Miss Owens To Attend Dallas Meet

Miss Dana Owens, homemaking teacher in the Eldorado school, will participate in the State Inservice Conference for Homemaking Teachers Association to be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Dallas, July 31-August 4.

The conference will explore homemaking education's role in developing human resources, stated Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, State Director for Homemaking Education.

More than 2300 teachers are expected to attend the week-long meetings, said Mrs. Jane B. Moore, president of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association.

Congress Hopeful Visits Here Thursday

Visiting here last Thursday night in the interests of his campaign for Congress was Doug Harlan of San Antonio, Republican nominee for the 21st District.

Harlan was in San Angelo over the week end where he met with party workers and was honored Sunday afternoon at a reception.

He has pledged to visit all towns in the 30 counties of the District and to shake hands with 50,000 voters during the current campaign which will culminate in the General Election on November 7th.

Glynn Hill Given Ag. Teacher's Award

Former V. A. teacher at Eldorado, Glynn D. Hill, now Vocational Agriculture teacher at Burnet, has been selected as the recipient of the 1972 Outstanding Vocational Agriculture Teacher's Award presented by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association.

Presentation of the award was made during the annual membership banquet in conjunction with the 57th annual convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association at the Green Oaks Inn in Fort Worth, July 25th.

Glynn finished high school at Winters in 1955. While attending secondary school he showed champion sheep, swine and capons in county and major livestock shows in the state. He also was on Wool and Mohair, Plant Identification, Range and Livestock judging teams. In 1955 he received the Gold Star award.

After completion of high school, Glynn attended Texas A&M where he received a B. S. degree in Agriculture Education. After completion of six months of active service in the Army as a Lieutenant, he started teaching at Wall, where he taught from 1960-63. Then he taught at Eldorado from 1963-69 and at Burnet from '69 to now.

At present he is a captain on the 49th Armored Brigade Staff of the National Guard at Ft. Worth. He is also working toward a Master of Administration degree at Tarleton State College. He has been a member of the Lions Club and Jaycees.

During his years as a Vocational Agriculture teacher, boys under his supervision have won many Grand Champion, Reserve Champion, and first place honors at major Livestock Shows with breeding sheep, range ewe lambs, fat lambs, and carcass lambs and steers. He trained teams in Wool and Mohair, Livestock, Plant Identification, and Range judging that received recognition throughout the state. While at Eldorado, teams won the Sweepstakes award at Sul Ross three consecutive years in Wool, Livestock, and Range.

Leadership teams under his instruction have gone to area and state.

Two FFA members have won the State Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Award under his supervision.

Glynn has become well known as a judge in the Breeding Sheep and Fat Lamb divisions of Livestock Shows. He has judged 18 shows in the past seven years and turned down several shows due to conflicts. He has a great interest in improving the sheep and goat industry of our nation.

The Pat Wester family took a trip recently to Cloudford and Ruidosa, New Mexico.

Post Script

Coming into town on the Merton highway Sunday evening and approaching the city limits, my gaze turned to the left and there over on Bob Page's property was a tall oil derrick pointing to the sky.

It looked awfully good to see this development going on so close to town.

Ran into Mr. Page at the coffee counter Monday morning and he said the operators had already set surface casing and were drilling at about 2,000 feet.

This well is closer to the city limits than any other drilled near town.

There is an old legend among geologists and other oil men and that is that "Eldorado is sitting right on top of a big gas or oil field."

It would suit everybody real fine if this well should prove that to be true.

Here is the official designation:

Oil News

Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, will drill a 7,000-foot wildcat in Schleicher County, one mile north of Eldorado, and 3/4 mile southeast and 1 1/8 miles east-northeast of 6,750-foot Canyon gas production in the Eldorado (Canyon gas and Wolfcamp oil) field. It is the No. 1 Robert Page.

Location is 1,710 feet from the south and 1,320 feet from the west lines of 46-LL-GC&SF, Abst. 1056. Ground elevation is 2,427 feet. It is also 1 3/8 miles south-southwest of a 6,755-foot failure, abandoned July 18, 1965.

Fertilized Pastures Are Still Green

College Station, Tex.—Adequately fertilized pastures are staying green and providing good quality grazing despite the strenuous summertime temperatures.

"The additional plant food supplied by fertilization increases both the quality and quantity of most pasture grasses," contends Dr. Neal Pratt, agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has shown that fertilized grasses can produce three to four times as much forage with the same amount of rainfall as grasses which have not been fertilized. This is especially important during the hot Texas summer weather when rainfall is often limited."

Added bonuses from fertilization come in the form of more palatable and more nutritious growth of grasses. The improved nutrition is due to the higher level of protein usually found in fertilized grasses, points out the Texas A&M University specialist.

"Plant food encourages a healthy root system of grasses," says Pratt. "Such root systems are capable of obtaining both nutrients and moisture at greater depths than otherwise possible. Thus, an out-reaching plant is able to use moisture more efficiently and water losses are minimized."

Improved pastures and better grasses mean increased returns on livestock. And boosting livestock profits is a mighty good reason to fertilize, believes the agronomist.

For further information on pasture grasses and forage production, Pratt suggests that producers contact their local county Extension office.

Former Garage To Be Home Of New Grocery Business

Building Nearly 30 Years Old Slated For Remodeling

A new quick stop grocery store is in the future for Eldorado, as result of purchase now under way of the former Earl Parker Motors building on North Divide Street by Thrift Distributors, Inc.

Edward (Bubba) Barry was here from Fort Worth Monday making arrangements to purchase the property for the corporation, and also to run a legal notice for Off-Premises Sale of Beer. The notice is on page 5 of this Success issue, and will also be run next week. Setting up of the new business and the finalizing of the sale will hinge on approval of the beer sale permit, with hearing set Friday, August 4th, but there is no reason at this time to see any difficulty in obtaining the approval.

Thrift Distributors has Robert W. St. Clair as president, John Harvison as vice president, and Carolyn A. St. Clair as secretary.

Mrs. Parker has been given 60 days in which to arrange disposal of her belongings and garage equipment out of the building, before turning it over to the new owners. Mrs. Parker stated Monday that she has tentative plans to auction off the equipment. Details will be announced later.

Barry said Monday that the new store will be modern and attractive. The corporation plans to spend about $20,000 renovating and remodeling the property and hope to be open for business sometime in October. "We especially want to be open in time for start of deer hunting in November," Barry added.

The store will sell self-service gasoline from the pumps outside, and will carry a line of convenience foods and groceries, as well as selling beer. Jerry Tisdell, who now lives at Kingsland, will move here in the Fall to be manager.

The new store will have the name of Kwik Stop.

The store will occupy the time honored Parker Motors corner location, on North Divide Street in business district. Earl Parker erected the large building to house his automobile agency and garage after he returned from service in World War II. He sold Kaiser-Fraiser cars at first, and later sold Dodge and Rambler, before his death last March. Mrs. Parker has been in process of closing out the firm since that time.

Miss Janet Griffin Wed To Jerry Hart July 15th

Miss Janet Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derl Griffin of 1025 Orbit, Del Rio, and Jerry Hart, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burnap of Waco, exchanged wedding vows July 15 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the home of the bride in Del Rio.

R. T. Williamson, Church of Christ minister of Roosevelt, Tex., performed the ceremony. He also performed the wedding ceremony for the bride's parents 20 years ago.

The bride wore a wedding gown of organza and Italian lace. The headdress was of white daisies.

Miss Cindy Griffin, wearing a pale yellow dress, was maid of honor and her sister's only attendant.

Bud Murray was Jerry's best man.

The bride is a graduate of Tivy High School of Kerrville.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Del Rio High School, and is employed in Waco, where they will make their home.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, Eldorado. The bridegroom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Garland of Del Rio.

A reception followed the wedding with approximately 50 guests attending.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Griffin and Kim, Lori and Kirk, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Griffin, Curtis, Craig and Kelly, and Miss Zelma Griffin, all of Eldorado; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Griffin and John R. and Clinton of Midland.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Henderson and Houston of Menard, and Mrs. R. T. Williamson of Roosevelt.

The couple will be at home in Waco following a trip to Galveston.

JONATHAN IS SEVEN

Jonathan Head, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Head, was honored on his 7th birthday Tuesday afternoon at the family home in the north part of town. Several little friends were present to help him celebrate and played games and were served refreshments, and the honoree received a number of nice gifts.

Mrs. Santos Rangel Dies At Age Of 90

Funeral services were set for 10:00 Wednesday morning in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Mrs. Santos Cervantes Rangel, who died Monday night in the Schleicher County Medical Center at the age of 90. She had lived here since 1924.

Father Richard Gagnon officiated at the rites, and interment was made in Eldorado cemetery under direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

She was born April 4, 1882, in Mexico, and subsequently was married to Lupe Rangel, who preceded her in death. She was a member of the Catholic Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Juanita Robledo of Eldorado and Mrs. Soledad C. Sosa of Sweetwater; a son, Pablo Cardona of Eldorado; 17 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED

On November 7th, Texas voters will join others over the nation in going to the polls to vote in the General Election. At the same time Texans will vote on 14 proposed amendments to the State Constitution, that much-amended document that is now 96 years old.

The amendments will begin running in the Success next week, in the Aug. 3 issue, and continue for three more weeks.

Mrs. Bill Rountree has gone to Chattanooga, Tennessee, to be with her aunt, Mrs. Beulah Anderson, who is in critical condition in a hospital there.

Wrestling Matches Set Tuesday Night

In the course of Sunday night's Abilene T-V wrestling program, it was announced that wrestling would return to Eldorado on Tuesday night, August 1st on the High School football field.

It will be sponsored by the Eldorado Jaycees, and will get under way at 8:45 p.m. In case of rain it will be held in the old elementary gym.

This is latest in a series of wrestling matches to be presented here. The first was held several years ago in the old school gym, and the second was when the ring was set up on the athletic track in front of the home-side grandstand.

These previous performances drew large crowds and were very popular.

If this program is carried out as scheduled it will again be a popular event for Eldorado viewers.

Complete details are given in the ad on page 4 this Success issue.

First Six Months Have 6.56 Rain Average

It's not news to people here generally that the year of 1972 has been a rather dry one, but rainfall average statistics from the Soil Conservation Service office released recently make it official.

The month of June had just 1.50 inch of average rain, and that added to the preceding five months brings the average up to 6.56, that makes for another dry year—thus far.

District Dress Revue Set Aug. 9, Abilene

The 1972 District 7 4-H Dress Revue will be held Wednesday, August 9, at the Abilene Woman's Club. County Dress Revue winners from 16 counties will participate.

Judging will begin at 10:00 a.m. The buffet lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m. The revue will be presented at 2:00 p.m. followed by a reception and tea.

Attending from Schleicher county will be Lorretta Schooley who will participate in Senior division, and Judy Reynolds, who will be in Junior division.

CLARENCE M. PUTMAN DIES

Clarence M. Putman died Saturday in San Angelo, where he lived. Graveside funeral services and interment were held here Sunday.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Annice Murchison of Eldorado and Mrs. Lodice Carter of San Angelo.

LIONS HAVE BUSINESS SESSION

The Eldorado Lions Club held their regular meeting at noon Wednesday, and had their monthly business session in lieu of a program. Boss Lion Elton McGinnes officiated.

Eldon Calk, chairman of Attendance and Membership, will be program chairman for the upcoming month of August.

New Babies

A daughter was born last Thursday morning in Shannon hospital, San Angelo, to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Runge of Menard. She weighed 7 lbs. 13 1/2 oz., and is welcomed by two older brothers.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nixon and Mrs. Edith Runge, all of this county.

S. S. MAN HERE TODAY

Johnny Grammer, Field Representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his July visit to Eldorado. He will be at the County Courthouse on Thursday, July 27th (today) from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time.

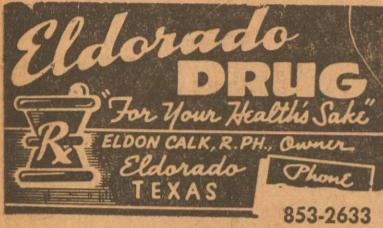

Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

"Farm Safety Week"

President Nixon has proclaimed the week of July 25 through 31, 1972, as National Farm Safety Week. Throughout all America special emphasis will be on Farm Safety for that week.

This year, the National Farm Safety Week and the farm safety campaign of the United States Department of Agriculture will direct special attention to the reduction of accidents through the use of protective items of clothing and equipment on hazardous farm operations.

Accidental injuries hurt, and cost you time and money. But you can help prevent (or make less severe) injuries on your place.

How? By using personal protective equipment—equipment you wear on the job to help guard you from head to toe. And it works, too.

"Hard" hats protect your head from bumps, flying and falling objects. Use them on building work, felling or trimming trees, repairing machinery, etc. Light-weight bump caps give bump protection.

Safety glasses, goggles and face shields protect your eyes from flying particles and objects. Also chemicals. Use them in the shop, while operating in dusty conditions, applying ag. chemicals, and spray painting.

Ear muffs and plugs reduce hearing damage connected with long exposure to noisy equipment like tractors, combines, grinders, chain saws, power mowers and other noisy machinery.

Filter masks keep dust, chaff, and other particles out of your lungs when combining, haying or working in dusty fields. Cartridge respirators or gas mask should be used for applying pesticides. Cse supplied air or self-contained breathing devices in silo or manure tank or pit.

Hands take a beating on the farm and ranch. Shield them with sturdy gloves and barrier cream.

Safety shoes with metal toe caps and puncture-resistant soles, save feet and toes when on building work, handling heavy materials, felling or trimming trees, handling animals, operating power mowers, and repair and maintenance work.

This information was taken from a printed page about 3 inches by 5 inches. A very small piece of paper of very little value. However, if these seven farm safety measures are practiced, their value in dollars, pain saving, permanent bodily injury and deaths could be immeasurable.

Safety has been practiced by all employees of the Soil Conservation Service in the Eldorado work unit office since 1942. This year the Eldorado work unit of the SCS received a Safety Award for the period of January 1, 1942 through December 31, 1971 for preventing disabling injuries. Furthermore, there has not been any reportable injury since the SCS started assisting the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District in 1942.

"A good safety record is no accident."

813 Homes Here
Have T-V Sets

The 1970 Census of Housing counted 1,058 housing units in Schleicher County, and 813 households had at least one television set (560 UHF-equipped), the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, announced today. The figures are from the first report for Texas which presents detailed statistics on housing for each county.

The report shows that in the county: There were 725 housing units with air conditioning (605 with room units and 120 with a central system), 595 units with a clothes washing machine, 291 with a clothes dryer, and 231 with a dishwasher.

The 1970 population was 2,490, with an average of 2.9 persons per housing unit.

A total of 641 housing units were built before 1949, 232 during the 1950's, 106 during 1960-64, and 79 within the five years preceding the April 1970 census.

Utility gas was used to cook the meals in 420 households, electricity in another 283, and bottled, tank, or L.P. gas in yet another 158.

There were 962 housing units with complete kitchen facilities and 935 with complete bathrooms, both for the exclusive use of the households. The number of bedrooms in all housing units ranged from none (in 0 units) and one (in 129 units) to four or more (in 120 units).

Owners occupied 579 units, renters 260 units, and a total of 219 units were vacant year round with 20 for sale and 27 for rent.

Copies of the report, Detailed Characteristics, 1970 Census of Housing, Texas HC(1)-B45, are available for $5.25 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, or from U. S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

Average family income was $8,086 in Schleicher County, Tex., in 1969, compared with $8,490 for the state, according to a report on the 1970 census by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. Per capita income for the county amounted to $2,532, the report shows.

The 1970 census counted 2,411 residents in the county; 3.1% were foreign born and 9.7% native born with one or both parents of foreign birth.

Among the county's 2,265 inhabitants age 5 and over in 1970,

316 were living in a different county within the State in 1965, and 95 in a different state.

In the population age 16 and over, 77.7% of the men and 32.3% of the women were in the labor force. Among the employed, 28.2% were holding white collar jobs, and 17.9% were government workers.

About 29.2% of the married women with husband present were in the labor force, and 28.9% of these wives had children under six.

There were 610 persons 3 to 34 years old enrolled in school. In the 25-and-older population, 46% of the men and 51.8% of the women were high school graduates.

Copies of the report, "General Social and Economic Characteristics, Texas," PC(1)-45C, are available for $6.00 each from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, or from U. S. Department of Commerce field offices located in major cities.

ATTENDING INSTITUTE

Alpine, Tex.—Twenty West Texas public schools teachers and 14 teacher aides are attending a Migrant Summer Institute at Sul Ross State University during the second summer session.

The program, for teachers and teacher aides in migrant programs, is cosponsored by the West Texas Education Center at Midland, Sul Ross, and the Texas Education Agency. It is designed to provide individualized performance-based experiences in oral language, reading, Spanish and basic media.

Attending from Eldorado is Mrs. Jenella Crippin.

VISITING IN TENNESSEE

Mrs. Van O'Harrow of Eldorado went by plane Saturday to Nashville, Tennessee for an extended visit with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Logsdon of Clarksville, Tennessee.

Mrs. O'Harrow was accompanied by her granddaughter, Mrs. Gwen Rountree of San Angelo. Mrs. Logsdon is the former Evelyn O'Harrow of Eldorado.

Also, arriving from Orlando, Fla. to visit with them is Mrs. O'Harrow's grandson, Randall O'Harrow, who is stationed in the U. S. Navy in Orlando.

Film Shows Beauties Of The State Of Texas

Austin, Tex.—A brand new, colorful movie on the beauties of Texas has just been released by the Texas Highway Department, and is available for club, school and television showings.

Premiered recently at the 5th annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council, the half-hour film explores the 40-year history of roadside beauty in Texas. It points out that Texas was the nation's first highway department to demonstrate environmental concern along with engineering specifications. Texas was first, too, in the now national concept of roadside parks.

Film audiences are treated to views of miles of wild flowers, blossoming trees, shrubs, and cacti. The movie cites the department's role as the nation's largest landscape gardener, with some 900,000 acres of highway right-of-way under perpetual care.

In 16 mm sound and color, the new film is a lavish look at beauty along the diverse roadsides of Texas. The film is appropriately titled "Beautify Texas." Prints may be borrowed from the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P.O. Box 5064, Austin, TX 78763.

Austin, Texas.—Property tax reform may be one of the big issues before the 1973 session of the Texas Legislature.

This is the prediction of Texas Research League in a newsletter analyzing the subject.

The property tax, notes TRL, is the largest source of revenue for support of the government in Texas. Collections exceeded $1.4 billion in 1970 and rose $220 million between 1968 and 1970.

Recent federal and state court decisions holding public school finance systems based on locally-imposed property taxes unconstitutional focused new attention on such taxation. The decisions stimulated interest of House and Senate committees on extensive reforms.

Criticism of the revenue source and proposals for reform may center on these factors as pointed up in the TRL study:

—Administration is inequitable. Different standards apply to different types of property.

—There are too few professionally-trained assessors, and many tax offices lack even the most fundamental tools such as tax maps and appraisal cards on each parcel of property. Furthermore, there are far too many tax offices and districts. (Given an "impossible tax law" to administer, local officials do remarkably well, according to a Tax Policy Committee study.)

—Personal property—tangible and intangible—is particularly difficult to assess. Some states have given up attempting to tax all property, and recognize this fact in basic laws.

—Taxpayers are at a marked disadvantage in redressing grievances over illegal or inequitable assessment in the courts.

"Abolish Board"

Former State Insurance Board Chairman Larry Teaver says the best way to promote insurance regulation reform in Texas is by the drastic remedy of abolishing the Board.

Teaver was rejected for Board membership by the state Senate, and apparently has returned to Gov. Preston Smith's staff.

He told an interview panel that insurance industry influence cannot be removed from regulation without getting rid of the Board which he charged is industry-dominated.

The former chairman suggested the present three-member Board should be made a nine-member, parttime citizen board or that an elected insurance commissioner be chosen to head the regulatory agency.

Death Penalty Review Sought

Texas and Georgia will ask the U. S. Supreme Court to review its decision declaring the death penalty, as it is most often applied, unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has received a request from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles for an official interpretation of the June 29 Supreme Court decision. The Board also wanted to know if the death penalty actually had been declared unconstitutional. Some justices hinted a constitutional death penalty provision may be possible.

The Board will continue to follow the procedure of not recommending commutation for the 45 inmates on death row until it receives a formal request from the prisoner, judge, district attorney and sheriff in each case.

Deer Season Set

White-tailed deer season opens November 18 and lasts through January 1 in most counties subject to regulatory authority of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Regular season in the Trans-Pecos is from November 24-December 10.

In portions of Terrell and Pecos counties, seven additional days have been added for whitetails only, with the season opening November 18 and continuing through December 10.

Opening date for all deer hunting in the Panhandle is November 18, and closing date is December 3.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals held Texas judges can no longer deny bail in murder cases due to a U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing the death penalty.

The State Supreme Court held cigarette vending machine companies must pay taxes on cigarettes they stockpiled just before a 1969 tax increase.

The High Court upheld a $4,400 judgment for a workman in Nacogdoches County who was injured

Citrus Blackfly Threatens

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warned that the citrus industry in the Rio Grande Valley may be wiped out unless the citrus blackfly is brought under control.

White said the fight against the insect has been going on for more than a year, and that eradication measures are a nuisance to Brownsville area residents.

Ground spraying of infested trees is necessary every two weeks. If not controlled, the fly can defoliate and kill a citrus tree within two years. The insect is now contained in trees in Brownsville. There have been only two outbreaks of the pest in the U. S., once in Texas in 1956 and once in Florida.

Grants Awarded

The Moody Foundation of Galveston recently approved almost $2 million in grants for 26 worthy projects in 11 Texas communities.

The 26 projects came from a total of 58 requests for funds totaling more than $17.6 million. The foundation has awarded nearly $3.7 million to 62 projects this year. During the last 11 years, the Moody Foundation has awarded more than $58 million in grants to 450 agencies and institutions all over the state.

Oil Allowable 100% Again

For the fifth straight month, Texas Railroad Commission set a 100% statewide oil production allowable for August.

East Texas field is an exception. Production there will be 86% of potential. Another exception is the Kelly-Snyder Field in West Texas where the allowable will remain at 76%.

Purchasers' nominations to buy crude totalled 3.7 million barrels daily for August, highest on record and 157,772 above July. Texas crude oil stocks at mid-July stood at 97.4 million barrels, down 6.7 million barrels from a year ago.

Adventures in Salad Making by Lillian Pfeiffer

EGGS—CLUSIVE RECIPE

Your spouse—a good egg?

Well, one good egg deserves another. Add cabbage, a few other ingredients, plus a dash of ingenuity, and you have a nutritious salad platter that can accompany any main dish. It's called "Devilish Eggs 'N Coleslaw." By any name it's a hit.

To prepare the Devilish Eggs, you first need six hard-boiled eggs. They are cut in half lengthwise and the yolks removed and mashed. An extra "devilish" touch is added to the filling with the addition of a can of deviled ham. The yolk and ham mixture is spooned into the whites after it is mixed with other seasonings.

To accompany these Devilish Eggs, prepare the coleslaw recipe given here. When you're ready to serve, place the coleslaw in a cup made from the outer leaves of the cabbage head. Place the coleslaw on a platter and arrange the eggs around it. A few radish roses and parsley sprigs can also be used for extra color.

DEVILED EGGS

- 6 hard-boiled eggs
- 1 can (2 1/2 oz.) deviled ham
- Pfeiffer Cole Slaw Dressing (enough to make a mixture with a smooth consistency)
- 1 teaspoon grated onion
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

To prepare the deviled eggs, cut hard-boiled eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks, mash and combine with remaining ingredients. Mound mixture into whites and chill.

COLESLAW

- 4 cups shredded green cabbage
- Pfeiffer Cole Slaw Dressing (about 1/2 cup or to taste)
- 1 tablespoon light cream or milk
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper (to taste)

To make the coleslaw, combine all ingredients, tossing lightly to mix. Chill. Serve in a cup made from outer cabbage leaves and surround with the deviled eggs. Makes six servings.

Marketing Report

College Station, Tex.—Economic food buys this week cover all sections of your local market, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyett, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"At beef counters look for values on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and roasts, ground beef and short ribs," Mrs. Clyett said.

"Pork prices match those of the past three weeks," she noted. "Add shoulder roasts and steaks, picnics, hams, end-cut loin roasts and chops and pork liver to your shopping lists."

The Texas A&M University specialist reported that eggs stock markets in ample supplies and at costs similar to last year's prices. Grade A large size eggs continue to provide the best combination of quality and economy. Stores also offer medium sizes.

"Fresh fruit vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices cover cantaloupes, watermelons, plums, peaches, Thompson seedless grapes, nectarines, pineapples and head lettuce," she listed. "Also, potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, carrots, dry yellow onions, purple hull and black-eyed peas corn, cucumbers and green bell peppers."

Don't Make Pets Of Wildlife

College Station, Tex.—As more and more families go outdoors for camping and picnicking, they come into contact with wildlife. Often temptations are high to keep a young wild animal as a pet.

Charles Ramsey, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reminds families exploring the outdoors to be kind to wildlife "orphans" and just leave them alone. "Taking the animal from its habitat is one of the most unkind things a person can do," contends the Texas A&M University specialist. "It's also illegal."

"Unfortunately, the first thought that comes to a person's mind when he finds a young wild animal is that it's an 'orphan.' This is generally not so since the mother often leaves its young to feed."

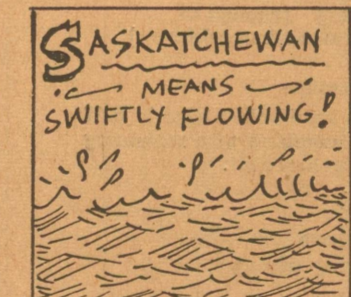

So when a young animal is found alone, chances are that its mother is close by and will tend to her offspring after the humans leave the area.

Ramsey also disproves the common belief that wildlife parents will refuse to care for their young if "tainted" by the scent of humans. "Yet, this is no excuse to bother young animals. Refrain from and discourage children from handling or playing with young wildlife since such handling will frighten and upset the animals."

For animals that do find their way into homes as pets, many problems exist in trying to raise them. "In many cases, the animals become sick and die because of improper diets," notes the specialist.

An often overlooked problem is that cute little animals will grow up eventually. And as adults, many of these will become unmanageable, especially during the breeding season.

Young animals that do end up as pets are generally returned to the wild after some time in captivity. But after being fed and cared for by someone else, these animals often die because they cannot fend for themselves. Since they are not used to the conditions and dangers of the wild, they become easy victims of harsh weather, predators and accidents, explains the specialist.

A VACATION FOR YOUR EYES

At work, at play or at leisure, it pays to care for your eyes.

Research has shown that there are 96 million-plus prescription eyeglass-wearers in this country, yet only 23 million wear prescription sunglasses.

The second number should be higher for sunglasses with prescription-ground lenses protect your eyes from the sun's potentially harmful ultraviolet and infrared rays, and squint lines.

There's a world of sun and color begging to be loved. And forget about equating prescription sunglasses with orthopedic shoes. Beauties such as these AO Sunvogues® sunglasses, with impact resistant lenses, can be had in a variety of styles, sizes and colors. If you opt for American Optical Corporation's True-Color® neutral gray lenses, you get an undistorted view of color, as well as protection. If you wear prescription glasses on a regular see-better basis, give your eyes a vacation with prescription sunglasses. Your professional eyecare practitioner can help, and you'll see better for it.

Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE)

In order to clarify the situation on VEE vaccination of equines in Texas, this memorandum is being sent out and will supersede the comments in the memorandum on VEE dated May 18, 1972.

It is the opinion of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and Texas Animal Health Commission that all equines vaccinated in the 1971 VEE epizootic be revaccinated in 1972. This is not a compulsory vaccination, but an extra precaution for protecting the equines in the State of Texas. Vaccine costs must be born by the owner and vaccine should be administered by a veterinarian.

The reasons for taking this position of revaccination are several.

1. Texas is a high risk area and the only state where VEE has been known to occur.

2. Confirmed cases of VEE have already been reported from Mexico this year and the disease again appears to be on the move. Outbreaks of VEE have been confirmed from Nayarit, Guerrero and Durango and possibly in Southern Chihuahua according to information received from the Federal Animal Health authorities in Austin, Texas.

3. Revaccination is the surest and safest way to protect equines against VEE. It should be repeated that VEE vaccination offers no protection against the Eastern and Western strains of equine encephalomyelitis. In order to protect equines against these diseases they should be vaccinated and receive a booster shot every year.

4. At a recent International Conference on VEE held in Kansas City, Missouri on June 7-8, 1972, it was resolved that:

a. Foals of immune dams in high risk areas be vaccinated when three months of age and again when weaned at approximately six months of age. Previously unvaccinated pregnant mares in high risk areas should be vaccinated regardless of stage of pregnancy.

Moving horses from place to place for entry in races, rodeos or horse shows involves special risk of spreading VEE. Several states require proof of vaccination of VEE. Since mosquitoes capable of spreading VEE are found in all regions of the United States and parts of Canada, it is evident that the disease can strike unpredictably in new areas. Prompt reporting of central nervous symptoms in horses to your veterinarian is important in preventing the spread of the disease.

Cattle Short Course To Accent Reproduction

Discussions at the 22nd annual Beef Cattle Short Course at Texas A&M University, August 21-22, will center on "Improving Reproductive Efficiency." The event will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. on August 21 at the Ramada Inn in College Station.

The program is a follow-up of last year's event. The short course is designed to complete the story of management factors which limit breeding performance of beef cattle.

Emphasis will be given to genetic factors, death loss and disease. Select topics will include artificial insemination, crossbreeding, cow and bull fertility, calving losses, controlled calving and double muscling.

Much emphasis will be placed on increasing the calf crop since calf crop production is the most important consideration affecting beef production. With each 1% increase in calf crop, the Texas cattle industry adds $7 to $8 million to agricultural income.

It's costly to maintain a barren cow for a year, since this means sacrificing the profit on three to five weaned calves. Slow breeding of brood cows can further reduce income because for each heat period a cow fails to conceive, there is a loss of $12 to $14.

A number of Texas A&M officials will be on the program, including Clyde Wells, president of the Texas A&M Board of Directors; Dr. T. C. Cartwright, Dr. T. D. Rich and Dr. Nat Kieffer.

Other keynote speakers will be from the U. S. Range Livestock Experiment Station in Montana, the University of Florida and Colorado State University.

Some 500 cattlemen and others with interests in the livestock industry are expected to attend the two-day session. All producers from Schleicher county are encouraged to attend if possible.

College Station, Tex.—"You can add years to the useful life of wooden outdoor furnishings by treating them with a wood preservative," says W. A. Smith, forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

An excellent material which is easily applied can be bought in either concentrated or ready-to-use form from your local hardware store, paint shop, lumber yard or mail order firm. The material is the water repellent pentachlorophenol, often referred to as "penta-WR".

"Penta-WR" is sold under various trade names, but the label will indicate when this material is present and will provide directions for application. The WR additive is important for treating wood exposed to the weather, points out the Texas A&M University specialist.

"If a large quantity of preserva-five is required, it is less expensive to buy the concentrate and mix it with a 'carrier' as directed," says Smith. "Varsol, available at many service stations, is often used for this purpose because it is clean, non-greasy and inexpensive. Other mineral spirits also may be used."

The wood must be dry and free of finishes such as varnish when the preservative is applied, adds the specialist. Four or five brush applications of the preservative at three-to-four-day intervals will give adequate penetration.

All wood in constant contact with the soil is subject to rot, though the heartwood of some species such as cedar, cypress, yellow locust, bois d'arc and mulberry will resist decay for a longer period than others. The outer, lighter-colored part of the tree trunk, called sapwood, is soon destroyed by rot in all species.

Thus, treating outdoor wooden furniture with a preservative is a worthwhile practice, says Smith.

Mrs. Elhora Love returned recently from a TSFA florist's convention in San Antonio.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By DIANE DURRETT

Coupon Survey Conducted

Coupons act as money in the bag for most homemakers. A survey, which measured housewives' impressions of coupons, showed that 58% of all households use coupons. The study also revealed that usage is higher for larger families with higher incomes.

The prime reason homemakers use coupons is to save money. They also want to try a new product. Nearly one-third of these housewives redeem the coupons immediately.

The study specifically reported that 63% of housewives like coupons, 58% prefer receiving more, 46% use them each week, and 37% are using more. Also, housewives used 92% of the coupons during the survey.

Convenience Foods

Are convenience foods worth high price tags? Or do they really cost that much?

A study has revealed that some convenience foods cost as much as three times the price of ingredients needed to prepare similar foods at home. But the study also showed that some cost less than their homemade counterparts. Homemakers generally pay a higher price for convenience. In the study, each of four commercially prepared frozen, ready-to-heat dinners of meat loaf, beef, fried chicken and turkey cost more than if prepared at home. Costs for fried chicken dinners averaged 25% higher. Costs were based on home-prepared dinners that had the same amount of food (meat, potatoes and a second vegetable) as commercial dinners. Cost relationships might have differed substantially if home prepared dinners had used another cut of meat or poultry. For example, the home-prepared fried chicken dinner used a whole ready-to-cook frying chicken (cut up) costing 42 cents a pound. If the meal had served chicken parts—breasts with ribs and legs at 65 cents a pound, the dinner would have totaled 35 cents instead of 25 cents. The commercial fried chicken dinner, then, would have cost only 50% more than the homemeal rather than 110% higher.

Some brands of frozen ready-to-heat main dishes cost much more than other brands, partly because they contain more meat or poultry. One brand of beef pie, for instance, cost twice as much while another cost about the same as beef pie made from a home recipe. The less expensive frozen pie contained only three-fourths as much meat as the homemade pie. Similarly, one brand of chicken pie cost 150% more while another brand was only 20% higher.

Cheese pizza made from a packaged mix cost only slightly more than pizza made from scratch. But frozen pizza, ready for the oven, cost 60% more.

Apple pie, pound cake, brownies, sugar cookies, waffles and baking powder biscuits made from mixes ranged in cost from slightly less to one-third more than similar foods made at home. Frozen waffles, heated in the toaster, cost three times as much as homemade waffles, but canned chilled biscuits, ready-to-bake, cost only one-third more.

Apple pie bought ready-to-eat cost about 80% more, but ready-to-eat brownies and sugar cookies cost about the same as homemade brownies and cookies. Paying these higher prices for convenience may be a saving for persons living alone.

Preparing some dishes at home can require too many ingredients and yield too many servings to be practical. Or a homemaker may simply prefer to use her time for activities other than cooking.

When shopping for convenience foods, compare costs of equal-sized servings of home-prepared and commercially prepared foods. This will prevent paying more for convenience than you had intended.

Calculating precise costs for mixed dishes isn't easy. Before attempting the calculations, try the convenience item first to check if it's acceptable.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Boyd were Mr. Boyd's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boyd of Carlsbad, New Mexico, and his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grisham of Rising Star, Texas.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU NOW

What about physical health?

"Glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's." 1 Corinthians 6:20.

God gave you a body and a mind to take care of it.

You can be strong and healthy physically by following God's plan for you.

Take a look at Daniel: Chapter 1.

Daniel and his companions ate simple food and drank water. After a ten day test they were in better physical condition than the other people who ate the king's meat and drank his wine.

MAN IS WHAT HE EATS, PLUS WHAT HE THINKS.

Self control in selecting food, and in the quantity consumed is vital to good physical health.

A cheerful mind sends its messages of happiness to every part of the body.

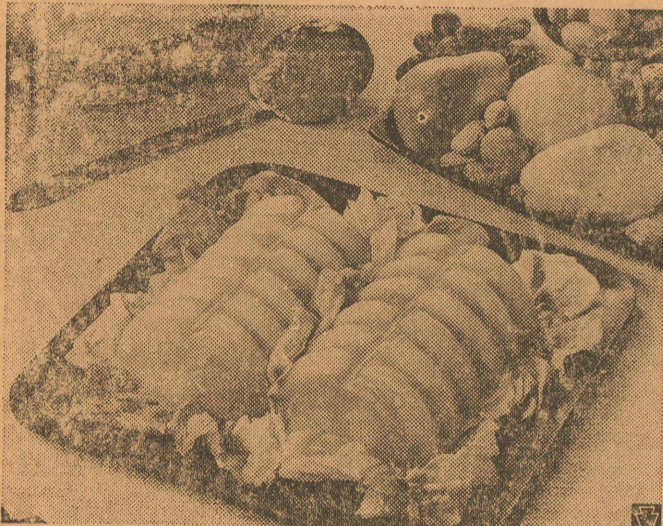

Eat right, think right, live right, and you will stand tall in honor of your creator.

God wants you that way; he tells you how.

ARE YOU LISTENING?

Refreshing California Salad

The recipe for tempting "Golden Bartlett Pear Salad" calls for making only one orange gelatin mold to serve six persons. But the photo shows twin molds—simply a matter of doubling the amount of ingredients and using two molds, or one large mold, if you prefer, to serve 12 persons at a big company dinner.

GOLDEN BARTLETT PEAR SALAD

- 1 package (3 oz.) orange gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 teaspoon slivered orange rind
- 3/4 cup orange juice
- 2 fresh California Bartlett pears
- 1/4 cup sliced celery
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper (optional)
- Western iceberg lettuce

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Stir in orange rind and juice. Chill 1/2 cup gelatin mixture until slightly thickened. Pare, halve and slice pears. Arrange part of slices against sides of 3 or 4-cup mold. Pour thickened gelatin carefully around pear slices. Chill until almost firm. Chill remaining gelatin until it mounds on spoon. Dice remaining pears and fold into gelatin with celery and green pepper. Turn into mold over chilled gelatin and sliced pears. Chill several hours until firm. To serve, dip mold into warm water a few seconds and invert onto lettuce-garnished serving platter. Cut into slices. Makes 6 servings.

GENERATION ON

They hit the road early, these youngsters of today. They cover a lot of miles. At a pretty fast pace.

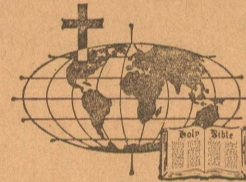

And what they need most are the moral and spiritual values that do not change in a fast-moving age.

The role of the Church and the family is becoming more crucial every day. Wise parents realize their children should have the advantage of religious training. They sense the importance of their own example in encouraging positive Christian principles.

We need not worry about our youngsters growing up so rapidly... as long as they grow up well.

On hot summer evenings even the best cooks can lose their enthusiasm for fixing family suppers. At such times an easy-to-make main dish salad may be the perfect choice. The Summer Salad Bowl pictured above is an appetizing combination of tomatoes, crisp greens, butter-flavored mushrooms, julienne of canned luncheon meat accented with packaged herb seasoned croutons and tossed with a tangy lemon and oil dressing. As a variation add Swiss cheese strips or hard-cooked egg slices. To accompany Summer Salad serve seeded rye bread, thinly sliced and buttered. Easy does it!

SUMMER SALAD BOWL

- 2 quart salad greens, torn into bite-size pieces
- 2 cups herb seasoned stuffing croutons
- 2 3-oz. cans chopped broiled mushrooms, drained, reserving butter broth
- 3 tomatoes, peeled, cut in wedges
- 1 12-oz. can luncheon meat, cut in julienne strips
- 1 cup vegetable or olive oil
- 1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
- 1 clove garlic, pressed
- 2 teaspoons Italian seasoning
- Salt and pepper

Place greens in large salad bowl. Add croutons, mushrooms, tomato wedges and luncheon meat strips. For dressing, place vegetable oil, bottled lemon juice, 1/4 cup of the reserved butter broth, garlic and Italian seasoning in a jar. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cover jar and shake well. Pour desired amount of dressing over salad; toss lightly. Serve immediately in chilled salad bowls.

HEED THESE SWIMMING SAFETY TIPS

Now that the balmy weather is once again with us, millions of Americans will be heading for beaches and pools in search of healthful and relaxing fun in the sun.

With that in mind, here are some safety tips to help everyone keep their heads above water:

1. Be sure to know your limitations before taking a dip. The best way to find out how far you can go without becoming dangerously tired is to swim parallel to the shore, and not too far from it. That way, you'll be able to get back safely and quickly if you run into trouble.
2. Use discretion. Don't swim right after eating or when you're overtired. Instead, give both your stomach and your limbs at least an hour to rest up.
3. Know the area you intend to swim in. More than one hapless bather has taken a dive into water that is either too shallow or strewn with dangerous hidden objects like submerged rocks. Ocean swimmers should be particularly wary of the possible presence of hazardous currents.
4. Protect your feet. Judicious use of sandals at the beach or pool will help reduce the risks of cut feet and athlete's foot infection.

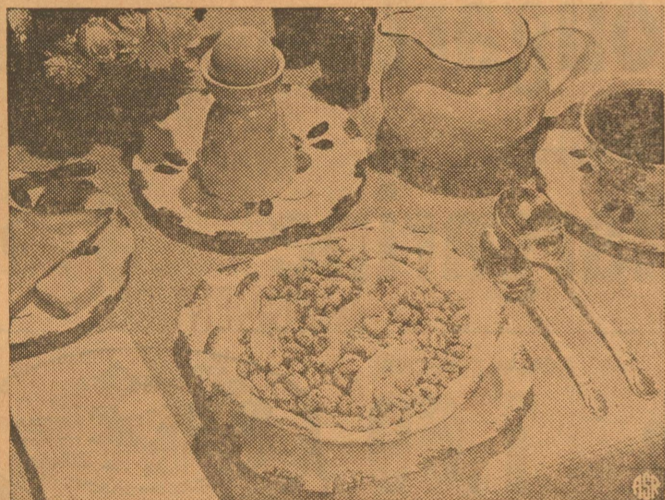

If you should contract athlete's foot, despite this precaution, treat it with an effective killer of most fungus like Tinactin cream. The danger signals to watch out for are between-the-toes cracking, peeling or itching.

5. Try to remain calm in case of trouble. If you unwisely swim too far from shore and are too tired to get back, panic is your biggest enemy. Keep your wits about you and you'll find it's easy to take a rest break right in the water. The best way to do this is to float on your back, keeping your hands and feet moving slowly.

If, after resting up, you're still too tired to get safely back to shore, don't be shy about yelling for help. Though it might cause you some embarrassment, it might also save your life.

Get Off To A Good Start!

Most people like surprises—even at breakfast. They help awaken the taste buds as well as the eyes! Surprises are easy to plan for breakfast—try "hiding" applesauce or drained fruit cocktail under the cereal or "capping" it with wedges of peeled melon or bright berries. Another wake-up surprise is to top the cereal with whipped topping, sprinkled with raisins or dates. These ideas help serve "cereal with love" and will make breakfast happier—a great way to start the day with a smile as well as with good nutrition.

A cereal like Post Super Sugar Crisp Wheat Puffs, which is fortified with important vitamins, is a good beginner for a nourishing breakfast. Milk on the cereal and extra to drink help meet the suggested requirement of at least 2 cups daily for adults and 4 or more cups for teen-agers. Egg helps fill the protein need and toast the carbohydrate need. Fruit or fruit juice is an essential part of every breakfast.

Cents Off And Economy Sizes

(The Informed Consumer Column from office of Attorney General Crawford Martin.)

"How do I know if I'm really getting a bargain when I buy something with 'cents off,' 'introductory offer' or 'economy size'?" Consumers I've talked with throughout Texas ask me about these special price promotions, which are often confusing and misleading.

The Federal Trade Commission is very concerned with this problem and recently issued new regulations to help the consumer when buying nonfood consumer products. The Food and Drug Administration is writing its own regulations to make them compatible with the FTC's. They'll be completed soon, and will apply the same kinds of controls to food, drugs, and cosmetics. Let's take a close look at these rules and see just what they mean to you.

"Introductory offers," under the new regulations, can be made for only six months. They are limited to a new product or one that has been changed in a functional way, such as a soap which adds "deodorant protection." The introductory offer must be made at a lower price than what will normally be charged after the introductory offer.

You've probably seen one brand of a product offered in "economy," "family" and "budget" size, and know how confusing it can be determining which is the best bargain. Now, "economy size" promotions may not be made unless a company offers only one-size package with a label designating it as a money-saving size, such as "economy" or "family." The company must also at the same time offer the same brand of the commodity in at least one smaller size.

The economy size package must sell at a substantially reduced price per unit of weight, volume, measure, or count. More specifically, it must save the consumer at least 5% of the actual price of any other package of the same brand.

The new regulations for "cents off" basically concerns the method of informing the consumer that the price of the product is a stated number of "cents off" the regular price. The company must supply the retail store with a sign or shelf marker clearly showing the "cents off" and the "regular price." For example: "Regular price, 67c, 8c off, you pay 59c."

As of June 30, 1972, the product's package or label must also clearly show that the price marked represents the savings in the specific amount of "cents off" the "regular price."

These new regulations will guarantee that you really will get the savings promised by "cents off," "introductory offer" and "economy size." The Federal Trade Commission has made the chore of distinguishing between real and implied savings a little easier for all of us.

Theater In Use
San Marcos, Tex.—The first shows were viewed Saturday from Aquarena Springs' new submarine theater. The new theater doubles the seating capacity at the San Marcos attraction and submerges 2 1/2 feet deeper than the theater it replaced. The July opening overshot by nearly two months the target date of May 15, but, as Gene Phillips, president and general manager of Aquarena, explains, "the old theater was the only one in the world and the guys that built it 21 years ago aren't around, so we've had to 'write the books' as we engineered and built this one."

In addition to the new theater, the Texas Tourist Development Agency notes that visitors to Aquarena may ride glass bottom boats and the Swiss Sky Ride, visit Texana Village, the Mexican Market, the Grist Mill and see glass blowing demonstrations. Oddities such as dancing chickens and Texana Village's "scare goats" add more of the unusual to the truly unique attraction of Aquarena Springs. Hours are 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday-Friday, and 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.
