

Pet Duck Follows Lad Everywhere

DECATUR, Ill., June 17 (AP)—OM McDonald who had that tenuous farm had nothing on four-year-old Wayne Day, because there's a quack, quack here and a quack, quack there wherever he goes.

A duck, hatched four months ago, has been Wayne's constant companion ever since—even when the family goes downtown or auto-mobiling. And whenever Wayne's toddle outdistances "Donald's" the protesting quacks can be heard for two blocks.

Defense Work Helps Girls Out Of Jail

GENEVA, Ill., June 17 (AP)—Indirectly, the defense program may expedite the release of some of the inmates of the state school for girls.

When the school's two farm laborers quit to seek defense jobs, a dozen of the girls took over part of the work. Their wages—added good behavior points toward paroles.

When Firemen Are Away, Fire Plays

VAN ALSTYNE, June 17 (AP)—The town hadn't had a fire for three months, so last night the Van Alstyne fire fighters went on a picnic 25 miles away. While they were gone, a brand-new fire truck and a fireman's house burned down.

Baptist Men Hear Former Rum Runner

Meeting of the East Fourth Baptist church brotherhood Monday night was hailed as one of the most interesting of the organization's history.

Grady Spragin, former big time Houston rum-runner and gambling boat operator, was the main speaker. While operating this illicit business, he was persuaded by his nine-year-old daughter to profess his faith in Christ, and since that time he has been preparing himself for the ministry.

Ninety-one men were present for the banquet, and several women and youths came in to hear the speaker. Many local churches were represented.

Man About Manhattan— Writers' Tributes To Max Schmeling Don't Ring True

NEW YORK—The wreaths that were hung on Max Schmeling's name by some sports writers when the erroneous report of his demise in Crete came in were not in key with the things that were said about him when he was fighting in the United States. I can recall more than one essay summing up the German as a miser and a penny-grubber. Max never cared about blowing his money on blondes in Broadway nightclubs.

Whether Max Schmeling was a good fighter or a bad fighter had no bearing on the issue. He whipped Louis, and the only reason he fought Louis was for the right to meet Braddock for the title. He must have been dazed, to say the least, when Louis, after recovering from his beating, was given preference and an open shot at Braddock's title, which he lifted without too much trouble.

Petroleum Industry Seeks Transportation Bills Remedy

By CHARLES E. HARNER
Herald Special News Service
NEW YORK, June 17.—The petroleum industry is torn with internal dissension today over supplying the eastern part of the nation with gasoline this summer and fuel oil this winter.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, petroleum coordinator, has warned that some system of rationing may be necessary. Some oil men agree with him wholeheartedly; others definitely do not.

The oil crisis was brought to a focus by the withdrawal to British service of 50 tankers which formerly served the eastern seaboard out of Gulf and South American ports. These were part of a fleet of 280 ships which delivered gasoline to the east at a rate of 225,000 barrels daily.

It was less than two months ago, before the effects of the tanker diversion were felt, that leaders of the industry proudly proclaimed that the "oil business on its present basis can meet any conceivable defense demands."

Now, however, as the summer motoring season advances, areas of the nation well removed from oil supplies are finding their gasoline stocks dwindling and the outlook for the fuel and heating oil with which much of the east uses in winter is not optimistic.

Some authorities are suggesting that oil and gasoline storage along the north Atlantic coast may be replenished by obtaining from the British use of some of the withdrawn tankers for a few rapid coastwise trips and by placing on the east coast run tankers now engaged in carrying oil and gasoline in the Far Eastern service.

In the five months which will elapse before heating oil demands become heavy one tanker could carry half a million barrels of oil from Texas to New York.

Meanwhile, to eliminate the possibility of future east coast shortages and to permit the transfer of more tankers to British use, oil men foresee the likelihood of construction this year of between 2,000 and 4,500 miles of new pipelines east of the Mississippi river at a cost of $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

One proposed line, 1,800 miles long, would run from the Texas coast to the New York area, carrying gasoline and other refined products. Another 900 miles long, would transport crude oil from the Illinois fields to eastern refineries.

Two others in the south are under construction, preparing to carry gasoline and fuel oil into the industrial regions. A fifth has been started across New England from Portland, Me., to carry crude oil from ocean tankers to Montreal refineries.

Not all the industry favors such a pipeline program. Many oil experts say ocean tankers are the best and cheapest transports of oil from Texas up the east coast. This is where controversy rages.

Some cost accountants assert oil and gasoline can be delivered in New Jersey from Texas by tanker at a minimum cost of 12 cents a barrel; they say the lowest cost which could be obtained on a parallel pipeline delivery would be 15 cents a barrel.

As far as railroad tank transportation is concerned, they cite the rate as $2.57 a barrel and, therefore, out of the question economically. Several of the leading oil companies have tried to get together to build a 12-way shipyard, probably at Savannah, where they could construct 36 high-speed ocean-going tankers a year.

Such a combination of corporations might violate the anti-trust laws and, besides, there is a definite shortage of ship-building materials and skilled shipyard workers.

Oil men are in agreement in opposition to the idea of gasoline Sundays, except as a last resort.

They point out that thousands of filling station operators, farmers, resort operators and employees, and even federal and state treasuries, would be hard hit by such a drastic restriction.

WPA Workers Listed For Private Jobs

SAN ANGELO, June 17.—WPA District Manager John C. Burnside today reiterated his reminder to farmers and other private employers that all WPA workers are listed with the Texas State Employment Service and are available for private employment.

WPA workers will be released from projects wherever needed to make farm help available, Burnside declared. "Prospective employers should consult local representatives of the Texas State Employment Service," he explained, "as this is the duly-constituted agency for referring WPA workers and other persons seeking private jobs to employers."

Rolls of the WPA are constantly open to private employers, Burnside emphasized, and no worker who refuses a bona fide offer of employment will be retained by WPA. This regulation is based on the following section of the WPA appropriation act.

Currently employed on WPA projects in this district are 4018 men and women and an additional 1716 persons are certified as eligible for WPA employment and are awaiting assignment whenever jobs are available. All of these persons are registered with the Texas State Employment Service and are immediately available to private employers, Burnside stated.

Courtship Mileage High
SYRACUSE, N. Y. — A 34,000-mile courtship has been ended with the marriage of Corporal Gerald L. Jones, stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and the former Miss Dorothy Holmes of this city. Jones calculated he had driven that distance in visits to the home of Miss Holmes.
Alabama Spinning Booms
MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Alabama's cotton spinning industry is operating at near-boom peak, with 1,729,018 of the state's total of 1,802,156 spindles in operation this winter.

BARROW'S

"Quality Furniture for Those Who Care"

A California society of railroad enthusiasts sponsors excursions over old mine and timber lines that carry no regular passenger traffic.

Because of war-time trade dislocations the United States has increased sales of watches and clocks in South Africa by about 50 per cent.

"National Defense is Part of Our Job, too"

"Fellows, we may not be in the army, but our job of supplying plenty of dependable electric service to industries engaged in defense production is mighty important to our peace and security. We've got a big job to do and a reputation to live up to. Good electric service doesn't 'just happen'."

• The entire Texas Electric Service Company system was designed and built with an eye to the needs of a rapidly growing West Texas. Experience gained during the World War period and the period of phenomenal growth in many areas of West Texas is proving to be of great value in meeting the demands for electric service growing out of the National Defense Program.

Today, our organization is far better prepared to cope with the demands for electricity than during the World War. Larger power plants and hundreds of miles of high voltage power lines have been constructed since that time, providing this section of Texas with an integrated electric power system.

Texas Electric Service Company employees realize the importance of dependable electric service in peace time and also in time of national emergency. They are working hard and planning ahead to provide electric power for every need—for use in your home or in turning out national defense equipment.

Dog Determined To Board Bus

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 17. (AP) Somewhere in this town there's a very determined dog.

Put off a city bus when he hopped aboard, he caught up with it at the next corner and jumped in again—with no better luck.

At the third stop the pooch puffed up just in time to make it. This time a passerby held him till the bus was out of sight.

Spinach Seed Supply Is Shortened By War

ST. LOUIS, June 17. (AP)—Real-life Popeyes will get their spinach next year—even though the war has cut importation of seed, most of which came from Europe.

George C. Edler, senior marketing specialist of the United States department of agriculture, told the American Seed Trade association in session today, that increase in domestic planting has offset somewhat the dearth of foreign seeds.
