Editor Says Important Points In Hauptmann Trial Ignored

Cites Issues In The Trial

Money, Handwriting, Falsification Identification Pointed Out

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (AP)—C. Fulton Oursler, magazine editor, expressed the belief today that the questioning of the Lindbergh witness, Millard White, by Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey had disregarded "four important points" brought out at Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial.

Condop's Views

The editor commented that Dr. Condop re-emphasized the four points in a talk with him in Panama.

Oursler is editor of the magazine "Liberty" which published a series of articles by Dr. Condop in which the famed "Jafie" told of his part in the Lindbergh case.

Meanwhile, Governor Hoffman's charge that White was "lying" had brought prosecution officials into action. Replying to the governor's accusation that White, one of the witnesses who placed Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate about the time of the kidnaping, had not told the truth, Anthony M. Hauck, Jr., Hunterdon county prosecutor, charged the governor himself with withholding facts.

C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, joining the fight, said "There is sufficient evidence to warrant perjury proceedings against White. He said that 'failure of the state authorities to act in White's case is a clear violation of the New Jersey criminal statutes.'"

Defendant Takes Hope In his cell in state prison, Hauptmann, convicted of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder and doomed to die the week of March 30, took hope from the latest developments.

Concessions Unit Will Be Open To The Public On Sunday

Open house for the concessions building, second completed and largest of the scenic mountain state park edifices, will be held Sunday, V. J. Eckelkamp, technical service superintendent, said Tuesday.

Next project for the workers, said Eckelkamp, will be the landscaping of the entrance. Instead of carrying the rock work to the fences, as originally planned, the gaps will be filled in with shrubbery.

SCENE FROM 'THE FIRST LEGION'

Cast of "The First Legion," Playgoers League production, which is to be presented at the municipal auditorium here Wednesday night, is composed entirely of men, with Earl McDonald, Nat Burns, William Dorbin, Alsworth Arnold and Robert O. Mayors taking leading parts. Here is a scene from the play.

GOOD SEATS STILL AVAILABLE FOR WEDNESDAY NIGHT PLAY

With only one day remaining until "The First Legion," second offering of the Playgoers League here this season, shows Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the municipal auditorium, plenty of good seats remained unsold.

Prices for the drama, which has brought wide praise from outstanding critics, have been reduced as low as 35 cents (including tax) for any adult seat and 25 cents for students. The reduction was voted by the local league unit in order to make possible a large attendance.

It is likely that half a dozen local actors will be drafted to appear as extras in "The First Legion" when it appears here. It has been the policy of the troupe to employ a small group of extras in other stands.

"Because it is fresh, vigorous, and interesting," and because "it is a drama of steadily mounting intensity," critics in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia have been liberal in their praise of Emmett Lavery's unusual theatrical accomplishment.

Unique in several respects, "The First Legion" requires only a male cast, centers around a group of young Jesuits, and gives vent to the universal theme, the struggle of human faith, according to William Allen White, Emporia, Kan., publisher.

Scout Camp Plans Made 37 Leaders From 10 Towns Here For Program Conference

Largest turn-out for any Buffalo Trail council meeting except the annual convention was recorded Monday evening when area committee members convened here to plan programs and policies.

Thirty-seven scouters from ten towns were in attendance. Charles Paxton, Sweetwater, council president, presided over the meeting and commented on the spirit being manifested toward scouting over the council.

For the first time since 1933 scouts of the council will go to Barksdale to camp this summer. Since they abandoned the Edwards county campsite on the Nueces river nearly three years ago in favor of Camp Louis Farr near Mertzon, there has been an agitation to return to Barksdale. Two developments, a resolution adopted by

Clyde Thomas Urges Support Of Move In Talk Before Rotary

Clyde E. Thomas, local attorney, and chairman of the educational committee of the Big Spring chamber of commerce, was guest speaker at the Rotary club Tuesday at its noon-day luncheon. James A. Davis was program chairman for the day. Thomas explained the local movement to secure a junior college for this area. He was very enthusiastic in his statements as to the need and advantages of such an institution for this section of the state, saying that without the full cooperation of the people in the city and county the movement could not be successful.

William B. Tate, of the insurance firm of Tate & Bristol, was introduced as a new member.

Clint Lackey of Midland and Hayse Stripling and Clyde E. Thomas of Big Spring were guests for the day.

Second Army Man Brought Into Debates

Ouster Of Hagood Results In Storm Of Criticism In Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—The charge that Major General Frank Bolles, commander of the Seventh Corps area at Omaha, Neb., was "actively engaging" in politics was heard today in a senate debate on the suspension of Major General Johnson Hagood as Eighth Corps area commander.

Senator Hastings of Delaware termed the relieving of Hagood his command as an "illustration of terrorism in government," when Senator Robinson hurled the charges about Bolles.

Political Incident? Yesterday's presidential order removing Hagood, an aftermath of his recent criticism of WPA funds as "stage money" brought immediate repercussions in congress.

Although the war department gave no reason for its unusual order, sending the army's third ranking senior general officer home to await further instructions, members of congress and other ascribed his "reprimand" to testimony before a congressional sub-committee that "you can pass it (WPA money) around, but you can not get anything out of it."

An early rush of republican criticism threatened to make a political incident of Hagood's removal. More than one house democrat also came forward either in defense of the general, or direct criticism of the action.

Blanton Asserted Asserting he would "fight to a finish" against the war department for its "punishment of Hagood, Representative Blanton (D-Tex.) declared that Secretary Dern, Assistant Secretary Harry H. Woodring and General Malin Craig, chief of staff, themselves should "be impeached and removed from office."

Officials here declined repeatedly to discuss the original source of the order that Hagood be sent home. Army officers did say that the phrase "by direction of the president" usually was routine in military orders.

No immediate comment was forthcoming, from either the White House or interior department.

General Craig, chief of staff, described the order as routine administrative procedure and declined any comment on its implications.

MONEY TO SCHOOLS 21 Districts Get $3 Payment From State

Twenty-one common school districts of Howard county Tuesday shared in a $3 scholastic apportionment payment from the state.

The payment, which brought the total on the current apportionment to $8 or almost half the total for the entire year, amounted to $3,999.20.

Each district received $255 per scholastic, 35 cents of the payment going to the county administration fund, satisfying its requirements for this year.

Liquor Vote May Be Light Only 25 Absentee Ballots Cast As Deadline Draws Near

Absentee voting, usually considered a barometer of interest in elections of consequence, Tuesday foretold a light vote Saturday when the Howard county electorate marched to the polls to decide on the "wet" and "dry" issue.

At noon Tuesday, with six hours left for casting pre-election ballots, only 25 absentee votes had been filed with the county clerk. Election judges, ready for the first of many counting jobs to be done here this year, were calling for their election supplies Tuesday at the courthouse. The county tax-collector-assessor's office announced it would have poll lists of every box in the county prepared for use in the Saturday vote.

Political observers, first confident that the dry forces would win easily, began to foresee a closely contested affair Saturday. They pointed out that the dry campaign has not been as active as expected and that the wet forces have been carrying on a quiet but steady fight to legalize the sale of all liquors. Appearance of a circular by the "Good Government Club" here during the week-end marked the first direct appeal made by the wet bloc. The circular stressed the revenue to come from the sale of liquor, that it would go to old age pension and school support, that a dry vote would give rise to bootlegging. Drys hooted the arguments and charged the circular was financed by liquor interests.

C-C Starts Member Drive Tomorrow

Workers Planning To Make Campaign A Brief One

Under the direction of Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the membership committee, a corps of workers will launch the chamber of commerce membership campaign Wednesday morning following a sunrise breakfast at 7 a. m. from the Settles hotel.

With prospect lists prepared and information already in the hands of these prospects, the workers are expected to make short work of the campaign.

Efforts will be intensified on new prospects in an attempt to interest more individuals and firms in the chamber's program of activity for the year.

The drive has been delayed on several occasions due to a prevalence of illness and leaders are anxious to see it pushed to completion.

ITALIANS KILLED Ethiopia Claims Two More Victories In North

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 25. (AP)—A government communique today announced 668 Italians were killed in two Ethiopian victories on the northern front. Ethiopia also claimed its troops invaded an Italian Eritrean colony on Feb. 19, destroying an Italian base.

Losses in the forces of Ras Inru in the first action of his "flying columns" in the northern sector were announced as 50 killed and 101 wounded.

Quota 43,488 Barrels Over Feb. Figures

Virtually Every Field's Request For Higher Output Is Granted

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission today increased oil production in Texas fields to 1,110,480 barrels, effective March 1.

The new figure was 43,488 barrels more than the Feb. 1 allowable of 1,066,992 barrels.

Virtually every request for increased allowable filed at the recent statewide prorating hearing of the commission was granted.

Percentage Basis East Texas production was continued at 2.85 per cent of the average hourly potential, estimated to permit a flow of 430,942 barrels March 1, compared with 435,038 on Feb. 17. The allowable for next month represented a net increase of approximately 12,480 barrels from permitted production as of Feb. 17.

The allowable by districts included West Texas: 147,965, an increase of 13,647 barrels over the February quota.

Demand Higher Allowables by counties and fields was not immediately available. Increase in the quotas was believed to be largely because of an estimated increase in the market demand for Texas oil, placed by the U. S. bureau of mines at 35,700 barrels for March.

Higher allowables had been asked, at the recent hearing, for the South Ward pool, the Cowden and McClintic pools in Ector county and the Furman pool in Andrews. A restoration of former quotas was asked for the North Ward pool.

STUDENT NURSES IN HOSPITAL HELPFUL

Four girls from the diversified occupations class of the high school, who have been working in the Big Spring hospital, proved valuable assets during the rush conditions of the last week, according to Mrs. Olive Riley, superintendent of nurses.

Early in September the girls decided to become nurses and were enrolled in the hospital as "nurse's aides." Two of the four girls work in the morning and the others are on duty in the afternoon. The girls are Cleo Lane, Inez Bynam, Lavel Carriager and Earnestine Daniels.

APPEAL IS FILED Mrs. Vanderbilt Asks Custody Of Daughter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt today appealed to the supreme court to give her sole custody of her daughter, Gloria, 12.

She appealed the decision of the appellate division of the New York supreme court giving principal custody of the child to Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the child's paternal aunt.

The appeal laid the basis for a new chapter in the long court battle over custody of Gloria. Mrs. Whitney sought and obtained principal custody of the girl in a suit in the lower courts, and this decision was sustained by the appellate tribunal.

The present is for the county's first Leap Year Day baby of this year. However, names of all residents who are Leap Year "babies" are requested. If you know someone who does have that special birthday, The Herald would like to be notified.

Survival Of Democrat Landslide Brought Him To Fore

This is the second in a series of six daily articles discussing the backgrounds of possible presidential nomination.

By KIRKE SIMPSON WASHINGTON, (AP)—Even before the Roosevelt administration was well settled in Washington, Arthur H. Vandenberg was being twitted about presidential nomination aspirations.

Whoever may be considered first choice today for republican honors, the Michigan senator has this distinction: he was first in the field. His survival of the 1934 Roosevelt landslide helped place him there.

Senator Vandenberg smilingly waved aside those suggestions by colleagues that he might like to be a candidate.

A varied political experience, founded on a newspaper career that included service in congressional press galleries, taught him long ago the danger of premature presidential boasts. They invite concerted opposition from other under-cover aspirants.

Geographically "right" The Michigan senator carried on, however, with a nicely adjusted liberal-conservative or conservative-liberal attitude toward the GEORGE BROWN is anxious that enough uniforms be secured to outfit all boys reporting for the Devil football team. Ben Daniels, coach of the junior team, had an unusually large turnout yesterday—fifty-two. Only a few of that number could be suited out. Many of the other boys will lose interest because they have no equipment. Good football prospects are lost that way. Both Brown and Daniels believe it would pay to secure enough equipment for all boys who report. Brown is very interested in Ben's Devil team, because those kids will make Steers some day.

HUTTO IS STAR FOR REFINERS

FORT WORTH, Feb. 24. (Sp1)—In a hard-fought and splendidly played game here Monday night, the Junior Chamber of Commerce basketball team defeated the Couden Oilers of Big Spring, 32 to 31.

The Jaycees took an early lead and held it down to the wire but never at any time were the Oilers out of the running. At the half the score was 17 to 15 with the margin favoring the home five.

Tommy Hutto, with 13 points, was the leading scorer for the Coudenites, and played a fine game throughout. His total, however, was matched by Benny Clark, former Baylor star and Jaycee forward.

King Edward Maintains Royal Racing Stables

LONDON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Gratification is expressed in racing circles at the announcement King Edward VIII intends to maintain the royal racing stables and the Sandringham stud.

During the coming season the king's horses will be leased to Lord Derby and run under his colors. Next year they will be run in the king's name and colors.

Lord Derby, in a statement said: "The king confirmed an arrangement previously made to between General Tomkinson and myself whereby I lease the late king's horses now in the possession of his present majesty. The procedure that will be adopted is precisely the same as when I leased his late majesty's horses when he succeeded King Edward. They will remain at Edgerton Lodge under Jarvis, they will be managed by Brigadier-General Tomkinson, they will be kept entirely apart from my own stable and will run quite separately."

Lord Derby added that the king gave him permission to state he had every intention of continuing the royal connection with the turf both as regards his racing stable and as regards the stud. "Both will be subject to such alterations as his majesty, after consideration, find necessary and advisable, but the connection which has lasted now through so many generations in the royal family will be effectively maintained."

The late King George had only a comparatively few successes with his racers but exercised considerable influence in the breeding side through his interest. There are 21 of the king's horses in training at Egerton House, Newmarket, and a collection of valuable brood mares at the royal stud, Sandringham.

Golf Analyzed

Everything was fine and dandy until the official timers glanced at their watches. Looks of amazement spread over their features. Sheepishly, they announced their readings. Six minutes 23 and one-tenth seconds! The fastest mile ever walked by an individual.

Clemman's time not only shattered the indoor record, but surpassed, as well, the world outdoor mark. The best previous indoor track figure, 6:27.2, was made by Michael Pecora, in 1932. George Goulding set the cinder track standard of 6:25.8 away back in 1910.

It was one thing for Clemman to better Pecora's mark... Mike was no superman, but when the Canadian had the audacity to beat the mark set by Goulding, who long has stood for high-level perfection in the art of walking, it was high time the legality of Clemman's time should be questioned.

No doubt was cast on Clemman's walking style during the race, so it was too late to bring up that point. He had won fairly enough and the timers agreed on the time elapsed.

Just when it appeared that Goulding's long lasting record was about to be erased one of the officials triumphantly announced an important discovery. When Clemman left the starting mark no crack of the starter's pistol sent him after the handicap field—only the signal "go" from the handicapper. That technically was sufficient reason for disallowing the record. So Clemman's splendid effort was wasted as far as the record books are concerned. And George Goulding's mark still remains the record for the heel-and-toe athletes to shoot at.

Equipment Issued For Spring Work

32 Report For Steers, 52 For Devil Squad

Eighty-four high school boys, all anxious to take part in spring football practice, reported yesterday afternoon for the Steers and junior Devil team.

Only 32 of the number were Steer candidates. They were all issued equipment and beginning today will report to Coaches Brown and Moffett each afternoon for a two-hour workout in Washington place. Spring training is slated to last for at least two months.

Head Coach Brown announced yesterday that the rest of the week will be spent in conditioning work with a little time on fundamentals. "After a week or so we should be able to tell when the prospects will be," Brown said. Six lettermen will form a nucleus for the '36 squad.

Coach Ben Daniels failed to locate enough equipment to outfit all candidates for the Devil team, but will conduct daily workouts the same as the Steers.

CLEMAN LOSES 'WALKING' MARK

(By The Associated Press) The crowd attending the Millrose A. A. track meet in Madison Square Garden was lulled into gentle slumber by the band playing the "Music Goes 'Round and Around" while the walkers on the track were going 'round and 'round, too. Hack Clemman, the great Canadian heel and toe champion, had conceded handicaps up to 30 seconds to the field and was busily engaged in overtaking man after man.

A lap and a half from the finish the Maple Leaf ace had passed eleven of the dozen men who started ahead of him. Only Irving Horowitz of the 92nd Street Y. M. H. A., a limit man with a 30-second allotment, remained in front. Clemman piled on the pace, faster and faster. With a terrific burst of speed he nipped the tiring Horowitz at the tape while the crowd, aroused by Clemman's exhibition, roared its approval.

Chicago Turns Very 'Choosy'

Illinois And Michigan Now Head The List, Met-calfc States

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (AP)—Along with a new plan of education at the University of Chicago, they've instituted a new policy of athletics.

Among other things T. N. Metcalfe, director of athletics, has listed preferred Big Ten rivals of Chicago, Illinois and Michigan head the list.

Next to the Illinois and the Wolverines, Ohio State and Wisconsin are given the preference in football, followed by T. N. Metcalfe, followed by Minnesota and Purdue, with Iowa, Northwestern and Indiana trailing the list.

Just why the Big Ten was so classified is not explained, but here are other recommendations of Metcalfe which the university board on coordination of student interests approves:

Scheduling of games only with rivals of equal strength or similar scholastic standards.

Participation of students in intercollegiate athletics should be considered worth while.

Opportunity to compete in intercollegiate sports should be considered a privilege granted students by the university, and not a service to be rendered.

No pressure should be put on a boy to play on a team.

No squads should be cut, and equal attention should be given by coaches to each candidate.

No individual star should be ballooned to augment gate receipts.

Schedules for all sports should be kept relatively light.

BEARS, FROGS PLAY TONIGHT

WACO, Feb. 25.—Coach Ralph Wolf and his Baylor Bears left the campus this morning for Fort Worth where they tangle with the Texas Christian Horned Frogs tonight. It is the last conference game of the 1936 season for the Bears and the Wolfmen are expected to annex the contest to their win sheet, making six wins and six losses for the season. Slim Alford, ace forward for the Bears, will finish a brilliant career in the Baylor court togs tonight against the Toads.

The Grizzlies went through a light tuning up drill Monday afternoon in preparation for their invasion of the T. C. U. gymnasium. The Bears' offense was clicking nicely with the Alford brothers, Hugh Wilfong, regular guard and one of the most dependable defensive performers in the circuit, and John Williams, reserve guard, will be playing alongside Alford in their last taste of Southwest conference competition.

Captain Alford is one of the most widely known courtmen in this section of the country. He is the second member of the Alford clan to don the Bruin cage togs with unusual success, and a third brother of the famous family, Kyle, is now a sophomore at Baylor and a starting forward for the Bruin outfit.

A win tonight for the Bruins would give them an even break on the league standing, and would insure a remarkable comeback for the Wolfmen after three consecutive losses at the start of the season. The Bears subjected the Methodists twice last week, 30-28, and 30-27.

Osborn, who now is a student at the Philadelphia college of osteopathy, won the Olympic title and set a new record for the international games with a leap of just that height, 6 feet 6 inches.

BROWN ENTERS WINK TOURNEY

Regional Meet Scheduled At Alpine This Week-End

BROWN, Feb. 25. (Sp1)—Brown, winner of the District 31 basketball tournament at Wink last week, will be one of four teams in the regional tournament at Alpine this week-end. Brown beat Midland in the final of the district meet.

The Brown team will work out in the Moore high school gym Wednesday afternoon and at the gym at Klondike (Dawson county) Thursday.

Pairings for the regional tournament will be made today.

Phil Another Gene Tunney?

Brubaker Has No Love For Boxing, Fighting Only For The Money

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (AP)—Enthusiastic managers of promising young fighters have always been quick to label their proteges "another Dempsey," "another Corbett," "another Benny Leonard," and so on. But by some strange oversight Gene Tunney, the retired undefeated heavyweight champion, has seldom, if ever, been so honored. Now that is all changed.

California fight fans have been calling Phil Brubaker, their very own entry in the "White Hope" stakes, "another Gene Tunney."

Their claim is not without some foundation for the Dinuba Dynamo is a real student of the boxing game. Like Tunney, he has no great love for the business of smailing his fellow man for pay and openly admits that he is working at his chosen trade only because it offers him a means of acquiring a fair share of the coin of the realm within the next few years.

Punches Too Hard The comparison goes beyond that point. Brubaker is, like Gene, a scientific boxer. He packs quite a punch, too. As a matter of fact, he punches too hard for his own good. Bad hands have handicapped his progress in the past, but that seemed to have been pretty well remedied since Phil has gained more knowledge in the art of landing a blow. He has been knocked down on one or two occasions but that only served to answer the question that sooner or later comes every young fighter—can he get off the floor and go on to win? Brubaker proved that he could do that.

The California "hope" scales around 200 at present and is likely to grow a bit since he has just passed the voting age. For a chap who doesn't really care for the ring game he donned the gloves at an early age. He has been boxing since he was a lanky kid of 16, then a sophomore in high school. In his first professional fight, Brubaker met Bert Collins, when Bert was pretty well past his peak. Since then he has beaten a flock of fighters named "Joe." His best showing perhaps, was his one-round knockout over Fred Lenhart. He beat Levinsky in his last start and with the experience gained in winning the decision over the Kingfish, Brubaker is ready to step out after bigger game. In fact he has his heart set on a match with Primo Carnera as a stepping stone to bigger things.

"Amateurs' Too Tough A little thing like a beating at the hands of a rising youngster means nothing to King Levinsky... he has been beaten by some of the best men in the business, including Max Baer and Joe Louis. The Kingfish is mighty tolerant and wants to see the youngsters get ahead—the more ambitious youngsters, the more fights for Levinsky in his role of trial horse.

Speaking of youngsters always inspires Gene Kingfish to relate some experience of his own young and more foolish days. He recently admitted that the amateur boxing game lost his services when it couldn't meet the purses offered by the professional promoters.

"Why should I fight for $3 a night as an amateur when I could get $10 as a pro?" asked the Kingfish. "They raised me to $5 when I hollered. But the amateurs were too tough, anyway. I had 17 fights

British Golf On The Skid

Severe Case Of Doldrums Clutches Critics In England

LONDON, Feb. 25. (AP)—A severe case of the doldrums clutches the critics in England, in their forecast of British golf prospects after the 1935 pounding by American Siege guns.

It leaves them sour and saddened. "The amateur game is still under the domination of America," comments one commentator, "and the revival of British supremacy so gallantly started by Henry Cotton in 1934 has not been maintained."

Don't ask, "What supremacy?" It simply isn't done. The record reads:

Caddish To Comment And judging from that roll call, with Uncle Sam answering "Present!" for 10 straight years, it may seem that any British supremacy belongs a long time ago.

But the subject is painful, over here, and when anyone mentions it there is only one comment: "By God, sir, the man is a caddie—he ought to be drummed out of his club!"

Men have been drummed out of their clubs for far less. You see them in Punjab, Pago Pago and in pith helmets and knee-panties, very bony—outcasts, cut dead by any Englishman worth his salt.

Actually, Cotton's "revival of supremacy" feat in winning the 1934 British open title was reported by his dark-horse compatriot, Alfred Perry, in 1933.

But the British amateur championship had already fallen under the shooting irons of Lawson Little, and it remained for the Ryder Cup team—almost blasted off by his cohorts at Ridgefield, N. J., to make the Merris Isles ring with woe.

It's All Very Gloomy Gloom cracked down over the land. British chroniclers of the golfing wars took some cheer from the claim that the absence of Cotton from the Ryder Cup team, enforced by his residence on the continent, handicapped the British invaders.

And apparently going hard on the slogan that "Britons never shall be slaves," they wound up by exulting that "Perry's open championship success, in a field which included several leading American golfers, proved that we have the material capable of restoring England to her original leading place in the world of golf."

But in the face of the chill facts of 1935, they heavily admit, there's still a long, long trail a-winding...

Approval Is Given The Saliva Test

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Government authorities regard the three steps taken recently by the National Association of Racing Commissioners as the greatest advance ever made toward curbing the doping of race horses.

At their January meeting the national association agreed to refuse licenses to anyone convicted of a narcotic offense, to give the saliva test to every race winner and to further research work.

"The successful operation of these new rules will be the greatest step ever taken toward handling the doping problem," one treasury department official said. The bureau of narcotics is under the treasury.

The saliva test was used last year but in most cases the horses tested were drawn by lot. Two states took samples of every winner and then drew one to be tested.

The refusal to again license those convicted lessens the government's as an amateur and lost every one. Why should I get my brains beat out for $5 when I could get $10 or $15 for the same thing as a pro. I asked myself."

TIGER TRACK HOPES TAKE A NOSE DIVE

Louisiana State Thinly Clads Rate Far Down Line

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 25. (AP)—After lording it over other Southeastern conference members for years in track and field sports, Louisiana State University is moodily trying to adjust itself to prospects of a 1936 team that may not rise above mediocrity.

Under Bernie Moore's guidance, the L. S. U. harriers and field men won the Southeastern title repeatedly. It came to be accepted as a matter of course. In 1933 they took the national collegiate crown.

The Stars Are Gone Past Tiger teams have included such luminaries as Jack Torrance, 300-pound world-record shotputter; Glenn (Slats) Hardin, Olympic hurdler and middle-distance star, and Nathan (Buddy) Blain, javelin artist. These famed performers are gone now.

So are Ted O'Neal, half-mile; John Sanders, two-mile, and E. A. Black, understudy to Hardin in the 440.

Moore and Assistant Coach William B. (Ba) Gourrier can't find any glasses sufficiently rose-colored to discern another conference title.

Gourrier recalls that when L. S. U. won the conference championship last year with 87 points, 24 were scored by Hardin, Blair, O'Neal, Sanders and Black.

"Those 24 points subtracted from 87 leave 63, and 63 points may not be enough to win the Southeastern championship this year," he says.

Gourrier sees Tennessee and Alabama as the outstanding Southeastern contenders.

One First-Place Winner Louisiana State will have a bunch of veterans and some promising sophomores, but only one last year's first-place winner, Hines Kent, jumper, is back.

"Although L. S. U. will have a good field team, it will be noticeably weak on the track," Gourrier predicts. "The main problem will be to find a quarter-mile and low hurdler to replace Hardin and a distance man to fill the shoes of John Sanders."

Louisiana State will enter the Southeastern relays, the Southern A. A. U., and probably the Drake relays, the Texas and Penn games and the Olympic trials.

T. P. Heard, athletic director, is trying to bring the preliminary Olympic trials to Baton Rouge.

Sport Events Cancelled Because Of Blizzards

AMES, Iowa, Feb. 25. (AP)—Recent blizzards have caused Iowa State athletes to twiddle their thumbs on at least two occasions and have resulted in definite cancellation of one intercollegiate sporting event.

Midwestern drifts that made all kinds of travel impossible led to postponement of a Big Six basketball game between the University of Missouri and Iowa State at Columbia, Mo. As a result the game was tentatively set ahead to March 4.

At the same time a dual swimming meet with the University of Minnesota, here, was cancelled when the Gopher tanksters were unable to make any progress through the snow from Lincoln Neb., where they were marooned after competing against the University of Nebraska.

The Purdue basketball squad has shown little mercy in ending the winning streaks of previously undefeated teams so far this year. During the pre-conference season Western State, DePaul and Notre Dame received their first setbacks at the hands of the Boiler-makers, who opened their Big Ten campaign with a win over Ohio State, first defeat suffered by the Buckeyes.

Mrs. Fred Cusick and son, Harold of Pitcher, Okla., spent Monday in Big Spring visiting Mrs. Louis N. Million. Mrs. Cusick is en route to El Paso to visit Mrs. C. E. Givens.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 25. (UP)—Sixty-seven of the nation's leading links experts have received invitations to compete in the third annual Augusta Masters' at the Augusta National Golf club April 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Headlining the crack field will be Bobby Jones, retired now, but who, once each year, takes Calanthy Jane off the shelf and returns to action long enough to play in the Masters'.

Jones, whose Grand Slam stands unequalled in golfing annals, has finished well down the lists in both previous Masters' tournaments, but this year has been out on the scene earlier than usual, trying to regain the magic touch that rocketed him to international fame.

However, he will be competing in fast company. Invitations have been sent to present and past titleholders of American and British Amateurs and American and British Opens. Besides, winners of virtually every other important tournament have been asked to enter the Masters'.

Former winners of the Augusta Masters' who will attempt to repeat are Horton Smith, who won in 1934 with a 284, and Gene Sarazen, whose 282 brought him the title last year after a play-off with Craig Wood.

Hyperion Tea Is To Be Held Next Friday

Date Changed to Suit Plans Of Visiting State Officials

The Hyperion club has made a second change in its plans for entertaining the state head of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs and the district president. The date has been moved from Saturday to Friday to suit the convenience of the two visitors, Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville and Mrs. Joseph Perkins of Eastland.

The tea honoring these two will be held Friday afternoon at the Episcopal parish house at 4 o'clock, unless change in plans of the out-of-town guests is announced.

Members of all federated women's clubs in Big Spring and in Sterling City and Stanton have been invited.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Perkins expect to spend the night in Big Spring and go to Midland Saturday morning for a breakfast and to Pecos for a luncheon.

Mrs. Perkins wrote Mrs. E. Reagan of the Hyperion club concerning her visit, stating that they would be guests of the Colorado club for a luncheon Friday and would come from there to Big Spring.

Good Gardening

16. Use Of Ashes

In some types of garden, ashes may be used to good advantage. Coal ashes, although they have little value as fertilizer, will lighten and loosen heavy clay soils and make them more workable. Ashes from oak and hickory frequently contain as much as seven per cent of potash and some lime—matter beneficial generally to asparagus, celery, beets, spinach and sometimes carrots. Not more than 50 pounds of hardwood ashes should be applied to a 30- by 60-foot plot and the ashes should be well mixed with the soil.

Miss Phillips To Head First Baptist W.M.S.

Miss Edna Phillips, sister of Gordon Phillips who is now making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Phillips, was elected president of the First Baptist W. M. S. Monday afternoon at the monthly business meeting of that organization.

The election took place to fill the vacancy occurring when Mrs. John C. Skillern, recently-elected president, resigned. Mrs. Skillern was elected to take the place of Mrs. Libby Layne who moved to Oklahoma in December to live. Mrs. Skillern resigned because of poor health.

Mrs. Tom Cantrell was elected secretary to fill the vacancy created by the departure of Mrs. J. A. Bode from Big Spring.

Mrs. R. C. Hatch presided over the meeting. Much of the time was given to making plans for the coming workers' conference to be held at the First church next Tuesday.

State Heads Entertained By Auxiliary

Thirteen members of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars sat down to a dinner at the Settles hotel Monday night complimenting two state officers who were official guests of the club for the day. The officers were Mrs. Shaw of El Paso and Mrs. Edge of San Antonio, president and secretary-treasurer.

Texas Independence day furnished the theme of the decorations. The table was covered with red, white and blue and a cactus formed the centerpiece. Plate favors were cups filled with mints with a sucker thrust into the mints and holding a Texas flag. Red, white and blue ribbon bows were tied on the cup handles.

The officers were presented with hand-painted bluebonnet plaques made in the shape of the state.

Following the dinner the guests adjourned to the V. F. W. hall for their regular meeting and official lectures of the two visitors.

In addition to the out-of-town visitors, Mrs. Thomas J. Coffey was a guest. Members present were: Mmes. R. E. Blount, Willard Head, John Corcoran, Allen Hull, Bill Perry, L. L. Guley, Frank Powell, J. L. Rush, James A. Recknagel and Miss Ruby Bell.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Edge left for Lubbock, accompanied by Mrs. Rush and Mrs. Corcoran of Big Spring.

Library Wants All Overdue Books At Once

The Public Library has announced that drastic measures will be taken to procure the 60 books overdue at the library which members have in their homes and will not return.

Remission of fines was offered as an inducement during the holidays, hoping that this would get the books back by the first of the year, said Mrs. E. T. Cardwell. Few books were returned.

Mrs. Cardwell believes, she said, that most members were more negligent than willfully dishonest in keeping out books that do not belong to them. She asks again that the books be brought to the library this week. Inasmuch as she has the names of those keeping books, she and the library staff will use other measures to get the books not returned this week, she stated.

At the close of the games the party drove out to a pig stand for refreshments. Favors for the guests were crackerjacks.

Mrs. Sellers was presented with a copper lamp for high score and Miss Secrest with candy for second high. Miss Davis won a pair of silhouette plaques for high cut.

Present were: Mmes. Stanley Davis, Pete Sellers, Loy Acuff, Waldo Green; Misses Agnes Currie, Irene Knaus, Mary Fawn Coulter, Enid Avrett, Nell Davis, Clara Secrest and Gene Dubberly.

Miss Knaus will entertain next.

PREVENT DANGERS OF CONSTIPATION*

"Bulk" in ALL-BRAN Is Gentle in Action

Common constipation is largely due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. You fail to get your normal exercise. Millions of people have found that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies soft "bulk" with satisfactory results.

Tests in nutrition laboratories demonstrate that the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN can be used with the utmost confidence. Naturally, those few individuals with diseased or highly sensitive intestines should not take "bulk" in any form—either in leafy vegetables or in bran.

Unlike cathartics, ALL-BRAN is natural in its action—nor does this food lose its effectiveness with continued use. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and cleanses the intestines, promoting normal and healthful elimination.

Two tablespoonsful of this delicious cereal, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Enjoy it also in cooked dishes.

Help your family keep well. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Plans were made for attending the Grand Lodge which will be held in San Angelo March 15-17. At this convention the Big Spring canton, the baby canton of the state, will be in charge of the decoration of chivalry ceremony and also of a memorial service.

At the decoration of chivalry, the highest honors of Odd Fellowship will be awarded in the form of jeweled pins to six Texas women, among them Mrs. Jones Lamar of Big Spring.

Taking part in the ceremony will be little Miss Lenora Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lloyd of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Baas of Fort Worth, captain and lady of Fort Worth Canton No. 9, were in Big Spring Friday, Saturday and Sunday, giving instructions in the ceremony of the decoration of chivalry.

Because of grand lodge there will be no meeting of the Miriam club in March. The next session will be held on the first Monday evening in April.

Mrs. Guley served refreshments to the following members of the Miriam club and Odd Fellows: Mrs. T. J. A. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mary.

In addition to these, the following were also present: Mmes. R. V. Hart, H. H. Squires, B. F. Robbins, Roy V. Jones, B. Reagan, R. E. Day, C. S. Holmes, J. C. Boykin, F. G. Gary, Viola Bowles, W. M. Gage, and K. S. Beckett.

CANDIDATES MINUS PLATFORMS

Political writers from the state capital mention the names of nine persons as actual or prospective candidates for the governor's office this year. There is, of course, doubt that so many will qualify finally to get their names on the tickets for the July primary, but many of the group already are making announcements, issuing statements and delivering addresses.

And about the only result of all this, the Paris News points out, is that the multiplicity of candidates will confuse the people and make the casting of a serious ballot more difficult.

Things can change swiftly in politics, but at the present, few of the early candidates have offered any campaign plank of importance to support their bid for office. Most of those who have announced have come forth with more or less revolutionary appeals that attract attention of a particular class of people, but are not of sufficient scope to be of interest to the whole electorate.

The one candidate, an East Texan, who has been most in the limelight has limited his campaign largely to attacking Governor Allred because the governor failed to call a special session of the legislature to provide for payment of pensions under the state's old-age assistance act. This seems to be a minor issue. Allred's position has been that revenue standings and pension requirements should be determined before final action is taken; the East Texas candidate wants to pass tax measures immediately.

Campaign material of other candidates appears to be as unimportant. Some of the promises sound good; but a catch is that even if the people did approve of one of these candidates with special promises, nothing could be accomplished because the things they propose would have to be done by the legislature and there will not be elected enough legislators with the same view to put the promises into effect.

Pension payments are developing as a campaign issue; but if the present old-age assistance commission works satisfactorily—and it is entitled to a fair trial—that subject will amount to little. The matter of taxation looms large, and several special tax proposals are being offered. The taxation question is one primarily for the legislature, however, and the attractive-sounding plans being offered by gubernatorial aspirants must in the long run be discounted.

Otherwise, seekers after the governor's chair so far have offered little of vital concern to the voters. One is moved to wonder on what basis many of the candidates expect to win an appreciable following.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—In New York, and elsewhere I guess, thousands of eminently successful business men feel cheated because their lives aren't in some way connected with the theatre.

They fail to realize that the aura of glamor is radiated only by the select few, that there are hundreds and thousands of starvelings for every one of the really important stars. Even today, when the theatre is enjoying its most lucrative season in years, you can count its important people on your fingers. Helen Hayes, Osgood Perkins, Ina Claire—there are a few others, of course, but only a few.

Anyway, there is a surgeon to whom the sun rises and sets through the stage door. He enjoys a fat practice, has plenty of money, a lovely wife, a fine home and all the cultural things that go to make life worth living.

But he isn't happy. "I want to get in it—in show business, and wade in it and get my hands deep into it. I want to be of it, think of it, reek of it!"

"What?" I ejaculated, persuaded that this was just a fancy—"you with the drama that daily is a part of your life—you who help make sick and torn bodies happy, healthy beings—you who move through a world of idolatry such as only laymen can create for their heroes. Harry, you don't mean it."

"I see your point," he replied, "but there's something I've never told you. All my life I've wanted to compose. They say there's one good song in every man, and I want the world to hear mine. For years in leisure moments I've slaved in secret, and now my attic is a warehouse of original manuscripts—waltzes, fox trots, sonatas, symphonies—yes, even hymns. I tell you, I would barter my birthright for one year of life as a successful composer!"

In the southern city where this man lives he is associated with five hospitals. They say within five years he will become chief of staff at one of the finest. I have known him and seen him in these surroundings, as much a star in his field as Helen Hayes in hers. Once, after an explosion, we raced, he and I, to a great hospital and arrived just as ambulances filled with screaming wretches roared into the yard. This was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, but it was morning before he paused.

As his guest, I was privileged to stand at his side and witness the night-long ministrations. One after another they passed under his hands.

I don't know how many lives he saved that night—I remember only the overwhelming sense of awe and reverence as he performed those casual miracles of patching lives together again.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — There was a long undercover scrap behind the "kick in the pants" with which Representative John O'Connor threatened Father Coughlin. It involved two committees of the house.

Last spring the house agriculture committee reported favorably the Frazier-Lemke bill for refinancing $2,000,000,000 of farm mortgages through greenbacks. This is one of the chief legislative proposals advocated by the Detroit priest.

But administration leaders promptly shunted the bill to the house rules committee, headed by O'Connor.

Ordinarily, a bill endorsed by so important a body as the agriculture committee is quickly given the right of way for floor consideration. But O'Connor and the other administration leaders are determinedly opposed to Frazier-Lemke inflation. So, despite much heat and clamor, the bill has languished ever since in a rules committee pigeon-hole.

O'Connor was hotly denounced for suppressing the measure, hit back with a counter charge impugning the sincerity of the agriculture committee's action.

Back-Passing
He claims that the committee was merely "passing a hot potato" to his group, and that Chairman Marvin Jones and the other democratic members of the agriculture committee privately intimated to him that they wanted no action on the bill.

O'Connor's accusation of "back passing" is given considerable color by the wide variance of accounts within the agriculture committee of its vote on the embattled Frazier-Lemke bill.

Its backers claim that the count for a favorable report was 18, to 5. This was stated over the air by Coughlin. Foes of the bill contend the tally was 12 to 12. A record of the proceedings shows eight committee members absent, 15 voting for and five against.

Hurja Politics
Emil Hurja, chief political aid to Jim Farley, called up an official of the securities-exchange commission the other day and suggested that the SEC not be too exacting about the stock registration of a certain large watch company.

"The company," explained Emil, "operates some radio stations and they are for Roosevelt's re-election."

Incurable
On the last day of the senate munitions committee hearings, two gun dealers stepped outside the committee room and held a private conversation in the hall.

One was J. Cunell de Figueroa, Spanish-born American, who has supplied guns and ammunition for many a revolution. The other was Jacob Paley, who had turned from the millinery trade to salvaging machine guns junked by the U. S. Army.

Each had listened to the other's testimony, each had been castigated by the committee for unscrupulous trade in lethal weapons.

Outside the door, Paley button-holed Figueroa. "Say, do you want to make a deal?"

"Sure, what is it?" said Figueroa.

"I've got some machine guns I think you could use."

"All right, I'll come up and see you some time."

Left Attack
Governor Alf Landon of Kansas has hit upon the scheme of attacking the new deal from the left as well as from the right.

He has hired a prominent newspaperman of radical leanings to direct his campaign on the left front.

The Monroe doctrine is dead. Probably no one in the state department would admit this, but it is the report quietly being made by Latin American diplomats to their governments.

What they say killed the Monroe doctrine is a provision in the amended neutrality bill recently passed by the house and senate.

The bill specifies that in case of war between a Latin American country and a European enemy, the United States may sell arms to the American country but not to the European.

This, according to Latin American diplomats, presupposes that the United States would permit an American country to invade an American country and, aside from selling arms, would do nothing about it.

The Monroe doctrine generally is interpreted as meaning the opposite. In fact, when it was invoked by President Cleveland against Great Britain and Germany to protect Venezuela, he made it clear that the United States would go to war to uphold the inviolability of the western hemisphere.

Now, according to the implication of the new neutrality bill, we will only sell arms. The Latin American nations will have to do their own fighting.

Government aviation officials are probing a new cause of airplane accidents which might be the result of the mysterious crash in Arkansas recently.

It is the psychological effect on a pilot of years of shooting up and down from high to low altitudes. Medical experts, consulted regarding this, maintain that the eventual effect of high altitudes even on a normal person, may result in a state of unbalance nicknamed altitude-phobia.

CONGRESSMEN WIN ENDORSEMENT OF RAIL LABOR GROUP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP) — The railroad labor executives committee has endorsed 10 senators and one representative for reelection.

Committee officials said the labor chiefs had paid no attention to party lines and that further endorsements would be made at a later meeting.

Representative Cresser (D-Ohio) was the representative endorsed. The senators were Capper (R-Kan.), Costigan (D-Col.), Borah (R-Ida.), Couzens (R-Mich.), Hatch (D-N.M.), Lewis (D-Ill.), Neely (D-W.Va.), Norris (R-Neb.), Russell (D-Ga.), and Sheppard (D-Tex.).

The endorsement of Borah and Norris was contingent on their decisions to be candidates.

USCC Points Out Activity Toward Power Projects

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (UP)—The supreme court TVA decision resulted in renewed advocacy of large-scale public power projects so sweeping as to make TVA a "mere working model in comparison," the United States chamber of commerce asserted in a statement.

The chamber pointed to proposals for a Pacific Northwest power authority and a Mississippi Valley authority as indicating "renewed efforts to bring about the further intrusion of the government" into the private power field.

In its periodical business review, the C. of C. pointed out varying views have been expressed as to the immediate legal importance of the TVA decision.

"The supreme court made no pronouncement of national policy," the chamber said, "it merely affirmed the powers of congress to enact certain legislation, itself not passing upon the wisdom or desirability of the legislation."

The national chamber will continue to oppose all measures tending to place the government in competition with private industry, the review stated, "employing every legitimate means for the defeat of pending and prospective legislation of this character."

The chamber contended government competition is not confined to the utility field, pointing out that in recent years there has been "rapid expansion of government activities into many other lines of business."

New State Head Named By W. C.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 25. — Announcement has been made from Woodmen Circle national headquarters here of the appointment of Laura E. Krebs of Austin as state manager for Woodmen Circle in Central and Northwest Texas. The announcement follows the recent death of Etta Davidson, former Woodmen Circle state manager in Texas.

Dora Alexander Talley of Omaha, national president of Woodmen Circle, said in commenting on the appointment that due to the immense business of the divided Texas, the state has been divided into districts and four state managers appointed there. Other state managers are Lena Alexander Shugart of Garland, Northeast Texas; Hazel D. Godlove of Houston, Southeast Texas; and Besse Dolan of Taylor, Southwest Texas.

Mrs. Krebs, a Woodmen Circle district manager since 1925, has jurisdiction over the following counties: Armstrong, Childress, Callahan, Haskell, Mitchell, Scurry, Sterling, Hookley, Howard, Martin, Yoakum, Bailey, Bristol, Carson, Castro, Cochran, Farmer, Randall, Wheeler, Boque, Burnet, Collinsworth, Hutchinson, Shackelford, Stonewall, Deaf Smith, Swisher, Comanche, Somervell, Llano, Lampasas, Mason, McCulloch, San Saba, Coleman, Coryell, Hamilton, Bastrop, Brazos, Burleson, Cottle, Dallam, Donley, Potter, Borden, Dawson, Nolan, Taylor, Crosby, Fisher, Floyd, Garza, Jones, Lynn, Terry, Hood, Brown, Mills, Dickens, Grimes, Milam, Moore, Roberts, Hall, Coke, Kent, Gray, Hale, Lamb, Bell, Falls, Hays, Lee, Lubbock, Fayette, Freestone, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Limestone, Robertson, Lipscomb, McClennan, Motley, Ochiltree, Oldham, Sherman, Travis and Washington.

Keep Body In Condition To Combat Colds, Flu, Health Officer Advises

AUSTIN, Feb. 25.—"Keep your body in good condition," advised Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. "While colds, influenza, and pneumonia are different conditions, all three may be brought on or made worse by lowered bodily resistance, and all three may often be prevented in the same ways, he said.

"When these communicable diseases are prevalent, avoid crowding to party lines and that further endorsements would be made at a later meeting."

"One attack of cold or influenza does not as a rule confer immunity. Individuals have been known to have several attacks during an epidemic. Segregation of the patient is desirable to avoid giving the disease to others."

"If you develop symptoms of cold or influenza," Dr. Brown said, "consult your physician early and follow his instructions."

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

Chapter 14 ABOUT THE BISHOP

"One's right," said the Inspector. "Photograph of his sister, it was the same down and identified him."

"How absurd to say there were three!"

"Oh, that's easy, your ladyship. These newspaper reporters sometimes exaggerate, and sometimes they get the whole thing wrong."

"I know," said Frankie. "I've heard the wildest stories." She paused a moment, then drew freely on her imagination. "I've heard that his pockets were stuffed with papers proving him to be a Bolshevik agent. And there's another story that his pockets were full of dope, and another again about his having pockets full of counterfeit bank notes."

"The Inspector laughed heartily. 'That's a good one.'

"I suppose really he had just the usual things in his pockets?"

"And very few at that. A handkerchief, not marked. Some loose change, a packet of cigarettes and a couple of Treasury notes—loose, not in a case. No letters. We'd have had a job to identify him if it hadn't been for the photo. Providential, you might call it."

"I wonder," said Frankie.

In view of her private knowledge, she considered "providential" a singularly inapposite word. She changed the conversation.

"I want to see Mr. Jones, the Vicar's son, yesterday. The one who's been poisoned. What an extraordinary thing that was!"

"Ah!" said the Inspector. "Now that is extraordinary, if you like. Never heard of anything like it happening before. A nice young gentleman without an enemy in the world, or so you'd say. You know, Lady Frances, there are some queer customers going about. All the same I never heard of a homicidal maniac who acted just this way."

"Is there any clue at all to who did it?" Frankie was all wide-eyed inquiry. "It's so interesting to hear all this," she added.

The Inspector smiled with gratification. He enjoyed this friendly conversation with an Earl's daughter. Nothing stuck up or snobbish about Lady Frances.

"There was a car seen in the vicinity," said the Inspector. "Dark-blue Talbot. A man on Lock's Corner reported dark-blue Talbot No. GG 8282 passed going direction St. Botolph's."

"And you think—"

"GG 8282 is the number of the Bishop of St. Botolph's car," Frankie toyed for a minute or

ADVANCE—NOT RETREAT

WAKING UP!

Two small clouds of promise, about as large as a man's hand, had appeared over the sea at one of Los Angeles suburbs. A winsome young grandmother, whose fine children have been reared proof against alcohol, and whose grandchildren are being reared in the same way, recently saw a light when on the road to Danassus. Although wielding a fluent pen, and having much executive ability, she has long neglected such organizations as the W. T. C. U. and the I. O. G. T.

Recently she was horrified to find that some of the members of her Berean class (young women, both married and single) were serving wine at little parties in their homes. She is now very busy telling this Sunday school class just what the Good Book says about wine and other strong drink, in about a hundred different places. Again, a faithful old wheel horse of one of the churches had occasion to pass through the amusement zone in our town, and was shocked at the gambling and drinking which she saw among some 40 odd saloons and joints, so different from the days when the village was held by local option. She held up her hands in horror and asked a bewildered old fellow of other days just when such things would cease.

"Probably not until your little Johnny has learned to drink and your little Mary has married a gambler, for those fellows are never satisfied with less than a 100 per cent harvest."

Well, this good woman went out and "started something." Now three of the seven pastors of the place have petitioned the city council to clean up. A fourth pastor who might be expected to be with the three, is still snoozing in his easy chair, but it is expected he will wake up before his choir girls get to tipping, and his choir boys get to gambling.—The Redoubter. (Submitted by the local W. C. T. U.)

"How does she know?" said Bobby wildly.

Frankie gave an exasperated sigh. "Somehow or other," she said, "we seem to have started wrong. Now just listen quietly, Bobby, and try and take in what I'm going to say. I know your brains are practically negligible, but you ought to be able to understand if you really concentrate."

She paused, then resumed.

"I am on the trail of Bassington-french."

"Hear, hear!"

"Bassington-french—our particular Bassington-french—lives at Merroway Court at the village of Staverley in Hampshire. Merroway Court belongs to our Bassington-french's brother, and our Bassington-french lives there with the brother and his wife."

"Whose wife?"

"That isn't the point. The point is, how are you or I—or both of us—going to worm ourselves into the household? I've been down and reconnoitered the ground. Staverley's a mere village. Strangers arriving there to stay would stick out a mile. It would be the sort of thing that simply isn't done. So I've evolved a plan. This is what is going to happen. Lady Frances Derwent, driving her car more recklessly than well, crashes into the wall near the gates of Merroway Court. Complete wreckage of car, less complete wreckage of Lady Frances, who is carried to the house suffering from concussion and shock and must emphatically not be moved."

"Who says so?"

"George, now you see where George comes in. We can't risk a strange doctor's saying there is nothing the matter with me. Or perhaps some officious person might pick up my prostrate form and take it to some local hospital. No, what happens is this. George is passing, also in a car (you'd better sell us a second one), sees the accident, leaps out and takes charge."

(Copyright 1935-35-36, Agatha Christie)

"Damn!" said Frankie.

She began to make plans for the future.

A week later Bobby had joined Radger in London. He had received several enigmatical communications from Frankie, mostly in such an illegible scrawl that he was quite unable to do more than guess at their meaning.

Meanwhile the young man remained very strictly on his guard. The effect of eight grains of morphia was to render their taker extremely suspicious of food and drink and had also induced him to bring to London a service revolver, the possession of which was extremely irksome to him.

He was just beginning to feel that the whole thing had been an extravagant nightmare when Frankie's Bentley roared down the driveway and drew up outside the garage.

Bobby, in grease-stained overalls, came out to receive it. Frankie was at the wheel and beside her sat a rather gloomy-looking young man.

"Hello, Bobby," said Frankie. "This is George Arbuthnot. He's a doctor and we shall need him."

Bobby winced slightly as he and George Arbuthnot made faint acknowledgment of each other.

"Are you sure we're going to need a doctor?" he asked. "Aren't you being a bit pessimistic?"

"I didn't mean we should need him in that way," said Frankie. "I need him for a scheme that I've got on. Look here, is there anywhere we can go and talk?"

Bobby looked doubtfully round him. "Well, there's my bedroom," he said doubtfully.

"Excellent," said Frankie. "Get out of the car, and she and George Arbuthnot followed Bobby up some outside steps and into a microscopic bedroom.

"I don't know," said Bobby, looking round dubiously, "if there's anywhere to sit."

There was not. The only chair was loaded with, apparently, the whole of Bobby's wardrobe.

"The bed will do," said Frankie. She plumped down on it. George Arbuthnot did the same and the bed groaned protestingly.

"I've got everything planned out," said Frankie. "To begin with we want a car. One of yours will do."

"Do you mean you want to buy one of our cars?"

"Yes."

"That's really very nice of you, Frankie," said Bobby with warm appreciation. "But you needn't. I really do draw the line at sticking my friends."

"You've got it all wrong," said Frankie. "It isn't like that at all. I know what you mean—it's like buying perfectly appalling clothes and hats from one's friends who are just starting in business. A nuisance, but it's got to be done. But this isn't like that at all. I really need a car."

"What about the Bentley?"

"The Bentley's no good."

"You're mad," said Bobby. "No, I'm not. The Bentley's no good for what I want it for."

"What do you want it for?"

"Smashing it up."

Bobby groaned and put a hand to his head. "I don't seem very well this morning."

Ford Co. To Spend $2,250,000 For Exhibit At Centennial Exposition

DALLAS, Feb. 25.—The Ford Motor company extended a $2,250,000 vote of confidence in the future of Texas when it announced that it would spend that much money in the erection of a building and exhibits for the Texas Centennial exposition, which is to open in Dallas on June 6.

Announcement of the company's plans was made in Detroit by officials of the motor concern and was forwarded to Dallas by Paul Massmann, director of exhibits and concessions for the Centennial.

The Ford company will spend $1,200,000 for a building on the exposition grounds. It will spend an additional $1,050,000 for exhibits.

The building will be of steel, concrete and sheet rock, with a total floor space of 55,000 square feet. It will contain an amphitheater from which entertainments will be presented and broadcast as a part of the Ford radio program over national networks.

Several exhibits will be displayed, among them one showing the use of raw materials of the Southwest going into Ford products. These products include cotton, mohair, wool, cattle, soybeans, resin and rice.

Old Roads Exhibit

One of the most significant exhibits the Ford company will display is roads of the Southwest—an exhibit which will duplicate famous roads and trails, many of them only legend now, which traversed Texas and the Southwest. Roads to be reproduced, as near perfectly as possible, are the old Chisholm Trail, over which early-day Texans drove their herds of cattle to Kansas for shipment to the East; the old Spanish Trail, the King's highway and several others.

The roads will begin at the Ford building, which will be erected

Marital Problem Is Basis Of Plot Of Ritz Picture

A novel adventure to make a husband realize he is in love with his wife is indulged in by Ann Harding in "The Lady Consents," in which she is co-starred with Herbert Marshall, and which plays Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz. The story alternates between tense drama as it deals with a domestic problem and sophisticated comedy.

Miss Harding plays a courageous wife who brings her flirtatious husband to time and cures him of his romantic swayings. It is the type of role in which the star has been so popular.

Marshall appears as the philandering doctor who falls an easy prey to the charms of the lovely woman with whom he comes in contact. How his wife finally straightens out all this makes for a humorous climax to the film.

Walter Abel has a prominent part, that of a devoted admirer of the

Tax Collections In Midland County Are At High Point

MIDLAND, Feb. 25.—Reports from the tax collector's office show that 65 per cent of the tax roll for Midland county has already been collected. With an added collection of $14,700 for the last half of 1935, the money to be paid by June collections will total 91 per cent of the tax roll. The first half of the 1935 assessment was paid in November.

Collections have been at a higher rate than at any time since pre-depression days. County Tax Collector A. C. Francis reports.

The 60 per cent tax reduction voted last year is given much credit for the tax-payers' response, and further reduction is hoped for if collections are made promptly.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleaning the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO HALT PETTY THEFTS IN SCHOOL BUILDINGS

A war on petty thieves who persist in breaking into the high school class rooms has begun. Provokers will find it a far harder job to loot rooms than formerly, Principal George Gentry said. An organization among the student body to stop theft in the halls and lockers was being formed, it was also learned.

A special kind of pass is made for each teacher, and students who are in the halls without their teacher's consent must suffer the consequences.

"We are getting rid of the students who can't adjust themselves to the high school regime," Principal Gentry continued.

No great amount of school property was found to be destroyed after the raid made Friday night. However, a typewriter in a classroom was discovered missing on a closer check-up. Cases in the band room, and several teachers' desks were torn open but nothing was found to be missing.

Claims Nazis Planning New Church Drive

Anti-Hitler Leader Tells Of Campaign Against Catholics

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (UP)—A "fiendish" Nazi scheme now under way in Germany to "purge" the country of influential Catholic priests will be carried out soon, Prince Hubertus Zu Lowenstein, former leader of the German Catholic centrist party and anti-Hitler propagandist, said here.

He told newspapermen of an arbitrary selection of the priests by the Nazi propaganda ministry and the assembling of forged letters and photographs to support charges against them. The material is being made by paid witnesses, Lowenstein said.

"The Nazis know that millions of people will believe this because the church will be unable to defend itself," Lowenstein said.

"Only the disclosure of this nefarious scheme before the whole civilized world can avert the crime."

"There are many unmarked graves. Nazis shoot people and are never prosecuted. Hitler resembles Al Capone very much, although I wouldn't like to libel Capone. He is a fanatic, endeavoring to replace Christianity with a religion of his own. He is an ape of Mussolini, motivated by sex frustration."

The prince said he came to the United States to collect 1,000,000 signatures on a petition asking the league of nations to "investigate the Nazi government."

Lowenstein was exiled by Reichsfuehrer Hitler soon after the Nazi ascension to power.

Asked whether he thought Hitler would be assassinated, Lowenstein said, "he hoped not," because "we must destroy the myth of Hitler and remove the halo around his head."

Twenty Governors Asked To Join In Santone Ceremony

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (AP)—Governor James V. Alford has invited the governors of 20 states, citizens of which died in the battle of the Alamo 100 years ago, to participate in ceremonies in San Antonio on March 6, it was announced here today.

The program will be a feature of the state's centennial year observances.

Representatives of Germany, Denmark, Wales, Ireland, Scotland and England also have been invited to participate in the ceremonies.

"new deal" as the Roosevelt program unfolded. Many observers rate him today as favorite if a "dark horse" nomination is to be made.

Among Vandenberg political assets such observers include things other than his tempered attitude toward "new deal" objectives and even some of its methods—his unquestionably valuable geographical situation as a native born Michigan man, and the wealth of politico-journalistic experience now sharpening his insight into popular moods.

Vandenberg is just over the half-century mark. He is a wide-shouldered, deep-chested man who stands straight. His dark hair is heavily shot with gray. He possesses as booming a voice as the senate knows, a good voice for stump or radio.

Eloquent Speaker

From natural talent and from his training as a political reporter and at editorial desks, Vandenberg has developed a facility, even an eloquence, in speech rare these days in the senate. He has, too, a proved capacity for inducing off the senate floor such compromises as alone make legislation possible in an atmosphere of seeming unbreakable deadlock.

All these are of decided value to a president.

In appearance and in newspaper background there are many things about Senator Vandenberg to invite a Harding parallel. And there are many things about the Republican party situation today to recall what happened at Chicago in 1920 to make an Ohio senator the beneficiary of the deadlock between other avowed candidates for the nomination.

Possibilities of Rift

A conservative-liberal, east-west rift has clouded Republican party affairs since before 1912. It looms
