Expect Cotton Crop To Reach 500 Bales

When Mikeska Gin closed for the day Monday night, it had processed a total of 382 bales, but there were 20 more bales on the yard waiting to be ginned, according to Manager Kenith Homer.

These 20 bales, when ginned, will push the total to slightly over 400.

But this is still not the end of the season. The gin man states that a number of farmers are not through stripping and that cotton trailers will continue to come dribbling in as long as dry weather continues. He now expects the season total to reach 500.

All in all, however, it will still make for the smallest cotton crop in Schleicher county in many years.

Post Script

Every two years a new edition of the Texas Almanac comes off the presses of the Dallas News.

We notified you last week that the Success had placed an order for the new copies.

Since then our shipment has arrived and they are now on sale at this office.

From past experience our order was for just 6 copies.

Four of these copies are in paper back and we are offering them for $2.00 each, including sales tax.

The other two are bound in hard back and sell for $2.50, including sales tax.

We usually do well if we sell five of these copies and keep one for ourselves. Those interested are usually real estate offices, attorneys, and other business offices—perhaps schools.

Anyway, they are now available here—first come, first served.

As far as we know, the Texas Almanac is not for sale at news stands.

—ps—
Are we heading into another drought like we had at this time last year?

In another column on this page we carry a cotton gin report, and how with continued dry weather all remaining cotton will be stripped and ginned.

Then there is the rainfall report which gives December only 0.46 inches of precipitation.

Then we have had a couple of fire alarms calling out firemen to put out grass fires.

How about the many farmers who planted grain for winter grazing? I think I just heard one of them say, "We sure could use another rain!"

—ps—
It looks good in Eldorado to see some new professional signs in our business district. We now have an office down town that boasts two:

James A. Steele
Lawyer

As we went to press this week the local political scene remained quiet. The two incumbent commissioners announced for re-election and there have no others—yet.

February 7th is the filing deadline.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By DIANE DURRETT

As a service to homemakers I would like to distribute a news letter periodically. Information on sewing tips, new fashion ideas, recipes, nutrition, home decorating, and craft ideas will be included in this bulletin as well as subjects dealing with consumer competence, child care and family health and safety. If you would like to receive this newsletter come by the County Home Demonstration Agent's office on second floor of the courthouse and leave your name and address or call me at my office 853-2894 and leave the information so that I may send you copies of the newsletters as they are printed.

Fruits and Vegetables — Fresh fruits and vegetables deliver a lot for a little—supplying over 90% of the vitamin C and over 50% of the vitamin A consumed. Low in calories, tasty and attractive, these fresh treats are also economical. Compare the cost of a pound of apples or pears with a common snack food. All in all, it's just good sense to substitute fresh fruits and vegetables for high calorie, less nutritious snack foods.

Don't Shop When Hungry—A survey has officially revealed what homemakers have known unofficially for a long time. Shop just before lunch or dinner when you're hungry and you will buy noticeably more groceries than had you waited until after lunch or dinner.

Buy According To Use—There is little difference in nutritional value of canned food products, regardless of price or quality. How you would use the product should determine the quality you buy. For example, if you plan to use tomato sauce on meat loaf, lower quality tomatoes will be fine. But higher quality whole-peeled tomatoes are more suitable for stewed tomatoes where appearance is important.

In buying many canned foods, you often have a choice between a national brand or a store brand, or between labels representing qualities and packing style, cuts and liquids. To be a sharp shopper, pick out the best product for the price and planned cooking use.

Garden Checklist For January

Don't neglect to water evergreen plants in the landscape. This is very important in Central, West, and North Texas. Those plants located beneath the roof overhang are often overlooked during periods of adequate rainfall.

Don't delay any longer the spading-up of flower and vegetable beds in preparation for spring planting.

Rake any remaining leaves from the lawn and place in the compost pile. Give a friend or shut-in one of your favorite pot plants. You will be surprised how much they will enjoy it and how much better you will feel.

Those natural go-togethers — fruit and cheese — meet this time on a luncheon menu. Luscious summer fruits are in a main dish salad; blue cheese is the featured ingredient in oatmeal biscuits.

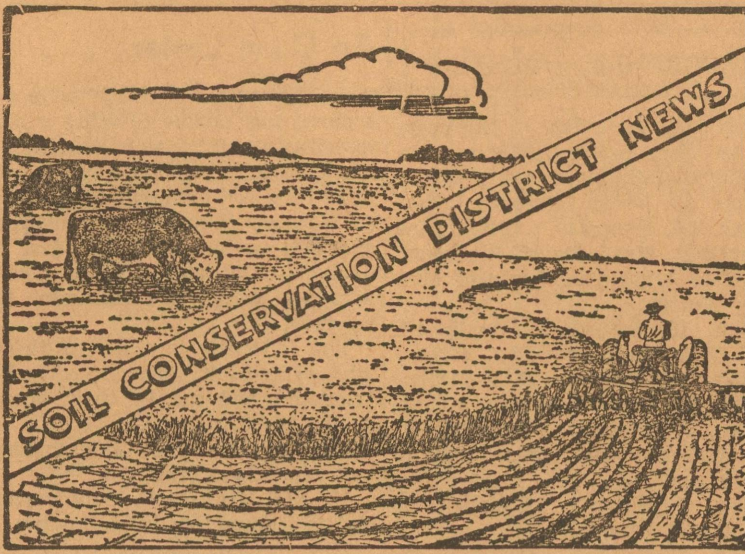

Melon halves, either cantaloupe or honeydew, are brimming with a tasty chicken salad chock-full of green grapes and walnuts. The accompanying biscuits have the whole grain goodness of quick or old fashioned oats. The nut-like flavor of the oats is a pleasing complement to the distinct flavor of blue cheese.

BLUE CHEESE BISCUITS WITH MELON SALAD
 Makes 6 servings

- | | |
|---|----------------------------------|
| Biscuits: | Salad: |
| 1-1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour | 6 cups diced cooked chicken |
| 3 teaspoons baking powder | 2-1/2 cups green seedless grapes |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 3/4 cup chopped walnuts |
| 2/3 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked | 1/3 cup mayonnaise |
| 1/3 cup shortening | |
| 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese | |
| 2/3 cup milk | |

For biscuits, sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in oats. Cut in shortening and blue cheese until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, all at once, stirring lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board or canvas; sprinkle dough lightly with flour. Knead gently about 15 times. Roll dough out to 1/4-inch thickness; cut with floured 2-inch round cutter into 12 to 14 biscuits. Place on ungreased cookie sheet 1/2-inch apart. Bake in preheated hot oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes until lightly browned.

Farmers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District are preparing their land for this year's crops. The preparation of a good seedbed is a must for good farmers everywhere. How good the seedbed is prepared affects the crop from planting until harvest. Following seedbed preparation another very important farming operation will be performed, that being planting crops. Where crops are planted will govern whether or not the important conservation practice of conservation cropping system is being applied and maintained. "The application and maintenance of a conservation cropping system, as needed on all cropland, is equally as important as good seedbed preparation," said Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service.

Now is the time for farmers interested in keeping all cropland in a high productive condition, to determine if an adequate conservation cropping system is being maintained. In doing this one of the questions to be answered is, has everything been taken out of the soil and nothing put back? The correct answer is, as much or even more has been put back than has been taken out. The kinds of crops planted consistently in a planned rotation and the management of crop residues and soil improving crops is the key to whether or not an adequate conservation cropping system is being used.

The rotation of crops whereby the same crop is not on the same land for too many successive years does not constitute a conservation cropping system. To carry out a conservation cropping system, crops must be grown in a combination with needed cultural and management measures. Cropping systems include the use of rotations that contain high residue and soil improving crops, as well as sequences in which the desired benefits are achieved with the use of such crops. The purpose of a good conservation cropping system must be four-fold: (1) meet the needs of the soil for improvement or maintenance of good physical condition; (2) protect the soil during critical periods when erosion usually occurs; (3) aid in control of weeds, insects and diseases, and (4) fulfill the needs and desires of the farmer for economic return.

Farmers have the choice of maintaining or improving soil fertility and condition of their land. Farmers making the right choice and carrying it out do more than keep the soil in the right condition. Crop yields are increased when soil fertility is improved and soils are kept in good physical condition. When farmers make this important choice, they are in a sense choosing between farming good land or poor land. Few, if any, farmers would choose to farm poor deteriorated soil rather than good soil high in fertility.

Water, one of the most important elements needed for plant growth, is held on the land and conserved for crop use by a good conservation cropping system. However, just as important if not more important, is the water that goes into the underground water supply as a result of being held on the land by conservation practices applied and maintained. This all important water storage can help govern the prosperity and existence of a community. The lack of an adequate supply of water for all uses, can cause a community to cease to exist.

Soil fertility and condition either improves or becomes depleted as the land is used. Unfortunately, the latter is always the case if the needed management practices are not planned and applied. By applying and maintaining all the needed soil, water and plant conservation practices, the land can be kept in its maximum potential productive condition.

 CHELATES and COTTON

Chelate! To a linguist, the word — literally — means "claw." To a cotton grower, however, "chelate" can mean the difference between profit and loss at picking time.

It all has to do with micronutrients, minute soil-nourishing agents that plants need to flourish. When these are deficient — either depleted or tied up in a form plants can't use — the results are unhealthy crops and reduced yields.

And that's where chelates come in. A chelate is a micronutrient compound formed by combining a metal with a special organic mixture. In a chelated state, this metal stays in the ground in an available form until plants are ready to absorb it. Unlike other sources of micronutrients, such as sulfates and chlorides, chelates can not become tied up in the soil.

Further, a chelate like Sequestrene zinc can be used either dry or as a liquid, which means it can be simply and conveniently combined with dry or liquid fertilizer for time-saving, dual-purpose application. How can a cotton grower find out if his soil needs a chelate supplement? One way is to take a soil sample for testing. If the grower doesn't know how to do this, his local county agent will be glad to provide the necessary information and cartons for sending the sample to the laboratory.

Another way is for the grower to be able to recognize starved soil symptoms in his crop. A zinc deficiency in cotton, for example, will cause bronzing and yellowing between the veins of leaves shortly after emergence. If this symptom is allowed to progress unchecked, the cotton plants can become stunted, which results in late fruit set, disappointing yields and loss of profit.

All of which can be prevented or cured with the proper application of the proper chelate at the proper time!

Ice and Snow Fails To Stop Eastern Stars
The ice, sleet, and snow and the dark of night, never stopped the women of the Eastern Star from reporting at the School of instruction in Ozona on Tuesday, Jan. 4. The Masons of Eldorado are still guarding the welfare of their wives and sisters; even the Sheriff is seeing that no voters are stranded in Ozona, or left by the roadside, and the Methodist preacher is looking after his wayward flock. In all the talk about this trip I never heard one word about women liberation; as long as we have people like this living in Eldorado, who needs women's liberation? Or maybe they just need a new reporter. Oh yes, the women did say that the most beautiful thing they saw was the lights of Eldorado that dark night. If you belong to the Eastern Star, come visit with us. —Reporter.

The Litter Critter Says...
PREVENT
ROADSIDE FIRES
TEXAS HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

Austin, Tex.—Candidates for the legislature are keeping an anxious eye on a federal court which last week heard massive, consolidated challenges to House and Senate redistricting.

The three judges listened to four days of testimony and arguments and took the case under study. A decision is expected in a week or two in order to allow time for appeals to the U. S. Supreme Court before the February 7 filing deadline.

Emphasis in the trial of suits filed in San Antonio, Tyler, Houston and Dallas was on the issue of single member vs. multi-member (countywide) House of Representatives districts for metropolitan areas.

Challengers of the 1971 reapportionment (based on the 1970 census) by a five-member board made these key claims:

—Countywide districts tend to prevent election of blacks, Mexican Americans and Republicans.

—Districts in the multi-member districts require expensive campaigns which few candidates, other than those backed by big interests, can afford.

—Single member or individual districts fort he big counties insure a smaller constituency and thereby make legislators more available, responsive and accountable to the voters.

The state, in defense of the '71 reapportionment, maintained:

—Multi-member districts are not discriminatory and do not dilute minority group representation.

—Prior Supreme Court rulings have held that either multi-or single member districts are acceptable as long as they are fairly drawn.

—Single-member districts tend to fragment a county's representation and lessen chances of delegation harmony on key countywide issues.

Federal Circuit Judge Irving L. Goldberg of Dallas, U. S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler and U. S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. of San Antonio must make the decision whether to invalidate the apportionment and draw new lines or let the board's plan stand.

Campaign Reports Urged

Secretary of State Bob Bullock has urged state and county political organization chairmen to report campaign contributions and expenditures as candidates are directed to.

He said 31 other states require such reports by law, though Texas does not. State Democratic Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto rebuked Bullock for "overreaching" his authority.

Bullock disclosed he is having legislation drafted to require full disclosure by political parties at the state and local levels. Until that legislation can be enacted, he recommended the political organizations make the reports voluntarily on contributions and expenditures after Jan. 1, 1972.

The secretary suggested filing reports on party funds used for county office campaigns with the county clerk, district or state office reports with the secretary of state here and reports of party money spent in local elections with the city secretary or city clerk.

Mass Assembly Rules Studied

Texas Department of Public Safety set a February 29 hearing on proposed rules and regulations and minimum safety and good order standards for mass gatherings.

The 62nd Legislature directed DPS to promulgate such rules that must be met by promoters in order to get official permission to hold mass gatherings, such as outdoor rock concerts.

Among the proposed rules are those governing adequate parking, lighting, access by emergency vehicles and responsibility of the promoter to preserve order within the assigned area.

Courts Speak

The Texas Supreme Court sustained lower court orders stopping sale of 500 magazines, films, books and cards found by a San Antonio judge to be "obscene." The Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, whose judgment was affirmed, had earlier knocked down that part of the original trial order prohibiting sale of "similar" material.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld the State Board of Examiners of Psychologists and refused to direct certification of a man who holds a doctorate in education and 127 hours of psychology graduate courses.

A Victoria County mother won in the Supreme Court a new trial in her suit to regain custody of five children adopted by grandparents.

Attorney General's Opinions

Resident aliens are eligible for old age assistance and aid to the blind, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held in light of U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

—A home rule city has authority to form a non-profit, no-stock corporation to acquire and improve land for industrial development.

—A proposed Taylor County junior college district to operate under contract with three private, church-related institutions in Abilene is unconstitutional.

—Motorboats or vessels must have at least one Coast Guard-approved life-saving device for every person on board.

—A mineral lessee's claim for refund of payments to the state may be paid when coupled with verification by the General Land Office and a legislative appropriation.

—A national bank's reserve for interest collected but not earned and reserve for loans overdue and doubtful may be considered as a factor for ad valorem tax purposes as part of personal property.

—"Riprap" spilled from trucks falls within the definition of loose material prohibited by a new law.

—All price advertising by optometrists is prohibited.

School Finance Studies On

Gov. Preston Smith designated a 12-member task force to advise him on possible state action needed following a federal court decision that the Texas system of financing public schools is unconstitutional.

At almost the same time, Smith directed the newly-created Commission on Inter-governmental Relations to head a study of the effects of the case and report suggested solutions to the legislature by January, 1973.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes expanded a senate committee on urban education and directed an examination of finance problems in the wake of the federal court action. At least seven groups are now in the search for solutions.

Concern has been expressed for security of school bonds and even for the entire dependability of the property tax as the main source of revenue for all local governmental purposes.

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY
BY JANE ASHLEY

Crisp Coating, Orient Inspired

There is a very simple way to give a crisp oriental type coating to fried foods. It consists of dipping first in beaten egg which has been diluted with water, then in corn starch and again in the egg mixture. When foods coated in this way are fried in hot corn oil, the coating pulls, crisps and browns to perfection. A coating such as this is especially good on chicken.

Oriental Fried Chicken

- 1 broiler-fryer, cut in serving pieces
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup corn starch
- Pepper
- Corn oil for frying

Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper. Beat eggs and water until well mixed. Dip chicken into egg mixture, then into corn starch, coating evenly. Dip into egg mixture again; drain off excess. Pour corn oil into wok or large deep frypan to a depth of about 1/4 inch. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F. Carefully put chicken into hot oil to avoid splattering. Cook, turning once, 25 to 30 minutes or until light golden brown and tender. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 4 servings.

SAFETY FIRST
TRY TO ADOPT A WAIST-HIGH POINT OF VIEW. HERE ARE SOME THINGS YOU SHOULD DO:

1. WHEN YOU COOK, MAKE SURE ALL POT HANDLES ARE TURNED INWARD. A HANDLE HANGING OVER THE EDGE IS AN IRRESISTIBLE MAGNET FOR LITTLE FINGERS IF THEY CAN REACH IT.
2. ALWAYS KEEP AMMONIA AND BLEACH TUCKED AWAY ON HIGH SHELVES. (AND IN CASE OF AN ACCIDENT THE FIRST THING YOU SHOULD DO IS TO FLUSH THE EXPOSED SKIN WITH PLENTY OF COLD WATER.)
3. PUT A CAP ON ALL ELECTRIC OUTLETS THAT AREN'T IN USE. TAPE DOWN ALL PLUGS SO THAT THEY DON'T COME LOOSE EASILY. MAKE SURE JUNIOR UNDERSTANDS THAT ALL ELECTRICAL CONNECTIONS ARE A NO-NO.
4. WASH ALL FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES VERY CAREFULLY TO GET RID OF ANY INSECT POISON THAT MAY STILL BE ON THEM. THIS CLEANSING HAS ALREADY BEEN DONE—EXTREMELY THOROUGHLY—IF THE FOOD YOU'RE EATING IS CANNED RATHER THAN FRESH.
5. NEVER LEAVE A SEWING BASKET WHERE A SMALL CHILD CAN GET INTO IT. TYPICAL CONTENTS INCLUDE SHARP KNITTING NEEDLES AND SEWING NEEDLES, SCISSORS, JAMMED ZIPPERS AND EVEN RAZOR BLADES.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

The Ideal Citizen

There is a need for good citizenship today. We live in changing and perilous times when the very fabric of the social order is rent and threatens to dissolve in violence and anarchy. In our own land and in other lands in recent years we have seen riots and massive civil disorder. We have had bombings and other terroristic activities. Crime is rampant. Individual thefts and assaults and widespread organized crime increase year by year. Our very government is threatened by prevalent corruption and the undue influence of special interests.

So the crying need of the times is for an improvement in good citizenship. The only hope for the country will be when both the leadership and rank and file of our people return again to the simple yet fundamental virtues of good character upon which this country was founded and upon which it grew to greatness. The breakdown of character on the part of so many people may well spell the death knell of our land as we have known it.

Two parallel Psalms in the Old Testament have been said to set forth the qualifications of the ideal citizen of Zion. The 15th and 24th Psalms describe the essence of the Old Testament ideal of character:

"O Lord, who shall sojourn in thy tent? Who shall dwell on thy holy hill? He who walks blamelessly, and does what is right, and speaks truth from his heart; who does not slander with his tongue, and does no evil to his friend, nor takes up a reproach against his neighbor; in whose eyes a reprobate is despised, but who honors those who fear the Lord; who swears to his own hurt and does not change; who does not put out his money at interest (usury), and does not take a bribe against the innocent. He who does these things shall never be moved." — Psalm 15.

What is needed is a return to the personal morality that is described in this Psalm. All of our science and technology will not save us if righteousness does not prevail. Morality must provide our social order. In all of the structures and arrangements of our political, economic, and social life there must be a concern for justice, equity, and humanity. Our system will thrive only if it is supported by personal and social morality. There must be a return to religion. The Bible teaches us that God is the author and upholder of the moral order. So in our society good citizenship must be founded on morality and faith in God as he is revealed in Jesus Christ.

"IF ONLY I HAD MORE TIME"

We all know the feeling of frustration that comes from not finding enough hours in a day. Time to kill is a luxury for most of us.

New Year's reminds us that time is one commodity that cannot be bought. Try as we will, we cannot crowd more than twenty-four hours into a day. Whether it's too much time on our hands or too little, we need constantly to be aware of how we spend our time.

After all, in a hundred years, we'll all be gone. This thought makes current problems look pretty small. Proper balance of work, play and worship makes happier lives. Let God speak to your heart and bring new perspective into your life. Attend church this Sunday.

Miss Hardie Bride Of Mr. Clark In Church Rite Saturday At Humble

MRS. MICKIE EUGENE CLARK
the former Mary Susie Hardie

In a ceremony Saturday in the First Methodist Church at Humble, Texas, Miss Mary Susie Hardie became the bride of Mr. Mickie Eugene Clark. Officiating was Brother David Williamson, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Clark of Eldorado and Mr. and Mrs. Steve C. Allen of Humble.

Music was provided by Mrs. Martin Ray Robinson, organist, and Mr. Jasper Snellings, soloist.

The bride wore a designer gown of ivory dulcette satin combined with alencon lace. The bodice was fashioned with a high banded neckline of the lace above a sheer yoke and straight sleeves and tiny covered buttons at the wrist. Alencon lace accented with seed pearls and crystals outlined the empire bodice and was repeated on the sleeves.

The slender lines of the skirt were accented by motifs of the lace's pattern, which were scattered lavishly throughout the long train.

The bride chose a madonna fashioned veil which fell softly over the shoulders of the gown.

Miss Elizabeth Hardie of Cleveland, Texas, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Kathy Funderburk and Miss Anne Goodwin of Humble and Miss Katrina Eppes of Freeport and Miss Lisa Graziano of Houston.

Bob Page of Eldorado was best man and groomsmen were Paul Page and Jack Williams of Eldorado, Tony Clark of LaPryor, and Natt Corners of Midland.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The groom's parents gave the rehearsal supper in the Log Cabin at Houston.

The bride is a graduate of Humble High School and attended Sam Houston for 1½ years, and transferred to Brazosport College in Freeport.

The bridegroom graduated from Eldorado High School, attended Sam Houston for one year, and is now working livestock for Texas Department of Public Corrections at Angleton.
