Methodists Schedule Lay Witness Mission

The 1st United Methodist Church of Eldorado is preparing for a new and exciting week end Aug. 10th through 12th, with the arrival Friday afternoon of 26 laymen who are a team in a Lay Witness Mission. The 26 people, who will be staying in various homes in our community, are men, women and youth, who have encountered the living Christ and will share their experiences and faith with all who participate in the planned programs.

The leader of the group will be Mr. Wendell Stewart of Midland, and the people assisting him will be from Dallas, Mason, Utopia, Brady, Midland, Kermit and Odessa. The coordinator and lay witnesses travel at their own expense as part of their witness.

The laymen who are members of the team are from many denominations and that fact will not enter into the discussions. They do not come to speak only—they witness by speaking or listening. They will not pressure anyone to take part, but they seek to communicate love and understanding to everyone. They do not give answers as such, but share honestly what God has done and is doing in their lives. They speak of more than "success" stories; they tell of heartaches as well as victories and joys. They share in small groups, and they listen to others. They come to receive as well as to give. The central focus is on personal commitment to Christ.

The Mission will begin on Friday afternoon and continue thru Sunday noon. Anyone who would like to participate in this program is most welcome. Should you be interested please call Mrs. Ed Meador or Mrs. E. C. Peters and you will be included. If you would be interested in attending any one of the meetings, please feel free to do so. There is a group organized for everyone—you'll be missed if you are not there, but more important is what you will miss!

The schedule is as follows:
Friday:
 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. Arrival and welcome of witnesses.
 6:30 p.m. Dinner educational building.
 7:30 p.m. Group meeting in the church sanctuary.
Saturday:
 10:00 a.m. Coffee groups in various homes.
 12:00 noon. Luncheon at church for women; luncheon at church for men. Luncheon at Lynn Meador residence for youth.

 7:30 p.m. General sharing session in church sanctuary.
Sunday:

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meador and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Meador and family have returned from a trip to California where they spent several weeks. While there they visited Russell and Edda Lou Beach, former Eldoradoans.

Post Script

There seems to be still more speculation in regard to the political year of 1974 which will be getting under way in just five months.

Richard M. Morehead had the following statement in last Sunday's Dallas Morning News:

"Several congressmen face opposition from state legislators in 1974, if they run again. Sen Jack Hightower of Vernon has definitely decided to seek the seat held by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa. Sen. Nelson Wolff, Reps. Frank Lombardino and Jim Nowlin of San Antonio are prospective candidates for Congressman Clark Fisher's seat, which also will be sought by Rep. John Poerner of Hondo. Half a dozen other hot races will occur if aging congressmen give up their seats."

Those serving in the Legislature are paid $4800 a year, and they can have their dreams of the $42,500 they would draw as Congressman. But it takes big money to run for the higher office and be elected to the initial term.

Annual Meeting Of Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op Set Tuesday

HANDSOME Headquarters building of the Co-Op has been an Eldorado fixture for nearly 15 years.

The 28th Annual Meeting of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op is set here for Tuesday, August 14th, on the Court House lawn and the usual crowd of hundreds of members, their families and invited guests are expected. The barbecue will get under way at 7:00 p.m. prepared as usual by Orland Harris.

Main item of business at this annual event is the election of directors to serve new three-year terms. Those nominated are R. A. Harrell and W. W. (Amos) Owens. The nominating committee consisted of Joe Bean, Sam Perncr, Chester Kenley, Marshall Montgomery, and Louis Woodward.

About 1200 booklets were prepared in the Eldorado Success print shop a while back and a copy has been mailed to each member. The booklet cites the progress of the Co-Operative for the past year, and the mailing label on the cover serves as the recipient's registration at the meeting and chance at door prizes.

Manager Elton McGinness and the directors and staff of the Co-Op urge each member to carefully read the booklet ahead of the time of the meeting.

J. D. Strauss, Co-Op president, stated in part: "It must be mentioned that we face one problem starting in the next six months. Due to an increase in price of natural gas and fuel oil your Co-Op is being charged with higher power costs—the costs must be passed on to you.

"Something new is in the making. Starting in the Fall we anticipate billing each member by Data Processing. We feel this innovation will save office time and hold operation costs down."

The Co-Op currently has 3,005.6 miles of line, with 3,212 meters. That is 1.11 meters per mile.

Following the serving of barbecue Tuesday, the following program will get under way at about 8:00 p.m.:

Call to Order by Pres. Strauss.
 Proof of Notice of Meeting and Declaration of Quorum.
 Reading of Minutes of previous meeting.

Report of Nominating Committee and election of Directors.
 Manager's Report.
 Awarding of Service Pins.
 Drawing for door prizes.

This annual meeting and barbecue has always been a highlight of the summer here, since it gives a time for people to meet and visit with old friends and renew acquaintances. Some Co-Op members report never having missed a meeting since the first one was held back in the mid-1940's.

The Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative, headquartered here in Eldorado, serves a number of rural power consumers in Schleicher and adjoining counties, and has a sizable payroll.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—"The overall food situation is currently in a state of uncertainty," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said this week.

"Under Phase IV controls, a more normal marketing pattern of fresh fruits and vegetables is expected," according to the consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"However, 'demand exceeds supply' is showing up on many commodity market reports. This will undoubtedly result in continued high prices.

"It's most difficult to forecast fruit and vegetable supply-price situations at this time, but consumers still can buy wisely if they watch for locally grown and nearby produce, make their own selections and take the best possible care of the items when they get home with them," she said.

Seasonal items include cantaloupes, peaches, nectarines, seedless white grapes, cherries, plums and pineapples.

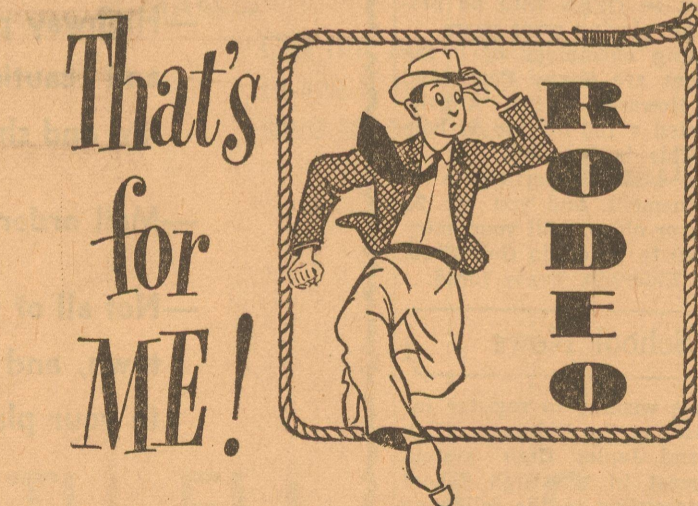

Also cucumbers, corn-on-the-cob, blackeye and purple hull peas, carrots and okra.

"There is little promotional interest in the fryer market this week. However, turkey is a good protein choice to look for. Turkey parts and turkey rolls may be good values, too.

"Consumers may find a few featured items at the meat counter, but supplies are 'guaranteed' to be less than usual, because demands continue strong.

"Shoppers can help ease the situation by using more meat alternates, such as dry beans, dry peas and peanut butter," the specialist concluded.

Curtis Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Griffin, was honored with a swimming party Tuesday night at the pool on occasion of his 11th birthday. A number of his friends were on hand.

All Set For Performances Friday And Saturday Of Amateur Rodeo

The selling of advance tickets for admission and chances for the Suzuki 100 cc. trail bike, and advertising in the program—all are part of the preliminary work that has been done for the two nightly performances of the Amateur Rodeo, being sponsored for the second time this year by the Chamber of Commerce. The performances are set for Friday and Saturday nights, August 10 and 11, starting at 8:30.

Many weeks of advance planning and promotion have already gone into the Rodeo, so all local and area residents are urged to support it. The Suzuki trail bike is on display at El Dorado Restaurant, and tickets for $1.00 donations are available there as well as from any Chamber of Commerce member here in Eldorado.

The Jaycees will sponsor a dance Saturday night at the Memorial Building, and will also assist in the arena both nights. Horace Linticum will serve as arena director, and Riding Club members will man the concession stand.

Terry Walls of Stephenville will produce the rodeo.

The Eagle Marching Band will start practice Monday, Aug. 13 8:00 a. m. All band members are to report to the band hall with their instruments.

How To Avoid The "Brownout" Blues

Although most Americans have never experienced an electrical "brownout," and probably won't have to worry about one this summer, every homeowner in this era of the "energy crisis" should be familiar with the warning signs of a voltage cutback and know what to do when one occurs.

Early diagnosis of a brownout, a voltage reduction brought on when demand for electricity exceeds the utility company's ability to supply it, can help prevent damage to your motor-driven major appliances.

Although planned power reductions generally range from only 3 to 8 per cent—and experts at General Electric Company say most appliance motors are designed to handle up to a 10 per cent voltage drop—a brownout should be looked upon as a signal to take certain precautions.

If a brownout is in progress, you are most likely to "hear about it" in the kitchen, or "see it" on television.

One symptom is an unusual humming or labored droning from the motor in your refrigerator, food freezer, washer, dryer or dishwasher, indicating it is trying to run on too little electricity. Another is dimming of lights. But perhaps the surest test is a shrinkage of the picture on your television set, resulting in a black band from 1/4- to one-inch wide around the entire picture.

General Electric, the nation's largest maker of major appliances, has issued a set of guidelines that it recommends appliance users—of all brands, not just its own—follow during periods of known or suspected voltage reduction.

*All electrical appliances not absolutely needed should be turned off particularly electric water heaters and air conditioners.

*Refrigerators and freezers should be left on and plugged in, but you can help reduce the electrical load by opening their doors only when necessary.

*If you must air condition, turn the thermostat on the room or central unit to the highest temperature at which you can be comfortable. Close off rooms which don't have to be cooled.

*Avoid using high-wattage small appliances, such as clothes irons, toasters and hair dryers.

*Turn off all lights not actually needed to see or work by.

*When you have word that voltage has returned to normal, continue to leave appliances turned off for at least another five minutes.

With brownouts and blackouts expected to continue to be commonplace terms throughout the '70s, it is a good idea to keep a functioning battery-operating radio in the home at all times so you can hear reports during a power outage about its severity and expected duration.

A flashlight and some candles may also come in handy.

Keep Track Of Your Checking Account

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Tex.—Back in the days when the holder of a bank checking account could write a draft on a brown paper sack, or a piece of wood bark, it probably wasn't as hard to keep track of an account balance as it is today when Texas banks print personalized drafts, process checks with computers, and offer a myriad of helpful services.

But one of the major problems merchants encounter today is the proliferation of worthless checks which are given, in the main, it seems, by well-meaning consumers who simply find it hard to master the mathematics of checking accounts.

Hundreds of millions of drafts on Texas banks are written annually by people who find this a convenient way to keep a record of payment on everything from insurance premiums, to mortgage coupons, to sandwich luncheons and drugstore purchases.

Usually, everything works out to the satisfaction of the account holder, the merchant, and the bank depository.

Many times, however, checks do "bounce"—that is to say, get returned to the merchant with a bank explanation of "insufficient funds." In that event, the merchant will notify the check writer by certified mail of the return, with a request that the insufficient check be redeemed by a certain date.

In most cases, the giver of the check responds right away, since a good credit record is one of the most-prized assets in today's society.

If the consumer does not answer the notice about a returned check for up to $50, however, the merchant can take the worthless check—together with his certified mail receipt—to the county attorney for collection and/or legal action on what is classified as a misdemeanor crime.

TO CONDUCT SERVICE SUNDAY

The services this Sunday afternoon, August 12th, at the local Nursing Home, will be under the direction of the Primitive Baptist Church.

(As of August 27, 1973, when a new law takes effect, the county attorneys will have jurisdiction on worthless checks for up to $200. The legal penalty for prosecution will be up to two years in county jail and/or a maximum fine of $1,000.)

Realizing that the average worthless check writer suffered from poor bookkeeping ability, rather than any intention of perpetrating a fraud, most county attorneys proceed with care from that point.

They understand, also, that the merchant's interest is only in keeping his books straight, by securing payment on the checks.

In Travis County (Austin) where some 300,000 Texans live, County Attorney Ned Granger begins by writing a letter to the person of which the merchant complained. "Generally," Granger says, "it's a housewife's, or student's, disease."

He says that his office received 16,802 complaints in 1972 regarding worthless checks totaling $262,185, and through contacts with those complained of, $130,929 was recovered for the merchants involved.

If the county attorney's letter is ignored, he asks the local sheriff to send the check writer a summons, asking him to appear in county court. If there is still no answer after 30 to 60 days, a warrant is issued for the person's arrest. And if he doesn't show up for the court hearing, the defendant is cited for contempt of court, as well as for the worthless check charge.

Most cases are resolved before such drastic action could be required. When a case does come to trial, most defendants plead guilty and work out an arrangement thru probation to repay the amount involved.

The citizens who get in this predicament are not the same as the so-called "hot check artists," county attorneys tell us. The people who purposely write bad checks usually are itinerant, and manage to be in the next county or state by the time their checks bounce. Another professional ploy is to counterfeit the checks, or forge them.

The "worthless check" charge most often involves an otherwise-honest citizen.

Officials such as district and county attorneys, and the Attorney General, are dedicated to law enforcement. But they don't enjoy the business of having to take action against persons who try to be law-abiding in all other respects, any more than the merchants do.

It would be so much easier if all of the check-writing public would make scrupulous attempts to keep their checkbooks balanced, and if they do receive "insufficient check" notices which they consider to be mistakes, take actions to get the errors corrected immediately.

Supplemental S. S. Payments To Start

The San Angelo Social Security Office is now taking applications for supplemental security income payments, a Federal program scheduled to start in 1974 that will establish an income floor for people in financial need who are 65 or over, or blind or disabled, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

But, people already getting State old age assistance or State aid because they are blind or disabled don't have to apply, he said. They will be getting more information later this year about how the program will help them.

"The first monthly payments under the Federal program will be made in January, 1974," Mr. Talbot said. "Until then, State and local public assistance offices will continue to make payments in the usual way."

People not getting public assistance now who think they may be eligible for the new Federal payments should call or write social security to find out if they should apply, according to J. M. Talbot. "Federal supplemental security income payments will be made by the Social Security Administration," Mr. Talbot said. "But, the program will be financed by Federal general revenues—not by social security contributions from workers and employer. It's not the same as social security."

The aim of the new program is to provide supplemental payments in cases of need so that people 65 or over, or blind, or disabled will have a basic cash income of at least $130 a month for one person and $195 a month for a couple.

"This doesn't mean that every eligible person or couple will be getting that much from the Federal Government every month," Mr. Talbot said. "The amount of the Federal payment any person gets will depend on how much other income he has."

"Eligibility for Federal payments will depend not only on the amount of income people have but on the value of their assets," Mr. Talbot said.

"If you're single—or married but not living with your husband or wife—you can own things worth up to $1500 and still get Federal payments," he said. "A couple can own things worth up to $2250 and get payments. Not everything you own has to be counted toward your total assets, however."

"A home of reasonable value will not be counted as an asset," Mr. Talbot said. Personal effects and household goods won't count in most cases. Insurance policies or a car may not affect eligibility either, but it will depend on their value.

Certain income also will be disregarded in deciding on an application for supplemental security income. The first $20 a month of income generally won't affect the Federal payment at all, Mr. Talbot said. "In addition, people who are working part time should know that the first $65 a month of earnings won't be included in counting their income and only half of the rest of their additional earnings will be counted," he said.

Apart from earnings, other income above the first $20 a month generally will reduce the Federal payment. "This includes social security checks, veterans payments, workmen's compensation, pensions, annuities, and gifts," Mr. Talbot said. "And, if you live in someone else's household, your basic Federal payment will be reduced by one-third before other income that may affect your payment is deducted."

For more information, contact your Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P.O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas. The telephone number is 949-4608.

"Even though payments cannot start until January, 1974, we're starting to take applications now so we can process them ahead of time and avoid delays that might occur if there's a rush of applications right at the end of the year," Mr. Talbot concluded.

Screwworms On Increase

College Station, Tex.—Texas had recorded well over 600 cases of screwworms for 1973 as July drew to a close, and indications are that the year's total will climb rapidly in the next few months.

"The hot summer weather and recent rains have spurred the spread of screwworms in South and Southwest Texas," said Dr. M. E. Meadows, veterinarian-in-charge of screwworm eradication operations at Mission.

"From now until November 1 is considered the crucial time in the screwworm program," Meadows noted. Thus he urged livestock producers and pet owners to be especially alert for screwworm infestations.

About 80% of the screwworm cases have been occurring in the southern-most 11 counties of Texas. However, El Paso and Huddell counties in Far West Texas have also recorded cases. In fact, El Paso county has already recorded six cases, more by this time of the year than any other year since the Screwworm Eradication Program began in 1962.

According to Meadows, current eradication efforts involve a two-pronged attack on the vicious flesh-eating livestock pest. Infested herds are being sprayed with a pesticide free of charge. The Texas Animal Health Commission, in cooperation with the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, is conducting this service for all livestock producers who submit a confirmed screwworm sample.

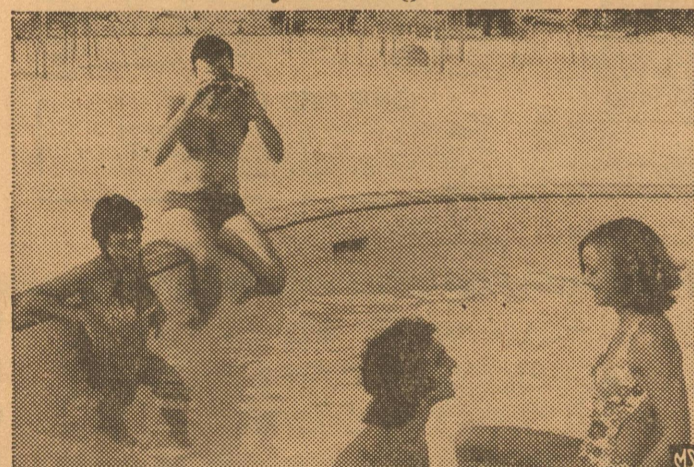

Sterile fly drops are also continuing at the rate of 1,000 to 2,000 flies per square mile each week in areas where cases are confirmed.

"But the spraying and fly drops are only part of the eradication program," pointed out the veterinarian. "We need the cooperation of all livestock producers and pet owners in inspecting and treating infested animals to make the program really effective."

Screwworm sample kits are available at any county Extension office.

No matter where you go, even if it's for a dip in a swimming pool, you can take your camera with you.

Picture The Land Of The Turtles

Winter in the Caribbean? But definitely. If it's quiet you're after and miles of radiant beaches, you might stop at Grand Cayman, a sun-drenched isle an hour's flight due south of Miami. It's a picture paradise.

They call Grand Cayman "the undiscovered island," but Columbus found it in 1503 and called it "Las Tortugas" for its turtles. The island's name was later changed, but the turtles are still there—on a turtle farm. Where else? It's a natural stopping place on your island photo tour.

From a patio fragrant with bougainvillea, you can picture the early surf as it splashes the shore, or picture the spray-filled air from one of Cayman's waterspouts. You can catch the fishermen at Spanish Bay as they haul in their catch, or snap a saffron sunset like no other.

To capture it all practically with the snap of a shutter, there's the new Kodak pocket Instamatic 60 camera, one of five palm-sized models that give you large, clear 3 1/2 x 4 1/2-inch snapshots. The cameras go where you go to get pictures you used to miss.

Cayman is a reef-encircled isle, and beneath its emerald waters is a world of staghorn coral, submarine caverns and luminous angel fish. Its reefs are dotted with the wreckage of a hundred bullion ships. The water inside its coral barrier is always calm, incredibly clear, perfect for underwater photography.

If you've never dived before, you can learn at the island's new Holiday Inn in a pool rigged with underwater speakers. An instructor will tell you exactly what to do while you're down under. The new Holiday Inn also offers glass bottom boats, a choice of outdoor water sports and an unspoiled beach seven miles long. You can learn more about the inn by a call to your local Holiday Inn.

With a watertight housing, you can take your camera down under Cayman. You should; it's another world.

Don't Let Your Rain Gauge Fool You

A rain gauge may fool you, if you take it too literally.
 If your rain gauge measures, say, two inches following a good shower, it doesn't necessarily mean that your soil has received the benefit of two inches of water. Because a rain gauge measures how much rain has fallen, and that is not nearly as significant as what your soil does with the rain after it has fallen.
 This has been shown through some eye-opening work by U. S. Soil Conservation Service personnel assisting soil conservation districts in this part of Texas.
 Following a two-inch rain, Soil Conservation Service technicians went to a ranch for an answer to the question: How much is a two-inch rain?
 Waiting 72 hours after the rain quit falling—to give the moisture a chance to penetrate as far as it would—the technicians selected four test spots with various degrees of vegetative cover, but all with the same slope.
 Digging down in a spot where the soil had no cover at all, we found that moisture had penetrated to a depth of just less than four inches. On soil which had a cover that was classed as poor, moisture had penetrated to a depth of six inches. The spot with a fair vegetative cover showed moisture down to 12 inches.
 And on the location where cover was good—a solid mat of tall grasses—moisture was present down to 24 inches. So that two-inch rain obviously will be worth much more to the rancher whose soil is equipped with a good cover of grass than to a livestock raiser whose range or pasture has poor cover.

In fact, the two inches of rain was worth only about a half inch on the poorly covered area when compared to the penetration beneath the good cover.

It can be explained that these figures are pretty near average for many moisture penetration tests which have been made in the Eldorado-Divide and surrounding soil and water conservation districts.
 The above-ground portion of the cover plants breaks the fall of each raindrop, the soil specialists explain, thereby helping to prevent runoff.
 Also the roots of the grass cover opens up the soil so that the moisture has room to go into the ground.
 Good cover may consist of any thick vegetation; not necessarily good grasses, technicians explain.
 However, when the range has been properly managed that cover will usually consist of the good grasses, soil specialists say.
 How to get that cover, of course, is the thing that interests most livestock raisers. Bill Rounree, district conservationist, says we have no new revolutionary answers for that question. Deferred grazing, adjusting livestock numbers to fit the amount of grass, rotation of grazing—these are the practices that make good range management sense anywhere, and can serve as a guide to stockmen who are striving to regain their range cover and put themselves back in business on a full scale.
 How about the recent rain on your ranch? Did you have a good grass cover and did you get maximum moisture penetration from the recent rains? A good conservation plan developed and applied to your land will help answer these questions.

Buying School Clothes

After a summer of shorts and T-shirts, children and mothers are thinking about new school clothes.
 Before shopping, take an inventory of clothing the child has on hand. Examine these garments carefully, note their condition, and sort them. Usually, some are still wearable, others need minor repairs, and some should be discarded.
 Next measure each child. This way purchases can be made by size—not age. Over the summer months, a child can grow one or two inches in height or width.
 When shopping for school clothes, take full advantage of sales—but don't go "overboard."
 Purchase only enough for the first two to three months of school. That way, the child won't outgrow them before he wears them.
 Spreading clothing purchases has another advantage—most children are happier with new things periodically rather than all at once.
 Often building a small basic wardrobe around the child's favorite color is the answer. This way, items can be mixed and matched.
 Several factors influence how much clothing is needed. These include the number of children in a family, their ages, and how often the homemaker does the family laundry.
 As a rule, girls need more clothes than boys—but boys' clothing is more expensive.
 When purchasing school clothing, consider durability, price and care requirements.
 For items receiving the most wear, buy the best quality the family can afford. School clothes and shoes must withstand wear longer than a party dress—which is worn only a few times.
 Read all labels and hangtags to determine care requirements.
 Remember—drycleaning adds to the initial purchase price—and hand washing takes time.
 Follow instructions for best results—and best return on money invested.
 Also consider fashion trends. For example, classic looks—with plaids a major element—are "big" for fall.
 Highlighting the girls' scene are cuffed pants, stretch bodyshirts, pleated or flared skirts, sweaters and jumpers. These items offer unlimited possibilities for the popular layered look.

 Jean styling remains the top favorite for boys' fashions.
 Jeans come in a wide range of fabrics. Denim and corduroy lead the "pack," followed by knits and stretch wovens.
 Fully patterned shirts complement solid pants.
 Also watch for knit sport shirts, cotton, polyester and blends, denim work shirts, western shirts and lumberjack plaids.

Refreshing Sack Lunches

Texas heat can't hurt sandwiches in a sack lunch if they're packed frozen.
 By noon they'll be thawed, and the danger from holding several hours in the summer heat is lessened.
 The best idea for sandwiches is to freeze them in individual bags. Since lettuce can't be frozen successfully, include it fresh in a separate bag, and let the luncher assemble his own sandwich.
 Another sack-lunch packing idea focuses on thermos equipment.
 A wide-mouth thermos keeps potato salad, jello or fruit salad cold. It also keeps soup, stew or a vegetable hot.
 Fruits and vegetables usually pose no packing problems, but during hot August and September days they're more refreshing than corn and potato chips, especially if kept cold in a thermos.
 Planning cool, crisp sack lunches for late-summer picnics and warm back-to-school days pays off in refreshment.

Nat'l Scout Jamboree

Eagle Scout Charles Atchley, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Atchley of Odessa, left July 28 for the National Scout Jamboree West in Farragut State Park, Idaho.
 They were to have stopped at Philmont Scout Ranch, Cimarron, New Mexico; Glendo State Park in Wyoming, and Butte, Montana on the way up. They will return by way of Yellowstone National Park; Cheyenne, Wyoming; and Las Vegas, New Mexico. They are to arrive back in Odessa on Aug. 11th.
 Charles is the grandson of Cecil and Gertrude Williams of the Reynolds community.

Austin, Texas.—Rewriting the nearly-century-old Texas constitution is turning out to be a stickier job than many figured.
 The Constitutional Revision Commission went into overtime at a recent three-day meeting near here, but still failed to complete its agenda and slated another August 10-11 cleanup meeting.
 Meanwhile, legislative planners for the 1974 Constitutional Convention, at which lawmakers will actually propose a revised constitution, disagreed on routine stage-setting.
 House members suggested a new voting machine (which was later ordered) and new desks for delegates. Senate planning committee spokesmen indicated they would be satisfied to bring their own desks over from across the capitol rotunda and set them up in the House middle aisle.
 The revision panel agreed:
 —To keep the provision for real property taxation for state purposes, but leave it to the legislature to write separate laws governing personal property taxation.
 —To retain the state highway users tax, with three-fourths of the revenue earmarked for highway building and one-fourth for public schools. A provision was made for abolishing the highway fund levy on statewide referendum with support of two-thirds of the legislature.
 —To keep the Permanent University Fund and Permanent School funds in the constitution. The university fund would be altered somewhat to include present and future branches of the University of Texas and Texas A&M University.
 —To add to the constitution a guarantee of "equitable" financial support for all schools and districts rich and poor.
 —To retain as constitutional elected members of the executive branch only the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general, with the legislature empowered to decide if the comptroller, treasurer, secretary of state, land commissioner and railroad commission should be elected or appointed by the governor.

"Houses" Closed

Two landmark bawdy houses—in La Grange and Sealy—were closed by local officials on request of state officials.
 Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Atty. Gen. John Hill and Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir sought action after reports aired by a Houston television station.
 Briscoe acknowledged he had received calls from La Grange citizens both supporting and opposing the action. He said he had been told he would be petitioned by a group who want the famed "Chicken Ranch" reopened.
 Hill and Speir said they found no link with organized crime in operation of the houses, but Attorney General Hill added: "It is an illegal operation. The local officials were requested to take action. They took it."
Rate Raise Expected
 An increase in some workmen's compensation insurance rates is due under a new law increasing benefits for those injured or killed in job accidents.
 An average 19.5% hike in the rates employers must pay for the coverage is anticipated under a State Insurance Board staff proposal, which would become effective if approved between September 1 and September 15.
 Rates would have gone up 22.8% in the absence of the federal anti-inflation program, a Board actuary indicated.
 Under the new effective September, an injured worker can get up to a maximum of $63 a week in benefits, an increase from the present $49 top.
Attorney General's Opinions
 A national bank does not come under definition of governmental bodies or institutions which are required to comply with the new open records act, Attorney General Hill held.
 In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
 —A Laredo fireman, injured in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, while on duty is entitled to benefits under the state Firemen's Relief and Retirement Law.
 —State government branches and their services (excepting political subdivisions but including hospitals and colleges) are covered under the Texas Unemployment Act.
 —Subordinated capital notes of the Harlingen National Bank are part of its indebtedness and are not to be considered capital in deter-

Faraway Places

I've never seen the Taj Mahal. Nor have I looked up at the Leaning Tower of Pisa, or out across the broad Sahara to the Pyramids and the Sphinx.

Most of my life, as a matter of fact, has been spent right here in my own town. Not because I don't want to travel. To visit these faraway places is one of my big desires—and, one day, I hope to do it.

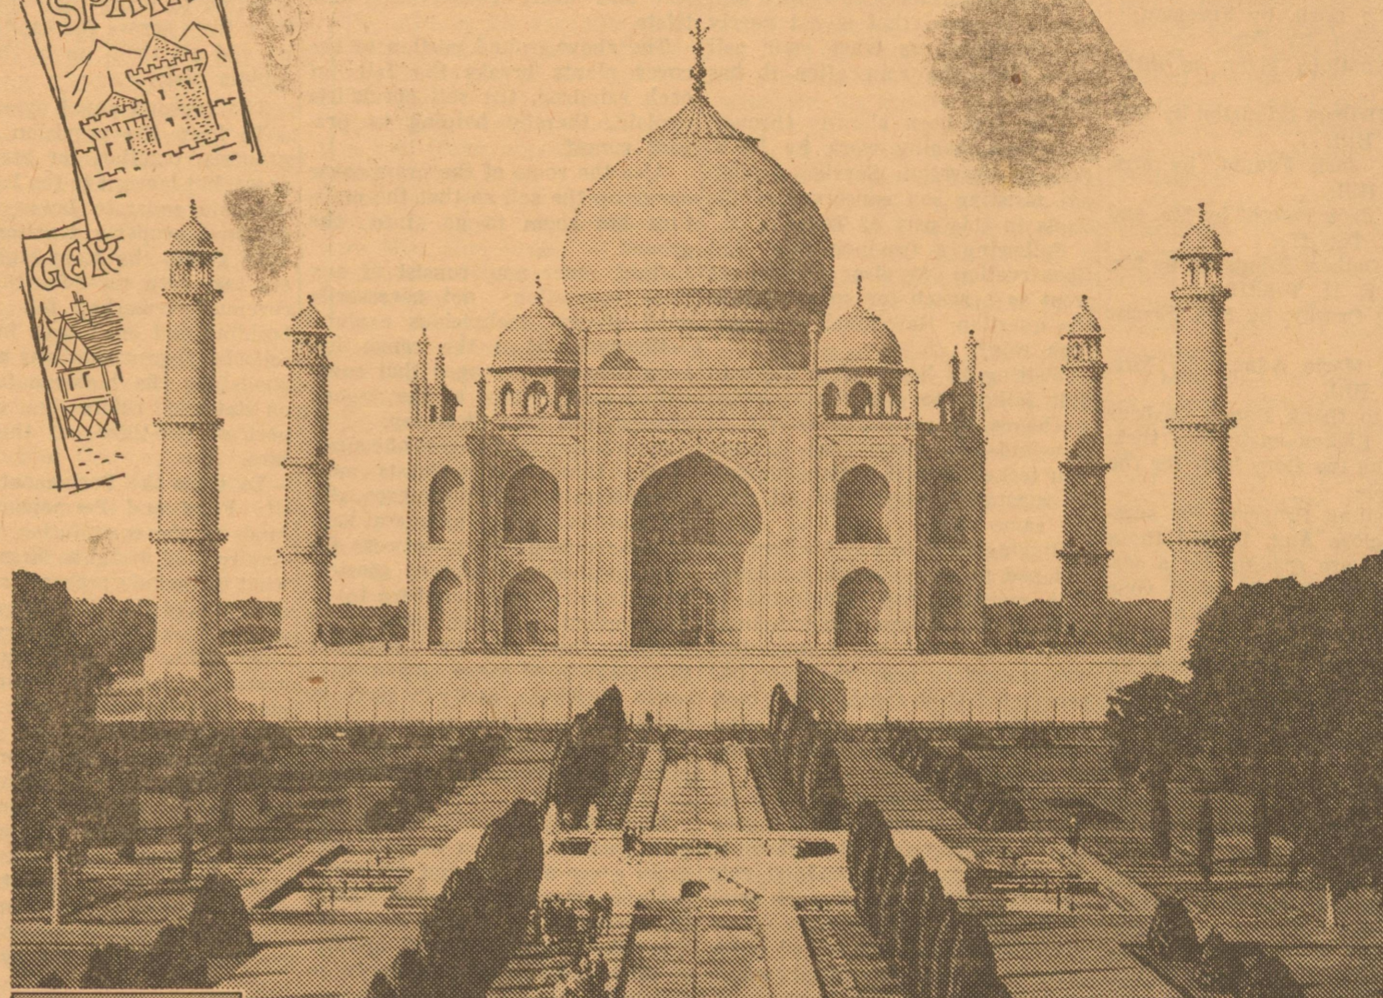

But I know, deep in my heart, that even if I never leave my home town I'll have more to do than I can hope to accomplish. Because God is just as much here as he is anywhere. Our minister used that thought in his sermon last Sunday, and he told us how much there is for all of us to do in our own particular place—and how much remains undone!

If we'd bring just one other person to church with us on Sunday, we'd really be doing something, he told us. And, as I thought it over, I knew how true that was.

That's why I'm asking you.
