Even Nine Inches Of Rain Fell Thru May

Lloyd Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service office reported Monday that rainfall for the month of May averaged .83 inches.

That amount added to the 1.93, 2.35, 1.25 and 2.64 for the first four months of the year comes to an even nine inches for the first five months. That total would come to about an average of what this semi-arid Southwest Texas area is supposed to receive.

The cumulative rainfall table is printed on page 5 of this Success issue.

We had scattered showers here Monday night.

Donkey Ball Game Rained Out Monday

Brisk showers here Monday night prevented staging of the Donkey ball game, in which local Jaycees were to play 4-H Club members.

Players and fans who arrived for the game remained in their cars until it was announced it would be postponed until a later date—to be announced later.

Mrs. Dan Griffin and son Curtis left last Friday for Houston where they joined her parents on trip to Washington, D. C., on a sight seeing trip and to visit other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Head and family returned Sunday from a trip to Wisconsin where they visited relatives. They also visited at Denver, Colorado, where they toured the mint and art museum, and other places of interest. They were away about two weeks.

Presbyterian Notes

The Methodist-Presbyterian Vacation Church School will be held July 16-20.

SONORA 5 ELDORADO 4

It is called "The Mexican Baseball Field" and is situated on the north edge of town on land belonging to Jud Brannan or Mrs. Humphrey.

Latin boys and young men seem to be the only group in Eldorado interested enough in baseball to field a good team and they have been playing visiting teams for a number of weeks and drawing large crowds.

Sunday they played Sonora here and lost by the close score of 5 to 4. Next Sunday they will play Sonora again—at Sonora.

Success would be happy if the players would appoint a member to bring in reports of each game, including line-up and schedule of future games.

Apparent Heart Attack Claims Life Of Delbert Edmiston While On Trip

DELBERT EDMISTON is shown in the projection room of the drive-in theater he operated here for a number of years. Above photo is from the files of The Success.

Services were held Wednesday at First United Methodist Church for Delbert Ellis Edmiston, lifelong resident of Schleicher county. Mr. Edmiston died Monday afternoon in Methodist Memorial Hospital in Lubbock of a sudden heart attack.

He was born Nov. 30, 1922 in London (in Kimble county), the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. A. "Bill" Edmiston. He was married Nov. 7, 1942, in Wichita Falls to Miss Imogene Miller.

A veteran of World War II, he was a prisoner of war in an Austrian POW camp for 17 months. During that time, his older daughter was born and she was more than a year old before he was released in 1945 and able to see her for the first time. He served in the Air Corps.

In addition, he was the first man from Schleicher county to be called into service for the Korean Conflict. He was recalled as a Reservist and served for a time in the

New License Fees Are Now In Effect

Austin, Tex.—In ceremonies held at the State Capitol in May, Governor Dolph Briscoe signed legislation which raised fees charged for both hunting and fishing licenses.

Major changes which will affect most Texas sportsmen are increases in the resident hunting charges from the previous $3.25 to $5.25 and the fishing fees from $2.15 to $4.25.

Something new for this year, a combination resident hunting and fishing license for $8.75, was also approved by the Texas Legislature. Resident hunting licenses are required of every Texan who hunts outside the county of his residence or who hunts deer or turkey. Exceptions are persons under 17 or over 65 years of age and individuals hunting any species of game except deer or turkey on land where they reside. An exempt license is necessary to hunt deer or turkey because of required tags.

New Pesticide Law To Affect Farmers

Persons engaged in farm operations will need to comply with certain emergency regulations in the use of organophosphorous pesticides beginning June 18. The regulations come under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) of 1970.

This federal act establishes regulations wherein employers are obligated to follow certain standards in assuring a safe and healthful workplace for their employees.

The temporary regulations are effective through the 1973 crop year and concern only those pesticides with a phosphorous base that are considered highly toxic at the time of application. Among these are diazinon, malathion, methyl parathion, parathion and disulfoton (Di-Syston).

Under the new guidelines, employers are required to do the following:

1. During pesticide application, remove all employees from the field who are not engaged in the application.
2. Prohibit employees from re-entering a pesticide treated field until a predetermined safety period has passed.
3. Post written warning signs as indicated by the regulations and give oral notice if necessary.
4. Maintain records of all warnings, both written and oral.
5. Supply protective clothing and equipment to all applicators, and provide safe methods of cleaning such clothing and equipment after use.
6. Maintain certain sanitary equipment and clothing change areas and storage areas away from food and water.
7. Maintain first aid supplies and a supply of potable water for emergencies in reasonable vicinity to any field being treated with pesticides.

The emergency regulations are published in the May 1 issue of the Federal Register. Information is also available from the U. S. Department of Labor or from individual congressmen.

Public hearings will be conducted on the regulations before they are retained past 1973.

Gravel Has Use In Yards

Many homeowners probably have not considered gravel as a replacement for their lawn grass, but it can be a real labor saver for small areas of a yard that aren't used very much.

While it's seldom practical to cover an entire yard with gravel, it can be an excellent substitute for turfgrass in some parts of the yard. Besides, with gravel there's no need to mow it or worry about insects or disease.

A gravel surface prevents erosion, can be attractive to view, and is a great time saver when used under shrubs.

When selecting gravel, homeowners should look for natural coloring that blends into the landscape. A gaudy or bright colored gravel can disrupt a good landscape design. Generally gravel ranging from three-fourths to two inches in diameter is the best buy. A good depth for the smaller size is 1 1/2 to 2 inches while 2 to 3 inches is appropriate for the larger sizes.

If soil drainage is adequate, especially in dryer areas, a heavy gauge builders plastic placed on the ground before the gravel is laid will prevent weeds and grass from poking through the gravel.

In areas with heavy soils and poor drainage, homeowners should exercise caution in using gravel around ornamental plants. The gravel serves as a mulch. In fact it works so well that soils become "sour" and plants may die.

Where gravel is used as a cover away from ornamental plants, a soil sterilant can be used to suppress weeds. The county Extension office can provide information on selecting chemicals that won't damage nearby vegetation.

When using gravel in yards, an edging of redwood or other material will keep it in place.

Be Cautious About Home Improvements

(by John I. Hill, Attorney General)
Austin, Tex.—Now that the weather's nice, and you're spending more time outdoors, you may be noticing that the house could do with a little fixing up.

That kind of thinking might make one susceptible to a home improvement salesman's suggestions for a new roof, aluminum siding, or a remodeling job.

But, be very cautious about agreeing to any construction work until you are certain you are dealing with a bona fide contractor who makes a specific work proposal, complete with plans, specifications and cost estimates.

There are literally thousands of Texas builders who can be depended upon for a workmanlike job.

Too often, homeowners have been fast-talked into unwanted, unneeded and unsatisfactory "improvements," only to find that the so-called contractor has flown the coop, leaving the homeowner with an expensive, long-term installment note which had been sold to a financing company.

In the legitimate construction trade, these home improvement fly-by-nights are known as the "hit-and-run variety." Both the Texas Association of Home Builders and the National Home Improvement Council provide advice telling you what to expect in dealing with a reputable builder, and how to avoid involvements with the type who offices only out of the trunk of his car.

Through complaints handled by members of the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division staff, we have learned that the "hit-and-run" operators prefer to zero in on low-income neighborhoods, but may turn up anywhere.

They know that the folks who find money hard to come by have great pride in home ownership. And they play on that pride.

The typical gambit is to show the man or lady of the house a photograph of a pretty cottage finished with fancy siding. If he protests that he doesn't have the funds to remodel, the salesman counters with an "easy-payment" installment proposal. If the customer still resists, saying that he already is overloaded with payments, he may be tempted with a plan to "consolidate" his bills and the improvement cost under one installment note.

One easy way to tell the unscrupulous home improvements salesman from the contractor you can count on is his insistence on getting you to sign on the dotted line right away.

A regular contractor will expect the homeowner to get bids and estimates from three or four firms, and will present exact plans and specifications for your consideration. Also, he will tell you which financial institutions usually make loans for his company's home improvements, and ask if you would like to go through one of them.

A fast signing with one of the hit-and-run fellows usually leads to heartbreak and heavy expenses. In one case, a homeowner realized several months after accepting a "siding" job that the material used was so thin, it bent on touch. He refused to pay any more install-

Give Stew
Hungarian Accent

"Paprika" is Hungarian for "red pepper." This condiment, is available in different strengths ranging from hot to mild and is useful both as a spice and for decorative purposes. Hungarian cooks are especially imaginative in using paprika. Veal Paprika is a Hungarian type stew Americans will enjoy.

Veal Paprika

- 1/2 cup corn oil
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 pounds boned veal, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 cups water
- 1/2 green pepper, cut in strips
- 3 tablespoons paprika
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoons corn starch
- 2 tablespoons water
- Hot noodles

Heat corn oil in 4-quart Dutch oven over medium heat. Add onion and garlic; saute until tender. Remove onion. Add veal; brown on all sides turning as needed. Add onion, water, green pepper, paprika, parsley and salt. Cover; reduce heat and simmer gently 1 hour or until tender. Mix together corn starch and water until smooth. Add to veal mixture. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute. Serve with noodles. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Flashing Blue Light Means Law Officer

Austin, Tex.—That flashing blue light on the lake shouldn't be too hard to figure out—it means the same as a flashing red light on land.

When out boating and a flashing blue light comes your way, take heed. A lawman may want to talk to you.

According to law, you should reduce power to a no-wake speed until the intentions of the officer are made clear to you. If he wants to talk to you, you should stop the boat and wait for the officer to come to you.

Flashing blue lights on the water are limited to game wardens and other water safety officers.

ments on the $4,000-plus note, only to learn that the note had been sold within 24 hours after he had signed it to another company which had a holder-in-due-course defense against his complaints. Since the papers he had signed included a mortgage on his house, his refusal to pay any more resulted in his home being sold out from under him. By then, the fly-by-night had flown.

The best advice for avoiding that type of problem is:

(1) Make a double check on anybody who is selling "home improvements" door to door. Remember, that auto or pickup truck has four wheels. Look to see if it has Texas license plates.

(2) If the salesman asks you to go with him to a notary, or pulls out a notary seal, he probably is asking you to mortgage your property to him as security on the note. Are you sure that is what you want to do?

(3) Under the Federal Truth-in-Lending law, anyone planning to take a second mortgage as security has to disclose to the buyer in writing that he has the right to change his mind within 72 hours after signing. If the purchaser is not given that notice, he may rescind the contract at any time.

(4) Under the Texas Consumer Credit Code, the contractor must obtain from the consumer who signs a retail installment transaction a certificate of completion, imprinted with these words: "Warning To Buyer—Do not sign this certificate until all services have been satisfactorily performed and materials supplied or goods received and found satisfactory." And, the financial institution who buys the note must give the consumer written warning that he has purchased the note, and the buyer has 30 days in which to file a complaint about the goods or service.

Things You Didn't Know About Time

How many times have you glanced at your watch today? If you're typical of most people you probably look at your watch at least a dozen times a day. We live by the clock.

But, what is time? It may surprise you to learn our chief clock is the Earth itself—as it moves some 68,600 miles per hour in orbit around the Sun. So that when we measure time, we are, in fact, measuring the periodic motion of the Earth.

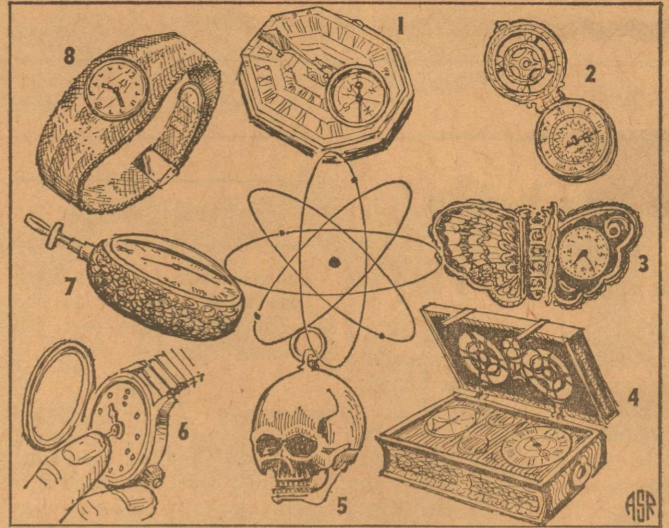

Since 1964, however, scientists have not considered the Earth completely accurate. The "year"—equivalent to one complete Earth orbit around the Sun—is "off," they reported, up to 3 seconds. They pointed out that the Earth's year is the equivalent to 31,556,925.9747 seconds, plus or minus 3 seconds!

Scientists spotted the error by using new clocks that permitted them to develop a new definition for the second: 9,192,631,770 "periods of radiation" of the atom of cesium 133. The pulsating atom of cesium 133 is now the basis of the world's most accurate atomic clocks. It would take a cesium 133 atomic clock 100,000 years to lose more than 5 seconds.

In contrast, experts report that conventional watches are "accurate" to within 30 seconds a day. But in 1961 Bulova introduced the first electronic watch—the Accutron—which is accurate to within 60 seconds a month.

The watch utilizes a tuning fork in place of the usual "balance wheel." As with the cesium 133 atom, the tuning fork vibrates at a precise rate (360 times a second) which accounts for the timepiece's extraordinary accuracy.

The latest development is a miniature version of the Many different watch styles have been used throughout history. Here are some of them: (1) Pocket sundial watch with built-in compass (year 1500); (2) 220-year-old miniature watch still working, using hog's bristle for the balance wheel; (3) 1820 gold and enamel butterfly watch and snuff box with music box in base; (4) Late 1500's German book watch with hour hand, alarm and a sundial; (5) French silver skull watch (year—1600's); (6) Watch for the blind with crystal that opens and raised dots for hours; (7) English watch of 1700's with leather case and chimes that strike the hours; (8) Gold electronic mini Accutron woman's watch (1973). Scientists now use pulsations of the cesium 133 atom to measure time.

watch aptly called mini Accutron, designed for women. It's interesting to note that while the tuning fork on the large model vibrates 360 times a second, the one in the smaller version vibrates 480 times. Researchers say the higher frequency compensates for the small size of the fork and permits the same degree of accuracy.

Earlier devices to measure time included the pocket sundial (which was useful only in good weather), the familiar hourglass (if you remembered to reverse it frequently), and the water clock, which measured the length of time it took for water to flow from one container to another (as long as it didn't freeze).

Old Anglo-Saxons used a marked candle—the distance it took for the flame to burn down from one marking to another—to measure time.

So, if you want the time of day, you might try using a pocket sundial, an hourglass, a water clock, a candle—or better still, a miniature tuning-fork watch.

College Station, Tex.—With so many people using credit today, the possibility of billings errors increases greatly.

"When an error occurs, a consumer may have difficulty locating the cause of error and the right person to correct it," says Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Should an error occur, the specialist offered the following steps to correct it:

1. Notify the store immediately, informing them of the error.
 2. Obtain the name of the person contacted, making a note of it and date contacted. This information is helpful in case of necessary future contacts.
 3. If contact is made in writing, don't send it with the bill—and don't write on the bill itself. Keep a copy of any letters sent for future reference.
 4. Send a registered letter to the credit manager or company president if you experience difficulty obtaining adjustments on legitimate complaints.
 5. In the letter, explain complaint in complete detail and give facts in a courteous manner. Also request that the post office furnish the signature of the person receiving the letter.
 6. If still unable to settle a complaint, write the local Credit Bureau and better business bureau. Provide details and copies of bills, receipts, canceled checks or other evidence that prove your point. Also send a carbon copy of this contact to the merchant involved.
- "Usually with accurate records and a business-like manner, consumers can correct billing errors," the specialist continued.
- "Legitimate businesses are anxious to retain the consumer's good will, and keep him as a customer."
- Mrs. Myers also listed several things consumers can do to help prevent billing errors in the first place.
- Use a credit card when charging merchandise.
 - Examine sales slips to insure all spaces are correctly filled in and no unnecessary marks included.
 - Before signing a bill, make sure the total is correct and in the right place.
 - Save duplicate sales slips and check bills against them.
 - Know when billing dates are and make or mail payments in time to arrive before deadlines.
 - Return the correct portion of a bill with remittance.
 - Check bills for errors as soon as they are received.

Fuel Allocation

(U. S. Senator John Tower)

The Senate has just passed an Emergency Fuel Allocation Act requiring the President to set up priorities for distribution of fuel supplies across the country. Even though I recognize the importance of this legislation, I voted for it with considerable reluctance.

It's clear that there are numerous vital consumers in this country that must be supplied with fuel. Farmers must be able to plant, harvest and process their produce. We already have seen what big increases in demand for wheat has done, in part, to the price of wheat domestically. Evidence is growing that the farms of the nation will be blessed with bumper crops this year. But this will be of no avail should fuels for harvesting and processing these crops and for transporting them to the markets become unavailable. Lack of fuel for planting will aggravate future farm product prices. In order to avoid rapid increases in the prices of agricultural products, I supported an amendment to the Emergency Fuel Allocation bill to give a high priority to farmers in any such plan put into practice.

There are other consumers of fuel that deserve special attention as well: Prime among these are the men who produce our energy. It would be indeed ironic should the very group which holds the promise of our salvation from future energy shortages be denied the fuels with which to carry out the expensive and risky exploration for, and development of our natural resources.

In addition, there are the public service sectors—particularly state and local governments—which will deserve special attention. We cannot afford to reduce police patrols, or to ration fuels for our fire departments. Ambulances must be given adequate service, as well. And the list could be extended.

But despite the fact that there may be disagreements between some of us on the importance of particular sectors in any allocation ranking, the basic need for some system of allocations becomes clear.

With all this in mind, I still had some reservations of the necessity of the proposal we have just voted out. For one thing, the bill is somewhat repetitive. It provides the President with no additional authority over what he was given in the recent Economic Stabilization law extension. As a matter of fact, this proposal makes fuel allocations mandatory. There is some question in my mind whether Congress has the constitutional power to force the President to do this. But in spite of this question, is it really useful to pass legislation that is redundant and possibly restrictive of the Executive's power?

To me, the best method—and one that adheres to my own political philosophical preference—is to have a voluntary system of allocations. Despite some claims of non-compliance, I believe we should give this system a chance to work.

Naturally, it would be preferable that we have no need for an allocation system at all. Traditionally, the free enterprise system has been the best system for allocating goods and services among the various sectors of the economy. And I would urge that the President move away from these allocations at the earliest possible date.

My reluctance to support the Emergency Fuel Allocation bill is compounded by the fact that it does nothing to end the energy crisis or to avert a worsening of it. It does nothing to deregulate the price of natural gas sold in interstate commerce. It does not provide an investment tax credit for more exploration and development of energy resources. It does not facilitate the construction of offshore terminals to help unload the foreign petroleum upon which this nation is becoming too dependent. There is nothing to help develop the offshore continental shelf resources of the Atlantic Coast. Neither does it speed petroleum from the North Slope of Alaska to the markets of this country, nor does it ease or encourage plans for construction of nuclear generating plants.

In short, this legislation does virtually nothing to help solve or ease the energy problems facing this country. It is a "business as usual" bill, and the simple fact is that America can no longer afford to conduct business as usual.

Every remedy to the energy crisis that is now with us is one requiring long-term answers. It will take years to come up with the supplies that are needed. Of necessity, we have to insure certain sectors of the nation with adequate fuel supplies during the current crisis. But I'm afraid too many people, including legislators, will view this bill as a solution rather than an interim measure.

Spreading the pain around to everyone is not the way to solve the energy crisis. Its solution requires immediate and concrete action on a wide variety of issues. But other than steps outlined in the President's energy message, we have seen no action toward increasing the supply of, or decreasing the demand on our energy resources.

Dad's Day Tribute

Make Father's Day an extra-red-letter day by serving Dad's favorite Cherry Pie with crimson fruit filling. A tender corn meal pastry crust gives this pie special man-appeal; its slightly crunchy texture and delicate flavor complement the juicy, tart-sweet filling perfectly. (Be sure to use enriched corn meal for its bonus of vitamins and iron.)

After the last of the steak dinner (Dad's other choice for his day) has disappeared, slice a generous wedge of pie and present to Dad with a mug of steaming coffee. He'll recognize this home-baked treat as a loving Father's Day tribute.

DAD'S FAVORITE CHERRY PIE Makes 8 servings

- Crust: 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 cup enriched corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 6 to 8 tablespoons cold water
Filling: 2 tablespoons cornstarch, Dash salt, 3/4 cup sugar, Three 1-lb. cans red sour pitted cherries, very well drained, 6 drops red food coloring, 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, cut into small pieces

Heat oven to hot (400°F.). For crust, sift together flour, corn meal and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water a tablespoon at a time, tossing lightly with a fork. Form into a ball. Divide in half. Roll out one half on lightly floured board or canvas to fit 9-inch pie plate. Line pie plate with pastry.

For filling, combine cornstarch, salt and sugar. Add cherries, food coloring and almond extract, stirring just until blended. Pour into pie shell. Dot with butter.

Roll out remaining pastry to fit top of pie. Place over filling; trim, seal and flute edges. Cut slits in top for steam to escape. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Place immediately in preheated oven (400°F.). Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until bubbly. Cool.

Austin, Tex.—While the 1973 Legislature managed to avoid a tax bill, outlook for 1975 is "bleak," with new revenue needs ranging up to $700 million, according to Texas Research League.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby earlier came up with a similar gloomy estimate of a $533 million tax boost during the next regular legislative session, but Gov. Dolph Briscoe declined to agree.

According to Texas Research League, state spending from key funds is expected to increase by $550 million in 1976-77, and the increase could run as high as $850 million to $1 billion.

Revenues, meanwhile, are due to rise $550 million to $625 million over the present biennium.

However, TRL cautions these factors must also be considered:

—Federal revenue sharing funds (which accounted for $316 million of 1974-75 income) will drop by at least $100 million, because Texas received a three-year allocation to spend in a two-year period for the current budget.

—An estimated $156 million surplus at the beginning of the next biennium will decrease from $75 million to $100 million depending on bills signed by Gov. Briscoe.

—"With the highest projected spending increase ($1,050 billion), the 1975 Legislature apparently would find itself faced with the need to find $600-$700 million in additional biennial revenues," said a new TRL report. "Even an ($850 million spending hike), means projecting a biennial revenue need of $400-$500 million."

If the next legislature decides to overhaul school finance formulas, a biennial cost increase of perhaps another $300 million can be anticipated, TRL concluded.

Briscoe, at the national governors conference in Nevada, refused to be pessimistic and promised budgeting innovations and other economy moves which he feels can check a tax boost.

Dim View Of Constitution Changes

County officials are getting together to fight any constitutional change which would drastically alter county government, according to Judge Robert W. Calvert, chairman of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission.

Following hearings in Corpus Christi, Calvert said he sees "an incipient opposition to any suggested changes in county government."

He cited three letters from county officials expressing a dim view toward tampering with their jobs. Calvert said the Commission is committed to no course on the subject.

The 37-member body is concluding its hearings over the state and will make recommendations to the legislature next November. Lawmakers will sit as a constitutional convention next year. Calvert urged legislators to attend the hearings in eight cities this month. Committees will begin drafts on conclusion of the public discussions.

The remainder of the constitutional hearings are set as follows: Friday, June 15, Beaumont, Orange and Port Arthur; Thursday, June 21, Abilene; Friday, June 22, Wichita Falls; Thursday, June 28, Waco; and Friday, June 29, Austin.

Courts Speak . . .

Unsafe conditions in public housing units are grounds for suits where tenants are injured, the Supreme Court held in a case growing out of a death due to a defective heater.

In another case, the High Court upheld lower court judgments of $197,500 in damages against Mobil Pipeline Company on behalf of the family of a Mobil Oil Company employee who died in a Beaumont explosion.

The U. S. Supreme Court in Washington, meanwhile, upheld a Texas law requiring immunization of school children against several diseases. The top court ruled 7-2 that states cannot indirectly tax liquor sales on U. S. military bases.

County commissioners can spend county funds to provide for parking and a service building for county-owned vehicles and parking for the public having business in the courthouse, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: "In an election contest, on notice of appeal, district clerks should prepare a transcript and forward it to the court of civil appeals clerk before delivering it to attorneys for the appellant."

The Board of Chiropractic Examiners can adopt rules limiting the size of newspaper advertisements by chiropractors.

County clerks are not authorized to set filing fees for discovery proceedings if an action is still pending on the docket at the time the proceedings are instituted. If no action is pending, clerks are entitled to a fee of $3 for each instrument issued but not for filing instruments prepared by others.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, 44, veteran of a decade of service in the House of Representatives, made his candidacy for speaker official last week. Clayton is a conservative Democrat.

Other candidates include Reps. Fred Head of Troup, James Nugent of Kerrville, Carl Parker of Fort Arthur and Dave Finney of Fort Worth. Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi is also regarded as another strong possibility.

Tom Browning of Athens was named acting director of the Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement division after Executive Director Clepton T. Garrison fired Statton Reed.

Governor Briscoe designated Ronald Thomson of Weatherford as Texas State Artist for 1973-74. A. C. Gentry Jr. of Tyler was selected alternate state artist and Bette Lou Voorhis of Austin as alternate for 1974-75.

Omer F. Poorman of Houston will succeed W. E. Carmichael as Houston district highway engineer June 30 when Carmichael retires.

Elray N. Hardy of Wichita Falls has been picked as outstanding veterans employment representative for 1973.

Dale Steitle of Austin is new administrative assistant on the Texas Mass Transportation Commission staff.

Unemployment in Texas remained at 2.3% during April.

Texas Employment Commission said the jobless rate has remained the same for three straight months—the first time that has happened.

The Office of Economic Opportunity approved nearly $1.5 million in grants to nine Texas cities: San Antonio, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston and Lubbock. . . . Briscoe was named to the executive committee of the national governors conference at the recent meeting in Nevada. . . . Cigarette taxes dropped off $34.186 last month below 1972. Total take was still more than $21 million. . . . Reduced fire, extended coverage and homeowner insurance rates were approved for 12 more companies operating in the state. . . . New federal requirements for "need surveys" were announced as a basis for allocating fiscal 1975 grant money to construct sewage treatment facilities.

Dave calls this his wedding picture. He was best man when Jane and I were married, and a prouder boy you'll never see. He loved Jane from the first. He never thought of her as a stepmother. Jane's zest for life, her merry ways, her love for God were happily contagious. The unhappy years we'd known faded. Soon we were marching off to church with her as though it were our own idea. Tomorrow Dave will be married, and I'll be his best man. He and Susan are a fine couple. Jane and I don't worry about their marriage. Their relationship has a depth that comes from a mutual love for God and His Church. In the years ahead, their church will be a bedrock of understanding and strength. The Church is the starting point for the happiness that every family needs.

4-H'ers To Look At Ecology At Meeting

Leakey, Tex.—About 100 4-H boys and girls and adult leaders will take a closer look at ecology and the use of natural resources when they gather at the H. E. Butt Foundation Camp at Leakey June 19-22.

The event is the seventh annual Texas 4-H Ecology Conference.

"Purpose of the conference is to provide participants an opportunity to get closer to nature, to develop a better understanding of our natural resources, and to discuss and learn ways to utilize these resources more effectively and efficiently," says Tom Davison, conference coordinator and 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

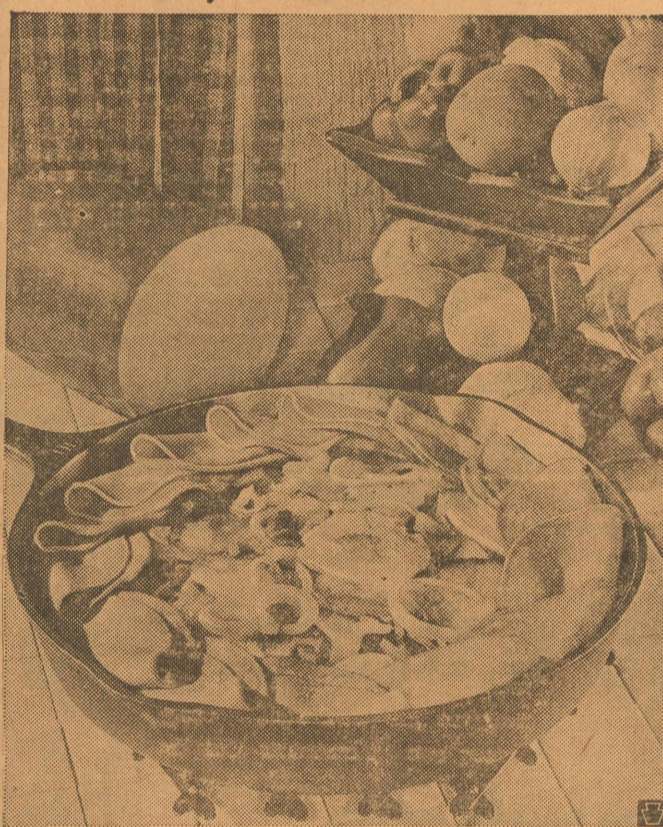

Group discussions throughout the 3½-day conference will center around environmental quality, forestry, outdoor recreation, range, soil and water, and wildlife. Each participant will have an opportunity to learn about these vital areas and to contribute his own thoughts and experiences, points out Davison. Discussion groups will be led by Extension Service specialists.

Guest speakers at the conference will be Dr. Fred Smeins, associate professor in the Department of Range Science at Texas A&M University; Bob Ramsey, a rancher at Hunt; Wayne Hamilton, business manager of the Chaparral Ranch at La Prvor; and the Honorable John Brigham, state representative from Temple who is chairman of the Environmental Affairs Committee.

Cooperating with the Extension Service and the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation in sponsoring the event is the Federal Cartridge Corporation, Minneapolis, Minnesota. The Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board of Temple is sponsoring a special banquet and the H. E. Butt Foundation is providing the use of its camp.

Country Kitchen Skillet

Here's country kitchen fare that the whole family will love. Good, old-fashioned flavor fried bologna, potatoes and onions served kitchen style right out of the skillet.

This simple recipe should not only bring back memories of your own childhood, when fried potatoes were a special treat, but is the answer for one of those Sunday night suppers when you need a quick recipe for a hot meal.

Long remembered, strictly for its use in sandwiches, bologna offers unlimited other uses for hors d'oeuvres, casseroles and a variety of dishes. Bologna generally sparks the little ones' appetites, too, because it's always a treat for children — even when it's disguised in a nutritious, one-skillet meal such as this one.

Peter Eckrich and Sons, Inc., a well-known meat processor, suggests you try this recipe the next time you have a hungry family ready for supper and you're looking for a meal that's quick and easy.

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------|
| ¾ lb. Eckrich bologna, sliced | ¼ cup fat |
| 1 cup sliced onion | 1 tsp. salt |
| 4 cups thinly sliced raw potatoes | ¼ tsp. pepper |
| 2 tblsp. chopped green pepper | 2 tblsp. chopped pimiento |

Saute bologna in 1 tblsp. fat until lightly browned. Remove and set aside. Add remaining fat, onion, green pepper and potato to skillet. Cook slowly until potato is tender, about 25 minutes. As potato browns, carefully turn with a spatula adding salt and pepper. Sprinkle with pimiento, top with bologna, cover and heat through. Makes 4 servings.

Watch For Stolen Vehicular Titles

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Highway Department today warned car dealers, banks, finance companies and the public to be aware of stolen automobile titles that probably will be used on stolen or converted vehicles.

One hundred thirty-four "original" blank negotiable titles with inventory numbers 16491082 thru 16461215 printed on the back, were taken May 21 in an armed robbery from the Motor Vehicle Division district office in Houston.

TO CONDUCT SERVICE

The service this Sunday afternoon, June 17th, at the Nursing Home will be under direction of the Rev. Kenneth Vaughan of the First Baptist Church.

In addition, 24 "duplicate original" blank non-negotiable titles with inventory numbers 6192990 thru 6193013 printed on the front were taken in the same robbery.

Anyone spotting one of these titles should notify the local police and the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department immediately.
