Absentee Voting Off To Slow Start

The First Democratic Primary is set for May 4th, and absentee voting got under way this week.

Success printers turned out the ballots last week and delivered them to County Democratic Chairman Dick Preston, who in turn sent some to the Clerk's office in the court house for absentee voting.

Over the week end, ballots were mailed to 10 voters who had requested them. But Monday afternoon, there had not yet been anyone to vote in person in County Clerk J. P. Enoch's office.

Absentee voting will be under way for about three weeks, and presumably interest will pick up in the days ahead.

If for any reason you plan to be out of town on Saturday, May 4th, you may go by the County Clerk's office and cast your absentee vote, any time during office hours.

Sample Ballots Available

Sample ballots, printed on pink and blue paper, are available free to voters, here at The Success office and at the County Clerk's office. Also, on page 6 of this issue we have a sample ballot printed.

Voters are urged to study the sample ballot carefully ahead of time in order to be more fully informed. However, please remember that you CANNOT take a sample ballot with you to consult when you go to the polls to vote. To do so would violate the election code.

Nursing Home News

Easter week was a busy week for everyone here. We had a lot of out of town visitors as well as home town folks. It was nice to see all of you.

Mrs. McCalla was visited by Mrs. Christian, her daughter from San Angelo. Mrs. Garnett's son Harold from Sonora came by. Mrs. Parker's daughter Irene Mills from Big Lake came on Friday. Mrs. Flossie Crawford's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McNeil, came from Odessa.

Talking about a busy week, Sam McGinnes has been our busiest resident. His daughter Mrs. Walter Low and family from Lamessa visited. Wednesday, Ben Hext, Fred Watson and Dick Bearce came to play dominoes. Friday Sam was invited over to P. S. Dudley's for dominoes with Ben Hext and Fred Watson. Sam said he had a very good time.

We want to thank Brownie troop 71 for the pretty favors they brought by last week. A thanks also goes to our Auxiliary for the lovely tray favors on Easter Sunday.

Bingo winners this past week were Mrs. Nellie Christian who won two games. Other winners were Mrs. Eugenia McWhorter and Mrs. Gertrude Nixon.

The Primitive Baptist Church had charge of our Easter services that were enjoyed by all.

We sure enjoy the flowers that Mrs. Winnie Jackson sends us every month. Our residents enjoy them so much. That's all. Come see us! —Rep.

Rainfall Still Lags

Over on page 5, we have the cumulative rainfall table. It shows that for last month (March) the rain gauges had an average of only 97-hundredths of an inch of moisture recorded. That followed the bone-dry months of January and February.

So we seem to be in a Spring-time drought.

Rain has been light, too, during the current month of April. Last week, we have a brisk shower at 2:30 on morning, which left only three- or fourth-tenths of rain over a scattered area.

Shower Set Saturday For Miss Dempsey

A Gift Coffee honoring Miss Elaine Dempsey, bride-elect of Edward Smith, is set for this Saturday, April 20th, in the home of Mrs. Billy McCravey. Calling time is from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m.

Hostesses with Mrs. McCravey will be Mmes. Leroy Hanusch, J. E. Hill, Granvil Hext, Elton McGinnes, Ronnie Mittel, C. J. Niblett, Earl Yates, E. H. Nixon, Jerroll Sanders, Clifford Schooley, Russell Sallee, Damon Wagoner, Cramer Sofge, H. B. White, and Jack Griffin.

Post Script

Democratic Primary Nears

As is noted in an adjoining column, absentee voting is now under way for the First Democratic Primary set for May 4th. We have both some local and higher races which should bring out a sizeable vote, here in Schleicher county as well as over the State of Texas.

On the local level, we have contests for County Judge and for both Commissioners who filed for re-election.

State Representative Jim Nugent of Kerrville has Dr. Charles Danner of Utopia as an opponent.

There are six aspirants running for 21st District Congressman, in which we have the first "open" race in a generation. Incumbent O. C. Fisher announced his retirement this year after serving in the office for 32 years. Congressman's pay has quadrupled from $10,000 a year the job paid back in 1942 when Fisher won his first term to the present $42,500 a year. Some economists point out that the "fringes" are now worth an extra $10,000 in addition to the base salary.

The 21st Congressional District is now much more spread out than it was in 1942 when Tom Green and adjacent counties comprised it. Now, it stretches from northern Bexar county west to Alpine and Fort Stockton. Some of the candidates will apparently spend the equivalent of several times the annual salary on their campaigns for an initial term. No doubt the top two vote-getters will have to face each other in the run-off primary which comes early in June.

On the state level, Mrs. Frances "Sissy" Farenthold is running against Dolph Briscoe who is completing his initial two-year term. Mrs. Farenthold scored an upset two years ago by going into the run-off governor's race with Dolph Briscoe instead of Ben Barnes. The gubernatorial winner this year will have a clear four-year office term ahead.

With our subscribers: Ray L. Ballew's new address is 2314 Rio Grande in San Angelo. Mrs. H. E. Tyler's new address is 3500 Red Bluff, apt. 136, Houston, Texas 77503. She is the former Vicki Preston. James A. Griffin subscribed at 1516 San Mateo, Hobbs, New Mexico 88240.

Driving around on Easter Sunday afternoon this writer observed several groups of little folks carrying Easter baskets engaged in a hunt for hidden Easter eggs, probably chaperoned by their Sunday School teachers.

It is a nice custom and this writer first learned about it over 50 years ago when he came to Texas from Minnesota where they don't have Easter egg hunts.

Just this past week I had a phone call from my sister up there and she said they had just had a big snow storm, but at the time she called she said, "It has started melting off."

No, you just couldn't go out of doors and hide eggs in that kind of weather, now, could you?

Talking about the coming Democratic Primary election—

We are printing a sample copy of your ballot on page 6 of this issue. At the bottom of this ballot is a sort of straw vote—"Do you favor legalized horse racing in Texas?" You can mark it FOR or AGAINST.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Block have moved to Eldorado from Christoval. They have moved their mobile home to 508 Callender Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gunstead and Gwendolyn and Billy Charles went to Six Flags Saturday, returning home early Sunday morning. They report most drivers still adhering to the 55 mile speed limit and more evidence of the gasoline shortage in the North Texas area.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stanford and family of Shreveport, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Moeller and Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kingsbury of San Marcos all visited here over Easter with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mece and Mr. and Mrs. Truett Stanford.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Clark visited over the week end with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Clark at LaPryor. They were met there by their other son, Mr. and Mrs. Mickie Clark of Charlotte.

Here Are The Eldorado A's Ball Team Members

ON FRONT ROW: D. Bellman, M. Martinez, A. Torres, A. Martinez; 2nd row: F. Pina, S. Garza, J. Martinez, M. Jasso, J. Fuentes, A. Ussery; 3rd Row: G. Arispe, D. Martinez, O. Martinez, U. Hernandez, A. Gauna, F. Martinez. Team members Ray Guerrero and D. Halbrtt are not shown.

Now this is not an official or legal vote. It is only an expression from Texas voters and the results can influence Texas state legislators when the matter comes up for them to vote on it later on.

Texans love their fine horses, and it has more rodeos than any one else, and it is, perhaps, the ideal state for legalized horse racing and pari-mutuel betting. We had both for a time back in the 1930's.

The opposition seems to point out that "The Baptists Are Against It!" Now I don't believe that. I think there are just as many horse lovers among the Baptists as there are among Methodists, Presbyterians and other denominations.

And many of them will vote for it. It is not a religious question.

Why not cast your vote IN FAVOR of it?

—ps—

Soon we will be approaching the month of May with high school graduation and all of its attendant festivities.

We assume that the local Riding Club has plans for Junior Rodeo to be staged sometime around the first of June.

—ps—

As far as we know the old Eldorado (Hoover) Drug Store seems to be closed for good!

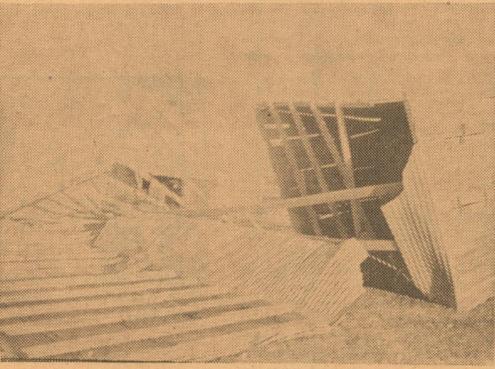

I miss the old coffee bar.

"Baby Tornado" Did This Last Week

For Eldorado, on Wednesday of last week, it was just an "ordinary" hot day. For Mrs. L. T. Wilson at her home two miles southeast of town on the McIntosh road it was just another extra hot day with extra strong winds blowing constantly from the south. There were no weather alerts or signs of unusual weather.

Mrs. Wilson had gone to town about 5:00 p.m. for shopping but when she returned home at 6:00 p.m., she found this large barn wrecked and turned completely upside down!

She was so stunned and excited that she called a neighbor, Mrs. Woodward to come. She quickly came.

A short time later Mrs. Woodward called The Success and Bill Gunstead took these Polaroid pictures about 7:15 p.m.

A chicken house close to the barn was not touched and no other damage was observed. And the property owner was here in town when it happened!

If anybody can come up with an explanation for this phenomenon, The Success will be glad to carry the reason.

Just exactly, what did it?

Revival To Start At First Baptist Church

The Rev. Kenneth Vaughan, pastor, and the congregation of the First Baptist Church invite everyone to Revival Services which get under way Monday, April 22, and continue through Sunday, the 28th. Services are set for 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Gene Stark of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, will be evangelist, and in charge of music will be Gary Bivins, music director of Immanuel Baptist Church in San Angelo.

Further details are in the church ad on page 5 of this issue.

The evangelist, Rev. Stark, is a native Texan, born and reared in the Dallas area. He graduated from Wilmer Hutchins High School in 1968, attended Baylor from 1968 until May, 1972 when he received his BA in History and English. He has been enrolled in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary since the fall of 1972.

He is married to the former Susan Callison, also a Baylor graduate (married Dec. 18, 1971) and they reside two blocks south of the seminary campus in Ft. Worth.

He served as youth director of Cottonwood Baptist Church, Lorena, Texas; music and youth director of Lakeview Baptist Church at Grand Prairie, and pastor of the Baptist church at Brandon, Texas.

Golf Tourney Set For April 20 & 21

Eldorado Golf Club Men's Tournament will be Saturday and Sunday, April 20 & 21. This tournament is for members only and all members of record on April 20th will be eligible to enter.

All entrants must qualify by Saturday night, April 20th or before except those who wish to sign up in championship flight without qualifying round.

Qualifying scores will be added to final round on Sunday, April 21st to determine winners in 1st and 2nd flights. Championship flight will be decided on 27 hole play on Sunday only. First flight will also play 27 holes on Sunday, but 2nd flight will play 18.

Chuck Adams was 1973 club champion, but will vacate the title this year by default. He has already notified all would be opponents that he will be out of town at that time. All members interested in entering this tournament sign up at club house by Friday afternoon, April 19. Entry fee $2.00.

PAR-TEE—

Congratulations to Leonard Keyes for making a hole in one on no. 7. He hit a Titleist ball with a no. 5 iron. I think this is something of a record for our course as he and Vivian had become members only a few days before. His partner was Andy Anderson.

In the Sunday Ployday Mixed Foursome April 14, the winning team was the group of Ralph Waldron, W. G. Crippin, Lum Burk, Jerry Jackson, and Ray Alexander, in a play-off with the team of Eddie Kinser, Granvil Hext, Ben Hext, and Ronnie Sauer.

The Ladies Playday will be this Thursday at 1:30 p.m. This is our regular hostess play each third Thursday of each month and also finishes the special play of the first quarter of the year.

Men, please remember April 20 & 21 is the Club Championship Tournament held each year.

A covered dish supper will be at 7:30 p.m. at the club house Saturday after the qualifying rounds.

As this reporter reflected yesterday after a terrible round of golf, this has to be good for my soul. If I ruin a meal, I can blame it on the stove; if I bump a fender, it's because some other driver is careless; if I go over my budget, it's the fault of rising prices, and if I buy a dress that is a disaster on me after I get it home, it's because my husband was waiting for me and I had to hurry. But not with golf. No matter how hard I try, I can't blame anyone but myself for a bad score.

Anyway it's lots of fun and good exercise so join us at the course any afternoon. Happy Golfing! —Rep.

Krueger Cites Position On Energy Crisis Solutions

Congressional candidate Bob Krueger released his third major position paper this week. Three weeks ago, the businessman and former educator promised to release an in-depth analysis of a national issue every week until the May 4th Democratic Primary.

"In my campaign for U. S. Congress, I'm taking extra steps to be completely open and candid with the voters of the 21st District," Krueger said.

Krueger's latest position paper is entitled, "The Energy Crisis: Its Causes and Solutions For Our Long-term Needs."

In his position paper, Krueger pinpointed "short-sightedness of the government and the oil companies"—rather than the Middle East oil embargo—as the main cause of our current energy shortage.

"Our tax system encouraged foreign exploration abroad instead of exploration at home. We pumped oil out of the ground without planning for the time when we would no longer be able to increase domestic production without increased cost," he explains.

The congressional hopeful included a checklist of seven policies for our long-term energy need:

1. We must require complete and accurate reporting of known energy resources and of consumption patterns so that intelligent policies can be decided.
2. We must not allow increases in the price of foreign oil to be deducted by the oil companies from their American taxes; and we need to restructure our tax incentives to encourage production of oil in America, rather than abroad.
3. We need to change the policies of the Federal Power Commission so that our customers in the Eastern U. S. pay the true cost of bringing their gas from Texas, and Texans pay their true costs but no more.
4. The oil industry must have sufficient profits to assure the capital for future investment in our domestic oil supply.
5. We need to encourage competitiveness in the oil industry to make sure there is no collusion in pricing.
6. We need to encourage research into alternative sources of energy.
7. Finally, we need to encourage Detroit, the utilities companies, all areas of industry and all of us consumers to use energy more wisely.

Judge Moore Addresses Lions Club Wednesday

Farmers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District are in need of a good rain whereby they can plant their crops. Good moisture at planting time is essential in getting crops off to a good start. Getting crops off to a good start helps assure good yields at the end of the crop year. However, good conservation farmers know that good yields are dependent on more than good moisture. Soil fertility and organic matter present in the soil, are very important factors in the production of good crops, so states Lloyd B. Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service.

Soils can be kept in a high productive condition if they are continuously managed properly. Most soils were in their best condition when first put in cultivation. By applying and maintaining the needed conservation cropping system in combination with all other needed conservation practices on each acre of cropland, soil can be kept in its best productive condition.

The rotation of crops whereby low residue producing crops are not planted on the same land too frequently does not constitute a conservation cropping system. Crops must be grown in combination with needed cultural and management measures to properly carry out a combination cropping system. High residue producing crops for improvement, as well as sequences in which the desired benefits are achieved with the use of such crops.

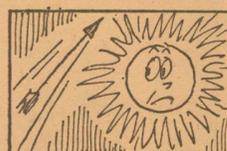

The purpose of a conservation cropping system must be fourfold: (1) meet the needs of the soil for improvement or maintenance of fertility and good physical condition; (2) protect the soil during critical periods when erosion by wind or water usually occurs; (3) aid in the control of weeds, insects and diseases, and (4) fulfill the needs and desires of the farmer for economic return.

The choice of maintaining and improving soil fertility and condition of land is made by land users. Making the right choice and doing what is needed does more than keep the soil in good condition. Crop yields are maintained at their maximum potential level or increased when soil fertility is improved and soils are kept in good physical condition. The best land with the needed farming practices carried out has always resulted in the best yields under the same climatic conditions. By applying and maintaining a conservation cropping system farmers are choosing to farm good soil high in fertility instead of poor deteriorated soil low in fertility. Water, one of the most important elements essential for plant growth, is held on the land and conserved for crop use by a good conservation cropping system. However, equally as important is the water that goes into underground water supply as a result of being held on the land by conservation practices applied and maintained. Therefore, people everywhere are benefitted by soil and water conservation.

Farmers and ranchers are the first to benefit from soil, water and plant conservation practices applied on their land. However, all the people of America are benefitted by conservation practices applied and maintained on the land. Good conservation helps to keep the streams and lakes from being filled with topsoil from any land regardless of what the land use is. Erosion from town sites, roadways and the like can also add to the pollution of lakes and streams. Lakes and streams filled with soil can become polluted to the point that they are unfit for fish and wildlife or recreational purposes. The supply of good water for human consumption and home uses, is effected by how all land is managed. The abundant supply of good wholesome food in America didn't just happen; it was brought about by good farming and ranching methods, including good soil, water and plant conservation practices.

Soil fertility and condition either improve or becomes depleted as the land is used. Unfortunately the latter is always the case if needed management practices are not planned and applied. By applying and maintaining all the needed soil, water, and plant conservation practices, the land can be kept in its maximum potential productive condition.

Arrows were shot into the air by South American Indians during an eclipse to frighten the sun into shining again. (It always seemed to work, too!)

Control Of Rabies A Major Problem

Effective community control of rabies can lead to complete eradication of the disease in Texas. The disease is fatal but by the following steps can be controlled:

1. Registration and licensing of all owned dogs.
2. Immunization of all owned dogs and cats.

3. Elimination of all stray dogs.
4. Quarantine of rabies suspects.

Through March of this year, 12 individuals have had to receive rabies vaccine (14 to 21 injections) and rabies serum. The injections carry some dangerous risks but are required when there has been definite human exposure to rabies. In 1973, fewer than eight people had to be immunized in our area.

Cage Tomatoes For Greater Yields . . .

Instead of staking and pruning tomatoes this year, use wire cages to support the plants. Cages, rather than staking and pruning, offers the Texas home vegetable gardener several advantages, including less sun burn of the fruit, fewer disease problems and higher yields, all with much less work.

The cages can be constructed from concrete reinforcing wire, hog wire or any other sturdy wire mesh that has openings of at least four to six inches and is 3 1/2 to 5 feet wide. Cut and bend the mesh material into cylinders 16 to 20 inches in diameter, fasten the ends together and snip off the bottom rung so the cages can be pushed into the ground about six inches deep for support.

When using wire cages for growing tomatoes, space the plants about 2 1/2 feet apart in the row and allow four to five feet between rows.

For home gardens plant a vining or semi-vining type tomato variety such as Homestead, Rutgers, Walter, Porter or the small fruited Red Chtry.

After tomato plants have been set out in the garden, place a wire cage over each plant and make sure it is well anchored into the ground. The plant will grow up through the cage and the wire mesh will support it. No suckering, pruning or training will be necessary. Ripe fruit can be picked through the cage openings.

Ground rot and fruit cracking are often reduced with cage grown tomatoes.

Cost of the cages will vary from 30 to 50 cents each, but they can be stored and used year after year. Certain other crops such as cucumbers and pole beans can also be grown using the wire cage method.

Quiet Appliances A Sound Investment

Have you ever noticed that characters on those slice-of-life daytime TV dramas—while constantly enmeshed in complex domestic problems—never have to make conversation over the din of blaring TVs, screaming children, whining vacuum cleaners, or sloshing dishwashers?

Let planes never roar overhead nor do trucks or motorcycles rattle the windows in the make-believe world of video drama.

The fact is, in real life, noises like these intrude on our lives every day, fraying our nerves and raising our blood pressure.

If homemakers were asked to list the sources of noise they would most like to have quieted down, the list would probably include some appliances such as the dishwasher, air conditioner, washer and dryer, and food-waste disposer.

Appliance noise is a big concern to manufacturers, too, says Jane Butel, manager of the Consumers Institute for General Electric and Hotpoint.

GE is constantly experimenting with new materials and techniques to deaden appliance noise and make the home a bit more peaceful, she says.

For example, research on room air conditioners has resulted in quieter motors, fans, and compressors, as well as better design to improve air flow and reduce noise. Most air conditioners are equipped with a low "slumber" speed for quieter nighttime operation.

Most modern dishwashers not only wash dishes a lot cleaner than they used to, but they no longer have noisy impellers, a source of irritating racket on many older models. Add to that a blanket of sound-absorbing material and isolation mechanism mounting, and you have a much quieter dishwasher than once was available.

Food-waste disposers, too, now are available with a sound-deadening urethane wrapping as well as double-throated deflectors which create a double wall of water in the throat of the disposer to reduce noise coming out the top.

Special door-mounted racks are available for dryers so that tennis shoes and stuffed toys can be dried without sounding like a tap-dancing elephant.

For the homemaker who has noisy appliances and isn't ready to replace them with newer, quieter models, Ms. Butel offers some sound advice:

—Try running them one at a time.

—Run the dishwasher while you're not in the kitchen.

—Let those appliances that can operate while you're out shopping do so.

—Consider installing carpeting or acoustical ceiling tile in the kitchen.

When you are ready to acquire a new appliance, keep quietness in mind. Generally, sound-deadening materials are more abundant on higher-priced models. It may be well worth your while to pay a little more to get a little less, if the little less you're getting is noise.

state. Granberry reported contributions and loans of $171,425 (including $22,500 of his own money) and spending of $171,425 since last summer when he began his race.

Briscoe's spending—including a $120,000 loan of his own money—was pegged at $153,754.

Frances "Sissy" Farenthold reported some $40,865 in expenditures and debts.

The effort is far below that of 1972 when Briscoe spent nearly $1.6 million in the primaries, and Mrs. Farenthold spent $672,441.

Comptroller Candidate Bob Bullock has reported spending of about $60,000 in his Democratic race, and Hugh Edburg said he has outlays of about $12,900.

Edburg acknowledged he is using about $7,000 of his own money. Bullock said he has used $12,600 from his own resources, and has $38,300 in loans from his business partner, Ken Wendler of Austin.

One of the big-spending groups so far has been the Texas Citizens Mutual Horse Racing, that reported a $7,000-cost campaign to get the issue of legalizing race track betting on primary ballots.

New Convention Goal

With the Constitutional Convention in recess, President Price Daniel Jr. has a new goal: he is aiming to wind up the revision task by May 31.

Actually, he conceded the first or second week of June is a more realistic target.

Two of the toughest articles—judiciary and general provisions (which includes the controversial right to work issue)—remain to be debated when delegates return to Austin.

They must also vote again (and muster a two-thirds majority) on the seven articles approved tentatively so far, and decide the form of submission of the constitution, and alternative proposals to voter.

Families Notified

A new state program, offering toll-free telephone service, has contacted 861 families, relaying messages on runaway children, Governor Briscoe reported.

Since last September, Briscoe said, the program, "Operation Peace of Mind," has received 1,890 calls from runaways in 42 states. The national hotline enables the runaways to relay messages to their parents from a round-the-clock, volunteer-manned center in Houston.

Migrant Office Created

A Migrant Affairs Office and Migrant Fuel Allocation Plan for Texas were set up by executive order of the governor last week.

The MAC will act as liaison with all agencies which serve migrant groups and try to identify present and future resources at federal, state and local levels to aid with problems.

The fuel program will permit migrants to obtain gasoline at 51 designated truck stops as they move north during agricultural seasons.

Short Snorts . . .

The "capitol" will "move" to Amarillo, April 27, when Sen. Max Sherman becomes governor for a day. He is senate president pro tempore.

Governor Briscoe's top aide told a Senate sub-committee on consumer affairs there may be a need for regulation of intrastate long distance calls and in cities and rural areas where none now exists.

Atty. Gen. John Hill has been asked for an opinion on whether free newspaper space devoted to signed columns by political candidates is covered by law requiring reports of campaign contributions.

Schleicher Wildcat Scheduled

Southwestern C&L Gas Corp., Garland, will drill a 5,200-foot wildcat in Schleicher county, 15 miles northeast of Eldorado, 150 feet north of a 5,563-foot failure, 1 1/2 miles south of the O'Harrow (Canyon) field, but separated by depleted producers and two miles west of the Otto (Strawn and Canyon) field, but separated by deep failures and depleted producers. It is the No. 1 O'Harrow.

Location is 810 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of 56-I-GH&SA.

The failure, Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, No. 1 Grace O'Harrow, was abandoned Sept. 20, 1965. It tested the Strawn sand through perforations at 5,076-82 feet, making gas at the rate of 1.1 million cubic feet daily, which decreased after about two months to 727,000 cubic feet daily. It flowed gas at the rate of 4.65 million cubic feet daily and recovered three feet of distillate on a drillstem test at 5,077-092 feet. A test at 5,416-27 feet recovered salt water.

LIGHT ON "BLACKMAIL"

It's a crime the way some people mistake the derivation of the word "blackmail."

In the early Scottish dialects, according to the Teacher's Scotch Information Centre, the word mail meant rent that was paid, and even in modern Scotland a tenant is still called a mailer. But northern England and Scotland were once plagued with freebooters and unpleasant Robin Hoods who extorted tribute in the form of money or cattle.

The small farmers had to pay blackmail, or "black rent," in order to secure immunity from pillage. Blackmail was presumed to have been paid in cattle, whitemail in silver.

The kind of mail that the postman delivers at your door is something else again. This word comes from the Old French term male, the leather pouch in which the letters were carried. This came into English in the 17th century, when it was still proper to speak of "a mail of letters."

And then we have the coat of mail that the knights of old wore to battle, and this particular mail, in spite of its spelling, isn't even distantly related to the other two. It is a descendant of the Old French maille, from the Latin word macula that meant "spot" or "mesh." The meaning "mesh" applied to the interwoven metal armor, while we rediscover macula as "spot" in our word immaculate, im-"without," and macula, "spot."

The many circumstances surrounding the word blackmail are obviously a many (and money) splendored thing.

Some ding-dongs believed that drinking from a bell would cure stuttering!

BREAD RISES TO THE OCCASION

When there's not enough gas to run you around, take advantage of the situation. Stay home and have fun baking oatmeal bread. Turn down the heat and switch on the oven; bread baking will warm you and the house. And the good tasting results will not only please the whole family but provide them with energy and nutrients their bodies need.

OATMEAL BREAD

1 1/2 cups boiling water 1/2 cup warm (105-115°F.) water
1 cup quick oats 2 eggs
1/2 cup Karo dark corn syrup 2 cups raisins
1/3 cup margarine 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 tablespoon salt 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
2 packages active dry yeast 6 cups (about) flour

Grease 2 (1 1/2 to 2-quart) round oven-proof casseroles. Stir together boiling water, oats, corn syrup, margarine and salt in large bowl; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved. Add to oat mixture. Beat in eggs, raisins, orange rind and allspice. Vigorously stir in flour, 1 cup at a time, until a smooth, moist dough forms. Cover. Chill 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Place chilled dough on lightly floured surface. Shape (do not knead) into round loaves with greased hands and place in prepared casseroles. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, 50 to 60 minutes. (Dough will be about even with top of casserole.) Bake in 350°F. oven 50 to 60 minutes. Remove from casseroles; cool on wire racks. Makes 2 loaves.

Spotlight on HEALTH

YOUR DENTIST'S CHECK LIST

A dental visit in time may save nine—other visits that is, and possibly large dental bills, pain, and discomfort. What does the dentist look for? Dentists interviewed tell us that tooth decay is only one of the conditions on their check list. Others include:

—Cancer of the mouth. Cancer may present no discomfort or pain at first. In appearance it may be a growth, an ulceration that does not heal, a white patch or a scaly and moist area of inflammation. The dentist can detect any abnormal areas of the mouth during his regular examinations.

—Canker sores. A canker sore is usually a single small ulcer in the lining of the mouth. It probably is caused by a virus. Certain kinds tend to persist or to come back in spite of any treatment now known.

Tooth decay is, of course, one of the first things the dentist checks for. Unless treatment is provided, decay may proceed from the enamel into the pulp of the tooth (nerves and blood vessels). When the pulp is exposed, infection is more likely to occur.

Unless there is pain, a cavity is often ignored until it becomes a deep one. A visit to the dentist twice a year is therefore essential. Many dentists will help you to remember to call for an appointment by sending a reminder note six months after the last appointment. Some do this automatically, and others on request.

—Malocclusion. The dentist will check the way in which the upper and lower

Newer Automobiles Operate Hotter

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Tex.—Recently I returned from a meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General's Consumer Protection Committee, of which I am chairman.

Discussions there pointed up the fact that dissatisfaction with auto repair jobs is a major source of consumer complaints in almost every state.

My Consumer Protection Division has on file a number of complaints about car repairs and car servicing. Some of these may involve possible violations of the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act.

But, in some instances in which a consumer complains about car repairs or servicing, he himself may be partly to blame for the necessity of such work.

Experts from Texas State Technical Institute tell me that today's car is a very different vehicle from those of the past. In 1968, with the advent of emission control devices designed to reduce pollution, cars began running about 70 degrees hotter than previously.

In addition, consumer demand for optional equipment such as air conditioning, automatic windows, and other popular devices also make cars run hotter.

Many new car owners or purchasers of recent models of used cars make the mistake of failing to read their owner's manual to learn how really different their vehicle has become. They continue to follow their customary routine maintenance habits, with the result that their cars may not perform at peak capacity—may even need costly repairs that could have been avoided.

For instance, antifreeze (now referred to as "coolant") is a virtual necessity year-round in most newer cars. Not only that, the percentage of ethylene glycol (the cooling factor in most coolants) must be much higher for newer cars.

Texas State Technical Institute experts say that failure to cool the car engine properly can result in boil-over or possibly the expense of rebuilding a burned engine.

So when a service station attendant tells you your car's problem could be solved by adding three gallons of coolant to the engine, he's not necessarily trying to sell you something you don't need—in fact he could be saving you a repair bill.

Motor oils required by newer cars also are different from those used in earlier model cars. The old "multiple viscosity" oils in general are unsuited to new cars with their higher operating temperatures. In fact, attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division have had reports of instances where the motor oil has thickened to a molasses-like sludge.

Proper lubrication of an engine would be impossible under such conditions, and extensive engine damage could result. In this case, an entire new classification of motor oil—the SE grade—has been created to withstand the new car's higher operating temperatures. Owners who ignore the need for such new oils are taking considerable risk.

Brake fluids have changed, too. The popularity of disc brakes or disc-drum combination brakes required the development of high heat brake fluid, since disc brakes operate at higher temperatures than drum brakes. Because these high heat brake fluids attract moisture from the atmosphere, experts advise that consumers never buy large containers of it for convenience or savings.

If brake fluid containing moisture is used, damage from rust in the master cylinder, lines, and cylinders could result. Again, consumer dissatisfaction might be due not to an unsatisfactory product but lack of information on how to use it.

By reading their owner's manual and learning about products especially designed for newer car engines, consumers who purchase a late model car perhaps can avoid problems with poor car performance, engine damage, or costly repair bills.

For assistance with consumer problems, consult attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll of San Antonio visited here this week with relatives, and in Ozona and other area points.

KATHY PAGE

Pocahontas Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, recently announced names of the recipients of its annual Good Citizenship Awards. The girls are representatives of the Senior classes of area high schools. They were chosen for the honor by their individual school faculties and student bodies on the basis of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism.

Representative for Eldorado High is Kathy Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Page. She was a member of Sweepstakes Band her freshman year and class favorite, highest scholastic girl in class, and member of the bi-district champion basketball team her sophomore year. During her junior year she was class favorite, member of the National Honor Society, cheerleader, and member of the state champion track team where her team placed third in the nation in the 880 ft. relay, made All-District in basketball and was named most valuable in track.

Problems... Problems

Sunday John 9:1-38	Monday Ephesians 2:4-10	Tuesday John 3:14-21
Wednesday II Corinthians 5:17-21	Thursday Luke 15:1-7	Friday Ezekiel 37:12-14
Saturday Romans 8:8-11

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding—and especially, don't forget the Church!
