Elementary, Middle School recognized by Texas Education Agency

Eldorado Middle School and Eldorado Elementary School were recognized with Gold Performance Acknowledgements last week by the Texas Education Agency for attendance and test performances during the 2007-08 school year.

The Middle School received Commended Performance in Math, Reading, Writing and Attendance.

Acknowledgements of "Commended" are given when over 25 percent of those students taking the test received "Commended Performance" on that part of the TAKS test. Commended Performance is awarded in Attendance when 95 percent attendance is attained.

In addition to its "Recognized" status, Eldorado Elementary School received "Commended" acknowledgements in Reading and Writing, as well as "Comparable Improvement" acknowledgements in Reading and Math.

Superintendent Billy Collins explained that "Comparable Improvement" ratings are recognition for growth in individual students TAKS scores in comparison to other schools similar to ours.

"I am very proud of any type of "Gold Performance Acknowledgement," Collins stated, "particularly the "Commended Performance."

He extended his praise to the faculty and staff of the two campuses by saying, "I know that all of you have gone that extra mile when we receive these."

County installs "Reverse 9-1-1" telephone alert system

Schleicher County announced today it has selected the Connect-CTY mass notification service from Blackboard Connect Inc. to serve as a Reverse 9-1-1 system. The county will conduct its first community-wide test call on 10/31/2008

Schleicher County has implemented the Connect-CTY service to provide county officials the ability to communicate with residents regarding time-sensitive incidents, which may include public safety matters.

The Connect-CTY service allows officials to record, send and track personalized voice messages to thousands of residents, businesses, and local agencies in just minutes, through a single phone call. The county can also send text messages to cell phones, PDAs, e-mail accounts, and TTY/TDD receiving devices for the hearing impaired. The service requires no additional hardware; it can be used from any computer with Internet access or just a telephone, ensuring that officials can send vital messages from wherever they are located.

"The county is constantly looking for ways to improve communication with its residents," said Sheriff David Doran. "With the new Connect-CTY mass notification system we will be able to alert residents of important information in a matter of minutes."

County administrators can target messages to an unlimited number of groups - everything from mobilizing emergency response teams to coordinating efforts with necessary agencies or volunteers. Authorized users also can use a map on the Connect-CTY system to contact specific geographical locations, sending messages only to the residents within select neighborhoods when needed.

"The county plans to use the system to alert residents in events such as power outages, severe weather, flooding and other unforeseen instances," said Sheriff David Doran. "I strongly encourage residents to register their contact information into the secure Connect-CTY service database to make sure they are ready to receive our alerts at any given time."

County Commissioners ink deal for septic tank inspections

The Schleicher County Commissioners court met Monday October 27, 2008 with all members present.

At 10:00 am an Open Public Meeting was held to receive input on Schleicher County's proposal to delegate authority for on-site sewage facility inspections to Charles McDonald of Voca.

A public notice for a public meeting was published in the October 23, 2008 edition of The Eldorado Success.

With no interested parties appearing to address the issue, the commissioners moved to signing a contract with McDonald, who was present to answer any questions the commissioners might have.

One point McDonald made clear was the county's ability to adopt more stringent rules that the state's required minimum. They cannot, however, set standards lower than required by the Texas Commission of Environmental Quality.

During his visit with the men, McDonald noted that all complaints are kept confidential. He said he already had several septic systems to approve when all the paper work is finished.

Commissioner Matt Brown made the motion to approve the On-Site Sewage Facilities Order and Resolution. Johnny Mayo seconded the motion, with all commissioners voting to approve it. Judge Johnny Griffin signed the documents.

The court then approved a standard fee for a septic system application at $325.00. McDonald will be paid $600 a month retainer.

The court discussed purchasing a new pickup for the county's maintenance supervisor Mike Haynes and going through the Houston buy board. They also discussed taking bids for a new maintainer for the road department and selling the county's used 1975 Gallion Motor Grader. The court took no action.

An agenda item on purchasing a tree chipper for the use by the county was tabled. Mike Haynes was instructed to contact the city and set up a location to dump the limbs to be chipped by the city's chipper. The county is part owner of that machine.

Also approved was a resolution to the Indigent Defense grant program.

The court then approved replacing water system valve boxes at the courthouse. Price tag for the project will be $600 each with two valves being required.

Before adjourning, the men approved three indigent care requests electric bills totaling $775.00.

Texas, the Helium Capital

When scientists in France and England discovered helium 140 years ago, their eyes were on the sun, not on Texas. Yet decades later, the Lone Star State became the epicenter of the "lifting gas," and Amarillo gained the title "Helium Capital of the World." Still today, the federal helium facility northwest of Amarillo accounts for a third of the world's supply of helium.

The European astronomers first identified helium when they were studying a solar eclipse and spotted a previously undetected yellow atmospheric band around the sun. Another 27 years would pass before scientists discovered helium in minerals on Earth.

As researchers learned that natural gas deposits are the leading source of helium, they went to big fields of natural gas in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma. In Texas, the hunt led to the Petrolia oilfield near Wichita Falls. The federal government built the nation's first helium extraction plant there in 1915. A full-scale plant was built in the Fort Worth area in 1921.

In these years surrounding World War I, extraction of helium primarily supported the needs and interests of the U.S. Army and Navy. During the 1920s, large airships, including the U.S. Navy's "Shenandoah," routinely docked near the Fort Worth helium plant.

In 1925, the Helium Act created the Federal Helium Program and assigned responsibility for all U.S. helium production to the federal government. The government built the first of several helium facilities in the Amarillo area in 1929.

American industries continually discovered new uses for helium. The most obvious include blimps first launched by Goodyear 80 years ago. But helium's versatility goes beyond blimps and party balloons. It is used in arc welding, in the manufacture of fiber optics, computer chips and consumer electronics, and for magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) in medicine.

Texas has a high profile in the consumption of helium. NASA utilizes it in many ways, including pressurization of space shuttle fuel tanks. NASA's Columbia Scientific Balloon Facility at Palestine in East Texas also depends on helium. This facility has launched more than 1,700 scientific balloons since 1963, providing research in such areas as atmospheric sciences, astronomy and physics.

Sulphur Springs in North Texas is home to AeroStar International's Aerospace Balloon Engineering and Manufacturing Facility, which produces gigantic, high-altitude scientific balloons for NASA and the U.S. military.

Just as it put the federal government in the helium business in 1925, Congress started removing it 70 years later. The Helium Privatization Act of 1996 limited the future role of the federal government in helium by requiring it to discontinue the production and refining of helium, and to sell the helium stockpile by 2015.

The worldwide demand for helium continues to grow, and some experts are cautioning about a possible shortage of helium. Future needs will depend more and more on supplies produced by private industry here and abroad.

Forty years ago, Amarillo erected its Helium Centennial Time Columns Monument to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the discovery of helium. Each of the columns contains a time capsule — with artifacts and information sealed in a helium atmosphere — telling the story of the industry. One was opened in 1993 and the other

Voting — An American Right and An Individual Responsibility

In just a few short days, the historic 2008 Presidential campaign will reach its conclusion as Americans cast their ballots to help elect the next Commander-in-Chief. This is one of the most consequential elections in a generation. Our nation is at a critical turning point on many issues that will directly impact every American citizen. Yet, voting is a right that too many in our nation take for granted.

One of the most important instruments of our democracy is the right to vote. In the early years of our republic, voting was restricted to a small, select group of people — predominantly, males who owned property — but over a period of many generations that right was extended across the barriers of race, sex, and class. Following a brutal Civil War, African-American and other non-white males were granted the right to vote in 1870, with the 15th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Fifty years later, after the tireless and courageous efforts of suffragists like Susan B. Anthony, Lucretia Mott, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton, voting rights were also extended to all women. In 1964, the 24th Amendment banned poll taxes in federal elections, thereby extending the vote to all Americans, regardless of property ownership. And in 1971, all citizens 18 or older were granted suffrage.

So many Americans in our nation's history did not have the opportunity to vote, and so many others fiercely struggled to ensure that no American adult today would be denied that right. I would urge every Texan to consider the critical challenges we face in the 21st century and to look at voting as, not only a right, but also a responsibility.

by U.S. Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison

When the next President of the United States takes office in January of 2009, he will immediately face the most serious economic crisis since the Great Depression. The American people will look to the White House for leadership to bring stability to our credit markets and ensure economic stability for every family and business. The next President must lead the effort to overhaul our banking regulatory system so our country is never put in this precarious position again. Therefore, citizens must educate themselves on each candidate's tax proposals and economic plans and cast their vote for the candidate who will keep their taxes low and help them balance their budgets.

Over the past several years, Americans saw an unprecedented spike in energy prices that has made it burdensome for many families to keep gasoline in their vehicles and heat their homes. This year, we will spend about $700 billion to import energy from nations across the globe, some of which are hostile to our interests.

Abbott wants legislation to let owners stay in homes

by Ed Sterling

AUSTIN — Is there anything that can be done before Texas gets hit with a market-driven wave of home foreclosures like Florida, California, Nevada and other states? Maybe so, if state lawmakers approve.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott on Oct. 23 proposed the Texas Foreclosure Deferment Act, legislation to help Texas homeowners stay in their homes.

Under Abbott's proposed act, a mortgage loan servicer would be required to provide a homeowner with a certified letter stating that the debtor has 45 days to cure a loan default before a notice of sale.

Current state law only provides homeowners a 20-day window to cure a default, Abbott said.

"Today's proposal ensures that struggling homeowners have more time to cure mortgage loan defaults and save their homes," Abbott said.

The Texas Legislature will convene Jan. 13, 2009. Early filing of legislation will begin Nov. 13.

Abbott's idea, expressed Oct. 23, fell between two messages from Gov. Rick Perry, one suggesting action to prepare for hard times and the other touting how well Texas is positioned, compared with other states.

At a function in Dallas Oct. 21, Perry said, "As Texans face the impact of Hurricane Ike and prepare for effects of the national financial downturn, Texas businesses and families are tightening their belts and exercising greater financial discipline.

"State government should act no different," Perry said. "We have made tough choices over the years that have earned Texas the economic strength it enjoys today; and we must continue to follow these principles if we hope to weather these storms."

Three days later, on Oct. 24, Perry sent out an "In Case You Missed It" new release, quoting an Oct. 9 survey published by the Financial Times of London, asserting that Texas is the best state to live and do business in with harder economic times on the way.

Phones seized in prison sweep

The problem of cell phones smuggled in to the Texas prison system was the subject of an Oct. 21 interim meeting of the Senate Committee on Criminal Justice.

State Sen. John Whitmire, chairman of the committee, said that during the preceding weeks he received many calls from death row inmate Richard Lee Tabler via an illegal cell phone.

Whitmire's complaint about those calls led to a lockdown and contraband search throughout the 111-unit prison system. The Texas Department of Criminal Justice found and confiscated 22 cell phones in the possession of death row inmates alone. It was learned that at least nine other death row inmates had used Tabler's cell phone to make more than 2,800 calls over the past month.

Whitmire spoke of his concern for the safety of judges, jurors, attorneys and witnesses involved in the trials of death row inmates and for public safety in general.

Among suggestions officials made at the meeting:

- Jam cell phone signals
- Use dogs trained to detect contraband
- Make pat-down searches mandatory
- Install metal detectors and surveillance cameras

Making Films for the Fun of It

I had the privilege recently to judge the American Motion Picture Society's annual film competition. Three of us watched the entries for eight straight nights. Some of the sessions lasted up to four hours. When they asked me to be one of the judges, I said yes without realizing what a grueling time was ahead. It was fascinating, though. The 63 entries came from all over the world. The categories were nature, travel, experimental, documentary, adventure drama and comedy. The length of the entries ranged from two minutes to half an hour.

The first film we watched was from Madagascar. It was about lemurs, little creatures that bounce from one point to another instead of walking. It was totally enthralling. The second one we watched, also in the nature category, was titled "Wagtails" and showed some incredible footage of birds in England carefully building an architecturally superb nest on top of a row of fencing only to see it blown off during a windstorm (it won for best photography). One entry from Africa was about predatory animals and had some gruesome shots of wild dogs catching their prey and eating it.

by Tumbleweed Smith

These filmmakers are all amateurs, although some of their work looked professional. The rules state the entries must be made strictly for the love of the medium and not for any commercial gain. Entries that earned money were not allowed. Now that the competition is over, I hope some of these make their way to television or movie houses because they are of high quality.

Although it is called AMPS (American Motion Picture Society), very few entries came from the United States. The first night of judging there was only one: a travel piece on Chicago. Filmmakers from other countries made movies located in the USA. A group from the British Isles made a movie on forest fires in Utah. A group from Germany did a piece on Indians. On the other hand, some students from Iowa State made a movie in Africa.

The topics were fascinating. One was about body painting. What appear to be girls wearing shirts are actually girls wearing only their painted skin. We saw coppersmiths and potters make incredibly beautiful items by hand. Some of the entries were about Venice and Iguazu Falls. Others were about penguins. We judged on the story, photography, editing, and sound.

When it was all over, the winning entry was a piece from Belgium on Flanders Field, the American Memorial Cemetery from World War One. The production techniques involved, using evocative music and historical photographs and archive film material, made it truly remarkable.

It just barely won. Coming in an extremely close second was a film from Poland on the Auschwitz concentration camp. It was riveting. Stunning. It won the best foreign film award.

Beta Sigma Phi Report

by Glenda Harris

Beta Sigma Phi started the 2008-2009 year on September 9th with six members and one guest Joann Hanusch meeting in the Club Room of the Memorial Building.

Treasurer Kim-et Nelson gave a report on the club's balance and how much we had raised during the bake sale with the Masonic Lodge barbecue. This event was held in conjunction with the annual rodeo. Our club hopes to make this an annual event.

It was reported that if the Way Off Broadway Players do a play this year we have been asked to have our usual refreshments during the intermission. We will wait to hear from the theater.

The club was informed by the school a Fall Festival will be held on October the 30th. As one of our service projects we will have a booth. President Maggie Lloyd will check with the school and Dorothy and Kim-et will check with the San Angelo Credit Union about borrowing one of their games.

Our second meeting of the year was on September 28th at the activity room of the Federal Credit Union with seven members present.

Glenda Harris reported she had visited with J.L. Mankin about doing portraits again this year. With his busy schedule covering all the football, we decided to postpone the project until Easter or Mother's Day.

Following the close of the meeting, Glenda Harris presented Shane West as her guest speaker. Shane is the Democratic candidate for sheriff and he presented us with his platform he would like to apply to the sheriff's office if elected.

Our third meeting of the year was October 14th and again we met at the Credit Union with six members present in attendance.

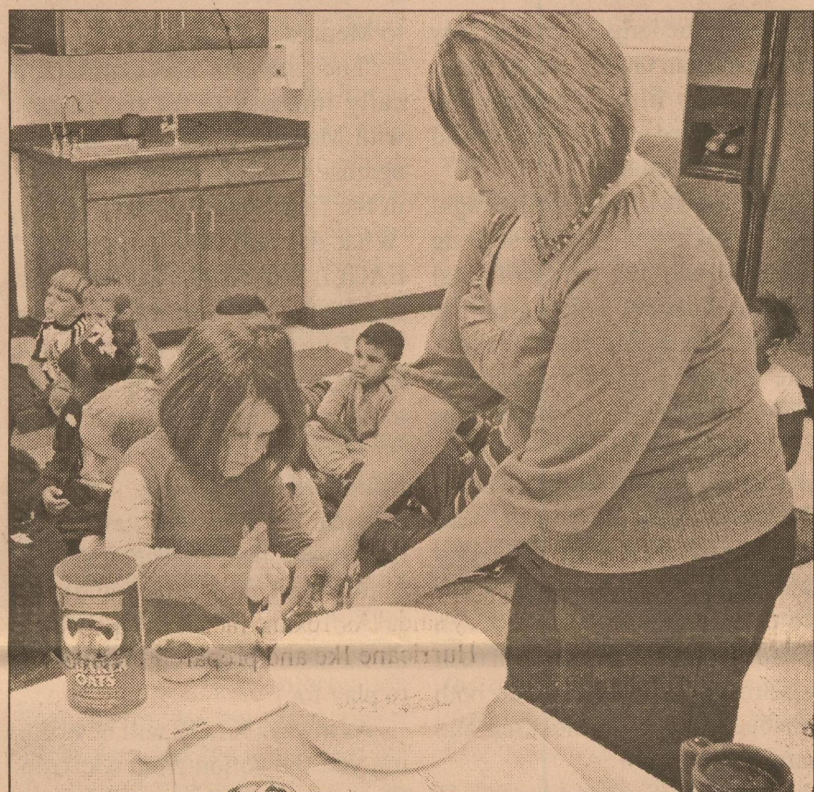

The final touches for the Fall Festival booth were discussed. Maggie and Glenda agreed to take care of getting the prizes for the booth.

We were reminded the first weekend of November is the Game Dinner Association big event. We will be having our annual bake sale in conjunction with the dinner. Everyone is asked to bring at least three items for the sale and have it there by 9:30 a.m.

Our next meeting will be October 28, 2008 at the home of Dorothy Dacy and it will be our Halloween Party. Everyone should dress up in their best costume and expect to have a lot of fun. Dorothy is our Halloween Queen so we can expect the best.

Brushy Top Cowboy Church moves to Hitchin' Post

Brushy Top Cowboy Church has moved to a new location. We will be meeting Sunday night at 6:30 pm at the Red Barn (formally known as the Hitchin' Post). We are excited about this move and plan to stay here until we are able to move to our permanent location early next summer. The coffee will be hot, the fellowship warm, and the music toe-tappin'! Join us as we Ride for the Brand.

Eldorado kindergarten students become chefs for a day

Kindergarten students donned their aprons for a day and became campus chefs. Students studied apples last week and took their knowledge a step further by applying their mathematical skills. They measured ingredients while reviewing what they already knew about apples and ended with the final product of a very tasty apple crisp.

Bittersweet victory: Eagles win game, lose shot at playoffs

by Syllas Politte

Last Friday night, the Eldorado Eagles did everything they could to keep their playoff hopes alive. The Rocksprings Angoras did not do their part. For the Eagles to remain in playoff contention they had to beat Christoval and Rocksprings had to beat Mason. The Angoras lost their second straight contest 20-7 and Eldorado ended a 3 game losing streak.

The Eagles came out to a slow start on Homecoming night. Their first few drives were killed by the same plague that has haunted them all season: penalties and turnovers. Their first turnover led to quick point by the Cougars when the Christoval Quarterback took a 1 yard sneak in for the touchdown. After a successful PAT, the Eagles trailed early 7-0.

In the beginning of the second quarter the Eagles would get their running attack going. With 10:35 left in the half junior running back Wes Brown found the end zone for his first of two scores on the night. His seven yard touchdown scamper got Eldorado on the board. The PAT missed to the right and the score was still in favor of the Cougars 7-6.

Just as quick as the offense got going the Warbird defense began to shut down everything the Cougar offense was doing. Christoval was forced to punt midway through the second quarter giving the Eagles offense good field position. It would take little time for Brown's counterpart, junior running back Ivany Sanchez, to get into the end zone from five yards out. The PAT again failed and with 6:17 left in the half the Eagles were winning 12-7.

Christoval was again halted on their next offensive possession. The Eagles got the ball back late in the quarter and sophomore running back Rudy Sanchez went into the game after a long run by Brown. Rudy was ready to run and with 2:12 left, the young back found pay dirt from nine yards out for his first score of the season and the first score of his varsity career. David Tirado would get into the end zone for the 2 point conversion and the Eagles would lead at the half 20-7.

The Eagles did not appear to lose any focus during the half time festivities. They came out in the 3rd quarter and picked up where they left off in the 2nd. On Eldorado's first offensive possession, David Tirado took a hand off 43 yards for what would temporarily be the Eagle's biggest scoring play of the year. The extra point by Dustin Guana was good and the Eagles were soaring in points 27-7.

The stingy Warbird defense would continue to force Christoval to punt the ball or stop them on 4th down. With 6:15 left in the quarter, Brown would find the end zone for the second time. Guana would split the uprights again and the Eagles would increase their lead to 34-7.

On the Eagles first offensive possession of the 4th quarter, they drove the ball methodically into scoring position. Ivany Sanchez would get his number called and score his second touchdown from 6 yards out. Guana would remain perfect on PAT in the second half and the score would favor the Eagles 41-7.

The Eagles were not done scoring yet. With 4:55 left to go in the game, junior quarterback Garrett Lux was getting some reps while the game was well in hand. Lux took a quarterback sweep around the left side of the offense for 45 yards and the longest scoring play of the season. Guana would again successfully kick it through and push the score to 48-7. That would be the final total.

Garrett Lux took this quarterback sweep 45 yards for the Eagles final touchdown of the night as the Warbirds defeated the Christoval Cougars 48-7 for a Homecoming win in Eagle Stadium.

The Eagles finished the night with 5 different players scoring touchdowns, 415 yards of total offense with 391 coming on the ground and a 2nd half shut out. The Eagle ground attack was led by their leading rusher Wes Brown. He amassed 147 yards on 15 carries to go with two scores. "This was a great team effort," said Burleson after the game. "It's good to see what we are capable of when we don't make mistakes." When asked about their scoring and rushing Brown and Ivany Sanchez both attribute it to good blocking and hard running.

The Eagles record moves to 3-5 on the season with two games to go. Tomorrow night they will travel to Mertzon for a show down with the Irion County Hornets. The Hornets are coming off a loss to Menard.

The playoffs are mathematically impossible for the Eagles with Mason's final game coming against Junction before their BYE in the final week. One might ask, "What do they have to play for?" EAGLE PRIDE!!! They are playing for the 2nd best record in the last 7 years behind last year 7-4 finish. They are playing to make a statement to the district teams for next year that they are gonna work hard and be ready. They are playing the last two games for themselves, their coaches and their family and fans who have supported them all year long. Make no mistake Eagles you have a lot to play for.

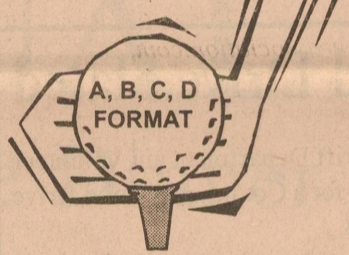

As always KLDE will be bringing you the action from Mertzon. The pre game show will start at 7:00 pm and kick off will follow at 7:30. Make the trip out to Mertzon for this Halloween football game. It could be pretty scary for the Hornets.

Texas Legislative Committee convenes on deer industry

SAN ANTONIO — The Joint Select Legislative Committee on the Breeding of White-tailed and Mule Deer recently held its first hearing in Austin, Texas, and members of the Texas Deer Association (TDA) played pivotal roles. The meeting was a historic first for the Texas deer industry and shines a spotlight on the deer industry's impressive growth and impact on the Texas economy.

State Representative Harvey Hilderbran (R-Kerrville) was elected by fellow committee members to serve as chairman of the 10-person appointed committee. The committee heard testimony from Texas deer industry experts as well from various authorities across the country. The stated mission of the committee is to review barriers that might prevent the breeding industry from operating in the most efficient, effective manner and investigate opportunities that could improve or enhance the industry in Texas. Other legislators appointed to the committee by Lt. Governor David Dewhurst are Senator Kenneth "Kim" Brimer (R-Fort Worth) and Senator Craig Estes (R-Wichita Falls), House Speaker Tom Craddick appointees are Rep. Hilderbran and Rep. Stacy King (D-Batesville).

"We have overwhelming public support for hunting and deer propagation in Texas, and we have an opportunity with this committee to focus on the deer industry, identify barriers to our growth, reduce land fragmentation and protect our hunting and conservation interests throughout the state," says Rep. Hilderbran. "I look forward to working with the Texas Deer Association, Texas Wildlife Association and other organizations across the state to move deer breeding forward and to create recommendations which could lead to positive legislation in January."

"Our committee is working with breeders, hunters, and preservationists to ensure deer breeding continues to benefit all Texans. The impact of deer breeding profits our state's rural, urban, and suburban areas; last year the industry bolstered over half a billion dollars to our state's economy," adds Senator Brimer. "We want to make certain our habitat and other natural resources are protected and the industry can continue to develop and prosper in Texas."

Leading the testimony was Dr. James C. Kroll, co-founder of the Texas Deer Association, as well as founder and current director of the Institute for White-tailed Deer Management and Research Center for The College of Forestry at Stephen F. Austin State University.

"With the unbridled expansion of urban sprawl, American farmers and ranchers are the most endangered species today," warned Dr. Kroll, who explained the ongoing loss of profitability in traditional agricultural has compelled many landowners to seek out alternative land uses for the land. "Raising deer has become an extremely profitable solution and it only requires a few acres so it's a lucrative option for land owners of various means throughout Texas."

The committee questioned Dr. Kroll on topics such as disease research, role of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department within the deer breeding industry, private property land rights, animal testing and other topics. Among the other witnesses to address the committee were: Clayton Wolf of Texas Parks Wildlife Department; Dr. Bob Hillman of Texas Animal Health Commission; Shawn Schaffer, executive director of the North American Deer Farmers Association; Kirby Brown of the Texas Wildlife Association, Joe Trammell, president of the Whitetails of Oklahoma; Bob Zaglin, certified wildlife biologist and wildlife coordinator at Southwest Texas Junior College; Dr. Becky Brewer, Oklahoma State Veterinarian, and other industry experts.

As the state's only non-profit organization solely dedicated to Texas deer, the Texas Deer Association provided strong representation for the industry with Dr. Scott W. Bugai, D.V.M., of Seguin; Joseph Warren Bluntzer Jr. of Lometa, Dr. Richard Cain of St. Jo; and Amanda Lasater of Mason making up nearly one-third of the committee. Dr. Bugai and Bluntzer were appointed to the committee by Governor Rick Perry, Dr. Cain by Lt. Governor David Dewhurst and Lasater was appointed by House Speaker Tom Craddick. Other public appointees to the committee are William Eikenhorst, D.V.M., and Lee Bass.

"Deer breeding accounts for thousands of jobs in small towns across the state, so we are happy to work closely with the committee in developing greater efficiencies within the industry and in creating new opportunities for growth," says Karl Kinsel, executive director of the Texas Deer Association.

The committee originated through landmark legislation (S.B. 573), authored by Sen. Brimer and sponsored in the House by Rep. Hilderbran in the past 80th Legislative Session, and could have significant implications for the future of the deer breeding industry which generated more than $650 million for the Texas economy last year.

The TDA is the only non-profit organization solely committed to improving the quality of Texas deer herds through better habitat practices, modern harvest strategies and use of superior deer to enhance the deer herds. As a part of its public education efforts, the TDA produces a full-color bimonthly publication, Tracks Magazine, which updates TDA members on current industry news, deer genetics and game management issues. The TDA also hosts an annual convention and trade show every August featuring fundraising auctions, a deer auction, golf tournament and other events.

I am Sheriff David Doran, and I am asking for your vote.

My name is David Doran and I am running for re-election as Sheriff of Schleicher County. I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the voters of this county for their support over the past 12 years. I have always believed that it is not the party that makes a candidate but the ethics and qualifications that he brings to the office.

When I was appointed sheriff in 1996 one of my first priorities was to bring transparency to the office of sheriff by ensuring that monthly financial reports were turned over to the County Treasurer's office and annual financial records were turned over to an accounting firm selected by commissioners court for auditing purposes. Every dollar brought into this office, whether it money seized from drug dealers and awarded by the courts, inmate commissary sales or inmate funds, is deposited into the bank. The books are handed over to the county auditors annually and the funds are tracked to the last penny. As your Sheriff, I would not have it any other way.

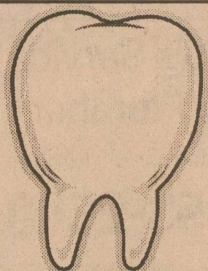

I have always felt it was important to keep the citizens of this community informed of criminal activity and ongoing investigations. We make every effort at preventing crime, but when it happens, you need to know about it so I have cooperated with our local newspaper and the San Angelo media in an effort to keep you informed. Juvenile crime has always been a factor with any community, by law we do not publicize juvenile names nor give undue attention to their crimes, such as graffiti because doing so would only guarantee more of the same. The would-be artists are seeking attention. We prefer to solve the case and put them in jail, while denying the criminal the attention they crave.

There are many other things I could say here, but if you're like me, you're probably weary of politics by now. So I will simply ask for your vote and promise again that I will do my best to represent you in a professional manner and to enforce the laws of the State of Texas without regard to race, creed, or social standing. And, I will always remember that I am working for you, the citizens of Schleicher County.

The DeLong Family

Dave DeLong was the first child born to Wash & Sylvia Williams DeLong, and the first Anglo child born in what is now Tom Green Co. The date was Feb. 8, 1866. Dave grew up in Tom Green Co. where he met and married Annie Belle Smith.

In 1899 Dave and Annie bought four sections of land 14 miles Northwest of Eldorado, and in 1903 built a modern four room house with a bathroom, which was a novelty to all the neighbors, who marveled over the fancy painted bath tub.

The first child born to this union, Ruby Marion, was born in Officers Quarters #8 at Fort Concho. Five more children arrived through the next years. They were William, Edward, Ruth Alice, Mary Francis, David and Jetty Grace.

Mary DeLong wrote this Indian Story about her father and grandfather for the 1930 Schleicher County history book:

"When Dave was six years old his father, G.W. DeLong, started to the South Concho in a wagon with two yoke of oxen to get timber to build a house. While on the way his father, with a discharged lieutenant, named Love, who was at that time staying with him, saw dust off the road about two miles away, going in the same direction that they were, but thought it was caused by wild mustangs. They paid no attention to the matter and continued on their way about five miles farther when they were waylaid by Commanche Indians. The Indians were hidden in the tall Sacaweesta grass, and before G.W. saw them one shot him in the left arm. The man Love was shot with a poisoned arrow through the right ear that drove him insane instantly. G.W. killed the Indian that had shot his comrade, but as his companion was helpless, he was alone with fourteen Indians after his life. He placed his comrade in the bottom of the wagon and began trying to protect himself. He climbed down under the wagon with only a small brass-sided rim-fire forty-four Winchester for protection. He shot through the spokes of the wagon as the Indians began charging with poisoned arrows and guns. After a while all the Indians except the chief went back a small knoll and held a consultation. The chief tied to his horse ran by with a six-shooter in both hands. G.W. aimed, fired at the chief and killed him. After the Indian warriors saw their leader killed, they retreated because it is a custom of theirs not to fight after their chief is dead.

Mr. DeLong turned the ox back toward home, arriving at mid-night. When the family found that he had been wounded, there was great excitement. At that time there was a small place called Fort Concho, where San Angelo now stands, and at this place a small hospital had been erected. Mr. DeLong was taken to this hospital that morning and here he lay for six weeks before he revived."

Eldorado Woman's Club meets with Sheriff

by Noweita Briggs

The Eldorado Woman's Club met Tuesday, October 14, 2008 at 2:30 p.m. in the Methodist fellowship Hall. Theme for the meeting was "County Sheriff." Fifteen members and one guest were present. President Myrt Williams opened our meeting. Ruth Davis gave our opening prayer which contained praying for National Leadership, praying for our troops and praying for our town and community. Susan Lively led us in pledge to our flag. Roll call was answered with "Appreciation for our Sheriff's Department".

Program Leader Cathy Niblett welcomed our guest speaker County Sheriff David Doran. Schleicher County is very fortunate to have someone with David's many skills in his chosen field to lead the Sheriff's department. He continues to seek information that makes the law department up to date and the best it can be. It is good to know he cares so deeply about our county and city and to want the best for everyone. David's very informative talk was about the YFZ Community in our county and its' people and our understanding and acceptance of our differences. David has made a continued effort to explain the differences. He showed us an aerial picture of the compound. Thanks David for bringing us such an informative talk. For people like this reporter it was educational to learn about how completely self sustaining the citizens of the compound are. He also told us about the many buildings and areas of YFZ. Also when called upon how our community contributed to the emergency needs during happenings on the compound.

Following David's most informative talk, President William continued our regular business meeting, she said Rhapsody Swyter had sent us a thank you note, and also reported that club member Shine Spigarelli was in St. John's in San Angelo. Secretary Pat Holt next read the minutes of our last meeting. They were approved by unanimous vote. Treasurer Nelva Martin next gave the report under new business. A price of eight dollars and twenty five cents was set for the cost of a meal for a Veteran, a member would invite to our next meeting. Under old business we discussed our Christmas meeting's custom of exchanging gifts. A suggestion was made we could exchange a small plant. We agreed to table the question of exchanges until our next meeting.

It was also noted that an article was posted in the Eldorado Success about members of the club that would pick up anyone who didn't have a ride to go to vote, several phone numbers would be listed.

Hostesses Pat Holt, Linda Stutes, Penny Black and Noweita Briggs had great eats and the serving table was decorated in a Halloween theme as well as in fall colors. I contributed a few Halloween theme table appointments. I never got to participate in the Halloween giving of candies and such to kids who came to the door in town, as I always lived in the country, so it was fun having a bowl with Halloween candies.

We closed our meeting by reciting our Club Collect. Our next meeting will be Tuesday, November 11, 2008 at the Methodist Fellowship Hall at 12 noon, as it has always been. Our November meeting is on the 11th. Our theme will be "Honor our Veterans," an honor we always look forward to. We always have a local veteran as our guest speaker and over the years they have filled our hearts with their stories of their time in the service. One year this reporter could do nothing but cry, as the veteran's story was so poignant.

Devil's Sinkhole displays unveiled at the Rocksprings Visitors Center

ROCKSPRINGS — Texas Parks and Wildlife delivered five new display banners to the Rocksprings Visitors Center this week.

Thanks to a large grant from the US Park Service National Natural Landmark program, the Visitors Center now boasts five colorful panels illustrating aspects of the Devil's Sinkhole, the life of bats, and the purpose of Devil's Sinkhole State Natural Area.

A bit more than two thousand dollars remaining from the grant was subsequently released which the Devil's Sinkhole Society will use for its new 3D Cave Adventure Theater nearing completion.

Andrew Barnebey, president of the society, stated "We are very grateful to Sarah Lisle, designer and project manager, and her boss Angela Davis at TPWD. Thanks to Park Ranger Randy Rosales for managing the paperwork to complete this project and thanks to the volunteers like Ruth Baddley and Gloria Herrmann who helped provide Society input to the project."

The five panels each stand about seven feet in height. They are portable, so park rangers and Society volunteers can take them to give presentations about the Devil's Sinkhole as well as for other purposes.

The Sinkhole Society will hold extra nighttime bat tours this year since the bats are still present in huge numbers. Those wishing to see the massive tornado of bats emerging from Texas's largest one-chamber cave, should call 830-683-BATS. Some days are blocked due to bow hunting and black powder hunting on the Devil's Sinkhole State Natural Area. These popular bat tours will continue until further notice.

Also, the Society will hold its annual Halloween Open House in the early evening October 31. The Bake Sale will be held in front of Super S Friday, November 7, and Saturday, November 8.

District Court hears criminal cases, grants adoptions

The 51st District Court met in the Schleicher County courthouse on October 27, 2008 with Judge Barbara Walther presiding. There were 20 criminal cases presented, some of which involved the same subjects. The majority of the cases were passed to December 1, 2008. There were also, several civil matters to come before the judge.

Among those was the case of Franklin Sanchez, for burglary to habitation 2nd degree and Joaquin Saiz, aggravated assault w/deadly weapon 2nd degree. In the case of Juan Luis Ramirez, he was not present when court began but showed up later, just in time to get a stern warning from Judge Walther.

FLDS members Raymond Merrill Jessop, Michael George Emack, Merrill Leroy Jessop, Allen Eugene Keate, and Abram Harker Jeffs were present for court. Their attorneys asked Judge Walther to combine their cases but she declined.

Allen Eugene Keate and Merrill Leroy Jessop did receive permission from the judge to leave the State of Texas to take care of business.

There were also motions presented to the judge asking for additional time to prepare for trial due to the large amount of evidence in the case.

Discussion then ensued about a possible change of venue and suppression of certain evidence. Judge Walther stated she would hear those motions in time, and she was ready to hear the motions that were prepared today.

Concerns were expressed about an evidence room prepared by the court for the defense attorneys and the possibility that other parties representing civil cases would be able to get into the room and it would not be good for them to be there at the same time. It was noted and agreed on by the Attorney General's office that anyone other than the lawyers representing the criminal actions would have to schedule a time to get into the evidence room.

Moving on to other business, Judge Walther heard a divorce case and after paternity was established for all children involved, child support established, and possessions divided, the divorce was granted.

The court then heard from three couples bringing petitions of adoption.

One case involved a 3-year-old boy who busied himself by exploring the courtroom and climbing in the judge's lap as she was hearing evidence.

After each adoption case the parents requested pictures taken with Judge Walther which she willingly accommodated.

The next 51st District Court will meet on Monday, December 1, 2008 9 a.m.

However, residents can opt-in to provide their complete information (up to three phone numbers and two e-mail addresses) and indicate if they have a TTY/TDD device by calling (325) 853-2737. Residents with call blocking services can make sure to receive the county's time-sensitive calls by adding (325) 853-2737 to their approved number list.

"The best way to keep residents informed and, therefore, safe is through communication, and the Connect-CTY service makes it easy," said Brendan Cotter, President of Connect-CTY. "With the Connect-CTY service, administrators have a powerful tool for mass communication without having to purchase new computers, software and telephone lines."

Schleicher County will be conducting its first test-call on Friday, October 31st, in order to ensure residents are aware of the program and can provide correct phone numbers and e-mail addresses should they not receive the test message. ## Halloween Party slated at T 9 C Ranch...

The event will not be classified as a haunted house, as in years past, since there will not be as many illusions and mazes as there have been in EOBOC Halloween offerings before. This will be a different sort of Halloween function, geared more toward families and younger children. However, all goblins are invited to come in costume and lurk in corners if they so desire, to act as guides and to scare the wits out of unsuspecting visitors.

The event is free and open to the public, and those wishing to donate candy for the hunt, may do so by leaving it at Rosa's Casita Thursday or Friday, or they may come out before 6 PM on Friday and help "hide" the loot. Also, anyone wishing to be a "spook" to scare people may do so by contacting Jim or Claryce Runge at 853-3678 for instructions and more details. It is estimated that the event will be over about 10 PM.

To find the T 9 C Ranch, turn west right at the Eldorado city limit sign on CR 412 off of Highway 915. Go three miles past the airport and the T 9 C Ranch entrance will be well marked on the left with numerous signs. Signs on the ranch will direct visitors to proper parking areas just west of the barn.

Shout, Shout, Shout!

EHS cheerleaders Bridgett Mitchell, Ashley Paulson, Brittaney Gauna, Emily Espinosa, and Abigail Ussery braved chilly weather last Thursday evening to lead cheers behind Eagle Gym as the student body gathered to celebrate the "Burning of the Double E," an EHS homecoming tradition.

Capital Highlights...

• Increase pay for guards to make them less susceptible to bribery by inmates.

Austin joins ban-box movement

The criminal history box on city of Austin employment application forms is going to be a thing of the past.

Austin City Council voted to remove the box that asks applicants if they have ever been convicted of a crime.

"Ban the Box" is a movement that began in California five years ago. The idea was to help make re-entry into society easier for former prison inmates.

Even without the box, officials said the city will continue conducting criminal background checks on applicants. Travis County passed a similar measure earlier this year.

Money to help in clean air effort

The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality has given the Texas Railroad Commission another $12 million in grant money to help fleet operators in 34 counties replace their old forklifts, school buses and medium-duty trucks with low emissions equipment fueled with propane gas. This is the second $12 million infusion for the purpose.

Early voting higher than in 2004

More than 1 million Texans had cast ballots halfway into the 10-day early voting period that began Oct. 20. In the 2004 general election, about 650,000 Texans voted early, over the whole 10-day period.
