

Scalloped Potatoes Swiss Sausage Style

Hearty meals suitable for winter evenings don't have to be time-consuming to prepare as long as they satisfy the family's desire for meaty, stick-to-the-ribs foods.

If you often spend afternoons with the Scouts, the PTA or any of the other community groups that busy homemakers are involved with, you know how important it is to have a few convenience foods, including canned meats in the cupboard for last-minute meals.

The variety of canned meats available makes menu possibilities almost endless. When you're in the mood for beef stew, corned beef hash or chili with beans, just open a can. Or if you have a couple of extra minutes you might combine one of the canned meats with other convenience foods and create an appetizing meal.

Why not try this Swiss Sausage Scallop suggested by Mary Hale Martin, Libby's home economist? It's an easy-to-prepare one-dish combination of packaged scalloped potatoes, Vienna sausages, frozen peas, butter, dill weed and Swiss cheese that bakes while you catch your breath and prepare the salad, dessert and beverage — all that's needed for a satisfying meal.

If you have a microwave oven, dinner can be ready in about half the time. To help you make this old-fashioned dish the most modern way, microwave instructions are included.

Gratifying the family's craving for meat without breaking the piggybank can be as easy as combining Libby's canned meats with other convenience foods. Swiss Sausage Scallop is a hearty dish made with packaged scalloped potatoes, Vienna sausages, frozen peas and Swiss cheese. A leafy salad completes the meal.

- Swiss Sausage Scallop
- 1 package (5.5 ounces) scalloped potatoes
 - 2 cans (5 ounce size) Libby's Vienna Sausages, drained
 - 1 cup (5 ounces) frozen peas
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 2 1/4 cups boiling water
 - 2/3 cup milk
 - 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese

Heat oven to 400°F. Empty potato slices into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Slice sausages. Sprinkle with sauce mix, sliced sausages, peas, butter, dill weed and salt. Stir to combine. Combine boiling water and milk; pour over potato mixture. Stir in 3/4 cup cheese; sprinkle top with remaining cheese. Bake, uncovered, 40 to 45 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Yields 4 servings.

In Microwave: Using a 2 1/2 quart casserole, combine ingredients as directed above, omitting cheese on top. Cook covered 15 minutes; stir. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup of cheese. Let stand, covered, 10 minutes.

UNDERSTANDING OUR ECONOMY

A FUEL AND YOUR MONEY

Many Americans believe that what this country needs is an abundant supply of an inexpensive fuel and fortunately, according to scientists, that's what this country has: nuclear fuel.

Nuclear power plants have been in commercial use for almost 20 years. The 59 nuclear power plants now licensed can generate more than 40 million kilowatts of electricity. The more than 235 nuclear reactors operating, under construction and on order will have a generating capacity of 230 million kilowatts. They could generate over their lifetimes almost twice as much electricity as the proven oil reserves in the U.S. and Alaska.

Right now, there are 700,000 tons of known domestic reserves of high grade uranium the reactors need, and the Energy Research and Development Administration estimates that an additional 2.7 million tons of high grade uranium will be discovered. What's more, scientists have devised Fast Breeder Reactors, which create more fuel than they consume while producing power. They will extend our resources even further.

All this nuclear fuel will be available at a lower cost than oil. In fact, the total cost to fuel a nuclear plant is lower than the fuel cost of an oil-fired plant — 40 percent lower in 1974.

THE UNITED STATES has a lot more fuel than many people realize, enough to generate electricity for decades to come.

Because the nuclear fuel is so inexpensive to start with, nuclear-generated electricity is not very sensitive to increases in fuel costs. During the past decade, the cost of fuel oil and coal went up 145 percent more than the cost of electricity, and for the kinds of coal and oil that fossil fuel power plants need, the costs rose from 1965 to 1973 by over 69 percent for coal and 129 percent for oil.

During the first nine months of 1975, the cost of producing a kilowatt hour of electricity by nuclear power was 27 percent less than coal and 63 percent less than oil

Delaying the rise of new nuclear power plants could cost the United States about $300 billion — the equivalent of $1,500 per person or $6,000 for a family of four.

Perhaps half of these costs would be reflected in each month's residential electricity bills. The remainder would be paid in the form of higher prices for all goods and services that consume electricity. Those higher prices could be quite shocking for many Americans.

AMERICA'S PEACEMAKERS

WHY MARINE CORPS RESERVE DEVELOPS SELF-CONFIDENCE

You step off the bus into another world. And at the center of that world is the Drill Instructor.

Specially selected and trained by the Marine Corps, the Drill Instructor in a few short weeks molds a group of recruits into a smoothly functioning platoon of Marines.

And as a reservist, you aren't treated any differently than the recruits who are making a career out of the Marines. Not one bit different.

Don't let anybody kid you; the Drill Instructor is tough...and the training is tougher. The Marine Corps builds men three ways: In body—through a scientific program of physical conditioning. In mind—by developing mature self-confidence. And in spirit—through the unmatched pride every Marine feels in doing a job well and serving with the finest.

You're a recruit when you go in...but you're a Marine when you come out.

And after boot camp, the remainder of your 130 days on initial active duty is spent acquiring basic knowledge in your specialty...anything from aircraft maintenance to communications.

And you learn it well, because you're a Marine.

For details about the range of opportunities in the Marine Corps Reserve, get in touch with a Marine Corps representative. The toll-free number is (800) 423-2600 everywhere but California, where the toll-free number is (800) 252-0241.

Six-Day Trail Drive Is Set

San Antonio, Tex.—Nationally-known cowboy cartoonist Ace Reid will be putting on his act, and it's a great one, daily as he helps ramrod the Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive and its herd of 70 Texas Longhorns from San Antonio to Lubbock. Six hard days on the trail. The herd leaves San Antonio on June 27, with stops in Kerrville, San Angelo, Stamford and Midland, arriving at the Ranching Heritage Center, Texas Tech University, July 2, just in time for opening ceremonies.

Reid is no newcomer to trail drives, having played a big part in the drive from San Antonio to Dodge City, Kansas, in 1966.

And he's certainly no newcomer to readers of several hundred newspapers publishing his renowned "Cowpokes" cartoons. Nor to the millions of fans who purchase his books. His first "Cowpokes" sold more than a million copies. It led to five additional books over the years with still more in the making.

Heralded as the Cowpokes' answer to Will Rogers, Ace is of the same witty, jovial, enjoy life now you aren't going to get out of it alive anyhow, mold. Will Rogers made folks laugh and be happy. Ace Reid makes folks laugh and be happy.

There won't be a dull moment on this six-day Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive and it won't all be because of the cantankerous Texas Longhorns.

Chas. Schreiner III, owner of the YO Ranch, is Trail Boss and he'll do what he can to keep Ace under control, but, as Schreiner knows, handling those Texas Longhorns will be much easier.

Want to help drive that herd to Lubbock? Contact Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive, YO Ranch, Mountain Home, Texas 78058 or call them at 512-640-3222.

BRIDGEMAN RETIRES

Robert L. (Punk) Bridgeman with Exxon Company, U.S.A., retired on June 1. He was assigned as senior staff scout in the Southwestern Exploration Division. He was located in Midland where he joined the Company in 1956.

His hometown is Eldorado, Tex., and he attended Duke University and Louisiana Tech University. He and his wife, the former Charlene Edmiston, are parents of three daughters.

ACE REID, left, and Chas. Schreiner III will be in rare form for this upcoming Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive. Schreiner's interest is in getting the 70 Texas Longhorns safely to the Ranching Heritage Center, Texas Tech University. Reid's interest is in seeing that everyone involved has a fantastic time during the six-day drive. Chances are both will win.

Miss Schrader Becomes Bride Of Mr. Sykes In Ceremony Saturday

MRS. STEPHEN CLINTON SYKES the former Ann Schrader

Miss Ann Schrader became the bride of Stephen Clinton Sykes during a Saturday ceremony at First United Methodist Church in San Angelo, Texas. The Rev. Gene Stark of Eldorado officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Schrader of 2799 Oxford, San Angelo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Reed Sykes of Eldorado.

Miss Sue Schrader, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Georgia Crownover of San Angelo, Janet Grafa of San Angelo, Denise Jenkins of San Angelo, and Katrina Martin of San Angelo. Laurie Schrader also sister of the bride, was acolite.

Best man was Robert R. Sykes of Dallas, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen were Tom Sykes of Ballinger, Tom Horton of San Angelo, Bob Whitten of Eldorado, Lynn Ulmer of San Angelo. Ushers were Gary Schrader and David Schrader of Baytown, brothers of the bride. Also Rick Higgins of Eagle Lake, Roy Jones of Alpine, Ted Sykes of Dallas and Dobs Lively of Eldorado.

Soloist for the wedding was Mrs. Lynn Ulmer of San Angelo.

At the bride's book was cousin of the groom, Miss Alison Sykes of Ballinger.

The reception followed the ceremony at the River Club. The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the San Angelo Country Club.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Ted Sykes and Miss Claudia Meador of Dallas; Mrs. Keith Williams of Austin, Misses Peggy Hill and Kathy Page of Eldorado. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Dobs Lively of Eldorado, Mrs. Gary Schrader of Baytown, Mrs. Russ Weatherford of Miles, Miss Ellen Grafa of San Angelo, and Mrs. Allen Jones of Corsicana.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of San Angelo Central High School and is a Sophomore at Angelo State University.

The bridegroom is a 1975 graduate of Texas A&M University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in animal science. He was a four year member of the Corps of Cadets. He is now ranching.

After a wedding trip to the coast the couple will live on the Sykes Ranch in Schleicher county.

Pre-Nuptial Events

Rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby R. Sykes June 11 at San Angelo Country Club.

Bridesmaids' luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Allen Jones of Corsicana the day of the wedding, San Angelo Country Club.

Bachelor Luncheon was hosted by the groom's uncle, Mr. Billy C. Sykes of Ballinger and cousins of the groom, Ted Sykes of Dallas and Tom Sykes of Lubbock, June 12.

A Plant Shower was given for the bride by her bridesmaids at the home of Miss Ellen Grafa in San Angelo on May 26.

The couple shared honors with Miss Kathy Page and Mr. Joe Nobles at a supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meador and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Meador at the Meador Round House on their ranch May 22.

Mrs. H. J. Holm of Dallas honored the bride with a luncheon at San Angelo Country Club on May 22.

How To Buy A Dishwasher: A Consumer Checklist

Although the dishwasher was invented more than 60 years ago, throughout much of its history it was an appliance stepchild.
It was not until the housing boom that followed World War II that the dishwasher began to find a place in the American household. Today, the dishwasher is no longer considered a luxury. To a generation raised to the idea that you don't have to have your hands in scalding dishwasher three times a day to prove your worth as a homemaker, it has become a necessity.
With a majority of the dishwashers installed in the '50s and early '60s now well past their prime, a booming replacement market has developed.
Here's a checklist of what to look for in a new under-counter dishwasher, extracted from a booklet recently prepared by the Consumers Institute of General Electric and Hotpoint to help make wise purchasing decisions.
Good sound insulation is a must for peace of mind. Make sure the model you buy has insulation all around; not just on top or sides.
It's important to consider the type of material used for the tub interior. Metal tubs are usually stainless steel, and while chip-proof, they can later develop surface rust and even leak at the seams in extreme cases. Porcelain enamel resists surface rust and seam leaks, but can chip and rust and is difficult to repair. Plastic coatings also resist seam leaks and are chip-proof; they can be cut, but are easily repaired. New one-piece molded solid plastic tubs cannot rust, chip or peel.
Reversible door panels simplify changing your kitchen decor. Some dishwashers come with a choice of four colors: copper-tone, avocado, white and harvest.
Look for a built-in soft-food disposer; it will eliminate most scraping and pre-rinsing. Large or hard scraps, of course, must be removed.
Wash time can be critical to getting dishes truly clean. Look for extended time wash cycles for use with heavily soiled pots and pans.
Wash action is important to the cleaning job. Most dishwashers have either two or three sources of water action. A water source for each rack and a rinsing shower will do a thorough job.
If energy costs are high in your community, look for a power-saver option that lets you omit the heated drying cycle, a rinse-and-hold setting, or a water and energy saving short-wash cycle.
A rinse aid dispenser is considered a necessity in hard water areas to prevent water spotting.
Ask acquaintances who have purchased a dishwasher recently about its performance, to see if they are satisfied. Take into consideration the reputation of both the manufacturer and dealer.
If at all possible, have the dealer demonstrate the operation of those models you are interested in. Seeing (and hearing) is believing.

A Treat For Every Meal

Lemon Nut Bread just sounds like something good and it's even better. This delightful bread fits into every meal and is one everyone will love. If you or your family skip breakfast or eat on the run, try making this the night before and toasting slices for breakfast. Let buttery Parkay margarine melt into this new kind of toast for a treat that will make breakfast a popular meal. Try spreading it with jelly or Philadelphia brand cream cheese for another treat.
This sweet, lemony bread fits perfectly for luncheon with a variety of salads — just the perfect touch. For a special treat, make an extra loaf to take to work for coffee break. Anyone's co-workers would delight in a special surprise with morning coffee. Wherever you serve it, Lemon Nut Bread will become a favorite.

Lemon Nut Bread
3/4 cup Parkay margarine 1 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups sugar 1/2 cup milk
3 eggs 1/2 cup lemon juice
2 1/2 cups flour 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons baking powder 3/4 cup chopped pecans
Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; blend in eggs. Add combined dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk and juice, mixing well after each addition. Stir in rind and nuts. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350°, 1 hour and 20 minutes. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan.

TOWER TALKS

Pandora's Box

WASHINGTON—In Greek mythology, the gods presented the First Woman, Pandora, with a beautiful box, but forbade her ever to open it.

Pandora's curiosity eventually got the best of her, and one day she did open the box. Out flew plagues innumerable, sorrow, pestilence and mischief.

Pandora's box was a myth, but Congress is presently preparing a real Pandora's box with the esoteric name of Senate Bill 1284.

S.B. 1284 is really five bills in one, an amorphous conglomeration of virtually every pea-brained notion about antitrust ever proposed in Congress. If enacted into law, the damage to our economy would be incalculable.

Title I is the bill's "declaration of policy." It lists Congressional findings with respect to the relationship of industrial concentration to various purported economic ills. The principal finding is that there is diminished competition and increased concentration in the marketplace today, which has contributed significantly to inflation and unemployment.

The trouble with Title I is that it asserts as fact some highly specious economic theories. There is no consensus among economists either that the economy is any more concentrated or less competitive than it was 50 years ago. Nor is there any evidence that such industrial concentration as exists has contributed to inflation.

Title II would expand the power of the Justice Department to conduct antitrust investigations. It would give the Department more wide-ranging investigative authority than it has via the grand jury process without affording those subject to the inquisition even the slender protections of the grand jury. It would in effect permit the Department to coerce information from any person, anywhere, about virtually any subject, with virtually no protection for those whom the Department chooses to victimize.

Title III is comparatively innocuous, a collection of miscellaneous amendments of varying impact and importance.

Title IV is probably the most dangerous provision in the entire bill. It authorizes states to sue on behalf of consumers for antitrust violations even if the state has not been injured by the violation, eliminates the requirement in law that "fact of injury" be proven with respect to potential claimants, and permits the state to take over the unclaimed portion of the damage fund.

Title V is a promoter notification provision which would in effect give the Attorney General unilateral power to veto any merger without any judicial finding of illegality.

Pandora made a grave mistake when she opened the attractive package the gods had given her. Hopefully the Senate will profit from her experience.

"Rumplegumption" is the Scottish word for common sense.

God changes things

An empty spider web hangs suspended in a dry bush, a mere pattern of gray trembling in the breeze.

On a Sunday morning, people from many walks of life, carrying a myriad of joys and burdens, enter churches to worship.

Dew falls and the sun rises. God moves in the lives of His people.

Clothed now in dew, the once drab spider web becomes a chandelier of crystal rainbows—royal purples, velvet violets, fiery reds, some flecked with brightest gold.

People emerge from our churches, apparently unchanged, yet—different. What is the new meaning in their lives? What the deeper understanding? How has peace and confidence been renewed? A mystery? Perhaps! But not beyond experience.

Won't you join us in church this Sunday? Together, we will learn from the God who changes things.
