Funeral Wednesday For Jeff Enochs, 86

Jeff Enochs, 86, a resident of Eldorado since 1901, died at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday in the Schleicher County Medical Center following a long illness.

Services were set for 4:00 p.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist church, with the body to arrive at the church at 2:00 p.m. from Johnson's Funeral Home of San Angelo, and burial in the Eldorado cemetery.

Mr. Enochs was born Sept. 17, 1884 in Travis county and came to Eldorado with his parents in 1901 where he established a grocery business shortly after his arrival.

He was married to Myrtle Smith Jan. 29, 1909 in Eldorado. The couple resided on the Bailey Ranch near Eldorado and in 1920 moved to Eldorado where Mr. Enochs bought and operated the water-works system.

For eight years during the 1930's he was commissioner of Precinct 4 in this county.

Survivors include his wife of Eldorado; three daughters, Mrs. Ethel Etheredge and Mrs. Wenona Isaacs, both of Eldorado and Mrs. Fae Bell Harzke of Brady; five sons, Oran Enochs and Pat Enochs both of Eldorado, Alvis Enochs of Austin, Holvey Enochs of San Angelo and Tom Enochs of Midland; a sister, Miss Chris Enochs of Eldorado; nine grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Grandsons served as pall bearers.

Early in 1959, the Enochs were honored on their Golden Wedding by family and friends. At that time they recalled that they were married in 1909 while seated in a surrey at the front of the home of Justice F. C. Bates, Sr. Mr. Bates was a Confederate veteran and he officiated at the wedding. The surrey was loaned for the occasion by Dr. Patton.

It was an Eldorado of dirt streets, the old wooden court house and the old frame Methodist church on North Divide street.

There were rough roads out in the county, and the scattered country schools were used for church services on occasion.

In his younger days, Mr. Enochs helped with the cattle drives to the rail point at Big Lake. He helped survey the road bed for the old Orient Railway line from San Angelo to Del Rio, although it was not until many years later that Santa Fe built the line from San Angelo as far south as Sonora.

Jeff Enochs' parents were Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Enochs who had moved to Eldorado from Travis county in 1901, coming overland by wagon.

Except for brief periods spent in Real county, Texas, and in Oklahoma, the Enochs lived their entire married life in this county. In addition to ranch work, Mr. Enochs was engaged in farming, and freighting with wagon and team.

Some of us were in San Angelo late Monday and were by-standers when a motor-scooter and a car had a collision. The mishap occurred at the west edge of Sherwood Way.

That's a busy street, with a constant flow of traffic in both directions.

The impact knocked the youth off the motor-scooter and he landed with his helmet and one shoe off, amid a shower of glass. He lay on his back and as a crowd gathered, some of us managed to keep them back, and another called an ambulance, while still others directed the traffic by. We had two blankets in our car trunk which were brought and spread over the victim until the ambulance arrived, and also a police car.

Former Eldoradoan, Barron Cave, came out of the Dairy Queen nearby and offered assistance.

Emergency Service Company's ambulance arrived shortly and their attendants took charge.

It all made us look forward to the time in the near future when our own new ambulance is put into use here. But the local ambulance will doubtless see much more use out in the wide open spaces.

Short Wave Radio To Be Given To Ambulance

"The $2,000.00 we are raising to equip the new ambulance, will be sufficient for all its equipment, except for one thing," said Foundation Secretary Elton McGinnes recently.

The one thing it wouldn't buy, he said, was a short wave radio, which he estimated would cost $450.00.

"We may have to get along without that to start with," he added.

Then—

Just this past week Charles Wimer, district manager, informed him that Northern Natural had an extra short wave set and would donate it. It is a 50-watt transistor short wave radio which will be tuned in to our frequency and will be installed in the ambulance!!!

So, another big hurdle has been made in the drive for ambulance service, as more and more people are showing interest in it.

In addition to more generous cash donations shown this week in our "thermometer," two more firms have donated merchandise—

Mr. Barker of El Dorado Woolen Mills has promised a complete set of blankets for the ambulance, and—

Skeet Mace of Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber has promised a set of back panels for use on possible spinal injuries.

Some have been asking, "Who's collecting money for the ambulance?"

The whole project was initiated by the Schleicher County (Industrial) Foundation, of which McGinnes is secretary. Contacted were the four tax-assessing bodies, who agreed to underwrite (about $800.00 each) the initial cost of the ambulance proper.

The $2,000.00 for equipment was to be raised by voluntary contributions.

Checks should be made out to "Schleicher County Emergency Service" and mailed to Box 677, Eldorado. (They are deductible.)

All donations will continue to be acknowledged in these columns.

At the time this paper is being printed, Mr. McGinnes is attending a meeting in Dallas and may not return until Thursday night.

Truck Damages Etheredge Texaco Service Station

THIS TEXACO service station on the Sonora highway, owned by Jack Etheredge, was damaged Saturday by a Halliburton truck which struck the canopy, pulling it loose. The canopy has been shored up temporarily and the station is still in use, and some contractors were expected to look it over this week and submit some bids for repairing the damage. A similar mishap occurred about a dozen years ago to a southside service station owned at that time by Bennie Harkey.

Reynolds H. D. Club

A very interesting Club meeting was held on Feb. 9th in the home of Mrs. Frank Williams. Roll call was answered by something that will encourage togetherness in family life. We had 15 members and two visitors present. Three new members of our club are Mrs. Leslie Bassinger, Mrs. Bethel Jeffrey and Mrs. De Lux. Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Belk gave reports on the meeting with the Commissioners, who decided to deny the request for a County H. D. Agent.

It was decided that the money left by Council (less than $3.00) be used for the Senior Citizens party later this year. Mrs. Belk stated that our club will be furnished with free literature for our demonstrations, and suggested that we be thinking about what we would like to have and order it after our next meeting.

After the business session, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Galla Pina and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Eleno Pina, who gave a wonderful demonstration on tamales.

Mrs. Pina stated that any meat may be used but she prefers pork. She made some using chicken and some of pork. Both were very good. They took us step by step from the seasoning of the cooked ground meat and the making and seasoning of the dough. She showed just how they should be rolled and let each of us try it. Then carefully explained just how they should be placed in the pan and cooked for from 30 to 35 minutes. The finished product was delicious.

During the cooking period, Mrs. R. W. Reynolds gave a talk on expressionism in art, showing several reproductions of paintings by great painters.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Elio Wilde. The demonstration will be on salads.

Tamales

- 2 pounds meat, cooked and ground;
- 3 tbsp. Crisco
- 1/2 tsp garlic powder
- 1 tsp paprika
- 1 tsp chili powder
- 2 tsp ground comino
- 1 tsp salt.

Dough

- 2 lbs. Masa Harina
- 1 tsp chili powder
- 2 tsp salt
- 1 1/2 cups Crisco, melted.

Add warm water 'til dough is workable and not sticky. Shucks should be soaking in warm water while mixing is taking place. Spread dough over lower 2/3 of shuck. Place roll of meat near one side. Roll tightly. Fold upper part of shuck down on opposite side of opening. Use a deep pan with tight cover. Place a piece of foil in bottom. In center of pan, place a tin cup, roll of shucks or something for the tamales to lean upon.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Ting Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

The continuing dry weather is favorable for mesquite control with oil. Too, labor is perhaps available for doing the job and because the temperatures are on the cool side, the work can be done in relative comfort.

Oil treatment works well on stands of larger trees—no more than perhaps 100 per acre—but also can be used on small single stemmed trees.

A two to four gallon compressed air sprayer equipped with a three-foot length of quarter-inch copper tubing is all of the equipment needed. The sprayer tank should be filled with a low grade diesel oil, and the operator should spray enough oil completely around the tree trunk to soak into the bark and run downward into the soil at the base of the tree. One pint is usually sufficient to kill the tree. If done properly, the tree will be dead by spring.

Studies made in Arizona have shown that 25 mesquite trees per acre can cut grass production by 50%. All livestock producers would like to have that extra grass now.

Kindness is the oil that takes the friction out of life.

Most hay containing adequate protein has sufficient energy and other nutrients to take care of the needs of dry cows but when cows are calving higher quality hay may be required. But in most cattle enterprises, high quality hay can be used as a sole source of nutrition during the winter months.

Hay feeders can determine the quality of the hay they are feeding by two methods, visual and chemical analysis. To estimate the values of hay by visual observation, open a bale and examine several sections. Leaves should be abundant. Leaves contain many more times the amount of nutrients than do stems and should remain on the stem when bales are opened. Stems should be fine, soft and pliable. High quality hay usually feels soft to the hand. Poor quality hay has stiff stems and is objectionable to the touch when the hand is rubbed across the side of the bale.

Color indicates the hay has been harvested and cured under favorable conditions but has little to do with the chemical proponent necessary for livestock.

A chemical analysis is the best way to accurately estimate the protein, energy and other constituents of good quality hay. Forage analyses are available from many laboratories throughout the state, including the Texas A&M University Forage Testing Laboratory. This facility has adopted new techniques and procedures which give a more accurate estimate of the feeding values of hay.

My office can supply additional information on estimating the value of hay and on testing facilities.

It's not the hours you put in that count, but what you put in the hours.

With livestock now spending more than the normal amount of time around feed troughs and hay racks, they may have more opportunities to pick up bits of metal, mostly nails and wire. And, it could lead to what is commonly termed "hardware disease."

One of the best preventive measures is to keep the pasture, feedlot, and barnyard free of stray bits of metal. In other words, a good "housekeeping" program as it concerns the livestock operation will pay good dividends.

The problem is most common among cattle. Sheep and goats, being ruminants, are also subject to the disease. The food is swallowed or gulped to be chewed later as cud. Small foreign objects may pass unnoticed into the stomach.

Sharp bits of metal may work their way through the wall of the animal's stomach. This may cause only a temporary digestive upset if the metal becomes embedded in the stomach wall and surrounded by scar tissue. But the trouble is more serious if the metal penetrates the wall into other organs. The result may be infection, or often death of the animal.

Some symptoms of hardware disease are similar to those of other diseases. For this reason, a veterinarian should be called to diagnose the trouble so treatment can begin as soon as possible.

What you learn today will insure tomorrow's harvest.

Gas Strike Repotentialized

A Schleicher County gas strike was repotentialized recently.

Geochemical Surveys, Abilene, filed a new calculated, absolute open flow potential for its No. 2 Henry Speck, opener and lone producer of the Henry Speck (Canyon gas-distillate) field of Schleicher County, 12 miles west of Eldorado.

It was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 4.2 million cubic feet of gas per day, with gas-liquid ratio of 130,000-1. Gravity of the liquid was unreported. Production was through perforations at 6,904-27 feet, which had been fractured with 34,000 gallons and 37,500 pounds of sand.

The project has been shut in since original potential was filed April 16, 1965 when calculated open flow potential of 700,000 cubic feet of gas, with gas liquid ratio of 78,000-1, was reported through the above perforations. Gravity of the liquid was 66 degrees.

Drilled to 7,826 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 7,109 feet, it was plugged back to 7,109 feet.

The following tops and bases were picked on kelly bushing elevation of 2,478 feet: Canyon sand 6,903 feet; Strawn, 7,695-785 feet; detrital, 7,794-807 feet; and Ellenburger, 7,807-826 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 30 1/2-A-GC&SF.

David Steen of Austin spent the week end visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Steen, here. He is working at a hospital in Austin.

Kenneth E. Isaacs, recently returned from duty in Japan, has been released from service and is now living in Uvalde, where he and his wife are attending college.

The prospects of good crops on dry cropland is not good at present in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. For the past four months only one inch of rain has been received, and past rainfall records indicate low rainfall for the first three months in previous years. Monthly average for thirty-five years, for January, February and March is less than one inch and the average for April is two inches.

What can a farmer do when confronted with conditions as they are at present? Nothing—is the wrong answer. True, nothing can be done to change when or how much it will rain but the amount of water held from rainfall received can be controlled. "Now is the time for every farmer, that wants to make the best use of rainfall received this year, to be sure that conservation measures have been carried out on his land to achieve this goal," states Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service. Items to consider are: is land properly prepared to hold the water in good contour rows, level terraces with ends properly closed and proper use of the crop residue from past years?

Monday of last week, Santos Pina took one of the steps needed to conserve moisture he receives on the Robinson farm south of Eldorado. Pina was assisted by Lloyd B. Johnson of the S. C. S. in running contour lines on his cropland. Pina said he knew what would happen to rainfall received if his rows were not on a good contour. When water is not held where it falls it goes into a lake field and sometimes destroys the crop.

Other farmers in the District having contour and terrace lines run are Elio Wilde and Billy Jack Reynolds. Wilde has had terraces constructed on new field he put in cropland. Reynolds plans to construct terraces on his fields this year.

Level terraces with properly closed ends in combination with contour farming could change the prospects of this year's crop to good. If the two inch rainfall average for April should be received and in one hard rain, water would be lost from fields not terraced or on the true contour. Last year's rainfall for April was 2.63 and for 1969 it was 4.69. If past rainfall records are worth anything, it is being able to see what has happened in past years and prepare to hold the water when it does rain.

How the crop residue on field is managed can also affect this year's crop yields. Good crop residues left mostly on top of the soil helps conserve any moisture that is in the soil. High winds are prevented from coming into direct contact with soil and thereby the drying effect of wind is reduced. Also, residue shades soils from direct rays of hot sunshine and thereby moisture loss is reduced. Crop residue protects the soil from the direct force of raindrops and prevents soil from being displaced and lost by erosion. This same crop residue acts as small dams to help hold the water where it falls until it can be absorbed into the soil. In addition to all of this the decomposed crop residues aid in keeping soils in good tilth and high in fertility. The next item may not be the last benefit that is realized by making the right use of crop residues, but will be the last mentioned in this article. Wind erosion and dust storms are prevented by good crop residue on cropland. It is doubtful that there is any other soil and water conservation practice that costs so little and does so much good.

In the early days of the Soil Conservation Districts, one rancher remarked that the reason another rancher was practicing conservation was to make more money. No doubt making money should be one of reasons soil, water and plant conservation practices are applied. However, when the right management of all land is carried out, more than making money is achieved. People all over America are effected by the right or wrong use of our agricultural land. Pollution of our streams, lakes and air is reduced when land is used as it should be conservation wise. Also, more of the essential water for all uses goes into the underground water reservoirs, streams and lakes without taking valuable topsoil with it.

Historic Driskill Hotel Saved From Wrecker

Austin's historic Driskill Hotel, associated with governors and elegant accommodations for 85 years, has been granted a permanent stay of execution, thanks to the efforts of history buffs and civic leaders.

On February 14 the Texas State Historical Survey Committee publicly announced its support of the Driskill Hotel Corporation, a group of prominent Austin attorneys and architects who have undertaken to turn the old hostelry into a complex of small specialty shops, offices, ballrooms and banquet halls, with possibly a private club.

Lester Prokop, president of the Survey Committee, specifically commended the corporations intention to preserve the historical integrity of the Driskill while adapting it for modern use. He pointed out that both the state and federal governments have recognized the historical value of the structure, which was threatened with demolition in 1970.

In 1966 the Survey Committee placed an official state marker on the building and named it a Recorded Texas historic Landmark. In 1969 the Driskill was entered on the National Register of Historic Places.

In its resolution of support, the Survey Committee noted that the Driskill has played host to generations of distinguished Texans since its opening on Christmas Day of 1886. For over eight decades it has been the rendezvous of governors, legislators, a United States president, business and professional leaders, and the socially elite of Texas.

The Driskill was built by cattle king Colonel Jesse Lincoln Driskill and busts of him and his sons crown the hotel's three grand entrances.

The hotel's elaborate Romanesque architecture, handsomely appointed interior, and lofty rotunda qualified it as the finest inn south or west of St. Louis at the time of its opening. The sumptuous Maximilian Room and opulent Crystal Ballroom became synonymous with lavish entertainment during their more than half century of use.

Easter Seal Appeal

The 1971 Easter Seal Appeal will open in Schleicher County on Monday, March 1, 1971 according to Mr. Raymond Hall, who serves as Easter Seal Representative for the county.

Mr. Hall said that Easter Seal Appeal letters would begin arriving at homes in the county about March 1.

As Easter Seal Representative, he is the local person to contact to request rehabilitation services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special information services to help solve the many problems faced by the families of handicapped children and adults.

Last year over 21,000 handicapped people received help from the Texas Easter Seal Society. With the costs of providing expert professional care rising, more money than ever will be needed.

Funds help support 20 centers in Texas, where crippled children and adults are treated, regardless of their ability to pay. Walkers and wheelchairs and related services are provided to those who cannot provide for themselves.

"The people of Texas have always responded generously to helping the handicapped, and I feel certain they will make it possible to increase Easter Seal services to crippled Texans throughout the coming year," Mr. Hall said.

A Look At 1971 Livestock Picture

College Station—A substantially increased production of beef cows, yielding a larger calf crop, more feeding and a greater cattle slaughter is part of the outlook for 1971, according to Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist. Dr. Uvacek indicated that he feels slaughter cattle prices will move up slightly through the first half of the year and level off for the remainder. He predicted that feeder and stocker calf prices will move up sharply into the spring months, with a pattern similar to last year.

The manufacturing meat market has had a fantastic growth which isn't being met by domestic production, and this is one reason slaughter prices will again demand premium prices, especially in the spring, Dr. Uvacek predicted. Another of his forecasts is that beef heifers, that could possibly go back into breeding herds, may be demanded more than usual, causing the price differential between steer and heifer calves to be narrower.

Dr. Uvacek also predicts high pork production throughout the next six months, keeping pork prices low. He says no improvement in hog prices is expected until after mid-year.

He also includes in his outlook a slight drop in sheep and lamb numbers with little price change from the previous year, and top prices for spring lambs little different from 1970.

The livestock outlook will undoubtedly depend a great deal on general business conditions. In this area Dr. Uvacek predicts that the economy will swing up and be well on its way by mid-year; that inflation will remain with us, but that it should continue at about only half the rate of recent years and that emphasis on cleaning up pollution and reducing the use of potential hazardous drugs and growth stimulants will become evident.

Shopping List Curbs Impulse Buying

Some folks think that a shopping list is "old hat." Maybe so, but it is a way to cut down on food bills, reminds Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

One of the major ways a shopping list can help is by cutting down on impulse buying. Mrs. Clyatt said. Without a list, most shoppers wander through the store looking for inspiration, and they usually find it at the end of the aisles or in special displays—right where the store manager planned. Sometimes these displays mean bargains, but often the price may be the same as the usual shelf price. Occasionally, the price may be even higher than usual.

Another kind of "inspiration" that can mislead the consumer shopping without a list is offering six items for a dollar, or four for 99 cents. You usually wind up with items you don't really need, and perhaps with some you don't even want, the specialist added.

Shopping lists can also cut down on extra trips to the store, Mrs. Clyatt said. One of the most costly items in the food budget is travel. Making extra trips in the car for forgotten items can cost 12 cents a mile. And the trips cost your time, too.

Market Report

College Station—Want to stretch your budget, yet feed your family nutritionally? Consider these marketing tips from Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, as you plan your menus.

Pork prices are most attractive again this week. Loin and butt roasts and chops are featured along with scattered specials on smoked hams and some brands of bacon. The average retail price on these pork cuts is down as much as 10 to 31 cents a pound over the same period last year.

Look for best beef values on ground beef, liver, round steaks and roasts, and arm and blade pot roasts and steaks.

Fryers remain the number one bargain in most retail meat departments, and chicken hens are also a good choice. Egg prices are a bit lower this week, with Grade A Large eggs offering the best combination of quality and economy.

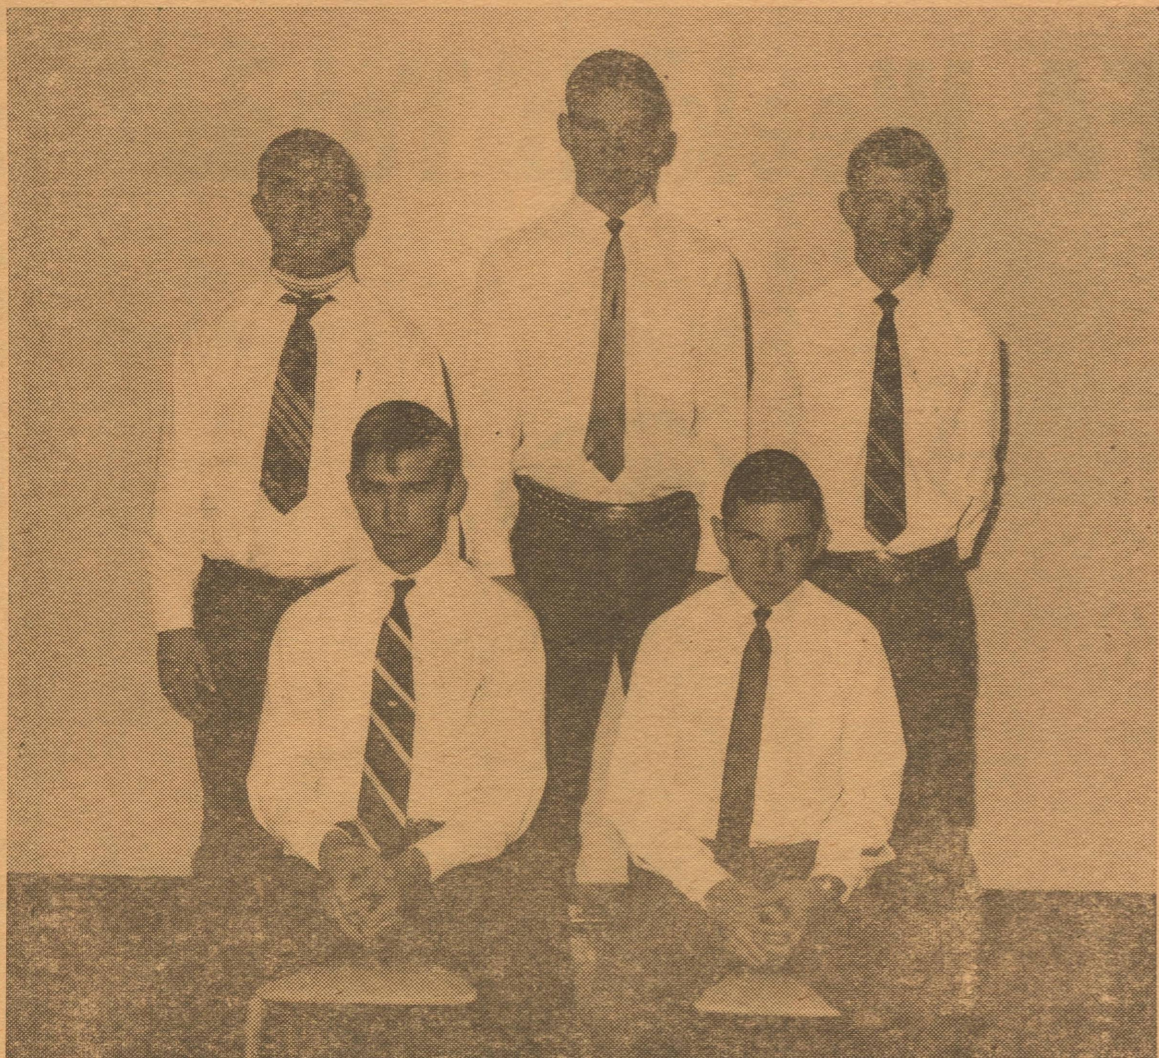

Of special significance to some menu planners, with Lent beginning February 24th, is the fact that fish is still one of the better protein buys. Fresh ocean varieties, such as haddock, cod, perch and sole, are in good supply. In addition to good buys on frozen packs, look for special prices on halibut steaks.

Dairy foods are invaluable in planning an adequate diet for the family. They are not only highly nourishing, but also appealing in taste. Outstanding buys include milk, sour cream and dairy-case biscuits, as well as a variety of cheeses.

Fresh vegetable items in good supply include broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery, potatoes, lettuce, sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas and yellow onions.

Make your selection of fruits from bananas, apples, oranges, tangerines, grapefruit, pears

Amendments Run On Page 7 of Success

Four constitutional amendments were passed by the Legislature recently and a special statewide election set for May 18. The amendments to be voted on are carried in the paper this week.

Synopses of the amendments are as follows:

SJR 5—To remove the Constitutional ceiling on aid to the aged, blind and disabled and fix a $55 million maximum on aid to families with dependent children. An $80 million ceiling now applies to all four categories. Unless it is increased (via the May vote) reductions in AFDC will be necessary.

SJR 15—To establish an official state commission to map ethical standards for state legislators and other officials and to set their pay. Critics lambasted the measure as a device of lawmakers to get a pay raise at a time when the public is demanding legislative reforms.

SJR 17—Authorizing a $100 million bond issue to finance state aid to local units of government on water treatment plans.

HJR 21—To permit submission of future constitutional amendment proposals in special as well as regular sessions.

Voter registration period was reopened for this month of February.

Miss Wagoner Is Crocker Homemaker

Demona B. Wagoner has been named 1971 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Eldorado high school. She was chosen on the basis of her score in a Dec. 1 written knowledge and attitude examination for which 650,000 senior girls throughout the country were enrolled. From General Mills, sponsor of the annual education program, she will receive a specially designed award. Additionally, her selection makes her eligible for state and national honors, including one of 102 college scholarships totaling $110,000.

The 1971 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow—the national winner—will be awarded a $5,000 educational grant. She will be selected this spring.

All judging and selection of winners is done by Science Research Associates, Chicago, which also constructed and grades the written examination.

Austin, Tex.—Legislators have cleared major emergency finance hurdles and are moving to other fronts to hold down the size of the tax bill.

A $34.9 million appropriation bill to avert reduction in aid to needy families with dependent children passed both houses and went to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert for certification.

Before he would accept the bill, Calvert advised passage of another which would re-align priorities in the state's massive omnibus tax clearance fund. In effect, this would permit turning over to welfare some $35 million that normally would go to the teacher retirement fund between April and August.

Teachers association and retirement fund leaders had no formal objection to the latter, although it would cost the retirement fund an estimated $109,000 to $600,000 in short-term interest. However, the fund will be repaid in full when the ultimate new tax bill goes into effect on September 1.

While these measures were moving methodically through the House and Senate, the House passed a bill to establish a $185 million bond plan to finance construction on eight new college campuses. Bonds would be repaid from tuition, and would cost taxpayers little. Final approval of the plan in the Senate would relieve the tax bill of a heavy load in order to build new institutions already authorized by the 1969 Legislature.

Still another potentially-important money bill won quick Senate approval. It would require all cities and counties, population 10,000 and above, to report to the state all welfare spending for the medically needy. If federal officials will agree, Lt. Gov. Ben

Barnes proposes subsequent legislation to require all these local funds be routed through the state treasury, where hopefully they would attract an extra $100 million in two-to-one matching federal aid.

Appointments . . .

Gov. Preston Smith nominated Lester Clark of Breckenridge to succeed David E. Clemens of Mineral Wells on the Texas Water Quality Board.

Dr. Charles Max Cole of Dallas was named to succeed the late Dr. Noble Price of Lamesa on the State Board of Health.

Smith also sent these additional appointments to the Senate for confirmation:

—Stephen Willis Simmons of El Paso to succeed Jamie C. Boyd as 34th district attorney.

—Elo J. Urbanovsky of Lubbock and Gene Ray Hendryx of Alpine to the Texas Conservation Foundation.

—Dr. Denver Fred Wendorf of Dallas, Dr. William Curry Holden of Lubbock and Dr. William W. Newcomb Jr. of Austin to Texas Antiquities Committee.

—J. Wonne Hand of Dallas, James M. Ray of Austin and Dr. Bobby Gene Smith of Arlington to the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Commission.

—Edwin A. Flieller of Floresville to the San Antonio River Authority board of directors.

—Warren Woodward of Dallas and Truett Smith of Wylie were selected Texas Industrial Commission vice chairman and secretary-treas.

"People's Lobby" Forms

A new liberal group—including representatives of labor, ethnic and environmental interests—has organized an "issues-oriented" people's lobby.

About 300 attended the organizational meeting. Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and former U. S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark were the main speakers.

Congressman Bob Eckhardt of Houston was named temporary chairman and State Sens. Barbara Jordan of Houston and Joe Bernal of San Antonio, temporary vice-chairmen. Twelve steering committee members were chosen to work with them.

By a divided vote, the group decided to steer clear of candidate endorsements (although there was plenty of speculation at the meeting that Yarborough may run for governor in 1972) and concentrate on specific legislative goals.

Courts Speak

Houston's Kirkwood Civic Club, which insures enforcement of deed restrictions and sponsors lawn-beautification contests, is not exempt from the state franchise tax, says the State Supreme Court.

A letter terming a woman an "undesirable" renter (filed with an apartment association) was a privileged communication and not libelous, High Court ruled in another Harris County case.

Supreme Court dismissed for want of jurisdiction a San Antonio-Bexar County dispute over a cancelled incorporation election for "Hills and Dales Community" on Interstate 10.

Brownsville lawyer ordered disbarred by a district judge lost his appeal to the Supreme Court.

In a Cherokee County deed interpretation case, High Court concluded that iron ore which can be produced only by surface-destroying strip-mining is not a mineral.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held that Humble Oil and Refining Company is entitled to get back $92,000 in taxes paid the state, plus interest, on oil and gas leases at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Third Court agreed that Mertzon Independent School District had the right to annex Barnhart ISD.

Attorney General's Opinions

State Comptroller is required to pay counties 25 cents for registration of voters under 21. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—Comptroller does not have the affirmative duty to withhold issuing state warrants to agencies of the state where an employment-discrimination complaint has been lodged.

—Exchange of real estate between Dalhart and the Dalhart school district requires publication of a notice and a public hearing.

—Omnibus crime control grants can go to non-profit groups, individuals and non-state supported schools if qualifications are met.

—An ex-convict, although pardoned by governor last May 26, must wait three years to get wine and beer retailer's permit.

—Money held by the Texas State Board of Examiners in Optometry cannot be spent without legislative authority.

—Fees collected from adult probationers may be used for paying probation officers' salaries, his office help, travel expense and training.

—State Board of Examiners of Psychologists cannot certify psychologists who don't have a master's degree.

—State Health Department can require the seal of a licensed, professional engineer on plans for hospitals and other institutions.

Open Meetings Amdt. Proposed

A bill to require notice before and posting of minutes afterward concerning closed-door meetings of public agencies was heard by the House State Affairs Committee.

Closed meetings now can be held legally to discuss personnel, real estate or security matters.

Bill by Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls would not ban these meetings, but would require notice in advance that they are to be held. Within three days, under the bill, minutes sketching the action which took place in the closed meeting would have to be made public. Bill went to sub-committee for study.

Meanwhile, Sen. Mike McKool introduced a bill (SB 314) to require publishers, broadcasters and billboard concerns to charge their "lowest" rate for political advertising. Bill proposes $100 fine and recovery action for excess charge.

First Bill Signed

First bill of the legislative session—reopening voter registration through February—was signed into law by Governor Smith.

Voters who register this month cannot take part in elections before April 1. Those who registered before the close of the old deadline, in January, can vote by March 1.

Short Snorts . . .

Legislature has resolutions calling on U. S. Secretary of Agriculture to allow Texas more time to comply with federal meat inspection standards before taking over the inspection program.

Governor Smith offered the services of the Texas medical disaster team to earthquake-hit California.

Senate approved constitutional amendments to require annual sessions of the legislature, repeal of the annual voter registration requirement and to allow 18-year-olds to vote in all elections.

A fish kill (with rotenone) is scheduled at Lyndon B. Johnson Reservoir near Marble Falls, March 27-28, to rid the lake of rough fish. Hundreds of fishermen are expected to be there with nets.

Public hearings on master plans for the initial development of five new state parks will be held here February 24 and 26.

We Salute 1971 FFA Week In Texas

When the Future Farmers of America was founded in 1928, many decisions were made concerning its function that served to shape its destiny. Its form of government, who could become members and how it would be financed were a few. None was more important, however, than the making of a list of activities that would be entered into by the Future Farmer members. Each activity was evaluated in order that members would receive the most valuable training from each activity.

Programs of work participated in by members are set up by the local chapter, Texas Association and the National organization. These programs are built on the needs of the local community and of the individual himself. The items included are guideposts pointing the way. A program indicates the direction and course to follow in order to reach definite goals, and there is a relationship among local, state, and national programs. All FFA activities are boy initiated and boy directed. Results attained, are therefore, due to former training objectives set up and carried out by the boys themselves. Co-operation, group thinking and purposeful action are displayed in all programs of work.

The FFA was and is designed to supplement training opportunities for boys who are progressing to the goal of establishment in agriculture. Through FFA activities, the cooperative spirit is fostered and individual talent is discovered and developed. Here is a school of experience in the art of working together for a common good. Members have a splendid opportunity to learn how to deal effectively with themselves as well as with others. The organization embodies a true democracy. Each member has a voice in setting up policies and regulations by which he is to be governed. Each member also has individual responsibility resting on his shoulders, but teamwork is essential to lasting accomplishment.

However, the leadership training activities are of no value unless they are being put into use in adult life by the Future Farmers in their dealings with other people. Thousands of FFA members have gone on to become young farmers, and have passed into the ranks of the Grange, Farm Bureau, Farmers Unions as well as other agricultural and civic organizations, there to accept and fill creditable places of trust and responsibility while still in their youth. The FFA is developing a trained leadership and a farm citizenry which serves and exerts an influence for good wherever found.

FFA Gets Nixon Support For Community Action Program

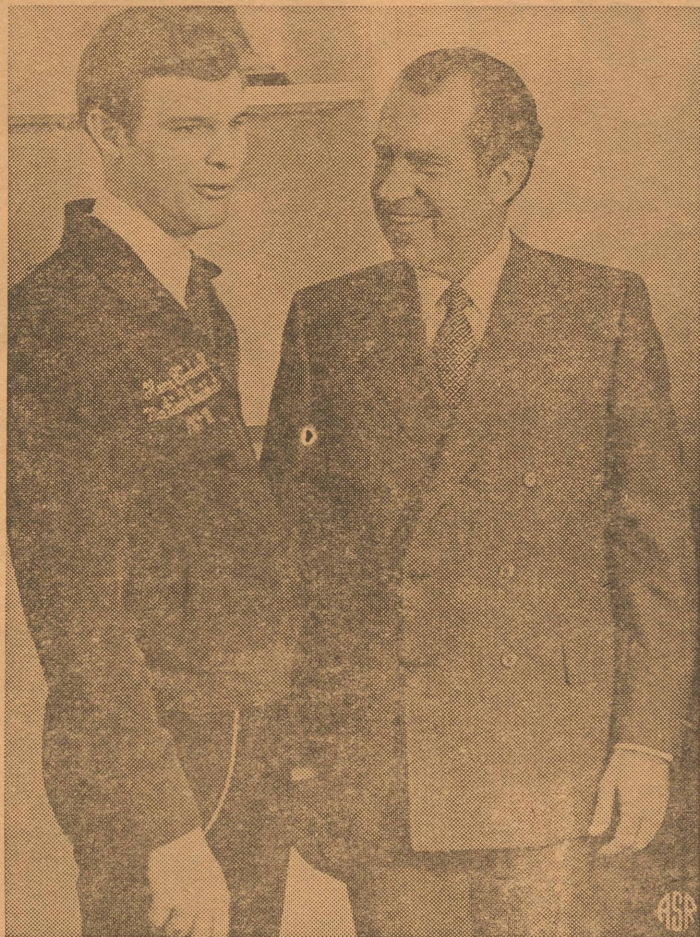

In every sector of America, concerned young people are saying, "Let us play an active role in America's future." Future Farmers of America (FFA) members will be doing just that in the coming year as they participate in a new community action program recently announced by the National FFA organization headquartered in Washington, D.C. Theme of the FFA program is "Building Our American Communities".

Announcement of the "Building Our American Communities" effort was made at a recent Capitol Hill breakfast attended by State FFA Presidents and their Congressmen and Senators. In announcing the program, Harry Birdwell, National FFA President said, "the 'Building Our American Communities' program is a challenge to young people to show their concern for America by getting actively involved in their communities."

"As we view America's future, it becomes more evident that rural America must offer a solution to problems of congested urban centers," said Birdwell, a native of rural Oklahoma. "The answer," he continued, "is to make rural and semi-rural areas more attractive places in which to live and work by providing jobs, adequate housing and good municipal facilities."

The "Building Our American Communities" program is a joint effort of the FFA, the U. S. Office of Education and the Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U.S.D.A. The FFA developed and is distributing an instructional booklet titled "Guide to Understanding and Developing Communities." The guide is for use by high school vocational agriculture teachers as a course outline in community development.

Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis, Indiana, is sponsoring the "Building Our American Communities" program through the National FFA Foundation, Inc. More than 5000 awards are available to President Nixon, in a recent meeting with National FFA President, Harry Birdwell, gave "strong support" to the FFA-vocational agriculture community action program "Building Our American Communities".

FFA chapters which use their classroom knowledge in projects to improve their communities.

The FFA is an organization for high school vocational agriculture students who are studying for jobs both on the farm and in agribusiness. Birdwell explained. Because we are engaged in training students for agricultural occupations we feel that every rural community must strive to have more jobs available for young people. In addition, communities must provide a healthy, attractive environment in which to live, he said.

FFA members have a stake in the future of their communities. Birdwell emphasized, pointing out that through their experiences in leadership, citizenship and cooperation, FFA members have the background necessary to take the lead in making their communities better places in which to live and work.
