Satellites Of Russia Are Silent

Officials of countries under Soviet influence generally refrained today from committing themselves on yesterday's British-French call—despite Soviet aloofness—of a Paris conference July 12 to implement the Marshall recovery program.

Several nations having close political or trade relations with Russia were among the 22 invited to join Britain and France in the meeting.

The breakup of three-power Paris talks on the plan Wednesday and the subsequent invitation provoked these reactions over Europe:

Poland—Foreign circles said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's stand against the plan complicated the position of the Warsaw government, tied politically to Russia but looking to the U. S. for economic assistance.

Yugoslavia—No official statement was forthcoming, but official circles were reported surprised and somewhat disappointed.

Romania—Romanians were said to be disappointed at the breakdown of the Paris talks, though they had expected it.

Norway—Officials said Norway would back the plan if it turned out to be a sound international trade agreement, not directed against any country.

Belgium—Premier Paul-Henri Spaak told the Senate it would be criminal to miss the opportunity offered.

Switzerland—There was no official comment. Speculation was that Switzerland would continue a cautious middle-of-the-road policy because of her continued dependence on the U. S. along with her growing trade relations with Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Balkans.

Sweden—The foreign office declined comment. Political circles expressed belief Sweden might consult with Norway and Denmark on a common position. They speculated that Russia's stand might affect Sweden's attitude.

Moscow newspapers, which had given much space to the breakdown of the Paris talks, had not yet published news today of the British-French invitation. The radio in a morning broadcast announced Molotov's return by plane last night.

In London, the influential Times commented editorially that if Russia irrevocably turned her back on the Marshall plan, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other small eastern European countries probably would follow, harming "political relations" and "the confidence upon which trade depends."

President Hits At Foes Of European Recovery

Folly For Nations To Resist, He Says

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 4. (AP) — President Truman today described as "folly" the refusal of any European nation to take part in a cooperative plan for the continent's economic recovery.

Without mentioning the Soviet Union by name, Mr. Truman struck out at "organized mistrust" which he said leads the world's people "away from peace and unity."

He called for an end of "propaganda attacks upon other nations."

The United States is "living up to its responsibilities for creating the economic conditions of peace," the president said in an Independence Day address prepared for delivery from the porch of Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson.

Then, in an obvious reference to the breakdown of the preliminary Paris conference on the European aid proposal of Secretary Marshall, he declared:

"Yet, certain nations today are withholding their support of reconstruction plans on the ground that this would mean interference by some nations in the internal affairs of others."

"This is as fallacious as the refusal of a man to enter a profitable business partnership on the ground that it would involve interference in his private affairs."

"Surely after two world wars nations should have learned the folly of a nationalism so extreme as to block cooperative economic planning among nations for peaceful reconstruction."

The chief executive listed these four requisites for what he called "peace for all time."

1—Common adherence to the principle that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. "There must be genuine effort to translate that principle into reality."

2—Common respect for basic human rights. "No country has yet reached the absolute in protecting human rights. In all countries, including our own, there is much to be accomplished."

3—Free and full exchange of knowledge, ideas and information among peoples and maximum freedom in international travel and communications.

4—National economic and financial policies which will "support a world economy rather than separate nationalistic economies."

The president did not indicate what specific steps this country may take in view of Russia's adamant stand against the British-French cooperative reconstruction plan, but said:

"I believe that the United States is living up to its responsibilities for creating the economic conditions of peace. We must realize that these responsibilities are continuous. Even the emergency aspects of the job are not yet behind us."

"It is not enough, however, for one nation to live up to its responsibilities for aiding reconstruction falls behind, to that extent will urgent needs for food, clothing and shelter remain unmet."

Mr. Truman appealed to all nations and peoples "to break down the artificial barriers that separate them."

"I appeal," he said, "for tolerance and restraint in the mutual relations of nations and peoples. And I appeal for a free flow of knowledge and ideas that alone can lead to a harmonious world."

GOP Confident Of Winning A Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Republicans claimed today they have the votes to crash through another presidential veto and reduce taxes by $4,000,000,000 for 48,000,000 taxpayers in 1948.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House ways and means committee, author of the tax bill, said "it looks like we have the fight won."

Other supporters declared only a senate filibuster could keep the measure off the statute books. There were rumblings that some senators might try to talk it to death unless its authors write in a community property amendment.

The ways and means committee approved the bill yesterday by a thumping 18 to 6 vote as two Democrats, who stood by President Truman's veto of the first version, switched over to the majority. The new bill is identical with the vetoed measure, except that the tax cuts would be effective January 1, 1948 instead of July 1, 1947.

Rep. Doughton (D-NC), who managed tax legislation when Democrats controlled congress, was one of those who changed sides.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) predicted a second veto could be overturned in the House easily. He said probably 20 Democrats who supported the president the first time around are ready to go along with the GOP.

Fire Damages Train Caboose

A freight train caboose was damaged heavily by fire in the T&P yard at about 6:15 p. m. Thursday.

City firemen fought the blaze for about an hour and a half as it roared through the inside of the caboose which was connected to a tank train stopped between other tank cars in the yard.

The caboose had undergone repairs at the railroad shops here during the day and had been connected to a train in preparation for movement when the fire was discovered.

The inside of the caboose was completely burned out. Firemen said, but the blaze was kept from spreading to other equipment.

Fourth Is Day Of Work For Firemen, Officers Of Law

Although July 4 is not "just another day" to them it is far from a day of celebration for the law enforcement branches and the city fire department.

Firemen were ready today not only at their regular stations as usual, but also to do extra duty for safety precautions at the fireworks display tonight.

Police expected to use both the day and early evening shifts on constant duty during the day, and the "graveyard" shift is to go on duty several hours ahead of schedule to help direct traffic at City park this evening.

Members of the Sheriff's department and the state highway patrol also were ready for a 24-hour tenure if necessary to help with traffic and other holiday problems.

Brush Fires Rage

LOS ANGELES, July 4. (AP)—Two brush fires, the worst this season, destroyed 50 houses and left 200 homeless today in the San Fernando valley community of Chatsworth Lake Manor and raged uncontrolled over 10,000 mountainous acres in San Diego county.

Paris Parley Will Be Brief, Officials Say

Replies Awaited From 22 Nations On July 12 Talks

PARIS, July 4. (AP)—French officials predicted today that the forthcoming European conference on the Marshall recovery plan would be brief, as France and Britain awaited replies from 22 nations invited to join them in the meeting here a week from tomorrow.

The French foreign ministry sent the joint invitations last night to Paris embassies and foreign ministries abroad of every sizeable European country except the Soviet Union and Spain. The conference will work from British-French proposals.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov turned down these proposals Wednesday in the breakup of a three-power Paris meeting, but the British-French offer was left open to "all European states," except Spain so long as she remained under Franco.

The conference will be in line with Secretary of State George C. Marshall's June 5 offer, at Harvard university, of United States help in any joint European recovery effort.

None of the three hospitals in Big Spring reported any emergency to holiday observances. There had been no reports of fireworks injuries. Police and state highway patrolmen had not yet had to report any traffic mishaps.

Several people journeyed to other points for visits and activities, among them the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford, but most families stayed at home.

By mid-morning the Country Club and Muni golf courses were beginning to swarm with players taking advantage of holiday and clear skies. A flag tournament at the Country Club was due to attract three score participants during the day and was to be followed by a dinner sponsored at 7 p. m. in the club house by the Ladies Golf association.

Traffic was becoming congested at the city park entrance by 9:30 a. m. as vanguard of several hundred turned out for the motorcycle races. An estimated 50 cycles were on hand and the highway was cluttered with many more roaring to the course west of the City park.

Down town, the Red, White and Blue fluttered in front of shop doors closed for the day. Only eating establishments, service stations, drug stores and an occasional food store were standing by.

While business was due to be back at normal Saturday, several establishments will remain closed until Monday. The Big Spring Independent School district administrative and tax offices were to be closed over Saturday also since only one of the abstract companies here announced plans to reopen on Saturday. Several beauty parlors, automobile dealers and some cleaning establishments also were to be closed Saturday.

An afternoon diversion at 3 o'clock was coming up at the baseball park north of the football stadium when two Negro teams, the Big Spring Sluggers and the Midland Skyrapers, tangled.

Police mapped plans for handling another heavy run of traffic during the afternoon at the city park, and especially in advance of the community entertainment which starts at 8 p. m. in the amphitheater.

A brief patriotic address by Harold P. Steck, commander of the Howard County American Legion post, on the significance of Independence Day will highlight the program. Entertainers include Ross and Burke Plant, imitations; Peggy Lamb, vocals; Luan Platter, vocals; Joe Fowler Brooks, novelties; Wanda Lou Petty, Kitty Roberts, Ann Crocker, Barbara June Greer, Man Masters, Susan Houser, vocal sextet; Marjorie Moore, Raymond Moore, Freeman Moore, Mrs. Lena Greer, Stamps Quartet.

Flares, multi-colored mortar pieces, rockets, dazzling displays and other attractions will be fired in rapid succession for a 30-minute period to produce one of the most elaborate of the free-fireworks displays sponsored by the chamber of commerce as a free public service on July 4.

If previous seasons are any gauge, a minimum of 10,000 people will be on hand to take in the entertainment and the fireworks.

City Rests, Plays To Observe Holiday

Former Superior Official Dies

FORSAN, July 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kubacka left Thursday afternoon for Longton, Kans., after leaving of the death of R. M. Brown, 58, for 14 years Superintendent for Superior Oil here.

Mr. Brown died of a heart attack. He had been ill since Christmas, but not seriously.

He came to Forsan in 1929 from Brownfield as superintendent for Superior and resided here until three and a half years ago when he and Mrs. Brown moved to their farm near Longton. Mr. Brown was active in Forsan civic affairs and was an active member of the Forsan Baptist church.

Surviving are Mrs. Brown and two daughters, Mrs. Dale Baker, Longton, Kans. and Mrs. Lewis Diffe, Berger, Texas; one grandson, Carl Lee Baker; and one brother, Raymond Brown, Longton, Kans. Funeral is to be held Saturday.

Motorist Should Look Above Top

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4.—A driver charged with failing to yield the right of way told acting Police Judge Granville Scanlan the other motorist "must have dropped from Heaven."

"I never did see him until after the accident and I looked both directions," he testified.

Couple Hurt In Crash; Man Held

STANTON, July 4.—Patsy Madison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Madison, Stanton, and W. J. Coates, Lomax, were given treatment here at 8:45 a. m. today following injuries in a traffic mishap on U. S. highway, just over the Howard county line.

Miss Madison suffered head injuries, which were not believed serious. Coates escaped with abrasions and bruises.

At Big Spring the sheriff's office said deputies had been dispatched to Midland to pick up a man wanted for questioning on a hit-and-run count in connection with the case. He was taken into custody by Midland authorities on a tip from Morris Zimmerman, Martin county sheriff.

Edmond Morrow, Stanton, also was in the Memorial Hospital here, suffering from painful injuries in a traffic mishap. Details were lacking.

Flood Waters Cover Town In Illinois

GRAND TOWER, Ill., July 4. (AP)—Flood waters coursing through a breach in a five-foot sandbag barrier covered the greater part of this Mississippi river town today.

Woman Charged In 'Anniversary' Death Of Husband

TYLER, July 4. (AP)—J. Bonner McLane, 52, and his wife, Mrs. Lura McLane, 50, had dinner downtown here on the occasion of their first wedding anniversary.

Shortly afterward McLane became ill and died. Mrs. McLane also became ill but recovered.

Today Mrs. McLane was under charges of murder by poisoning in connection with her husband's death on April 21.

City Detective Jim Adams filed the charge after the body of McLane was exhumed and a report from Austin said strychnine had been found in the viscera.

Mrs. McLane was released on $5,000 bond.

Funds Completed For Departments

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Congress has completed action on a $551,275,000 appropriations bill wrapping up 1948 funds for three government departments, including an allotment for curtailed operation of the "Voice of America" broadcasts to Russia and other nations.

Fourth Polio Death

HOUSTON, July 4. (AP)—Houston's poliomyelitis death toll for 1947 has risen to four today with the death yesterday of Rebecca Ramirez, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ramirez, city health authorities reported.

Ten Lives Lost In Northern Tornado

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 4. (AP)—Ten were known dead today and 30 were in hospitals after a tornado ripped down the fertile Red River Valley to cut an 80-mile long path of death and ruin from Southern Manitoba, Canada, into North Dakota and Minnesota.

Telephone and electric wires were torn out, scores of farms leveled, many head of livestock killed and a dozen towns and villages hit by the roaring twister. Witnesses said hardly a tree remained upright along the windy trail.

One man was killed at Windy Gates, Minn., 100 miles north of Grand Forks, where the blow apparently originated. Seven died in North Dakota before the roaring funnel blew itself out after killing a farm couple at Oslo, Minn., 20 miles northeast of here.

A second storm swept the Mayville-Portland, N. D. area 40 miles south of Grand Forks to level the buildings on at least a dozen farms but there were no known casualties.

Heaviest death toll was at Auburn, N. D. There, six died when the wind collapsed a farm house quartering a half dozen migrant Mexican farm workers and their families. Two of these victims were babies.

Only the church and town hall remained standing at Warsaw, N. D., where Frank Rogalla was killed and his wife reported missing. States Attorney Wallace Warner said the shibboleth from among the town's 100 inhabitants were delving into the wrecked building for more possible victims.

Search On For Missing Plane

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 4. (AP)—An Army search plane reported today it had sighted wreckage at sea and believed it to be a C-54 military cargo plane for which a widespread search was under way.

Search was also being made for a 100-foot freight ship which is five days overdue on a voyage from Miami to Puerto Padre, Cuba.

The missing Army plane left Kindley Field, Bermuda, yesterday morning and was due at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, at 4:14 p. m. It carried fuel sufficient to keep it aloft until nightfall.

Nineteen Army search planes from Morrison Field, MacDill Field at Tampa, and Boringham Field, Puerto Rico, were joined by three Coast Guard aircraft from Miami and St. Petersburg in flying search patterns over a great area of the Atlantic. Poor visibility and choppy seas hampered the search.

Booster Stations For 'Inch' Lines

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—Six new compressor stations will be erected on the "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" pipelines to boost the flow of natural gas through them to 340,000,000 cubic feet a day, according to the War Assets administration.

The WAA said the increase in capacity from 140,000,000 cubic feet a day is planned "to combat anticipated shortages of natural gas in the Appalachian areas this coming winter."

The new compressor stations will be erected by the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, lessee of the lines.

Kramer Sacks Up Singles Title In Wimbledon Show

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

One evening the past week, Mr. Gene Gregston, rookie Odessa sportscribe, dropped in on Steer park to see his favorites and Our Town's Broncs have at it in a Longhorn baseball league game. On that particular occasion, the Oilers and the Hosses were somewhat less than sensational. It so happened that the Odessans' play afield was worse than usual and the Big Springers grabbed all opportunities to sew up a decision with a late inning uprising.

Mr. Gregston — undoubtedly a stranger to professional sports — departed our precincts a most unhappy man. The demeanor of the Big Spring crowd that evening had done little to help his state of mind. The turnout, it seems, played no small part in causing the Odessa defense to come apart at the seams in the fatal inning, having set up such a terrific and monotonous din that one could almost see the Oiler defense disintegrate in the midst of the crisis.

Ultimately, young Gregston vented his fury in the columns of his paper on the local manswarm, suggesting in the process that they discipline their enthusiasm in the future, especially in cases where Odessa athletic teams constitute parties of the second part.

Wrote he: "When Embrey replaced Faccio in the eighth, the stands boomed him loud and long, before he even took the mound, and he continued to boo him while he was taking his warmup tosses. Dirty cracks were made to manager Howard McFarland every time he walked along in front of the stands on his way to the third base coaching box. He was razzed unmercifully when he stepped up to the plate to pinch hit for Embrey in the ninth, not the kind of razzing Odessans give Manager Webb of the Midland Indians. The Big Springers acted like they were angry at Odessa all the way through.

"Odessa players were subjected to nearly every kind of name calling, something else I've never heard local fans take part in.

"The fans jeered, stomped and raved when manager Pat Stasey was walked intentionally, didn't seem to think it was the Oilers' right to play the game the way they wanted to, didn't seem to realize that intentional walks are a part of the game."

Obviously, defeat was a bitter pill for Mr. Gregston to swallow. Either that, or he is a babe in the woods of professional sports. The old and revered philosophy of "you take this one, Mr. Huddle-edston, and I'll take that one" died with John McGraw, Brooklyn and Leo Durocher, Baseball, as has been stated here before, is a business without sentiment and a team that battles the hardest does it savagely in order to achieve success.

The attitude of one or two of the persons who betrayed overbearing manners at that particular game should not reflect on the throng as a whole. Such persons can be found in most every gathering whether the activity happens to be in Big Spring, Odessa or Keokuk. Manager McFarland is to be commended rather than censured for bristling when a few of the

Brown Victim In Fast Match

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 4. (AP)—Jack Kramer, U. S. tennis champion from Los Angeles, won the Wimbledon singles title today by crushing Tom Brown of San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, in the All-American final before a packed crowd of 15,000, including King George, Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

It took the 25-year-old leader of Uncle Sam's Davis cup forces only 45 minutes to complete his ambition of capturing the coveted Wimbledon Championship which eluded him in his initial try a year ago.

Kramer leaped the net to receive Brown's congratulations, but Brown shuffled slowly up to meet the winner—seemingly bewildered at the speed with which his fellow Californian had moved him down with a brilliant all-around game.

Bengals Play Here Sunday

Steer park will be the scene Sunday afternoon of a baseball exhibition between Ynez Yanez's Big Spring Tigers and the San Angelo Greyhounds. Game time is 3 p. m. The Latin-American semi-pro lines are two of the strongest aggregations in this section of the state. The resident Bengals ran into a tatar in Abilene last weekend but finally emerged victors after a battle to the wire.

Manager Yanez has indicated he will start Isa Mendosa on the hill against the Greyhounds. Mendosa came in to halt a rally against Abilene last week after the starter, Alfredo Chavez, was shelved from the hill. Tommy Fiero will serve as a target for Mendosa.

Monty Stratton Still Doing OK

WACO, July 4. (AP)—Monty Stratton, who won 18 games and a badge for courage last year in a professional baseball comeback after loss of his leg, has put fire into the Waco Dons of the Big State league.

He also is putting money into the sagging coffers of the local club which floundered around the bottom of the circuit until Monty decided to play baseball again. Thus far he has pitched two games and won them both and the crowds have been big on each occasion.

Stratton returned to the same last year with Sherman of the Class C East Texas league where he had 18 wins against 8 losses while appearing in 27 contests. He signed with Waco last week. He has moved up a notch—Waco is in a league of Class B classification.

Sees Rush For Negro Players

CLEVELAND, July 4. (AP)—President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians says a wide-open major league scramble for star Negro players is underway. Commenting to newsmen on his signing of Larry Doby, an infielder with the Newark Eagles of the Negro National league, Veeck said last night:

"Robinson (Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the only Negro in the National league) has proved to be a real big leaguer. So I wanted to get the best of the available Negro boys while the grabbing was good. Why wait?"

Veeck decided his first grab would be 22 year old Doby, who can play any position in the infield or outfield and has a season's batting average of .458. He will report tomorrow.

Babe Ruth Coming To Texas Tuesday

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—Babe Ruth the King of Swat, is coming to Texas. He's due to arrive here at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday aboard an American Airlines plane from New York. Plans call for the Babe to ride in a parade Wednesday through the Dallas business section and appear at a doubleheader at Rebel field that night.

Ruth is a consultant now for the Ford Motor company to help the American Legion Junior baseball program along.

A. E. Klemmedson, Dallas Ford district manager, said there are some 60 such teams in North Texas.

From here, the Babe—who hit 60 home runs during regular games in 1927—will go to Houston for similar appearances.

HIROHITO TO TOUR TOKYO, July 4. (AP)—Emperor Hirohito is planning a 12-day trip early next month through six northern Honshu prefectures which he has not yet visited in his "meet the people" tours.

Kana, a city of 80,000 in Nigeria, is surrounded by a wall 11 miles long.

Houston Gains Right To Stage All-Star Game

By The Associated Press

It's definite now—Houston will be host to the Texas league All-Star game on July 6.

However, in knocking over San Antonio 12-3 last night to clinch the honor, the Buffaloes had to take some bitterness with the sweet.

Under Texas league rules, second leading hitter in the loop, received a shoulder injury when he crashed into the centerfield wall in the opening inning. The team physician said Epps probably will be out of action for two weeks—meaning he'll probably miss play in the All-Star games.

Steeds Tangle With Vernon In Twin Bill This Evening

Parlier Tames Dusters, 7-1

Lloyd "Pat" Patterson and either Jose Cindan or Bob Blevins were scheduled to take the hill for Big Spring in tonight's double header with the Bernon Dusters in Vernon, the first game of which begins at 6:30 o'clock.

Parlier's team mates gave him excellent batting support, collecting 13 assorted blows off Percy Fahr, an old nemesis. Included among the safeties were a long triple by T-Bone Varona; two doubles by Jake McClain and three singles by Pat Stasey.

Varona's triple, two doubles and as many singles gave the Hosses four runs in the third and they coasted in from that point.

Isbell was the only Duster to hit safely more than once while Bob Jones rapped out the only extra-base hit, a double.

Midland Plays Sluggers Today

Today's baseball exhibition between Big Spring's Colored Sluggers and the Midland Skyscrapers, scheduled to be played at Steer park, is booked to get underway at 3:30 p. m.

LeRoy Modkins, local skipper, has indicated he will start his strongest possible lineup against the Skyscrapers, which means that Harry Dooley will probably toe the slab. Dooley is also the team's best hitter. Charley Merritt will do the catching chores for the locals.

Jewelers Clout Roscoe Troupe

Led by Odell "Red" Womack, the Nathan Jewelers of Big Spring slaughtered the Roscoe All-Stars, 20-10, in a baseball exhibition played at Steer park Thursday night.

Womack hit two home runs, the first with the sacks empty in the sixth inning and the second with the bases loaded in the eighth.

Dodgers Hang Onto First Place In Standings Despite Reversal

By The Associated Press

Fourth of July morning finds Brooklyn leading the National League but you never could prove it by the home run-hungry New York Giants.

The Dodgers, clinging to first place by their fingernails and two wobbly percentage points, ran into the stiffest punch since Joe Louis's 3-a-m-k-M-a-x Schmeling in one round when they were shelled yesterday by the Giants, 19-2.

Beaten, drubbed, routed, embarrassed, disrespected and humiliated, Uncle Burt Shotton was lucky to get his Brooks off for today's morning-afternoon doubleheader with the self same Giants.

It was so brutal that one tabloid newsman suggested in his story, "this should go up on Page 3 with the axe murders." It was that kind of a ball game.

Bobby Thomson hit two homers, Sid Gordon, Cooper and Mize one each in the savage attack on Hal Gregg, Hank Behrman, Joe Hatten and Clyde King. As a result the Giants cracked all sorts of records for homers in successive games.

To further scramble the first division standings, the Philadelphia Phillies shut out Boston, 3-0, dropping the Braves into third place on Tommy Hughes' Tom allowed but five hits in registering his second win at the cost of Warren Spahn's third loss. Skeeter Newsome's triple drove in two of the runs and Harry Walker made it three with his single, all in the fifth inning.

Hank Borowy outpitched Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, 4-2, to hit Chicago into an exact fourth place tie with St. Louis, four games back of first. Don Johnson raked Brecheen for four straight hits including his second homer of the season. Bill Nicholson added his tenth to help sink the Red Birds whose chief offensive gesture was Erv Dusak's homer in the eighth. It was win No. 8 for Borowy.

"Greenberg Gardens" got a big play from the pirates with Wally Westlake dropping two homers into the bull pen area and Hank Greenberg and Ralph Kiner one each in Pittsburgh's 7-3 romp over Cincinnati's John Hietki. Kiner's 18th came with two on in the seventh. Greenberg now has 13 and rookie Westlake 11.

Detroit moved into second spot, Philadelphia took over third and the defending champion Red Sox, who were out front by some 6-1-2 games at this time last season, fell to fourth.

Oliver, Keiser, Lock Leading In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, July 4. (AP)—Two Yankee Doodle hot-shots and a South African importation provided the big fireworks today as the $36,000 All-American golf championships, the game's richest show, moved towards the halfway mark.

Torching the professional division yesterday with six-under par 66's were Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, 1946 Masters' champion, and Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, the pre-moet favorite.

Despite the flying start of this trio, however, the 72-hole chase at George S. May's gally-festooned course still appeared to be up for grabs among at least a half-dozen other contenders—all 70 or under for the inaugural 18 holes.

About seven per cent of U. S. auto production was exported to foreign countries in 1946.

Big Spring Credit Women's Club Has Luncheon Meeting

Big Spring Credit Women's club met Thursday for a luncheon in the First Methodist church.

The constitution and by-laws of the club were revised during the meeting. The committee appointed to rewrite the constitution included Katherine Homan, Ollie Eubanks, Velma O'Neal and Veda Carter, the club president.

At the July 17 meeting each member is to bring a question or problem concerning credit for discussion. Bobby Goad will be in charge.

Some Wear Hair Up Others Cut Locks To Combat Weather

The styles may come and go and whether the weather is hot or cold, young girls keep on wearing their hair long with turned up ends.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien Will Attend World Baptist Alliance In Copenhagen

Worship services at the First Baptist church Sunday will be the last for Dr. P. D. O'Brien for a period of six weeks.

Accompanied by Mrs. O'Brien, he is to leave Monday for New York and Copenhagen, Denmark, where the World Baptist Alliance is being held this year.

During his absence, Truett Sheriff, Abilene, director of religious activities on the campus of Hain-Simmons University, will supply for the pastor.

Topic for the Sunday morning service will be "Why Jesus Came into the World," from Luke 19:10. For the evening worship, a fellowship hour has been planned with only a short message to precede observance of the Lord's Supper and baptismal rites.

The Rev. W. R. McClure, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will speak Sunday morning on the theme "The Life That Prays," using the text of John 15:7, James 5:16, and John 14:21-22.

For the evening services the Rev. McClure's subject is "The Deceitfulness of Sin," Hebrews 3:13. Young People's Society will meet at 7:15 p. m.

Guest pastor at the East Fourth Baptist church is the Rev. S. B. Hughes of Fort Worth, who will bring both the morning and evening sermons. The Rev. Hughes is a former pastor of the church.

At the 11 a. m. Divine Worship services at St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Rev. O. H. Horn, pastor, will discuss "The Christian's Battle Against the Sins of the Tongue," selecting the theme from Peter I 3:8-12.

Sunday 2:30 p. m. the quarterly meeting of voting members of the parish will be held in the church study. Lectures on Christian doctrine may be heard at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

The Sunday School Lesson

About A Man Named Job

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL (The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 6 is Job 1:1-5; 27:1-7; 29-31. The memory verse being Psalms 84:5. "Blessed is the man whose strength is in Thee.")

"THERE WAS a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God, and eschewed evil."

Job was a very rich man, owning seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred asses, and a very great household; so that this man was the greatest of all men in the east.

He also had seven sons and three daughters, and they feasted in their houses, every one his day; and sent and called for their three sisters to eat and drink with them.

After the feasting Job sent and sanctified his sons, and rose early in the morning and offered burnt offerings, for, said he, "It may be that my sons have sinned, and cursed God in their hearts."

There came a day when the sons of God presented themselves before the Lord, and Satan was among them. "And the Lord said unto Satan, Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it."

The Lord asked Satan if he had considered Job, who was "a perfect and an upright man." Satan accused the Lord of protecting Job and giving him everything to make him happy and prosperous, so naturally he worshipped the Lord.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Burns were complimented with a reception in the John Rogan Anderson home. Several pre-nuptial gift parties and teas honored the bridal couple during the weekend.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Dorothy Anderson, who wore a full skirted dress of pink maline, and by another sister, Mrs. June Landurth, who was dressed in a gown of blue maline, Shirley summarize two messages delivered at the Anderson camp meeting in June.

At the 11 a. m. services at the Trinity Baptist church, the Rev. W. E. Best, pastor, will speak on the theme, "Can A Sinner Pray?" Texts are taken from John 9:31 and John 17:9, 20, 21.

Communion meditation Sunday will be observed with a special message by the Rev. Gage Lloyd at the First Presbyterian church at 11 a. m.

Selecting his theme from Matthew 5:5, the Rev. Lloyd will bring the evening sermon, "The Mighty Meek," at 8 p. m.

Young People's Society convenes in the church at 8:30 p. m. with Joyce Beene, leader, in charge. "God" is the subject of the lesson-sermon, which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday morning.

The Lesson Text is: "To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever" (Jude 1:25).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord God of hosts, who is a strong Lord like unto Thee? or Thy faithfulness round about thee?" (Psalms 89:8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is the infinite, and infinity never began, will never end, and includes nothing unlike God." (page 249).

At the Airport Baptist Church, the Rev. Jesse J. McElreath, pastor, will use as sermon topic, "For Christ's Sake" at the 11 a. m. worship hour Sunday, taking his text from Second Corinthians, 5:14. At the 8 p. m. service, the Rev. McElreath will use as subject, "I Am Not Ashamed." Text for the evening message will be from Romans, 1:16.

Quality For Maintaining Freedom

Today is the 171st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, or at least so in popular acceptance of dates.

Thus, this day calls to our minds the belief that a new conception of government—a new way of life—was given substance by the acts in which the American colony declared itself free of the yoke of the mother country.

Freedom is the quality which epitomizes the bold step and the system which resulted from it. It was not a new idea, as most of us suppose, but it was undertaken with such hope and faith and vision that it grew into a great and mighty heritage.

Our system of freedom, which we choose to define as democracy, is but the external manifestation of some of the inherent yearnings of mankind. Theoretically, it offers us freedom to speak within bounds of reason; to vote for whom we please; to have a part in the government which we also created; to come and go without undue restraint; to have our rights protected in courts; to be free of unwarranted search; to assemble freely; to worship as we please; to be free of physical bondage.

We have been rolling along on the momentum of the selflessness and vision of a group of great men and great patriots who forgot their own interests and fortunes in the interests and fortunes of the nation. Only evidences of more of that same quality of self abnegation can meet and overcome imperfections. Momentum can not be sustained forever unless more is added.

Port Facilities For World Trade

In a land-locked section such as our own, we are not apt to be directly and immediately concerned about congestion of our ports. Yet the matter does concern us indirectly and can, unless something is done to relieve the situation, affect us adversely along with the rest of the nation.

Port facilities are operating on such a close margin that the recent temporary halting of work by maritime union members had a secondary effect of causing railroads to slap an embargo on shipments in transit to port.

It required only a few days to exhaust completely available warehouse space, loading docks and port trackage.

Back of this picture is one of antiquated facilities for the most part, seeking to grope with business that suddenly has soared to four times its pre-war level. Exports have jumped by five times and imports are up about two and a half times.

The glut has reached such a stage that boats are now required to spend a third to half their time in port, and estimates are that delays in port are costing $2,000 to $4,000 per day. Multiply that by hundreds, and even several thousand ships, and you get into some pretty imposing figures.

If we are to press our international trade, and we must because we cannot have a stable economy in a bankrupt world, action needs to be taken promptly and effectively toward improving and expanding the ability of our ports to handle cargo speedily and economically.

The Nation Today—James Marlow—

Labor 'Featherbedding' Outlawed

WASHINGTON, U.S.—The new labor law does things to, and for, you if you're an employer. Here are some of them.

Independent bargaining.—A union no longer can force you to do all your bargaining with it through an employers' association.

Example: A union insisted that you and several of your competitors bargain with it through your trade association in order to have the same contract apply to all workers.

It's an unfair labor practice for the union to try that now. You can bargain with it individually, or through an association, as you wish.

Union finances.—Before the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) will approve a union as a bargaining agent for your employees, it must file with the secretary of labor information on its finances.

Can you see that information? There's no answer on that yet. The labor secretary will have to decide. If he lets you, the employer, see it, he'll probably make it public to anyone.

Secondary boycott.—It's a secondary boycott when your union refuses to handle a product you receive from another firm where there's a labor dispute.

That's now an unfair labor practice by a union. You can complain to NLRB. The board must ask for a court injunction to stop it.

If you've lost money by this boycott, you can sue the union for damages in federal court. Jurisdictional strike.—

Say you have two unions working for you, one of carpenters, one of stageshands. You want doorframes built. The carpenters strike to force you to give the job to them. That's a jurisdictional strike.

No one at this time can say precisely when, in all cases, hiring a man is featherbedding, or when it isn't.

NLRB will have to work that one out, in time, as featherbedding complaints come before it for decision.

Unfair labor practices by employers.—The old labor law, the Wagner Act, outlawed five kinds of unfair labor practices by employers. The five stand unchanged. They are:

You can't interfere with an employee's rights, such as joining a union; you can't try to control or finance a union; you can't do anything to an employee to make him join or not join a union; you can't do anything to him for taking part in NLRB investigations of you, such as testifying against you; and you can't refuse to bargain with a union which represents a majority of your employees.

If you try any of them, the NLRB can make you stop, even if it means getting a court order to compel you to stop.

Other damage suits.—When a union strikes unlawfully—say in violation of a contract—you can sue it for damages. If the strike cost you money.

Any number of other firms—if they've lost money by the illegal strike at your place—can also sue that union for damages.

It costs the union money, it can sue you for damages.

Featherbedding.—It's an unfair labor practice for a union to try to force you to pay for work not done. This is featherbedding.

Russia Lays Her Cards On Table

Russia's rejection of the Marshall program for European economic rehabilitation is good news for western democracy.

It is good because it removes a terrible handicap of uncertainty which has been impeding world peace and recovery.

The ideal for which all people of good-will have labored would be unity of purpose among the nations, and especially among the major powers upon whom rests the main responsibility for global welfare. There could be no greater boon to humanity than that.

However, with each passing day since the end of the war it has become increasingly clear that the way of totalitarian communism was not that of western democracy. Moreover western suspicions that the Soviet Union was bent on communizing the world have grown as Moscow has brought nation after nation in Europe and Asia within its zone of domination by coups which have evoked vigorous protests from Washington and London.

For a considerable time it has been obvious to informed observers that there must be a tabling of cards among the major powers. Secretary of State Marshall's economic proposal has forced the showdown.

The western Allied tabled their cards when that altruistic proposal was made, and was agreed to by Britain and France. Then the Anglo-French pair extended an invitation to Russia to join, thus leaving Moscow the choice of three courses to pursue.

1. To accept and go all-out in an effort to make the program work, thereby encouraging belief that after all collaboration and other aims could collaborate. 2. To join with tongue in cheek and then try to scuttle the ship.

3. To reject cooperation, thereby widening the breach between East and West.

The Soviet Union has chosen the third course. Foreign Minister Molotov in turning down the proposal declared that it "would lead to interference in the internal affairs of European countries." Moscow previously had charged that the United States was using this plan as a subterfuge for extending its own influence in Europe—an accusation which Marshall has branded as "fantastic" and "malicious."

So it's to be non-cooperation—unless Russia has an unexpected change of heart. At long last we know exactly where we stand and we can plan accordingly.

In Hollywood—Bob Thomas

Another British Star Quits Rank

HOLLYWOOD, U.S.—British Star Phyllis Calvert has ended her contract with J. Arthur Rank, but she will continue to consult between England and Hollywood.

Unlike many English players who have become free from their commitments at home, Phyllis is not going to settle here. She is too fond of her country home in England, which she would have to give up if she established residence here. So she will make one or two films in the six months she is permitted to remain in the U. S. yearly. She is here now for "My Own True Love" at Paramount.

Phyllis' introduction to Hollywood was unfortunate. She arrived when U-I was undergoing merger pains, and almost concluded that the whole town was a state of confusion. She likes it here now.

Joseph Cotten, happy with "The Farmer's Daughter," goes back to RKO to play the newspaperman turned press agent in "The Harder They Fall." Budd Schulberg's fight yarn, "Emphasis will be placed on Cotten's role and boxing scenes will be at a minimum. It will be the first producing job for Eddie Dmytryk, who will also direct.

Gene Autry is a happy man, having won his final freedom from Republic. He'll make all his future films with his own unit at Columbia and all will be in color. Budgets are set at $500,000, against $150,000 for his costliest picture at Republic. But Gene expects color to bring in the added revenue.

"Forever Amber" has received the final okay from the Johnston office, reports director Otto Preminger, and the film will reach the screens in November. It will have a simultaneous road show release in 1,000 theaters, which seems to be the fate these days.

Melvyn Douglas is another free man. He has been released from MGM, for which he has been campaigning since he got out of the army. He will freelance, except for a one-a-year deal with RKO

U. S. Saved Hungary

NEW YORK, U.S.—The new communist custodians of ancient Hungary took over a country rescued from financial chaos by a $35,000,000 train ride with Uncle Sam at the throttle.

The followers of the hammer and sickle, now in power, have conveniently overlooked that a little detail, but some among the Hungarian masses must remember.

It was right out of a Hollywood script—that train ride last August that saved Hungary from total collapse by the timely return of its entire gold reserve—22 tons of the precious metal.

I was the only reporter aboard the train, and I'd like to tell a few angles about the trip that weren't pointed out at the time.

The Hungarian government's store of gold had been captured by the American third army in Austria, and removed to Frankfurt for safekeeping. When the Hungarian pengos soared to fantastic inflationary levels, it became evident that only solid money could save the country.

The American government agreed to return the Hungarian gold reserve to back a new currency—the Florin.

The hope was that by this act America could keep "a window open to the west" in this Russian-occupied nation.

The gold was loaded aboard three baggage cars at Frankfurt. There was a kind of victory symbolism in the train itself. It had been built by Adolf Hitler as a present for Benito Mussolini but taken over by the Fuehrer for his own use after he decided his Italian ally no longer deserved expensive favors.

There were thirty-three American military guards aboard the train.

Several times during the journey Dr. Nicolas Nyardi, then an undersecretary in the Hungarian ministry of finance, went into the baggage cars to be sure the gold hasn't fallen out on the tracks.

Story Behind Labor Veto Speech

WASHINGTON — There've been considerable charges and counter-charges that CIO Counsel Lee Pressman ghost-wrote the ho'white House veto message on the Taft-Hartley labor bill. Truth is that he had no direct hand in writing the message, though some of his words did creep in.

Inside fact is that the bristling veto message was composed by White House Assistant Clark Clifford with the help of two principal contributors, William S. Ryson, solicitor of the labor department, and Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

However, both Ryson and Herzog wrote analyses of the labor bill for Clifford's guidance. And these were strikingly similar to an analysis written by CIO's Pressman. This is probably why certain phrasing that cropped up in the final White House draft of the labor message was attributed to Pressman.

Further inside fact is that Clifford requested the opinions of several other individuals outside the government, including William Leiserson, former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board. However, Leiserson is plenty peeved because Clifford rejected his views—after seeking them.

A confidential memorandum Leiserson sent Clifford was only mildly critical of the Taft-Hartley bill and endorsed several provisions of the legislation, including the ban on jurisdictional strikes, as necessary steps in management-labor relations.

Leiserson tells friends that, while he couldn't endorse the whole bill, in his opinion, some parts of it were good. In any case, the former labor board head privately declares that some of the hot language Clifford wrote into the message should have been "toned down."

Anyone in aviation will tell you that there's nothing bashful about Maj. Alexander de Seversky when it comes to airplane design. Repeatedly, before Pearl Harbor, he bearded and badgered Gen. Hap Arnold to build long-range pursuit planes, put armor around flying fortresses.

When it comes to kissing his wife in public, however, Seversky belongs to the old school.

As Seversky called at the White House recently to receive the Harmon Trophy for outstanding aviation service from President Truman, news photographers learned that it was a double red-letter day for the Russian-born aircraft designer. Seversky and his lovely blonde wife were observing their 22nd wedding anniversary. So photographers asked them to embrace.

Mrs. Seversky was willing, but not her famous husband. "Mr. President," he demurred. "The place for a man to kiss his wife is at home, not in public."

"I don't blame you," chuckled Truman, greatly amused.

Finally Mrs. Seversky took matters into her own hands, giving her reluctant spouse a clinch that would have done justice to Hollywood.

Seversky also had to be coaxed a bit to accept the Harmon trophy. He insisted that Truman himself deserved the award "More than I do," because of the contributions the Truman investigating committee made to aviation progress.

Mrs. Seversky's revelations made by the Truman committee contributed greatly to the strength of our air forces during the war," said Seversky. "They gave me and other aeronautical leaders the opportunity to be heard with authority."

Truman smiled gratefully, but replied: "No one is better qualified to receive this high award."

Two days after congress passed the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, Attorney General Tom Clark set up a committee inside the justice department to attempt to enforce the act as rigidly as possible.

Though some doubt exists among justice department lawyers as to whether the act is not unconstitutional, Clark has decided that the best way to get a bad law changed is to enforce it vigorously.

The Taft-Hartley committee he has appointed consists of: Lamar Caudie, pro-tem assistant attorney general for crime; Peyton Ford, assistant attorney general for claims; Stewart Mac Gregor, assistant to Clark; and D. M. Ladd, assistant FBI director.

Already the FBI has been keeping an eye on John L. Lewis to see whether prior to June 30 he communicated with any of his union chiefs in the coal fields to inspire a strike.

However, Clark has reported to Truman there is absolutely no evidence of a Lewis strike conspiracy.

CRIMINAL DIVISION While congress has been badgering Attorney General Clark for criminal prosecutions in Kansas City and for strict enforcement of the Taft-Hartley Act, simultaneously congress has refused to let Clark have a new head for his criminal division.

More than three months ago Clark asked J. Edgar Hoover to pick the best prosecuting attorney he could find in the entire country to become assistant attorney general in charge of crime. Clark felt that Hoover, first, would know the men best qualified; and second, that the man he selected would work closely with the FBI. Cooperation between the two in preventing crime is essential.

Accordingly Hoover submitted several names. Top on the list was Vincent Quinn, prosecuting young crime-prosecutor from Brooklyn. The FBI had worked closely with Quinn in various subversive cases and, last April, recommended him as one of the best prosecutors in the nation.

But though Truman immediately sent Quinn's name to the senate, it has languished before Wisconsin Senator Wiley's judicial committee ever since.

Republicans, led by Ferguson of Michigan, apparently don't trust the judgment of J. Edgar Hoover.

Note—Meanwhile, Republicans were anxious to jam the confirmation of ex-Black Legionnaire Congressman Robert F. Jones of Ohio to the Federal Communications Commission in a couple of days.

PHANTOM CONGRESSMAN The six-day vanishing act of New York's Congressman Charles Buckley from the May-Garrison trial was no surprise to his house colleagues, who have known Buckley as "the phantom" since his election to congress 13 years ago.

Four several days the justice department wanted the Manhattan congressman as a witness against ex-Congressman May of Kentucky. However, many of his Democratic colleagues frankly admit that the Tammanyite is so rarely seen in congress that they wouldn't recognize him.

Buckley used to keep his office locked up for long periods, occasionally sending a secretary (also paid by the taxpayers) down from New York to sort out the mail accumulated outside his door.

However, after the Merry-Go-Round exposed his nebulous maneuverings in August, 1943, Buckley opened up his office and kept a permanent clerk there to meet constituents. At that time he was chairman of the house pensions committee, which did not hold one meeting an entire session. Some committee members confessed: "We wouldn't know our chairman if we laid eyes on him."

In fact, an "out to lunch" sign once hung on Buckley's office door for a week, the longest "lunch hour" taken by a congressman or his secretary in capital history.

Texan Misses Great Horse Act

One of the big disappointments in the life of P. D. McGibbony of Texarkana was the little incident that occurred in southern Missouri while he was watching a film company shoot "Jesse James."

Tyron Power was to ride his horse off a cliff in a spectacular river jump. All day a big audience waited while the camera-men tried for just the right light angle.

Then came the jump. Power spurred his horse in a charge toward the cliff edge. McGibbony was on edge—the big moment.

Just as the horse neared the edge of the cliff, McGibbony felt a nunch in the back.

"Got a chew of tobacco, friend?" A native asked.

While the Texarkana man was turned, the bumping act was completed. He said: never did see that horse jump until the picture came to town.

But if he'd been in either Hillsboro or San Angelo, recently, he'd have seen some horse action. Like in the old days.

At Hillsboro, a team pulling a mower became frightened at a passing freight train and ran away. The mower hit two parked cars, puncturing a tire on each.

As the team rounded a intersection, the mower broke loose. Two boys fatally stopped the runaways.

Something like that happened at San Angelo, but instead of a freight train, the thing that scared the team was a Shriners' parade. The stirring march being played by the Moslah Temple (Port Worth) band, plus the fezzes, were just too much for the team.

The wagon overturned between two cars, damaging one, but the team kept on going. It finally

Prince Of Wales 'Angelic Imp'

NEW YORK (U.P.) — The World Book Encyclopedia notes that the original meanings of many words have changed considerably. "Depart" used to mean separate or divide. The old English marriage service once read "till death do us depart." A "jig" was once a fiddle to whose music the country folk danced.

"Imp" used to mean a young shoot of a plant. Then it came to mean child, and prayers offered for the health of the Prince of Wales at one time referred to him as "that most angelic imp." The word "cab" is a short form of cabriolet, which originally meant a leap or caper like that of a wild goat.

Glorious Harvest

From this pleasant field and thousands like it comes the daily bread of the American people and the millions abroad who share our bounty.

Agriculture is the most basic of all industries, because it produces the food which sustains human life. It calls for hard work and a high degree of intelligence, training, foresight and skill.

The farmer is essentially a man of faith. He plows and plants and cultivates with firm belief that a gracious and all-wise providence will bring him an abundant harvest. This faith is the basis of his effort and the inspiration of his toil.

Faith in God is needed in every occupation and every walk of life. Without it, life is meaningless and our efforts are as those of a bird vainly beating its wings against an iron cage.

The mission of the Church is to teach men to love and trust God and walk in His ways. They are the ways of pleasantness, the paths of peace. Go to church on Sunday. It will inspire you to live better and labor with more purpose next week.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Study Of Undersea Mountains Range In Atlantic Planned

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—An expedition to survey a section of the "Mid-Atlantic ridge"—an undersea mountain range which extends from Iceland nearly to Antarctica—was announced today by the National Geographic Society.

Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the society, said the expedition will leave July 15 for a two-months' study of the ridge in waters about 1,200 miles east of Bermuda. Columbia University and the Oceanographic Institution and Woods Hole, Mass., will be the society's joint sponsors of the trip.

The research ship "Atlantis," a 146-foot ketch, will be used by the scientists.

The Mid-Atlantic ridge rises some two miles above the ocean floor. Although much of it is deeply submerged—the crest averaging about a mile below the surface—occasional peaks emerge to form such islands as the Azores and Ascens.

Little is known about its geologic structure, but one theory holds that it is a fragment left behind when the continents of North and South America separated from Europe and Africa.

Professor Maurice Ewing, Columbia University geologist leading the expedition, emphasized that the party will not be seeking a "lost continent"—called "Atlantis"—which legend says existed thousands of years ago and then disappeared beneath the waters of the Atlantic.

"The 'Lost Atlantis' has not entered into my thinking about our plans," said Ewing.

The scientists have these objectives:

1. To determine if and how canyons have been carved into the ridge. Such submarine canyons have been found in the continental shelf off the eastern coast of the United States, but geologists can't agree whether they were formed by erosion, glacial action, submarine springs or earthquakes.
2. To collect samples of the fine mud, or ooze, that covers the bottom of the ocean at the base of the ridge, about three miles below the surface. Collected in tubes 10 and 15 feet long which will be lowered into the water and then hauled up, these samples are expected to help in determining the age of the sediment and the conditions under which it was deposited.

Army Needs Minimum Of 500 Volunteers For July-August

Independence Day finds the regular Army seeking to maintain its minimum strength of one million men by volunteer enlistment for the first time since 1940.

In an effort to contribute to the 30,000 new recruits needed each month, the district headquarters has established a quota of 500 volunteers for July and August, according to 2nd Lt. Robert A. Shiveley, in charge of the recruiting station in the post office here.

Lt. Shiveley pointed out that the minimum strength is necessary to carry out the Army's domestic and foreign service.

To meet the demands, special emphasis is being placed on youth and quality of recruits. More than ever before, attention of high school graduates is being directed to advantages of Army enlistment.

These, said Lt. Shiveley, include training in the new ground, air and administrative and technical schools, as well as specialized and job training. Recruits as privates receive $75 per month in addition to food, clothing, medical care and other benefits. Annual leave amounts to 30 days. Through foreign duty possibilities, the recruit has unlimited opportunity for travel. Pay increases with ratings up to $185 per month for a master sergeant, and five per cent increase for three years service, 20 per cent for foreign duty and 50 per cent for flying duty.

A&M Military Seton Praised By Ex-Aggie

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—The greatness of Texas A&M, says an ex-Aggie in congress, stems from the way it has been conducted as an "essentially military institution"—as the war department rates it.

Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague, of the class of '32, makes no secret of his concern over proposals to "de-emphasize" military training at Aggieland.

The very fact that students there do wear uniforms at all times and otherwise live under military discipline, he says, has won it distinction over other large state colleges and universities throughout the country with R.O.T.C. units.

Teague has discussed the matter with various war department officials, and it was because of his interest that Lieut. Gen. C. P. Hall, director of organization and training, wrote him a letter—timed to coincide it what meeting of the college's governing board—praising A&M and declaring that "no other school in the country even approximated" its output of reserve army officers.

Another staunch supporter of the military program and A&M, as it has been carried out for decades, is a member of Teague's staff, Earl McChesney, of the class of '43. Both Teague and McChesney are purple heart veterans of fighting in Europe.

Romine Named To Temple Post

Charles Romine, supervisor of curriculum for Big Spring High School for the past two years, will leave Saturday for Temple, where he had been named principal of the high school.

Romine succeeds Jack Atkins, who has gone to Laredo to become president of the junior college of that city. Atkins, in turn, had succeeded George Geunty, for a number of years high school principal here, at Temple when Geunty became head of Goosecreek schools.

Coming here in September 1946, Romine's chief work has been in directing the development of philosophy and objectives for the high school and the shaping of a curriculum and course of study in keeping with it.

Prior to coming to Big Spring he taught at Waco State Orphan's Home in the Hillsboro high school and Mission State home. For a time he was director of the youth center in Denton, and served a short time as field executive for the Boy Scouts of America.

Mrs. Romine and their two daughters, Mary Linda and Rebecca Leigh, will accompany him to Temple.

Root Hospital Adds New Wing

COLORADO CITY, July 4. (AP)—A new wing comprising 14 rooms, a new nursery, central supply and service room, and a storage basement is now in use at Root Memorial hospital, Colorado City.

The exterior still incomplete, the new wing is finished inside. The addition has modernized and enlarged this town's only hospital, built in 1927 by the late Dr. C. L. Root, a beloved pioneer physician who practiced medicine and surgery in Colorado City from 1915 until his death in 1937.

Originally Root hospital was built by Dr. Root as a small private hospital with eight rooms. Two years later he added a new wing of seven rooms and a modern nurses' home. His death came on the tenth anniversary of the hospital's opening and his only son, Charles L. Root, Jr., became hospital manager. The younger Mr. Root has a master plan, drawn by W. R. Griffin, Sweetwater architect, which will eventually add yet another wing to the hospital, completing a Y-shaped building and adding in the future a new minor surgery room, a new lying-in room, and delivery suite.

Hearings On War Department Cut Set

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—A senate appropriations subcommittee scheduled hearings next Wednesday on a house-approved bill trimming $43,000,000 from a $383,000,000 war department civil operations budget.

The non-recorded vote of the house accepted the recommendation of its appropriations committee and approved $339,000,000 for flood, control, navigation, maintenance of national cemeteries and operation of the Panama Canal during the next twelve months.

The committee figure stood in the face of two days of debate over proposals to increase the sum at least to the budget estimate.

Protection Against Measles Is Urged For Frail Children

AUSTIN, July 4. (AP)—Use of immune globulin to protect frail children from measles has been urged by State Health Officer George W. Cox.

Dr. Cox said that if administered within eight days from the time of exposure, immune globulin would prevent the disease. Its use was seen as mainly beneficial for infants and children whose health makes it inadvisable for them to suffer an attack of the measles.

While protection is ordinarily of about three weeks duration only, there is no limit to the number of times it can be used, he said. Repeated use can go on shielding a child against measles until he is old enough and strong enough to stand an attack without serious consequences.

Immune globulin can be obtained free by physicians to be used as they think advisable, Dr. Cox said.

It is estimated that about 300 million people throughout the world have malaria in some years.

Camp Available For Senior Scouts

FACILITIES AT Camp Philmont in New Mexico will be made available to senior Boy Scouts in the Big Spring district sometime this month, provided there is sufficient interest among boys here, Scout officials announced today.

H. D. Norris, local Scout field executive, said the cost for a one-week trip to Philmont probably would amount to about $15 to $17.50. Those interested are urged to contact either Norris or their scoutmaster.

Kansas Needs More Combines

GREAT BEND, Kas., July 4. (AP)—Lack of combines posed a threat to the huge Kansas wheat crop, but efforts were being made to rush harvesting equipment into the state to lessen any possible losses.

The estimated crop of 218,000,000 bushels is the largest in Kansas history.

The situation is especially critical this year because most of the wheat throughout the state has ripened at the same time, and also the harvest in Texas and Oklahoma is still underway.

Normally many combining outfits start out in Texas, traverse through Oklahoma and take up in Kansas as the wheat ripens progressively from south to north.

In Texas the harvest is well under way in the top of the Panhandle where the acreage is great and the yield heavy. Most grain in the southern edge of the Texas wheat belt has already been harvested, however.

In Oklahoma the harvest is complete in a large portion of the state agricultural extension service for three Oklahoma Panhandle counties where rains delayed the cutting.

Rep. Hope (R-Kas.) said in Washington the agricultural department is making efforts to start a number of combines south out of Colorado, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana and northward from Texas.

Cub Scout Day Camp Dates Are Revealed

Annual Day Camp for Cub Scouts in the Big Spring district will be held at City Park on July 9-10-11, D. M. McKinney, cubbing commissioner, announced today.

Activity at the camp site will begin at 10 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. during the first two days. On the third day, parents will be guests at a supper in the park, and several cubs and their fathers will remain at the park overnight.

General activities will include swimming, games, contests and handicraft work. All Cubs in the district, which includes three packs in Big Spring and one each in Coahoma, Forsan and Stanton, are eligible to attend. However, they must be officially registered with a pack by the first day of the camp. Registration fee for the camp is $1.
