Pancake Supper Set Sept. 9th By Lions

Elton McGinnes presided at a meeting Monday night of officers of the Eldorado Lions Club at which projects for raising money during the Fall were discussed. The group decided to have a Pancake Supper the night of Saturday September 9th, at the Memorial Building. Tickets will be sold for $1 each ahead of time. The money raised will be used by the club to furnish eyeglasses to school children whose parents cannot afford to buy them, and for other larger scale projects such as the special camps for crippled and diabetic children.

Screwworms Cover All Areas Of Texas

Screwworms are being reported from all areas of Texas, as well as two-thirds of the state of Oklahoma. Only the far eastern and northeastern portions of Oklahoma remain free of the livestock pest. In addition, screwworms are being reported from the southern one-third of the state of New Mexico, the southern half of Arizona, and from Imperial and Riverside counties in California. Although screwworms have been reported from near the Louisiana border in far east Texas, there have not as yet been any cases confirmed this year from Louisiana or Arkansas.

The National Screwworm Production facility at Mission, Texas, has been at maximum production since the first of May this year. The average sterile fly release since that time has been nearly 200 million per week, whereas prior to the first of May, the average weekly production was about 120 million per week.

It was apparent by the end of 1971 that additional funds would be necessary in order to prevent a spring buildup of screwworms in the United States and particularly in Texas, as screwworms migrate north from Mexico naturally in the spring. It was also apparent that any delay in receiving additional funds after the spring buildup began, coupled with favorable weather conditions, could very likely result in the spread of screwworms throughout most of the southwestern United States.

The spring buildup began about a month earlier than usual this year due to an exceptionally mild winter in northeastern Mexico and in South Texas. By the time additional funds became available to allow the plant at Mission to increase production of sterile flies to the maximum screwworms had migrated north from Mexico and invaded more than half of Texas—as well as southern Arizona.

Weather conditions in northern Mexico and over most of the southwest United States have remained exceptionally favorable for screwworm propagation on into the summer. Screwworms have continued to spread into previously free areas and the southwest United States is now experiencing the worst outbreak since 1961, which was one year prior to the inception of the screwworm eradication program.

The theory of eradication of screwworms with the sterile male technique is to release a large enough number of sterile male screwworm flies over a vast area to outnumber or overwhelm the native male screwworm population in that area. Enough of the female screwworm flies, which only breed once in their lifetime, may then mate with sterile males, resulting

Big Fire Hits Northwest Of Town Tuesday

Once again Sheriff Orval Edmiston's office became a command post Tuesday to co-ordinate fire fighting efforts after a large blaze out about 2:00 p.m. west of town.

The San Angelo Emergency Corps, as well as fire units from Mertzon, Big Lake, Sonora, and San Angelo joined local firemen in battling the blaze which apparently started near the dump ground five miles west. An hour later it had reached the Cecil Meador place, burning over on Paul Page, McAngus, and Meador land on the way.

Some ranchmen furnished stock sprayers filled with water, and some earth-moving contractors as well as the State Highway Dept. had graders at work on road barrow ditches.

Fanned by southeast winds, the blaze jumped several minor roads and fence lines in its path. A dense cloud of smoke rolled northward with a thick haze that cut visibility and made driving hazardous for a time.

Fences were being cut in order to let some endangered livestock escape, and to allow fire trucks to go through.

Report at 6:00 p.m. was that all available manpower was still at work, but the fire could not be controlled "any time soon."

But within about an hour firemen's luck took turn for better. At about 7:00 p.m. firemen brought the blaze under control, and continued to watch it overnight for any signs of new outbreak. About 2500 acres of grass and brush covered pasture were burned off.

A few times before, there have been major fires out in the county during which the sheriff's office has co-ordinated control efforts and this time too deputies Dorothy Evans and Fenna Whitten kept in constant contact with the field efforts by short wave radio and telephone and teletype, and answered queries from outside.

Post Script

With hot, dry weather hanging on, the firemen have been called out several times in recent days to fight grass fires, both in Eldorado and out in the county.

Recent runs included:
Sunday, 6:30 p.m., McCormick's drive-in;

Monday, to Rocking R at 2:00 p.m. and to Wagley place at 5:15;
Tuesday at 1:00 p.m. they sent trucks to the Runge place in the north part of the county.

—ps—
Calvin Henderson has closed the youth center across from the court house and it has been taken over by Jesus Herrera who operates the drive-in in the south part of town.

Clyde Henderson has had water turned on at the Fred Smith house he bought, and is expected to move to it soon.

Eagleton Withdraws As V-Pres Candidate

In a brief television special report Monday night, George McGovern, Democratic nominee for President, announced that Senator Eagleton had voluntarily withdrawn as candidate for Vice President on the Democratic ticket.

It was announced at the same time that Geo. McGovern would appear on prime T-V time at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday to give his own prepared announcement.

27th Annual Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative Membership Meeting Is Set For Tuesday, August 8th

Elton McGinnes, manager of Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative and his office crew here in Eldorado are busy this week mailing out about 1200 invitations to its members and their guests, for the 27th annual membership meeting and barbecue to be staged here on the courthouse grounds starting at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday, August 8th.

An annual event for the past 26 years this meeting continues to draw people from all neighboring areas served by the Co-Op. The invitations being mailed out are in the form of a 12-page booklet and carry the invitation of J. D. Strauss, president of the Co-Op. He stressed that the booklet is a reflection of the financial progress for the past year, and expresses the hope that each member will take a few minutes to review it.

The annual barbecue has always been a time for people to meet and visit with old friends and renew acquaintances. Some Co-Op members report never having missed a meeting since the first one was held back in the mid-1940's.

Main item of business at the meeting is election of directors. The terms of Joe D. Strauss, Jerry Johnson and Peyton Cain expire and they have been nominated for new three-year terms.

Following the end of World War II in August, 1945, the new Co-Op began functioning later that fall and started serving its first members by the end of that year. Since then it has expanded into nine neighboring counties and in addition to its elaborate headquarters office in Eldorado (shown above), has also established sub-offices in Ozona and Big Lake. Comparative statistics included in the new report reveal that the average number of meters in 1969 was 2,817, in 1970 it was 2,915; and in 1971 it was 3,067.

Program

The printed invitation lists the evening's program as follows:
7:00 p.m. Free barbecue for members and their guests. Music by Mary Carter and her Hammond organ.
8:00 p.m. Business session. Call to order by Pres. Strauss.
Reading of minutes of previous meeting.
Report of nominating committee.
Election of directors.
Manager's report.
Awarding of service pins.
Adjournment.

Screwworm Report

At the present time the Screwworm Eradication Program is dropping 800 to 1,000 sterile flies per square mile each week in Schleicher County. There is a possibility of increase in the number of flies in Schleicher County next week.

"I visited with Dr. James E. Novy Wednesday, July 26th. He gave me this information straight from Mission, Texas. The only place in Texas that flies are not being dropped is in the far north," said Ag. Agent Jerry Swift.

Dr. Novy has asked the producers to try to report as many of the cases as possible. If there is more than one case in a herd take one sample and indicate how many cases are in the herd each day. Only through the cooperation of livestock producers can the Screwworm Eradication Program be effective.

Local Lions Club Is In New Eye Bank

The Eldorado Lions Club, which is now 44 years old and has Elton McGinnes as current president, is a charter member of the new eye bank being founded in District 2A1.

Lions Club officials, attending the District 2A1 annual meeting in San Angelo Sunday, formally established a district-wide eye bank to provide transplants for the blind.

The project will provide that volunteer donors carry cards on their person to identify them as donors at their death. The demand for transplants, said former district president Marvin Allen of San Angelo, is great enough that donated eyes are generally used within 24 hours, although they can be preserved up to a year.

The Lions clubs, 65 in the district have obtained the cooperation of ham radio operators, who provide communication, and the Department of Public Safety for delivery of the eyes, said Allen.

The Lions Club members Sunday made plans to obtain some 2,000 to 3,000 card carriers from all over the far-flung 2A1 District.

Corinne Robinson has just returned from visiting her sister and niece in Portland, Oregon. She also went to Seattle, Wash., and Victoria, B. C., Canada.

Is now the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

Marketing Report

College Station, Tex.—"If you're looking for food values, check local markets this week." Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

For best meat values, Mrs. Clyatt advised checking beef sections for featured items. In general look for round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and liver.

According to the home demonstration agent, retail pork prices are gradually easing upward. Price tags generally mark hams, picnic, end cut chops and loin roasts and shoulder roasts and steaks as best pork values.

"Fryer chickens make an excellent choice, price-wise," the agent said, "even though prices have advanced some in recent weeks. For economy and good eating, invite friends over for backyard barbecued chicken."

Mrs. Clyatt added that egg prices range about the same as last year. Grade A large sizes offer the best combination of economy and quality.

"Fresh fruit and vegetables in good supply at the most reasonable prices number bananas, cantaloupes, watermelons, plums, peaches, grapes, nectarines, potatoes, and head lettuce. Others are cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, cushaw, corn, bell peppers, cucumbers, green onions and purple hull and black-eyed peas."

THE STEERING COLUMN

Q. I've heard drivers should shift their eyes frequently while driving. True?

A. It sure is. A roving eye is vital to driving safety. Your eyes should shift about every two seconds, and you should check your rear vision mirror at five-second intervals, more frequently in heavy traffic.

Here are some more good driving vision tips from the American Trucking Industry, relayed by Clark Equipment Trailer Division and the ATA Foundation. They're based on the experience of professional truck drivers who spend a lot of time on the road to deliver the goods:

- Aim high, looking a half mile ahead on the roadway—a block ahead in the city.
- Get the big picture, scan the entire view.
- Keep your eyes moving and...
- Make sure the other driver sees you. Use your horn or lights to make him aware.
- Just how important is wearing seat belts?

A. Research indicates that the use of seat belts in every one of the nation's cars could save 5,000 lives a year and reduce the severity of injuries as much as 80 percent.

Q. How big is the trucking industry?

A. It's a lot bigger than most people realize. For example, did you know it provides jobs for 8 million men and women? That's equal to the total population of New York City.

Each year the trucking industry uses enough rubber to make boots and shoes for the Army, Navy and Marines for 1,071 years, and enough copper to mint over 16 billion pennies. And it annually pays over $5 billion in highway taxes.

For safety, make yourself visible—and heard!

These facts vividly illustrate the importance of the trucking industry to the nation's economy. If our trucks suddenly disappeared, America's entire economic machinery would grind to a halt.

Ovie Fisher Attacks McGovern Policies

Washington, D. C.—Rep. Ovie Clark Fisher of San Angelo charged Tuesday that Sen. George McGovern's defense policies would "definitely make the United States a second-rate military power and eventually a third or fourth rate power."

Fisher, a high-ranking Democrat on the House Armed Services Committee, said that it was "inconceivable" that the Democratic presidential nominee's proposals "would be anything but a disaster for the United States and the cause of peace."

The Southwest Texas congressman said that McGovern had promised to "maintain military superiority."

Fisher said McGovern "bases his military concept on a choice between all-out retaliation against population and industry and no response at all."

"Apparently," Fisher said, "his only strategic concept is give away now and beg later."

Fisher assailed McGovern's views on research and development.

"Although Soviet military research and development is already above ours," the congressman said, "Sen. McGovern would slash our R&D by an additional 35 to 40%—a backward step too shocking to contemplate, and certainly no way to achieve a lead in military technology."

Fisher, reflecting the general disapproval of McGovern's candidacy among moderate and conservative Democrats, bluntly indicated his own dislike of the nominee.

"Aside from his radicalism," Fisher said, "including amnesty for draft dodgers, forced busing for school children, $1,000 annual gift to every man, woman and child, and repeal of the Texas and all other right-to-work laws, George McGovern's attitude toward national defense looms as a major concern."

McGovern's promise to slash $33 billion over three years from the defense budget drew Fisher's criticism, including the senator's proposals to scrap the B-1 bomber program, eliminate the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system, halt the Minute-man III and Poseidon missile improvement, reduce the number of aircraft carriers from 15 to 6 and the number of air wings from 37 to 26, trim the National Guard and cancel the F-14 and F-15 tactical air programs and reduce the active land strength by four divisions.

Fisher said McGovern's defense proposals would call for the firing of an estimated 30% of all civilian workers in military installations.

"During the primary campaign," he said, "McGovern told Californians he didn't plan any base closures there. This would probably mean even more cutbacks in other military training centers—like Texas."

Price Spread

College Station, Tex.—Confused about price spread?

There's no mystery to it, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Price spread is simply the difference between prices farmers receive for their raw agricultural products and costs consumers pay for food at the grocery store."

Mrs. Clyatt explained that price spread pays for essential processes and services that convert raw farm commodities into edible food items. It pays for safe packaging of these food items as well as their distribution to local markets.

"Recent studies show that direct costs of three factors, have caused more than two-thirds of the increase in price spread since 1946

Harlan Pledges Active Campaign

Defeating a 30-year incumbent member of the U. S. House of Representatives is a formidable task. Some say it is impossible.

Why, then, is Doug Harlan running against O. C. Fisher? First, Doug isn't running AGAINST Mr. Fisher, the 30-year incumbent; he's running FOR Congress, to serve his district and country. And he's running because he and many voters of the 21st Congressional District believe he can serve the people more effectively than Mr. Fisher can.

Even though Doug can serve the district better, he says, some people ask: what makes anybody think he can win? The same question was asked about a Phoenix, Arizona, department store executive (Barry Goldwater) in 1952; the same question was asked about a Wichita Falls college teacher (John Tower) in 1961; the same question was asked about a 30-year old woman (Elizabeth Holtzman) just this year in her race against 50-year House incumbent Emanuel Celler. But all three won. And there are many other examples like these.

Republicans never have a cinch race in Texas. All of them are uphill challenges. And so is the race for Congressman in the 21st District of Texas. But Harlan cites the following factors in his favor:

1. The present 21st District is Republican in character. President Nixon in 1968, running against both Humphrey and Wallace, got 52% of the total district vote. The combined Nixon-Wallace vote was 65%. In 1970 George Bush got over 52% of the vote in his U. S. Senate race against Lloyd Bentsen.

2. 1972 trends indicate President Nixon is very strong in the 21st District, and will score a landslide victory over George McGovern, whose views are completely out of step with the predominant conservatism here. Likewise, Senator Tower should easily win in the 21st District. Nixon-Tower voters are potential Harlan voters—if they are approached properly.

3. Even though a conservative, O. C. Fisher's Democratic affiliation forces him to vote with his party to place liberals in control of the U. S. House.

4. President Nixon needs a Republican Congress to get his program enacted, and the 21st District is one of the swing districts needed by Republicans to gain the necessary seats to control.

5. There is a nationwide trend against older members of Congress over 65 (Fisher will be 70 next year), even though in prior years they were considered invincible.

6. Metropolitan Bexar County, which is almost 60% of the 21st District, is better represented in Washington Harlan says by congressmen in both the Democrat and Republican parties. At present all three Bexar County Congressmen are Democrats.

7. Doug Harlan cites his unique qualifications to serve in Congress. At 29, he has a B. A. from Rice, an M. A. in Political Science from Duke, and a Ph. D. in Government from the University of Texas at Austin. He has taught political science in several universities.

—an increase of more than 70% when adding indirect costs," the Texas A&M University specialist reported.

The three factors are higher wages, taxes and transportation. Also, the gradual increase in the amount of services desired by consumers has boosted price spread, she said.

The A&M specialist noted that the American consumer wants extra services. Past purchases show that she wants more time-saving, work-saving, convenient foods and wants them in handier packages. She wants food products with added safety, nutrition and flavor available in the more than 8,000 supermarket items.

If an item doesn't move from the grocer's shelf, Mrs. Clyatt said a new one soon replaces it. Or if the consumer doesn't buy an item a sufficient number of times, it vanishes out of stock.

"In short," Mrs. Clyatt emphasized, "each consumer votes for what she likes every time she buys groceries."

Screwworms Cover Tex.

in a significant reduction in the native fly population. As heavy as the screwworm infestation is in Texas at the present time, eradication of screwworms would take at least four to six months of weekly releases of sterile screwworm flies in sufficient numbers.

During the first six months of 1972 sterile flies have been released over all areas where screwworm cases were being reported in the United States. Also, in order to cope with the northward and eastward migration of these insects, a band of sterile flies were released 100 miles north and east of the most northern reported cases. It is now apparent, since we have failed to halt the spread of screwworms throughout the southwest, that our sterile fly releases have not been in sufficient numbers to significantly reduce the native fly population. The primary reason the native fly population is so great this year is probably due to the exceptionally favorable weather conditions.

In order to release sufficient numbers of sterile flies in some areas of the southwest which are considered critical to the success of the screwworm eradication program, there are other areas where screwworms now exist that will not receive sterile fly releases. The critical areas are considered to be east and southeast Texas due to the threat posed to the southeast United States, and southern Texas where screwworms could continue to be a problem through the winter months.

The first areas of the southwest where sterile fly releases have been discontinued are the northern two thirds of Oklahoma, and all of the Texas panhandle and extreme northwest Texas. As additional sterile flies are needed in the critical areas, sterile fly releases will be discontinued over other areas to the north where cold weather will eventually kill out screwworms this winter.

Cooperation from the livestock industry is needed more now than in many years:

(1) The submission of samples of suspected screwworm cases to our laboratory for identification is the only way we have of knowing where screwworms are and in what numbers they exist. These samples are important whether sterile flies are released over the area or not.
 (2) The creating of wounds on animals, such as castrating, dehorning or branding should be avoided until cold weather.

(3) Animals should be inspected daily or as often as possible and all wounds, regardless of how large or small, should be treated with a larvacide and insect repellent.

(4) Animals should be sprayed or dipped in one of the recommended organo-phosphate systemic insecticides when animals are gathered for whatever purpose.

Although the battle against screwworms is apparently lost this year, we need to begin thinking now about next year. A United States-Mexico Screwworm Eradication Program is at least two years away. It is thus necessary to push screwworms as far south as possible this fall and winter in order to minimize another spring buildup next year in the southwestern United States.

The fly production facility at Mission, Texas, will remain at maximum production at least until this fall in the light of the present outbreak, even though our annual budget does not allow for this continued high level of spending.

First United Methodist Church Scene Of Speck - Brumfield Wedding

MRS. EDWIN WILLIAM BRUMFIELD, JR.
Formerly Miss Connie Sue Speck

Austin, Tex.—Gov. Preston Smith is threatening a special legislative session on insurance reform.

In a statewide, televised speech, he announced he will ask the Legislature to abolish the paid, three-member State Insurance Board, which he charges is company dominated.

Angered by Senate rejection July 7 of his longtime friend, Larry Teaver, to the Board, Smith blamed the defeat on the "powerful insurance lobby."

His recommendations to "completely reorganize and reform the regulation of the insurance industry" will be delivered to a special session this year or to the next regular session in January.

Reaction to his speech, the Governor said, will determine whether he goes through with the special session call. He feels reorganization of the Board can be achieved only in a limited special session, but he isn't sure whether the public yet supports reform strongly enough to insure action.

Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy, a leader in the move to reject Teaver, challenged Smith to follow through and call the session immediately. He said he opposed Teaver, not because he was a consumer advocate on the Board, but for "lack of character and ability."

Smith in his T-V speech announced 19 vetoes of items totaling $6.35 million from the 1973 appropriations bill.

Among the vetoed items: funds to acquire facilities for an A&I University center at Corpus Christi; a legislative scheme to thwart construction of a new highway building near the capitol by forcing creation of a state "garden park" on the site; $1 million for a Fort Worth state school — and $1.22 million for new branch junior college in Coleman, Lubbock, Haskell and Palestine.

$200 Million Tax Need Seen

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee received advice the Legislature may be looking at a $200 million money shortage for the next biennium when it reports next year.

James McGrew, Texas Research League director, told the Committee spending from general revenue and other key state funds will jump $700 million over the present level next biennium. But he figured an additional $375 to $400 million in revenue is anticipated from present "growth" taxes, and a $100 million federal welfare windfall is foreseeable.

The Committee also was reminded repeatedly of the likely effect of a federal court decision (now on appeal) holding the present method of financing public schools by ad valorem taxation unconstitutional. And a University of Texas official suggested property, income and sales taxes are all necessary to get "maximum equity" in the tax system.

Governor Smith strongly disagreed with McGrew's forecast and said there is a strong possibility no new taxes at all will be needed next year.

Insurance Cut Urged

An 11% average statewide cut in private passenger car insurance has been recommended to the State Insurance Board.

Board member Ned Price said the rate reduction—which could save more than $68 million—probably will be made by the Board by mid-August, effective Sept. 1.

Proposed reductions amount to an average 8.2% on liability coverage and 14.5% in collision and comprehensive coverage.

Industry spokesmen said the reduction—credited to lower accident claims—is amazing in view of rising medical and repair costs.

Dallas Sen. Mike McKeel claimed the reduction could have been greater—"at least 20%."

Board members also reviewed a modified no-fault auto insurance plan known as the "personal injury protection plan" which would add to policies additional coverage for medical bills and lost income due to accidents. Benefits would be paid without regard to who was at fault in an accident.

SUSAN CRIPPIN IS 10

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crippin honored their daughter Susan on her 10th birthday with a hamburger supper and slumber party at their home last week end.

Guests were Slerid Head, Gwendolyn Gunstead, Elizabeth Brame, Laura Gentry and Linda Gentry. The honoree received several nice birthday gifts.

—CARDBOARD 10c & 20c. Success

First United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday night for the marriage of Miss Connie Sue Speck to Edwin William (Bill) Brumfield, Jr., of Big Spring. The Rev. Roy Shilling Sr. of Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Speck, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brumfield, Sr. of Odessa.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Phil Olson, organist; Miss Patty Olson, pianist; and Mr. Bryan Mahon of San Angelo, soloist.

Miss Barbara Ann Speck served her sister as maid of honor. Misses Elda Cruce of Tahoka and Nancy Lux served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of yellow silk organza over yellow satin which featured a fitted bodice, gathered skirt, and puffed sleeves. Champagne lace insertion with yellow ribbon accented the sleeves and midriff.

Bouquets of yellow roses around a wifit cup were carried.

Mr. Paul Rawlings of San Angelo served as best man with Mr. Larry Brumfield of Odessa, the groom's brother, and Mr. Walter Speck of San Angelo, the bride's brother, serving as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Mr. Lee Ray and Mr. Alan Kelley both of San Angelo, and Mr. David Rawlings of Water Valley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of champagne silk organza over delustered satin. Hand sewn, imported, re-embroidered alencon lace appliques and seed pearls accented the neckline, princess-line bodice, and bell sleeves, and created a wide border on the skirt that extended into a rounded court train. She wore a cameo lavalier of her maternal grandmother. The dress was designed by the bride and made by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white roses and yellow baby's breath.

The reception was held in the Schleicher County Memorial Building immediately following the ceremony. vated or unplanted. Trouble often plows our hearts open with suffering. Affliction often makes us more open and receptive to the influences of God's Spirit. We must purposefully prepare our hearts for God's Word. We must repent of our sin. We must be sorry for the good we have failed to do and the wrong we have done. We must repent of our frequent moral dullness that makes us unaware and unresponsive to the human need about us.

If we do seek the Lord we have the promise that we shall find Him. "For it is time to seek the Lord, that he may come and rain salvation upon you." There are many desirable things in the world, But the Christian knows that salvation is the most desirable of all.

Watch For "Lepto" In Dogs

Although most dog owners are aware of the necessity for having their animals protected against distemper, hepatitis and rabies by proper vaccination, many are unaware of another common disease of dogs and other animals—leptospirosis.

"Lepto," as it is frequently called, is caused by a spirochete bacteria which tends to localize in the kidneys. Canine "lepto" is spread to other animals and man by way of the urine from infected dogs. "Lepto" is generally more common in male dogs. Rats may carry the organism which can also infect dogs.

The disease in dogs may range from mild or inapparent to severe, with fatal outcome after a sickness of several days. The disease is apparently responsible for the majority of cases of chronic kidney disease in dogs which commonly causes death.

Although medical authorities receive reports of only small numbers of confirmed human infections, more cases likely occur. The close contact between dogs and humans, especially children, increases the risk of exposure. Symptoms in humans may mimic influenza or other conditions and therefore go unrecognized.

We advise dog owners to take their animals to a veterinarian for examination when they become ill and to routinely have the dogs vaccinated against leptospirosis.

Booster inoculations are recommended on an annual basis or more often if exposure is high. Antibiotic treatment can eliminate the infection from dogs recovering from the disease.

It is suggested you contact your local veterinarian for more information on "lepto" in dogs.

Plan For Summer And Fall Color

Why not add zest to the color of your summer and fall landscape by selecting plants now? Numerous plants provide color through the summer heat and up until frost.

Zinnias and marigolds are two hot weather plants often taken for granted. These versatile annuals come in a large range of colors and a variety of sizes. Thus they can create desired effects in the landscape.

As a whole, both zinnias and marigolds are readily available and convenient. The dwarf sizes are suitable for borders and ground covers while the giant ones are used for mass planting and cutting for arrangements. Sometimes bedding size plants are hard to get from nurseries during the summer, but there is still plenty of time to start these from seeds.

Two heat-tolerant shrubs are Plumbago and Chinese Hibiscus. Both will thrive even in the hottest Texas sun. In southern parts of the state they are normally root hardy and sometimes are even evergreen. However, both should be treated as annuals in central and northern areas since they may be killed by subfreezing weather.

Numerous other plants are snowy and colorful in late summer and fall. These include the familiar portulack, shrimp plant, copper plant, sultana, petas and selvia. Available in a wide variety of colors and sizes, the sultana thrives in the shade and is readily propagated from cuttings or seed.

Soil Survey Can Provide Some Of The Answers

Knowing what kind of soil with which to work is of first importance to all manner of urban or rural planning.

Clarence Wildenfeld, Soil Scientist, San Angelo, is well under way toward mapping the soils of Schleicher county. By mapping we mean determining the suitability of the land. It's important to know what kind of soil you have whether it's for building construction, water needs, farming or ranching. This information can be obtained at the local Soil Conservation Service office.

In addition to farmers and ranchers—for whose guidance soil mapping was originally developed—town officials, planners, and homeowners find that they can benefit from the use of soil surveys.

The shallowness of bedrock or a high water table is equally as important in selecting a building site, as it is in determining the kind of crops, grass, or trees to grow.

When the soil is mapped, or the soil survey is made of the county it will have information about the kinds of soil that occur in the area, with descriptions of their structure, texture, and other physical characteristics.

It also gives estimates of porosity and penetration rates, natural soil drainage, ponding, flooding, runoff, depth to bedrock and seasonal highwater tables, bearing strength, and shrink potential. These characteristics are then translated into limitation ratings for various land uses such as residential, industrial, commercial, school sites, and developed and undeveloped recreational areas.

In making the maps, the soil scientist walks over the land, studying the soils, vegetation, and other features of the landscape. He identifies the different soils by digging numerous holes and examining the different layers of soil. Using his knowledge about soils behavior, he classifies the different kinds of soils and records their boundaries on an aerial photograph. A separate symbol is used to identify each different kind of soil.

By recording the behavior of the different kinds of soil, we can assemble useful data about each of the soils that is named and classified.

The detailed soil map becomes a blueprint to the one who owns the land. It will help him in making wise decisions among alternative uses of the land.

Soil facts from a soil survey are a source of help we cannot afford to ignore.

"It Is Time To Seek The Lord" (Hosea 10:12)

It is always time to seek the Lord. We should seek him every day. Ideally every Christian should seek him morning and night in prayer and devotion. It is time to seek the Lord in every age. Each generation should seek the Lord. The elderly and middle-aged need his help. The rising youth need to seek and find him. Life should be lived in the attitude of always being ready and willing to seek the Lord.

There are special times when we are to seek the Lord. What is to be done always may never be done unless it is done at stated times. We are to seek the Lord in times of crisis, of emergency, of special personal need. We are to seek the Lord on the Lord's Day in the hour of public worship at the Lord's House. We are to seek the Lord in days of Revival when the Church is called to special preaching services.

In order to seek and find the Lord we need to cultivate habits of spiritual discipline. The laws of cause and effect govern our religious life as all areas of endeavor. "As you sow, so shall ye reap." We are to use the means of grace if we expect to receive God's blessing. "Sow for yourselves righteousness, reap the fruit of steadfast love." This is a figure of agricultural grace. It is only as we sow good seed that we can expect to reap a fruitful harvest. It is only as we sow the practices of prayer, Bible reading, worship, Christian fellowship and service that we can expect to grow in the knowledge and grace of Christ. It is only as we sow the seed of righteousness in our lives that we can reap the fruit of satisfaction. To sow evil and wickedness will only bring loss and misery.

But we need to do more in seeking the Lord. We must prepare our hearts, "break up your fallow ground." The human heart is too often like ground that is unculti-

COFFEE, TEA AND CORNPLASTERS

There aren't many of us left who remember Sixbey's General Store. It was more than a store; it was a gathering place, a news bureau, a bright spot in a boy's summer afternoon.

You would come in from the hot dusty street, and the shaded store was cool. Immediately you encountered a tantalizing blend of scents—apples, licorice, spices and smoked ham. Grown-up conversation enhanced your feeling of excitement as they viewed and reviewed town happenings. You always took a long time to decide between a chocolate or a lemon drop, so that this exciting visit could be prolonged.

Our town has changed since then. For those of us whose memories linger in Sixbey's Store, it hardly seems the same place.

Yet one thing's the same. At the corner of Elm and Main, St. Mark's steeple still points skyward. Man's need for God never changes. And the Church remains constant as it teaches the truths of God's love and presence.
