Uvalde Mohair Plant Has Open House

On Wednesday of this week, a number of prominent people in the wool and mohair industry were expected to converge on Uvalde from throughout Texas for the formal opening and dedication ceremonies of the new Plateau Wool and Mohair Corporation building.

According to Plateau president J. Ford Oglesby Jr. of Eldorado, a number of persons vitally interested in agriculture in Texas were asked to take part in the ceremonies which were scheduled to begin at 11:00 a.m.

After the ribbon cutting the plant was open for inspection by the general public to see the progress of the mohair fiber from the time it is received in the plant until it comes out in the form of yarn to be used in manufacture of rugs, and drapery, upholstery and apparel fabrics.

Oglesby said that the production potential of the plant is 500,000 pounds of yarn per year and it is capable of running three shifts of up to 30 workers. The total investment amounts to $550,000 and there are 31 stockholders, all of whom are directly or indirectly connected with the mohair industry.

John Hannes is manufacturing vice president. He was formerly connected with the woolen mill here in Eldorado.

The Texas Highway Department recently awarded certificates and pins to accident free drivers of trucks, pickups and station wagons in this area.

We Extend Greetings To The Grads

The Success crew are pleased once again to salute the graduating class for 1973 of Eldorado High.

We are carrying the photos and write-ups of the 32 class members in the May 17 and 24 papers. The grads not pictured this week will be in the issue for next week.

We hope the grads enjoy these special papers for you are the ones for whom the Success crew have put forth special effort in recent weeks. We hope you and your friends keep these issues to refer to in the future.

In the future years you can re-read them and recall memories, and also know what was going on here news-wise when you graduated.

The public-spirited merchants here have bought space to wish you well. We join them in saying, Congratulations On A Job Well Done, and we expect even greater achievements from you in the future.

On page 2 appears a notice from the City of Eldorado explaining an extra $1.00 charge for trash hauling to pay off an $11,400 on judgment due to a recent court award.

It is estimated that about 600 customers will be paying the extra dollar each month, which should total about $7,000 a year.

If it all works out that way the judgment would be paid off in less than two years, after which the old rate would be restored.

—ps—

After a front passed through here early Saturday morning, Eldorado residents reported that about (nearly) one inch of rain was registered on local rain gauges.

Monday morning we were having more showers.

Some time ago, H. B. Feddersen bought the Ida Homeier house and remodeled it to live in.

He did some remodeling of the house and says that he now wants to sell it. Reason is that he has laid out foundation for an octagon-shaped house in the south part of town. Feddersen states that he will put walls up as soon as he can get the necessary funds.

There are several famous octagonal houses over the country.

In Washington D. C. there is one that antedates the White House.

At Natchez, Mississippi, there is Longwood, a large 8-sided mansion erected by a southern planter, Dr. Haller Nutt, but construction was stopped with start of the Civil War.

Closer to home, there is an octagon house at Mineral Wells, Texas, or was last we knew.

Feddersen's house is just 20 feet across. He plans to have kitchen, bath, and living room on the main floor with a sleeping loft upstairs. It will be the first eight-sided house for Eldorado.

Eaglette Track Girls Win State Meet

The Eldorado girls track team successfully completed the season by winning the state title last Saturday in Austin's Memorial Stadium. The Eaglettes scored 56 points to easily outdistance the nearest competition, Baird, who had 40.

Not only did the Eldorado girls win the meet, but they were the only team in state meet to win two relays. The 880 relay team almost made it three relay wins in a row, but it was not to be as the team finished second only inches out of first place.

In the 440 relay it was Eldorado all the way. A good start and steady handoffs complimented the girls' speed to post a winning time of 49.5. This is only 1/10 second off the state record of 49.4. The 440 relay team is made up of Debbie Page, Carolyn Page, Wally Joiner, and Kathy Page.

The 880 Relay Team proved to be the only ill fated Eldorado team to run, if you call finishing second in the state meet ill fated? One terrible hand-off and two bad ones was too much of an obstacle for the speed and determination of the runners to overcome. Bad hand-offs, having to run wide on turns, and being boxed in caused the Eldorado girls' time to be a 1:47.6. Seagraves won the relay in 1:47.5 only 1/10 of a second ahead of Eldorado. Seagraves posted this time after starting in lane one and never having to move from that lane one position. Teresa Scott, Carolyn Page, Rosellen Maness, and Kathy Page ran the 880 relay in that order.

In the mile relay the first lap proved to be an eight team race. The second lap narrowed the leading teams to three. In the final two laps it was all Coppel and Eldorado. The two teams swapped the lead several times during the four laps around Memorial Stadium. It was Eldorado, however, that had the lead by three yards as the race ended to give the Eaglettes the second relay win of the day and put away the State Championship. Mile relay members are Debbie Page, Wally Joiner, Irene Garcia, and Rosellen Maness.

On the way to winning 25 trophies for team victories and relay wins, the team lost only one track meet and that was at Comanche. The Eaglettes finished third there behind Comanche and Waco Robinson.

The State Title was a good conclusion to a track season that saw the Eaglettes win invitational track meets from Stephenville to Robert Lee, as well as district, regional, and State Meet championships.

Billy Carl Tampke and Mrs. Nancy Sorrells and children of Odessa spent the week end visiting their parents, the W. A. Tampkes, over the week end.

Schrank Helps Conduct Student Research Forum
The 1973 SAMA-UTMB National Student Research Forum was held in Galveston April 25-28, 1973. The Forum began in 1960 with a meeting promoted by three medical students at The University of Texas Medical Branch. The forum has since grown into a national meeting which attracts medical students, graduate students registered at medical schools and interns and residents to come and present their research.
The Forum is jointly sponsored by the Student American Medical Association and The University of Texas Medical Branch. The scientific, administrative and clerical support for the forum is provided by The University of Texas Medical Branch. General supervision is provided by three student co-directors who make written application.
One of the three co-directors for the 1973 Forum was Gordon D. Schrank, graduate student.
Schrank, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schrank of Eldorado obtained the B. S. degree from Angelo State University where he was a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Beta Beta Beta, and Alpha Chi. He served as president both of the ASU Biological Society and the Collegiate Action Program. He is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and The National Student Register. He also served as a research assistant for the University of Michigan while at ASU. At The University of Texas Medical Branch he is a McLaughlin Predoctoral Fellow in the Department of Microbiology and a candidate for the Ph. D. degree. He is a member of Nu Sigma Nu Medical Fraternity, the Society of Sigma Xi, and the American Society for Microbiology. He is also the author of five scientific publications.

Furniture For Senior Citizens
Growing old gracefully is easier when home furnishings are selected with needs and condition in mind. Whether buying new furniture or culling from existing items, keep these guides in mind.
Select or keep furnishings with rounded corners. Sharp edges can present hazards for an older person.
Tables and other items should be heavy or sturdy enough to take an individual's weight without shifting or collapsing. Often, furniture serves as a support when walking from one place to another.
At the same time, items should not be too heavy to move—especially if you do the housekeeping.
For ease in sitting down and getting back up, choose chairs and sofas with seat heights a little higher than average.
Although overstuffed reclining chairs are very comfortable, they should be controlled by levers or buttons—not by shifting weight, often more difficult as we grow older. The control should be in an easy-to-reach spot.

Children of Employed Mothers
Children of employed mothers don't have to suffer. Some mothers who feel guilty about employment outside the home try to make it up to their children and end up spoiling them. It's the guilt feelings, not the employment, that can cause problems.
But these mothers don't need to feel guilty. Research indicates it's the quality of time spent with children that counts, rather than just the amount.
If children have adequate care, with an appropriate mother-substitute, and if the mother takes time to make her children feel loved and accepted, they won't suffer.
In fact, if a mother feels frustrated or bitter because she does not work outside the home, she may take that frustration out on her family. The result: unhappy children.
Many children develop responsibility and a feeling of worth because they have to do more for themselves, and more work around the home, when the mother works.

County Ag. Agent's Column
By Jerry Swift
San Angelo, Tex. (Special) — "It's almost a sure bet," said Dr. Mike McWhorter, "that the cowman who takes money from his pocket now to control the grubs in his beef cattle, will put even more money in his pocket at sale time next year."
McWhorter, entomologist in West Central Texas for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University, is concerned about the findings in a recent survey.
Said he: "The latest National Beef Carcass Damage Survey found that about 80% more carcasses had been damaged by cattle grubs than had been found damaged in 1971-72."
For the Edwards Plateau and the Hill Country cowmen wanting to control grubs, time to do so is during the spring, and particularly before mid-July.
It is the springtime habit of the heel fly (adult form of the grub) to lay its eggs on the hairs covering certain parts of the animal's lower body.
Within a week, said McWhorter, larvae (worms) from the eggs crawl down the hairs, penetrate the skin and migrate for about eight months through the animal's body.
Destination of the larvae is the animal's backbone, where sure signs of infestation are the familiar "warbles," meaning that at those spots the larvae are damaging the carcass and hide.
McWhorter said that grubs, in addition to damaging carcasses (for which the cowman may be docked at the market), also reduce the weight of calves at weaningtime, the milk production of older animals, and the efficiency of converting feed to beef.
He said grub control will be most effective when systemic insecticides are used, before the middle of July, in the form of sprays or dips, backline pour-ons or feed additives, or mineral mixes.

Youth Employment Programs Announced
Youth in the Concho Valley region interested in participating in the 1973 Summer Youth Employment Program should contact the designated program coordinator for their community or county to complete both application forms and the initial screening procedures, according to recent word from the Concho Valley Council of Governments offices in San Angelo.
Coordinator for Eldorado and Schleicher county is Guy Whitaker, high school principal.
Public and private, non-profit agencies in the various communities and counties also should contact the coordinator to indicate interest in hiring youth through the program.
Youth to receive first priority in hiring will be disadvantaged youth who are not less than 14 years of age nor more than 22 years of age. Second priority goes to Vietnam and disabled veterans who are not more than 29 years of age and third to students on vacation from school who are not disadvantaged.
Financed with excess funds from the Emergency Employment Act, the program will begin approximately June 1. Its purpose is to provide summer employment for youth in the three priority categories who plan to return to school in the fall.

Senior Citizens' Month
Senior Citizens' Month was celebrated in Schleicher County with a Spring Party Tuesday at the Memorial Building. The program was sponsored by the County Committee on Aging and began at 2:30.
One of every 10 Americans is 65 or over. That's a total of 20 million senior citizens. This number can be expected to increase for the next 30 years.
Senior Citizens' Month recognizes older people not only for their contributions of the past but for the benefit of their leadership, experience and wisdom now and in the future.
The annual Spring Party is quite an affair for Senior Citizens in Schleicher County. Punch and cookies were served. Games and visitation offered those attending an opportunity to renew old friendships. A lovely gathering such as this is made possible by the County Committee on Aging: Miss Connie Spence, Mrs. Eleanor Jeffrey, Mrs. Frances Nimitz, Mrs. Margaret Frost, Mrs. Annie Speck, Mrs. Etta Ruth Dannheim, Mrs. Geneva Wade. These ladies were assisted by Home Demonstration Club members in preparing refreshments. * * *

Drouth has caused more than crop failures in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. The drouth of the fifties caused many farmers to drill wells for irrigation. After the wells proved to be adequate for irrigation the next step was to get water to the fields to be irrigated. Most farmers saw the need for the right kind of delivery system. However, after irrigation had been carried on for a few years, it became evident that the right kind of delivery system was about as important as having water for irrigation.

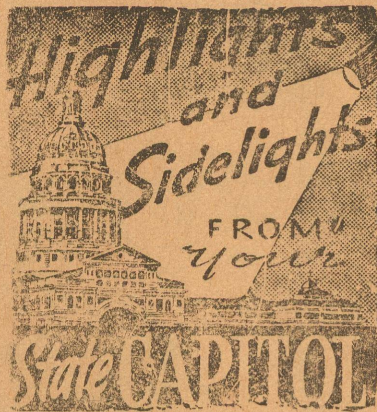

The first delivery systems used were earthen ditches. While there are some advantages in using earthen ditches for delivery of irrigation water, they are exceeded by the disadvantages. About the only real advantage of an earthen ditch over an irrigation pipeline is the amount of water that can be transported in open earthen ditches. If ditches transport more water per minute than pipelines, the cross section area of the ditch must be greater than the pipeline. Water loss by seepage, evaporation and inefficiency of irrigation can be placed at the top of the list of the many disadvantages of an earthen ditch.

Getting all the water from the well to the field and crop where needed has been one of the big reasons irrigation farmers have installed pipelines for delivery of irrigation water. Portable pipelines above ground were put in use soon after the first irrigation wells were started in Schleicher county. The loss of water before it reached the crops being grown was greatly reduced. The problem of wet land on turn rows was practically eliminated. However, pipelines above ground created a hazard similar to ditches in that the lines could not be crossed with farm implements. Even though above ground pipelines are a big improvement over earthen ditches, some of the same disadvantages are encountered in both.

Underground irrigation pipelines have been installed by numerous farmers in the District. Many advantages and benefits are cited by these farmers. In pointing out some of the main benefits and advantages to Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service, one of the first benefits cited is all the irrigation water gets to the field where needed and more land can be irrigated. These two advantages are enough to justify the needs of installing underground pipelines. Getting the delivery system underground out of the way of farming equipment is another advantage of underground pipelines. Being able to start irrigation at any outlet on the pipeline without moving any pipe, except the swing line, is an advantage liked by every one with underground pipeline.

Without any doubt, all the water from irrigation wells now being used in the District, is needed for crops being irrigated. Where portable above the ground pipelines are being used the 30% to 50% of water loss in earthen ditches is all but eliminated. Water loss is reduced to the very minimum where underground irrigation pipelines are used.

Austin, Tex.—Daring more federal court challenges, the House Reapportionment Committee has advanced a "redistricting" bill that makes virtually no changes in present representative districts.

The Committee bill, approved 12-8, would retain multi-member House districts in all but the three metropolitan counties of Bexar, Dallas and Harris.

Rep. Joe Wyatt of Bloomington, the sponsor, said he would accept an amendment on the House floor to give Tarrant County single-member districts like those in the three larger counties.

Chairman Rep. Fred Head of Troup favored dividing all urban counties, which now have two or more representatives, into single-member districts. Committee action, in effect, took control of the bill from Head on the floor.

A three-judge federal court in January, 1972, ordered single-member House districts for Bexar and Dallas counties and gave the legislature until July 1 to rewrite a 1971 reapportionment scheme.

Representatives were warned before the vote that if the U. S. Supreme Court upholds the 1972 ruling, it is likely to order single member, individual House districts in all urban counties.

The bill as advanced further did not meet federal court disapproval of a 9.9% population spread between smallest and most-populous Texas House districts.

However, Wyatt contended the Supreme Court in a Virginia case later upheld a 16.4% deviation.

Unnecessary "Energy" Ads . . .
The House Natural Resources Committee held a hearing on HSR last week—a measure that requests advertisers to "not use advertisements to urge the public to use more power or energy than is reasonably necessary."

House authors are Representatives Ben Grant, Marshall, and Woody Denson, Houston.

Grant testified before the Committee that his bill was not intended to regulate advertising of energy companies in Texas—but to urge advertisers to "teach or persuade the public to conserve or decrease the use of energy and to avoid all wasteful uses of power."

He cited some of the copy used by Conn Edison—a major utility in the East.

A spokesman for the Southwest Electric Power Company told the Committee that his company was against the bill because they did not feel the state should "get into the business of curtailing advertising."

"We have a surplus of power," he said. "Conn Edison has a shortage. We need to urge our consumers to use more electricity in the winter for heating purposes. We have the power available, and we need to sell it in order to pay for our bonds."

"Our consumers use our power supply in the summer when air conditioning is needed," he continued. "But we need to 'sell' them on winter-time power consumption through our advertising programs. We don't think the state legislatures should get into advertising controls in Texas."

Grant said he was merely trying to encourage advertisers to avoid waste of energy, and that he would oppose "mandatory" regulations also.

The bill was sent to the Oil and Gas subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee.

Short Snorts . . .
A proposed constitutional amendment providing for annual legislative sessions and a $15,000 salary for lawmakers has been cleared for a November 5 statewide election.

Both houses of the Legislature also have agreed to a bill overhauling workmen's compensation laws and raising maximum benefits to $63 a week starting Sept. 1st.

The House passed bills to restore the death penalty for certain crimes, to lower the first offense penalty for possessing up to an ounce of marijuana to a misdemeanor (punishable by up to six months in jail and $1,000 fine), and to allow competitive auto insurance rates.

Legislation giving 18- to 20-year-olds full majority rights was amended in the House to restrict drinking and abortions until age 21.

Bail bond reform has been approved by the Senate.

Mr. and Mrs. Rance McDonald have been vacationing in Palos Verdes, California, with Gerald Harris and family. Gerald is now in school training to fly a 747 Jet.

And now,
tomorrow

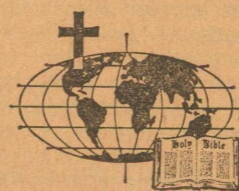

The cap . . . the diploma . . . symbols of achievement. They mark the end of one way of life and imply the beginning of another.

But ten years from now, where will this diploma be and what will it mean? Will it be packed away in an attic trunk . . . framed on the wall of a room or office? Will it have been thrown out by accident or cast into a seldom-noticed corner? And what of the hopes and dreams that go with it? What will have happened to them?

Who knows? There is no set answer to life, no single solution to all its problems. Nor can anyone live life alone. Whether your diploma is still crisp or has gotten dusty—whether your dreams are still bright or have become slightly tarnished—forget about personal ambition as the sole answer to everything. Think of your own immortal soul. Go to church, and talk to God about it, through prayer.
