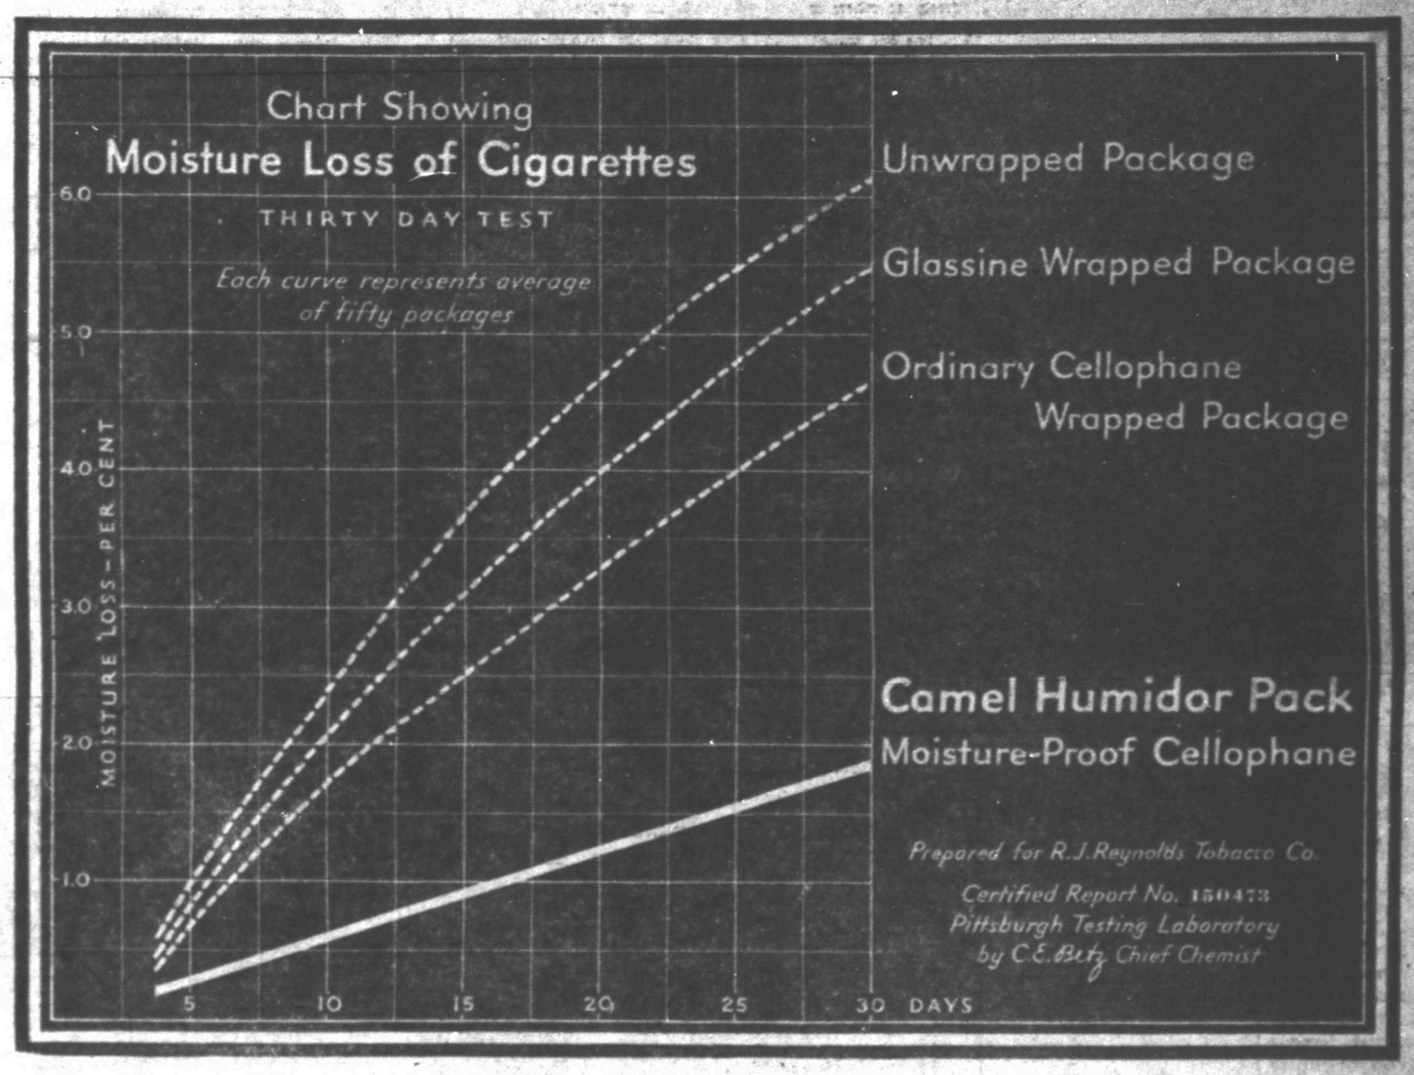
Smoke a FRESH Cigarette!



Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory Chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

THE whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the prime freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack.

The above chart prepared by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory tells you why.

Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels!

The Humidor Pack is moisture proof and sealed air-tight at every point. It protects the rich, flavorful aroma of the choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

Make these tests yourself

It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

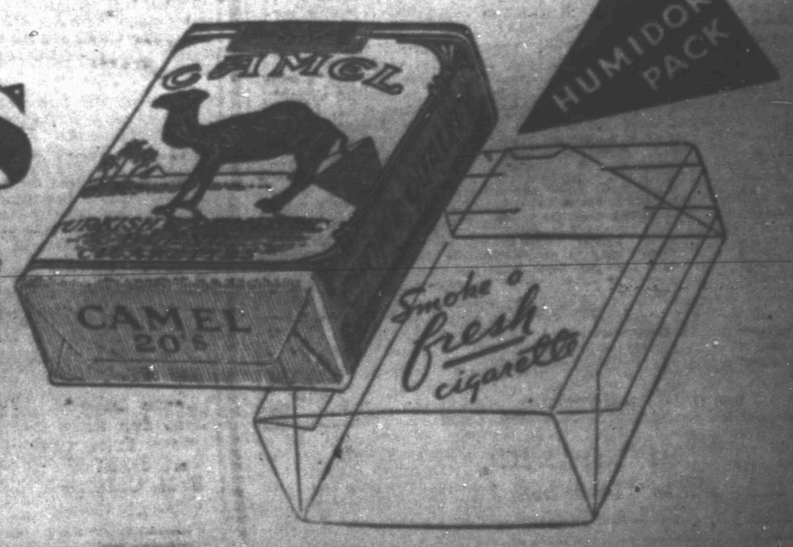
CAMELS



Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

More than 73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan was driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure — to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

Thought For Today

So are the paths of all that forget God; and the hypocrite's hope shall perish.—Job 8:13.

Hypocrisy is nothing, in fact, but a horrible hopefulness. — Victor Hugo.

Beyond The Stars

The real poets and artists of this modern world sometimes seem to be the scientists.

Dr. Frederick H. Sears is assistant director of Mount Wilson Observatory, in California, and hardly rates as a visionary. But it is just such men as he who dream strange dreams and see bright visions these days, and draw stupendous pictures out of the gulf beyond the stars.

The other day Dr. Sears discovered a cosmic sunset—a tremendous, wildly spectacular affair somewhere beyond the great star Alpha Cygni, several hundred trillion miles away. In that remote region, millions of leagues in extent, some 750 stars are creating a gigantic sunset—throwing bright beams of light through a strange dust cloud, wasting millions of miles of brilliant colors on empty space so profoundly distant that we cannot measure it except in figures that our minds cannot grasp.

There is mystery in it, too, and a hint of undiscovered worlds, just as there is in all good sunsets. For the dying light of these sinking stars is illumined by the edge of one of the most mysterious of all wonders of the heavens; the great "North American" nebula, a dark shape that for some incomprehensible reason bears the shape of the North American continent. Beyond this floating continent the stars go down; and a telescope on a California mountain picks up the glow of a sunset that happened hundreds of years ago.

Now all of this is just a routine pronouncement from a sedate scientist; but it also happens to be the stuff of which poetry, and all high art, is made. For what is it, after all, but the detection in the outer void of a wild and compelling bit of beauty such as Blake might have conjured up? What is it but a piercing of the veil that divides the seen from the unseen, just as poets and all artists have striven to do for many centuries?

Rudyard Kipling, looking ahead to the same time when earth's last picture is painted, predicted:

And those that were good shall be happy;
they shall sit in a golden chair;
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair.

And here, beyond the mysterious North American nebula, it is happening; a prodigious sunset, with the light from hundreds of stars turning a cosmic dust cloud into gold and crimson and amber .... splashing at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comets' hair .... material for dreams and visions.

There is no getting around it. It is the scientist who is the poet today.

Capone

Al Capone, Chicago's "Public Enemy No. 1," faces six months in prison for contempt of court. He may even serve the sentence some day, if the appeals which he will most certainly make should finally fail him.

And what if he does? Is this the best that the forces of law and order in a country of 120,000,000 people can do to punish a man who has flagrantly defied them, and then laughed in their faces? For the effrontery of the man in lolling about in luxury on Florida beaches, and in issuing statements that he is deeply grieved that people have said unkind things about him, is almost more offensive than his entire career.

Chicago doesn't care. That is perfectly plain. For if enough citizens of Chicago wanted Capone called to account for his misdeeds among them, he would have accounted long ago.

So the best that can be done is for the federal government to harass these outlaws with petty persecutions, arrests based on unpaid income taxes, with the Chicago police concocting fantastic charges of vagrancy.

The Plainsman

That Girl on Broadway says her father's so pessimistic that when Gabriel blows his horn he'll swear the tooting's off key.

* * *

THE news that College avenue is to be paved, 40 feet wide, by the state and the county, is particularly welcome but the added information that there'll probably be a parkway, "like on Broadway," in the middle, doesn't sound so good. After such a sorry experience with parkways it's a wonder that anybody would want to try another such 'noble experiment.'

Of course, beggars can't be choosers and half a loaf is better than no vacation. Mebbe The Plainsman should be glad to see any kind of paving on College avenue, parkway or no parkway. But unless some county, state or college department is responsible for its upkeep you can look for that parkway—if any—to be just about as beautiful as those we already have.

* * *

Incidentally, Doctor Horn gives a large slice of credit for the paving to Regent Houston Harte, who went to Austin to help put the proposition over. While the San Angelo newspaperman doesn't get to Lubbock often, he is always working for Tech. His influence has doubtless been of prime importance to Tech.

* * *

WHAT a whale of a difference an oil play makes! If you don't believe that, ask any of your friends in East Texas, where new wealth has been pouring out of the ground for the last few weeks.

Take the city of Tyler, for instance.

With the exception of the fact that it is the home town of Tomas—and that's the way he spells it—Pollard, of senate fame, Tyler wasn't heard of for years but now a fellow hears Tyler everywhere he goes.

An absolute stranger to building permit stories, Tyler has now reached the point where it is one of the state's building leaders and it's not amiss to opine that the East Texas city has just started to expand. Oil wells help—and no foolin'.

The Plainsman is one West Texan who does not begrudge East Texas its new found prosperity. In the first place, a lot of our best citizens out here came from East Texas and we ought to be thankful to East Texas for raisin' 'em up. Then, too, if the oil play hadn't come along, the chances are East Texas would have up and crawled into its shell for ever and a day.

* * *

THIS is a great big old state, with plenty of room in it. East Texas can prosper without hurting West Texas and West Texas can prosper without hurting East Texas. Whenever West, North, East, South and Central Texas get together and pull together, we'll have a better All Texas—which, in the final analysis, is what we're all looking for.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the eternal triangle is usually followed by the infernal wrecktangle.

WELL, folks, it won't be long now. In another few weeks the pee-wee gawf courses will be ready for use and The Plainsman is going to be happy. If there's anything he likes in the way of violent exercise, it's the run courses that dot the city—and it sure does help a fellow to get out in the great outdoors.

* * *

If there's any more kick in sinking a 30-foot putt over cotton-seed greens than there is in getting a birdie on a zig-zag diaper-course hole, it's a good thing The Plainsman has never gone in for sure 'nough gawf. He'd be a raving maniac in no time.

* * *

A lot of folks poked fun at the premature gawf courses but, like the old Model-T Fords, they thrived on the joke publicity. Some of the most dignified people in Lubbock went Berserk over the baby links last year and The Plainsman is willing to hazard that the same thing will hold good with the return of balmy nights.

* * *

Maybe the Scotch courses were a fad, like a lot of folks said they were—and maybe they hurt a man's regular game, as some of their critics contended. But it's a load pipe cinch that they offered harmless, happy recreation to a lot of people who otherwise would have had to sit at home at the tail end of a scorching day.

* * *

The Plainsman doesn't own any stock in any of the abbreviated cowpasture pool plots in Lubbock. If he was rich he'd have some. But he's an enthusiast of the first water when it comes to the midget game and doesn't care who knows it.

* * *

There are some people who have it in for the little links—there are some people who have it in for the church and the government and everything else—but all in all they're a good thing and they keep a lot of folks out of mischief. People who are out under the lights, in full view of a score of other folks are not likely to do much damage and they can't even cuss very loud for fear their preacher might be negotiating the neighbor green. The sample courses may keep a few people awake but they also keep a lot of others out of jail. Life matrimony, their good points far outnumber their bad ones.

Ambassador And Finance Minister, Stovepipe Hat And All, Spend Three Hours Between Floors As Elevator Stuck

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—The ambassador who tells this story would be very sore if his name were mentioned.

Ambassadors, above all other persons here, feel that they must preserve their dignity in the public eye. But it's a good story, just the same.

He was entertaining the finance minister of his country. His family was at the time in the homeland. It's a big embassy, but the man who opens the door and also drives visitors up to the ambassador in the elevator was having a night off. The ambassador and the finance minister had a joint dinner date. The ambassador undertook to operate the elevator as they started in stovepipe hats, to the ground floor.

Between floors the elevator stuck. That was at about 7:30 p. m. They stayed in that elevator until after 11 p. m. There were no seats.

"What on earth did you talk about?" asked the correspondent.

"Everything in the world until my man returned," said the ambassador. "Of course, before very long we were sitting on the floor. The one thing I remember is that I told him that our diplomatic establishments abroad were in serious need of more liberal appropriation to keep our plants in good repair. For instance, I said, the elevator. Since then we have been able to afford a new elevator. But don't you even publish this story or I will kill you with my own hand."

One can always make the overworked girls of the U. S. Employment Service happy by passing along the word that Washington is just as bad a place as any other to which to come looking for a job. Folks out of town appear to be stimulated every time Congress appropriates a few hundred million dollars for something or other. But the fact is that there is less than the ordinary opportunity for government jobs.

The Civil Service Commission, it may be noted, is holding fewer examinations than ever, and the explanation given is that resignations from the federal payroll are down to a minimum. That's natural enough, of course, because ordinarily when employes leave the government service—except on retirement — they are leaving to take more lucrative jobs in private business. Just now, private business hasn't very many posts to fill.

And there are many persons who used to work for Uncle Sam who left him but still retained their civil service status, who are trying to get back after falling victims to the depression and joining the ranks of the unemployed.

The death of the widow of Admiral Dewey of Spanish-American War fame recalled the fact that for more than 12 years his name was carried in the Washington telephone directory by Mrs. Dewey for sentimental reasons. Last year, before she died, the telephone company persuaded her to drop it, and the listing became that of Mrs. Dewey.

The idiosyncrasy was not confined to Mrs. Dewey. One knows of other widows in the capital, whose husbands were not so famous, who somehow cannot stand the thought of changing the listing.

The American Automobile Association, after an "exhaustive survey," boasts that the expenditure for travel by Americans in 1930 was about five billion dollars and that the annual vacation bill for Americans is now practically equal to the value of our foreign trade. The A. A. A. estimates that vacation motor tours in the United States cost some $3,200,000,000 with about $750,000,000 for vacation railroad travel, about $500,000,000 for American vacation travel in Europe and the Orient and about $325,000,000 by American tourists in Canada.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Hygiene of Women," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

TOOTH HEALTH IS GAINED BY CORRECT DIET

I touched on this subject a week or two ago, but there has just come to notice a report that is too interesting to allow to pass by. At the risk of repetition, then, I shall describe the work of the Mellanbys, husband and wife in England.

Dr. Clendening

Perhaps the best way to introduce the subject is by quoting Professor Mellanby's own words:

"It is now possible in animals to produce any degree of perfection or imperfection of teeth by different diets given during the period of dental development."

Isn't that an outstanding fact? You can take one litter of animals, and no matter how healthy they are otherwise you can make them have bad teeth by giving them a certain diet. While another litter nearby, in the same climate and environmental conditions, is made to have sound teeth simply from another diet.

"Substances tending to produce perfectly calcified, bright, shiny and evenly arranged teeth include milk, egg yolk, cod liver oil, or indeed any substances rich in vitamin D, while cereals in the absence of sufficient vitamin D produce defectively calcified, dull and discolored, unevenly arranged teeth."

Teeth, of course, require calcium which they get in milk. Hence the value of milk in the diet. Apparently they also require vitamin D and other vitamins found in egg yolk.

Dental decay is very common in England, and studies such as the Mellanbys performed are for that reason particularly valuable. They found, for instance, that in 1600 English school children 95 per cent had defective structure of the back molars, and that 85 per cent of these had decay. But the encouraging fact is that on diet alone much of this could be remedied. Not only prevented, mind you, but remedied after it had occurred.

For instance, using animal experiments, an attempt was made to find out the damage done by attrition and injury of the teeth. When artificial attrition was performed on a dog's teeth by rubbing them with a file, it was found that the teeth react by producing in the dentine adjacent to the dental pulp, some new secondary dentine. It was found that the production of this secondary dentine was controllable by the same dietetic means as controlled the primary dental structure.

So we may conclude that not only will proper diet prevent dental decay, but will actually help to stop it after it has begun.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

F. H. S., Kansas: "A child had an attack of infantile paralysis six weeks ago. She has recovered except that she drags her foot as she walks. Should she stay off her feet as much as possible, or exercise and massage the foot?"

Answer: Exercise is recommended for infantile paralysis cases after the acute stage of invasion is passed. It helps to restore the full amount of motion of which the paralyzed muscles are to become capable. Walking on a badly crippled foot may possibly cause deformities. The whole question is an individual one which should be left to the doctor in charge.

Gov. Long Continues War Against Critics

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 11. (AP)—Governor Huey P. Long Tuesday carried his war against his critics into the camp of the Louisiana public service commission by announcing he had just stricken off the commission payrolls "all the cousins and other relatives" of commissioners Dudley Leblanc and Francis Williams and the latter's brother, Augustus Williams, former recorder of mortgages at New Orleans.

"And this time they'll stay off," the governor declared.

The commission had held Governor Long responsible for the increase in gravel rates west of the Mississippi river.

SWAN

In Barbary With Gilbert Swan

MEKNES, North Africa. — All through the day, overtones of brooding melodrama had been creeping into the passing panorama of fascinating realities. These realities were in the form of historic ruins and shrines, which time had crumbled but had failed to erase. The drama had taken the form of incidents which threatened to become theatrical at any moment.

I had come to the heights of Volubilis just in time to find an enthusiastic scientific expedition chief in the process of tearing his hair with glee. Volubilis is an old Roman town, last stand of the Romans in this part of the world and bit by bit workmen have been digging up forums and arches and beautifully tiled bathing pools and other relics of an old civilization.

But just a few moments before my car stopped at the rim of the hill, there had been uncovered a slab which carried an historic series of carvings which was being slowly translated and cast some unimportant light on a vanished emperor and a couple of Roman celebrities.

Then there had been Mulai Idriss, shrine and resting place of one of the holiest of sainted figures of African antiquity—a fabulous little town perched some 1000 feet over a valley on a hill's tip. Until the French arrived, no white man was allowed to desecrate its holy soil. At this moment, you'll hear that white men who linger after sundown disappear. The gates are supposed to be closed to all but good Moslems after darkness falls.

Again, just outside this ancient town, I had come through a series of green and tilted gardens, to rub my eyes at the sight of a woman in black and white flowing robes—a former princess of Egypt, who oversees another task of Roman excavation, and who strides back and forth, a romantic and picturesque figure in the midst of ruins slowly taking shape.

There was the reality of a fine dinner . . . night fell and the guide promised the sight of an underworld filled with legends of violence. . .

So just before midnight, I found myself standing near a small Moorish gateway. Suddenly there was a scuffle and at our very feet a figure fell, drunken and bloody, prodded slightly by a bayonet.

We entered. The courier advised holding one's hat firmly, hiding fountain pens, eye glasses or other objects of apparel that could be easily grabbed.

"That's the game of the girls here. They grab your hat, your specs—anything—then they run inside. When you chase them in, the door slams behind you. And then—well, it's up to you to get away with your valuables."

In another second we were in an incredible hodge-podge of unreality. Arabs in darkened doorways, black men from the desert and a vast line of assorted tenderloin figures — girls from every tribe, hottentots to half-caste French and black.

In still another second, began a struggle such as only a subway straphanger could survive. Three women were dragging at my neck and coat. I lashed out, pushed one squarely in the face and she sprawled on the cobblestone. I feared trouble, looked about for my guide and friends. A big circle of Arabs had begun to form. They were laughing heartily. Not so the girl. She was cursing in Arabic . . . had picked up stones and begun to hurl them. I backed against the wall. The girl was spitting at me. I called for Gaye, my guide. He hurried up with a small whip drawn. The crowd laughed more loudly. Then the glisten of bayonets against a flickering light from somewhere inside . . . The police rushed up . . . The crowd dispersed . . . The girl vanished.

And again we were fighting our way toward the exit.

The whole thing was as unreal as a melodramatic flash of a movie thriller. We were back under the open sky.

This was indeed a town where the theatrical superimposed itself upon ancient realities.

High-toned waiters who look askance at the dime you leave them should realize that that's all John D. ever gives.

Speaking of tough breaks, consider that St. Paul boy who recently suffered his 22nd fracture.

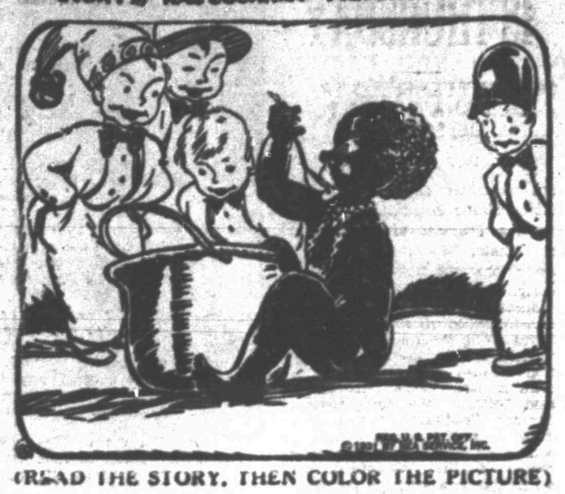
THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING



(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hurray!" cried Clowny. "Look at me! I'm just as clever as can be. I've hooked a trout that is the biggest I have ever seen. It came about just as I like. I threw my line and got a strike. And then the rest was up to me. At hooking them I'm keen."

"That's great," said Scouty. "Watch me, now! I'm going to hook one, too, somehow. I've tried and tried, but had no luck. Now I will try once more." "Aw, just be patient," Clowny said. "Above all else, don't lose your head. I know you'll never catch a single fish if you get sore."

They watched poor Scouty for a spell and then there came a sudden yell. "At last! At last!" wee Scouty cried. "I've also turned the trick." And, sure enough, upon his line there was a fish that looked just fine. The Travel Man exclaimed, "Well say, we're getting pretty slick."

For hours and hours they fished away and with good luck, all made it pay. Before 'twas time for supper they had caught a dandy mess. The Travel Man then said, "Let's call it off. We have enough for all. We'll cook a tasty meal which we will relish heaps, I guess."

They cooked their fish above a blaze and Coppy said, "For days and days we haven't had so good a meal." Each Tiny ate his share. It seemed they all had grown in size. They walked to get some exercise, and very shortly Coppy cried, "Hey lads look over there."

The whole bunch looked and, what a sight. They saw another tiny mite. It was a little native who was eating porridge fast. Before him stood a great big bowl. The Travel Man said, "Bless my soul! The youngster seems to wonder just how long his food will last."

ROAD HEARING IS THURSDAY

OLD BUTTERFIELD TRAIL DESIGNATION IS TO BE SOUGHT

AUSTIN, March 11 (AP)—The senate committee on highways and motor traffic scheduled for public hearing Thursday afternoon a bill by Senator Woodruff of Decatur asking that the Butterfield trail be designated as a state highway.

Speaking in behalf of his bill, Senator Woodruff said some of the towns along the route of the Butterfield trail opposed its designation because it would disturb affairs in their trade territory. He said Coleman, the home town of Senator Woodward, opposed it because it sought another highway connection and thought the designation of the Butterfield trail would interfere with the project.

"Hands Off" Urged

Woodruff was asked why he did not go to the highway department and have it designate the road. Members of the committee said the legislature would be besieged with requests to designate historic routes if it did not stop making designations. They stated they believed designation work should be left to the highway department, and that the legislature should strike a "hands off" pose.

Woodruff said the Butterfield trail covered approximately 790 miles in Texas, extending from Denison to El Paso. He explained that approximately 500 of the 700 miles were maintained miles of state highway.

In talking of the historic significance of the Butterfield trail, Woodruff said congress authorized the post master general in 1857 to call for bids on an overland mail route from the Mississippi to California. The contract was awarded to John Butterfield who operated over the route for three years. Woodruff said the Butterfield trail passed through Denison, Sherman, Gainesville, Decatur, Bridgeport, Jacksonville, Graham, Breckenridge, Abilene, Sterling City, Fort Stockton, thence over the Old Spanish trail into El Paso.

PASS GASOLINE TAX

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 11 (AP)—The Oklahoma senate yesterday passed the emergency gasoline tax bill providing an increase of one cent a gallon until December 31, 1931. The measure was passed 26 to 18, and the emergency clause, making it effective as soon as signed by the governor, passed 39 to 5. The bill, which would make the total state gasoline tax 5 cents a gallon, goes to the house for concurrence in amendments.

HUSBANDS! HERE IS HOPE FOR BEATING PAYMENT OF ALIMONY; WIVES! HERE'S HOW TO KEEP A HUSBAND HAPPY IN HIS HOME; HERE'S WARNING AND HOPE

KANSAS CITY,—If the divorced men of America are looking for a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness of alimony and allied discomforts, Mr. French L. Nelson of Kansas City is willing to take care of the job.

Mr. Nelson, well-to-do vice prestidentof a tank company, is organizing an outfit that will be known as the D. A. M. Association—its full name, he hastens to add, being the Divorced American Men's Association He is getting an attorney to draw up a charter, and he expects it to be nation-wide in its scope.

To be eligible for membership, one must be a divorced man. Remarriage will not disqualify a suitably divorced candidate, provided that the candidate is continuing to pay alimony or meet other obligations on account of a former wife.

Mr. Nelson says that the chief purpose is to "uplift all men who have severed the relation of marriage.

It is only fair to state that it started as a joke. But Mr. Nelson got so many letters from divorced men who wanted the thing taken seriously that he reconsidered.

One of the aims of the association will be to get legislatures to modernize divorce laws and revise alimony statutes, especially in the states where husbands are penalized severely by the courts in the matter of supporting their ex-wives.

"Then," says Mr. Nelson, "the organization will ask legislatures to require wives to pay alimony, just as men do, in cases in which the wife has an income at the time of divorce. In these days of equal rights for women, there ought to be equal obligations to pay alimony."

The D. A. M. Association will have chapters in all principal cities, Nelson says.

"All we ask," observes its founder, "is that we be taken out of the class of gallery slaves and be given our rights. Like Patrick Henry, we demand our liberty."

He says the group will pay especial attention to providing legal and fraternal aid to divorced men during the first year of separation from their wives.

"Then is when a man has trying times," he says. "Later, he adjusts himself to conditions and does not find it so hard to get along."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.— The ancient problem entitled, "How Can I Hold My Husband, and Make Him Like it?" seems on the verge of being solved. A city-wide letter writing contest was recently held here on that subject, and when the mass of letters from optimistic wives had been shuffled and winnowed down there emerged, as the winner, a set of simple rules guaranteed to do the trick.

Mr. Nelson, who insists that divorced men are entitled to their rights—and will try to get them.

Mrs. Kunz, who tells how to manage a husband—and the cat she won as first prize therefor.

Winner of the contest is Mrs. Billie Kunz. She presents her rules as follows.

1—Fill the bathtub for him and give him a hand with the scrubbing of his back.

2—Keep his clothes handy, and at night lay out his pajamas, his wardrobe and his slippers on his bed.

3—Compliment him when and if he is nicely dressed, and encourage him to keep up his personal appearance.

4—Learn his likes and dislikes.

5—Talk over the current news and topics of the day with him.

6—Ask him plenty of questions and pretend you are deeply interested in all he says.

7—Let him have a certain hour for reading undisturbed.

(But—adds the prize winner—this one-night-out-a-week business does not fit into my managing. If it's amusement he wants, we can go places together. He should go places with his men friends occasionally, however; as, for instance, golfing, bowling and to prize fights.)

8—Overwhelm him with surprises. Remember his birthdays. Make him a box of candy to take to work. Buy him ties and shirts to match and let him find them under his pillow.

9—Keep yourself and your kiddies neat and spic and span at all times.

10—Go with him to church, to good lectures and pal around with him.

11—Don't take things for granted. Tell him you love him and follow him to the door when he goes to work, hold his coat, kiss him and send him off with a full stomach.

12—Keep him so interested in you that he can't find time for another woman.

13—Kiddies help make the home, so have plenty of them.

"When one does all of these things in one day," says Mrs. Kunz, "the husband can't help but have his wife on his mind three-fourths of the day."

Mr. Kunz has not yet been interviewed.

NO CHANGE SEEN

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The American government is not contemplating any change of policy in its relationship with Russia. The recent decision of Secretary Stimson to begin a study of the Russian situation, it was said at the White House today, does not mean that President Hoover has any intention of adopting a new attitude toward the Soviet government.

The population of Shanghai, China, is said to be increasing at the rate of nearly 100,000 a year.

FORMER SOLON PROTESTS

MANUEL HERRICK OUT OF PRISON; TELLS OF MISTREATMENT

BALTIMORE, March 11 (AP)—Manuel Herrick, former Oklahoma congressman sentenced last October to six months in jail on charges he helped make moonshine liquor, protested about the treatment he said he was accorded at the Centerville, Md., jail.

Herrick was released yesterday. He asserted the food was bad and the bedding dirty, and added he was denied many privileges other prisoners enjoyed.

Herrick told District Attorney Simon E. Sobeloff that the other prisoners were permitted to stroll to the postoffice for their mail, attend motion picture shows, and take walks in the country. He said he was not permitted to leave the jail.

The former congressman, who served one term in the Harding administration, was given transportation to St. Mary's county, in southern Maryland, where he was arrested last summer while working at a still as a $15 a week handy man.

He would not say what his plans were.

Herrick asserted at his trial here he took the job at the still to obtain evidence, but federal prohibition officials at Washington denied he had been given a commission as an undercover man.

Film Lover's Kin Prefers Cooking

MILDRED PRIEGEL

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—It's all very well to have a famous film actor in the family, taking one love scene after another in his ordinary stride, but Miss Mildred Priegel would rather be an expert home economist.

Mildred, from Weleeka, Okla., a freshman at Oklahoma A. and M. college here, is a first cousin of John Gilbert—he of the movies, no less—but the two have never met.

John's father and her father (Priegel is the name John wore till the pictures changed all that) came from Germany together, but separated shortly after their arrival in America. One sought the far west, the other the Oklahoma Indian country.

"I want to visit Hollywood sometime," Miss Priegel admits, "but acting doesn't appeal to me."

There's more lure, she says, in the hum of a sewing machine or the aroma from an oven.

"Around The Clock In Pajamas" Latest Song In Fashions; For Every Occasion

By RUTH BALDWIN COWAN

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—And now the latest fashion song is "around the clock in pajamas"—

For there are pajamas in which to cook the ham an', pajamas for a dash to the corner grocery, and still more—lounging pajamas, beach pajamas, cocktail, dance, dinner and evening pajamas, as well as the substitute for the traditional night gown.

This new style note is sponsored by mighty names in the realm of design—Worth, Chanel, Molyneaux, Vionnet, Schiaparelli, Mainboucher, and others—and charming are the models that are coming from Paris.

Pajamas are no longer merely coveralls in which to rest the weary bones. They have come out of the boudoir and are going places—to teas, the theater, dinners. The fad began in smart European resorts.

A tour of smart Michigan Avenue shops and State Street department stores revealed that the last word in morning or breakfast pajamas are in one piece and are tailored out of gay printed or flowered cotton fabrics or out of a silk known as bamboo. The long wide trousers simulate a skirt.

Lounging pajamas can be had as tailored or as negligee as desired.

If her day's program brings friends in for early afternoon bridge. The hostess' costume will be a trump if it resembles one creation seen on display. It was a three piece heavy crepe silk bridge set, the trousers and blouse of which were of tapestry, a new shade of American Beauty. It had a wing sleeved coatee of rose dawn, lined with tapestry.

Next our heroine may wish to go to the beach. If she is of the vintage that goes to the sea to see and be seen, there are the beach pajamas, which established their popularity at Palm Beach this season. They are fashioned in pastel, flowered and printed cretonnes.

Then as the shadows lengthen comes the hour for cocktail, tea and hostess pajamas. Cocktail pajamas are soucy. One model just unpacked was a one piece lipstick red crepe with intervals of accordian pleats on the voluminous ankle—length trousers. It flaunted the new cap sleeves.

Tea pajamas are more sedate. Hostess pajamas may be made of lace or chiffon. Quite frequently they have flowing sleeves. It is the little touches, such as treatment of the neckline or the fit of the bodice, that differentiates them from negligees, and there is a suitable distinction between hostess pajamas that stay at home and the tea pajama that gads.

As the hours pass come the reign of the dance, evening and dinner pajamas. These are best described by saying they are gowns with divided skirts. The dinner pajama, as with the dinner dress, is less formal than the evening pajama. The dance frocks are youthful leaving sophistication to the others.

The newest note is the back skirt on the dance frock. When the wearer approaches she is in pajamas; when she retreats she is in a dress.

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

LETTER FROM YOUNG GIRL TELLS OF DISTRESS AT PARENTS' DISSENSION

"Dear Mr. Myers: I am so unhappy and so I'm bringing my problem to you. My father and mother quarrel all the time, as soon as he gets home for supper. I haven't the heart to say anything to my mother about keeping quiet, but I know if she wouldn't say things to my father like she does, there would not be such quarrelsome evenings. I love them both. Most of the time their quarrels are over finances. I feel sorry for my father and, on the other hand, for my mother. He does not give my mother much spending money; he just pays the grocery bills and such. And mother takes in a boarded and gets only that little money to spend. Then when she wants a little money from father he says, 'Oh you make plenty money, why ask me?'

"And mother has her trials, as the little money she earns goes as quickly as it comes for clothes for her and for me. I have an older brother who has been out of work for the last two or three years, and he's so cranky. He's always so rude to mother and always agrees with father.

"I know this is a big problem to put up to you, but I can't think of anything to do. I am fourteen years old. You may print this if you like."

Answer: Dear Child: I am deeply touched by your letter. I imagine how I should feel in your place. I know my heart would ache. How I wish I might sit down and talk to your father and mother quietly.

You write so well and seem so intelligent about the matter. I believe you could do some good if at times when you are alone with your dad and he seems affectionate, beg him in a few soft, tender words not to be so hard on mother. Then at some other time, when you are alone with your dad and he seems a-try to hold her tongue and keep her voice down when your dad storms. Be careful not to suggest that you are giving either any advice, but make it a child's plea and avoid suggesting to either parent that you are criticizing the other; rather that you know they get worried and out of sorts, but that you believe this is the way to be happier, etc.

And may God bless you, my child. I am sure you have a lot of my readers praying for you.

That letter has made me wonder how many more boys and girls are like this child, torn between two parents, both of whom she loves. And then I am made to wonder about the child each of whose parents plays her against the other parent; and those boys and girls who see one parent they love unfaithful to the other.

Even with divorce, such child heartaches don't cease, particularly when the child still dearly loves both parents. How hard it is that the child should be the helpless, innocent sufferer.

Parents who keep in mind such possibilities will find a good reason to make pride-sacrifices, self-sacrifices, and to exercise self-restraints when it is for the sake of a child who loves them.

Of all human heartaches known to children over family quarrels, perhaps those by adolescent boys and girls are the most terrible.

NEW APRONS

Late winter is the time all housewives should get rash and buy brand new, gay kitchen apparel. New and colorful aprons, at least, won't break any family. Kitchen pajamas are the latest thing.

DON'T DISSOLVE YOUR DOLLARS

YOU might as well throw money away as wash your lingerie and delicate colored print goods in the hot water that common soaps require. Perhaps you wonder how to get them clean any other way. Here's the answer:

White King Granulated Soap, made from the same sort of fine vegetable and nut oils used in salad dressing and other food products, will yield quick, rich suds, thorough cleansing, and swift rinsing in the lukewarm water that delicate fabrics demand. And White King's purity protects anything that lukewarm water won't harm.

White King solves every household washing problem—and it's economical. A teaspoonful for the wash basin, a capful for the washing machine—plenty, even in hard water. Put it on your list for today. Sold by your grocer.

CONNIE MACK TO DEPEND ON OLD RELIABLES

SPYING ON SPORTS

Professor F. W. Cawthon of the Texas Tech athletic department, Southwest Conference football, basketball, baseball and ping pong official, president of the Texas Board of Approved Basketball Officials association, president of the West Texas Football Coaches and Officials association and what have you, is a man who believes in doing things in a big way. Else he would not hold the above distinguished titles along with others too numerous to mention.

* * *

The Tech head coach undertakes big things nor nothing at all. He took a big job when he accepted Tech's proposition as coach. And the first thing he did was to select a big coaching staff—big in more ways than one. Having faith in himself and in his style he chose men as his assistants with whom he had previously worked in athletic fields. He knew them and they knew him. Thus the organization of the staff was replete with finished men.

* * *

The presence of Cawthon at Lubbock proved a drawing card for some of the best high school grid material graduating in 1929 and they came to Tech last fall, some to stick, others to fall by the wayside. Forthwith, Cawthon called a meeting of West Texas coaches in the first West Texas grid rules interpretation convention. It went over in a large way. Pete was elected president of the association, organized that day.

* * *

One of the biggest monuments to his success is the result of the 1930 football season. With a troup of gridsters, recognized as such mostly by uniform, unschooled, regrettably, in the ways of modern football, particularly in Cawthon's way, he passed a comparatively successful season. In addition he caused to be builded a field house for the exclusive use of football men, a club room for letter men and additional locker room space for athletes. He found jobs in town for deserving athletes, began, with the help of his staff, steps which tend to build up tradition and spirit over the entire campus and quickly built up a loyal department.

Came the basketball season and another meeting of West Texas coaches and officials to the first basketball rules interpretation meeting of the section, instigated by Cawthon. Already a good year's work was done but immediately plans were made for the first major coaching school in West Texas. It has gone so far as to have become definitely established on the calendar. Two of the nation's best coaches will be here in August to conduct the two-week's school. Plans are now under way to sponsor the inauguration of the Texas Tech High School Relays.

* * *

It is to show that Cawthon has been successful in everything he has undertaken that we repeat the foregoing. The coaching school is due to be the biggest success yet. The proposed relays loom as an annual feature for Lubbock and West Texas.

* * *

Russell "Dutch" Smith, formerly of Amarillo High school, freshman coach and athletic department business manager at Tech, has for the past two seasons staged a high school relay meet at Amarillo and has met with success each time. Backed by Texas Tech and Lubbock business men he hopes to conduct another series of relay meets, comparing in a measure to the Texas Relays, the S. M. U. Relays and others of the kind. Known as the Texas Tech Relays, the new series is meant to attract high school relay teams from many points of West Texas, eastern New Mexico and part of Oklahoma.

Much encouragement concerning the coaching school is coming from various points on the map and from big men. Jack Meagher, Rice Institute head coach, and Ray Morrison, S. M. U. mentor, have written letters to Cawthon, commending him on his school plans and offering help. Each of the coaches will do their part in their respective territories to make the school a success, they say, and will be on hand for the school.

* * *

Some one has invented a golf club that can be used for taking balls out of the cup without having to bend over. Now if some wise bird will invent one that will sink the putts he'll make a fortune and we'll be one of his first customers. The new club has a hole in the head which fits over the ball and grips it. A simple twist of the wrist releases it. It was especially invented for use by the stoute men. C. A. Parenthesis Sheffield and The Flatesman have placed orders for the new club.

AGE CREEPING INTO RANKS OF A'S

SAME LINEUP TO BE SENT OUT AFTER 1931 PENNANT

By ALAN GOULD

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Age has begun to creep into the joints of the Athletics. The machine that has steam-rollered its major league baseball opposition for two straight seasons shows some signs of wear and tear, but the six main reasons for the rulership of the Philadelphians remains sound in body and spirit.

These reasons are the 68-year-old but exceedingly alert pilot, Connie Mack; Aloysius Harry Simmons, probably the greatest of present-day outfielders; James Foxx, the flogging first baseman; Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, number 1 backstop of the major leagues; Robert Moses Grove and George Livingstone Earnshaw, the two-man pitching staff.

Some Lineup Seen

In the absence of some of these vital cogs, such as Simmons and Earnshaw, who are training at Hot Springs, Ark., and to relieve some of the others, ambitious youngsters have been cavorting in the light blue of the A's. They may as well cavort to their heart's content now, for when the race starts next month, Mr. Mack will send out to the umpires the same line-up that finished the 1930 World's series triumphant, except that Grove may be on the mound instead of Earnshaw.

Aged though some of his other Athletes may be, Mack's stars retain the spryness of youth. He is content to stand pat for 1931 and make a bid for three successive pennants.

Joe Boley's arm has come along slowly in spring training and Max Bishop has been laid up temporarily with a leg bruise. The veteran keystone pair, however, figure to start, although Dib Williams at short and Frank Higgins, Texas boy, at second base have been given plenty of chance to develop. Higgins particularly shows promise, both in the field and at bat.

Infield Fortified

The infield is well fortified elsewhere in reserves, with Phil Todt, late of the Red Sox, to run for Foxx and Eric McNair as understudy for Jimmy Dykes at third. Dykes, at 34, is one of the oldest of the A's in point of major league service. This is his fourteenth season but Jimmy still dresses, acts and chatters like a collegian.

"They are working us old fellows pretty hard," Dykes remarked to Bing Miller, the veteran outfielder, "But I guess we can still stand the pace, if the old legs don't give out."

Miller, Simmons and George Haas form the outer patrol. They leave little to be desired unless it is more punch from the latter's part.

Behind the bat, Cochrane's probable relief man, on the rare occasions when one is needed, will be John Heving, obtained from the Red Sox on waivers.

George (Swede) Walberg gives every indication of a return to form in which case Mack's staff may be expanded to a "big three."

NAME HARMAN PENN COACH

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH MENTOR "FOOTBALL PROFESSOR"

PHILADELPHIA, March 11 (AP)—Harvey J. Harman, director of athletics at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., is the University of Pennsylvania's new football coach.

An announcement by Dr. Leroy Mercer, new dean of physical education, that Harman had been chosen head coach and named a member of the faculty in accordance with Penn's revised athletic policy was published today.

Harmon, 30, learned his football at the University of Pittsburgh ten years ago under the tutorship of Glenn Warner. He coached at Haverford college eight years and went to the University of the South last year. His contract there had two more years to run, but he was released at Pennsylvania's request.

The faculty-coach idea is a part of an athletic plan announced several months ago by President Thomas S. Gates after dismissal of Coach Lud Wray. Under the new program football teams will omit spring and summer practice and there will be no training table or training house for athletes. Dean Mercer succeeds the former council on athletics.

Harman is to receive a salary in line with those paid to professors—anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000. He will work on a fulltime basis and his title probably will be that of professor of football.

GRAND JURY BUSY

TAHOKA, (Staff Special)—The Lynn county grand jury has returned eight true bills charging felonies and three for misdemeanors. After making a report to Judge Gordon B. McGuire the jury was dismissed.

AROUND THE TRAINING CAMP CIRCUIT

GETTING IN TRIM

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11. (AP)—The eminent Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, still a hold-out, is getting a lot of work done in the Brooklyn Robins' training camp but not necessarily to put him in shape for the coming season. "I'm just getting in shape for what turns up," says the Dazzler. "Maybe it will be only the spring plowing up at Homosassa."

GIANTS PREPARED

SAN ANTONIO, March 11.—(AP)—Whether or not the new ball leads to the return of "inside baseball," John McGraw's New York Giants will be prepared. The boys still swing from their heels at times but McGraw also is devoting plenty of time to the sacrifice, the hit-and-run, and, in the pitchers' case, to the art of holding runners close to the base.

TO HONOR HUGGINS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11. —(AP)—The New York Yankees will take time out from their spring training Friday to dedicate their playing field in memory of the late Miller Huggins. The memorial will take the form of a 1,500 pound granite block on which will be placed a bronze tablet extolling Huggins as a man as well as for his services to baseball. Baseball luminaries will attend the ceremonies.

REPORT DENIED

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 11. (AP)—A report that Bill Terry, New York Giants' holdout first baseman, would be "sold down the river" to the Phillies was denied today by Burt Shotton, Quaker manager.

CHOICE NOT MADE

BILOXI, Miss., March 11. —(AP)—Manager Walter Johnson doesn't yet know who will be the pinch hitter for the Senators. For a while he groomed Catcher Cliff Bolton for the job but Baxter Jordan, a youngster from the Newark International league, has shown so much power with the mallet the result remains in doubt.

STILL MISSING

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Frankie Frisch and "Chick" Hafey still were missing from the Cardinals' training camp today, but President Sam Breadon and Manager Gabby Street felt confident both would be on hand soon. "Wild Bill" Hallihan has been nominated to start against the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg tomorrow.

RELAYS ON PROGRAM

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 11—(AP)—Relay races have become a regular part of the St. Louis Brown's training program. Manager Bill Killefer believes the races will improve the "wind" of his athletes. Several of the players pulled up lame and others became ill yesterday, but Killefer said the running would continue daily.

JOB CINCHED

FERRELL WORKS HARD

NEW ORLEANS, March 11. (AP)—Wes Ferrell is one star who isn't afraid of work. In fact, he's the hardest worker in the Cleveland Indians camp. Reporting half an hour early, his program runs like this: A sprint around the park, shagging balls in the outfield for an hour, another jaunt around the park, ten minutes' warming up, ten minutes' pitching to batters, more outfield work, and a final dash around the park.

RECRUITS IN LINEUP

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 11. (AP) —Three recruit outfielders will be in the Detroit Tiger lineup in the opening exhibition game with the San Francisco seals Friday. They are Frank Doljack, and Harvey and Gerald Walker. Manager Stanley says he wants to see the boys in action against a class AA team.

MAY CHANGE LINEUP

AVALON, Calif., March 11. (AP)—Today was the Chicago Cubs' last day of training on Catalina, and the final contest of the inter-camp series was up for decision. Manager Rogers Hornsby made no announcements but appeared to be planning on shifts in the lineup that will open its exhibition season on the mainland with Los Angeles Friday. English may be moved to third, with Bill Jurges at short. Either Dan Taylor or Johnny Moore, in Stephenson's place in left, and switching Hack Wilson to right field, and Kiki Cuyler to center.

MORE VICIOUS

SAN ANTONIO, March 11.—(AP)—Johnny Watwood, White Sox outfielder and first baseman, apparently has become more vicious, rather than plate-shy, since being beaned by Pat Malone in the Chicago city series last fall. Watwood yesterday produced two doubles for the Yannigans in an intercamp game yesterday, and hasn't shown any signs of being afraid of being struck again.

NAMED COACH

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 11 (AP) —Bobby Cannon has been appointed athletic director and coach for the high school here.

Sixteen Teams In Third Round Games

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 11. (AP)—Sixteen basketball teams remained today as third round contests got under way in the National A. A. U. court tournament.

Middlewestern and southwestern college quintets appeared to be holding their own against independent clubs as the tourney neared the half-way mark with seven of them down for today's tilts. The East Central Teachers, Ada, Okla., third place winners last year, Bethany college, Lindsborg, Kas., and the Northwest Teachers, Maryville, Mo., are among the college fives which have displayed brands of basketball presaging trouble ahead for the non-collegiate favorites.

Schmeling Opens Up His Bag Of Tricks

FORT WORTH, March 11 (AP)—Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight champion opened his bag of ring tricks for the fight fans here last night and sent them away buzzing about his speed, ring craft and punching ability. The champion boxed three rounds with two sparring partners and his demonstration was by far the most polished ed seen here in many a moon.

In the feature of the supporting card, Johnny Ferrell, Dallas, won the decision over Pete Husk, of Los Angeles. A short, overhand right was Ferrell's best punch and he took every round.

NEW PROMOTER IN FISTIC CIRCLES

JIMMY JOHNSON WILL VIE WITH MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

NEW YORK, Mar. 11. (AP)—A new promoter has entered New York's fistic scene to compete with Madison Square garden in outdoor extravaganzas and perhaps to stage a heavyweight due this summer between Primo Carnera, the Italian man-mountain, and Jack Sharkey of Boston.

A veteran manager of fighters, a powerful figure in boxing circles, and something of a "white-haired boy" to the powers-that-be, Jimmy Johnston is working strenuously to arrange a Carnera-Sharkey bout to be held probably in Ebbets field in June.

To Promote Bouts

Johnston plans to promote bouts at Ebbets field this summer and the big bout, if and when it is arranged, will be staged there if no agreement can be reached with Madison Square garden for the use of the Yankee stadium or Polo grounds.

Carnera still is under suspension here but apparently the New York State Athletic commission is about ready to lift the ban.

The tip-off came yesterday from William Muldoon, 83-year-old member of the commission, who said:

"Right now Sharkey knows too much for Carnera, is too smart but it would be a good fight. It would be a tremendous drawing card and Carnera is capable of giving Sharkey a real battle."

ALL THE SAME TO BOBBY

11 (AP)—Usually actors abhor retakes, but not Robert Tyre Jones, jr.

The holder of all major golf championships halted in the midst of a retake in his second day of active work before the camera with this smiling comment:

"Retakes sure, they're the best part of it.

"Many is the time I would have given a lot for the opportunity to try a shot all over again. What golfer wouldn't? That's what the retakes does for you."

Spudders Turn Out As Weather Changes

WICHITA FALLS, Mar. 11. (AP) —The Spudders received their first break of the 1931 season Tuesday when a turn in the weather afforded Carl Williams and a squad of a dozen and a half rookies the opportunity of getting in an opening two-hour routine drill at Athletic park. The squad at present consists almost entirely of inexperienced athletes, most of the older players having been ordered to report next Monday.

INTRAMURAL BOXING PROGRAM WILL CONTINUE AT TEXAS TECH TONIGHT

Concluding first round bouts and the first of a series of second round or quarter-final bouts in Texas Tech's intramural boxing program will be held in the gymnasium this afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock. A champion in every weight division for each of the four classes participating in the boxing schedule will be determined this afternoon.

The boxing and wrestling programs are part of the most extensive intramural season ever held at the local college Tending to replace to some extent intercollegiate competition in spring sports, the intramural season is drawing out nearly all the men of the college in its various activities. Coming on the heels of the intramural football season in which more than 100 men took part the boxing and wrestling occupies the athletic training time and provides physical education for about fifty men.

Six rounds of preliminary fights yesterday afternoon narrowed the competition in each class. The inter-class bouts will begin this afternoon, with matches to be announced at the ring-side. With seven weight divisions included in the program, most of yesterday's fighters were confined to the 130- and 150-pound divisions. From the school of liberal arts came ten fighters, six of whom had to fight in order to determine the class representatives in the quarter-finals.

Melvin Havis of Lubbock eliminated J. L. Dean of Crockett in the 135-pound class. H. W. Houk of Waco won a decision over Crews. Both tipped the scale at 135 and Houk and Havis will meet to decide the class representative in the quarter finals. Garner eliminated Harris in the liberal arts' 175-pound entry class

Lubbock Youth Loses

Orville Cummingham of McLean won a decision over Haskell Beard of Lubbock in the 165-pound class for the Aggies, it was the only Aggie fight of the day.

In the ranks of the Engineers, W. M. Nott of Waco defeated H. S. Bettersworth of Amarillo in the 130-pound class and Teague won a decision over Henry. The latter were in the 150-pound division.

The school of militarism was not represented in the first round fights there being no conflicting weight classes in the soldier ranks.

Preliminary wrestling bouts were unnecessary since none of the schools were represented by more than one man in the same weight class.

TODT GIVES OWN SPORTS HISTORY

PORT MYERS, Fla., March 11 (AP) Thumbnail sketch of the baseball career of Philip Julius Todt, Philadelphia Athletics' emergency first baseman, as submitted by himself reads like this:

"Born in St. Louis near the hotel where the big league players stop. Attended boarding school and at 18 decided I was a ball player, with no desire to enter college for an engineering degree. It was natural for me to ask the Browns to sign me as a pitcher and perfectly natural for them to tell me I was a better outfielder.

"So I wandered away to Tulsa where I played the outfield and first base. I moved to Columbus, then San Antonio. The Browns, fearing they had made a mistake, recalled me but within two months decided they were right in the first place and I was let out to the Boston Red Sox in 1924. I played in Boston seven long years. Then I was released to the Athletics, which is just the same as being kicked upstairs."

Dear Sirs:

SEEK AIRMAIL FOR AREA

POUNDAGE INCREASE TO BE SOUGHT IN CAMPAIGN

Deciding to conduct a campaign to increase airmail poundage in this section as a definite step toward establishment of airmail service between Amarillo and Big Spring via Lubbock, representatives of towns on the proposed route effected permanent organization of West Texas Airways association at a meeting Tuesday at the Hilton hotel.

Postmasters, mayors, chamber of commerce attaches, and air enthusiasts attended the meeting. The assembly was called as that of South Plains Airway association, a temporary organization. The establishment of the proposed airmail line is goal of the association.

John L. Vaughan, Lubbock postmaster, temporary chairman of the South Plains Airways association formed recently at Big Spring, was named president of the permanent organization. Mayor J. B. Cardwell of Plainview was elected unanimously as vice president and Gerald Wren of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce was named secretary. About twenty-five men from Amarillo, Plainview, Lamesa, Lubbock, Big Spring were present at the meeting.

Directors Are Named

Members of the board of directors elected included: R. L. Townsend, of Amarillo, Postmaster Fred L. Brown of Plainview, Postmaster James D. Dyer, of Lamesa, Postmaster E. E. Fahrenkamp of Big Spring and George P. Kuykendall of Lubbock. Other directors are to be selected from the other towns along the route of the proposed line.

A steering committee composed of C. W. Ratliff, chairman, John R. Green and Gerald Wren all of Lubbock was appointed to plan an extensive publicity campaign for building up the air mail poundage along the route to support the application before the postal department. T. E. Johnson, of the Amarillo News-Globe; H. H. Hilburn of the Plainview Evening Herald, C. T. Watson, Big Spring C.-C. secretary, D. D. Carter, of the Lamesa Reporter and Ratliff were named on the publicity committee.

Meeting at Hilton

Mr. Vaughan presided over the meeting yesterday which opened at noon in the Chimayo dining room of the Hilton. He introduced Mayor J. J. Clements who welcomed the visitors and pledged the city's efforts toward anything that would build a greater West Texas.

Detailing the benefits to be derived from air mail and explaining the work necessary for obtaining the service, C. T. Watson of Big Spring was the first speaker on the informal discussion. He was followed by R. L. Towsend of Amarillo who pledged that city's cooperation toward establishing the line. He told of the five lines running out of Amarillo and the service available to the people. Other speakers were W. O. Stevens of Lubbock who declared he would present the proposition before the South Plains Bankers association in their next meeting; James D. Dyer of Lamesa, who declared air mail service would be as much used in his town as other service, W. T. Strange and Postmaster Fahrenkamp of Big Spring who pledged their city's cooperation to the utmost and explained details of the services benefits. Mayor Cardwell of Plainview and Postmaster Brown also were heard in short talks in which they expressed a desire to see the line in operation.

Search Is Underway

Figures presented on the present air mail now being sent out to junction points on the two transcontinental lines at Amarillo and Big Spring revealed a good patronage. Lubbock had a total of 650 pieces in 21 days, Lamesa had nearly 400 while Plainview reported between 325 and 450 pieces in their survey. Amarillo sent out 740 pounds during the period while Big Spring's poundage was 272. The survey was taken without any publicity being carried on the service offered.

Saving of from 12 to 40 hours on letters to the east, north and Pacific coast is available through the use of air mail, it was pointed out. The establishment of this line would make that saving much greater.

Officials present were of the opinion that with an extensive campaign on air mail, the poundage would soon be sufficient to warrant the establishment of the service between the two points.

Next session of the association is to be held at the call of the president and the board of directors.

Besides those mentioned above as attending the meeting yesterday include: George Benson, N. Peters of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Glen A. Smith, president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and R. E. Story of Plainview; J. W. Warp and L. E. Eager of Lamesa; Gregg James, S. T. Boyd, City Manager J. Bryan Miller of Lubbock; and Marshall Meyers and Lee Garner of Big Spring.

Schedule proposed for the line is given below:

Northbound: Plane leave Lubbock 11:00 a. m., arrive Plainview 11:30 a. m., leave Plainview 11:40 a. m., arrive Canyon, 12:15 p. m., leave Canyon, 12:25 p. m., arrive Amarillo 12:40 p. m.; Leave Amarillo 1:00 p. m., arrive Canyon 1:15 p. m.; leave Canyon 1:25 p. m., arrive Plainview 2:00 p. m., leave Plainview 2:10 p. m., arrive Lubbock, 2:40 p. m.

LONDON WOMAN EARNS HER LIVING AS PEASHOOTER; WAKES PEOPLE UP EARLY

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

LONDON, MAR. 11.—Their name is the very common one of Smith, but they have the very uncommon job of being pea-shooters—the best pea-shooters in all big London. They don't do it as a hobby nor to win prizes in contests, but as a cold, hard, matter-of-fact way of helping keep the wolf from the door. Because their profession is the highly unusual one of waking people up by shooting peas at window panes and thus disturbing folks who have to go to their labors at early hours in the morning.

The Smiths live in Brenton street, Limehouse, which is inhabited by a large number of dock workers, carters, mill hands, etc.

Many of these people cannot afford the luxury of an alarm clock. So the question was how they could be sure to awaken at four or five in the morning, especially in a London where it is usually as dark at those hours as it is at midnight, so that one can't rely on sunlight to be an alarm clock.

That's where the Smiths come in. Before the war, young Tom Smith invented this new profession. He got quite a clientele. Then came the war. Young Tom was called to the colors, went to France and never came back. Then his old father, T. E. Smith, took up the running or rather the shooting. But about a year ago he became a permanent invalid, so his wife, Mary Ann Smith, jumped into the breach. With a little practice, she soon became as expert as her son and her husband had been.

"I have never failed my customers," said Mrs. Smith. "Like my customers, I, too, have no alarm clock, unless you call the railway trains one. It's the trains that tell me the time. I know every one that goes past and when a certain train goes screeching by I know it is time for me to get up. I brew myself a cup of tea, wrap up warm, take my bag of peas and my pea-shooter and start on my rounds.

"It is not easy. It is not only that in winter mornings it is very cold, but it is also very dark and often a thick fog, coming up from the river, makes it very hard to locate just the right windows I work at this from half past three to half past six every morning except Sunday. What I do is to shoot a rain of peas against the window pane of my customer until he wakes up, sticks his head out of the window and tells me he has heard me. The rat-tat-tat of a bunch of peas against a window pane will wake up even the soundest sleeper, especially because the man rather expects to hear them."

The fee Mrs. Smith draws is a few pennies per week from each customer and, as peas cost her 6 cents a pound, she does not get rich at the job, what with some customers changing their lodgings and "forgetting" to pay what they owe her.

"THE RAT-TAT-TAT OF A BUNCH OF PEAS WILL AWAKEN EVEN THE SOUNDEST SLEEPER."

Mrs. Mary Ann Smith, on the job.

RITES ARE SET FOR THURSDAY

RAYMOND KOENINGER TO BE BURIED AT PLAINVIEW

Funeral rites for Frederick Raymond Koeninger, 22-year-old Texas Technological college senior who died of poison self-administered, will be read at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the First Baptist church at Plainview.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Technological college, will assist Rev. J. Pat Horton, pastor of the church, in conducting the services. Burial will be at Plainview.

A group of Technological college students and several faculty members expect to attend the last rites. Rupert Koeninger, brother of Raymond, is expected to arrive at Plainview from Columbia Falls, Mont., Thursday morning. He probably will be accompanied by Roy M Cullough, former secretary of the Technological college Y. M. C. A. and now of Fort Collins, Colo. Mr. McCullough was a close friend of the Koeninger brothers whom he met when both were in school here.

Pallbearers will be fellow students: Marshal Formby, George Tate, William Green, E. W. Davis, Lloyd McLaughlin, Cyrus LeMaster, John Freeze and Arland Smith. The latter two were roommates of Koeninger.

Members of the young student's family Tuesday expressed an opinion that the act resulting in his death, in which a verdict of suicide was returned after an inquest, was attributable to a skull fracture which he suffered in the college rodeo in November. Koeninger was injured when thrown from a bucking steer.

Strychnine which he had bought at an all night drug store caused the student's death. He left notes to his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Koeninger of near Plainview; his brother, three sisters, and two campus friends.

Discovered by his roommates as he lay gasping on a bed in his dormitory room, Koeninger died as he was placed on a couch at Lubbock sanitarium.

MACHINERY FOR PAVING EXPECTED

Machinery for use in paving state highway No. 9 from Lubbock northward to Abernathy will be shipped here today or Thursday from Yoakum, the state highway engineer's office has been advised.

The report was received from the Interstate Construction company of Yoakum, contractors having the job of paving the No. 9 strip.

The material will be sent to Lubbock. First slab work will be started from Lubbock north. When the first five or six miles is completed the equipment will be moved from the Santa Fe's Crosbyton branch near the highway to Monroe. The final establishment of equipment will be at Abernathy.

Preliminary work will start as soon as the equipment arrives. Slab pouring is to begin about April 1.

Footings for the underpass on highway No. 9 south of Monroe have been half completed and it is believed that the work will start today on pouring of the footings on the north side of the underpass.

At the same time the forming of the south abutments will be started. The footings were completed recently.

There is some dirt work to be completed, according to Guy R. Johnston construction engineer. Snow and rain of a week ago Saturday night delayed the completion of the dirt work.

ASK FOR REWARD

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—American civil liberties union officers today said they had called upon the state of Texas to offer a financial reward for the arrest of armed men who last week kidnaped two workers and their attorney. Unless such action is taken, the union said it would post $500 reward.

HOPE FOR GOOD WEATHER

MARKET WEEK TO BE HELD IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Attendance at the third semi-annual Market week here is expected to be bolstered by good weather and a renewal of buying in this section. Market week program will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Traveling men who have been here recently have reported many instances where merchants have said they preferred to attend the Lubbock show to the one staged by Dallas wholesale men there. "If we get any kind of a break in the weather there will be a bigger crowd here than we have ever had," one traveling man told a member of the committee yesterday.

The "pre-Easter" show this year for the out of town merchants, is expected to attract a large number of buyers. From all over the South Plains has come word of renewed buying on the part of the public.

It is reported that many merchants are anticipating considerable late pre-Easter buying, a week or two before April 5. To this end they are said to be planning a rather extensive purchase of spring stocks here next week.

Exhibitors will have their displays here by Friday or Saturday at the latest. That will give them enough time to get the displays arranged for the visitors.

Because young women of today do not brush their hair as systematically as their ancestors they have grey locks five years earlier than their mothers and 10 years earlier than their grandmothers, declares a European expert.

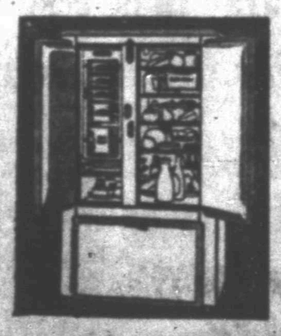
STANDARD RATING SCALE
for Electric Refrigeration

Real Evidence

makes buying an exact SCIENCE



- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration).
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food).
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run).
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours).
- Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being rearranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?
- Has the experience of users over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?

THE vital factors that make for value in an electric refrigerator are so simple and clean-cut they have been put down in black and white. One reading of the Standard Rating Scale will tell any careful buyer that here, at last, a method is presented whereby every element of value in electric refrigeration can be remembered, discussed and weighed. Measure any refrigerator by the Scale, for it applies to all. But we ask you to be particularly sure to include Kelvinator in your search for the biggest values; only a measurement like the Scale can show the quality of Kelvinator compared with that of all others. WILL DEVELOP LIONS PARK

WORK CONCENTRATED ON SOUTHERN 40 ACRES OF PLOT

Major activity of the Lubbock Lions club is development of Lions park, which extends from Yellowhouse creek northward to state highway No. 9. Present work is being concentrated on the southern 40 acres of the plot, which totals nearly a hundred acres.

Building of a small artificial lake, construction of a bridge over the creek, and installation of playground equipment are projects included in the program.

Planting Underway

Activities now, however, pertain to planting of trees and shrubs and subsequent development of flower gardens. The plot will be sowed in grass after trees, shrubs and flowers have been set.

More than 900 trees and shrubs already have been ordered for Lions park, and 50 Chinese elms have been donated by Dr. Fred Standefer, according to Paul Sherrod, of the Lions club major activity committee.

The section of the plot now under development is immediately across Yellowhouse creek from City park. The City has agreed to erect a bridge, connecting the two parks, to grade driveways, which have been marked, and to aid in supplying water for Lions park, Mr. Sherrod said.

Road To Be Built

A road which will run the full length of Lions park as an eastern boundry also will be built, according to Mr. Sherrod. Yellowhouse creek is the southern limit and state highway No. 9 the northern. The creek and the highway form diagonal boundaries which cut off the plot to make its western edge considerably shorter than that on the east.

Building of a dam in the creek will result in formation of an artificial lake, which will receive water from Tumble N, municipal swimming pool in the adjoining City park, supplementing rainfall. A pump will be installed to pump water from the lake when the supply otherwise is insufficient.

Eventually, the lake probably will be stocked with fish. It will not be large enough for boating, however.

Gardens Included

There will be flower beds, and organizations and individuals have indicated a desire to develop a rose garden, a cactus garden, a plot of native trees, and water lilies and other water-plants. Walking paths will be made in the park. Present plans do not include construction of stands or buildings, although playground equipment later will be set up, Mr. Sherrod explained.

Business houses, clubs, and individuals will be asked by Lions club members to contribute to a fund for use in buying trees and shrubbery, different plots which they help make possible being so designated, according to Mr. Sherrod.

Lions park can be entered from state highway No. 9 and from the City park near Tumble N pool.

Plan of Lions park was made by Prof. Charles H. Mahoney, head of the department of horticulture at Texas Technological college and chairman of the city park board.

The area comprising Lions park belongs to the City and originally was a part of City park. It remained undeveloped, however, and when the Lions club expressed a desire to make a separate park of it, permission was granted by the City, Mr. Sherrod said.

Members Named

Calvin Hensen is chairman of the Lions major activities committee. Other members, in addition to the chairman and Mr. Sherrod, are Rufus Scarborough, E. L. Pitts and R. C. Campbell.

Work of developing the southern part of the Lions park, or that portion which slopes toward Yellowhouse creek, will continue through the spring and summer, and development of the park generally will be the club's major activity indefinitely, according to Mr. Sherrod.

Rogers Is Speaker

At the regular weekly luncheon session of the club, held Tuesday at noon at Hotel Hilton, Gardner S. Rogers, city planning expert attached to United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C., was the principal speaker.

Introduced by Chas. A. Guy, newspaperman and chairman of the B. C. D. committee on city planning, Mr. Rogers' talk was particularly interesting to Lions, due to their activities on behalf of parks and playgrounds. He stressed the value of recreational grounds in keeping people healthy and contented and complimented the clubmen in their work of that kind.

Dr. S. S. McKay, of Tech, president of the Lions club, presided, and committee reports were delivered by P. Sherrod, in charge of the club park work, and J. O. Kuykendall, one of his aides.

Plans were laid to secure four Lions to make the trip to Port Arthur within the next few weeks, when the club's district conference is held.

Dr. Horn Is Slated For Five Addresses

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, is scheduled to make five appearances as a speaker today at Childress.

The fifth engagement, which was arranged Monday, was for a general meeting of facilities of the Childress public schools.

The senior class of Childress high school was instrumental in bringing Dr. Horn to that town. He was to speak this morning to the student body and the public in the auditorium. At noon he was to appear before the Rotary club and at night at the Hi-Y service club.

They Can Only Say Hello! Bye!

LOS ANGELES—Bernice and Mary Ellen Pyle, Los Angeles sisters, do so much traveling to see their parents that they don't see each other much. C. G. Pyle, their father, has to spend most of his time in Honolulu for business reasons; Mrs. Pyle is compelled by similar reasons to live in Los Angeles. So the two daughters commute back and forth across the Pacific, one staying with the mother while the other stays with the father. At the right in the above picture is Bernice, snapped as she sailed for Honolulu on the liner Calawaii; at the left is Mary Ellen, shown arriving simultaneously in Los Angeles.

LAW DEFIANCE IS PROBED

ENFORCEMENT IN NEW YORK UNDER 4-LENS MICROSCOPE

NEW YORK, Mar. 11. (AP)—New York city's law defiance and law enforcement were under a four-lens microscope today.

The Vivian Gordon murder, now half a month old without a definite clue; Thomas C. T. Crain's conduct of the office of district attorney; the trial of police officers for "framing" women; and the long running inquiry into operation of the magistrates' courts—these are the specks on the plate.

Search Extends

The Gordon murder investigators including private detectives, have extended their search for evidence to several states. Portland, Me., pawnshops were scrutinized today in the hope they might yield some of the slain woman's possessions—her fur coat, for instance.

Attorney John A. Radeloff, the "J. A. R." of Vivian Gordon's diary—the man she said she greatly feared—refused freedom from jail today when his bail was reduced to $5,000. He persistently has contended his ignorance of the case and insists he should be freed without bond.

Tammany Issue Seen

Referee Seabury, who had uncovered irregularities not only in the magistrates' courts but among bondsmen, prosecutors, lawyers and policemen, expects his new task, involving District Attorney Crain, to be conducted without interfering with the first inquiry. The investigation into Crain's conduct of office is at the direction of Governor Roosevelt. Crain is a "Tammany Democrat." Referee Seabury is known as an anti-Tammany man.

The current police trial, an outgrowth of the revelations of the erstwhile stool pigeon, Chile Acuna, involves Sydney D Tait, a plainclothes policeman charged with perjury in connection with vice charge prosecutions. Tait, on the witness stand, denied irregularities in his conduct. A jury is hearing the case.

Miss Arnolda Franklin, sister of Vivian Gordon, left Cincinnati for New York to press a claim for a share of the Broadway butterfly's $50,000 estate. Her brother, Pierre Franklin of Montreal, was discharged from the psychopathic ward at Bellevue hospital. He was taken there Sunday after a nervous breakdown ascribed to reaction from the murder of his sister and the subsequent suicide of her 16-year old daughter, Benita Bischoff, at Aubudon, N. J.

HOUSTON, Mar. 11. (AP)—Two persons were killed as a result of traffic accidents Tuesday in Houston.

Mrs. Myrtle Hixen, 42, with a fractured skull and mangled leg, died a few minutes after a car struck her.

Witnesses said the car failed to stop.

J. G. Holland, 30, truck driver of Alvin, was fatally injured when an inbound passenger train struck his truck. He died in a hospital.

BUCKET BRIGADE BUST

SEMINOLE. (Staff Special)—Prompt action on the part of the Seminole volunteer fire department, saved the Austin building, on the court house square, recently from destruction by fire. A blaze was discovered in the second floor, near a flue. The Howell hotel and the Masonic lodge use the building.

REVIVALS ARE PLANNED

METHODISTS OUTLINE PLANS AT MEET TUESDAY

Revivals to be conducted this spring and summer throughout this Methodist conference were planned at a meeting at the First Methodist Episcopal church here Tuesday of delegations from Plainview, Sweetwater and Lubbock Methodist districts.

Bishop Hiram A. Boaz of Houston was in charge of the conference, which was attended by about 300 persons.

Bishop Boaz is conducting meetings throughout the conference on the subject of "Keeping the Spiritual Life," in general preparation for the revivals. Luncheon was served at the church at 12 o'clock.

Among others that spoke Tuesday afternoon were Dr. E. O. Goddard, home mission secretary of the Southern Methodist church, Nashville, Tenn., D. P. Yoder of Snyder and O. H. Cline of Lubbock.

The presiding elders of the conference present were: E. E. White of Abilene, O. P. Clark of Sweetwater, M. N. Beavers of Plainview, L. N. Libscomb of Amarillo, C. A. Bickley of Lubbock.

CONTRACT WILL BE AWARDED

LUBBOCK PAVING JOB MAY BE INCLUDED IN LETTINGS

List of highway contracts scheduled to be let by the state highway department March 31 includes paving of state highway No. 9 in Lubbock county south of Lubbock to the Lynn county line, and two projects in Motley and Hall counties.

Letting of the contract to pave south from Lubbock will complete No. 9 north and south in two counties, Hale and Lubbock, for a distance of approximately 80 miles. This, together with the 17 miles of paving in Randall county from Amarillo to Canyon, will give that road nearly 100 miles of hard surface. The probabilities are that No. 9 from Canyon to Happy will be paved this summer also, leaving only Swisher county unpaved between Amarillo and south of Lubbock.

Located On Highway 18

The Motley-Hall projects are both on highway No. 18. One is from Matador south to the Dickens county line and is for grading and drainage. Distance is approximately twelve and a half miles, all in Motley county.

The other project is from Turkey east to the precinct line near Hovel and is for grading and drainage work also. Distance is approximately fourteen and a half miles.

"With these projects let, the only section not included in a grading and drainage work between Dickens and Estelline is in Motley county from Matador north to the Hall county line," Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer for this district, said in announcing the contracts. "I think this will be included in the April lettings."

"All of these projects will be included in this year's lettings," he added.

No. 18 from Dickens north to the Motley county line is paved. From Dickens to Spur the grading and drainage work has been completed and the highway is ready for paving as soon as legal questions are settled.

The man's hand had been badly mangled by discharge from a gun. He was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium late last night and was resting well at midnight. Attendants did not know particulars of his injury.

Plainview Girl Is Badly Frightened

PLAINVIEW, March 11—(Special)—Frightened by boys who allegedly were playing a prank, a 13-year-old high school girl has suffered a partial nervous breakdown and is reported in a serious condition here.

Last week while on her way home the girl was followed for several blocks by two car loads of boys, one in front and the other behind. The cars stopped and one of the boys left the machine and accosted her. The girl did not recognize any of the boys.

Her parents reside in Swisher county and the girl is said to make her home with relatives here while attending school.

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Undigested food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows sallow and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, barks and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a poor upset stomach. Just a tablespoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disfiguring eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

THE WORLD'S AT YOUR DOOR

IMMORTALIZED in story and song, the old "corner store" has passed—along with the free potato on the kerosene can, and the customers' access to the cracker-box. It was picturesque, but you never quite knew what you would find there. Half the time it was full of people who didn't know what they wanted. The other half, it was empty. It was more of a club than a store.

Today, when you enter your grocery store—or any store—you know what you want, how much you want of it, and the price you are going to pay. Advertising has rendered you this service. It brings you daily, through the columns of this newspaper, the merchandising opportunities of the whole world. In the quiet of your home, you are enabled to select everything you want to buy!

The modern way to be certain of quality and value is to read the advertisements. Representing almost every field of opportunity, the advertising columns of this newspaper bring you the fascinating story of the whole world's market-place!

Read the advertisements! They are daily messages of opportunity for you.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER

THEY WON'T LET HER QUIT AS CITY MANAGER; ONLY WOMAN IN SUCH WORK

KINSLEY, Kan., March 11—Miss Vivian I. Milner, city manager of this town of 2500 population, and only woman in such a position in the country, wants to retire and can't.

For a year and a half Miss Milner's resignation has been on file but so well have the city's affairs been managed that city commissioners refuse to listen to her pleas.

Before Miss Milner took charge of the town's municipal affairs, streets were in wretched condition, the treasury was low and taxes were high. Under her direction many municipal improvements have been carried through and the expense to taxpayers has been reduced.

Miss Milner grew up in Kinsley but went at an early age to Chicago to enter secretarial work. On a trip to California she stopped off here, her home town, to visit her mother. She decided to remain to care for her mother through a winter.

In 1921, with care of her mother taking only part of her time, Miss Milner consented to become city clerk. In 1924 the city's government was changed to the commission form.

First one man and then another was employed as city manager, but the men all quit under fire.

As each of the men failed, the city commissioners asked Miss Milner to try her hand as city manager.

"But it's a man's job," she always replied.

In 1924, however, Miss Milner was prevailed upon to take the job temporarily while a suitable man was being sought.

Soon the city commissioners ceased looking for the man. City affairs began to run smoothly. Taxes have been reduced. Modern fire-fighting equipment has been installed. Trees have been set out and much paving done. Several business houses are in course of construction.

"But I want to quit," Miss Milner has announced repeatedly. "Things are straightened out now and I would like to return to my chosen work. I'd like to have time for music and cultural things which now are crowded out of my life."

But citizens demand that she continue to serve them. They insist she owes it to her home town.

Mark Twain Is Topic For Discussion At Sorosis Club Meeting On Tuesday

The life and works of Mark Twain, eminent American author, furnished the theme for a program, given at a meeting of the Sorosis club Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. O. B. Hewett, 1002 Avenue N.

Mrs. J. T. Howell was leader of the program and Mrs. C. B. Powell gave the main facts in the life of Twain. Discussions of "The Man That Corrupted Hadleyburg," "Extaracts From Adam's Diary," and "The Celebrated Frog of Calavaras County" were given by Mesdames C. E. Roberts and Minnie Jackson. Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw told of "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn."

The main sources of Mark Twain's novels and tales were given by Mrs. T. C. Root.

During a brief business session, Mrs. C. B. Powell was elected as a delegate to the district Federated club meeting at Memphis in May.

It was decided to study a travelogue course in the chapter during 1931-32. There was a good attendance at the meeting.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—The stock market was momentarily unsettled by a reduction of the New York Central dividend in the early hours of trading today, but no important selling developed and the list hardened by midday.

After selling up 2 points at the opening, New York Central broke more than 2 points under yesterday's close, then recovered a little. Union Pacific lost 6 points, Baltimore & Ohio 2, and Pennsylvania 1.

U. S. Steel, Radio and Anaconda lost a point, American Telephone 2 points, and Eastman 4.

Call money again renewed at 2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Cotton opened 2 to 6 points lower today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and a renewal of liquidation which seemed to be coupled with some local and southern selling.

Uncertainty as to the extent of acreage reduction was again considered responsible for a good part of the selling which sent prices off to 10.85 for May and 11.39 for October by the end of the first half hour or about 10 to 12 points net lower. Liverpool cables said there had been Manchester buying in that market, supplied by Bombay selling and the easier ruling of Egyptian, but reported an increased inquiry for cotton cloth from India.

Liverpool was reported a seller in the market here, especially in the distant positions during the early trading. Offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying on a scale down.

Enough trade buying or covering developed to steady the market at the early decline and prices worked up a few points from the lowest later on covering. Brokers with Japanese connections were credited with buying October, while domestic trade interests were among the buyers of July and October.

The market at midday was quiet and steady with May holding around 10.90 and October 10.45 or about 5-6 points net lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 11 (AP)—Cotton here today had an active but easier opening. Liverpool cables were lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 4 to 6 points as sentiment among ring traders continued bearish and as trade buying could be induced only at lower levels, the market after the start continued to ease off, May trading down to 10.83 and October to 11.35, or 13 to 18 points under yesterday's close. At the end of the first hour the market was rather easy and near the lows. Sentiment seemed to be influenced by fears of only a small decrease in acreage.

The market quieted down somewhat later after the absorbing of the offerings due to early liquidation and near noon prices were supported by some trade buying. May rallied to 10.87 and October to 11.43, or 2-1 points up from the lows but still 6-8 points under yesterday's close.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, March 11. (AP) Cotton futures opened steady, Mar. 10.72-bid; May 10.91; July 11.14; Oct. 11.44; Dec. 11.65; Jan. 11.76-bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, March 10.71; May 10.91; July 11.15; Oct. 11.46; Dec. 11.67; Jan. 11.74.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 11. (AP)—With Liverpool wheat quotations showing a decided setback, grains averaged lower early today. The downturns at Liverpool were ascribed largely to weakness of Argentine markets and to selling by United States government sponsored agencies in European continental centers. Opening unchanged to 3-8 cents lower, wheat afterward held near to the initial figures. Corn started at 3-8 off to 1-4 up, and subsequently tended to sag.

Reported pressure of Argentine wheat offerings abroad gave bears in Chicago an advantage at times, and so too did Washington crop reports stressing beneficial effects of recent heavy snow and rain in domestic winter wheat territory. The bearish influence of Argentine wheat pressing for a trans-Atlantic outlet received emphasis also from advices that there was virtually no demand at Liverpool.

Adding to handicaps of wheat bulls were reports that Australian overseas shipments so far this season totaled about double what they were a year ago. Nevertheless, the crop percentage exported both from Australia and Argentina remained less than was the case last year.

Provisions responded to downturns of hog values.

SCHOOL SYSTEM IS PROBED

IRREGULARITIES ARE INVESTIGATED BY COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, March 11. (AP)—An extensive investigation by the house education committee into certain alleged irregular practices in the state school system was started Tuesday.

There was much wrangling between John Miller, attorney for the C. R. Jackson company of Dallas, and Ray Holder, chairman of the committee and author of the resolution under which the investigation is being conducted.

The C. R. Jackson company was under fire in connection with the distribution of a series of character charts placed on the required list for schools.

A. L. Hall of Dallas, representnig the Grolier society, was the only witness Tuesday. He stated the price of the charts was exorbitant.

Holder ridiculed the "pedagogical value" of the charts.

Representative Coombes of Dallas criticised the method of conducting the committee investigation.

Jackson was not here Tuesday as expected, but his attorney said he would appear today.

debate Senator Woodruff of Decatur undertook to qualify Purl as an expert on the subject of printing.

Purl asked proponents of the resolution if they did not believe it a better plan to allow the boys of the deaf and dumb institute and other state institutions to do the state's printing work. He said he would suggest that the board of control be allowed to investigate with a view allowing the other state institutions bid on state printing jobs.

The chair appointed Senators Neal of Carthage, Greer of Athens, Parrish of Lubbock, Hardin of Greenville and Woodruff of Decatur as senate conferees with the house free conference committee on a house bill asking that school districts of Texas be authorized to issue interest-bearing warrants to teachers in order that schools might continue the remainder of the term and which the house turned back, refusing to confer in the senate amendments.

OCAMPO HEADS NEW JUNTA

PERUVIAN GOVERNMENT CHANGED 4TH TIME IN FORTNIGHT

LIMA, Peru, March 11 (AP)—Lieutenant Colonel David Samanez Ocampo today became head of the Peruvian government—the fourth to occupy that position within a fortnight—despite ill health and an apparent unwillingness to serve.

By invitation of Lieutenant Colonel Gustavo Jiminez, who has headed a transitory Junta since he seized power Thursday, Ocampo will serve as provisional president until constitutional government can be restored.

Headed Junta

Ocampo, who has been head of the "Southern Junta" set up by Arequipa revolutionaries February 2, was offered the provisional presidency of Jiminez Sunday, with two additional posts for the Arequipans and the remainder to be allocated among various sections of the country.

Yesterday he refused, suggesting Lima form a government and Arequipa be given a veto power on cabinet selections, but the Jiminez Junta resented this, saying it savored of a demand for a dictatorship by the southerners.

Whereupon the "Southern Junta" resigned last night, saying it did so to prove good faith and because it did not wish to stand in the way of a union of all Peruvian elements.

To Assume Duties

This was followed by an exchange of telegraphic communication with Lima, and today Ocampo announced he would assume the "heavy responsibilities as a duty."

Lieutenant Colonel Luis M. Sanchecz Cerro, provisional president of Peru last August, when he was installed by a revolt at Arequipa, was unseated March 1, and since has gone to Europe. Judge Ricardo Elias followed him, but was ousted in a few days by Jiminez. Now it is Ocampo's turn.

Art L. Chase, 18, of 714 Avenue V, accomplished that Tuesday afternoon at municipal airport. A minimum of 10 hours' instruction usually is necessary preliminary to a solo flight, according to Jimmy Moore, licensed transport pilot and Chase's instructor.

Chase began flying about two weeks ago. Tuesday afternoon he climbed into a training ship, took off satisfactorily, circled about the field several times and then made a three-point landing.

The youthful flier has a student's license and is progressing rapidly toward a private pilot's license, local airmen say.

CLARA BOW TO HAVE "TOUGH TIME" GETTING $150,000 JEWELRY BACK

LOS ANGELES, March 11 (AP)—If Clara Bow has $1,500 worth of jewelry in the district attorney's office, the outlook is, in the parlance at the hall of justice, that she is going to have one "tough time" getting it back. An attorney and a bank already are after it.

The actress, represented by her proxy, Rex Bell, made a move to lay claim to it. It was the jewelry taken from the safe deposit box of Daisy De Boe, when that young woman was arrested last November for stealing from Clara.

All Want It

At the trial, in which Daisy was convicted, Clara said it was hers; Daisy said "no, it's mine," and William Bierne, Daisy's attorney, remarking he didn't give a continental whose it was, attached it for fees, following which a bank in Beverly Hills also tried to attach it, claiming Daisy gave them a worthless check.

That was the situation when Cowboy Bell appeared Monday in the district attorneys office to claim the jewelry.

When Bell left, he had found out several things, to wit: The district attorney had the jewelry and he wouldn't give it up and Bell would have to see Bierne about it and Beirne probably would tell him to see the district attorney and if Beirne did that, the district attorney probably would tell him to go into court and get it all straightened out.

So Bell's without the jewelry.

Another diary entry told of a very dear friend "whose name I shall not mention," who called on Miss Gordon with a bottle of bourbon. "Boy! I needed it," she wrote. "I slept three hours. That's what drink will do. He is so sweet—known him for five years—has twice asked me to marry him—but—oh! well—"

Still another entry, dated in August, 1920, read thus:

"J. A. R. here again. Hinted about my getting killed."

Change In Election Laws Asked By Kemp

AUSTIN, March 11 (AP)—Charles H. Kemp of Houston urged repeal of the "freedom of conscience clause" of the election laws before a joint meeting of the senate and house committees on privileges and election last night.

He asserted the clause, in its first part, gave political parties power to prescribe qualifications of members, but in the following clause provided that a person should never be denied the privilege of participating in a primary because of his former political beliefs.

Kemp said he favored elimination of the negro vote in the primary by allowing the Democratic party to have the inherent right to prescribe qualifications of its members without intervention of statutes.

Negro Has Own Idea On Jury Selection

LOS ANGELES, March 11. (AP)—Robert Collins, youthful negro, acting as his own attorney at his trial on a robbery charge has his own ideas on how to select a jury.

His main question to prospective jurors yesterday was:

"If a man saw something hanging on a tree and went to town and told about it and the people went out and looked at it, what would you say that something was?"

In each case the talesman was puzzled and finally gave up.

Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer, as much mystified as the jurors, asked Collins the reason for such a question.

"You see, judge," the negro explained, "if they don't instantly think of a negro lynching, the, haven't got racial prejudice and I accept them."

District Attorney R. G. Waters declared the state's case was clear, although built mainly on circumstantial evidence. He told the jurors he was leaving it to them to decide whether Glasscoe should receive the death penalty or a prison sentence.

Otto Atchley of defense counsel pleaded for Glasscoe's freedom, vigorously attacking the records of state witnesses.

"Range conditions have seldom been better in the state, and the present prospect is excellent for early and abundant grazing," the report stated.

"Cattle and sheep will be fat early this year, as conditions are about thirty days ahead of the usual condition," the report said.

The report said cattle improved five points during the month and were only two points below the five year average. Cattle should fatten rapidly, and the movement to market of grass fat stuff should be earlier than usual, the report said.

NO DECISION IN LEVELLAND DEATH

LEVELLAND, March 11. (Special)—No decision has been made in connection with investigation of the death of W. F. Moore, 55, prominent Hockley county citizen who was found dying in his home near here Tuesday morning. There was a bullet hole in his side and his clothing had become ignited.

Moore was found by his wife and a grown son, who was attracted to his room by an explosive report. Moore died immediately. One chamber of his pistol, which was on a dresser near which he fell, was empty.

Condition of Mrs. Moore had caused delay in an inquest, County Attorney Weldon Johnson said Tuesday night. Justice of the Peace George P. Smith and County Attorney Johnson are investigating the death.

Investigation at the place of the shooting has been completed, but the inquest probably will not be finished for several days, the county attorneys said today.

The widow, several brothers of the dead man and other relatives today accompanied the body to Temple, where burial will be made. Moore formerly lived at Temple.
