Nursing Home News

It's been a fairly quiet week here at the Nursing Home. We have been working on our yarn animals in arts and crafts and some of them are nearly completed and will be on sale at the auxiliary stand, soon.

We played bingo Wednesday. Mrs. Beulah Harris was our big winner with two games. Other winners were Mrs. Hallie Parker, Mrs. Nellie Christian and Mr. Frank Reed.

Mrs. Soph. Jeffrey had quite a few visiting over this week end. They were Mrs. Ora Smith and Mrs. Avis Rasberry from Sequin, and Mrs. Georgia New from Lockhart. Her daughter Mrs. Lizzie Simson from Brownwood was also here for a visit.

Mrs. Arlene Payne and children from San Angelo and Mrs. Bell Harris from Marfa were here to visit their grandmother, Mrs. Beulah Harris.

We want to say a very special thank you to our auxiliary for the beautiful stereo system they purchased for us. We are really enjoying it.

A thank you always goes to Mrs. Beulah Harris for doing such a fine job as reporter for our article every week.

We are all looking forward to our barbecue this week on Friday. We are sure to have a lot of fun. See you next week! Ruthie Day, A. D.; Beulah Harris, rep.

Fire Sunday Damages Beauty Shop Building

Fay Blair's beauty shop building on Field Street was extensively damaged by a fire Sunday afternoon which apparently started in the storeroom at the rear of the structure.

Prompt action by the firemen prevented total loss to the frame building, but major damage resulted. The storeroom had the most damage from charring and water, with the front rooms having smoke damage.

An insurance adjustor for Rattliff Insurance Agency was investigating early this week, and settlement was expected to be made soon.

Whiddon Continues Gradual Progress

Donald Whiddon continues to make progress in the Sealy hospital in Galveston where he was sent a while back for plastic surgery on his hand and arm, following involvement in a car accident. A fund for him has been started at The First National Bank here.

Following is report from his mother:

To Success Editor, Eldorado

Dear Sir: I really appreciated the papers. I would like to let the very kind people in Eldorado know that Donald has really enjoyed each of his cards and letters. It seems as though the mail call is his greatest joy of the day. I can't write each one but they know I really thank them from my heart. He is still on his hand graft and has been on his back for nearly three weeks. Sometimes it's so dark and dreary for him, but he knows that when they cut his graft loose he can be a little free. He is getting the best of care, so his injuries are healing very well.

There are so many children in his ward. There are miracles performed every day it seems. The mothers on the ward help each other and tend to other children whose parents for some reason can't be with them. My charge or rather my assignment is to feed each day a little boy who has had surgery for a "water head." He is three and is unable to feed himself. His little smile is worth all the gold in the world.

Again I really thank everyone for the cards and letters and prayers. May God bless each one.

Post Script

A UNIQUE STRUCTURE for Eldorado is this octagonal house being built in the south part of town by H. B. Feddersen. He started it over a year ago, doing most of his own work. The sidewalls are of rock, and the roof is of wood shakes. Presumably he will have the building closed in by fall so that he can continue interior work.

The Texas Farmer-Stockman in its July issue carried a front-page picture of Howard Derrick of Eldorado who has taken over as president of the American Sheep Producers Council, an organization troubled by financial woes.

An article continues on page 6 as follows:

"Howard Derrick of Eldorado was elected president of the 20-year-old wool and lamb promotion organization last March at a time when it faced the gravest financial crisis of its history. One immediate move by the board under his leadership was to slash the operating budget for fiscal year 1974-75 to $1.5 million, just half what it was two years ago and well below even its 1973-74 fiscal-year budget of $2.5 million. The most drastic move was against administrative overhead, the board trying to salvage all it could of the Council's field operations."

Congress Hopeful . . .

Doug Harlan To Address Lions Club Next Week

DOUG HARLAN

At the meeting of the Eldorado Lions Club on July 17th, Republican Candidate Doug Harlan of San Antonio is scheduled to be the program speaker. He will give an address and then host a question and answer period.

Boss Lion Guy Whitaker stated this week that Harlan had been scheduled to be here next week, and that Harlan's opponent Democrat Bob Krueger is tentatively scheduled for the following week, July 24th.

Boss Lion Whitaker pointed out that the program with Harlan's appearance will start at 12:30 Wednesday and any interested citizens of the community who wish to come and hear him will be welcome to do so.

Harlan won the recent Republican nomination for 21st District Congressman. He ran a good but unsuccessful race in 1972 against incumbent O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, who is retiring.

Harlan and Krueger will be on the General Election ballot in November to determine who is to be Fisher's successor.

Club Meeting Held Yesterday
Guy Whitaker presided at his initial meeting as head of the Eldorado Lions Club at noon Wednesday of this week.

For the program, Clyde Warren of the Region 15 Education Center headquartered in San Angelo presented a talk on the function and service of the education center to the schools of Region 15, which comprises several counties here in Southwest Texas.

Oil, Gas Production Includes This County

Dallas, Tex.—Despite 12 months of production at 100% of the maximum effective recovery rate in most Texas fields, a drop of nearly 6.3-million barrels of crude oil from the state's all-time record high production year of 1972 occurred last year.

Texas production in 1973 amounted to almost 1.3-billion barrels, tops among the nation's oil producing states and representing 38.6% of total U. S. production, according to statistics compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

In 84 years of recorded production, Texas oil fields have produced some 38-billion barrels of oil—approximately 36% of the U. S. total.

"The decline in production indicates the basic task of the state's oil men—the more extensive development of Texas oil fields," said the Association's president, Sherman Hunt, a Dallas independent producer. "But if Congress will adopt economic policies to encourage the search for new fields, we feel this trend can be changed."

Despite the drop in production, the oil that was produced last year in 203 of the state's 254 counties was valued at some $5-billion, an increase of approximately $500-million over the value of oil produced in 1972. This increase particularly reflects the increased prices paid for some Texas crude oil during the latter part of 1973.

In addition to larger payments to royalty owners, the higher prices also have been reflected in the state comptroller's reports of increased severance taxes paid by the oil men of Texas.

Schleicher county, which has had recorded production since 1937, last year produced 1,296,411 barrels of oil at the rate of 3,552 barrels a day. Production in 1973 boosted Schleicher county's production total through the end of the year to 60,239,102.

Fertilizer Improves Drouth Tolerance Of Pastures

With hot weather here, unfertilized pastures rapidly are becoming scorched. Fertilizer aids grasses in utilizing moisture more efficiently. Although forage growth may be reduced considerably, fertilized grasses remain green and fresh during warm weather. Rainfall is used three to four times more efficiently when pastures have been adequately fertilized.

In addition to drouth tolerance, fertilizer improves the total amount of forage produced. With improved forage quality, livestock have more forage available to select when grazing. And they prefer grass that has been fertilized.

Another important aspect of pasture fertilization is the possibility for harvesting hay from excess forage. During late spring and early fall, fertilized pastures grow much faster than livestock can consume the forage. If part of the pasture is fenced separately, a cutting of good quality hay can be made from excess forage growth.

Pasture and hay demonstrations are being conducted in Schleicher county to provide specific information on fertilizer use to farmers and ranchers. Information on the demonstration work is available at the county Extension office.

Phase Converter Boosts Motor Power

Electric motors are a vital source of power on the farm. However most of the farms and ranches in Texas have single-phase electric service, so single-phase electric motors must be used when connected directly to the power source.

Because of their relatively high starting currents, most electric suppliers limit the size of single-phase motors that can be used. If three-phase power is not available, one possible solution to the need of larger horsepower is a phase converter.

A phase converter changes single-phase line voltage to three-phase voltage so that three-phase motors can be used. Three-phase motors are simple in construction, comparatively small, cost less than single-phase motors and are available in large sizes.

The converter method of operating a three-phase motor draws less starting current than the same size single-phase motor, but there is a reduction in starting torque. This limits its use to light starting loads such as crop dryers, grain handling systems, irrigation pumps and livestock feeding systems.

Two types of phase converters are available—static and rotary. A static converter is generally used to operate a single motor while rotary converter will provide service for operating several motors. Many factors are involved in selecting a phase converter for specific needs. Be sure to consult your electric supplier before making a decision on this type of equipment.

Green Plants Combat Mental Pollution

Plants are mental counterpollutants. When feeling low or depressed, visit a favorite nursery or garden center and wander through the display area. It is a place to dress casual, be comfortable and relax from the cares of everyday living. Enjoy the color of foliage, the scent of flowers, the interesting texture of various plants or the restful sound of water gurgling from a fountain.

All this can be available in your own backyard. Through careful planning and with the help of a good landscape book, your own backyard can be developed into a relaxing garden to counter mental pollution. A recent survey stresses that man really wants and needs nature's surroundings about him.

Trees and shrubs can be purchased from a garden center to make a place of beauty in which to relax. This activity can also be contagious, inspiring neighbors to try to improve their surroundings.

Community improvements come about in this way. But someone must make the first move. You can take the lead.

So your Olds dealer can offer you especially generous year-end savings now—on compact Omega, mid-size Cutlass, family-size Delta 88 or luxurious Ninety-Eight or Toronado. Second, used cars are in short supply, particularly mid-size and full-size models. So your Olds dealer can offer you a very attractive trade allowance. Your savings may never be greater than now. Boating TIPS
From the Marine Division
Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

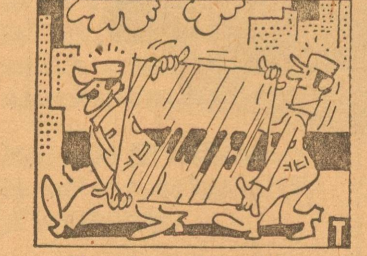

CLEAN WATER
Are the fish in your favorite waterway competing with litter for the end of your line? If so, let's try to follow some helpful hints to clear up the mess.
It only takes common sense and a little forethought to make sure your boating fun is not the cause of water pollution. Here's how:
- Always include a garbage bag with take-on-board equipment. As a further assurance against littering, keep a supply of garbage bags on the boat. Any kind of receptacle will do as long as it leaves the boat when you do and not before.

- Place food for a day's outing in a sturdy air-tight container. Anything not eaten will remain fresh and undamaged for later use—in the container and not stale and soggy in the water.
- Inform members of your crew that any litter thrown overboard must be personally retrieved. There should be no exceptions to this rule.

These are simple rules to follow. With a little imagination you can think of other ways to help preserve your's and everyone's natural right—clean water.

COOL TIPS FOR HOT WEATHER
Heat and humidity affect some people more than others. But when the T-H-I (temperature humidity index) climbs into the seventies almost all of us begin to suffer. Here, then, are some reminders of time-tested tips to help take the sizzle out of summer.
• Keep shades and blinds drawn when windows are in direct sunlight.
• Turn off any unneeded lights. Burning blubs add to the heat in a room.
• Avoid tight fitting, high-necked clothing. Light, loosely fitted clothes allow air to circulate.
• Drink plenty of liquids to replace the fluid lost through perspiration.
• Remember that iced tea is one of nature's best hot weather beverages because it is non-sweet, non-carbonated and won't build up another thirst soon after drinking.

• Cut down on the use of heat-producing appliances. Barbecue outdoors instead of using the kitchen range.
• Take tepid showers rather than icy-cold ones. And pat yourself dry instead of rubbing vigorously.
• Stay away from heat producing foods such as fats. Eat plenty of summer's fruits and vegetables.
• Wear a floppy brimmed hat to keep the sun's rays off your face and neck. Or borrow great-grandmama's idea and carry a parasol.

• Make iced tea the cold water way: fill a quart pitcher with cold tap water; add 8 to 10 teabags (remove tags). Cover and let stand 6 hours or overnight. The result: perfect, crystal-clear tea that will never cloud.
• For a thirst-quencher in a hurry, use the convenient instant tea powder or lemon-flavored iced tea mix.
• Walk—don't run—when out in the sun.
• And remember...only... "Mad dogs and Englishmen Go out in the midday sun."

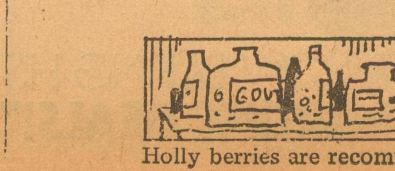

Canucks is the name given in the United States to Canadians generally, but in Canada it means French-Canadians, and it's thought to be a corruption of the word the French-Canadians called Irish immigrants.

BEAT THE SUMMER HEAT

It was Charles Dudley Warner, not Mark Twain, who said, "Everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it." But in 1902, a young engineer named Willis Carter invented what we now know as the air-conditioner and did more for climate control than perhaps any other man in history. Let's all follow the example of the innovative Mr. Carter and discover ways to avoid the summer heat and humidity this year.
It's a good practice to turn on your air conditioner in the early morning hours if the day promises to be a hot one. By afternoon, a house has absorbed a great deal of heat and will take more energy to cool.
When the heat is on, it's a good idea to keep your oven off. So alternative cooking ideas are essential. Now's the time to take advantage of fresh fruits, vegetables and salads. Cool soups and frosty health drinks prepared in a Waring Blender are perfect summer treats—and they don't have to be cooked. Yogurt-Cucumber Soup, for example, is a perfect dieter's delight. Just whir 4 peeled and sliced cucumbers, 1/2 cup yogurt, and a few sprigs of fresh dill, and you've got a cool meal that's under 200 calories, even if you eat it all.

Waring Blenders, with their variety of attachments, are great for natural "un-cooking" because they're strong enough to chop raw ingredients without burning out the motor. So why not try homemade apple sauce or even peanut butter? For a cool refresher, make a frothy drink with a special ice crushing attachment. There's also "The Stripper" attachment, which peels carrots, potatoes, even onions—without making you work in the heat. A blender is a great summer gift, too.
Take a tip from the South Americans—indulge in an afternoon siesta and avoid the hottest hours of the day. Dress lightly, use as few electric lights as possible since they generate heat, and just relax. Be practical and the summer environment will be under your control.

When The Group Wants Burgers

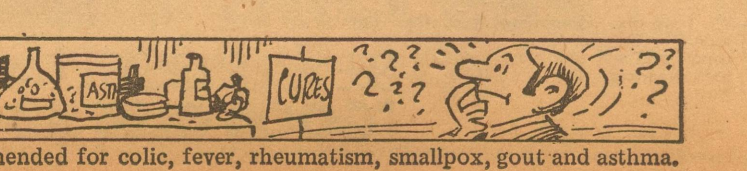

Cucumbers is just a fancy name for a thick, juicy hamburger patty served on a toasted buttered bun topped with a crunchy cucumber and mayonnaise mixture. This recipe stretches one and one-half pounds of ground meat to serve eight by including fortified high protein cereal. Cucumbers is Kay Kellogg's "best to you" at luncheon, back yard picnic time, midnight suppertime and anytime the group wants burgers.

- CUCUMBERBURGERS
- 1 medium-size cucumber 1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 egg 3 cups fortified high protein cereal
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup finely chopped onion 1 1/2 lb. ground beef
1 1/2 teaspoons salt 8 hamburger buns, buttered and toasted
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1. Scrub cucumber; do not peel. Cut into quarters lengthwise; remove seedy portion. Grate cucumber coarsely; press in strainer or in paper toweling to remove excess liquid. Stir mayonnaise and garlic salt together in small mixing bowl. Set cucumber and mayonnaise mixture aside for topping.
 2. In large mixing bowl, beat egg until foamy. Add milk, onion, salt, pepper and fortified high protein cereal; beat well. Add ground beef; mix only until combined. Shape into 8 patties, about 3/4-inch thick.
 3. Grill patties 5 inches from source of heat about 5 minutes on each side. Or cook in frypan over medium heat about 5 minutes on each side. Shorten or lengthen cooking time according to preference.
 4. Just before serving, combine cucumber and mayonnaise mixture. Place patties on buns. Top each with 2 tablespoons cucumber mixture.
- Yield: 8 servings

Austin, Tex.—Constitutional Convention delegates approved a new approach to state revenue raising and sent delegates' hopes rising for a painless tax source.

The Convention authorized the legislature to levy a petroleum products manufacturing tax that will not (like three-fourths of gasoline taxes) go into highway building.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur already is preparing for introduction next year a bill to impose a two cents per gallon gasoline tax at the refinery level.

At the same time, Harrington will propose reduction of the gasoline tax at the pump from five to three cent a gallon if the new constitutional is approved.

Since 75% of Texas-refined gasoline is sold out of state, proponents of the tax claim the two cent levy would raise $686 million in additional revenue without increasing the burden on Texans.

Although such a tax probably could be levied now, most of the money would go to highways instead of general revenue.

The convention went into its windup stages this week.

Delegates began voting on the entire revision package, including proposed separate submissions of five alternative propositions.

When and if a two-thirds majority is mustered, the document and the "side issues" will go to the voters in the November general election.

Heavily Cut Off

The Constitutional Convention Compensation Committee served notice it didn't intend to allow Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah to charter airplanes at state expense. Convention officers said they won't approve any more such charges.

However, Healy indicated he won't take that without a fight. He produced an attorney general's ruling saying renting of aircraft by state employees on official trips is authorized, and called on officials to consider his bills legal.

Healy blamed his troubles on a personal vendetta against him by Convention President Price Daniel Jr. and Executive Director Jim Ray—which Daniel promptly denied.

A check of House records showed Healy, as of May 21, ranked 24th among state representative-convention delegates in total spending since last January.

Near Record Paid

Oil companies paid a near record $24.6 million in bonus payments for oil and gas leases on Texas public lands at the third largest oil and gas lease sale in history.

Bids were received for more than 338,037 acres and brought the permanent school fund to more than $1,074,743,900.

Texas will receive a substantially higher royalty for oil and gas produced from the state lands under new terms in effect for the sale. All royalties will be at least one-fifth. The state may also take its royalty "in kind"—which assures top prices for the state's portion of oil and gas and ability to sell the resources in areas where they are

INVITATION TO AN ITALIAN PASTA PARTY

Mention Italian cuisine to a non-Italian and he immediately thinks of pasta—served up as spaghetti, macaroni or noodles.

Italian pasta dishes make perfect party foods. Aside from being delicious, they are simple to prepare and easy on the budget since a little pasta goes a long way.

A bowl of cooked pasta—perhaps more than one variety—surrounded by three sauces makes a distinctive buffet for your Italian pasta party. Many guests will want to sample all three sauces... and that means three servings of pasta! Keep the rest of the party menu light to be sure your guests are only comfortably full after the meal. Start off with a light antipasto and end with a simple dessert.

For your pasta course serve Italian Sausage Sauce, White Clam Sauce and your favorite tomato meat sauce. Both the Italian Sausage Sauce and White Clam Sauce are made with Planters' Peanut Oil, the lightest of the polyunsaturated oils. Peanut oil is the favorite among cooks of all countries because it is flavorless.

Italians are not big desert eaters but they frequently top off a meal with fruit and cheese; ice cream specialties like spumoni or biscuit tortoni; or zabaglione, a wine-flavored custard. Any of these would be a suitable ending to your Italian pasta party.

ITALIAN SAUSAGE SAUCE

- 1 pound sweet Italian sausage links
- 2 tablespoons Planters' Peanut Oil

- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 4 cups (2-pound 3-ounce can) Italian plum tomatoes, sieved
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons tomato paste
- ¼ cup warm heavy cream
- Hot cooked spaghetti

Remove casing from sausage. Heat Planters' Peanut Oil in Dutch oven or heavy saucepot. Add sausage and onion. Cook until mixture is lightly browned, crumbling sausage as it cooks. Stir in tomatoes, garlic, salt and parsley. Bring mixture to a boil, reduce heat to low. Cover and simmer for 40 minutes. Stir in tomato paste. Remove from heat. Stir in warm cream. Serve immediately over spaghetti. Makes 6 cups.

WHITE CLAM SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon flour
- ½ cup Planters' Peanut Oil
- ½ cup (1 stick) margarine
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 1 can (10½-ounce) minced clams
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 6 drops liquid hot pepper sauce
- Hot cooked spaghetti

Measure flour into a saucepan. Gradually blend in Planters' Peanut Oil. Add margarine, garlic and pepper. Heat, stirring occasionally, until margarine is melted. Stir in clams with liquid, parsley and hot pepper sauce. Heat gently just until mixture starts to boil. Serve over spaghetti. Makes 2 cups.

Texans Pledge $508,000

Texas Democrats committed themselves to a record total of $508,000 during the June 29-30 party fund-raising telethon.

Two-thirds of the take—enough to pay off debts and last a few months into the future—will be retained by the state party after deductions for overhead of the telethon.

More than 1,000 volunteers manned 350 telephones in 16 Texas cities during the fund-raising extravaganza which brought in $7 million in pledges to the national party.

More than 3,000 pledges were received in Texas.

Liquor Agents Cleared

An investigation by Atty. Gen. John Hill's staff found no evidence of mileage expense account padding by Dallas district office Alcoholic Beverage Commission inspectors.

Hill did recommend better record keeping procedures in the office to "remove suspicions and concerns."

He found irregularities in the manner in which the records are maintained and said that inspection tickets were in "a state of disarray."

Attorney General's Opinions

States and subdivisions are required to include equal employment opportunity clauses in federally assisted construction contracts exceeding $10,000, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—County Commissioners may expend county funds for service pins to reward county employees, and pins may include a replica of an unofficial county seal.

—An act extending workmen's compensation benefits to employees of political subdivisions is constitutional and applies to housing authorities. A Texas Municipal League and Texas Association of School Boards plan for self-insurance would not be subject to State Board of Insurance regulation.

Larry Combest is Sen. John Tower's Austin office aide for agricultural matters.

Robert Hardesty of Austin will serve as a member-at-large to the 1974 delegate assembly of National Urban League which will meet in San Francisco July 31.

The American Party has petitioned for a place on the November general election ballot and promised an active campaign.

Mobile Homes Have Appeals To Many

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General) Austin, Tex.—The mobile home industry, with its low-cost alternative to conventional home-buying, exercises a growing appeal for many Texas families. As evidence, there are approximately 100,000 mobile homes in our state now, and sales are increasing by 25,000 units each year.

Recently, we organized a new Labor Division within the Attorney General's Office which will have responsibility for enforcing consumer laws related to mobile homes, as well as labor-related statutes. This division represents the Texas Department of Labor and Standards, the agency with regulatory power over mobile homes in the state.

Our Labor Division attorneys just settled the first case arising out of the 400 complaints they have received regarding mobile homes. They have found that many dissatisfactions arise not only from misunderstandings about mobile home construction, but about terms of the sales contract, regulations regarding the mobile home, moving the home, locating the home, and mobile home park restrictions.

Some mobile home complaints could be prevented if consumers took time to investigate all these things before buying their mobile home.

Any sales contract should include a description of the mobile home furnishings, appliances, and any other items to be included in the purchase. Mobile home purchasers should understand the contract and the method of financing and are urged to sign the "placement certificate" only after the mobile home is delivered and set up.

One area of concern is "tie-down" of mobile homes, since, in 1973, the Legislature amended the Mobile Home Standards Act to require these restraints to prevent mobile homes from being blown or knocked over. Under the new law, all mobile homes purchased after March 20, 1974, must have approved tie-down systems if they are less than 300 feet from another structure. Mobile homes in coastal counties must meet more stringent requirements for tie-downs because of the danger of hurricanes and resulting high winds.

The Labor Division warns that some persons are selling tie-down systems that do not meet standard. It is important to get all claims about such systems in writing, to check with the Performance Certification Board of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards to make sure such claim are valid, and not to pay a fee for installation of the system until it passes inspection.

Mobile home purchasers should keep in mind that local zoning ordinances may determine where within a city they can locate their home. If a purchaser plans to buy a city lot for his mobile home, it is absolutely necessary to check on this in advance.

To move a mobile home over Texas roads, the home must be registered with the Texas Highway Department through a county tax collector. A fee is charged on the weight of the mobile home. Moving a home out of state will require checking with each state's highway department, since each state may have different regulations.

If a mobile home is to be located in a mobile home park, there is the possibility of special park rules as to how the home may be used. It is important to understand exactly what will be provided for the monthly rental or lease fee, and what other charges, if any, can be expected—and to get it all in writing.

Some parks have special requirements about children and pets, overnight guests, parties, curfews, additional storage, repairs, deliveries, mailboxes, garbage pick-up and other things. Knowing about them in advance can prevent problems later.

If you have questions about mobile homes, contact the Department of Labor and Standards, the Attorney General's Labor Division, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Your Car-Ready For Vacation Driving?

Before you start off on your vacation drive, consider this: more than 20 percent of your expenses will probably be spent on your car. You can reduce this figure, however, by attending to some easy economy measures. Concerning gas consumption, plan to drive moderately, keeping to the nation's new lower speed limits. Avoid jackrabbit starts and quick stops. And make sure your tires are properly inflated. These measures may decrease your gas consumption up to five miles per gallon.

Make sure your car has had a good tune up before you start off. Get new spark plugs if they're needed, have your car lubricated, your brakes checked, your windshield wipers, ignition switch, steering gear, lights and battery thoroughly looked into. Make sure your wheels are aligned to increase tire life.

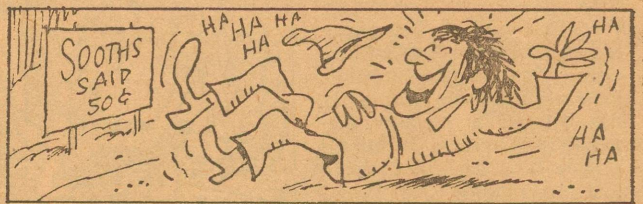

One important fact to notice is whether your tires have enough tread (three out of every ten cars has at least one bald tire). Treads of less than 2/32 of an inch thick can be dangerous because they don't give enough traction for wet or oily road surfaces.

An economical way of insuring good tires is to buy quality retreats. They cost half the price of equivalent new tires and are now required by law to meet Federal standards. In fact, 98 percent of the world's airlines and millions of trucks now use quality retreats. Most retreaters fully guarantee their product, so ask your dealer about his warrantee.

Safety is also important when you're driving great distances. And safety begins with you! Eat lightly; stop for a breather after the first three hours of travel—and once every hundred miles thereafter. Try not to travel more than 450 miles per day, so that you conserve your energy and stay alert.

But, most important, have fun. Attend to these safety and economy hints and your trip will be a carefree and enjoyable experience.

Legend has it that Chalchas the soothsayer, died of laughter at the thought of having outlived the predicted hour of his death.

Bean Casserole Is Budget Boon

Thrifty New England settlers knew the value of dried beans and how to make the most of this dietary staple. Despite the fact that dried beans have in some cases doubled or tripled in price, they are still one of the most nutritious of budget foods. They are a good source of protein, food energy, B vitamins and iron and are versatile enough to be the basis for many satisfying main dishes.

In the interest of saving time and energy, many cooks like to take advantage of canned beans and add their own flavor touches. Whether you prepare the beans from dry or canned ones, serve them with another plant protein food such as bread. Round out the meal with a green vegetable and a simple dessert.

PEACHY GINGERED BEAN CASSEROLE

- 1/4 cup Karo dark corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) peach halves, drained
- 2 cans (1 pound each) baked beans

Mix corn syrup, onion and ginger. Spoon baked beans into 2-quart casserole. Stir in syrup mixture. Top with peaches. Bake in 400°F. oven 1 to 1 1/2 hours basting frequently, or until peaches are glazed. Makes 6 servings. Note: For Cardamon Peachy Baked Beans, follow basic recipe, substituting 1 teaspoon ground cardamon for ginger. Place 1 heaping teaspoon orange marmalade in center of each peach half, if desired. For Beans with Canadian Bacon, follow basic recipe substituting 1/2 pound sliced Canadian Bacon for peaches.

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

PAPER, PEOPLE AND THE ENVIRONMENT

"Biodegradable" is rapidly becoming a household term in today's ecology-conscious society. But paradoxically, it's misused and misunderstood as often as not.

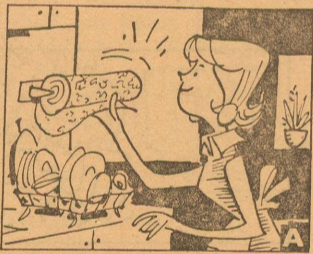

For example, people are concerned over paper products and their effects on the environment. Yet paper is probably the most "biodegradable" waste product generated in the home. It has almost a built-in disposability system—it biodegrades into carbon dioxide and water vapor.

What's more, sanitary paper products—often the bug-aboo of environmentalists—represent only a small fraction of the total paper waste coming out of the average home, and an even smaller fraction of the total solid waste for the nation. Sometimes paper waste is even beneficial—witness its use as fuel in many incinerators. Without paper, non-renewable fossil fuels would be required for combustion.

Another popular misconception, according to Scott Paper's Consumer Service Center, is that the dyes in colored paper products inhibit the biodegradability of the paper and may even be harmful to the environment. This was first suggested during Earth week in 1970 and the idea gained great support. But environmentalists have admitted that they were too hasty in what they said about colored consumer paper products.

Two organizations admitted they were relying on the other's word about the colored tissue issue without carrying out any independent testing or research.

But several leading universities have carried out independent research. Results turned up no evidence to link paper dyes with water pollution. The dye in paper products make up a tiny one tenth of one percent of the products by weight, which translates into no more than one part per billion.

The only conclusion that can be drawn from this evidence is that colored paper products are completely safe for personal use—and for the environment in which they finally end up. Market Report

College Station, Tex.—You can save money by visiting the poultry and egg departments of your favorite store, advises one expert.

"Turkeys are a likely feature in many stores because supplies are plentiful and turkey barbecues well," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said this week.

"Grade A Large size eggs are the best quality and economy combination for your egg money," she continued.

The specialist reported beef prices similar to last week, but "broiling cuts have generally taken a slight price increase."

"Look for best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and round steaks and roasts.

"Good pork buys are picnics, ham portions, shoulder roasts and steaks and end-cut loin roasts and chops.

"Supplies of sweet cherries, apricots, peaches, seedless grapes, plums and nectarines have increased but these will take a little time to go into the economy class," Mrs. Clyatt reported.

Prices of cantaloupe and watermelon are slightly lower as the supplies increase now.

"Most economical vegetable choices include cabbage, carrots, radishes, green onions, tomatoes, dry yellow onions, and locally grown mustard, collard and turnip greens.

Consumer Watchword: To preserve egg quality during hot weather, hurry eggs home from the store and refrigerate immediately.

General Telephone Inks New Contract

San Angelo, Tex.—Communications Workers of America Friday (July 5) announced ratification of a three-year contract with General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

L. Gray Beck, president of General Telephone, and Donald A. Reck, vice-president personnel, will meet with T. O. Moss, CWA representative, W. Tyson Phillips, president local 6179, and W. W. Beam, president local 6180 in August to officially sign the new three-year agreement.

The Company and CWA announced June 14 they had reached tentative agreement on the contract that would increase wages and benefits approximately 27% or $12.5 million.

The company and union began negotiations May 15 on the existing contract that ended June 27.

The new agreement calls for new wage schedules to become effective retroactive to June 23. Increases over the three year period range from 72 cents to $1.38 an hour, including cost of living increases. Wages also will be increased for a number of employees located in designated towns.

Other improvements in the settlement include an additional holiday on the employee's service anniversary date; increased premium pay for working undesirable hours; substantial improvements in board and lodging expense payments for employees working out of town; improvements in life insurance; hospitalization plan and vacations; expansion of incidental leave of absence from 30 to 45 days and a variety of improvements in the company's pension plan and pension benefits.

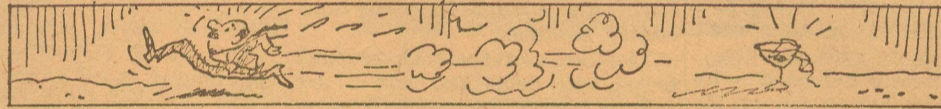

General Telephone serves more than one million telephones in over 400 exchanges in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The union represents around 6,100 craft employees in the company's operating territory.

Ancient Egyptians believed that bees were born in the tears of the sun god.

To cure a man of drunkenness, some Europeans recommended skinning a live eel and dipping the skin in his drink. That should sober anyone up fast!

A pair of silk stockings produced in 14th century France sold for the equivalent of $3.86—2 1/4 times a laborer's annual wage.

KEEPING IN STEP

You don't have to be "square" to go to church. The image of dour individuals with "holier-than-thou" attitudes is as old fashioned today as people dancing the minuet.

Take the Adamses, for example. They aren't youngsters, to be sure, but they are very much in step with the times, and their home is a haven for teenagers. Mr. Adams is a lawyer, who works with kids who have been in trouble. Mrs. Adams is on the local school committee and also helps the Girl Scouts.

The Adamses like to walk to church each Sunday and to discuss the sermon on the way home. Their minister is "with it" too—he strives to counsel his parishioners on the dilemmas that confront Christians today.

The Adamses, their minister, their church—all a part of today. Are you?
