Red Chinese Upheaval Expands To Civil War

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese dispatch from Peking quoted Defense Minister Lin Piao today as saying all of Red China "now is in a state of civil war." At the same time High-ranking navy and air force officials were reported as being denounced as reactionaries and plotters.

Lin is believed to be No. 2 man in the Chinese Communist party hierarchy under Chairman Mao Tse-Tung.

The correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri said Lin's statement on civil war appeared without confirmation on one of the thousands of wall bulletins which have turned the Chinese capital into a paper and ink city.

Lin, 59, is in the forefront of the battle to oust President Liu Shao-chi and restore to Mao the position of state power he once held.

Japanese dispatches also reported these developments:

—Wall posters also told of a demand for the overthrow of Su Chen-hua, political commisar at navy headquarters and a member of the Defense Council. Su was accused of being a follower of the anti-Mao line and the "chief plotter of a coup d'etat attempted by Deputy Premier Ho Lung."

Another wall poster quoted Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, as saying there were "reactionary elements" in the air force. This account came from the correspondent of the Japan Broadcasting Corp., who said there was no way of determining the accuracy of the wall posters.

—Kang Sheng, one of the top men in Mao's purge committee, has come under questioning by pro-Mao Red Guards and faces the possibility of being accused of being a "bourgeois reactionary." This account came from the correspondent of the newspaper Asahi.

Dr. Lin Yutang, noted Chinese author and scholar, predicted in Manila that the current upheaval in Communist China will leave Mao's regime a "wreck." Arriving from Taipei, Formosa, for a goodwill visit, Lin told a news conference: "The worst is yet to come. By the time the purging of Communist leaders is completed, Mao's machinery will be a wreck and shaken to the bottom."

Whether there is civil war in the classic sense or not, there could be no doubt that the vast Chinese mainland and its 720 million people were in the grip of civil confusion.

Mao-Lin supporters since the start of the year have assaulted the city proletariat, the provincial Communist party committees and the organs of propaganda — all strongholds of Liu power. They have made some gains, but by their own admission have yet to consolidate their victories.

Lin, speaking at a recent meeting of the party Central Committee's Military Commission, was quoted as saying: "There are some who must be resolutely knocked down. But there are some others who must not be knocked down. The revolution is necessary, but confusion must be avoided."

The wall posters — pasted up by opposing groups of Red Guards, worker or military factions — have exposed the citizens to one sensational statement after another. The veracity of many of the claims is unknown, but some of the items have later been confirmed by Peking radio, the New China News Agency or the Peking People's Daily.

Some wall posters claimed that Mao's backers have seized the Ministry of Culture and the nation's radio facilities, while others said Liu, Mao's chief opponent, has launched a mass exodus of peasants to the cities with the aim of paralyzing the urban centers and slashing farm production.

Indonesians Ask Death For Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Nearly 2,000 students massed outside army headquarters today, accusing President Sukarno of being a Communist and shouting "Death to Sukarno" and "Hang Sukarno!"

The students chanted charges that Sukarno was involved in the Communist coup attempt of Oct. 1, 1965, and had a hand in the murder of six generals in the abortive revolt.

Sukarno's white palace is about 500 yards from the two-story army headquarters building, but the president was 80 miles away in his mountain retreat at Bogor when the demonstration occurred.

Armed troops ringed the headquarters building. As students surged against the gates, one of army Gen. Suharto's deputies came out to tell them he would present their demands to Suharto.

The students called for an end to Indonesia's dual leadership, now split in name at least, between Sukarno and Suharto. They also demanded an immediate settlement of the tense political situation.

Leaders of Indonesia's Congress decided Friday to hold a full congressional hearing in March or April to review Sukarno's position as president. The hearing could result in Sukarno's removal, but diplomats noted that such action has been demanded before and Sukarno is still president.

In a statement last week Sukarno refused to account for his responsibility in connection with the coup and the nation's economic problems. He attempted to shift the blame for the coup to Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, now chairman of Congress, who at the time was minister of defense and security.

Destroyers Duel With Red Guns

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. destroyers fought two gun duels with North Vietnamese shore batteries Friday while American bombers hit rail yards and rail bridges north and south of Hanoi, the U.S. military command reported today.

In South Vietnam fierce fighting flared. Tough South Vietnamese Paratroopers reported killing 108 Viet Cong in two clashes Friday night.

Fighting was reported from the southern tip of South Vietnam's northernmost Quang Tyi Province, but no major engagements were reported by either the American or Vietnamese military commands.

Operation Cedar Falls continued at a slower pace with U.S. troops in the Iron Triangle reporting only light contact in the operation area 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon. The biggest development was the uncovering of a massive tunnel Friday, believed to be the headquarters of the Viet Cong's 4th Military Region.

In another action, two companies of the U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade ran into heavy communist fire Friday while attacking a supply depot 14 miles southeast of the capital. They were supported by U.S. Navy and Vietnamese river patrol boats and landing craft which served as a blocking force on rivers and streams in the area. This force reported killing four Viet Cong while the infantry raiders captured 45 tons of rice and 10 cases of TNT and held 320 suspects for questioning. Allied casualties were termed light.

War Dead Names Are Sought Here

The task of compiling the names of all Scurry County residents who gave their lives in war-time military service has been launched here in preparation for erection of a memorial monument.

Bob Watlington, who heads a Jaycee committee and who was asked by county commissioners to coordinate the project, said that the complete list of names of war dead is needed so that plans can be made for a suitable monument. The commissioners court has committed itself to erection of such a monument when all of the needed information is obtained.

Watlington said that Veterans organizations and local service clubs have endorsed the project which developed following some preliminary work by a Jaycee committee. Watlington, as chairman of the Jaycee group, said that the Veterans organizations and Elmer Taylor, County Veterans Service Officer, had been helpful in the work.

The names obtained so far comprise an incomplete list, Watlington said. Consequently the list now in hand is being published and persons who know of names that should be added are urged to notify Watlington or Taylor, or the county judge's office.

Names to be added to the list may be submitted on the coupon below.

Scurry County ranks seventh among the 53 counties served by the Veterans Administration Hospital at Big Spring in number of living veterans, Watlington said. The total number of known veterans in this county is 2,430.

The list of war dead compiled so far includes the following: World War I — Edward J. Adams, Willis O. Casey, Everett L. Darrow, Faris Heath, Harry D. Horton, Elliott J. Ingram, William S. Layne, William C. Porter, Joseph I. Stephens, Wallace M. Tayor, Tank R. Westbrook, William M. Wilson (Serial No. 1,481,434), William M. Wilson (Serial No. 1483,406), and Henry L. Woodard.

World War II — La Verne Farquhar, T. J. Kite, Melvin Bannon, Billy Barkley, Earl B. Bavousett, Daren Benbenek, John H. Biggs, T. C. Bills,

OUTSTANDING FARMER — Buddy Drum (right) was presented a plaque for being the "Outstanding Young Farmer" of Scurry County. Herbert Reed (left), president of the Jaycees, made the presentation. Max von Roeder, center, has served on the selection committee several times. The occasion was the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Kilgore Urges Revision Of State's Constitution

Joe Kilgore, Austin attorney and former Congressman, urged a revision of the Texas Constitution here last night as some 450 persons gathered for the annual Banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce which saw two local citizens receive high personal honors.

C. T. McLaughlin (Mr. Mac to most Snyderites and many others throughout the United States) was named Snyder's Outstanding Citizen of 1966, and Buddy Drum was honored by Snyder Jaycees as Scurry County's Outstanding Young Farmer of 1966.

Bill Wilson, who received the Outstanding Citizens award at last year's banquet, made the presentation to McLaughlin.

"This man is not really a native Texan," Wilson said, "But he became one the first day he was here."

The McLaughlin story is well-known to many — how he was born and grew up in Pennsylvania, served in the Air Section of the U.S. Army in World War I and then came to Wichita Falls in 1921. He acquired the Diamond M Ranch southwest of Snyder in 1935 and since that time has been identified with countless civic projects, political life and business life of the region.

The inscription on the plaque presented to McLaughlin follows: "In Grateful appreciation of Mr. Mac's devotion to his community, state and nation which he serves vigorously, diligently and generously. His love for his fellowman has endeared him to all — a true humanitarian."

The Outstanding Young Farmer Award was presented to Drum by Herb Reed, president of the Snyder Jaycees.

Drum, who will represent Snyder Jaycees in state competition at Harlingen, was selected for the honor from a field

Wreckage Is Studied

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Air Force investigators today probed the wreckage of a KC135 jet tanker that crashed in the foothills of Mt. Spokane with the loss of nine airmenm

The tanker, which the Air Force said may have been blown off course by gale force winds, failed to clear a small hill and crashed Thursday night.

It had begun a landing approach for its home field, Fairchild Air Force Base, after a flight from Hawaii on which it was escorting a group of Air Force jet fighters back to the United States.

The wreckage was found by a civilian snow tractor crew Friday.

A major portion of Southwestern Bell's expenditure, amounting to $170,000, will include completing the laying of underground telephone cable to SACROC Oil Field northwest of Snyder, Fowler reported.

The 1967 state-wide construction program by Southwestern Bell is $14.3 million more than in 1966, also a record year.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About seven years ago you printed a letter in your column signed "TOO LATE."

Abby, I must have read that letter a hundred times. I finally cut it out and framed it because I realized that I had been guilty of neglecting my own parents in their declining years. I made up my mind then and there that I would turn over a new leaf while there was still time, and I did.

Not only did I try to make up for the times I was "too busy" to go to see them, but I explained to my children how important it was to give their grandparents the pleasure of seeing them often. Now I know that I will never have to write a letter like the one I framed. Perhaps if you were to print that letter again, it would do for others what it did for me. God bless you.

GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thank you for your letter. Curiously enough, the custodian of a cemetery wrote to tell me that "TOO LATE's" letter had been framed and was hanging in the chapel. What a pity that it would be read by those for whom it was also too late. How much more good might be accomplished were it posted on the bulletin board in a high school. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I am the most heartbroken person on earth. I always found time to go everywhere else but to see my old, gray-haired parents. They sat at home alone, loving me just the same. It is too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and too busy to give, and now when I go to visit their graves and look at the green grass above them, I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them. I pray that you will print this, Abby, to tell those who still have their parents to visit them and show their love and respect while there is still time. For it is later than you think.

TOO LATE

DEAR ABBY: I am single, in my early fifties, and have a good position. I live with my mother and we get along fine.

Last winter a cousin (about my age) passed away. Her husband has been coming here very often to visit "us." It has become very plain to both mother and me that he is interested in ME. Abby, how can I let him know that I am not interested in HIM? So far I have been able to get out of being alone with him, but he is very persistent. If he keeps coming over here I will have to insult him to get the idea across, unless you tell me an easier way to go about it.

NOT INTERESTED

DEAR NOT: Keep the conversation impersonal. Continue to thwart all his efforts to get you alone. Stay out of his reach and retire early. He'll catch on. P. S. — Why not introduce him to someone? One woman's leftovers can be another woman's banquet!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is not speaking to me and I think I had a perfect right to do what I did. Here is what happened. You be the judge. Every year my husband's company puts on a big Christmas party. There are drinks on the house (I don't drink) and a big feed, after which everybody gathers for the program. While we were eating I heard that as part of the program the boss was going to paint a picture of a dancing girl on my husband's stomach, tape a bow on his navel, and the girl would "dance" when my husband moved his stomach around. (I should have explained, my husband is fat and jolly.)

I told my husband I didn't care to see that kind of entertainment, and I made him take me home. Abby, I just couldn't watch such a vulgar display in mixed company. It's not my nature. My husband said I could have been a good sport for his sake and stayed. What do you think?

MODEST

DEAR MODEST: Such Christmas parties are a pain in the stomach. But since you were already there, you might have busied yourself with something else while your husband and his boss made boobs of themselves. And remind your husband that "good sportsmanship" works both ways.

Alberto Manzi Is Teacher To Thousands Of Illiterates

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP) — Alberto Manzi is only 42 and he lectures in an empty class room. But he has taught more Italians to read and write than any other teacher in history.

For six years he has conducted a late afternoon program on Italy's state-run television called "Non E' Mai Troppo Tardi" — it's never too late.

The patient, painstaking lessons were aimed at Italy's illiterates, numbered in the 1961 census as 3,831,926.

It is estimated that through the program Manzi has taught almost a million of them to read and write.

At first, with his blackboard and his chalk and his slowly printed letters, Manzi conducted half-hour lessons three times a week. When the results became apparent the program was doubled to six lessons a week. Simple arithmetic and geography were added to the reading and writing lessons.

Manzi still teaches it all. He is perhaps the lowest paid teacher per pupil in the world.

His salary is that of an ordinary grade school teacher, $235 a month. He gets a bonus of $3.20 per lesson.

He has almost 200,000 enrolled illiterates or undereducated children and adults in organized groups around the country. Television officials estimate that three to four times that many actually follow the daily lessons.

Local groups have been formed in the small towns and countryside, particularly in retarded sections of southern Italy, where learners can get together and watch the program on sets provided in general stores, small factories and cross-roads coffee bars.

The program has become so widely known that comics on other TV shows even crack jokes about it, like this one:

"Only a few months ago I was a poor illiterate. Now, thanks to 'Non E' Mai Troppo Tardi,' I have already read Lolita and signed my name to two IOU's."

Construction

eight new telephone buildings and make additions to 35 others in the state this year. In 1966, five new buildings and 26 additions were completed.

Southwestern Bell, at year's end, had 3,857,992 telephones in Texas. The company expects to pass the four million mark in the state before the end of this year.

Southwestern Bell serves about 87 per cent of the total telephones in Texas. It is the largest employer in the state, with the exception of the government, with 27,700 employees and a payroll of $171,800,000 in 1966.

The record expenditure in Texas this year represents almost half of the $413 million Southwestern Bell will spend in its five-state territory, comprised of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri. Throughout the Bell System, telephone construction expenditures will total $4.2 billion this year.

The economic impact of Southwestern Bell's 1967 construction program will be felt in nearly every community served by the company, and hundreds of Texas firms that sell supplies, services and materials to the company will be affected, Fowler said.

Southwestern Bell's announcement of the recordbreaking construction program came on the heels of last month's announced 6 million reduction in telephone rates, mostly on Long Distance telephone calls within Texas.

KILGORE

of six nominees. The runnersup, in alphabetical order, were C. D. Gray, Don Jones, Terry Nachlinger, Julius Romisch, Glenn Thompson.

In his address, Kilgore said that government is a science, a business and an art. In modern times it is necessary that government be in a position to respond to the needs of its people promptly and if states are not able to do this, Federal encroachment occurs.

He said the Texas Constitution prohibits the last action required in many areas today to keep abreast of the needs of the state.

He cited the Dallas-Fort Worth airport project as an example. It is unlawful in Texas for two cities or two counties to join together in the operation of an airport. Consequently, in order to fill a definite need, the two cities had to wait for the legislature to meet so that enabling legislation may be passed.

In many areas of need, people have found that they can get faster action by going to the Federal government, Kilgore said.

The only way to reverse the Federal power trend is to enhance the state's power and its resources," Kilgore declared.

He said the principal cause of loss of confidence in government is the movement of government away from the people. He urged that citizens work toward the end that the smallest and closest government agency handle each problem that arises. If a city or school district can handle it, they should be given the backing to get the job done. Only as a last resort should the Federal government be called in, Kilgore declared.

Kilgore said that any person who goes to Washington to protest Federal aid or Federal encroachment on state rights should be willing to return to his state and work to put his state in a position to live up to its responsibility. If the states and the communities do not accept their responsibilities, or if they are not properly financed and supported to live up to their responsibilities, the Federal government will step into the picture, Kilgore said.

The Snyder High School Stage Band, under direction of Melvin Montgomery, drew thunderous applause as it presented a program of currently popular tunes at the outset of the banquet program.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, superintendent of schools, presided.

Earlier, in the school cafeteria, Bill Seale, 1966 president of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, had officially turned over the reins of the president's chair to Bentley Baize, 1967 president.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

ALMOST as fast as you could say, Allium Giganteum, we planted five of them, in keeping with our aim to try something new whenever possible.

We heard about Allium Giganteum from C. M. van der Mey of Lisse, Holland, whose firm, he said, introduced the spectacular, big bulb to this country some years ago.

The plant is 4 to 5 feet tall and has a large compact purple ball-shape flower 6 to 8 inches across. The flower, Van der May says, will last for weeks on its sturdy stem or when cut.

In Europe, the grower related, Allium Giganteum is used extensively as a cut flower alone and in floral arrangements. When the flower has dried, it may be spray-painted and used for winter arrangements.

"The height and size of the flower, composed of a million small purple florets, makes it so outstanding that it beats all other Allium varieties," Van-der Mey said.

The bulbs planted were in the shape of half a large pear.

They should be planted in the fall (or may be planted in the spring) in loose, well-drained soil. The bulb should be covered with about 4 inches of soil and planted 3 feet apart. If water is permitted to stand where the bulbs are planted, the bulbs may drown.

At this point, we were told that stocks were limited and advanced ordering was recommended in this country.

Minor bulbs such as crocus and scilla should be planted with the top two inches below the soil line. Hyacinths, daffodils and tulips should have four inches of soil on top of them.

To plant (without a bulb planter), remove the top six inches of soil, soften the bed below, level and set the bulbs in place, pointed end up. Cover the bulbs with the top soil that had been removed.

Water bulbs well after planting. The soil should be well-drained. Mixing in compost, peat or sand will improve soil drainage.

Bulbs should be planted as far apart as they are deep.

Pour onions with sauce over fish. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Broil for a few minutes to glaze. Makes 4 servings.

LIBRARY NOTES

This week book number 47,000 was accessioned at the Scurry County Library. With no previous planning the title turned out to be. "Consider the Evidence" by Jeffrey Ashley. In order to judge you must read.

Of interest to collectors of barbed wire is a new book by Jesse S. James entitled "Early United States Barbed Wire Patents." This book postively identifies 622 different barbed wires. The wires are described and there are photographs of the drawings submitted to the Patent Office at the time applications were made.

One of the most trying features of being a parent is worry and uncertainty over the various child care problems that arise from day to day. There are times when every parent can benefit from the sensible advice and guidance which can be found within the covers of a well-chosen book. The special problems of caring for the handicapped child are also covered in different books; a new one that should be of interest to both parents and professionals is a revision of "The Mentally Retarded Child" by Dr. Abraham Levinson. This book provides the parents of retarded children with much - needed guidance and with simple, direct answers to their daily questions. New material on the recent advances in research and education and on the development of clinics and parents' organizations has been added.

The urgent need for qualified teachers of brain-injured children is of increasing concern to parents of these children and to professionals who work with them. What qualities and competencies should such teachers have, and how should they be prepared? A seminar on teacher qualifications for teaching brain-injured children, held in October, 1965 provided the major souce of material in the book "The Teacher of Brain-Injured Children" edited by William M. Cruickshank. The papers prepared by the specialists for the seminar, together with significant portions of the discussion they provoked, make up the main body of the volume.

"Teaching the Disadvantaged" by Joseph O. Loretan and Shelley Umans is a book for school people, written by school people. The authors question many notions about how to educate the disadvantaged — from the 'simplified' curriculum that focuses on basis skills, to the priority of reading, the place of guidance, and the nature of vocational training. Disadvantaged youth need, and can benefit from the same type of curricular innovations that have been developed for the gifted. The book attempts, not to prescribe any single curriculum for disadvantaged children, but to describe many new ideas and programs.

"Psychopathology of Childhood" written by Jane W. Kessler is a book for the reader with a serious interest in the general field of child psychopathology. The problems of emotionally disturbed children are considered in the context of normal child development with the emphasis on psychological factors responsible for deviations. The book is problem-centered rather than profession-centered.

The world-famous Scandinavian system of sex education "What Shall I Tell My Child?" gives a systematic development of the subject, graded according to the children's ages. There are suggestions for the parents, telling how to introduce the child to the facts of sex life, and how to answer the many questions that stir in the mind of the growing boy or girl.

For many readers "Musical Ability in Children and Its Measurement" by Arnold Bentley will be an introduction to the measurement of musical abilities in children. In music it is especially important to discover above - average ability, and to encourage the practical application of this, at an early age. Dr. Bentley discusses theories concerning musical ability and goes on to map out the musical development of children in the early years.

"How I Photograph Children" by Suzanne Szasz is a book for parents, for friends of parents (such as uncles and grandma's) too, but mostly it is for people with kids, people who want to remember their children's growing years. The author presents a refreshing survey of methods and materials to boot dullness out of family photos.

Broccoli With Cheese Sauce

1 bunch (about 1½ pounds) broccoli
1 cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons each butter or margarine and flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup (¼ pound) coarsely grated cheddar cheese

With swivel-blade vegetable peeler, pare outer covering from broccoli stalks; divide stalks evenly, cutting if necessary. Wash and drain. Boil broccoli with the boiling water and salt in a covered 10-inch skillet just until tender — 8 to 10 minutes. Drain and keep warm. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk; add cheese and stir over very low heat to melt. (Taste sauce and add salt if necessary.) Pour sauce over broccoli. Makes 6 servings.

FEBRUARY WEDDING PLANNED — Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fowler, Arah Route, Snyder, announce the engagement of their daughter, Neva Elaine, to Ernest Wayne Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jenkins, 2814 Avenue D. The couple have set their wedding date for February 18th, in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Miniature Drop Biscuits

1 cup unsifted regular (not cake) self - rising flour
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup commercial sour cream

In a medium bowl with a pastry blender cut the butter into the flour until particles are invisible Add sour cream; with a fork, stir just until flour mixture holds together — dough will be very stiff. With a tablespoon and small spatula drop into small muffin pans (2 by 1 inch) filling to top. Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven until browned — 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

When a recipe calls for a cup of diced fresh tomato, you'll need one large tomato.

Small whole fish that are being broiled should be turned so both sides are well browned.

In 1967, copycats will be out of style. The trend is to make your home and entertaining different from anyone else's.

It's a trend that is hitting the smallest town and even extending to big city entertaining.

For example, the new "key" to New York City is informality. You could take a leaf from the ideas expressed by Commissioner of Public Events, John "Bud" Palmer, in a talk to members of the Home Fashions League, people active in the home furnishings field.

For one thing, he says, important guests are no longer treated to ceremonial luncheons or dinners. Important people get plenty of pageantry, he points out. Everybody enjoys informality.

They're given up the traditional banquet idea "because the world's hotel ballrooms run to a pattern in London, Paris, Bombay, New York," he explains. They're not stimulating.

They've replaced these big, fancy, formal banquets with cozy, intimate parties with small groups at small tables and no dais.

"When you arrange tables with eight people, you eliminate protocol problems," he explains. "We put the dignitary and his wife, the mayor and his wife and some prominent New Yorkers at one table. Other members of the dignitary's party sit at the other tables with the other guests. This puts the party on the level of an informal gathering and nobody's feelings are hurt," he explains.

As Palmer explains, New York figured out it couldn't make things as big and colorful as, say Washington, where the same people are entertained first, so they just decided they wouldn't compete. They'd make everything smaller, but cozier.

Some parties are held in cultural centers such as Lincoln Center of the Performing Arts and the Cloisters of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. This is a double-whammy, providing a different atmosphere and the opportunity to show off the city's treasures. Parties are held in private dining rooms of restaurants.

An after-theater supper for Madam Marcos, wife of the president of the Philippines, was held in a private room at Sardi's, a favorite eating place of Broadway personalities. The informal gathering was star - studded and everybody, including Madam Marcos, doing a little song or dance act. She had an opportunity to meet Angela Lansbury, the star of "Mame," the show she had just seen.

The clue to this idea, says Palmer, is "do what the person will enjoy" rather than "what you think you should do for them."

President Leopold Sedarsenghor of Senegal, one of Africa's intellectuals, got that special treatment. He enjoys opera, so was entertained there and later at the Opera Club, reserved for VIPs. The president was thrilled to meet Anna Moffo, who was the star of the evening's opera, told her how magnificent she was in the role, and commented on her beauty.

Far better idea than a stiff evening on the dais, says Palmer.

In preparing guest rooms, they try to inject warmth with some little spark of thoughtfulness besides the traditional flowers or fruit.

For Madame Gandhi, they located a favorite picture of her father, Nehru, taken by a photographer in the East. When she arrived at her hotel suite, there it was, suitably framed.

They provide many services that spell hospitality—a private car and personal shopper to help an astronaut's wife, and so on.

The small table idea for dinners is used by many people during holiday periods or on special occasions when the clan gathers, but it is often forgotten when they are called upon to do a business dinner. It's exactly that kind of dinner that needs a lift that may be provided by getting it away from the long table with all the leaves, where everybody sits in ramrod suspense.

Jane Street Salad

Crisp mixed salad greens
Mozzarella cheese
Ripe olives
Olive oil, white wine vinegar, seasoning salt, freshly ground pepper

For each serving, use about 1 cup greens (packed down), 3 or 4 olives (thickly sliced) and ¼ cup short pencil - thick strips of the cheese. At serving time, toss these three ingredients together using the remaining ingredients in the proportions you favor for the dressing.

A suspicion of dry mustard added to a cheddar cheese sauce points up flavor.

Big Bogeys Surprise Big Jack Nicklaus

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Winner of the U.S. Open, the Masters and the PGA Tournament, big Jack Nicklaus surprised everyone including himself with three straight double bogeys in the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

Even more amazing, Jack, who celebrates his 27th birthday today, leads the $104,500 tournament by two strokes.

"I can't recall ever getting three double bogeys in a row since I was 10 years old," the Ohio slugger commented after blowing six of his eight-stroke lead Friday in the gale winds at Cypress Point.

"I am very fortunate. When you have three double bogeys and still are out in front, you are just plain lucky."

Big Jack finished with a one-over-par 73 and 36-hole total of 142 on a day when only three of the 168 pros broke par. He's the only one under regulation figures at the halfway point.

Cypress Point, Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill each plays to a par 72, and by tonight all the pros and their amateur partners will have toured all three.

Gale winds and occasional rain whipped through the Monterey Peninsula Friday, a day when a tremendous first nine by Nicklaus might have encouraged duffers to give up the game. He then proved even the great can blow up when he went two over par on each of the 15th, 16th and 17th holes.

A par at the 18th preserved his advantage over a lesser known quartet at 144 — Jerry Pittman, Jim Colbert, Steve Oppermann and Bob McCallister.

Meanwhile, Arnold Palmer wound up with a 75 and 149, saying the wind on the Pebble Beach ocean holes nearly blew him off his footing. U.S. Open champion Billy Casper had 74 at Spyglass Hill and 146. And Joe Carr, the unknown who led the first day with 68, disappeared again with an 82.

Travis Vs. Lamar In Finals Tilt

The 9th grade basketball teams of Lamar and Travis Junior High Schools were to tangle at 7 p.m. Saturday in the finals of the annual 9th grade tournament. The site of the tourney was the Lamar gym.

Both Snyder teams disposed of first round foes Friday. Lamar tripped Post, 54-50, and Travis whipped Sweetwater, 45-30. In second round action Saturday morning, Lamar trampled Stamford, 77-60, to qualify for the finals. Travis drew a second round bye into the championship tussle.

Lamar maintained a slight edge over Post throughout most of the action of their first round tilt. The score at the end of the first quarter favored the host quintet, 14-5, and they remained in charge, 23-17, at halftime.

Lee McNair sparked the Lamar attack, connecting for 18 points. Billy Bowden and Larry Green each contributed 12 points. For Post, Altman received credit for 22 points, and Newby zeroed in for 13.

Travis received a 16-point performance from Jim Patrick in its triumph over Sweetwater. The Blue Devils held the upper hand throughout the action with Wesley Bishop contributing 14 points to the Travis cause. Travis outscored its opponent in every quarter, steadily building the 30-point bulge.

Sweetwater's Jimmy Teston rang the hoops for 18 points.

What Has Happened To The Lobos?

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The apparent collapse of the New Mexico Lobos has started to intrigue college basketball fans already perplexed by the decline of the Kentucky Wildcats.

The Lobos from Albuquerque, sixth-ranked in the preseason Associated Press poll, lost their third in a row Friday night. A last second layup by Walt Simon gave Utah a 66-64 victory at Salt Lake City after the Lobos had held a 37-30 halftime lead.

It was the fourth defeat, all on the road, against 11 victories for the Lobos who slipped from third to ninth in the current AP rankings after last week's setbacks by Wyoming and Denver. New Mexico State handed the Lobos their first defeat last month.

Unbeaten, top-ranked UCLA, the only other team in the Top Ten to see action, made it 13 straight with a 122-57 romp over Portland at Los Angeles, with sophomore Lew Alcindor pacing the attack with 27 oints.

Gary Gray, a 6-foot-1 senior from Ft. Cobb, Okla., threw in 55 points to lead Oklahoma City in a 128-103 rout of West Texas State.

Brigham Young, playing at home, took over undisputed leadership in the Western Athletic Conference by defeating Wyoming 97-75.

Oregon downed Oregon State 63-51 and Santa Clara whipped San Francisco State 92-80 in other home court victories. On the road, Colorado State University defeated Idaho State 70-58. The CSU Rams were paced by Bob Rule's 30 points.

Lefty O'Doul Gets Retroactive Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Lefty O'Doul, the 69-year-old boulevardier from San Francisco who once played for all three New York teams, was named today the recipient of the New York Baseball Writers' Association's Retroactive Player of the Year Award.

The slugging outfielder of the 1920s and 1930s will be the seventh player to receive the award established by the New York Chapter to honor veterans who never got the recognition they deserved during their active major league days.

He is being honored specifically for the 1929 season with the Philadelphia Phillies, one of five big league teams with whom he played when he batted .398 to lead the majors. He had a lifetime batting average of .348.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay announced that New York City will enter a bid for the 1976 Olympics, and that the city is prepared to spend about $500 million to build a stadium, swimming pool, dormitories, and dining facilities to accommodate between 6,000 and 8,000 athletes.

Steve Worster Has Running Power

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Since Steve Worster wound up a fabulous career at Bridge City, the most popular question is whether he was the greatest back in Texas schoolboy football history.

Worster is the 210-pounder who has just finished making the all-state team three straight years. In his career he ran 785 times for 5,422 yards (almost four miles) and scored 512 points on 79 touchdowns and 38 points afterward. He played in a total of 38 games.

Worster averaged 6.9 yards carrying the ball. Such an average would be a sensation in any classification of football.

The answer is that Worster isn't the greatest back in schoolboy history but he's undoubtedly the most powerful runner.

Ever since schoolboy football started in the Texas Interscholastic League in 1920 the fellow regarded as the greatest player was John Drew (Boody) Johnson, who starred at Waco in 1921-22-23. Johnson won much of his acclaim with his drop-kicking, an art not known today. But he also was a sensational broken field runner, a talented blocker, played defense, caught passes (in his day, however, a team that averaged five passes per game was considered quite daring) and the thousands of yards this young man gained would have been startling—except they didn't keep such statistics.

Worster is not the all-around football player of Johnson's stripe or the stripe of many others in schoolboy annals. But even Johnson agrees that there may never have been a player with more straightaway power than Slamming Steve.

Johnson, who still lives in Waco, had this to say:

"He is not a deceptive runner but for sheer power, I never saw a player to equal him."

Really, it is difficult to compare players over a period of 47 years because of the changing styles, the development of blocking (they used to call it interference in Johnson's day) and the better teamwork. A fellow has more help from his mates.

But it is seldom that one sees the type running that featured the early and middle years of schoolboy football. Jerry Levias, the Southern Methodist split end, reminds you of runners like Johnson, Ray Brandon of Cleburne, Charley Haas of Corpus Christi, Bobo Hilliard of Orange, Bobby Wilson of Corsicana, George Walmsley of Goose Creek, Dick Miller of Longview, Bert Marshall of Greenville, Glenn Lippman of El Campo and Blue Smith.

The latter was the first great runner of Texas schoolboy football. He played with Cleburne in 1920 when it tied Houston Heights for the first state championship.

Those fellows were the elusive type—they'd run all over the field like scared rabbits, might even run 40 yards to get five or ten.

Worster definitely was not this type. He was like Leo Baldwin of Wichita Falls, Chris Cortemeglia of Bryan, Roy Lumkin of Oak Cliff and Byron Townsend of Odessa.

But Worster can be rated the best of them all at power running.

Here are other great runners of schoolboy football, most of them the elusive type but all accomplishing what Worster did —roll up the yardage:

Ike Neumann of Port Arthur, Raymond Borneman of Houston Lamar, Burl Bufkin of Amarillo, Cam Harrell of Conroe, Bertn ravitt of Denver City, Glynn Gregory of Abilene, Bob Clesson of Amarillo, Warren McVea of San Antonio Brackenridge, Buster Mills of Ranger, Boyce Magness of Breckenridge, Wild Horse Mayes of Amarillo, Gahlen Dinkle of Marshall, Walter Fondren of Houston Lamar, Wilton Ferrell of Houston Reagan, Ronnie Scoggins of Garland, Pat Sheehan of San Antonio Lee, Linus Baer of Lee, Ralph Welch of Sherman, Loping Lucy Phelps of Abilene, Billy Quinn of Austin, Altman Smith of Abilene, Honk Irwin of Cisco, Doak Walker of Highland Park, Kitty Kathcart of Waco, Gordon LeBoeuf of Port Neches, Mike McClellan of Stamford, Ernie Koy of Bellville, Bill Bradley of Palestine, Ed Lee Renfro of Sonora, Bert Coan of Pasadena.

It is to be noted that these fellows are scattered over the years and that every era had its greatest. But not all the fine runners of 47 years are included. There have been more than a half-million boys play the game in Texas and about 200,000 of them were backs.

Then, you get down to who was the greatest offensive player of all time—both running and passing—and that has to be kenneth Hall of Sugar Land. He ran for 10,000 yards, passed for 3,000 and scored 899 points in four years. One night he got 520 yards on 14 carries—an average of 37.1 yards—and racked up 49 points.

Hall scored 395 points in 1953.

He was a 200-pounder who ran 100 yards in 9.6. He was both powerful and elusive.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets announced that a three-way trade involving Rudy LaRusso of the Los Angeles Lakers, Ray Scott of Detroit, and Mel Counts of the Bullets had been canceled, because the Detroit club had been unable to persuade LaRusso to join it. The Lakers reinstated LaRusso after a brief suspension.

West Leads East In Series, Is Favored

LOS ANGELES (AP) – Football's final gasp of the long, long 1966-67 season comes here Sunday when top starts of the National Football League collide in the 17th annual Pro Bowl game.

It will be talent from the Western Division against the Eastern — officially designated East and West — in Memorial Coliseum.

The game will be nationally televised by CBS, starting at 3:40 p.m., EST, with the greater Los Angeles area blacked out.

Sponsored by Los Angeles' two metropolitan newspapers, the affair is expected to attract 50,000 fans. The average over the years is 52,686.

It may well be the last of the Pro Bowl battles in its present format, although there has been no official decision on its fate.

Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said here during the N Bowl game that the Pro Bowl may wind up as an all-star game between the NFL and American Football League, now that the two loops have joined forces.

Coaching the squads are George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams for the West and the Dallas Cowboys' Tom Landry for the East.

The West leads in the series, 10-6, and is a slight favorite for this one.

Landry has his own Don Meredith, as well as Cleveland's Frank Ryan, for quarterback, and while Landry indicated Meredith would get the starting call, the Cowboy star will share equal time with Ryan.

Allen has the services of Green Bay's Bart Star and Johnny Unitas of Baltimore.

Starr, incidentally, will hardly be among strangers on the West team. Seven Packer teammates are on hand — Willie Wood, Herb Adderley, Willie Davis, Forrest Gregg, Henry Jordan, Dave Robinson and Bob Skoronski.

All the Green Bays of course, are fresh from whacking the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10 a week ago in the Super Bowl.

Obviously there is a world of talent in the Pro Bowl. NFL coaches select the personnel.

There are 34 players on each squad. Members of the winning team each receive $1,500, the losers $900.

Unitas and Starr will have as passing targets such men as San Francisco's Dave Parks, John Mackey of Baltimore and Pat Studstill of Detroit, and such running backs as the Chicago Bears' Gale Sayers and Dick Bass of the Rams.

Ryan and Meredith can pass to Cleveland's Gary Collins, Minnesota's Paul Flatley or the Cowboys' Bob Hayes, and can call on such ball carriers as Washington Redskin Charley Taylor, Johnny Roland of St. Louis and LeRoh Kelly and Ernie Green of the Cleveland Browns.

Four Cagers Can't Play At Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Four members of the Illinois varsity basketball team who allegedly received illegal financial assistance, have no hopes of competing this season.

Leslie A. Bryan, acting athletic director and the university's faculty representative, made the announcement Friday, several hours after Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed had concluded his investigation of the irregularities.

"Whether the four might be able to regain eligibility in the future depends upon response of the conference to any appeals," said Bryan.

The four are Ron Dunlap, Rich Jones, Steve Kuberski and Steve Spanich. They and seven unidentified football players allegedly received unauthorized assistance of from $15 to $50 a month from a $21,000 slush fund.

The infractions were reported by the University of Illinois to the Big Ten last month, several days before the indefinite suspensions action was taken.

Reed said his report would be turned over to a meeting of conference athletic directors but added he had set no time table.

Driver Killed In Qualifying Run

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Qualifying concludes today for the $85,000 Motor Trend 500 for stock cars at Riverside International Raceway — where driver Billy Foster lost his life in a careening smash-up.

Foster, 29, of Victoria, B.C., was killed instantly Friday when his 1967 Dodge Charger slammed against a retaining wall at an estimated 135 miles an hour.

Dr. Irving Omphroy, the track physician, said Foster's helmet probably struck the wall as his car hit the barrier. Foster died instantly of head injuries, the doctor said.

The apparent cause of the fatal crash was brake drum failure, a track spokesman said. He said Foster's car, owned by Rudy Hoerr of Peoria, Ill., was equipped with special racing brake drums.

Foster qualified ninth Thursday, averaging 105.297 m.p.h. around the 2.7-mile, nine-turn course.

Ryun, Lindgren Head List Of Athletes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miler Jim Ryun of Kansas and little Gerry Lindgren of Washington State, plus a wealth of veteran athletes, compete tonight in the Los Angeles Invitational Indoor Track Meet.

A turnout of 10,000 is expected in the Sports Arena for the kick-off of the indoor season here.

Sophomore Ryun in the mile is to face a formidable array, notably Dyrol Burleson, who didn't wait for an invitation to appear here.

Burleson asked the meet management for an invitation and specified he wanted to run against the sensation from Kansas.

Others entered in the mile include Dave Siri of New Zealand and Tim Danielson, a Brigham Young freshman from San Diego.

Wilt Just Keeps Rolling Along

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain's feats on the basketball court are beginning to sound like a broken record and Chamberlain keeps breaking them—records, that is.

"Records are made to be broken," said Chamberlain simply Friday night after the Philadelphia 76ers whipped Los Angeles 119-108 and the star 7-foot-1 center set a National Basketball Association mark of 27 field goals in a row.

Chamberlain scored 32 points and grabbed 30 rebounds. He had a perfect 15-for-15 night from the field, giving him a record of 27 straight baskets — including 11 he made against the Chicago Bulls Thursday night and the final basket against Detroit on Wednesday.

The old mark of 19 was set by Chamberlain during the 1963 season.

"If it wasn't one of my best nights, it's got to be pretty close to it," Chamberlain said later.

Coach Alex Hannum agreed: "You've got to agree that Chamberlain has been playing 100 per cent basketball on offense and defense."

Chamberlain, who went into Friday night's game with a league leading 68.6 per cent field goal average, has been nothing short of fantastic against the Lakers this season.

In four games, two at home and two on the West Coast, Chamberlain has hit 46 of 52 from the field.

And one of the big reasons the 76ers are leading the NBA's Eastern Division with a spectular 45-4 record, is Wilt's all-around performance this season. He's third in the league in scoring with a 24-point average, first in rebounds with 24.4 per game and third in assists averaging seven a game.

In other NBA games, Boston beat Baltimore 129-117, Chicago took Detroit, 125-124 in overtime and San Francisco trounced St.

John Havlicek celebrated his being named captain of the Celtics with 14 last-period points that led home - team Boston away from Baltimore. The Bullets were only two points down before Havlicek went to work. He finished with 33 points. Johnny Egan was high for the Bullets with 22 points.

It was cliff-hanging time in Chicago where the Bulls edged the Pistons on Bob Boozer's two free throws after the gun sounded, ending the overtime period. Boozer, fouled by Dave DeBusschere as the gun sounded, tied the game with his first shot, missed his second and brought Chicago home the winner with a bonus free throw. Boozer led Bulls' scorers with 27 points while Tom Van Arsdale had 28 for the Pistons.

Seven San Francisco players hit for double figures, with Rick Barry's 27 topping the list in the Warriors easy victory over St. Louis. Lou Hudson and Rod Thorn each scored 22 for the Hawks.

Olympians Entered In Indoor Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Southern University of Baton Rouge, La., favored slightly to repeat as champion of the NAIA indoor track and field meet tonight.

The Southern Jaguars won the inaugural meet last year.

Eight Olympians from three countries will be among about 400 athletes competing in the 26-event program. There will be 14 NAIA events, nine open men's and three open women's events.

Preliminaries and some finals were set for this afternoon.

The Olympians include John Thomas, of Boston, co-holder of the national indoor high jump record of 7 feet, 3 inches, and Tom Farrell, who has the world indoor 880 record, 1:49.8.

Texas Southern, on paper, offers the biggest threat to Southern University.

Last year, Southern won with 87 points.

Eastern Michigan, Fort Hays and Emporia State re rated as contenders this time.

Teenager Breaks World's Record

SACRAMENTO, Caoif. (AP) — Debie Meyer, 14, of Sacramento, broke the world's record for the 1,650-yard freestyle swim over a short course by turning the distance Friday night in 17:48.6.

The previous mark was 18:10 set last year by Sharon Finneran of Santa Clara, Calif.

Miss Meyer swam over the 25-yard long pool in the Sacramento YMCA's Senior Invitational meet, an Amateur Athletic Union approved meet.

Lowest 72-hole score on the 1966 PGA tour was the 265 (63-69-67-66) registered by Bert Yancey in the Memphis Open.

West Team Is Favored In Pro Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The 17th annual Pro Bowl football game — and it may be the last in its present form — takes over the grid scene Sunday with the best of the National Football League on display in Memorial Coliseum.

It's East versus West as stars of the eastern and western conferences of the NFL go into action before a hoped-for-crowd of 50,000 and a national television audience.

CBS does the television with the kickoff set for 4:05 p.m., EST.

This is a prestige game for the players who are selected to play by the NFL coaches, an honor that has significance when talking next season's contracts with the club bosses.

Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams, the West's coach, named Baltimore's famed Johnny Unitas to lead off at quarterback, but Green Bay's equally celebrated Bart Starr won't be long coming on the scene.

Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys, the East's guardian, selected his own quarterback, Don Meredith, to start, but as with the other team, Frank Ryan of the Cleveland Browns will share the honors.

Generally the Pro Bowl games are wide open since the coaches don't have too much time to perfect defenses.

The West is favored by 3 points and part of this may well be due to the presence of eight of the world champion Green Bay Packers on its squad.

Barney Ross Is Given Hero's Burial

CHICAGO (AP) — Barney Ross, a hero in the boxing ring and a hero on the battlefront, was buried Friday under the echo of a rifle salute by a Marine honor guard.

Ross, who held three boxing championships in the 1930s and later won the Silver Star for heroism on Guadalcanal in 1942, died Wednesday after a losing battle with throat cancer. He was 57.

More than 450 persons jammed the chapel of a Northwest Side funeral home to hear final services for "the little Jewish kid with the heart of a giant."

"Barney Ross was his own worst enemy," said Rabbi William Gold. "He was so generous to others that the only person he neglected was himself.

"He left no funds, no estates named after himself. All he left to be remembered by is a world full of friends."

Capt. Fred Gehring, a Roman Catholic chaplain in naval service and long-time friend and confidant of Ross, brought the assemblage to tears when he related the love Ross had for his mother and the champions deeds while fighting in the South Pacific.

"Barney Ross didn't tap his fellow Marines on the shoulder and ask them whether they were Jewish, Catholic or Protestant when he was fighting to save their lives," said "Father Fred."

Among those attending the services were Mayor Richard J. Daley; former middleweight champion Tony Zale, and a host of Barney's boyhood pals from the West Side, some who had prospered and some who hadn't.

AFL All-Star Tilt May Be Last One

OAKLAND, Calif. AP) — Top players from the Eastern and Western Divisions faced each other today in the American Football League All Star Game on a rain-soaked Oakland Coliseum field.

Possibly the last AFL All Star clash because of the merger with the National Football League, the game was scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. PST before a national television audience.

Len Dawson of the AFL champion Kansas City Chiefs was set to quarterback the West, which has never lost to the East in four previous contests.

Jack Kemp of the East tilist Buffalo Bills was to quarterback the East, coached by Boston's Mike Holovak. Oakland's John Rauch coached the West.

The game was originally scheduled for last week, but the merger created the Super Bowl and a postponement. The Super Bowl result — Green Bay 35, Kansas City 10—wasn't figured to help the gate.

Tom Boerwinkle of Independence, Ohio is the tallest basketball player in the Southeastern Conference this season. He's seven feet and 251 pounds.

SWC Needs Both Sophs And Veterans

DALLAS (AP) — Sophomores are setting the pace in shooting accuracy and rebounding for the season but the veterans are dominating the scoring and shooting efficiency in Southwest Conference games.

Steve Bartels, Baylor sophomore, has the sharpest eye from the field, hitting 58 per cent of his shots, basketball statistics from the Southwest Conference showed Friday.

Bartels has made 50 per cent in conference games but leadership in that phase is held by Texas senior Noel Stout with 56 per cent firing.

Soph Greg Williams of Rice and senior Wayne Kreis of Texas Christian lead the free throw marksmen. Williams is in front for the season with 93 per cent (43 of 46) and Kreis leads in conference games with 92 per cent (13 of 14).

James Cash, sophomore for conference - leading TCU, has a slim edge over Baylor's Darrell Hardy in rebounding, 11.7 per game to 11.3.

In the race for season scoring honors, Rice's Bill Doty leads Tommy Rowland of Arkansas 2 1-260. Stout is in front of Charles Beasley of Southern Methodist 80-75 in conference scoring.

Texas is the highest scoring team for the season with an 83 points per game average and Southern Methodist is tops in conference games with 78.2. Arkansas is the defensive leader with 63.9 points a game for the season and 63.2 in conference play.

Petroleum Forum Shapes Program

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — The program for the 7th World Petroleum Congress began to take final shape this week with the release of titles of 343 papers to be presented at Mexico City.

The scientific, technical and progress reports will range from new oil and gas drilling techniques and producing areas to research aimed at development of ways to use petrochemicals to build "plastic houses."

The seventh session of the international oil forum that meets every four years for an exchange of scientific information is to be held April 2-8. About 6,000 petroleum and government scientists from more than 65 countries are to attend.

The final program will include 403 reports but deadlines for 60 individual papers will be delayed as long as possible so as to permit the very latest of information.

This week's book of synopses included titles for 16 review papers and 327 papers that will be presented during a series of 42 panel discussions on subjects ranging from the origin of oil and gas to air and water pollution and conservation.

The 16 papers reviewing progress of the past four years in various aspects of the petroleum industry will be presented by oil scientists from Mexico, Great Britain, West Germany, The Netherlands, Soviet Union, United States, Japan, Italy and France.

Soviet scientists will present three of the reviews and 37 of the panel discussion papers. The Russians read only 20 reports at the 1963 congress in Frankfurt, Germany, and submitted only 21 papers in 1959 when the congres met in New York City. The Russians boycotted the New York sessions because of what they termed discriminatory travel conditions but the 21 papers had been submitted prior to the controversy and were read as scheduled by other delgates.

Of the 327 panel discussion papers, 19 will involve new oil producing regions, 13 will present new geophysical developments, and 12 will deal with prospects for the extraction of petroleum from oil shale

The new producing regions to be discussed include the Mesozoic Basin of the Algerian Sahara, Western Siberia, Libya, Alaska's Cook Inlet Basin, Australia, Nigeria, the North Sea, the Northern Netherlands, and North Central Spain.

The review paper on the world's petroleum reserves also will take into consideration the oil potential from shales and tar sands.

Canada's athabasca deposits will dominate the tar sands discussions but new reports also wil be made on major deposits in the United States, Canadian Artic, Venezuela, Peru, Trinidad, Malagasy, the Balkins, and the Phillippines.

One panel discussion wil concentrate on prospects for deveopment of noisless and exhaust-free fuel cells as a potential competitor of petroleum.

The use of computers and other data processing equipment will be included in many of the discussions including oil explorations, production, refinery processing, and transportation.

Other discussions will center on research projects for the production of proteins from petroleum and of new building materials from petro-chemicals.

One paper will report that research on the use of petrochemicals for structural material that would permit construction of "plastic houses"—with or without conventional frames and rods—is in full development.

Increase In Gas Wildcats

AUSTIN (AP) — Gas wildcatters had a good week, bringing 20 to run the total for the year to 46, compared to 8 wildcat gas wells a year ago, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

Only three wildcat oil wells were drilled—two in Dists. 7-B and one in Dist. 7-C—to bring the yearly total to six, compared to 20 wildcat oil wells at this time in 1966.

Twelve wildcat wells were in Dist. 3, four in Dist. 4, two in Dist. 2 and one each in Dists. 7-B and 9.

In all, 137 oil wells were completed during the week making the total for the year 385, compared to 492 a year ago. The weekly gas completion total was 6, bringing the total for the year to 186, compared to 109 in 1966.

The commission said 150 wells were plugged last week, including 80 dry holes.

Community Action Office Here Is Now Open Daily

The Scurry County Community Committee office in the Humble - Smith School Building on West Thirty - seventh Street in Snyder is now open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The telephone number is HI 3-3191.

The Coordinator, William J. Schiebel, is available during this time.

Interest in the Scurry County Community Action Committee has been running high, both on local levels and State and Federal Levels. The unique manner in which the Community Action Program was formed in Scurry County and Snyder has received much favorable comment from State and Federal Level officials.

The Scurry County Community Action Committee, formed in the spring of 1966, made an application to the Office of Economic Opportunity for a planning grant to conduct a survey of the poverty siuations and problems in Scurry County in June of 1966. This grant was denied because of the action of Congress in the late stages of the fiscal year in not granting further financial support to the OEO for Community Action Programs.

Since that time, the local members of the Community Action program have done much work in identifying the need for a Community Action survey of the poverty situations in Scurry County and through the cooperation of the City Council of Snyder and the Commissioners Court of Scurry County a grant was made to the Community Action Committee to finance the efforts of the Committee with local funds. This action has drawn the attention of the nation. It is probably the first time that a community has endeavoured to finance its own survey of the poverty situations without the help of federal money. The old American custom of "taking care of its own" has come into play.

At the present time the Snyder Public Schools are involved in several programs that are helping to solve the problems of poverty. The "Headstart" program for children has been set up and operating. This program has been in existance for several years and through the dedicated efforts of the school personnel, the program is rated as one of the best in the state and the results that are being achieved are beyond expectations. Also a remedial reading program has been instigated and fine results from this type program are being achieved. Several other federal programs - poverty oriented are in operation.

At the pesent time work is being done on a "Neighborhood Center" project. The neighborhood center's most important function is to provide the people of a neighborhood with a structure and a program designed to enable them to act in the elimination of poverty. In order to be effective this center must belong to the neighborhood it serves and to the people who will use it. The center should be a place where the pople can gather and use their own resources, as well as those of the community at large, to work in their own behalf toward the resolution of the social and economic problems in their neighborhood.

Work is also being done on basic adult education programs for those who have not achieved education to the level that makes them productive in the economic world. A program for those adults who do not read and write is being proposed. There is no shame in not being able to read and write - only in not taking advantage of the opportunity to learn.

A child day care center for working mothers is another program that has possibilities. In the event of success of the Industrial efforts being made in the community a child care center will add much to the availability of a labor force in the community.

The Scurry County Community Action Committee belongs to the community in the efforts put forth to eliminate poverty. Your help is solicitated and your suggestions will be readily accepted.

The officers of the organization are Buford Browning, president, Dr. Robert Clinton, vice president, R. C. Patton, treasurer, Eloy Ortiz, secretary, and Larry Smith, Mrs. Allie Ivison, Father Herman Valladares, Ted Averitt and Clara Mae Thompson are members of the executive committee. McNamara's Move Praised By Tower

AUSTIN (AP)— Sen. John Tower issued a statement Friday praising Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for authorizing $33,154,000 in military construction projects in Texas.

Texas got about six per cent of the total value of such projects announced Friday by McNamara.

"I commend the secretary on his belated but very significant decision to unfreeze these badly needed construction projects," Tower said. "The Military Construction subcommittee has felt all along that they were vital to our defense effort."

Among the largest projects approved for Texas are: an enlisted men's barracks complex at Fort Hood, $8.8 milmion; another enlisted men's barracks at Fort Hood, $1.08 million; 350 family housing units at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, $6 million and a bachelor officers' quarters at Fort Hood, $2.6 million.

All of the University of Kentucky's basketball players are six feet or over with Cliff Berger a Centralia, Ill., junior, the tallest at 6-8.
