29th Annual Co-Op Meeting Set Tuesday

Arrangements are complete for the 29th Annual Meeting of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative on Tuesday, August 13th, on the Court House lawn here in Eldorado. The usual crowd of members and their families and guests are expected. Orland Harris will, as usual, serve the barbecue starting at 7:00 p.m. after which the business session will be held.

Nominated to three-year terms as directors are Fred H. Case and William L. Brown. The nominating committee consisted of Walter Menzies, Joe Shaw, Reuben Minor, Ronnie Mittel, and Bobby Sykes.

Success printers turned out 1200 booklets a while back for the Co-Op in which the progress of recent years is depicted in tables of statistics and reports. A copy has been mailed to each member. The mailing label on the cover serves as the recipient's registration at the meeting and chance at the door prizes.

Manager Elton McGinnes, along with the directors and employees, urge each member to carefully read the booklet ahead of the time of the meeting.

For the past year of 1973, the Co-Op average bill was $28.88, there were an average of 2480 meters, and 1.15 meters per mile.

The annual meeting of the Co-Op is a big event of the summer here in Eldorado and many report never having missed a previous meeting. The meetings have been held since the mid-1940's.

The business meeting will be held following the barbecue Tuesday night on the Memorial Building porch (inside if weather happens to be inclement). President J. D. Strauss will call the meeting to order. Other business on the agenda will include:

Proof of notice of meeting and declaration of quorum.

Reading of minutes of previous meeting.

Report of nominating committee and election of directors.

Manager's report.

Awarding of service pins to employees.

Drawing for door prizes.

The Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative, headquartered here in Eldorado, serves a number of rural power consumers in Schleicher and adjoining counties and has a sizable payroll.

Data processing, replacing of poles as necessary, upgrading of personnel through training programs, and providing adequate power for the future are all present and future goals being carried out by the Co-Op management.

Sheriff Says—

Vandalism Hurts All Taxpayers

Some incidents of vandalism were reported to the sheriff's department recently, and Orval Edmiston stated that damages use tax dollars and thus deprive all tax-paying citizens of benefits.

A $700 swing set was purchased recently for installation in the County Park in the west part of town. Before it could be set up, three boxes of parts were stolen and removed, so now the set cannot be set up for some time.

Also, the rest rooms in the park area have been damaged and some windows have been broken out in some of the buildings there. Some trash has been thrown in the swimming pool.

When vandalism occurs, tax money must be diverted from other sources to pay for the necessary repairs.

Mrs. Heaner is the widow of the Rev. Russell Heaner who served as pastor of the Eldorado Methodist church from 1956 to 1960. The family had several other church charges over Texas since leaving here and being assigned to Bronte in recent years. Rev. Heaner died several weeks ago in Bronte and his funeral was held there with burial at Victoria, his former home.

Mrs. Heaner reported that she plans to continue to make her home in Bronte. She teaches at Blackwell, 18 miles to the north, and commutes to her job there. She is having a house moved in to the town of Bronte.

Young Men Must Still Register At Age 18

Young men are again reminded of their obligation to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. If for any reason a young man has failed to register he should do so immediately to escape the penalty of Federal law.

Failure to register may result in a fine, imprisonment, or both, under provisions of the current Selective Service law.

A young man may go to Mrs. Helen Carlman in the Courthouse who is the volunteer Registrar for the Eldorado area. She will assist him in the simple steps of registration.

The draft has ended and can begin again only after the Congress grants authority for induction—but the requirement to register with Selective Service is still a part of existing Federal Law.

Yellow Leaves May Signal Need For More Care

Yellow leaves dropping off near the base of branches on ornamental plants isn't as serious as it may seem. This condition is common on oleanders, privet, viburnum and many other broadleaf evergreen plants. A normal, healthy plant will shed old leaves, but the number dropped will be small compared with those shed by an improperly watered or fertilized plant.

Complete defoliation may occur with lack of water during the hot summer months. Lack of fertilizer will also cause yellowing and loss of leaves.

Suggestions for care and treatment when excessive yellowing occurs, include:

Make frequent, light applications of a low analysis fertilizer during summer months—3 to 5 pounds per 100 square feet—and water plants adequately after application.

Water whenever young growth wilts or when the first few inches of soil in the water basin become dry. Plants will often wilt after prolonged cloudy, wet weather even though the soil is wet. In this case, avoid watering.

Water slowly for deep penetration. This allows roots to draw water from the lower soil depths, assuring a soil moisture reserve when the topsoil becomes dry. Dryness of the topsoil is the best indicator of when to water since soils vary in their ability to store water and climatic conditions—heat, wind, rain—are also variable.

Oleanders, nandinas and privet seem to have the greatest tendency toward leaf shedding. Removing about one-third of the oldest canes at or near ground level each year will encourage new growth from the base of the plant and prevent tall leggy growth.

Indemnity Approved For Brucellosis Reactors

Texas cattlemen will now be able to receive federal indemnity payments from the U. S. Department of Agriculture for brucellosis reactors in their breeding herds when the infected animals are marketed for slaughter.

The indemnity will be paid only on reactors found in official herd tests—not in tests at sales yards.

The decision to make the payments was made at the request of the Texas Animal Health Commission to strengthen efforts to eradicate brucellosis in the state.

All states are now participating in the brucellosis indemnity program. At present about 99% of the nation's cattle are free of the disease, but the remaining 1% continue to threaten the livestock industry. A large percentage of the infected herds are in southern and southwestern states.

The indemnity—$50 on grade cows and $100 on registered cows and bulls—will be paid on reactors bled on or after July 1. No indemnity is allowed for grade bulls, steers or spayed heifers.

Reactors will be branded with the letter "B" on the left jaw and will be tagged in the left ear. They must go to slaughter directly after the test.

Indemnity claims will be initiated by state or federal regulatory officials or accredited veterinarians. First indemnity payments may be delayed several months after claims are received, but such delays should be eliminated once the program becomes established.

Reduce Pinkeye Problems In Cattle

Pinkeye is a serious problem in some beef cattle herds in Texas during the hot summer weather. The disease can cause considerable weight loss and even the loss of sight.

There is no single cure-all for pinkeye, but there are several practices which you can follow to help reduce pinkeye problems.

Clipping pastures before seedheads develop on grass is one practice that helps. These seedheads may irritate the eyes of the cattle and increase the chances of pinkeye infection.

Flies spread certain kinds of pinkeye. We recommend repeated spraying of the faces of cattle with Ciodrin insecticide to control face flies. Dust bags, face wipers and backrubbers also help in controlling flies. Locate them near or on the salt box, on the way to water, or in shaded loafing areas.

An adequate amount of Vitamin A helps keep eyes healthy. Good pastures generally provide enough Vitamin A. However, due to dry conditions many pastures are turning brown, so supplementary Vitamin A should be provided.

Separate animals with pinkeye from the herd and treat infected eyes before the disease progresses. Keep infected animals in a sheltered area.

Turkey In The Summertime

by Martha Logan

The outdoor covered grill makes summer entertaining easy and important, too, when the menu features roast turkey. Using the grill keeps the kitchen cool and lets the cook be outdoors. An unstuffed turkey requires less cooking time when prepared in a covered grill, so after about 2 1/2 hours a 12 to 14 pound bird can be checked for doneness.

The outdoor feast can be completed by serving summer vegetables cooked in foil on the grill. A casserole of sliced zucchini squash, tomato and onion will require about 45 minutes. Favorite breads and fresh fruits will balance the meal.

After the feast, leftovers may be no problem since turkey is a summertime favorite. A good way to use the leftover meat is in a cucumber cool turkey salad. It makes a refreshing luncheon dish for family or guests.

Cucumber Cool Turkey Salad
Yield: About 4 cups

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|
| 2 cups cubed roasted Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey | 1 tablespoon chopped onion |
| 1 cup chopped cucumber | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 3/4 cup sliced pimiento olives | 1 teaspoon lemon juice |
| 3/2 cup chopped green pepper | 3/4 cup mayonnaise |
| 3/2 cup chopped celery | 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced |
| | Treasure Cave Blue Cheese, optional |

Toss together turkey, cucumber, olives, green pepper and celery in large bowl. In small bowl, blend onion, salt, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Combine with turkey mixture. Add eggs. Chill. Before serving, if desired, crumble blue cheese over the salad.

Thomson Career Spanned Decades

Capt. Thad A. Thomson was born Dec. 16, 1887, in Austin, son of a pioneer Southwest Texas family. He was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy in 1903, graduated in 1907 and was assigned to the U.S.S. Minnesota on the battleship Great White Fleet cruise around the world in 1907-08. He served on the U.S.S. South Dakota and U.S.S. Montgomery until 1909 when he was assigned to the Navy's rifle team in 1909-10, participating in national matches.

Other Naval vessels on which he served were the Birmingham, Dolphin and Florida. In 1912-14, Capt. Thomson was an aide on the staff of Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, commander of the Battleship Division, Atlantic Fleet. In 1915, Capt. Thomson was on duty at the Naval Gun Factory, Naval Yard in Washington, D. C., and in 1916 was commanding officer of the U.S.S. Bainbridge in the Asiatic Station.

During World War I, he commanded that destroyer in European waters and served as a staff aide for mining operations, ordnance and gunnery. He was awarded the Navy Cross for service on the Bainbridge on a trip from Manila, Philippines, to Gibraltar under unfavorable conditions and for service as an aide on the staff of the commander of Naval forces in European waters.

Capt. Thomson was gunnery officer of the U.S.S. Oklahoma in 1919 and after completing the Naval War College course, was assigned commander of a destroyer division. In 1921, he was assigned assistant Naval attaché to the American Embassy in London, England, with additional duties in Paris, Rome and The Hague, and as a member of the Anglo-American Joint Arbitration Board in London.

He was in command of the U.S.S. S. Hatfield in 1924 and the U.S.S. Doyen in 1925, and for three years was on active duty at the Naval Academy. He was executive officer of the U.S.S. Arizona from 1929-31 when he was transferred to the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I.

After two years as commander of the U.S.S. Relief, Capt. Thomson became Naval attaché to the American Embassy in Rome, where he served from 1936-38. He was assigned to the U.S.S. Wichita when it was commissioned in 1939.

On Dec. 15, 1940 Capt. Thomson reported to the Eighth Naval District in New Orleans, La., as chief of staff and aide to the commandant. In 1942, he was assigned professor of naval science at Rice Institute in Houston, returning to his native state of Texas after an absence of nearly 40 years, 18 of them spent at sea.

Following his retirement from the Navy in 1944, Capt. Thomson returned to his Flying Anchor Ranch in Schleicher county, a ranch pioneered by his father in about 1918 and serving the family since. Capt. Thomson sold the ranch in 1971 to Mort Mertz of Eldorado.

Capt. Thomson was married to Lillian Uppercu on Feb. 12, 1923 in London, England. They moved to McLean, Va., after selling their ranch here.

Rental - Purchase Plans Discussed

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General) Austin, Tex.—Sometimes you may want a television, stereo, movie projector, or other appliance for a particular occasion and not wish to buy it. Or maybe you want to try out such equipment before purchasing to make sure it's what you want.

Many stores offer "rental-purchase" plans to accommodate such customers. These plans allow customers to rent items and apply any rental payments to the purchase price if they decide they want to keep the merchandise.

Some merchants aim their advertising at certain groups such as college students or persons in a lower income bracket. They may emphasize that credit ratings are unimportant, or that credit checks are not even necessary for such rental agreements. This can be reassuring to someone who has not yet established a credit record, or to someone who perhaps has a bad credit record.

Information from the Federal Trade Commission indicates that a few businesses offering rental-purchase plans with such "easy credit" terms actually do require past credit experience or a favorable credit rating contrary to their advertising. Some stores may require a person to produce credit cards, along with some identification such as a driver's license, before a rental-purchase contract can be completed.

A few stores that have been reported to promote such rental-purchase plans by advertising easy credit, low monthly payments, free delivery and service, and the right to apply rental payments to the purchase price tack on a large deposit charge.

When a consumer decides to enter into such an agreement the FTC notes that some of these merchants may assure the consumer that he will own the appliance after a certain number of payments, but that such stipulations are not included in the contract.

The agency also calls attention to the practice of some unscrupulous merchants who allow or even encourage consumers to miss payments, or to make late payments, early in the rental-purchase contract period. Then, when ownership of the merchandise is about to pass to the consumer, the merchant may point out a clause in the contract stating that payments cannot be late and repossess the merchandise.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys recommend that consumers check several things before entering into a rental-purchase agreement:

1. If you know in advance that you want to buy an item instead of renting it, check several stores for prices on the equipment. You may find that the price paid under a rental-purchase plan is considerably higher.
2. Do not be swayed by offers of easy credit.
3. If you decide to rent an item with the idea of trying it out and perhaps buying it, BE SURE that your contract states that rental payments can be applied to the purchase price. Any reputable merchant will be happy to have his promises written into the contract.
4. Note carefully if the rental-purchase contract requires that each payment on the merchandise be made by a certain date. If it does, be sure your payments arrive on time, or you may risk having the merchandise repossessed later.
5. And, finally, deal with merchants who have the reputation of providing good products or service at a fair price.

If you have a problem with a rental-purchase agreement or need other consumer information, contact our Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Austin, Tex.—When the Constitutional Convention collapsed in total failure, state legislators immediately began proposing new approaches to the long-thwarted revision effort. A wide range of alternatives are available, and lawmakers are committed to try all of them. These suggestions already have been offered:

—Creation of a brand new Constitutional Convention, with plain citizens rather than legislators occupying most of the delegate seats. —Submission to voters of the basic revision document drafted by the 1974 convention, without the controversial separate submission proposals (like right-to-work) which deadlocked this year's session. —An article-by-article revision, based largely on work of the convention. —Submission of the document originally prepared by the 37-member Constitutional Revision Commission as a guide to the convention. —If all else fails, consideration of a cleaned-up and slimmed-down version of the 1876 constitution stripped of outmoded provisions. —While the 1974 convention ran out the clock without accomplishing anything, hope remains lawmakers will have learned some lessons and that more than a year of research and expenditure of $3.2 million will not be a total loss.

No Special Session Gov. Dolph Briscoe rejected requests for a special legislative session on state employee pay raises and supplementary school financial aid.

He said a special session at the tag end of an exhausting Constitutional Convention would not be practical, and the most pressing problems can be met by emergency action in the next regular legislative session. Specifically, Briscoe committed himself to these emergency goals in 1975, which will cost approximately $216 million in general revenue: —A 10% cost of living pay raise for all state employees effective Feb. 1, 1975. (Legislative Budget Board has recommended $285 million in pay and fringe benefit increases for state employees during the 1976-77 fiscal period.) —An increase of $40 per student in average daily attendance for maintenance and operation of public schools, with distribution arranged to benefit "poor" districts most. —A 15% increase in benefits of teachers who retired before March 31, 1969, and a 10% increase for those that retired between that time and May 31, 1971. —A 10% increase in retirement benefits for state employees who retire before August 31, 1974.

Auto Hearing Set The annual auto insurance rate hearing has been scheduled for October 1. The State Board of Insurance will conduct the hearing for the new rates to become effective December 1. While the hearing is usually held in the summer, it was delayed this year to get maximum information on impact of the gasoline shortage and slower speed limits which may bring rate reductions.

Attorney General's Opinions Cities cannot purchase land for industrial site development by promissory notes to be paid out of revenues from the project, Atty. Gen. John Hill held. In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: —District clerks are liable for mysterious disappearance of child support money paid into registry of the court prior to deposit. —When judgment on which an execution sale is based is void, a purchaser obtains no title to property. —Requirements that counties, hospital districts and certain cities must adopt a uniform system of accounting and make quarterly reports of expenditures made for welfare programs are valid. —A contract to buy fuel for a county from the brother of a county commissioner is not necessarily void when the commissioner has no interest in fruits of the contract, direct or indirect.

Reef Obstacles Lifted Obstacles to permits for Liberty Ship fishing reefs have been removed, according to Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston. Schwartz, of the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, said U. S. Department of Interior concern over placement of the ship hulls at points selected by the council is now lifted. Interior feared the ship sites might interfere with offshore oil and gas exploration. Several steps remain, however, before the ships can be obtained, scrapped and sunk. Proposed locations are southeast of Freeport, south-southeast of Port O'Connor, south-southeast of Port Aransas and about midway between Port Isabel and Port Mansfield.

Election Set A special primary election to name a Democratic nominee for State Board of Education in East Texas District 1 is slated for August 31, following a court ruling. (The date originally was set for September 7.) The election will be held in Bowie, Camp, Cass, Cherokee, Delta, Fannin, Franklin, Harrison, Henderson, Hopkins, Hunt (partially), Lamar, Marion, Morris, Panola, Rains (partially), Red River, Rusk, San Augustine, Shelby, Titus, Upshur and Wood counties. Absentee voting will begin August 12 and last through August 27.

Short Snorts... Hot, dry weather has cost the Texas agricultural economy two billion dollars this year, according to Agriculture Commissioner John White. Midway Services, Inc., withdrew its application for a controversial waste disposal site near Groesbeck. Governor Briscoe asked Briscoe and Fisher counties be added to the list of counties designated disaster areas because of drought. Another $4.7 million in Criminal Justice grants have been approved for law enforcement and justice improvements. Texas Society of Professional Engineers has come out in support of private ownership of offshore terminals. An application has been filed for a new bank at Oak Ridge in Montgomery County. The Governors Committee on Aging awarded a $200,000 contract to Texas Farmers Union Community Development Association for administration of the Senior Texans Employment Program (ST-EP). Texas State Securities Board has received nine applications for permits to sell $4.3 million worth of securities in the state during the last two weeks.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ICE CREAM CONE!

The next time you see someone licking a cool, delicious mound of ice cream cuddled in a crunchy cone, you might give a sigh for those departed souls who lived before they yummy, tummy-tempting treat was invented. The ice cream cone celebrates its 70th birthday this year. For it was in 1904 that America, which had already given the world the telephone, the airplane, the cotton gin and the loganberry, came up with the ice cream cone. It happened, most accounts agree, at the St. Louis World's Fair. Thereafter, details vary. One version has a nameless concessionaire hawking a flat, sweet cake which he baked on a griddle before his customers' eyes. During a lull, he rolled one of his still-warm cakes into a cornucopia shape. But what could be put in the cornucopia? The vendor in the next stall was selling ice cream. He leaned over and begged a dollop for the open end of his creation — and the ice cream cone was born. Unfortunately, according to this story, neither man saw that it was a great day in gastronomic history. But two other Fair employees were taken with the idea. After the fair closed they went to Cincinnati where they began to experiment with baking cones. They used a small hand oven and turned out hand-rolled sweet sugar cones and the pressed or molded type. Their products found a ready market and before long cones appeared in other cities. Automation got into the act in 1910. That was when Frederick A. Bruckmann of Portland, Oregon, invented a machine that turned out 3,000 cones an hour. He sold machine rights and territories to businessmen in various parts of the country and a new industry was launched. Nabisco, Inc. entered the cone business in 1928 by buying the McLaren Consolidated Cone Corporation. Founded by Alexander McLaren, who early had obtained the rights to the Bruckmann machine for certain eastern territories, the company had a number of plants around the country. One of the main features of the McLaren cones was the nesting ring of extra thickness around the outside of the cone near the top. This permitted the cones to be packed one inside the other for shipment, without the disastrous percentage of breakage which plagued the industry in its early years. Nabisco manufactures three basic types of cones: waffle cups, which come in assorted colors and flavors, waffle cones and sugar cones. One Nabisco plant, for example, bakes over 300 million cones a year. The biggest switch in sales has been from regular size cones to be dispensed in stores to cups for home use. Mom's kitchen is becoming a do-it-yourself ice cream parlor. Probably nobody knows the exact date on which to say "Happy Birthday" to the ice cream cone, but wittingly or not, millions of cones will be raised to the lips in celebration this year. Since the most recent figure shows the United States

FOR PALACE OR PALATE...Ice cream cones can tempt a lad to dream. consuming 786 million gallons of ice cream annually, what if it all were dispensed in single dip cones? It would come to about 194 cones eaten each year by every man, woman and child. Of course, not all ice cream is consumed this way, but isn't it a delicious thought in this cone-prone world?

You've Come a Long Way, America

Just one step in the early American method of soap making was rendering animal fat to mix with lye made from ashes, as shown in this picture taken at Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Michigan. In contrast to this arduous, but once-necessary task, the simple procedure of picking up a bar of soap at the local store is just one example of the dramatic changes in American life in the past 100 to 200 years.

This summer, the country's first major Bicentennial exhibition will be on display at the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Michigan. Titled "Industrial Heritage U.S.A.," it has been developed by the Museum in commemoration of the American Bicentennial in cooperation with 26 outstanding industrial organizations. The exhibition illustrates the dramatic changes in life style and points up the improved standard of living resulting from the evolution of American industry.

Individual exhibits trace the evolution of such diverse areas of American life as home entertainment, home lighting, the kitchen, the bath, farm equipment, clothing and electric power. Literally hundreds of artifacts have been selected for the exhibits from the vast collections of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum to contrast the products of the past with those of today. Overall, "Industrial Heritage U.S.A." is an American history exhibit which will fill anyone who sees it with a feeling of admiration for the hardy individuals of the past and a sense of appreciation for the progress which has been made since our country's birth. After Labor Day, the exhibition will begin an extensive tour of the country which will take it to every contiguous state in the Union by the end of 1976. But each summer, it will return to the Henry Ford Museum to be displayed during July and August among all the other collections which bring American history to life there.

Now Just A Month Away . . .

Plans Continue For Folklife Festival

San Antonio certainly has enough attractions in its own right to warrant a tour at any time but during the second week in September (Sept. 12-15), the third Texas Folklife Festival will be an extra drawing card.

With 21 of the state's 26 major ethnic groups signed for the Festival as early as June, visitors are assured of another four days filled with color, music, folk dancing, old-time games and plenty of good food. (Hopefully, the weather will co-operate better than it did last year, when exhibitors but not spirits were considerably dampened.)

Here are just a few of the attractions you can expect, if this is your first visit to the Festival, you can sample the "World's Largest Gumbo" from a 450-gallon pot in "Cajun Land." You can take your pick musically from country-western, gospel singers, a German oompah band, kilted bagpipers and drummers. Watch artists and craftsmen ply their skill at bread crump sculptures, lye soap making, tinsmithing, whittling, and many other modern and old-time arts.

Free shuttle bus service from the downtown area will be provided by the Festival—much simpler than trying to park near the site, which is at the Institute of Texan Cultures on the HemisFair grounds.

Also, if you buy advance tickets you'll save money. Before Sept. 12, adult admissions are $1.50 and children under 12 are 35c; gate admission will be $2 for adults and 50c for children. For tickets and further information concerning the Festival, write Texas Folklife Festival, Box 1226, San Antonio, Tex. 78294.

Outdoor Equipment Care

I guess almost every family in America is guilty of neglecting outdoor tools and equipment.

We expect them to last forever. For them to do the job they are intended to do, cleaning them at the end of each season should become a matter of course.

Rust and corrosion are common enemies of outdoor equipment. Here are a few hints to follow for easy care:

Scrape the mud from handtools. Fertilizers attract moisture and invite rust, so remove all traces of fertilizer from your spreader and wash with full-strength Janitor In A Drum. Rinse and let dry. Remove any rusty spots with steel wool and coat the metal with lubricating oil. Store the tools in a dry place.

Insecticides left in a sprayer can ruin it in one season. Wash thoroughly with your cleaner, rinse and dry.

A garden hose containing water can spring a leak in cold weather. Empty the hose of water and store on a reel or coiled on a flat surface.

Meat Price Break Good News

With meat and poultry prices down, barbecue fans can now look forward to more than the formerly anticipated number of cook-outs. Whether you barbecue over charcoal, gas or electric, the sauce is all important. Here's a quick one as easy as one two three.

QUICK BARBECUE SAUCE

1 cup tomato catchup
1/4 cup Karo dark corn syrup
1/4 cup bottled Italian dressing

Stir together catchup, corn syrup and Italian dressing. Brush on meat or poultry during cooking. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

TWO '74 ELDORADO HIGH SCHOOL GRADS ATTEND PREVIEW ASU IN SAN ANGELO

Benjie Jay and Robert Parker

San Angelo, Tex. Aug. 2.—Two students from Eldorado were among 476 students who recently took part in Preview ASU at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

The annual summer orientation program for new students entering Angelo State in the fall attracted new students from throughout the state.

The Eldorado students taking part in the program were Robert Benjie Jay and Robert William Parker.

Participating students spent one full day during the week-long program on the Angelo State campus attending informational sessions on all phases of University life. In addition, the students met with academic advisors who assisted them with planning their fall class schedules right down to the room number.

Those who completed Preview ASU and who pay their fees prior to Aug. 23 will have little else to do but check into their residence halls for the start of the fall semester on Sept. 3.

Righteous Brothers To Appear At Six Flags

Arlington, Texas.—The Righteous Brothers will head the entertainment lineup at Six Flags Over Texas on Friday, August 9.

Beginning in 1962, and with their first hit record, "Little Latin Lupe Lu," The Righteous Brothers came to be considered one of the most innovative sounds of the '60's, appearing on numerous television variety shows as well as headlining major concert halls.

Besides playing the main supper clubs in the United States and Europe, Bobby Hatfield and Bill Medley became the first rock'n roll act ever to play Las Vegas, headlining at the Sands Hotel for three years.

Following the success of "Little Latin Lupe Lu" The Righteous Brothers went on to record a succession of best-selling singles and albums, including "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'," "Soul and Inspiration," "Unchained Melody" and "Ebb Tide," selling more than 10 million records and receiving three gold albums and four gold singles.

In 1968 the team decided to go their separate ways. But now they are reunited, offering a unique combination of rock and blues as their own brand of music, and their newest single release, "Rock 'n' Roll Heaven," is a sensation.

Performances by The Righteous Brothers at Six Flags Over Texas will be at 8:00 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. in the park's new Music Mill Theater.

All tickets purchased at the front gate after 6:00 p.m. will be two for the price of one.

Six Flags will be open on Friday from 10:00 a.m. until midnight.

Fruits & Vegetables In Market Spotlight

College Station, Texas.—Fresh fruits and vegetables take the market spotlight this month, Mrs. Margetholyne Clyatt reports.

"Peaches, plums and nectarines are the fruits of the week," the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, added.

Other fruits worth considering include Thompson seedless grapes, bananas and pineapples.

Vegetable include watermelon, cantaloupe, cabbage, summer squash, mustard greens, carrots, okra, blackeye and purplehull peas, dry yellow onions, radishes, green onions and cucumbers.

With beef prices trending upward, Mrs. Clyatt advised consumers to watch for advertised specials on chuck steaks, and roasts.

"For economy, look to the less tender cuts of meat—watch the ads for lower prices on less popular meat cuts, which you can tenderize by marinating or slow, moist heat cooking."

Other values are ground beef and liver, she said.

"Although prices are up a bit, chicken is still a good buy, while turkey is plentiful and often bargain priced," the specialist said.

Consumer Watchwords: This is a good time to tuck a few pot roasts into the freezer for next winter.

TO CONDUCT SERVICE

The Rev. Gordon Gorington, pastor of the 1st Presbyterian Church, will have charge of the service this Sunday afternoon, August 11th, at the local Nursing Home.

Ancient Egyptians believed that bees were born in the tears of the sun god.

To cure a man of drunkenness, some Europeans recommended skinning a live eel and dipping the skin in his drink. That should sober anyone up fast!

A pair of silk stockings produced in 14th century France sold for the equivalent of $3.86—2 1/4 times a laborer's annual wage.

PUPPIES DON'T SIT ON FENCES

But people sit on fences. And faithful puppies never question. Our children, trusting the love and wisdom of their parents, respect even our indecision. But the moral and religious growth of every child is deeply influenced by his parents' commitment of their own lives to God. We have outlived the day when fathers and mothers sent their children to Sunday School without accepting their own rightful responsibilities and opportunities in the religious community. Juvenile delinquency is the aftermath of fence-sitting! The Church is for the family. Religious instruction and inspiration are foundations of the home. Lives—growing or mature—gain direction only with commitment. Join the FAMILIES who worship and grow together in church.
