Over 50 Attended Lions Installation

Lion J. Marvin Allen of San Angelo, former governor of District 2A-1, was installing officer Monday night at the ladies night in El Dorado Restaurant at which Guy Whitaker was installed new club president, succeeding Pat Ragsdale. Over 50 Lions and ladies and guests attended.

The current club queen, Andrea Lacy, was present with her mother and assisted Lion Allen with the installation by pinning the "bees" on each Lion who accepted assignment to his respective office.

Other officers installed with Whitaker were Ronnie Mittel, 1st vice-pres.; Walter Wallis, 2nd vice-pres.; Phil Olson, 3rd vice-pres.; Dick Preston and Gordon Garlington, new directors; Richard Kent and W. G. Crippin, hold-over directors; Bill Rountree, Tail Twister; Curtis Andrews, secretary-treasurer; and Jerry Jones, Lion Tamer.

Whitaker will preside at his initial meeting as new Boss Lion on Wednesday noon, July 10th.

Lion Secretary Curtis Andrews gave a report that during the past year the club's accomplishments included putting on two defensive driving courses, sponsoring the Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs, joining of the District 2A-1 Eye Bank, presenting a first bale award to Edgar Sauer, giving a special cash gift to the Crippled Children's Camp, sponsoring Andrea Lacy in the district Queen's contest at Big Spring, giving the soil conservation award to Hop McMillan, and starting off the Whiddon fund with a $100 contribution.

Pat Ragsdale gave 10-year awards of membership to Joel Tom Meador and T. R. Spence, 15-year award to Raymond Hall, a 20-year award to Guy Whitaker and a 25-year one to Bill Rountree.

At start of the meeting, L. D. Mund led the flag salute and L. E. McCalla gave invocation.

Another newspaper hailed the letter "E" in a short piece, not credited to anybody in particular. It said: "It is never in war, always in peace, is the beginning of existence, and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, is the beginning of eternity, the end of time and space, the beginning of every end, and the end of every place. Without it there would be no writers, editors, or printers, or even wives or children."

Schleicher Extender

The Cody Bell (Canyon gas) field of Schleicher county was extended 5/8 mile west and very slightly north with completion of Joseph I. O'Neill Jr., Midland, No. 1 Lux, 8 miles northwest of Eldorado, for a calculated absolute open flow of 2,125,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production was through "E" perforations at 6,675-699 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 18,000 gallons and 20,000 pounds of sand and "D" perforations at 8,607-651 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 15,000 gallons and 18,000 pounds of sand.

Operator plans dual completion through Canyon "A" perforations at 6,351-81 feet which had been acidized with 2,000 gallon and fractured with 22,000 gallons and 18,000 pounds of sand; and "B" perforations at 6,469-693 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 10,000 gallons and 6,200 pounds of sand. Drilled to 6,711 feet, it is plugged back to 6,705 feet with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 6,700 feet.

Location (amended) is 1,320 feet from the south and 1,120 feet from the east lines of 1-LL-TCRR.

The field formerly produced from several Canyon zones; however, all have been consolidated into one pay.

Traffic Safety July 4 Urged By T S A

Austin, Tex.—According to the Texas Safety Association, nationwide traffic fatality projections for the July Fourth Holiday are the lowest in almost 25 years.

TSA President Edwin B. Locke today noted that Texas motorists can help keep the toll at a minimum by buckling their safety belts, observing speed limits and paying attention to some of the hazards which accompany the energy shortage.

"While the decline of highway death and injury which has accompanied the lowering of speed limits has received wide publicity," Locke said, "some of the hazards created by the energy shortage have not attracted much attention."

He specified the increase of small cars on the highways. According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, the occupants of smaller cars involved in crashes tend to sustain more severe injuries than the occupants of larger cars.

"Small car drivers should be aware of the extra hazards they face," Locke said. "While we urge all drivers to buckle up and drive defensively, drivers of sub-compact should be doubly cautious."

Locke also noted the sharp increase in the presence of gas-saving motorcycles on the road today and the corresponding increase in cycle-car accidents. He urged drivers to be on the lookout for two-wheeled vehicles, and to accord them the normal driving courtesies.

Some drivers, Locke said, continue to put themselves and others in extreme danger by taking along an extra can of gasoline in the car. "Trying to beat the fuel shortage by transporting gasoline anywhere besides the fuel tank is playing with dynamite," he said.

Even in "safety cans" gasoline vapors can leak, ready to explode with the introduction of the tiniest spark.

The National Safety Council has predicted that 450 to 550 persons will die in traffic accidents over the holiday period beginning at 6:00 p.m. Wednesday, July 3, and ending at midnight Sunday, July 7. The last comparable July Fourth Holiday in Texas was in 1972 when 80 people died in traffic accidents.

Garment Care And 'Hang Tags'

by John L. Hill, Attorney General Austin, Tex.—Most of us are trying to get the maximum from every dollar we spend these days. But attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division note that it's not only the AMOUNT of a product you get for your money, but the QUALITY of that product that determines if you made a good buy.

That's why it's important to shop carefully before making a purchase, they suggest.

One area in which quality is an especially important criterion is when you are purchasing either ready-made clothing or fabrics by the yard for home sewing.

Some protection for consumers is offered by the Federal Trade Commission's Textile Fiber Product Identification Act, which requires all ready-made or yard-good items to have a label noting the fiber content.

In 1972, another FTC rule, the Care Labeling Trade Regulation, went into effect. This regulation requires all ready-mads and yard-goods to carry labels advising the consumer of proper fabric care. Typical labels may advise "Dry Clean Only," "Hand Wash in Cool Water," or give other specific instructions which make it easier for consumers to know how to care for fabrics after they get them home.

Most "store bought" clothes have been carrying such hang-tags for some time. The FTC Bureau of Consumer Protection reports, however, that some stores selling yard-goods have not yet begun to implement the FTC directives and that others do not routinely supply such care labels unless they are requested by the consumer.

And even these efforts do not assure the consumer that an item will stand up to normal wear-and-tear. Complaints about ready-made garments that have reached the files of many consumer agencies include: dress seams that pull out after one washing; buttons that fall off expensive suits; uneven hems; and trimmings that fade onto a garment.

Complaints about yard-goods include the tendency of some fabrics to "pick," "fuzz," or ravel; to trap body heat and not allow for evaporation of perspiration; and to stretch at stress points.

Garment industry experts suggest that persons planning to shop for ready-made clothes or to make their own familiarize themselves with the following marks of well-made clothing:

—Fabrics should be cut with, not against, the grain and fabrics featuring plaids, stripes, checks, or designs should be carefully matched at seams.

—Seams should be stitched securely not just basted in, and should be wide enough for any alterations that may be needed in the future. Seam edges should be pinked, overcast, or taped to prevent raveling.

—Linings, facings, and trimmings should take the same type of care as the fabric itself and should be securely sewn to the garment.

—Hems and facings should not be visible from the right side of the garment.

—Buttonholes should be bound or stitched securely and of the proper size for the buttons. Too-small buttonholes show wear quickly since buttons must be forced through them and too-large buttonholes may allow buttons to come undone.

—All closings such as buttons, zippers, snaps, and grippers should be firmly sewn in the proper spot. Zippers should work easily and should be inserted without ripping the fabric.

Cool Fruity Treat Crowns A Meal

Cool to the taste; quick and easy to make — Three-Fruit Imperial adds an exciting treat to meals, whether served as salad, garnished with mayonnaise; or, as a dessert reward dressed with prepared whipped topping. Layers of apricot halves, pear halves and sliced bananas go a long way layered in Jell-O lime gelatin — the refreshing enhancer. Most likely canned fruits and fruit-flavor gelatin are among the basics in your cupboard, so it's a snap to prepare this versatile loaf mold anytime.

Three-Fruit Imperial

1 can (16 oz.) apricot halves 2 cups boiling water
1 can (16 oz.) pear halves 2 bananas, sliced
2 packages (3 oz. each) lime flavor gelatin

Drain apricots and pears, reserving 1½ cups syrup. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in measured syrup. Arrange apricot halves in a 9x5-inch loaf pan; add a layer of pear halves and top with sliced bananas. Pour gelatin over fruits. Chill at least 6 hours — or overnight. Unmold. Garnish, if desired, with prepared whipped topping and cherries to serve as dessert; or, garnish with mayonnaise to serve as salad. Makes about 8 cups or 10 servings.

news suggest that you also (1) check all labels for fiber content and fabric care BEFORE purchasing, (2) try on all ready-made items for a correct fit, (3) get any guarantee in writing, and (4) check in advance on a store's return policy (some yard-goods, especially, cannot be returned.)

If you have a consumer problem, call our Consumer Protection Division, your county or city attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—"Trot on down" to the turkey market for this week's best buy, one authority says.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Turkey supplies this year are expected to be 6% above 1973. Big birds are generally the best buy—you can serve a family of five or six several different meals from a large turkey," the specialist noted.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in greatest supply at lowest prices include oranges, bananas, cantaloupes, watermelons, pineapples, cabbage, squash, sweet corn, okra, green beans, carrots, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions, Mrs. Clyatt said.

Potatoes are still lower than normal supply, and prices remain relatively high, she said.

At meat counters, look for best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steak and roasts, and rump roasts.

"Pork values include smoked hams, picnic, shoulder roasts and steaks, and end-cut loin roasts and chops," the specialist reported.

The economy-quality egg value continues to be grade A, large-size eggs.

Consumer Watchwords: In choosing fruits and vegetables, handle them carefully. Rough handling causes spoilage. Consumers eventually pay for this when the retailer must sell at a price high enough to cover such loss.

Home Eye Test For Pre-Schoolers

College Station, Tex.—One in every 20 preschool-age children in the U. S. has a vision problem. But help is now available for these children, according to one authority.

Dr. Barbara Sears, health education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reported the Home Eye Test Kit which parents can use to do a vision screening of their preschoolers at home is now available.

The kit is free from the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness, 3617 Fannin St., Houston, Texas 77094, and is also available in Spanish.

"Any vision screening only indicates that a child may have a visual defect," Dr. Sears said.

"Vision screening is not diagnostic and does not take the place of a professional eye examination," the specialist said.

But the Home Eye Test Kit is the chance to locate children who have never had their vision tested, who show no outward signs of eye or vision abnormality, but will show readily in a screening that they are near-sighted, far, they are using only one eye effectively, or that they can 'read' the chart with each eye separately but not with both eyes together," the specialist explained.

The Home Eye Test Kit includes a scale version of the E chart, directions for training the child to take the test, for giving the test, and for interpreting test results.

A report form, to be returned to the Society, asks the parent whether the child passed the test, and if not, whether an appointment has been made for an eye examination, and with whom.

"We hope this will be an inducement for parents to obtain early visual care for their young children," Dr. Sears said.

County Ag. Agent's Column

By Jerry Swift

It Was A No-Good Month

Texas had 67% of its 1974 screw-worm cases to date in May. During May, 590 cases of the voracious pasture pest were identified by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Mission Lab technicians. Going into the month there had been 282 cases identified since January 1.

Only two previous Mays had been worse—two years ago when 4,197 cases were turned up and 1962 when the all-time record for the month was set with 6,308. Sixty-six counties reported one or more cases led by Webb again with 81. It was the third straight month and the fourth time in five months that Webb County has had the dubious distinction of being the screwworm capital of the nation.

Other leaders were Jim Hogg with 42, Starr 41, Dimmit 39, La-Salle 37, Hidalgo 36, Duval 24, Live Oak 20, Zavala, Bee and Medina, 16 each; Willacy and Brooks, 13 each, and Frio and Kenedy 10 apiece.

Nueces and Aransas were the only South Texas counties without a case reported during the month.

May's 590 outbreaks compare to 176 the month before and to only 54 a year ago.

"It could get rougher," says Dr. M. E. "Cotton" Meadows, Jr., director of Mission Lab, "especially if we have another bad year for Gulf Coast ear ticks like 1973."

Extension Service Entomologist James A. Deer, Weslaco, predicts just that—a heavy infestation of Gulf Coast ticks this summer and early fall.

These ticks inhabit the ears of large animals. After engorging they drop to the ground leaving a large wound ready for the screwworm fly. More than 75% of the 8,913 screwworm cases in Texas last year were identified in South Texas. Some 80% of these were in tick-related wounds in the ears of cattle.

About the only protection available against ear ticks, says Deer, is to spray or dip cattle on a regular basis, every two weeks if possible. Smears applied directly to the ears of the animal provide short-term protection also.

Heaviest tick infestations were expected in July, August and September, Deer warned.

Screwworms Flock To Navels

Until tick season arrives most screwworms are being found in navel wounds on newborn calves. Meadows said that if livestock producers would give special attention to the following five points the continuing battle against the pest

Mrs. Ester Bumgardner is Bible School director and invites all local children and those visiting to be there bright and early Monday morning.

Crop Reports From Farmers Needed

In early July, over 24,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production questionnaire from Charles Caudill, Agricultural Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

Information from this survey will be used to determine harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the state of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas, and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. Texas covers such a wide area that state totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry—agriculture. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

would be much more effective:

1. Carefully check animals for infested wounds on a regular basis.
2. Submit samples from all infestations to the Mission Lab, Box 969, Mission, Texas, for positive identification.
3. Treat the navels of newborn animals and all other wounds with an approved organophosphate smear or spray.
4. Watch treated animals until the wounds are dry and danger of screwworm infestation has passed.
5. Spray or dip animals regularly and make certain their ears are well saturated.

Meadows warns producers not to drop worms on the ground once they are removed from wounds. "They should be killed immediately. Screwworms normally drop from the host animal and burrow into the ground to pupate before emerging as adult flies. Allowing them to drop on the ground while still alive only makes it easier for them to continue their life cycle."

Sterile Fly Drops

Nearly a billion sexually active but sterile flies were dispersed in May over four states and the Republic of Mexico. Texas was showered with 525-million. Arizona received 80-million, California 3-million and New Mexico 2-million.

Mexico received 371-million, ranging from 172-million dropped on Sonora to 1,500,000 on Baja California Norte.

The total of flies dispersed in 1974, after first being exposed to the sterilizing cesium 137 rays in the Mission Lab irradiator stands at 4.15-billion through the end of May.

How To Grow Your Own Avocado Plant . . .

1. Wash seed in tepid water, removing all pulp.
2. Suspend seed (broad end down) a little way into a water-filled jar by driving three tooth-picks into the sides for support. The water should cover about 1/2 inch of seed.
3. Place in warm location—out of direct sunlight. Add water as needed. When seed starts to crack it is ready to start sprouting; a mature seed will begin to sprout in two to six weeks. Be patient, sometimes it takes longer. Roots will form; then a stem will grow out the top of the seed.
4. When main stem reaches a height of six to seven inches, cut it back midway between top and bottom to prevent plant from producing just one straight, spindly stalk.
5. When roots are thick, and cut stem has resprouted, the plant is ready for potting. Start in a clean terra cotta pot with a top diameter of 10 1/2 inches. The avocado prefers a rich, humus-type soil.
6. Leave the seed half exposed when you plant the avocado.
7. Feed with liquid plant food about a week before planting, and then about every three months. Always water plant with tepid water.
8. Treat your avocado plant like any other houseplant: a little sun, but not direct sunlight, a little water as the soil needs it, and your beautiful green avocado plant will flourish.

TAKE TIME FOR Beauty

I believe in doing two things at once. It puts me ahead time-wise. And beauty-wise!

In my travels as National Beauty Advisor to Sears, Roebuck and Co., I've found that women everywhere are busier than ever, involved with their families, careers, community activities—and short on beauty time! But, there's a solution.

For example, try doing automatic shape-ups as you go about your daily chores. Pull in your stomach muscles while driving, buttering the breakfast toast, pushing a grocery cart or typing.

ENGINEERING FOR A BETTER WORLD

Your automobile is changing. As we have become concerned with pollution and safety, new devices are being added to your car. Many of these innovations have been designed by electrical engineers.

Electronically controlled windshield wipers, electronic ignition and the ability to make a diagnostic inspection of your car at your service station are some of the more recent electrical improvements that are available on many car models. Mr. Robert Hood, speaking at a recent technical session on automotive electronics sponsored by the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, noted that the "success of these...controls has been central to the advance of electronics in automobiles because they represent a transfer of trust into the automotive electronic environment."

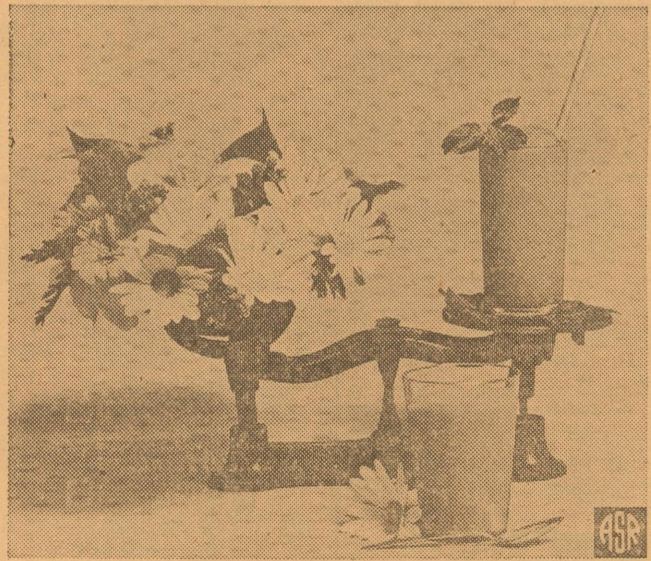

The newest device adopted by U.S. auto manufacturers is electronic fuel injection. While previously used in some European models, it is now being utilized by a domestic producer. First marketed in 1968, this system of electronically regulating gas flow has received increased attention because of the new federal emission standards.

Autos run on energy created by a mixture of gas and air. If there is too much gas present, hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide are emitted in the exhaust. Too much air in the mixture promotes high temperatures and excessive nitrous oxide is given off. Electronic fuel injection constantly monitors the mixture to make sure that they are in the proper proportions. While other devices can produce the same emissions standard, electronic fuel injection works more efficiently and can produce up to 10% better gas mileage.

More changes in your car can be expected in the near future. According to Mr. Hood, these devices will create a car "which is safer, more economical, and more responsive to the driver's needs."

PEANUTRITIOUS PARTY FOODS

It's always fun to give a party for small children — because they're such fun themselves. Just be sure that there's plenty of ice cream and cake and plenty of prizes!

The classic party games are as much fun today as they were years ago... pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey, musical chairs, bean bag races and the peanut hunt still bring joy and happiness to young children. And so do the prizes. Have one for the high scorer and one for the low scorer in every game.

Although a party is more a matter of mood than food, the appropriate foods and the backgrounds for serving them contribute to the gaiety of the occasion. Wise mothers will provide nutritious party foods for their young guests. Peanuts are popular with children of all ages and they are a must for any party menu. Peanuts are one of the most nutritious foods known. Even snack quantities supply large amounts of protein, niacin, riboflavin and other important food elements.

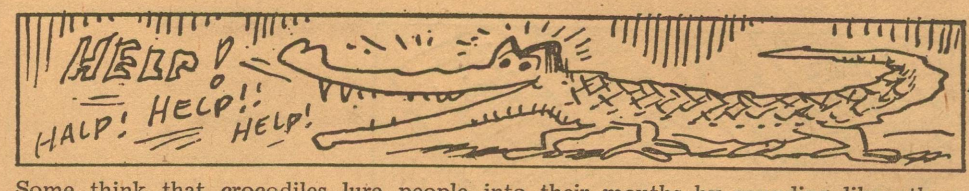

Peanuts are delicious as they are, or when used as a recipe ingredient. Mold your favorite ice cream into a ring and top with chopped peanuts. Nutty Sweet Potato Cake is a luscious combination of ingredients. This basic cake recipe has the additional bonus of shredded raw sweet potatoes, seedless raisins and chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts. The result is a moist, tender cake with an unusual flavor and texture.

Try this delicious recipe at your next party for the young set... and be sure to have plenty of Planters Cocktail Peanuts on hand for nutritious nibbling.

NUTTY SWEET POTATO CAKE
2½ cups unsifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 cup (2 sticks) margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
4 egg yolks
2 tablespoons grated lemon peel
¾ cup water
2 cups loosely packed shredded raw sweet potatoes
1 cup dark seedless raisins
½ cup chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Confectioners' sugar

Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; set aside. In a large bowl, combine softened margarine, brown sugar and egg yolks. Cream mixture until very light. Mix in lemon peel. Alternately add sifted dry ingredients and water, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Stir in sweet potatoes, raisins and Planters Cocktail Peanuts then fold in egg whites. Pour batter into greased and floured 10-inch Bundt pan or 9-inch tube pan. Bake at 350°F. for 1 hour, or until done. Cool in pan about 10 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack. NEWS OF Travel
GERMANY—A TRAVEL VALUE AT ANY TIME

Variety is the basis of Germany's charm for visitors. From the North and Baltic Seas to the Alps, almost every 30 miles the country presents a new face. One may stop and look, or keep moving for a more alluring sight, which one is sure to find: natural scenery, historic settings, quaint folkways. There is something for everybody here.

While other countries in Europe have a single city destination for most tourists, Germany has more than a dozen. Each has its own facets and personality and an infinite variety of entertainment is constantly on tap: concert, opera, ballet, theater, art exhibitions and other cultural delights, as well as the glittering nightlife of the cafe, cabaret and discotheque.

Germany lends itself to touring, thanks to its superabundance of attractions and activities for visitors at any time of year. The many and varied special events offered during the next few months include a summer-long festival of concerts, drama and ballet in the magnificent gardens of Herrenhausen Palace in Hannover; the celebrations of the 700th anniversary of the founding of Rothenburg/Tauber, the medieval jewel town on the Romantic Road, from May to September; the World Cup Football championship matches, from June to July; the German Derby in Hamburg in July; the world-renowned Wagner opera festival in Bayreuth from July to August; Grand Prix racing at Nuerburging in August; and Munich's annual Oktoberfest, from September to October.

For winter visitors, there is the best possible skiing and all other cold-weather diversions in such famed, snow-sure areas as Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Berchtesgaden and Mittenwald.

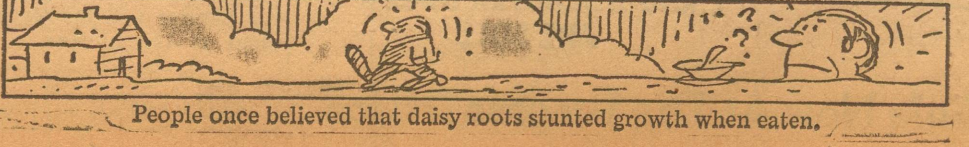

A must for every visitor to Europe is a trip up or down the Rhine, one of the world's most storied rivers. There are cathedrals, vineyards, castles, the federal capital at Bonn, fortresses, ancient robbers' lairs and great cities.

Of the 21,000 castles and palaces throughout Germany, many have been converted into hotels, where a tourist may spend an unusual holiday amid medieval surroundings, but in 20th century comfort. In deluxe resort hotels or in country inns, the visitor is assured of hospitality and cleanliness in the German tradition.

Despite recent publicity headlining the rising prices in the big cities of Europe, most of Germany's attractions are still bargains by American standards. Many hotels and restaurants throughout the country have made rate adjustments and/or special group tour arrangements for American travelers, and various German cities are also cooperating to lower costs for visitors. Aachen, Berlin, Hamburg, Heidelberg, Munich, Nuremberg and Stuttgart all offer weekend programs or special passes with advantageous discounts.

LET'EM EAT SHRIMP

You can scrimp and skimp—and still eat shrimp. That's the good news for your food budget. Because it is plentiful right now, the cost is moderate and you can afford to serve shrimp often to your family.

In fact, shrimp is becoming an increasingly good buy because a heavy import is keeping supplies up and prices down.

Cleaned, breaded, packaged frozen shrimp, in particular, is being sold at very attractive prices, according to the National Fisheries Institute. These crusty little crustaceans can contribute glamor to a quick, inexpensive and highly nutritious meal.

Here's a delicious example that's energy-saving, because the rice and shrimp can be cooked in the oven at the same time, and time-saving because the shrimp is already breaded and ready for cooking:

Shrimp-Around-The-Rice

- 2 cups cooked rice
- 3/4 cup shredded sharp natural Cheddar cheese (3 ounces)
- 3/4 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 package (1 lb.) frozen breaded shrimp
- Bottled meat-and-fish sauce

Combine rice, cheese and olives; stir in egg. Chill 1 hour. Shape into 4 or 5 rounded mounds on buttered cookie sheet; make a depression in center of each. Brush with butter. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare frozen shrimp as directed on package. To serve: Place a rice mound on each plate. Holding by tail end, arrange shrimp around rice mounds so that curved part is hooked over rim of mounds. Fill depressions in rice mounds with sauce. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Serve with peas, crusty French bread and fresh garden salad for a gourmet meal. Shrimp will never put a crimp in your style.

Austin, Texas.—A flood of Mexican aliens, estimated at more than a million a year, is pouring into Texas, according to a new Texas Good Neighbor Commission report. More than half the illegal entrants cross the Rio Grande into Texas.

Good Neighbor Commission said the number of such entries is greater than the total number of immigrants who entered the U. S. legally from all the countries of the world.

Last year, the GNC noted, 575,000 deportable Mexican aliens were found in the U. S., and immigration official figure one escapes for every one apprehended.

Sophisticated smuggling techniques aid the crossings.

Immigrations have a social and economic impact in virtually all regions, since the aliens move on to metropolitan areas all over the U. S. in search of better jobs and safety from arrest.

Top AFL-CIO officials promptly called for tough new state laws making it an offense to hire illegal aliens, punishable by stiff fines or prison terms.

Democrats To Delay

Democrats are still in a dither about whether they should "recess" their September 17 state convention until September 19 to avoid a conflict with a high Jewish holy day.

A rules change to allow the delay will be aired at a special meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin on July 16th.

If hotel rooms can be made available September 19, SDEC will consider the change (to keep the convention from falling on Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year). But a three-fourth majority is necessary to order the rules amendments.

Appointments . . .

Clyde Johnson of Bulverde and San Antonio was named by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Water Quality Board, succeeding the late Gordon Fulcher of Atlanta.

Briscoe also named E. Carl Dil-lard of Pearsall of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission. He reappointed five State Health Advisory Committee members and appointed as new Committee members Mrs. Edd Henard of Wellington, Mrs. Emma Nugent of Orange, Mrs. H. L. Long of Kilgore, Mrs. Marie Bynum of Longview, Rogers Wilson of Austin, W. W. Manley of Terrell, Rev. Claude Black of San Antonio, Domingo Pena of Corpus Christi, Ernest Coker Jr. of Conroe, Ronnie Boules of Pecos and Ed Baker of Arlington.

Attorney General's Opinions

Atty Gen. John Hill held a newspaper's donating free space to an official's column when he is a candidate for re-election is not a campaign contribution under the law.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—A county commissioner may not be paid for serving as appointed lawyer for an indigent defendant.

—Texas Water Development Board has a duty to approve or disapprove plans for proposed levees along any stream subject to floods or overflows.

—An appointed attorney who represents both an indigent criminal defendant in district court and a juvenile in juvenile court the same day may not receive more than one fee.

Welfare Rolls Decline

Fewer Texans got welfare benefits last year, the Department of Public Welfare reported.

The department's annual report showed Old Age Assistance was down from an average of 210,000 monthly in 1972 to 182,000 in 1973.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children declined from a peak of 121,588 in February 1973 to 118,681 families in July.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court held unconstitutional a new state law regulating juke boxes and other coin-operated amusement machines.

Attorney General Hill called on the U. S. Supreme Court to accelerate a Texas case challenging impoundment of water pollution funds by President Nixon.

Austin, San Antonio and Lower Colorado River Authority called on the Third Court of Civil Appeals to require the Texas Railroad Commission to force Lo Vaca Gathering Company to live up to its gas supply contracts.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a life sentence given a Dallas man for assault to murder a police officer.

A hearing was set in the Supreme Court for July 17 on whether two clerical sisters can get back $100,000 and 7,500 acres of land they gave to the Stephens County Museum, Inc.

The high court ordered the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals to take another look at adequacy of a $4,146 damage award given a Van Zandt County man who was bitten on the hand by a neighbor's hog.

Oil Allowable Again Set 100%

The statewide oil allowable for July was fixed by the Railroad Commission, for the 18th straight month, at a 100% level.

Major crude oil buyers asked for 3,843,362 barrels of oil daily in July, a decrease of 36,087 from June.

Commission Chairman Jim Langdon pointed out that the U. S. still imports 1.5 billion barrels of crude annually—a "very long way" from self-sufficiency.

Exceptions to the 100% order were East Texas and Kelly-Snyder fields which were restricted to 86% production.

Beautification Awards Made

Seven cities received Governor's Community Achievement Awards for outstanding community beautification projects during the last year.

Winning cities were Stanton (under 2,500); Eastland (2,501-5,000); Athens and Jacksonville (5,001-10,000); Lufkin (10,001-20,000); New Braunfels (20,001-50,000) and San Antonio (over 6,000).

Eighty-six communities submitted entries in the competition. Awards were made at the seventh annual meeting of the Beautify Texas Council here.

Budget Hearings Start

Hearings of the 1976-77 state budget—the first to use the new zero-base system—are under way.

Some of the early requests by state agencies reviewed by the Legislative Budget Board and the governor's office are running almost twice current standing.

Requests, under the new plan, are divided into three levels—bare minimum, middle bracket and highest feasible.

Short Snorts . . .

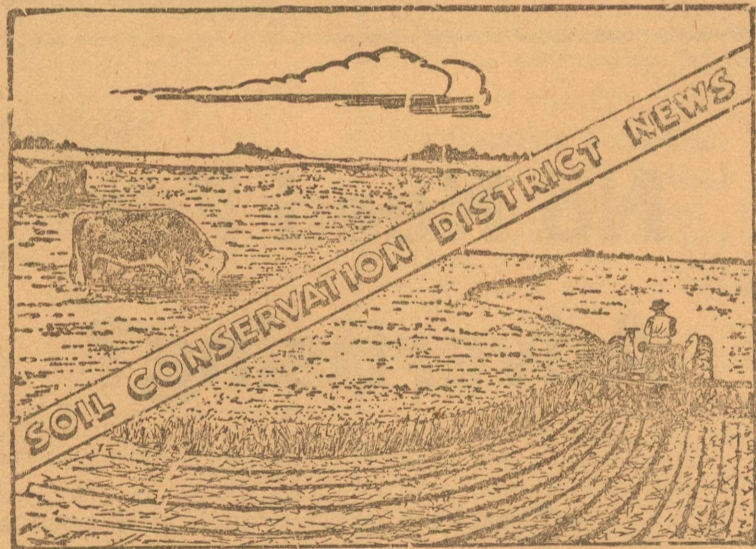

Twenty key state agencies report substantial employment increases for blacks and Mexican-Americans.

New textbooks considered for school use will go on display July 1 in 20 regional education service centers.

A $48,000 state award from the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will assist Attorney General Hill in legal research on rights of the mentally retarded.

Texas is seeking more than $17 million in federal funds to help finance public school programs for children of migrant farm workers during the 1974-75 school year.

More than 175 Texas areas are eligible for flood insurance through a new special program administered by the National Flood Insurers Association.

One of the most important conservation practices that can be applied on cultivated land is a product of that same cultivated land. Leaving ample residue and managing it correctly is essential in keeping land in a good productive condition. How the residue is managed after the needed amount is left is equally as important as leaving the right amount when needed.

Many things have changed on the farm since the middle thirties. The modern day farmer would be handicapped if he had to use the same type of implements and power that was used at that time. Also, crops planted and farming methods have changed. In that day and time it was not uncommon to see farmers rake and burn stubble left from a good corn crop or other residue producing crop. About the middle thirties the practice of burning stubble almost completely stopped.

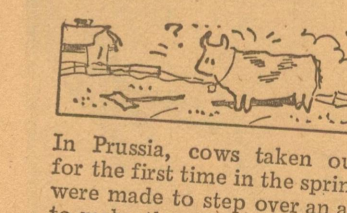

It was decided that turning the stubble under was a better way to utilize crop residue. Leaving ample residue from high residue producing crops was a vast improvement over the practice of burning. However, turning all the residue under was not the best way to manage it. Leaving most all the crop residue on top of the soil with some incorporated into the soil proved most beneficial in this area. When handled in this manner more water from rainfall, less soil loss by water and wind

SAVE ENERGY AND MONEY

You can substantially lower your electric bills every month by simply investing in a timer for your air conditioner. Everyone wants to return home from work or a shopping outing to a cool house. But leaving your air conditioner running in an unoccupied dwelling will only waste money and energy.

The engineers at Emerson Quiet Kool point out that you can keep your cool in a crisis and save money by simply installing a suitably sized timer into the circuit between the air conditioner and the electricity outlet.

Here's how it works: When you leave for work in the morning, leave your air conditioner operating but switch it off at the timer. Then set the timer to switch the air conditioner back on at about two hours before you expect to return (the time will vary—that depends on size of unit, room conditions, etc.). When you arrive home, your room will be cool and because the air conditioner has not been running continually all day, you will have saved energy and money.

There are many other ways to get more from your air conditioner according to Emerson Quiet Kool. Make sure you wash your filter at least once a month. A dirty filter causes reduced air flow. This reduced air flow can cause unit efficiency to drop as much as 6 per cent and increase your utility bills accordingly.

Should the filter become overly clogged, the evaporator coil may ice up, leading to complete loss of cooling. With this in mind, if you are just about to purchase an air conditioner, you should consider a unit with an easy to remove slide out filter.

Early in the season, clean the condenser and evaporator coils. To clean the evaporator, remove the decorative plastic front and the filter. Then vacuum clean the coil surface. To clean the condenser coil, run the vacuum cleaner brush attachment over the rear of the air conditioner. Be sure to turn off and unplug the unit before cleaning the coils.

Finally, keep blinds and curtains drawn during the hottest parts of the day, and keep doors and windows shut.

People once believed that one's blood could actually turn cold while still in the veins!

The War For Your Roses

You may never manage to come up with a rosetree like the nine-foot "Lady Banks" in Arizona that has spread itself over 5,280 square feet, but you can grow roses you can hold your head over, once you solve these three thorny problems.

Planting Your Roses. For fast, easy growth and uncramped roots, start with a hole 12 inches deep and 18 inches in diameter. Loosen the bottom soil and form a small cone of earth in the center. Carefully fan out the roots, place the bush over the cone and fill in soil over the roots to about four inches from the top of the hole. Tamp firmly so the roots are well anchored, and water thoroughly. Fill the hole completely and hill the soil one or two inches up the stock of the bush. If this soil settles, rebuild it.

Protecting Your Roses. Keep them well cultivated. Use a fertilizer high in phosphorus and water them thoroughly once a week. A mulch covering reduces the amount of cultivating and watering necessary. Roses are often attacked by aphids, leafhoppers, mites and scales, but they can be saved from these invasions with a spray of insecticide, containing Diazinon, such as the highly effective all-purpose insecticide called Spectracide.

Pruning Your Roses. Pruning

—removing dead and diseased areas—stimulates growth and helps prolong the life of a rose. Use a sharp pair of pruning shears, and hold them so that the cutting blade is toward the part of the stem you are leaving. Don't cut more than one-quarter inch above a bud, and save as much of the healthy portion of the stem as possible. It is better to cut off too little than too much. When removing blooms, it's best to cut just above the topmost spray of fine leaves.

If you heed these rosy tips, everything in the garden could come up roses!

Krueger Expresses Thanks To Voters

Less than three weeks after his primary election victory in which he won the Democratic nomination for U. S. Congress in the 21st District, Bob Krueger returned to Eldorado (last Thursday) to personally thank Schleicher County voters for their overwhelming support at the polls.

A former university administrator who is now an independent businessman and rancher, Krueger entered politics for the first time last December when he announced his intention to seek "serious national responsibility" and pledged to "earn the trust of the people I hope to represent."

Krueger's person-to-person campaign style and his insistence on running on his own record, rather than on endorsements, paid off when the independent Democrat carried 22 counties in the 32-county district, garnering almost 30,000 votes for Krueger's nomination.

In the 31 counties outside of Bexar County, Krueger won 59% of the vote. Since the primary election, former opponent State Sen. Neilson Wolff of San Antonio, as well as many of his supporters, have pledged to support the Democratic nominee.

Promising to continue his efforts to earn the voters' trust by being completely open about his personal and financial background, Krueger said, "I intend to run the same kind of positive campaign on my own merits through November."

"Letting the people know exactly where I stand on the important issues that concern us all, as well as being receptive to individualized problems—this is the essence of my campaign for serious national responsibility," Krueger asserted.

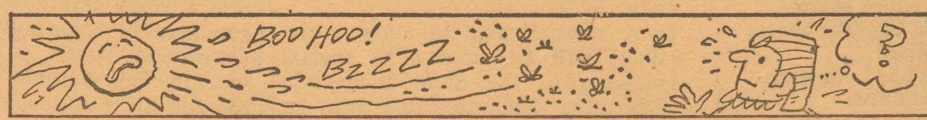

NEWS OF FASHION

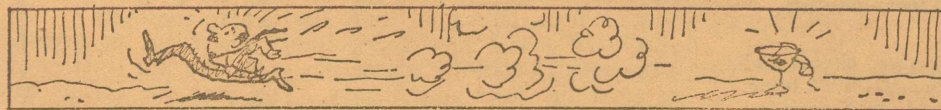

The print: marvelously catty. The look: fabulously feline. Wrap sleeveless top, side tied at the waist, pairs with shapely pants for this one-piece party pajama. Matson has created this two-part evening story in a fascinating new fabric combining, for the first time, the luxury of "Qiana" nylon with the figure-conscious comfort and flexibility of "Lycra" spandex.

A CASE OF BALANCE

You don't have to be a scientist to realize that these tons of rock are held in check by perfect balance. You wouldn't want to be sitting nearby if they weren't!

This kind of balance results in inertia. There is another state of being that results in sound initiative and worthwhile action.

You've heard men speak of a balanced background, a balanced education, a balanced life. They're usually referring to the fact that no important element has been ignored or neglected.

Religious sincerity is one necessity for this kind of balance. It cannot take the place of any of the other essentials. Nor can anything else take its place.

The Church is constantly helping us gain—and keep—our balance!
