Officiating at the funeral was the Rev. Roy B. Shilling, minister of evangelism at A&M United Methodist Church in College Station. Burial was in Fairmount cemetery in San Angelo.

He was born Dec. 27, 1879, near Stephenville in Erath county. He was married to Mildred Jones Nov. 24, 1929 in San Angelo. He moved to Schleicher county with his brother, Pat Jackson, in August 1901 after they heard that a large portion of state owned land was being opened for settlement. The two brothers were among the first men to file for land during the Schleicher County land rush that year.

Jackson remained a partner with his brother for 60 years, and the two acquired ranches in Sterling, Fisher, Edwards and Lampasas counties.

Survivors include two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Pat Jackson and Mrs. Dick Jackson, both of San Angelo; six nephews and two nieces.

Museum Dedication To Be Highlight Saturday

Landmark Building To Be Dedicated As County Museum Here Saturday

DEDICATION IS set Saturday at 1:00 p.m. of the new Schleicher County Museum housed in the time-honored building which for many years was home of El Dorado Hardware. The building was erected of native stone by the late D. C. Hill in 1923. Subsequently the store was operated by E. C. Hill until his health failed, then Billy

Gene Edmiston had Handy Hardware, and the structure subsequently housed Sweetwater Pump & Supply before that firm, too, went out of business.

Mrs. E. C. (Ida B.) Hill still makes her home here and will be on hand for the dedication. She has deeded the building to the Schleicher County Historical Society.

The Museum has gone through several stages of work in this final preparation, the latest being the new flooring. Visitors to the Museum are in for a pleasant surprise. With the ribbon cutting Saturday your Museum will be open for business and we hope every person in Schleicher county will come by to see it.

Craig Visits Here From California

Jones Craig, of 45044 North Date Ave., Lancaster, Calif. 93534, was in Eldorado Wednesday for the first time since leaving here 48 years ago. He was accompanied to Eldorado by his brother, Pat Craig, of Eden, Texas. Their father was Jim Craig, an early day sheriff of Schleicher County. Jones, as a boy, worked for Mrs. Kate E. Robinson in her General Merchandise store, and graduated from high school here in 1922. He came to Eldorado mainly to visit the graves of his father and mother and to see and visit with Mrs. E. C. Hill and Mrs. Payne Robinson, but in the short time he was in Eldorado he saw many of his friends of those early years.

While in Eden, Jones and his wife, "Sunny," as well as Floyd Craig Daniels, were honored by their brother and his wife at a party in the Eden community center at which were also present several neighbors and early residents of the Rudd community of Schleicher county.

The Larry Schuck family returned during the week end from a trip to Alabama and Florida. They were away for two weeks.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

By JANNETTE WILKERSON

Down the road, a stone's throw from here, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Mires lived through adventurous and hard times. Raising a family during the days when going out to milk the cow in the evening could turn into a life and death chase from marauding Indians.

Mrs. Frank Van Horn has related stories of her Grandparents, Paddy and Louisa Mires, when they settled in the Christoval area in the 1870's. Mr. Mires chose a location near a flowing spring, and built a picket house. The Mires family lived there for three years before building a rock house. The magnificent structure is still partially intact. Paddy operated a grist mill on the spring near the south Concho for many years. The spring is now called Mires spring. Here he ground corn, wheat, and other grain for Ranchmen in the area. Thus, as with so many cases, Paddy was put out of the flour business by progress. When they began to sell bleached flour for $1.49 per 50 pounds, Paddy began to lose out. He could grind the flour as cheaply, but he did not have a bleaching process.

Existing records and statements from early day pioneers in the area reveal that the San Angelo to Sonora stage road passed by the Mires home, and weary stage riders and freighters found a warm, friendly oasis there.

One such rest stop had a tragic climax when a traveler and his son spent the night at the Mires home. Early the next morning the boy was sent out to get the horses which pulled the wagon. The boy was encountered by a band of raiding Indians who also had designs on the horses. The commotion alerted the people in the house but their efforts to aid the boy were futile as he was scalped and murdered in full view of the horrified and helpless onlookers. The boy was buried a short distance from the Old Mires house.

There were many sounds that kept the quiet, blue nights by the river, to make a brave pioneer mother clutch her "young-uns" to her breast in silent prayer that the old Winchester carbine and strong wooded door would hold against a savage foe.

Early Settlers Hardships Recalled Roach Reunion Held

The first Roach family reunion was held June 19-20 at THE BARN in Schleicher County (Mertzon highway). Including host members, Eldred Roach, Jim Tom & Jewel Roach Bailey, the "family" consisted of some 60 members, some traveling distances of 400 miles.

The assembled group represented descendants of the Matt Roach family, the John Roach family, the Ambrose Roach family, Julia Roach Ray and Mary Roach Kempsey. The original Roach family immigrated from Ireland in 1881. The trip to America required six weeks due to the ship's being crippled by a violent storm. Settling near Lometa the family soon found that life in the new world was equally as hard as in the land they had left behind. The father died soon after arrival in America, leaving a mother with seven small children to clothe and feed. But, with the fortitude and determination typical of our forefathers, this pioneer mother reared her children to become worthwhile citizens of the new homeland.

When The E. T. Davises Came To Schleicher

Mrs. E. T. Davis was formerly a long-time Schleicher County resident before making her home in recent years with family members in Dallas and Houston. Following is excerpted from her Memoirs:

Our Move To Schleicher County:

We started moving from Kimble County to Schleicher on November 5, 1911. Ed had butchered a hog and had finished gathering our cotton and corn. We put enough corn in the bed of the wagon to feed three horses on the way. We hated to leave our folks, but felt we could do better by moving.

The day we left we ate dinner on the banks of the Llano river. I had never been away from my folks. Little Ed, our baby boy, was seven months old. We started out over the long dusty road in the wagon and leading one horse behind the wagon. We did not get to Fort McKavett before we met a norther and a dust storm. We came to a creek, so we decided to camp there that night. The baby and I stayed in the wagon while Ed took care of his team and made a fire and cooked our supper.

We ate supper and looked to see how the horses were faring. Ed then put a big log on the fire; hobbled the horses and we went to bed. We could hear the coyotes howling. We didn't have a clock to tell us the time, but around 4:00 o'clock the next morning the horses began to get restless and Ed said to me, "It is around 4:00 o'clock. I know because I hear the horses," and he got up and tied them to the wagon wheels. He put more wood on the fire and made a pot of coffee, fried some bacon and fixed breakfast and then I got up and dressed. We left camp after that first night about sun-up.

We had gone several miles when Ed happened to think that he did not put his chopping axe in the wagon. He said, "I know it is too far to go back, and I know an old fellow by the name of Ham Baker who lives up here a distance and I know he will have an extra axe that I can buy." Sure enough when we got there Ed told Mr. Baker what had happened and he gave us an axe. Ed insisted on paying him for the axe, but he refused to take any pay for it. He said he did not want the woman and baby to freeze. He told Ed he was going to London in a few days and he would stop by where we had camped and pick up the axe we had left. It was really cold, but Ed was the one who suffered the most, as he had to drive and face the wind and the baby and I could stay back in the wagon under cover.

When we were about one-half day's drive from Eldorado, we stopped for dinner, and Ed said if I would start a fire, he'd go take the horses to a tank nearby and water them and that way we could get to Eldorado by sundown.

He went on and I put Little Ed in the spring seat of the wagon and picked up some sticks and struck a match. The wood did not catch, but the flames caught the dead grass and started off down the draw toward the wagon. I was fighting it away from the wagon. Ed jumped on one of the horses and came running and hollering for me to just keep it from going toward the wagon. I was not used to the wind blowing like it did in that part of the country. He took the tow sack I was fighting it with; wet it with the water we had in the wagon and put it out. We ate lunch and got to town between sundown and dark and drove to the wagon yard to spend the night. The first man we spoke to in Eldorado was Pearce Sweatt. Ed did not know the man, but I thought I recognized him, as I said before I knew him in Fredonia, Mason county when I was a child. We talked to him and sure enough it was the Pearce Sweatt I had known in Fredonia. He was the father of Ernest (Greasy) Sweatt, who was the sheriff in Schleicher county many, many years later and was a very close friend of ours. Pearce Sweatt was the man who had married my girl chum Allie Williams.

The next morning Ed went on the streets inquiring about work. He met up with the McWhorter Brothers who operated a general merchandise store. In fact, it was the only one in Eldorado. They were the same McWhorters that we lived by many years later and their children and my children were great friends all through school. Bob McWhorter, the son of Will McWhorter, still visits us. Ed asked the McWhorters about work and while he was talking with them one of our old friends from Junction walked up about that time. He was Mr. Black, Burd Black's uncle. He was drilling a well for a woman in Eldorado. He had heard that a Mr. Earnest out on the Sonora road wanted a man to work for him. He told Ed to bring me and little Ed down to their place while Ed rode down to the Earnest place. We stayed with them while Ed rode down to the Earnest place 10 miles from Eldorado. He got the job and rode back to Eldorado that same day. When he got back to Eldorado Mrs. Black had a good supper and a warm cup of coffee for him. She would not let us go until we had eaten supper with them. I enjoyed the day with the Blacks so much because they were from the home we'd left.

After supper we put the harness on the horses and drove back to the Earnest place where we lived for the next three years. It was 12:00 o'clock that night when we got there. Ed took the team from the wagon and we slept in the wagon again that night. We got up early the next morning and got the cook stove out of the wagon and put it up in the little house before we cooked breakfast. We did not have room in the wagon to bring a heater, so Ed had to unload the wagon and go back to town to buy a heater. You could travel for miles out there and see little wood. I was not used to that.

REDDY'S HELPFUL FREEZER TIPS

LOCK IN FLAVOR: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, bread paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

LABEL PACKAGES: Date and identify freezer packages so (1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and (2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SALES: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

HELPFUL IDEAS

By Carol Torres

You may no longer have to worry as much about being stuck on the road because your engine has overheated, or about being stuck at home because you can't get the car to start in the cold.

A new kind of engine lubricant has been devised that actually works better than motor oil, even if the temperature inside the engine is 580°F., or if the temperature outside is 35° below zero, when ordinary oil becomes so thick your engine can't turn over.

In addition, this new man-made motor lubricant helps your engine last longer and run cleaner. Made by Mobil Oil Corporation, Mobil 1 Synthesized Engine Lubricant lubricates the moving parts of your engine much better than conventional motor oil. And it helps the average car get up to 10 more miles to the tankful of gasoline.

That seems like a pretty smooth deal.

YOU MAY SOON BE ABLE TO PLAN YOUR PICNICS THREE WEEKS IN ADVANCE, SINCE A NEW WEATHER WATCHING SATELLITE EQUIPPED WITH AN INTERNATIONAL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH AEROSPACE/OPTICAL DIVISION CAMERA WILL BE ABLE TO PREDICT WHAT THE WEATHER WILL BE LIKE 21 DAYS AHEAD OF TIME!

ONE OF THE WORLD'S MOST ADVANCED CLOSED CIRCUIT TELEVISION SYSTEMS, OPERATED AND MAINTAINED BY IT'S FEDERAL ELECTRIC CORPORATION DIVISION, WAS USED DURING THE APOLLO-SOYUZ LINKUP FOR SHOOTING POST-LAUNCH PRESS CONFERENCES AND MONITORING COMPLEX SPACE EQUIPMENT!

While in Albuquerque Mary attended the Lawrence Welk Show. But most of all was the wonderful cold weather while they were there.

Schleicher Re-Entry

R. F. Thomas, Paris, will re-enter and clean out to 4,500 feet a 6,940-foot Schleicher County wildcat failure, 1 5/8 miles southeast of the Ju-Jan-Jee field of Tom Green county and 14 miles southwest of Christoval. It is the No. 1 L. W. Steen.

Originally drilled by Seneca Oil Co. and Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., it was abandoned July 29, 1959 at 6,940 feet.

It was re-entered by Tucker Drilling Co. in May, 1961 and abandoned again June 19, 1961. Ground elevation is 2,332 feet.

Location is 680 feet from the north and west lines of 1205-TCRR.

The firemen were called out at 11:30 Tuesday morning to a grass fire at the dump grounds.

UNFOUNDED Fears

Less than a century ago, automobiles so scared the average person that outlandish laws were suggested to restrict their use. A proposed Pennsylvania ordinance would have required a driver to stop his car every mile, send up a rocket, and wait 10 minutes to make sure the road was clear.

Some Italian women once were so afraid that the hair cut from their heads would fall into the hands of sorcerers that they burned their shorn locks and hid them in places they were sure nobody would find them.

Some people suffer from an irrational fear of nuclear power plants. But there "is not any possibility that a conventional nuclear plant will blow up in a mushroom cloud. All but a few ignorant hysterics recognize that that is impossible," says Time magazine in a recent article.

One of Freud's most famous patients was a man who was irrationally afraid of wolves. But Freud discovered that the fear stemmed from a startling memory from childhood which had nothing at all to do with wolves.

Bicentennial Breakfast Food

No; your eyes aren't deceiving you. This is a bowl of crisp, crunchy popcorn waiting to be enjoyed for breakfast early-American style with cream and sugar. That's how, from Pilgrim times on, the colonists often served this very first of the world's puffed cereals and how you and your family can really enjoy it, too, if you want to provide a Spirit of '76 Bicentennial Breakfast.

Truly a natural whole-grain cereal, popcorn is a fundamental food as well as a "fun food." It provides some roughage. Like other cereal grains, it has an important nutritional function — to furnish the body with heat and energy. Its 77% carbohydrate composition helps "spare" the protein in the body in providing that needed a.m. fuel-up. Also, it adds its own cereal-type protein contribution, or 12% of its composition.

This protein is a most useful body-builder in combination with the milk or cream used on the popcorn-cereal, or with your regular morning bacon.

And what fun for the youngsters to pop corn for breakfast!

Your summer athletes might want to sweeten their breakfast popcorn with honey for a dollop of extra energy. Or cinnamon toast lovers might want to switch occasionally to Cinnamon-Sugar Popcorn. Just sprinkle your regular cinnamon-sugar mixture over a bowlful of fresh warm popcorn that has been drizzled with melted butter; toss to coat, and you have another breakfast or "anytime" treat.

So popcorn for breakfast is "very Bicentennial." It's also very good, and costs out to only pennies per serving.

Birthday Cake For America's Birthplace

The largest birthday cake ever recorded is to be the centerpiece of Philadelphia's Bicentennial celebration during the weekend of July 3rd and 4th.

A gift to America's birthplace from Kitchens of Sara Lee, the cake will rise five stories to a giant American eagle from a base 42 feet wide. If arranged in a rectangle, its surface would cover a regulation basketball court. Its volume, including a specially designed support system, is equivalent to about one million Sara Lee chocolate cakes.

Key feature of the massive birthday cake, as shown in the scale model above, is its eight octagonal tiers which will be decorated with highlights of American history. Starting with the Declaration of Independence and ending with the Moon Walk, these 120 scenes are to be depicted in icings and confections handmade by the pastry chefs of Sara Lee.

The cake will be displayed in Philadelphia's Memorial Hall, which was built for the nation's 100th birthday in 1876.

Inflation-Fighting TRAVEL IDEAS

HELPFUL TIPS

NEW WAY TO SAVE

You can save on the phone call, save on the parking, save energy, and have more money to spend on enjoying yourself in Washington, D.C., by knowing what number to call.

It's a special toll-free number (800) 424-9755—for you to call for facts about the Bicentennial Metrobus service and the "park and ride" programs, set up to make sightseeing simple and enjoyable for visitors to Washington.

Under this special program visitors can park free at three large shuttle bus fringe lots—at RFK Stadium, the North Pentagon Parking Lot and at Fort Meyer South.

Post-shuttle swiftly, economically and comfortably at special family rates by Metrobus (40 buses an hour each way) to and from the Mall between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. during weekdays, with reduced service between 4-10 p.m. Service on weekends during the above times will be slightly increased. Visitors can also patronize special Bicentennial radial Metrobus service along 17 existing corridors from outlying suburban areas, many adjacent to parking facilities, to and from downtown Washington.

What is this network designed to achieve? It's an innovatively organized way of keeping traffic around Washington moving for Bicentennial visitors—in short, deflating congestion while inflating fun!

FORD'S THEATER—Once again a legitimate theater, it was closed for many years after tragic assassination of President Lincoln in 1865.

by Lyndell Williams
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—Texas doctors have expressed increasing concern about the swine flu (A/New Jersey) immunization program.

"The medical risks probably will be low for patients. But health care providers may suffer from a plague of liability suits," said Dr. Jack Haley, president-elect of the Texas Academy of Family Physicians.

Haley told public health workers here doctors probably will participate fully in the massive immunization in spite of feared legal risks.

Haley predicted pharmaceutical firms and physicians will be major targets for lawsuits. Such claims, he stated, could "prove troublesome at the least," though collections are unlikely.

A New Jersey flu immunizations should prove "low-risk" to patients who are not allergic to eggs, doctors report.

"It now appears the federal government and the Texas Department of Health Resources will be unable to provide liability protection," Dr. Haley said. "Some doctors will have to supervise huge clinics immunizing hundreds of people very quickly. There is no way a physician can personally oversee each injection and still have everyone immunized before flu season."

Haley reported a Texas Medical Association survey shows more than 50% of physicians responding have quit doing surgery and delivering babies, procedures which cause many suits.

The survey showed another fourth of Texas doctors will lose their malpractice insurance within a few months.

Dams Need Repair

Sixty-two Texas dams need major correction, and more than 600 are in need of repair or some changes.

Another 250 have no permits, as was discovered in inspections going back to 1968.

Some steps already are being taken to fix the 62 dams which are in the worst shape.

Leakage and seepage are common. Some spillways are eroded, and caverns have been found beneath Red Bluff Dam on the Pecos River in Reeves and Loving counties.

Leases Draw $5.6 Million

Bonus payments totaling more than $5.6 million were received in a recent auction of University of Texas oil and gas land leases.

Bonus payments and future royalties, in event of production, will go into the Permanent University Fund which now contains more than $800 million.

Nearly 100,000 acres of University lands were leased for oil and gas exploration at the auction last week.

Biggest bonus payment was $410,000 bid by a group headed by Monsanto for a 320-acre tract in Ward county.

Short Snorts . . .

First joint hearings on 1978-79 state agency budgets begin here June 21 with appellate court requests.

Field nominations for purchase of Texas crude oil next month totaled 3,266,356 barrels daily, and additional demand totaled 702,756 barrels a day—an increase of 31,039 over June.

The Railroad Commission approved unitization of proposed Eliasville (Caddo) Unit of the Stephens County Regular Field, Texas Pacific Oil Company Inc. predicted secondary recovery operations will produce an additional 12 million barrels of oil.

A select committee will hold first meetings here this week to study procedures for disciplining wayward judges.

Museum Notes

All the last minute details of the Museum are falling into shape . . . I hope by Thursday evening we will be ready to put the ribbon out for the ribbon cutting on Saturday, June 26, at 1:00. Mrs. Jackson, our Bi-Centennial Chairman, will say a few words and we will be honored to have Mrs. Ernest C. Hill cut the ribbon for the formal opening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fohn, Mrs. Ben Isaacs, Mrs. Ethel Etheredge, Hubert Graves and Margaret Frost motored to Uvalde last Thursday to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schleicher. We arrived in Uvalde early enough to have time to go through the John Nance Garner Museum and we found several ideas we plan to do with our Museum.

Mr. Schleicher, who is 83, is the grandson of Mr. Gustav Schleicher, the gentleman Schleicher County was named for. Mr. Sam never knew his grandfather but he had many tales to tell about him and it was a most interesting and worthwhile visit. Mr. Gustav Schleicher was a huge man, weighing over 300 pounds and had to have a special chair made to sit in and Mrs. Sam Schleicher is going to write to the museum where they have this chair and see if they would let us have it. We don't know that we will get it but we are hoping we will. Mr. Fohn taped our visit with Mr. Schleicher and has given us the tape so at one of our Historical Meetings all may hear what he has to say. They also gave us a picture to hang in our picture gallery which we are very proud of.

Now that the time is drawing short for our opening we have had many rally rounds to help. Thursday while we were all in Uvalde, Pearl Enochs, Duge McDonald, Lois Etheredge and Frankie Williams worked all day cleaning and arranging articles that have come in.

We have new flooring in our Museum thanks to Junior Isaacs, Thomas Richard Jones and Bob Bradley. They worked Monday evening until 10:30 cutting it and on Wednesday evening they glued it down and we are awfully proud of it and can't thank these fellows enough. It wasn't an easy job since the floor is not level but it looks terrific and we do appreciate all they did.

David Meador put our flag pole up Saturday afternoon. This was not an easy job to do. He had us dig out the hole, cement it in and this all by himself. We especially appreciate it since he was getting ready to take the Scouts to their camp for a week the next day and know he had plenty of things to do for himself and his Scouts.

"Thank you David for your support in all our projects. Bob Bradley has donated plate glass to put in front of our shelves to help protect the many things our Schleicher County citizens have brought in. Zane Miller will be working next week in his spare time putting this glass up and doing many other last minute jobs that need to be done."

We on the Museum Committee want to take this opportunity to thank each and everyone of you worthwhile project and we hope everyone will visit it and become more interested as time goes on. We are hoping everyone in Schleicher County will contribute in one way or another. What we are trying to do is preserve the articles and artifacts in our county that need a home so if any of you have anything of historical value to Schleicher County we will be happy to have it and will give it the best of care. —Museum Reporter.

Organized Closet Promotes Better Appearance

Do you have problems finding closet room for your clothes . . . do you spend unnecessary time finding your favorite garment . . . then do you have to press it because it was crushed in the crowded closet? Then you can't delay a "closet face lift" any longer, we advise.

We suggest a beginning by separating the wardrobe into categories—seasonable wearables, out-of-season wearables, unwearables with updating or repairing possibilities, an not salvageables.

Give the not salvageables to a favorite charity or anyone who could use them. Usually if a garment hasn't been worn for a season, it won't be next season either, so it's best to discard or update it.

Store garments with updating possibilities along with the sewing supplies for another day's project.

Out-of-season wearables should be cleaned, repaired and then stored out of the way in the back of the closet, in a little-used closet or in other available suitable places where protected from dirt, lint and light.

Arrange seasonable wearables in a manner most logical and convenient for available space and personal use. Many prefer grouping garments by type—such as pants, dresses or shirts, or by activity, such as dressy garments, active sportswear or work clothes, she noted.

Closet aids such as padded hangers, tie racks or shoe bags help preserve garment shape and condition and make effective use of closet space.

Use available wall and door space to maximum advantage with hook, peg boards, racks, extra shelves and store boxes.

Remember, a little time and effort periodically spent in managing the closet pays off in added convenience, ease in dressing and in preserving the life of the wardrobe.

Consumer Food News . . .

College Station, Tex.—Cantaloupe and honeydew melons are good choices, price-wise, at most Texas grocery stores currently, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt reports.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Also, this is the season for Granny Smith apples from New Zealand—and they're good for eating fresh or for cooking," the specialist said.

First-of-the-season fruits appearing on the market include Bing cherries, Perlette grapes, peaches, nectarines and plums.

"These are rather costly now, but prices have already started trending downward," Mrs. Clyatt noted.

Fresh vegetables now in adequate supply—"especially good in salads"—are tomatoes, radishes, spinach, Romaine, green onions, new-crop green cabbage, cucumbers and a variety of leaf lettuces.

"Also, sliced zucchini squash is an appetizing addition to the salad bowl," the specialist added.

"Budget buys in the fresh-vegetable department are carrots, yellow onions and red potatoes, while corn offers tasty eating at attractive prices."

"If consumers want to can or freeze corn for later use, they should start looking for those good corn values now," Mrs. Clyatt advised.

At meat counters, beef is a frequent feature—with cuts on "special" mainly from chuck and round, along with an occasional bargain on tender-steak cuts.

"Of all the major foods, only pork is listed in light supply. That is, less than we normally need," Mrs. Clyatt explained.

"There are few leading values on pork. Quarter-loin cut into chops, Boston butt roasts and liver are the key buys."

"Eggs are a high-protein food—and they are in good supply with attractive prices again this week."

"Fryer chickens are a good choice for family cookouts or picnics—and, although reports indicate greater supplies than a year ago, so is demand. That means consumers can expect prices to remain the same or trend a bit higher in the next few weeks."

Consumer Watchwords: Keep a supply of hard-cooked eggs in the refrigerator—for snacks, potato salad and sandwich filling, to name a few. They will keep for about a week.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

Winners last week: Lottie Puckett and Fred Adkins, Sonora, 1st; Lou Poole and Bain Andrews, San Angelo, 2nd; Winnie Jackson and Sue Barber, San Angelo, and Blakeways, tied for 3rd; Zeila Baker and Winnie Helen Hilliard, 4th.

Care Of Roses In Summer Important

College Station, Tex.—Roses are red, violets are blue; if you take care of them, they'll look good for you.

This is the philosophy of Everett Janne, a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. He suggests taking good care of your roses in the summer so they will look good in the fall.

"One important requirement of roses in the summer is adequate water," Janne says. "If there is no rain, water them thoroughly at least twice a week. Try to keep the water off the leaves, and if possible, water roses in the morning."

It's also a good idea to fertilize roses with a 10-15-5 fertilizer. Spread the fertilizer evenly around the base of the plants and work it lightly into the soil, advises the Texas A&M University System horticulturist.

"If you want a lot of blooms in October, prune rose bushes in August by cutting them back about one-third," suggests Janne.

He recommends practicing a preventive spray program to control blackspot and mildew. Bonomyl is a good spray for controlling both these diseases.

Slow Cooking Means Good Flavor

WHILE THE COOK'S AWAY—New slow cooker can cook up some tasty meals, with chicken (in the pot), corned beef, smoked pork, cured beef tongue and vegetables.

People on the go are discovering the advantages of slow cooking with an appliance that cooks 8 to 10 hours without stirring, sticking or worry about overcooking.

They've found that slow cooking can turn less expensive cuts of meat into flavorful, nutritious meals with little shrinkage. When busy away from the kitchen, they also use it for baking casseroles, fruits, vegetables and desserts.

This new slow cooker has a unique heating system that gives more uniform heat distribution. The removable crock is surrounded by gently heated air assuring even cooking of meats and vegetables.

The four-quart Farberware Country Crock-r-Cooker has an indicator light to tell at a glance that the unit is operating in either high or low position; removable, easy-to-clean crock and cord; plus colorful contemporary country styling.

EASY MEALS VIA THE SLOW COOKER

- 1 (3 to 4 pound) whole chicken, corned beef, smoked pork shoulder or cured beef tongue
- 2 potatoes, peeled and quartered
- 2 carrots cleaned and cut in pieces
- 1 onion, sliced
- 1 stalk celery with leaves, cut in pieces
- 2 cups broth or water
- 6 whole cloves
- 2 bay leaves

If necessary, drain corned beef or remove casing from pork shoulder. In 4-quart Farberware Country Crock-r-Cooker place all ingredients in order given adding the chosen meat last. Cover. Turn heat control switch to low. Cook 7 to 9 hours or until tender. Serve meat with vegetables. Broth from chicken can be made into gravy by adding 1/4 cup flour mixed with 1/4 cup water; stir into broth. Turn heat control switch to high and cook until thickened, about 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

POWELL NAMED HEAD OF REGENT BOARD

James L. Powell

James L. Powell, a prominent local businessman, has been elected president of the Board of Regents, Texas State University System. His selection as president of the Board follows his successful service as the Board's vice president and chairman of that body's Building Committee.

As president, Powell will be responsible for directing the nine-member Board in the development of policy and the coordination of affairs on the four campuses in the Texas State University System—Angelo State University, Southwest Texas State University, Sam Houston State University and Sul Ross State University.

The System has a combined enrollment in excess of 30,000 students and the combined operating budget for the four campuses is over $70 million annually. In addition, the Board is responsible for approving some $10 to $20 million annually in construction projects at the four universities.

Powell has served as president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, president of the National Wool Growers Association, director of the American Sheep Producers Council and director of the Mohair Council of America.

He has served on the 24-member Packers and Stockyards Livestock Committee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Advisory Group; a member of the Texas House of Representatives Interim Agriculture Committee; as U.S. agriculture representative of the sheep and wool industry in 1964; as a member of the University of Texas Land Policy Committee; and as a member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Small Towns Task Force.

Powell was appointed to his present six-year term on the Board of Regents in 1971 by Texas Governor Preston Smith.

Powell is a graduate of Rice University where he received a degree in business administration. He has also done graduate work at the University of Texas. Powell resides on his ranch in Schleicher County where he raises sheep, cattle and angora goats.

Southerner Apparent Democratic Nominee

From The Office Of Congressman Bob Krueger

If the political predictions that have now concurred in certainty that Jimmy Carter will be the Democratic nominee for President are upheld, as they appear likely to be, we will have seen an interesting phenomenon. For the first time since the Civil War and the second time since the Constitution, a man from the deep South may be elected President. Virginia has provided five Presidents, and Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri have each provided one, but the only President that the deep South has produced was Zachary Taylor of Louisiana who held office only one year. Even though most were among the earliest states in the Union, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Arkansas have never provided a President. Georgia might now do so.

The fact that Jimmy Carter, who in no way attempted to conceal or ever his southern roots has won popular support in primaries broadly enough to gain him a major party nomination suggests that much of the separation so long felt by the deep Southern states has passed. The legacy of slavery and segregation has been largely left behind; an era of new growth in economic well-being and civil rights to be shared by all seems likelier now than might have seemed possible in the 60's.

No other section of the country felt so discriminated against by the rest of the country as did the deep South, but the fact that a southerner could win such broad support in other states implies that the old prejudices against the South, like many of the former prejudices in the South, are fairly well dead.

One of the things that Mr. Carter's opponents frequently did not understand about his appeal was that it rested partly on his espousal of values that the South has long cherished: active religious faith, the values of home and family, a sense of being part of a particular geographical region and belonging to it and to its soil. Mr. Carter showed, as well, that thru a process of political primaries, a person who has very few ties with the traditional political forces and political establishment figures can, with the devoted help of citizens with no experience in politics, win a nomination for the nation's highest office. Some years ago Ronald Reagan made his move to become

Governor of our largest state without the backing of the political establishment or party leaders.

I remember being in England in 1960 when John Kennedy won the Presidency, and I observed that British commentators recognized that a young man like Kennedy was, in America, able to win our highest office without simply proceeding up the rungs of a political ladder in the usual way. It would not have been possible in England or in European countries with the parliamentary system. It is possible in America. It is perhaps useful to remember in this bicentennial year that, although not easy, paths to highest office are probably more open to a wide number of our citizens than is the case in most of the countries of the world, even though most of them are much smaller. Paths may not be easy but they are present and open to people from within or without the political structure. And to people in all parts of the land.

Presbyterian Home At Itasca Sustains Damage

Report on Tornado Damage to the Presbyterian Children's Home at Itasca, Texas.

In a news release by Charles J. Hollingsworth, General Presbyter of the Presbytery of Tres Rios, Presbyterian Church, U. S., on June 1, he gave damage estimates of the tornado which struck the campus of the Presbyterian Children's Home at Itasca, Texas, on May 26, 1976, as follows: one girl's cottage totally destroyed, 40% damage to a second cottage; 20% damage to a third cottage, and 50% damage to the Youth Center. It is thought that there will be approximately $300,000 damage, partially covered by insurance. Immediate repairing and re-building is planned while the children are on vacation for the next several weeks.

Due to sufficient warning, everyone was moved to a place of safety in a basement and there were no injuries.

Summer Reading Program Now On

Young readers at Eldorado Public Library are participating this summer in the Summer Reading Club, cosponsored by the library and the Texas State Library.

They are among more than 100,000 youngsters from throughout the state who will be spending part of their summer vacations reading for fun this year. They will be keeping records of what they have read in red, white, and blue reading logs.

"Movin' On... Then and Now" is the theme for 1976. Children dressed in appropriate costumes are shown in a canoe, horse-drawn trolley, balloon, early train, stagecoach, early automobile, steamboat, biplane, helicopter, and moon rover. These pictures appear on the posters as well as on the reading log/activity books that each participant will receive. Each reading log also includes a cut-out figure that may be used to move across a time line that shows vehicles in their proper place in history.

Public library summer reading programs focus upon reading for enjoyment. Public library collections include a wide range of both informational materials and fiction. In addition to the books they read as participants in the Reading Club, youngsters will also see films, puppet shows, and other programs that will be carried on in the libraries. Project coordinator is Mrs. Gladys Gunn.

Humphrey-Hawkins

WASHINGTON—If you believe in Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny, then the Humphrey-Hawkins Full Employment and Balanced Growth Act is for you.

The Humphrey-Hawkins bill is purported to be the greatest cure-all since they stopped selling that medicine show elixir that was supposed to heal everything from consumption to warts. The bill is supposed to wipe out unemployment, even out recessions and hold down inflation—and do it all at negligible cost to the taxpayer.

There are two parts to the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. The first part would set up a mechanism for central economic planning. The second would set into motion a massive—and frightfully unrealistic—public jobs program.

The first part of the bill would, among other things, declare the right of every adult to a well-paid job, and establish a goal of three percent adult unemployment within four years after enactment.

The second part of the bill would set up a variety of jobs programs to be used if other methods failed to bring unemployment levels down to the three percent target.

Pay scales for all the jobs programs would be set according to a formula provided in the bill. In general, wages for public services jobs would be equal to or higher than those prevailing for similar jobs in private industry.

All these goodies don't come cheap. Sponsors of the bill admit it would cost from $20 to $40 billion a year. More impartial economists think the cost could exceed twice that amount.

Nothing better illustrates the "Alice in Wonderland" quality of Humphrey-Hawkins than the goal of three percent unemployment. An unemployment rate that low has been achieved only for a brief period in the last 30 years, and then only at the price of war and rampant inflation.

A renewal of double digit inflation which would destroy more jobs than the bill would create would be, in fact the most likely consequence of passage of the Humphrey-Hawkins bill.

To begin with, the bill would attempt to reach its full employment goals with the kind of bureaucratic tinkering with the economy that led to the recession we are just now recovering from.

If the economic tinkering failed—as history indicates it would—the various jobs programs would go into effect.

However funded, the effect of the public service jobs programs would be to take employment away from the productive sectors of our economy to put people to work on makework projects.

There is a way to fight unemployment effectively. That is to make it possible for the private sector to expand and produce more jobs, real jobs that contribute to the economic well-being of all Americans.

President Ford's economic policies are effectively reducing unemployment. The unemployment rate has been trending downward steadily, month by month. Last month a record 87.7 million held jobs. We should not forfeit these solid gains for the illusory promises of Humphrey-Hawkins.

It looks like fun outside. A bright, happy, wonderful day — and a pal to share it with. A world of promise.

As the future unfolds in every life it looks like a world of promise. Whether it lives up to our expectations depends less on what's outside than what's inside. Human character tends to shape the events and experiences of life.

Our tremendous responsibility as parents is to nurture a human soul, foster its spiritual growth, cultivate the crucial development of our child's character.

As a window lets light reach inside, the teaching of moral and religious truth lets faith find its rightful place in each youthful heart. To discover all the Promise in this world the soul must begin by realizing the promises of God.
