RC & D Project Gains Vole Of Approval

In recent meetings of units of government and other organizations Schleicher County has voted to join four other counties in making an application for a Resource Conservation and Development Project, according to Bill Rountree, District Conservationist. The other four counties include Concho, Menard, San Saba and McCulloch, he said.

The representatives of the five counties agreed to secure a minimum of ten persons from each particular county to serve on a steering committee. The committee's purpose will be to prepare an application to organize the RC & D project.

In RC & D projects, local citizens plan and take action to protect and develop natural resources, expand economic opportunities, enlarge potentials for individual development and improve quality of living in a community. Project usually covers more than one county.

A group of interested citizens from this project area visited the Eastern Hill Country RC & D Project at Fredericksburg a few weeks ago to see measures installed there. The group saw a rodeo facility built through an RC & D loan and a city park developed by local interests with a grant from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. Bob Gordon, project coordinator at Fredericksburg, conducted the tour and explained the purpose of the RC & D project and its assistance in community development. He stated, "RC & D projects can help people improve living conditions in an area. But they require a lot of effort from local people. It takes all interests working together—rural and urban alike—plus teamwork between public agencies to have a successful RC & D project."

After RC & D projects are authorized, the U. S. Department of Agriculture can provide technical and financial help conserving and developing natural resources. USDA also helps local sponsors seek funds and services from other federal, state and local sources. In approved projects, SCS furnishes a project coordinator. He assists local interests set priorities and enlist the co-operation of all state and federal agencies, private groups, and individuals who can help.

At the present authorization rate, it will be several more years before all applications on file from Texas can be authorized. Meanwhile, local civic leaders could identify projects which can be installed with local initiative while awaiting project approval.

Post Script

Everything is in readiness, I think, for the first Democratic Primary election on Saturday, May 6. Leaving out all the State and District contests, the chief interest, and speculation, here in Schleicher county is who will be the next Commissioners in Precincts one and three.

In each of these there is an incumbent running for re-election followed by three contestants. All are diligently canvassing their respective voters. If there are any issues we haven't heard of them. All candidates seem to be carrying out a low-key appeal—

"If elected I'll support those things for the best interest of the county, as a whole."

You might say that it is more like a popularity contest—the ones with the most friends could very well be in the run-off. We feel pretty sure there will be run-offs in both the precincts.

But to say that this very quiet campaign is not generating interest, would be a wrong statement. According to the absentee vote at the County Clerk's office Monday, there had already been 145 votes cast, and that would suggest there will be a big turn-out here this Saturday.

Just how thorough these candidates are canvassing the county was brought out last week when we talked with a ranch woman from the west part of the county.

She had gone on to say that ranchers got up early in the morning and usually prepared for bed early in the evening. Anyway she had already prepared for bed, when a car drove up and there was a knock on the door. She recounted how she had scurried around for a robe before answering the door. It turned out that it was a candidate asking for her consideration in his race for Commissioner in Precinct One.

Well, farm folks are always cordial to visitors and they had a very nice, profitable visit.

The upshot was that from then until election day she decided she would stay up later each night in case other candidates came by.

Who is going to get that vote? I dunno!

But there is a lot of quiet, thorough canvassing going on.

With our subscribers:

Mrs. J. B. Christian is subscribing again at Box 206, Christoval.

Mrs. Linda Sofge Lacefield's new address is 5901 Pendleton Rd., Louisville, Ky 40272.

A special word to our College Student subscribers, who took out 9-month subscriptions last Fall: Your subscription-by-mail expires with this issue, since colleges will be terminating their term of work within the next few days. Newspapers are mailed as Second Class Mail, and as such are not forwarded when you move.

You may pick up the upcoming three issues for May at our office, or send one of your parents by to do so. The issues for May 18 & 25 will be our annual salute to the grads of EHS.

Recent fire alarms... Last Thursday, the firemen answered a call to Farris Nixon's, and the following day at 3:20 p.m. to the Meador rent house. Saturday night they were called to a grass fire on the old San Angelo highway.

County Clerk J. P. Enoch reported at 5:00 p.m. Tuesday that 194 local voters had cast absentee ballots in the Democratic Primary. That was the deadline for absentee voting, and it indicates a good turnout Saturday.

Somesample ballots, printed on yellow paper, are still available at our office, free for the taking. We still have some for each of the four county precincts.

You are urged to study the sample carefully ahead of the time you go to the polls to vote. (But please remember that you CANNOT take a sample with you to consult when you go to the polls to vote.)

RETURNS TO BE POSTED

Returns of the more important races will be posted in The Success window Saturday night, as they become available.

All Set For Saturday Vote

The Primary election of the Democratic Party of Schleicher County will be held on Saturday, May 6th. Polls will open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 7:00 p. m.

Voters in Precinct 1 will vote at H. S. gym, with Curtis Andrews as election judge.

Voters in Precinct 2 will cast their ballots at the CoOp building, with Mrs. M. H. Woodward as election judge.

Precinct 3 voters will cast their ballots at the Memorial building, where Mrs. Curtis Short presides as election judge.

Precinct 4 voters will cast their ballots at the high school band building, with Nick Jurecek will be election judge.

Precinct conventions will be held at the polling places at 2:00 p. m. on Saturday. All voters are urged to attend he conventions in their respective precincts.

The second, or run-off Primary will be held in the same polling places on Saturday, June 3rd.

Parental Love For Children

Do you show your love to a child in ways he can understand? Parents show their love for children by doing things for them. They make them eat food that's good for them, go to bed early, and all the other necessary things. But a child may not understand that this is love. In fact, a child may see it as keeping him from doing what he wants to do.

Mothers and fathers have to do all these things, but they also need to show love in ways the child can understand. There are many ways to get across the message of love. Perhaps the easiest way and one that's used the least is the warm, friendly smile. Words such as "You're a fine boy" or "I like you" also show feelings.

Sometimes it helps to listen to other parents talk to their children. Do they sound as if they love their child? Parents might ask themselves if a stranger would know that they loved their child by the things they say and the words they use. Other ways you can show a child you love him are by giving him all your attention at times, reading him a story, listening to him talk or playing with him.

Right Tools Aid Home Sewing

Trim. Cut. Clip. Snip. Women who sew need proper cutting tools. Sharpness is the most important quality of good cutting equipment. An ideal kit of tools might contain eight-inch shears, six-inch snipping scissors and three-inch embroidery scissors. Though you could get by with less, a minimum set should include at least a pair of bent handle dress-maker shears and a pair of scissors.

Shears are usually larger than scissors and are used for heavy cutting jobs. The handle is bent to let the blade rest flat against the cutting surface. The openings in the handle of shears are of unequal size so that two or three fingers can be inserted in the opening of one handle and the thumb in another. Use scissors for lighter cutting tasks. The handle features smaller openings of equal size.

Later, when you want to add some luxury items to your minimum kit of sewing tools, consider embroidery scissors, pinking scissors, buttonhole scissors and thread clips. Buttonhole scissors, designed to cut buttonholes of uniform size, provide adjustable cutting edges.

Thread clips are a modified form of scissors that have only one finger opening. They fit snugly in the hand and provide maximum flexibility of movement. For the homemaker who likes to carry her needlework with her, folding scissors offer the perfect solution. These tiny scissors fit into their case which is the size of a match box. Manufacturers also produce left-handed shears for those who work with their left hand.

Buy good quality cutting tools and have them resharpened when necessary. Select shears and scissors with blades connected by a screw that can be adjusted. Avoid buying cutting tools that have blades riveted together or a rivet made to look like a screw. Keep the blades in proper adjustment. Blades connected too tightly are tiring to use. Those too loosely connected cut sloppily.

Since shears and scissors are expensive, keep all cutting equipment for sewing only. Keep them in a safe place away from children who need to cut paper, husbands who need to cut a piece of wire and little brothers who need to trim finger nails.

With good sharp shears, you can cut out a garment easily. And sharp, well-kept tools make your work more accurate than dull ones do.

Republicans To Select Congressional Nominee

Texas Republicans will also go to the polls Saturday to select nominees to appear on the General Election ballot in November, mostly for high level offices.

There will not be a Republican primary here in Schleicher county. Here in Southwest Texas, in counties which comprise the 21st Congressional District, interest is centered in the two nominees for Congress:

Pete Williams, age 43, lawyer, project administrator of human relations center (TED-TAC at the University of Texas); of New Braunfels;

Doug Harlan, 28, assistant professor of Government and Politics at the University of Texas, Austin.

The winner will face incumbent Democratic Congressman Ovie Clark Fisher of San Angelo, who has held the office 30 years.

County Receives Scattered Rains

Accompanied by some lightning, light rain began falling in Eldorado at 6:30 p.m., Monday and continued intermittently for three hours.

Precipitation in Eldorado was reported at 4 to 6 tenths, while south of town the J. H. Emmons place reported a full inch, and Marvin McAngus 1.25.

While this was going on here Monday evening, Crockett and Sutton counties were under a weather alert.

Ozona reported marble-size hail about 6:30, and the storm continued to move east with Llano reporting heavy rain and hail during the night.

A Reynolds community cotton farmer reported Monday night that only a light sprinkle had fallen there.

Rainfall Still Lags

Rainfall average for April was reported at just .89 of an inch. The cumulative total for the first four months of 1972 comes to 2.13, considerably below normal.

ICE CREAM SUPPER HELD

The Masons and Eastern Star members and husbands and wives held an ice cream supper Monday night at the Memorial Building.

About 30 attended.

Methodists Schedule Four-Night Revival

DR. TOM SHIPP
Evangelist

Arrangements are reported complete for the four-night Revival which gets under way at the First United Methodist Church at 8:00 this coming Sunday, May 7th.

Dr. Tom Shipp, pastor of Lovers Lane Methodist Church in Dallas will preach.

On Monday night the service will begin at 7:00 p.m., and on Tuesday and Wednesday nights again at 8:00, according to the Rev. Fred Cox, pastor.

Everyone is invited to any and all services. Further details are given in this Success issue on pages 6 and 7.

Lions Club Meets

The Lions Club held their regular meeting at noon on Wednesday. Bill Rountree, program chairman for May, brought the program on theme of Soil Stewardship Week.

Briscoe Backers Visit Here Tuesday

A busload of Briscoe-for-Governor boosters stopped at the El Dorado Restaurant Tuesday morning at 10:30 where they mingled with local backers, visited, and distributed campaign material. They were served refreshments and toured the El Dorado Woolen Mills plant nearby.

Uvalde.—Dolph Briscoe's hometown neighbors are rallying behind his campaign for governor during the month of April in a series of 10 bus tours promoting his candidacy. Tour Number 11 was in Eldorado Tuesday, May 2nd.

The tours are going to all parts of Texas, with two leaving Uvalde each week—on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Chartered buses will be used and each tour will last three days.

About 200 Uvalde citizens—men and women—are participating with 25 to 30 on each tour. They are traveling at their own expense, spreading the "Briscoe-For-Governor" message to scores of towns and cities across the state.

Double Funeral Held Here Tuesday

Combined funeral services for Mrs. Johnnie (Leathia Anne) Isaacs, 79, of Sierra Blanca and her daughter, Mrs. John (Johnnie Ferne) Luedecke, 52, of Fort Hancock, were held at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church in Eldorado, with burial in the local cemetery under direction of the Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Officiating was the Rev. Richard Lapine of El Paso, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Fred Cox.

Mrs. Luedecke died at 10:15 a.m. in Hotel Dieu Hospital in El Paso. Her mother, Mrs. Isaacs, died at 11:15, an hour later, in Tigua General Hospital in El Paso.

Mrs. Isaacs was born in Brady and had lived in Sierra Blanca for about 20 years. She was married to Johnnie Isaacs May 5, 1911 in San Angelo. Mr. Isaacs was a long-time County Clerk here.

Mrs. Luedecke was born April 24, 1920 at Eldorado and was married to John Luedecke Aug. 20, 1938 at Mertzon.

Mrs. Isaacs' survivors include her husband; a son, Lyndon Isaacs of Cody, Wyo.; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Crawford of West Yellowstone, Wyo.; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Surviving Mrs. Luedecke are her father, John Isaacs, Sierra Blanca; her husband; a son, Mickey J. Luedecke of El Paso, a son Johnny who attends Sul Ross; a daughter, Sherry Kaye Kirksey of Odessa; a brother, Lyndon Isaacs of Cody, Wyo., and six grandchildren.

Pall bearers were George Draper Jr., Johnny Mayo Jr., Allan Corbell, Arthur Mund Jr., Al Thomerson, and Alvin R. Luedecke Jr.

Tickets Go On Sale For Therapy Center

Ticket sales to the fifth annual West Texas Therapy Center Ball on May 20 in San Angelo Coliseum will begin Monday, May 1. The price is $10 per couple.

The dance, all proceeds of which go to the center, will feature country-western singer Mel Tillis, best known for his appearances on Grand Ole Opry and regular performances during 1970-71 on the Glen Campbell Show. Also entertaining will be a six-piece band called the "Statesiders."

The dance theme will be "Candlelight Ball Goes Western." The informal event will also include hors d'oeuvres to be served from 8-9 p.m., during which time The Dixie Kats will entertain.

West Texas Therapy Center provides speech and physical therapy treatments to children and adults in a wide area of West Texas.

Locally tickets can be purchased from Mrs. Mort Mertz.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mrs. W. N. Ramsay has returned from Gonzales where she attended funeral services for her sister, Mrs. George Ewing, who would have been 93 on May 13th.

Male-Only Flies Offer Hope In Screwworm Fight

Mission, Tex.—Experimental research which has succeeded in developing a male-only strain of houseflies could have far-reaching implications for the hard-pressed USDA Screwworm Eradication Project here.

This apparently self-eating deviation would, if it could be duplicated with screwworms, permit the Mission Lab to raise twice as many male flies on a given volume of food, notes Dr. M. E. (Cotton) Meadows, project director.

Scientists would prefer to sterilize and release only male flies because females mate just once whereas males mate several times. A significantly increased supply of sterilized males mate several times. A significantly increased supply of sterilized males at no extra cost would be particularly welcome this year since the lab has been inundated by a screwworm invasion of epidemic proportions. A stepped up supply of sterile flies is badly needed but production has been hampered by a restricted budget.

Heretofore, the method of obtaining males only for release required mechanical or hand sexing, both inefficient or prohibitively costly when dealing with 150-million flies a week.

So sexing has been ignored as impractical and all screwworm pupae are sterilized and released, male and female alike, on the assumption that at least half would be the preferred males.

Sterilizing programs involve rearing insects in a laboratory, sterilizing the males and releasing them in quantities sufficient to significantly outnumber native males. As a result, almost all matings in any release area should occur between normal females and sterilized males, points out Meadows.

Sterilized insects carry defective chromosomes so that matings between treated and normal flies result in eggs that don't hatch. Now a team of entomologists at the Agricultural Research Service Metabolism and Radiation Research Laboratory in Fargo, North Dakota have manipulated the genetic traits of houseflies to isolate a heat-sensitive lethal factor. This results in the death of flies reared at 92 degrees. With further cross-breeding and additional genetic manipulation, the Fargo researchers have obtained a strain in which males always inherit this temperature-dependent factor in a different set of chromosomes than the females. Thus, the males are more resistant to heat than their sisters.

When the offspring of this strain are reared at temperatures above 92 degrees F., the females die in the pupal stage and only adult males emerge. Another advantage of high-temperature rearing would be a reduction in rearing time because the immature stages develop faster, allowing an increase in annual fly production with no additional outlay for plant, explains Meadows. Studies are now in progress to obtain a heat-sensitive factor acting in the egg stage. Females could then be killed before hatching and twice as many males obtained from a given volume of food material in which the insects are reared.

As far as is known, no such research with screwworms has been done, says Meadows. However, the lab director indicates he would be happy to see such work undertaken, especially since the annual cost of food media for the screwworm flies is so high.

McCormick To Receive A&M Master's Degree

College Station, Tex.—Philip A. McCormick of Eldorado is among the 1,870 students applying for spring graduation at Texas A&M University, announced Registrar Robert A. Lacey.

McCormick is seeking a master's degree in agricultural economics.

Commencement exercises will be conducted May 5 for students earning graduate degrees and May 6 for undergraduates.

Lacey said 1,381 students have filed for baccalaureate degrees, 371 for master's and 118 for doctorates.

'Free' Prize Offers

(From The Office Of Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin)

"Congratulations! You have just been selected the lucky winner of . . . " Lucky you! You're now eligible for a high-powered advertising pitch designed to separate you from your money.

Exciting and alluring sweepstakes greetings are generally pitched to the innocent opener of his daily mail. And each year thousands of consumers take the bait and are subsequently gulled into buying goods or services they don't want or don't need.

The "free prize" type of false advertising has many ingenious variations, but the basic principle is always the same. It caters to people's hopes that somehow, somehow, they can beat the system and get something for nothing.

The whole purpose behind these phoney contests or "surveys" is to trick consumers into making purchases they usually regret later on. After all, the consumer didn't really even want the items in the first place . . . it was just that he "won" the chance for a good deal.

Often after a consumer claims the "free" prize or gift, he finds he must make some other purchase in order to be eligible. The resulting cost covers both items.

In other cases, a "free" prize" is sold with expensive companion items—such as yearbooks with "free encyclopedias," service policies or cabinets with "free sewing machines" or cost-of-postage only with "free" magazines.

Another scheme is to offer consumers a "free gift" or sample supply of a product. When the consumer accepts the gift offer, he is asked to sign a contract which, often without his knowledge, obli-gates him to purchase a certain amount of goods or services in the future.

Next time you win a free gift, remember—no one is in the business to give things away. If you have to buy something to get your gift, look at the offer with suspicion. Be a smart consumer.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Ory were his niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Weldert of Spokane, Wash., and another niece, Mrs. Jiggs Jones of Brownwood, and her niece, Tanna Neely.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

Ladies & Gentlemen, Let's Think

Statistics seem to prove that the age in which we live has more leisure time, more affluence and more "book larin'" than any other age and yet, we seem to find less and less enjoyment in life. In the not-so-distant past a man could take pride in his work. He ate, was clothed, and provided for his family by doing a job for which he was suited. Today we are faced with a society that demands that in order to be termed a success we must hold down a "white collar" job and have more degrees than a thermometer.

What made our forefathers successful? Was it an education? I think not. Was it wealth? Again I think not. What then was their secret?

Even though burdened with life on a savage frontier they were willing to face the odds that they might not be around to enjoy the fruits of their labor, they learned to face each day with hope, and they depended upon God's mercy to guide their footsteps and His goodness to fill their needs. Often divided by miles of endless desert or forest they learned to trust in God for their very existence.

Today's man thinks he no longer needs an outmoded, ancient grandfather image of a god who actually is concerned with human events. Man is content to allow his ability to earn a living, or be dependent upon our government for the basic needs of life, to act as his "security blanket."

God is just as real today as in the dim past. His divine love still can save a lost soul, restore health to a broken body or be a friend supreme in time of need.

God loves you. What have you done to deserve this love? We need do nothing to gain God's love. As a father do not we love our children? All God asks in return is our love for Him and His ways. Why he even gave his most prized possession, His only son, so that we might learn more about God and that through his death and victory over the grave we might, through trust in this miracle, gain eternal life.

Won't you accept this gift today?

Ecology Makes Soil Stewardship Week Relevant

The nation's concern for the environment makes the message of Soil Stewardship even more relevant in 1972. "Creative Conservation" is the theme of this year's observance. The purpose of the program, sponsored by the National Association of Conservation Districts for 18 years is to encourage recognition of man's responsibility to care for the blessings of nature bestowed upon us by the Creator.

Soil Conservation districts across the country will join with local churchmen in calling attention to man's duties as a steward of land, water, forests and wildlife.

Special sermons and church services, educational programs, tours, proclamations—all will play their part in broadcasting the message of stewardship to farmers, rural residents, and townspeople. As Americans everywhere consider the damages that have been wrought upon our planet, the concept of preserving and using wisely the fruits of nature has never been more important.

The National Association of Conservation Districts has prepared materials helpful to district officials in encouraging observation of Soil Stewardship Week.

District Directors of the local Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District have purchased materials for the local churches of Eldorado and Christoval to use in observing Soil Stewardship during the week May 7-14.

TO THE VOTERS OF SCHLEICHER COUNTY, PRECINCT NO. 3

I have tried to personally contact each one of you during the past few weeks and wish to take this opportunity to thank every one for the very courteous reception extended me.

It has been a pleasure visiting with each of you and I again assure you of my sincere desire to continue to strive for the advancement of Schleicher County and Eldorado.

Your vote for my re-election as Commissioner of Precinct No. 3 will be sincerely appreciated.

Joint Animal Health Program Backed By Dolph Briscoe

Two spectacular developments in Texas have emphasized the need for closer state, Federal and international cooperation in animal health, said Dolph Briscoe, Democratic candidate for governor. "The immense problem caused by screwworms, followed by the highly successful control program in Texas and the need to further expand this program into Mexico . . . coupled with the violent outbreak of VEE last summer, make it mandatory that we develop stronger cooperative programs in animal health protection," the Uvalde rancher-businessman recently told a group of agribusiness leaders.

"This is an area where strong state leadership is necessary. The governor's office should take a strong position and I intend to do just that," he said. The screwworm eradication program, which is credited with saving Texas Livestock producers at least $100 million a year, is getting headlines again because of the outbreaks in South Texas this spring. There have been more confirmed screwworm cases this year than in any year since the sterile fly production-release program got under way in 1962.

"To completely eradicate the screwworm fly from Texas, we must extend the control boundaries deep into southern Mexico. This demands cooperation and involvement of our state leadership and the governments of the United States and Mexico," Briscoe said. While serving as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Briscoe helped found the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation (SWARHF), the organization which started the screwworm eradication program. Briscoe has been honored by many livestock organizations for these efforts and is generally credited with providing much of the leadership which ultimately resulted in Federal approval and involvement in the project.

SWARHF, which Briscoe now serves as Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has funded feasibility studies which call for expanding the screwworm program into Mexico. The study, tentatively approved by both nations, calls for installing screwworm producing plants in the southern tip of Mexico. The plants would be built on surplus U. S. Ships and could be moved further south if desired. "By eliminating screwworms from the interior of Mexico by proved means, we can prevent entry into Mexico by maintaining a sterile-fly boundary across the narrow southern tip of Mexico. This not only will make the program more effective by preventing entry into Mexico—and subsequently, Texas—but will greatly reduce the cost of the program," Briscoe said.

"As governor, I assure you that the interest of all Texans will be well represented in this matter," Briscoe said.

The outbreak of VEE last July in Texas, which killed hundreds of horses, caused cancellation of all horse-related activities and resulted in a stiff quarantine for months, is another reason for greater emphasis on joint Mexico-U. S.-Texas relations. "VEE moved progressively from South America, through Central America and Mexico and into Texas. We all knew it, but could do nothing about it until it hit us," Briscoe said.

"A closer working relationship between the respective state and Federal governments can help prevent these occurrences. We are now working to develop better state, federal and international programs. And these programs must occupy a higher priority in our planning," Briscoe said.

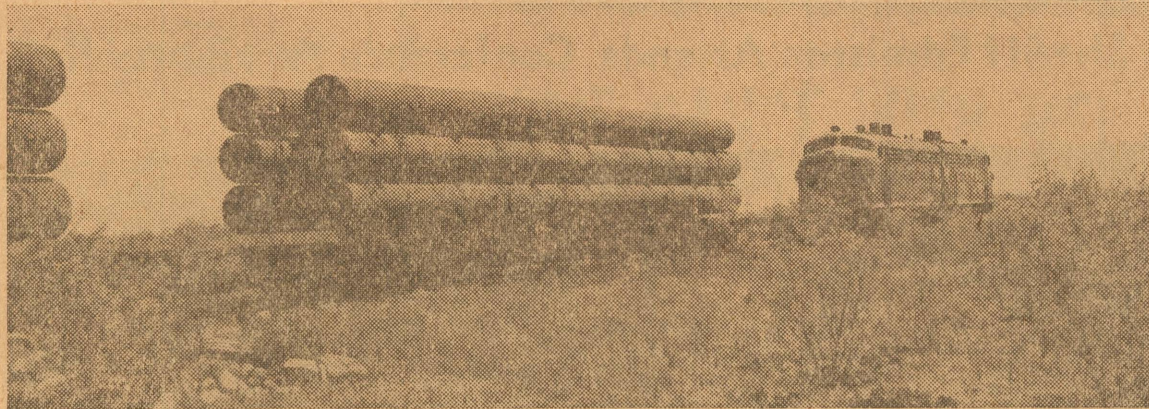

Soil Stewardship Week Is May 7-14

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which places emphasis on man's obligation to God as stewards of the soil, water and other resources, will be observed, May 7-14, according to Walker C. Pope III, chairman of the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. "Creative Conservation," the theme of this year's observance, underscores the responsibility that each citizen has in fulfilling his or her role as caretaker of the realm. The Eldorado-Divide Soil & Water Conservation District and some 3,000 companion Districts all over the nation along with their State and National Associations are sponsoring the event for the 18th consecutive year.

Among the local events scheduled for Soil Stewardship Week are programs and sermons in the pulpits of local churches.

Members of the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District Stewardship Committee are George Humphrey and Voy Lee Butts.

J. B. MORRIS HONORED

A reception honored Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Morris Monday night in San Angelo on his retirement from professional Scouting.

Those attending from here included James Williams, D. T. Yates, and Eldon Calk and son Mark.

Austin, Tex.—An estimated 1.85 million Texas Democrats are about to decide one of the most significant primary elections in years.

Another 100,000 or more will vote in the Republican primary Saturday (May 6).

Both parties will also conduct important precinct conventions May 6—first step in the presidential nominations process. With emphasis on the hard-fought gubernatorial primaries in both parties, little attention has been devoted to the conventions beyond a prolonged Democratic scrap over adoption of new procedural rules.

Democrats almost certainly will go into June 3 runoff for both governor and lieutenant governor—and perhaps other statewide elections.

Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and State Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold of Corpus Christi are major contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial runoff spots.

The lieutenant governor's field is also closely bunched in the stretch drive with State Sens. Wayne Connally of Floresville, and Ralph Hall of Rockwall and Joe Christie of El Paso and Houston newspaper executive William P. Hobby the top contenders.

Former Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough is favored to win the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination over Barefoot Sanders and face GOP Sen. John Tower in November.

Republican gubernatorial candidates staging serious campaigns include State Sen. Henry Grover of Houston, Dave Reagan of Sherman, Al Fay of Houston and Tom McElroy of Dallas. John A. Hall of Westford has also put up a fight.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is challenged for re-election by John Hill of Houston, and Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Treasurer Jesse James have multiple opposition.

A minimum of 58—maybe as many as 80—new state representatives will be elected and at least 11 new state senators.

Traffic Deaths Increase

Traffic deaths this year have increased 2% over 1971, the Department of Public Safety reports. DPS recorded deaths compared with 838 for early 1971.

Deaths on interstate highways actually dropped 6%, but fatalities in city limits jumped 11%, DPS said.

Meat Prices May Rise

This year's spring drought may again cause meat prices to rise, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warns.

If the drought continues, said White, cattlemen will have to reduce their herds.

"Meat prices should come down, but this will be only temporary," said White. "After those cattle are sold, there again will be a shortage of livestock which will result again in higher meat prices." The same thing, according to

To The Voters Of Precinct 1:

I have tried to see each prospective voter in Precinct One these last few weeks. Thank you for being so courteous and your interest expressed in County government.

I ask for your support and vote. I want to translate your ideas and suggestions for a better Schleicher County into concrete goals that together we can accomplish.

Let's put government into hands we can depend on

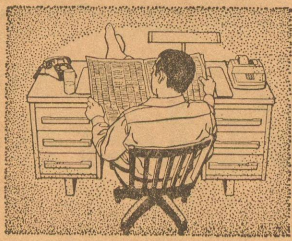

When scandal rocks our state government, as it has for more than a year, it is time for Texans to take the reins of government and place them once again into the hands of an honest, capable man. This is a time when Texans need a man to believe in. A man like Dolph Briscoe. His successful experience in business and agriculture, his work in government to provide farm-to-market roads and to eliminate the screwworm have proven him a man Texans can depend on when solutions are needed. His unquestioned reputation for honesty and integrity stand him head-and-shoulders above his opponents. Never has Texas been offered such unacceptable candidates for the office of governor. And never has Texas so urgently needed a man like Dolph Briscoe. May 6, elect Dolph Briscoe governor.

the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU NOW

Are you listening? Hear the Word of the Lord; First John Chapter 4 verses 7 through 21. Read it from your own Bible.

"Beloved let us love one another; for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God."

"You must be born again." How?

By developing a sincere Godly love deep in your own heart,

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy mind."

In other words with all your whole being.

God loved us first. Jesus gave himself for us, you and me. God's love has been proven. How can I prove my love and thus be born again? How can you?

"If you love me you will keep my commandments."

"Why call ye me Lord Lord and do not the things which I say?"

A genuine sincere whole hearted love for God and Christ will change your whole life. You will say, "Speak Lord thy servant heareth, command and I obey."

When you make that vital decision, and follow through in living demonstration that you do love God, then you are regenerated from inside out, truly Born Again. —J. Loyd Rice

Dr. Shipp is interested in baseball, basketball, golf, horseback riding, and all spectator sports.

He has many rewards and honors which have been bestowed upon him, and Dr. Shipp emphasizes that rarely does one man deserve an award, rather it is an honor due many, for without the help of others, few of us can achieve the things we frequently are dedicated to achieve.

Everyone is invited to hear Dr. Shipp each evening, May 7th thru 10th at the First United Methodist Church in Eldorado.

Group To Speak At Church of Christ Sunday

On Sunday, May 7th, the Eldorado Church of Christ, located on the Mertzson highway, will host a group of young people from the Lackland Terrace Church of Christ in San Antonio, Texas. Mr. Jerry Jones, a student at Commercial College in San Antonio, will present the morning lesson on Why I'm A Member of the Church of Christ. The congregation will be led in singing by Mr. Rusty Barte, a senior at John Jay High School in San Antonio. Also accompanying these young men will be Ellen Elliott, Joetta Parker, and Shannon Montgomery, who will be teaching grades one thru six during the Bible study period which begins at 10:00 a.m.

Dinner will be served at the Memorial Building and everyone is cordially invited to come and share in the food and Christian fellowship.

At 3:00 p.m. everyone is invited to gather at the Church building for an hour of singing after which the young people will be shown a film strip entitled "Which Church?"

Speaking on What is the Church of Christ that evening beginning at 6:00 p.m. will be Mr. Barte with Mr. Jones leading the singing.

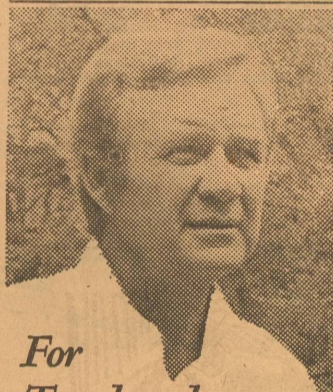

Everyone is invited to come and hear these young people as they proclaim GOD'S WORD.
