AFTER A CLIFF-HANGER VICTORY OVER SONORA LAST WEEK

Eagles Set To Meet DeLeon For Bi-District On Friday

Eagles Defeat Sonora 24-22 In Hard-Fought Game Here Friday Night

Every dream that the Eagles and their fans hoped for came true here Friday night as the Eagles defeated the Sonora Broncos by a score of 24-22. The Eagles came off the field with the first district championship in many years.

Much of the Eagle success was due to quarterback Gene Nixon and defensive work of Ken Peters.

Eldorado opened the scoring after Dale Harrell landed on a Bronco fumble on the Broncos' opening possession of the game. On the fourth down play after the recovery Nixon kicked a 27-yard field goal making the score 3-0.

Lightening again struck the Broncos as Gary Warnock recovered a Sonora fumble.

The Broncos then intercepted a Nixon pass and ran 44 yards with back David Wallace taking the ball the last 8 yards for the score. Henry Mata's extra point was good. With 3:42 left in the first period Sonora led with a score of 7-3.

Neither team could mount another scoring drive before the quarter ended.

As the second quarter opened the Eagles driving at their 31 and runs by Nixon, Mort Mertz and Peters led to the first Eagle touchdown of the night. Nixon made the touchdown and extra point putting the Eagles ahead with a score of 10-7.

The Broncos came back in six plays with Wallace running the last eight yards. The try for the extra point failed.

The Eagles couldn't move the ball and had to turn it back over to the Broncos.

Sonora then started a ten play drive which ended in a 36-yard Mata field goal. The half ended with a score of 16-10, Sonora.

Eldorado took the second half kick-off, but on the first play the Eagles fumbled and Sonora's Johnny Gonzales recovered. The Broncos couldn't convert as a Mata field goal try failed.

Eldorado couldn't move the ball and had to give the ball back to the Broncos, but on the third play from scrimmage, defensive back Timmy Farris picked off a Paul Browne pass to end the Sonora threat.

The interception led another Eagle scoring drive starting at the Eldorado 25 and ending with a six-yard run by Mike Manning with 11:53 left in the game. The extra point failed, but the Eagles got a second chance as one of the Broncos was offside and Nixon's kick was good putting the Eagles ahead for good, 17-16.

The Broncos could only run four plays and had to give the ball up. The Eagles scored again. From the Sonora 38, runs by Manning and Peters led to the final Eagle touchdown of the game with Manning running the last three scoring yards with 8:04 left in the game. Nixon kicked the extra point to make the score 24-16.

Sonora started on their 35 after the kick-off and drove all the way to the Eagle 23 where Peters intercepted a Paul Browne pass to stop the scoring drive. The Eagles tried a series of downs and had to punt.

Sonora scored with 1:11 left making the score 24-22. Paul Browne tried for a two point conversion but was stopped short.

The Eagles then got the ball as lineman Freddie Morrison fell on an onside attempt. From there the Eagles ran out the clock on four plays.

Representatives from Eldorado met Saturday with those from DeLeon, 10-A winner, and set the bi-district play-off for 7:30 p.m. this Friday in Brady.

Rehearsals Continuing On Christmas Cantata

Under direction of Mrs. Lucile McWhorter, the Community Choir are rehearsing each Wednesday night on the cantata, "The Carol of Christmas," which will be presented in the Methodist Church the night of Sunday, Dec. 16th.

This coming week, the rehearsal will be held starting at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 28th, in the Methodist church.

The rehearsals are going well with a large number of community singers in attendance, and the cantata presentation should be a highlight of the Christmas season.

Merry Makers Meet

Mrs. Richard Cheatham was hostess last Thursday as she entertained the Merry Makers 42 Club in her home. The club had a luncheon in the Cheatham home at 12:00 noon, each one furnishing a covered dish. It was a salad luncheon and drinks, crackers and goodies were also served by the hostess.

The home was decorated with Thanksgiving colors and was very pretty. Everyone had a wonderful time, and those present were Annie Speck, Opal Parks, Mildred Stanford, Mable Griffin, Bessie Doyle, Rose Brannan, Natalie Stockton, Mary Joiner, Viola Finnigan, Zelma Henderson, and Maudie Basinger, members. Also four guests: Jewel Van Dusen, Jake Spencer, Virginia Griffin, and Etta Ruth Dannheim.

The Christmas party and luncheon will be held Dec. 13 in the home of Mrs. Lester Henderson. —Reporter.

Some Families Cancel Trips

After the Eldorado downed the Sonora Broncos last Friday night to win the District 9A crown, the bi-district game was set for this Friday night in Brady. Some families who had a member in the band or on the team and who had planned a trip for the four-day school holiday were forced to cancel such plans and remain here for the game coming up Friday.

In a small way, that would help alleviate the current gasoline shortage.

Two teams couldn't be any more evenly matched than were the Sonora Broncos and the Eldorado Eagles when they met last Friday for district championship.

It came close to becoming a tie. Each team made a field goal. 3 Each made 3 touchdowns for 18 But for points after TD— Sonora connected with just one, while Eldorado's Nixon made all three.

And that was the difference in the final score—22 to 24.

Thanksgiving—A General Holiday

Today—Thursday, Nov. 22nd, is Thanksgiving—and is a general holiday. Most stores and offices are closed for the day. El Dorado Restaurant will be open Thanksgiving to serve traditional fare to those who don't care to cook a big dinner. Their buffet menu is given in their ad on page 2.

Also open are a few service stations, although here as elsewhere the gasoline shortage has caused many to keep shorter workdays.

School was scheduled to be dismissed at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday for a four-day week end, and will reconvene Monday morning.

The Court House and City Hall will take off both Thursday and Friday for the holidays.

For nearly everyone else, it's back to work as usual Friday morning, and attend the big bi-district game that night.

Elnora Love announces that she will have Open House all day Monday to show her Christmas merchandise. Her ad is on the back page of this Success issue.

Granvil Hext reports his deer storage cold storage unit will not be operated this season.

Reason: Repairs to the equipment would cost about $500, and lack of help would make the operation unprofitable.

But now comes good news for deer hunters!

Floyd Butler of Concho Valley Farms has agreed to open the cold storage facilities of his vegetable packing plant to hunters bringing in deer carcasses.

This comes as a welcome relief to the many sportsmen hunting in Schleicher county, who thought they would be forced to travel to Sonora with their game. The word spread quickly here Monday when it was learned that Mr. Butler had agreed to handle the job.

Hollis McCormick said Monday that one hunter stopped at his store and asked, "Where is this Butler place?"

All of this came at a very opportune time. A cold front moved in here late Monday bringing a norther, colder weather and some rain—just what hunters needed to make better hunting conditions.

Gin Report—

Monday afternoon saw 1375 bales of cotton either ginned or on the yard at Mikeska Gin, Eldorado.

Weather has been favorable for stripping and the gin has been running until late in the night.

We had about 2-tenths of an inch of rain here Monday night. It might delay the cotton coming in for a day or two.

ADD COTTON e.l.c.r.k E T ET ET Continued dry weather is the name of the game for cotton farmers in order that they may continue stripping their crop. Less than half of the estimated crop has been processed so far.

A cold front with a little rain came in late Monday, which could change the picture in the event we were in for a long period of wet weather.

Brady has been chosen as a neutral location for the game which will be called at 7:30 p. m. Friday, November 23

This is the first time in many years for the Eagles to win district and go into bi-district play. Winner of the game Friday night will go on into Regional play, presumably a week later.

81 Miles To Brady

From Eldorado to Brady is approximately 80 miles—give or take a little.

But first you have to go from Eldorado to Menard, which is supposed to be almost exactly 50 miles.

For some reason or another it always seems to be an awfully long 50 miles.

One commentator once said "It doesn't make any difference how fast you drive, but it always takes an hour to drive from Eldorado to Menard."

I don't know why, but it has always seemed that way to me.

Once you finally get to the outskirts of Menard, you reach a north-south highway. If you turn right you'll cross a big bridge taking you in to the Menard business section.

Don't go that way.

But turn left at that intersection, pass a number of filling stations, and you come to the highway leading to Brady. There you'll find you have another 30 miles to go.

So if you are going to go, be sure your car is well serviced, tires checked, gasoline tank full, and radiator in good shape—not just to arrive safely in Brady at 7:00 p.m., but to be prepared to make the 80 miles back home—in the dark—after 10:30 p.m.

I know that all of our Eldorado Eagles and those who accompany our team are competent drivers who need no advice from me, except that on your return home be watchful that you don't run into a deer and have a wreck.

To be safe allow yourself two hours when you leave here so you can be in time for the kick-off.

Livestock And Crops Destroyed In County

Reports of losses to livestock and crops were reported here about two weeks ago.

The property was lost after a group of 8 to 12 farmers and ranchers hired an airplane to use chemical defoliant on their land. The work was done Nov. 2. The defoliating chemicals contained arsenic acid. The destroyed livestock and crops were found within an area a fourth to a half mile away from the "targets."

Schleicher County Agent Jerry Swift said the Floyd Butler lands were the worst hit, with 30 to 50 acres of rutabagas and slick-leaf greens affected. Swift said they know the greens are gone but are still analyzing the rutabagas to determine if they are dangerous to market.

E. M. Jackson Jr. lost three cows and one bull, and Bill Williams who leases the B. E. Moore stock farm reported losing four cows and a bull.

Other stock were moved off areas of burned grass.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Palmos and family were here Friday night for the Eldorado-Sonora game, and afterward visited the Garlingtons.

Mrs. Annie Clark, 86, Buried Saturday

Pall bearers were H. M. Jones, T. P. Robinson Jr., Ronnie Sauer, Lum Davis, Palmer West, and W. C. Parks Jr.

She was born April 20, 1887 in Cornhill and married Jack Clark Aug. 17, 1903 in Lampasas. The couple moved to Schleicher county in 1924.

She was preceded in death by four of her children: A. G. Clark, Garth Clark, Pauline Aycock and Bernice Clark, and by her husband Jack who died in 1955.

The Roadrunner—

The calendar indicates that it's time for Thanksgiving, but I'm caught up in my own little world, full of unhappy, selfish and self-centered thoughts. I don't care enough for other people; oh I think I do, but I don't really. Because if I did, I'd show it by doing enough for others or for higher ideals other than myself and my own small world.

There shouldn't have to be a date on the calendar that is set aside TELLING me to be thankful—but rather a life constantly full of a grateful, considerate, loving and productive day on every date of the calendar. I SHOULD live as if there were no tomorrows, to use my life as if TODAY were my last (for I don't know that it really isn't). There are so many stories of people in their teens, and young adults, dying of cancer, in traffic accidents, etc. Stories like Ted Kennedy, Jr., 12 years old having his right leg amputated. There are so many times I and maybe even you do too, often think of growing old . . . how and what we would like to be like at that time. TIME, TIME, time . . . let's live today!

Many times I find myself thinking (selfishly and ungratefully) "What is there to be thankful for? I have more than my share of problems." And I look around and hunt for all of the things that are better than I have, instead of looking at all people, all walks of life, and realizing how great my life really is. The road of life was never guaranteed to be easy. When it does become that way, then our lives are useless.

Am I caught up in cactus, worrying about the thorns of life, road running too furiously, unable to look UP, to see, to think, to live, and to love?

Dear God, teach me to feel, Understand, love and live. Help me to turn trials and hardships into giving of love from my heart and my lips.

Thank you for life And even for the toil and strife That we face and must overcome. Thank you for joy, loved ones and fun.

Teach me, dear Lord, to look up and see My assets and values to others and to Thee. Instead of looking at those who succeed—

Wishing I were like them . . . Give me my own Creed.

A Creed, dear Lord, that is all my own That says help others, don't be self-centered and all alone. But rather, give, today, as much as you can To the beauty of life and love of man . . .

How can the new Farm Credit Act help you

Recent changes in the Farm Credit System let the local Land Bank Association help more farmers in more ways. FEDERAL LAND BANK ASSOCIATION OF SONORA
A. E. Prugel, Mgr. Telephone 387-2777

By—Bill Boykin
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—A new group is seeking to improve cooperation between state and federal law enforcement officials in Texas.

Atty. Gen. John L. Hill and U. S. Attorney William S. Sessions of San Antonio are co-chairmen of the "Federal-State Law Enforcement Coordinating Committee."

The organization is described as an outgrowth of discussion over a several months' period between Sessions and Hill.

Some of the state's top prosecutors of both state and federal jurisdictions, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Department of Public Safety officials met privately in Hill's office last week to formalize the organization.

"We made a little bit of history," Hill said of the meeting. "It's the first time there has ever been such a gathering of law enforcement-policy making people in this state. It is only a first step, of course, but the lines of communication are open, and we all have a lot to gain, if we exert the effort to make it work."

Hill and Sessions expressed optimism about prospects for success. They said state and federal law enforcement officials have a strong mutual desire to work more closely together and deal more openly with each other.

The two attorneys predicted state and federal law enforcement officials, and the public, will gain from better coordination of policies, operational efforts and intelligence resources.

They indicated the committee will meet three or four times a year to discuss problems and topics of mutual interest.

Farmers Stew Over Fuel Crisis

Texas farmers have been having serious problems getting necessary diesel fuel to harvest cotton, pick citrus and combine grain sorghum due to "mass confusion" over federal fuel allocation regulations.

After several reversals by federal officials, some dealers were still slow to make sales because they feared prosecution if they acted under informal agreements passed along to them. Agriculture Commissioner John White joined Gov. Dolph Briscoe in demanding "immediate positive action" at the federal level.

Rep. Jon Newton of Beeville announced at a national energy crisis meeting in Boston a top federal Department of Interior had assured him the problem will be worked out in 10 days to two weeks (from last weekend).

Newton said he was informed that users will be able to draw their allocations when they need the fuel rather than on a month-by-month basis.

The hitch has been that allocations were based on the amount of fuel used in November, 1972—a low usage month for Texas.

Unemployment insurance payroll taxes for many employers will be reduced—three-tenths of 1%—effective January 1.

Daiwa Spinning Company of Osaka, Japan, will locate the most modern textile mill in the South Plains cotton country, with an initial investment of $15 million.

The Constitutional Revision Commission has opened an information center to answer questions about the proposed new state constitution. Answers can be obtained by dialing toll free 112-800-292-9600.

An Insurance Board hearing on requirements for price disclosures and cost comparisons on life insurance has been rescheduled for December 11.

A beautification plan has been agreed on for the old state capitol site (near the governor's mansion and present capitol).

J. C. Dingwall, former chief highway engineer, recently received the top honor for highway engineering from the American Association of State Highway Officials in Los Angeles.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education for more than two decades, announced he will retire June 30, 1974, and a special board of education committee has been named to screen possible successors.

Eldoradoan Attends Basketball Clinic

Carolyn Wyland attended the Temple Junior College "Leopardette" Basketball Clinic Saturday, Nov. 17th at Temple, Texas. Lectures were given in the morning on various aspects of the game. The afternoon and night were filled with six girls' basketball games. These were Rogers H. S. vs Rockdale H. S., Duncanville H. S. vs Crawford H. S., Shiner Junior High vs Midway (of Waco) Jr. High, Shiner H. S. vs Hays Consolidated H. S., Temple Junior College vs Stephen F. Austin University, and Midway H. S. vs Clear Creek H. S.

Some highlights of the games included: the Junior High game going into three overtimes, Temple Junior College easily defeating Stephen F. Austin, Midway (of Waco) winning in a very close game. Midway was the State Champs in Class 3A last year.

Carolyn's former college coach, Sue Gunter, a former ALL AMERICAN, coaches at Stephen F. Austin and is now coaching Mildred Tymrak of Jourdanton while Frances Garmon, Temple coach, coaches Cathy Self of Jourdanton. Tymrak was a two year starter at Temple during the last two years and it was her first game against her former teammates. Temple has been practicing since the start of school, while Stephen F. had only a two week workout—Stephen F. will be much improved when their next clash occurs.

Most Texas colleges and universities are now offering a better girls' program in athletics, especially in basketball. State and National tournaments are also held. Many high school girls are graduating into college ball, which is now a five-man, full court international game.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—Turkeys have gone the way of all food this year—up in price, notes Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt.

"Expect to pay 25 to 30 cents per pound more than last year," the consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, said.

"However, keep in mind that birds 18-pounds and up have greater proportions of meat to bone and generally cost less per pound.

"Fryer chickens, on the other hand, are considered the biggest bargain in most retail meat departments. Specials feature the whole bird as well as fryer breasts, legs, drumsticks and thighs," the specialist continued.

"When buying eggs, remember this rule of thumb: if there's less than a seven-cent price spread per dozen eggs between one size and the next smaller size in the same grade, the larger size offers the better buy."

At pork counters, look for specials on Boston butt roasts, fresh picnic roasts, shoulder steaks, quarter loins cut into chops, smoked picnics, semi-boneless hams—both whole and half portions—and some brands of bacon and roll sausage, she advised.

"Also, keep an eye on the ads—comparative shopping can result in real values.

"The most frequently featured beef items include beef chuck steaks and roasts, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver. Attractive prices also may be found on porterhouse, sirloin and T-bone steaks."

Turning to produce departments, Mrs. Clyatt noted that most fresh fruits and vegetables carry moderate price tags—with excellent quality.

"Plentiful, flavorful and attractively priced, hard shell squash is high in vitamin A: Cabbage, broccoli, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower are in peak seasonal supply—with cabbage carrying the lowest price tag of the group and Brussels sprouts the highest. Other good vegetable buys include carrots, celery, sweet potatoes, bulk turnips, mustard, collards, potatoes and dry yellow onions."

Supplemental S. S. Payments Are Set

For more than 30 years, Social Security has contributed to the financial security of retired people and dependents of workers who have died. For about one-half this length of time, the program has provided a monthly income to workers who have become unable to work before reaching retirement age and to their young families, J. M. Talbot, Social Security manager, said today.

In most cases, the regular income from Social Security, together with savings and investments, has been adequate. However, the benefits from Social Security is not sufficient to cover the basic needs of many people whose earnings have been low and irregular, Mr. Talbot said.

Beginning in January 1974, Social Security offices will begin paying a supplement to the other income of people who are age 65 or over, disabled, or blind, and whose income is less than $150 a month for an individual or $215 a month for a couple, if they need help. This is called Supplemental Security income, Mr. Talbot continued.

A person may own things worth up to $1500 and a couple may own things worth up to $225 and become eligible for payments, Mr. Talbot said. The value of homes, home furnishings, and a car, all of reasonable value, normally are not counted.

Also, a person may earn from his work up to $65 a month without causing deductions from the supplemental payments. If he earns more than $65 a month, only one-half of the earnings above $65 would be deducted.

Social Security offices are now helping people apply for the supplemental payments that may begin in January. "You do not have to be receiving social security checks to qualify for the supplemental security income payments," Mr. Talbot concluded. "but, if you are receiving old age assistance or disability payments from the State Department of Public Welfare, you do not need to apply."

HELPFUL SAFETY TIPS

TIRE CARE TIPS

The salesman was amazed when I told him the exact size and type of new tires I wanted. He thought women only knew when it was time to buy gas.

If I had told him that I also knew when to rotate the tires and how to read the tire wear gauge indicator, he would have probably gone into shock.

Deciding what type of tire to buy for the car is like deciding what to wear. You won't wear sneakers with a cocktail dress. And you shouldn't mix the types of tires (cross bias, bias belted, radial). Most manufacturers recommend that you buy the same type of tire that came with the car. However, a reputable dealer will be able to recommend other types such as radials, if your driving routine demands them.

The owner's manual is still the best reference source for information on tire buying and care.

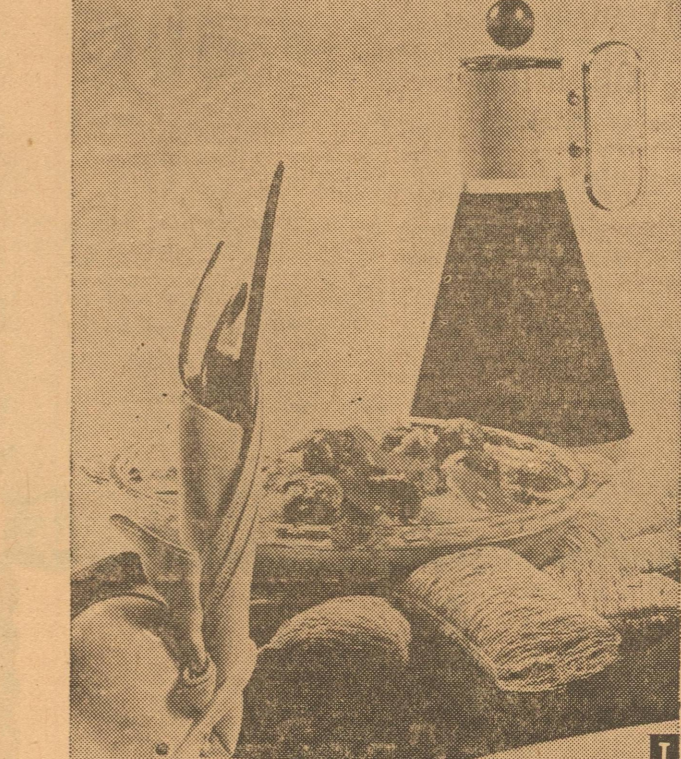

But there are simple tests you can give the tires periodically. Such as checking the tires for uneven wear before driving. This will indicate whether the tires are in balance or if you need an alignment job.

Every third gas stop, check the tires' air pressure. Kicking the tires is as dependable as thumping a watermelon.

Remember, your car rides on only four small patches of rubber in contact with the road, so give them the care they need and deserve.

WARM UP BRUNCH

In more than 23 million homes across the country, the Sunday schedule has been altered to allow 2 1/2 hours in front of the TV watching the football game of the week or to include a round trip to the stadium for a first hand look at the conflict.

This means altering the meal schedule. So change the signals and kick off the day with a late and hearty brunch. Serve fans this protein packed meaty casserole. Spoon it over crisp NABISCO Shredded Wheat Biscuits and accompany with an endless supply of coffee.

If you're slow on "the wake up" then the casserole can be prepared the day before and refrigerated overnight. Heat thoroughly, about 30 minutes, before serving.

BRUNCH BAKE

- 1/2 pound Italian sweet sausages, cut-up
- 1 pound ground chuck
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 onion, sliced
- 1 (10 1/2-ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/2 cup milk
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup (2-ounces) grated process American cheese
- 1 (4-ounce) jar DROMEDARY Whole Pimientos, drained, halved
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
- 6 NABISCO Shredded Wheat Biscuits, split

In large skillet brown sausages on all sides; set aside. Combine next seven ingredients. Form into small balls; brown in sausage drippings, turning frequently; set aside. Add onion and saute until golden. Stir in soup, milk and water. Bring to a boil, stirring until smooth; then simmer a few minutes until flavors are blended. Place meat balls and sausages in a 9-inch deep-dish pie plate or 1 1/2 quart casserole. Cover with sauce. Top with cheese and pimientos. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes, or until heated through. To serve, sprinkle with parsley; then spoon over NABISCO Shredded Wheat Biscuits. Makes 6 (about 1 cup) servings.

CONSUMER CORNER

HOW TO REDUCE THE NEED TO RETURN

Wise shopping will not only help you get the most for your dollar, but will lead to fewer instances of product dissatisfaction.

It's probably impossible to totally eliminate buying merchandise which may need to be returned, but you can minimize it. Here are some suggestions to raise your shopping IQ:

—Do your homework. Read consumer articles and information in newspapers and magazines.

—When choosing between items of a similar nature, check the labels for brand names or company identification. Should something about the product prove to be unsatisfactory, and you have to return it, you may have more recourse than with products from unknown sources.

While, the better known lines are sometimes more expensive -- often reflecting extra product research, better quality and post-purchase responsibility -- they may save you money in the long run.

Again, ask friends for recommendations based on their satisfaction.

—Check, too, for guarantees on the merchandise. Some manufacturers offer a year or more guarantee on their merchandise. If the item does not live up to the guarantee, proof of purchase and the hangtag or label stating the guarantee will be helpful in obtaining a refund or replacement of the item.

—Be on the lookout for poor workmanship when buying clothing or household linens. Skipped stitches can mean that the article will not last as long as it should. Seam allowances should be at least one-quarter of an inch for knit fabrics and five-eighths of an inch for woven materials.

—When buying permanent press and 100 percent polyester knit or woven items, remember that they have an affinity for oily stains which are often impossible to remove. So look for fabrics treated with a stain release finish (such as Scotchgard Brand Stain Release) which means that both dry soil and stubborn stains will generally wash out.

—Look for soil construction when buying children's clothes. Jeans and pants should be reinforced at the knees with material on the inside, rather than added-on patches which often become loose after a few washings. Seams should be double- or triple-stitched in stress areas.

—Make few easy tests on garments to assess their construction and durability. Zippers should open and close smoothly and lie flat without any bulges. Open and close snaps to test whether they work easily. If they're too tight, they may rip loose from the fabric. And, pull gently at seams—they should not stretch or pop open. If they do, report this to a sales clerk so that a less observant customer may be spared from buying and returning the defective item.

—Examine buttons and buttonholes to evaluate the quality of the article you're buying. They should match up. Frayed buttonholes will get worse fast, crooked ones will strain and bunch up the fabric. Better quality clothing has interfacing behind buttonholes to give added strength.

A few extra minutes invested in wise shopping will generally pay off in long-term product satisfaction.

County Ag. Agent's Column

By Jerry Swift

According to Dr. Marion E. Meadows, Jr., veterinarian-in-charge of the Mission Screwworm Laboratory, the 1973 screwworm season probably peaked in October.

This opinion was greeted by sighs of relief in most South Texas Livestock quarters, especially those in Brooks county.

It's been a tough year for cattlemen in this Deep South Texas county. Even tougher than last year, in fact.

Texas recorded 2,254 confirmed cases in 68 counties during October. Brooks county had 605 of them. Of the month-long total 423 were recorded the first week of the month 595 the second week, 613 the third and 420 the fourth.

"We should now begin seeing a steady decline in cases," Meadows commented. "We hope we can concentrate eradication efforts in Texas from now on in the areas where screwworm flies can overwinter, while cold weather is taking care of the rest of the state."

Cases continued at a heavy rate over most of South Texas during the month. After Brooks came Starr with 350, Hidalgo 291, Jim Hogg 179, Duval 131, Kennedy 121, Webb 98, Zapata 78, Jim Wells 77 and Kleberg 57.

The October total compares to 1,783 cases in September and to 14,393 in October a year ago. Through the first 10 months this year Texas has recorded 5,687 cases to 86,154 for the same period in 1972.

For all of 1973 Brooks county has had a record breaking 1,878 infestations confirmed, 32% of the state's caseload.

Even during last year's unprecedented epidemic which eventually reached more than 90,000 cases statewide, Brooks county had only 1,602 confirmed infestations.

Jim Hogg is the only other South Texas county with record potential this year. So far 698 cases have been received from there compared to 729 for all last year.

"Except for those few South Texas counties which have experienced heavy infestations, I feel that we have had an extremely good year," said Meadows. "This is especially true when you consider the excellent growing weather for screwworms over most of the state."

October was a record breaking month in a record-breaking year for Arizona, as the Grand Canyon State recorded another 640 cases to boost its 10-month total to 4,345, nearly double its former all-year high of 2,317 established less than 12 months ago.

New Mexico looks like it'll escape record status as it ended the month with 1,075 confirmed cases, with only 94 recorded in October. New Mexico had 250 cases in September. Its record year was 1963 when 1,447 cases were confirmed at Mission Lab.

California Record Pushed Higher

Although California had only 28 cases in October, they contributed to a modest record of 186 cases in the Golden State. Before this year California's previous high was 135 in 1968.

Two states chose October to come up with the first screwworm cases they've ever recorded—Iowa and Nevada. Each had one case and, with cold weather moving in to both areas, they're unlikely to have another, Meadows explained. "The screwworms were shipped in from elsewhere, it appears. By the time this report is out I'm sure they will no longer be a worry in either area."

The tally for the month in the six states reporting cases was 3,016 making it the fourth worst October of all.

Non-Screwworm Reports

A total of 285 non-screwworm reports were received during October at Mission Lab, almost identical with the number received a year ago. Most were from Texas but 13 did come in from Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, confirming the screwworm-free status maintained by those states during 1973.

Sterile Fly Drops

Dispersals of sterile flies totaled 840-million in both the U. S. and Republic of Mexico. The U. S. received 612-million with Texas getting the lion's share, 435-million. Six Mexican states were showered with 228-million sterile flies in an effort to reduce case numbers.

About Overzealous Itinerant Salesmen

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Tex.—Door-to-door salespersons can provide a helpful service to some consumers, when the product or service they sell is legitimate. But sometimes, the door-to-door technique is used by salesmen who are so overzealous they nudge customers into signing up for something they don't need, or don't want, or persuade them that they're getting a bargain which really is not available.

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office has received many complaints, particularly in the area of magazine sales.

These include allegations that the sales persons misrepresented the reason for their call.

Instead of announcing that they were there for the purpose of selling magazines, they tried to invoke sympathy or interest, often using some of the following pitches:

"I am taking a survey of reading habits."

"I'm working for points, in a scholarship contest."

"I need your vote to prove to my employer my value as a salesman."

"I'm doing special work in this school district."

"I'm offering a free magazine. All you have to pay for is the cost of handling and postage."

"Today, we can offer a free subscription to your favorite magazine, if you agree to buy these other four."

It is easy to see that all of these phrases boil down to the same basic message. The caller has one thing to sell.

Bona fide market surveyors are not in the business of making retail sales. And, certainly, a school district would not authorize any firm to sell a product under the guise of conducting district research.

If you're not interested in a magazine subscription, it would be best, of course, not to admit the person to your home.

If you are interested in buying a subscription, ask to see his credentials, and write down his name, the name of his company, his address and the company's address.

Don't be talked into signing a contract on the spot. Think it over.

Don't let yourself be fooled by a claim that a subscription will cost you "only pennies a day." Eight pennies a day would add up to $29.20 a year.

Examine a claim that you could get a magazine "free, just for the cost of handling and postage." Compare the quoted cost of handling and postage to a regular subscription.

In fact, it probably would be worth your while to compare the salesman's quoted cost of subscriptions to the introductory subscriptions offered by the magazines themselves.

Some of the complaints we receive have been from consumers who were told that the contract was "cancellable," but later saw they had signed a contract labeled "non-cancellable;" or that they had been led to believe they had paid the full cost, but later were billed for "the other half."

Also, some consumers have charged that their rights to cancellation of the contract within three days after the home solicitation had been misrepresented to them.

One of the fraudulent practices which seems to ire consumers the most is if they are told that they must take an "alternate selection," if the magazine they picked is not available. Be certain you can cancel, if you cannot get the publication you want—especially at this time, when so many magazines have folded.

It is important, while so many are thinking of holiday giving, to check for an assurance that the person you are getting the magazine for really will receive it.

If you have any questions, or complaints, do not hesitate to call your county or district attorney, our Consumer Protection Division, or your local better business bureau.

COLONIAL DESSERT UPDATED

Pies were important menu items in 18th century Southern cooking, and it was during this period that most of the traditional recipes evolved. Pie crust of this time was puff pastry; fillings included meat, poultry and fish as well as sweet fruit and custard mixtures.

Puddings, mainstays of Colonial menus, were transformed into pies for guests. Baked puddings, such as custards, were prepared in round pastry "coffins" without top crusts— forerunners of modern custard pies. These were true custards made of sugar, eggs and milk, with the addition of flavoring ingredients such as raisins, nuts, bread crumbs or rice.

Peanuts, native to the Southern states, were popular ingredients in old-fashioned sweet treats. They were highly prized for their unusual flavor and crunchy texture. Here, chopped cocktail peanuts enliven a Southern-style custard pie made with brown sugar. During baking, the peanuts rise to the top with the delicate custard beneath.

Peanuts were among the most important early commercial crops in the South. They were originally grown in Virginia and North Carolina but the writings of Thomas Jefferson imply that they were not of much commercial importance at first. Later, when the boll weevil became a menace to cotton, farmers in other states turned to hardier peanuts.

The first peanuts raised for market were sold in Nashville, Tennessee, in 1845. During the Civil War, when other foods were scarce, peanuts provided sustenance for Confederate soldiers. Union soldiers became acquainted with them while in the South and helped create a post-war demand for the nuts in the North. The peanut was introduced in New York in 1870 and soon became popular throughout the country. However, it wasn't until 1906, when production of the popular Planters Peanut began that shelled, salted, and roasted peanuts were available.

BROWN SUGAR CUSTARD PIE WITH PEANUTS

- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 slightly beaten eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 1/2 cups milk, scalded
- 1 cup chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts
- 1 (9-inch) unbaked pastry shell

Combine brown sugar, sugar, salt, eggs, and vanilla in a large mixing bowl. Beat with a rotary beater until thoroughly blended. Gradually stir in scalded milk. Stir in chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts. Pour into pastry shell.

Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for 25 minutes, or until silver knife inserted in center of filling comes out clean. Cool on wire rack 30 minutes, then chill until ready to serve. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Soil condition is one of the major factors that effect crop yields. Soils in good condition have the potential of good yields while soils in poor condition can only produce poor yields. The use of crop residue is one of the conservation practices that helps keep soils in their best productive condition.

The good maize yields this year produced ample residue for applying good crop residue management. In addition to the good amount of residue following a good maize crop, re-growth and volunteer plants in some fields will add to the amount of residue left on field.

Farmers that have farmed new cropland that had a good cover and abundance of organic matter when put in cropland, have experienced farming land in its best productive condition. Soils that are in their best productive state can only be kept in that condition by applying all the needed soil, water and plant conservation practices as needed.

The right use of crop residue in the needed conservation cropping system will maintain the soil in its best condition. Crop residue should be applied as frequently as needed on all cropland to meet the needs of the soil. As a rule, all cropland needs crop residue applied only one out of every three years. A minimum of 1,000 pounds per acre is needed on most cropland in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. Pounds of residue produced by feed grains is related to amount of grain produced. When good yields are made, more than 1,000 pounds of residue is left after grain is harvested. By proper management in good crop years more soil improvement can be accomplished. Also, high residues producing crop years help make up the difference in pounds of residue needed in poor or no crop years.

Crop residues managed properly help hold the water on the land where it falls when it rains. This is brought about by the residue serving as an umbrella preventing the raindrops from striking the soil and displacing it, whereby both soil and water can be lost from the field. Crop residues left mostly on top of the soil and partly incorporated in the soil serves as small dams to hold water where it falls. When crop residue is managed continuously as it should be managed, water will infiltrate faster than on soil not receiving good crop residue management. Moisture lost from evaporation, caused by direct rays of the sun and from wind striking the soil, is reduced by good residues. Also, soil less can be minimized by good crop residue management.

In addition to conserving soil and water to benefit crops grown in agricultural lands, crop residue and other conservation practices help prevent streams and lakes from being filled with valuable topsoil; thereby, reducing the carrying capacity of streams and rivers and reducing the holding capacity of lakes. Water that is stored in the underground reservoirs, as a result of soil and water conservation practices, is beneficial to all water users. Water from rainfall that is lost by runoff in the ocean, is many times sorely needed by the cities and towns from where the water ran off.

Everyone benefits when the right use and management of soil and water is carried out. Also, everyone is affected when land is misused and creates a condition such as the dust bowl days of the 'thirties.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Henderson and family of Danbury, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Henderson of Houston were here recently visiting relatives.

GIVING THANKS AROUND THE WORLD

Here in America, most of us celebrate Thanksgiving in the tradition of the Pilgrims and Indians with reverent prayers, floral decorations, a turkey and a pumpkin pie. Elsewhere in the world, people celebrate their own feasts of thanksgiving in other ways.

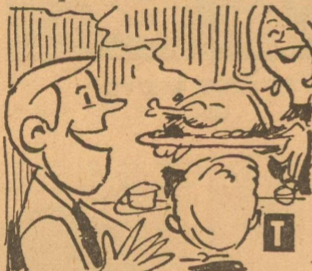

In Japan, a holiday of thanksgiving is celebrated on November 23rd. The Japanese visit their religious shrines, and serve each other candies and pots of hot ceremonial tea.

The Sardinians hold a thankful Festival of the Savior at the end of their harvest season in August. They go in procession to church at sundown to give thanks for the harvest and to offer up prayers for the hunting season to come.

Bavarian thanksgivings also take place just after the August harvest. There, the natives wear their colorful, traditional peasant costumes and perform folk dances dating from the 1300's and 1400's.

Many nations and communities have special days of thanksgiving, commemorating an end of a war, a plague or other disaster, or after bringing in the harvest. On most occasions of thanksgiving, the bountiful harvest is represented, at least in part, by lovely flowers. FTD, the Extra Touch florists, offer a delightful array of colorful arrangements, highlighted by an eye-catching "Thanksgiver bouquet" of fall flowers.

As an extra touch gift, you'll find a handsome Sportsman's Decoy. This is a wood grain ceramic duck filled with fresh or dried flowers. The duck is a permanent gift, of course, to send with the flowers to a relative or friend across the country.

When you give thanks this year with flowers or in some other way, you will be joined by people of many lands who will be doing the same thing.

BETA SIGMA PHI GIVES RESULTS OF CARNIVAL

Beta Sigma Phi met Monday Nov. 12th with only a few members present. We had our business meeting, two cultural programs, and discussed our Thanksgiving supper. It will be Thursday night at 7:00 in club room. Refreshments were served and meeting adjourned. We also wish to give the community a report on the Halloween Carnival because without you it would not be possible each year.
