Post Script

News travels fast in a small town and everyone was shocked early Sunday morning to learn that Greasy Sweatt had died suddenly that morning.

Any number of people said that they had seen him around on Saturday looking as good as ever.

An overflowing crowd from all over the county were present at the Methodist Church Monday afternoon to pay their last respects. He was respected as a good rancher, neighbor, business man and citizen.

He was a popular sheriff of Schleicher county for about a dozen years, and it was said of him that he never arrested anyone if he could possibly help it.

Schleicher county has lost another good man.

Still more machine trouble.

After three trips to Angelo with our electric motor, we thought we had it fixed, but last Wednesday it again began giving trouble resulting in another trip to Cenral Electric that afternoon. Once again it was worked over including a partial re-winding.

Bill made another trip up there Monday and brought it home and installed it about 3:00 p.m. Now it is working again, and, we hope, for good.

On page 2 we have printed a Sample Ballot for the Democratic Primary set May 6th.

We urge our readers to study it carefully between now and time of the Primary. The ballot, as printed on page 2 has both local Commissioner races included. The actual ballot will have only the races in precincts 1 and 3 respectively, and Precincts 2 and 4 will not have a commissioner race at all.

Absentee voting is now under way in the County Clerk's office and they reported Tuesday morning that 38 ballots had been mailed and three had voted in person, for a total of 41. So it looks like quite a bit of interest is building up in the First Democratic Primary.

Pat Wester announces that the Industrial Foundation will meet this coming Tuesday night at 8:00 in the Memorial Building to elect officers for the coming year.

All local business people and others interested are urged to attend.

Things seem to be picking up for our local wool growers.

James Williams reports selling some wool just this week for 49 cents a pound. It was bringing just 32 cents at the start of the season.

By way of contrast he has papers showing that in December 1950 he sold wool for one dollar a pound.

Is now the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

Attorney General Martin
Cites Fraudulent
Work-At-Home Schemes

Earn big money right in your own home—home workers wanted! Make extra $$$ working at home.

The work-at-home scheme, usually heralded in junk mail or newspaper want ads similar to those above, have particular appeal to pensioned older folks with time on their hands and to mothers with young children. Here's a chance to pick up a little extra cash to buy that new furniture or appliance, to take the dreamed-of vacation or just to help meet the everyday cost of living. At least that's the appearance given by the company making the offer—but don't bet on it.

My Consumer Protection Division gets numerous complaints each year concerning these work-at-home gimmicks. Experience shows that far too often consumers who bite on the work-at-home pitch wind up spending money instead of making money.

The swindles range from addressing envelopes to making some article in the home for the company to sell. The work involved varies greatly but there is one common theme which runs all through these plans. The person, in order to secure the home employment, must first part with some money. The amount of money typically is small. We have had instances reported to us of companies asking for as little as 25c but generally the cost runs from $2 to $10. This purchase by the consumer is what the company is interested in and not in providing employment.

Often the consumer who gets nothing for his money is luckier than the consumer who gets a kit to make a product which is to be sold to the company. The finished product is rarely bought back by the company because it is not "up to standards" or the handwriting on the envelopes is "not legible and neat." Probably worse than the loss of the small amount of money involved, the victim has wasted his time and is left with the feeling of humiliation and failure at his inability to produce "quality merchandise." Unknown to him however, is the fact that no one produces merchandise which meets the "standards" set by the company.

Be an informed consumer. Don't be victimized by the home employment racket. Think before you part with your money for a home employment opportunity.

Austin, Tex.—An ancient legal dispute involving Texas' sovereignty over its tidelands is in court again.

The U. S. Justice Department has filed a suit against Texas, challenging the state's regulation of fishing within the farthestmost two leagues (six marine miles) of the historic three-league (nine-marine-mile) boundary.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has requested President Nixon to intervene in the latest federal attack.

The Attorney General further requested an opportunity for the state to present its position to the State Department and Justice Department. The state, he noted in a letter to Nixon, was not notified prior to filing of the action.

Martin claimed the new action is contrary to the position taken by the Eisenhower-Nixon administration in 1953 and in 1957.

He submitted to the President excerpts from the state's brief filed in the original boundary suit which was decided in Texas' favor by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1958. He also included a 1957 letter from the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower to then-Gov. Price Daniel. Eisenhower expressed the opinion that Texas should "have the right to explore and exploit the submerged lands extending seaward of its coastline for a distance of three marine leagues into the Gulf of Mexico."

Martin urged Nixon to inform him if his position as president is the same as that expressed by President Eisenhower.

Court Revision Urged

A Supreme Court justice and president of the Texas Civil Judicial Council says it's time the legislature submits to voters a constitutional amendment on judiciary reform.

Associate Justice Tom Reavley said Texans are demanding "major surgery" on the court system. Suggested Reavley:

—The State Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals should be merged into a single court of last resort.

—Fourteen Courts of Civil Appeals should be given jurisdiction over criminal as well as civil cases.

—There should be fewer levels of lower courts with less overlapping jurisdiction.

—Appeal procedure should be "simpler and speedier."

—Judges and cases should be transferred to match resources with needs in keeping with better management of the court system.

The 63rd Legislature, Reavley said, should be asked next year to submit the constitutional amendment proposing court reorganization and modernization.

Special Training Approved

The State Board of Education approved contracts for special training next school year of 2,611 children in non-public schools.

Largest single group involved is the trainable mentally retarded category, with 1,887 youngsters.

Pupils, from pre-school age through high school level, will attend 12 schools operated under the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation and 35 independent non-public schools.

The State Board of Education also reviewed a $1.1 million research program supported by 90% federal and 10% local funds.

Board members voted to uphold orders of Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar sustaining local school board "haircut rules" and dress codes.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals refused to go along with an argument that the aggravated assault law discriminated against men — and concluded it's still worse for a man to hit a woman than the other way around.

Texas Supreme Court held a county judge can't prevent a township incorporation election if 200 residents present the required petition. The decision upheld an Athens district judge and the Tyler Court of Civil Appeals.

The High Court sustained lower courts and refused to knock out of operation a Houston legal aid service for the poor in spite of objections to it by some lawyers who claimed it is costing them money.

Health Study Launched

State, local and federal health officials this week began an intensive study to determine if health hazards exist for workers in the American Smelting and Refining Company plant in El Paso.

Air samples will be taken within the plant to discover possible toxic materials, and blood and urine samples will be taken from about 800 employees.

The survey will complement a comprehensive health study to evaluate lead hazards in the plant vicinity which was initiated by local health officials several weeks ago in cooperation with the State Health Department. A.S.R.C. is cooperating in the survey.

Parties Slow

Secretary of State Bob Bullock complained about early response to his request that county political party officers submit early estimates of May primary election expenses.

Bullock said a week after he asked for the estimates only 99 (of 254) counties were represented in replies. He warned again no state funds will be allocated to local parties until estimated expenditures are submitted on prescribed forms.

Some county chairmen explained they were taking their time since the new state primary financing act makes them responsible for inaccuracies in their figures.

Short Snorts . . .

Texas cities and counties would get about $202 million this year under a federal revenue-sharing bill before a U. S. House committee.

College teachers in a meeting here endorsed the idea of collective bargaining rights for public employees.

Likely date for the next special session of the legislature on appropriations and taxation appears to be the week of June 12.

The State Treasury, declares Treasurer Jesse James, had a greater net return on its time deposit interest "than any billion dollar bank in Texas."

The attorney general is being asked for an opinion interpreting the state's nepotism law governing state officials and legislators hiring each others relative in view of new disclosures.

Enjoy Fresh Strawberry Dishes

People eat first with their eyes, then with their taste buds. That's one reason the fresh strawberry season is such a delightful occasion in good eating. The bright red, juicy and tasty berries catch your eye in the field, the market or the moment they're brought into the home. Their appeal grows as the berries are transformed into attractive, simply prepared dishes of strawberries 'n cream, shortcakes, cereal toppings, pies, sauces and cakes.

In earlier years the strawberry season lasted only a short time. Homemakers had to work hard and fast to preserve the berries for winter use. Things have changed a bit. We now have fresh berries available, to some extent, the year around. Still the excitement over the first berries—luciously ripe from vines in nearby gardens—cannot be excelled.

A hidden bonus in strawberry eating lies in their nutritive value. Fresh or frozen, they rate high in vitamin C. A half-cup of strawberries—a dish of strawberries and cream or a large piece of strawberry pie—provides the minimum daily dietary needs of this important vitamin. And strawberries that ripen on the plant contain more vitamin C than those picked half-ripe and held until fully ripe. So now's the time to enjoy the full glow of eye-catching, tasty and nutritious fresh spring strawberries from nearby production centers. You can expect supplies to increase gradually, with peak shipments in May and June, as the season advances.

When buying strawberries, look for berries with full red color and a bright luster. The flesh should be firm and the cap stem still attached. The berries should be dry and clean. Usually medium to small sizes have better eating quality than the large ones. It's wise to avoid buying berries with large uncolored or "seedy" areas. These are signs of poor flavor and texture.

ture. A dull, shrunken appearance or softness are signs of over-ripeness or decay. Also, watch for berries with mold which can spread rapidly from one berry to another. Because fresh strawberries are so delicate, handle them carefully to avoid bruising. Empty the berries into a shallow tray, and sort out the damaged or decayed ones. Cover loosely with wax paper and store in the refrigerator. Just before serving, wash the berries in cold water and drain dry. Remove caps after the berries are clean and dry. Serve them as soon after purchase as possible, within one or two days.

Poor Storage Causes Falls

A lack of storage and poor attempts to make up for it cause many home accidents. In homes lacking storage, objects must be placed on the floors and on stairs. Articles and boxes stored atop high furniture cause family members to reach too far, climb atop other furniture to reach them or use makeshift ladders. These often topple over and cause serious injury.

Shelving made for storage can help lessen some of the problems. Shelves should be made no higher than 72 inches, the maximum height a woman can reach. They should be constructed to support the weight of objects without causing them to topple over or collapse. Glass shelves should be shatterproof.

Storage areas should be well lighted. If a closet is more than three feet deep, it should have an electric light. Bulbs should always be placed so they won't touch articles that might catch fire. Checking storage materials for safety is a good suggestion. Poisons and pesticides should be stored in original containers away from children's reach. A locked cabinet is best for storage of all chemicals and medicines. Flammable solutions should be kept in tightly covered containers and stored outside the house. Throw away rags, papers and trash to prevent the possibility of fires.

Game Hearing Set

Austin, Tex.—Texas sportsmen and landowners will have an opportunity to hear and be heard about proposed game and fish law changes for 1972-73 when public hearings are held throughout the state during May.

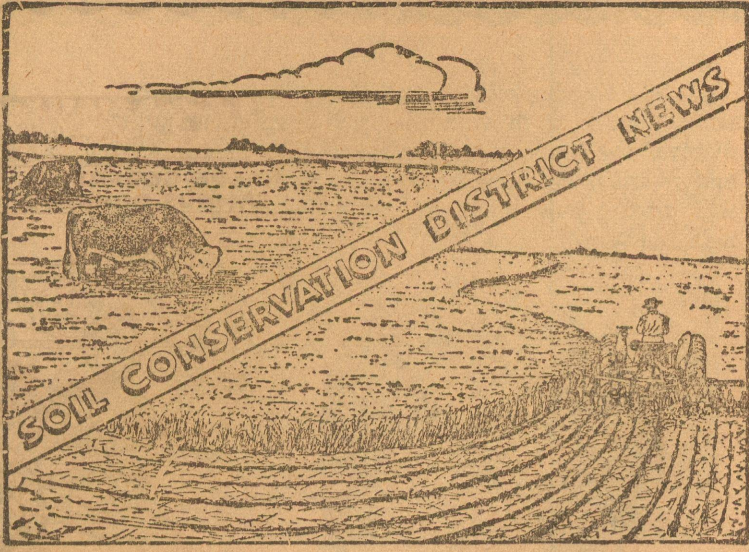

The statewide hearings are the first step toward setting of coming hunting and fishing regulations Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director James U. Cross pointed out, and is the citizen's forum for comments, questions and opinions. Cross added, "I sincerely urge all interested Texans to attend these local hearings, toward our goal of setting the most reasonable game and fish laws in the best interest of sportsmen and our beautiful wildlife resources."

The hearing for Schleicher county will be held at the Eldorado courthouse at 2:00 p.m. May 2nd.

TO ATTEND BASKETBALL CAMP IN JUNE

Miss Paige Helmers of Eldorado Elementary School has been accepted in the Ranger Junior College basketball camp June 11-17. This camp is directed by Ron Butler, coach of the Ranger Junior College Rangesans, the 1971 National Junior College Champions.

This will be the fourth annual camp and the only one of this kind in Texas.

Conservation of irrigation water through proper handling is becoming more and more important as demands on our water supplies increase. Irrigation farmers in the Eldorado Divide Soil and Water Conservation District who are practicing good irrigation water management, not only help conserve irrigation water, but also apply the right amount of water to crops, according to Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service.

Irrigation before crops are planted is considered by most farmers as one of the most important irrigations applied. Pre-planting irrigation can store water in the root zone depth that can be used by crops through the entire time crop is being grown. When enough water is applied to fill the soil to full field capacity, crops can grow to a good height before the next irrigation is needed. Weed control can be carried out without the hindrance of wet land. Also, fields are usually in the best condition for application of irrigation water before crops are planted.

The need and importance of any irrigation needed by crops being grown should not be minimized. When the maximum potential yield is to be grown, crops must have all the moisture needed from planting time until they are made. To accomplish this, irrigation water must be applied when needed and in the amount needed.

Knowing when to irrigate is equally as important as having water to irrigate with. When fields are being prepared for the next crop is the time to determine if a pre-planting irrigation will be needed. Nearly always the pre-planting irrigation will be needed if the field is wet to full field capacity before planting. Using the wilting of the crop to determine when to irrigate is in error if the purpose of irrigation is to supply water when needed by crops being grown. When plants wilt and suffer from lack of moisture, the right time to irrigate has already passed.

The period of time plants are in a wilted condition before the needed moisture is supplied affects crop yields. Naturally, the longer crops go without the needed moisture the yields will be decreased accordingly. The right time to irrigate is by or before the time the plants need water. This can be determined by digging a hole to root zone depths and check the moisture content of the soil. When the moisture content is about 50 percent of yield capacity, it is time to begin irrigating.

The feel of ball method is probably the most logical method for farmers to use in determining when to irrigate and how much water to apply. The feel or ball method of determining moisture content of soil is accomplished by digging a hole about three feet deep or root zone depth. For each foot of depth a representative sample of soil is made into a ball by squeezing with one hand. The moist ball is then tossed into the air repeatedly, to about one foot height and caught the same as a baseball. If the ball breaks with five tosses or less, moisture content is less than 50% field capacity. If the ball remains intact after it has been tossed five times it contains more than one half ready available moisture.

Establishing and maintaining a good irrigation system is essential in attaining irrigation water management. A poor delivery system can waste from 25% to more than 50% of the water available. Excess grade and side fall or a reverse grade adds to the inefficiency of irrigation. Also, water received from rainfall can be wasted and cause soil erosion on irrigated fields with excessive side fall and grade.

RC & D Program

Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Projects help people take better care of their material resources and, at the same time, improve their community's economy, says John Royal, chairman of the steering committee.

This statement was made recently by Royal in his comments to the Schleicher County Commissioners Court. Schleicher County has been invited to join four other counties, McCulloch, Menard, San Saba, and Concho, in making application for a Resource Conservation and Development Project according to Bill Rountree, Soil Conservation Service Conservationist.

The five counties are to furnish a list of at least ten persons from each county to serve on a steering committee. The committee's purpose will be to prepare an application to organize the RC&D project.

Several meetings have already been held to discuss the feasibility of organizing such a project. The group made a tour in Fredericksburg of the Eastern Hill Country RC&D project.

This project had been organized since 1962. At the present time there are three organized projects in the state. The Fredericksburg organization has been in operation for the past three years. Since that time they have completed 14 projects, including a municipal park, an addition of an industry and a watershed project.

The real definition of Resource Conservation and Development is assisting people by an organized approach to define their resource problems, opportunity, and goals and motivating them to use all available human and physical resources to improve their economic and social welfare.

These RC & D projects are locally initiated, sponsored, and directed. They provide a base for people to come together to plan and carry out actions that will make their area a better place in which to live, work and play.

After organization, Schleicher county will be included in with the other four counties, and the city of Eldorado, Schleicher county, service clubs, women's clubs, conservation districts, and other groups are expected to be represented.

The RC&D project can be expected to help people improve living conditions in an area. But it will require a lot of effort from local people.

It takes all interests working together—rural and urban alike—plus teamwork between public agencies to have a successful RC & D project.

Meetings have been held with Schleicher County Commissioners Court, city of Eldorado, and the American Legion Post and the project explained to them in which each one voted favorably to join the proposed RC & D project and had it recorded in their minutes.

At the present authorization rate, it will be several more years before all applications on file from Texas can be authorized. Meanwhile, local civic leaders should be identifying projects which can be installed with local initiative while awaiting project approval.

Water Lawns, Gardens According To Soil Type

Due to the lack of spring rains, most homeowners are getting into the regular routine of watering their lawns and gardens. The key to watering for lush, green plant growth all summer is to base your watering schedule on the type of soil.

If the lawn has a tight, heavy or compact soil, water movement will be slow. So, waterings at a slow rate for a long period will be necessary to allow the water to move through the soil and to prevent run-off.

For lighter, sandy soils through which water moves rapidly, light waterings at more frequent intervals are usually needed. With heavy waterings, the water will only move through the soil and beyond the root zone of plants.

Therefore, it's important to know the rate at which the soil in your yard or garden can take up moisture. Moisture penetration can be checked with a two-foot long steel rod about 3/8 to 1/2 inch in diameter. Bend one end of the rod to form a short handle. The rod should be easily pushed to the two-foot depth if the lawn has been watered properly.

Deep watering will encourage deeper penetration of plant roots. Roots will move through moist soil easily and will grow better. Thus the result will be more healthy topgrowth.

Keep lawn and garden soils moist to the proper depth and you can expect dividends throughout the growing season. How to water to that depth depends on the soil type. You must be the judge.

Check Roses For Aphids

Roses serve as an ideal spring host for aphids, and increased populations of the insect have been noted recently in Schleicher county. The tiny green to pale yellow colored insect pests feed on plant juices. Heavy infestations reduce plant vigor and growth. Aphids feeding on the buds may cause them to be deformed or to lose their natural beauty.

Honeydew, a by-product of aphid digestion, becomes evident on plant foliage as aphid numbers increase. The sticky liquid gives leaves a shiny appearance and enhances leaf disease problems. Sooty mold fungus will grow on honeydew and this gives plants a black appearance. The homeowner may want to wash plants after aphids are controlled to remove the sooty mold fungus growth.

Several insecticides are recommended for controlling aphids on roses. These include diazinon, dimetholate, lindane, malathion and meta-systox-R. Di-syston 2% systemic insecticide for garden use as a soil treatment will also provide aphid control on roses. Homeowners should read the label on the insecticide container before use, and follow directions carefully. "Safety" is a key when using any insecticide.

111 Screwworm Cases Confirmed In March

Screwworm cases literally exploded across Texas in March, with 101 outbreaks confirmed in 30 counties. Arizona chalked up 10 cases, the first to be confirmed in that state in 1972. A year ago, Texas recorded only seven cases in March.

The March confirmations boost the Texas total for 1972 to 115 cases. Eleven were recorded in January and the remaining three in February. Through the end of April last year, only 21 cases had been reported. No cases were confirmed during the first three months of 1970, officials at the Mission Screwworm Eradication Center said.

Hardest-hit Texas counties last month were Webb and Zapata, with 14 cases each; Starr, with 12, and Hidalgo with 10. The other cases were spread out from the Rio Grande Valley through South Texas and the Hill Country and into Central Texas.

Arizona ranchers of Cochise County had eight cases confirmed. Single cases were recorded in Pima and Santa Cruz counties.

Webb county, along the Rio Grande, has reported 21 of the Texas cases thus far in 1972. Zapata, also along the river, has recorded 16 cases, officials said.

Non-Screwworm Samples Continue Upward

Officials at the Screwworm Eradication Laboratory processed 264 non-screwworm samples in March, up from 169 a year ago during the same period. The samples included 210 from Texas, 36 from Arizona, five each from California and Oklahoma, four from Arkansas, three from New Mexico and one from Louisiana.

Sterile Fly Releases

Sterile screwworm flies produced at the Mission Center and distributed over Texas, Arizona and Mexico totaled 490,188,000. That's an average of approximately 100-million a week.

Alert For Screwworms

All livestock and household pet owners should be on the alert for more worm cases, reminds C. O. Scruggs of Dallas, vice president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation. Animal wounds should be treated with a product recommended for that purpose, and larvae samples should be collected from infested animals. The samples should be mailed to the Screwworm Center, Box 969, Mission, for identification. Containers for mailing the samples can be obtained at offices of County Agricultural Agents.

Reynolds H. D. Club

The Reynolds Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Ray Bruton on April 11th with 12 members and four visitors present. Council report was given by Mrs. L. E. Lloyd. Mrs. H. A. Belk gave a very interesting and educational report on the District meeting in San Angelo.

Our club has been asked to furnish cookies for the Senior Citizens party on May 10th. It was also announced that we will have a bake sale on April 20th.

After the business meeting the program was turned over to Mrs. Nadine Fisher of Mereta who demonstrated painting on fabric with tubes of artex paint. She showed several things that she had painted and let each of us try our hand at painting a small piece. The ice cream and cookies served by our hostess were very much appreciated. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Milton Faught on May 9th. —Rep., Mrs. Cecil Williams.

Q. Why do some states post lower speed limits for night driving?

A. Because the distance at which you can recognize objects decreases at night by 20 feet with each additional 10 mph of speed. Aging also decreases night vision.

For safe night driving, the American Trucking Industry suggests you follow these tips relayed by Clark Equipment Trailer Division and the ATA Foundation. They're based on the experience of professional truck drivers who do a lot of night driving to deliver the goods on time:

- When leaving a brightly lit place, pause before pulling onto a highway. Your eyes need time to adjust.
- Relax your eye muscles by shifting your gaze during night driving.
- Train yourself to look beyond your headlights. That's where any danger will come from.
- Don't wear sunglasses at night. They reduce glare, but at considerable sacrifice to over-all vision.

Q. Will faster shipping by airlines and railroads lessen the need for trucks?
 A. On the contrary, as they ship faster, truckers must provide even more and better service. The reason is simply that both airlines and railroads are "middle-man" carriers.

This means that, as the airlines learn to handle more freight each day, it will be essential that there be a way to move that freight in and out of airports faster. That calls for better truck service.

Railroads are in the same position. They can move huge loads across the country with efficiency, because trucks are waiting to "break up" shipments and deliver the pieces to individual customers.

Improved shipping services by railroads and airlines won't decrease the need for customer-serving trucks. They're the universal transport tool upon which all other types of carriers depend.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU NOW

God speaks to you now by his Son. Hebrews 1:2
 "But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne,
 O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom." Hebrews 1:8
 Jesus the Christ, the Son of God is the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, the blessed and only potentate.
 "Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him; God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?" Hebrews 2:1-4.

ARE YOU LISTENING TO THE TRUTH YOU HAVE HEARD, TO THE WORDS THAT FELL SWEETLY FROM THE LIPS OF JESUS HIMSELF?

Here is one of those great epigrams of my favorite philosopher — Dad! Or was it Mother? It's hard to remember for sure.
 But, anyway, it isn't true. The older I get the more I realize that there are some who can tie their own neckties but still aren't men.
 Maturity is not measured by what you can do. It is measured rather by your reasons for doing — or not doing — things you can do.
 Think that sentence through once more. Your son will become a man when he has sound reasons for doing one thing and not doing something else, even though he could have done either.

It is in the character-molding and spiritual growth which the Church provides that both youth and adults discover the soundest motivation of life. In worship and religious training we embrace the reasons that will prompt our courageous decisions as Christian men and women.
