Absentee Votes Cast

Late Monday, the County Clerk's office reported 65 absentee votes cast for the First Democratic Primary, and by noon Tuesday this had risen to 75. Deadline was 5:00 p.m. Tuesday for casting absentee ballots.

Sample Ballots, printed on colored paper, are still available here at The Success office and at the Clerk's office, for voters who wish to study them ahead of time. But we remind you again that you CANNOT take a sample with you to consult when you go to the polls to vote.

Mrs. Ruth Harper has been in our shop several times lately and she is working on a project in which she needs some help.

Here is the deal: The Eldorado High School back in 1924 graduated 15 Seniors, apparently the last of May. She was one of these 15.

Ruth is endeavoring to get up a 50th (Golden) anniversary program for the class of 1924. The plan is that it will be held in connection with this year's Mias Amigas program in latter June.

Besides Mrs. Harper, other members of the class of 1924 still living here are: Hubert Graves, Kenneth Cheek, Lewis Whitten and Mrs. Waxie Mund, who is in the local nursing home.

A building owned by Mrs. O. L. Woodward on the Menard highway and used as a flower shop some years ago, has been remodeled as a two-bedroom residence. Walter Ford had the contract for the job and was assisted by J. L. Whiddon.

Mr. Ford has established a cabinet shop on South Main Street in the former Oldsmobile building.

City of Eldorado has extended its sewer system on Warner to include sewer facilities to Sofge's store and apartments.

Doc Sofge now is engaged in connecting his various units to the sewer and he expects to eliminate the problem he has had with a number of septic tanks.

The new sewer line on Warner passes a block of unoccupied lots which will now be available as locations for new mobile homes.

It seems to this writer that new mobile homes are appearing in Eldorado at the rate of at least one a week and they are welcomed.

Eldorado has plenty of vacant spaces but the new units need to be located in places available to sewer and other public utilities. Now that sewer accommodations are available in that area, other utilities are quickly available—water, gas, electricity and telephone.

City Water Department is still engaged in rigging up a water loading facility on South Main Street, next to the Paul Haley Transports. It isn't finished yet, but the lot has been calched and the 6-inch water line has been carried to the lot.

Stacks of new sewer tile are stacked in various parts of the east part of Eldorado, and City Secretary Phil Olson says that more sewer extensions are in the program.

A good deal of the money, he says, comes from Government assistance.

D. R. Watson of San Angelo and Cullen Luttrell of Sonora

San Angelo, Texas.—The Texas Highway Department is a safe place to work—especially if you work in Sonora or Eldorado under the supervision of Cullen Luttrell, Maintenance Construction Supervisor.

Twenty-two employees work for the maintenance section in these towns, and have received the coveted award of "1,000 working days without a loss of time accident." The last lost-time accident for this section occurred on February 13, 1970, and the 1,000 working day without an accident was March 5, 1974.

D. R. Watson, District Engineer, W. P. Harrington, Assistant District Engineer, James R. (Bobby)

Evans, District Maintenance Engineer, and Robert E. Stanford, District Safety Coordinator, were in Sonora last week to present a "Certificate of Merit" and commend the employees for their efforts in achieving this goal.

The Highway Department realizes the importance of safety, and has a regular program of safety meetings, training and inspections. All personnel are given instruction in the proper use of tools and equipment they use during the course of their daily work.

Safety is everyone's business, and is a benefit to everyone. The Texas Highway Department's safety performance has consistently received recognition from the National Safety Council.

Beta Sigma Phi Sets Anniversary Event

Beta Sigma Phi celebrates 43rd anniversary. Beta Sigma Phi, a social, cultural and service organization for women, plans the celebration of Founders Day. The organization has 250,000 members in 10,500 Chapters organized in 24 countries of the free world. The organization is not connected with any school or college. It is non-political and non-sectarian. The keynote of Beta Sigma Phi is friendship.

Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in small Chapters, groups and each Chapter adopts the plans for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its own members.

When Beta Sigma Phi events or civic endeavors are larger than one Chapter can plan alone, all Chapters in a city or area may combine their strength. There are State Conventions each year which any member may attend.

Outstanding projects and activities in the local chapter -Xi Xi Chi are: The sponsoring of the annual Halloween Carnival in October, a Thanksgiving basket given to a needy family in November, sponsoring of the Sixth grade Field Trip each year, sponsoring the Story Hour at the Library each summer, Christmas gifts for the Nursing Home residents, taking care of a girl at Concho Valley Home for Girls in San Angelo by giving her material things, and visiting to show her that we care. These are only a small sample of our activities, but you can get an idea of the purpose of our sorority other than socials and friendships.

The Founders Day celebration on Wednesday, May 8th, at the El Dorado Restaurant marks the 43rd Anniversary of the founding. The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas, by Mr. Walter W. Ross. The Anniversary will be observed by the chapter here in Eldorado and by all other chapters around the world.

Dorothy Dacy, Tooter Dunham, and Jo Fatheree are serving on the special committee for the Founders Day activities. The toastmistress for the evening is Flora Hubble. Other members taking part in the program are Fayla Cheatham and Linda Ingle.

Ruthie Dacy has been selected for the honor of presenting a special message from the sorority's president. She has received the message from the world headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. Awards will be presented to local members and outstanding members will be recognized.

The theme for the new year, "Stairway to Happiness" will be officially launched at this time. —Rep.

Mrs. C. A. Reynolds of Brady, Mrs. Clint Summers of Houston and baby daughter Allison Lynn were visiting with friends in Eldorado recently. Mrs. Clint Summers is the former Rose Ann Reynolds.

All Set For The Democratic Primary

While 1600 ballots were printed for the Democratic Primary—400 for each precinct—it is hard to predict that a county-wide total of voters will reach 1,000.

There is not enough competition to generate a good argument.

Two local county candidates are running unopposed. They are Jim Thornton for county and district clerk, and A. G. McCormack, unopposed for re-election as county treasurer.

Two places will be settled Saturday . . .

Bob McWhorter running for re-election as County Judge is opposed by Johnny Griffin.

In Precinct 4, Dee Love is running for re-election, opposed by David Meador.

The race for Commissioner in Precinct 2 is expected to develop a run-off with four contestants. Walter Ford, Jim Holley, and L. E. (Gene) McCalla are all running against the incumbent, Vi Henderson.

'Open' Congress Race

For the first time in a generation we have an "open" race for Congressman of the 21st District, with retirement of long-time incumbent O. C. Fisher. There are six candidates running in the Democratic Primary, and that race, too, is expected to be settled in a run-off.

The six Congress hopefuls, mostly from heavily populated eastern edge, are: Allen Moore, Bob Krueger, John Poerner, Joe Sullivan, Nelson Wolff and Patrick Ainsworth.

Statewide

On state level, most interest is centered in the re-match between Governor Dolph Briscoe and his challenger, Mrs. Frances "Sissy" Farenthold.

Plan To Attend Your Precinct Convention

County Democratic Chairman Dick Preston reminds all voters that when you cast your vote Saturday in the First Democratic Primary you qualify yourself to be a delegate to your precinct convention, and you are urged to attend it. The precinct conventions will be held at 2:00 p.m. at each of the four polling places.

Main order of business at the county precinct convention is to elect county convention delegates.

The delegates allowed from each precinct are as follows:

- Precinct One, 5;
- Precinct Two, 5;
- Precinct Three, 4;
- Precinct Four, 7.

The County Convention will convene a week later, on Saturday, the 11th of May at 2:00 p.m. in the County Courtroom and its main order of business will be to elect two delegates from this county to the State Democratic Conventions coming up later in the year.

DIRECTORS ELECT OFFICERS

Elected as hospital district directors on April 6 were: Curtis Andrews, E. C. Peters, Clay Atkins, and Mike Moore.

Holdover directors are Mrs. Winnie Jackson, Mrs. Geneva McWhorter, and John Edward Meador.

In their first meeting Curtis Andrews was chosen as president and Mike Moore as secretary.

News Of The Sick

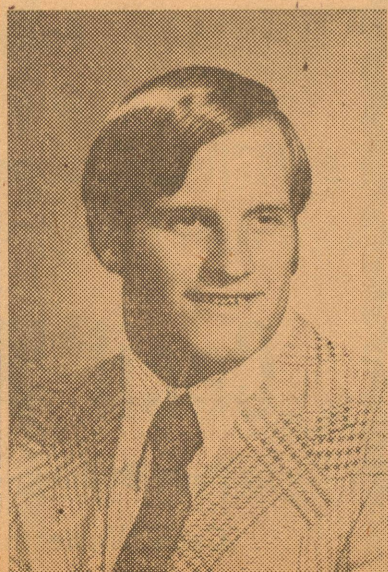

Dan T. McWhorter has been out of school this week with mumps, and it is the first time for him to miss since he started to school back in 1963.

Cecil Meador has been a patient in Shannon hospital in San Angelo recently.

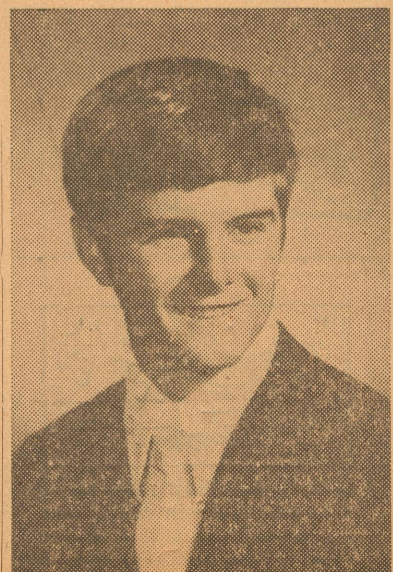

Mrs. Imogene (Jeannie) Callis left Wednesday for Odessa where she entered the Medical Center hospital for major surgery. Cards may be sent to that address.

THE RIDING CLUB

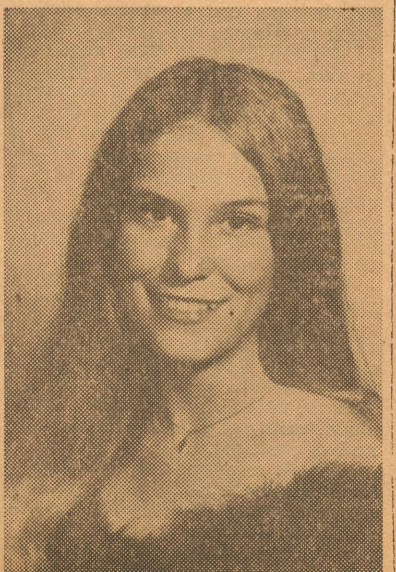

will hold their monthly covered dish supper and meeting Thursday, May 2nd, at the club house.

Bob Krueger Discusses Fair-Share Tax System

Congressional candidate Robert (Bob) Krueger released his fourth self-written position paper this week, a three-page assessment of our current tax system and a proposal for more fair taxes for all Americans.

Krueger, who has been basing his campaign for U. S. Congress on being completely open with the voters of the 21st District, believes that this is a campaign of national principles and that "the voters want to know exactly where their congressional candidates stand on the important issues facing America."

"That's why I explained my position on ten different national issues in a recent supplement to both San Antonio daily newspapers," Krueger said. "That's also why I write these weekly position papers on inflation, the energy crisis, and our national income tax system."

The independent businessman and former educator called on other candidates in the race for retiring Rep. O. C. Fisher's seat "to let the voters of the 21st Congressional District know where they stand on important national concerns so that the people can decide who would best represent them in Washington."

Krueger's fourth position paper, entitled "A Fair-Share Tax Plan" and written by the independent Democrat himself, calls for more equitable reform of our current tax system.

"One of the biggest problems with our present personal income tax is that its fairness is questioned by so many citizens," Krueger explains adding that citizens are "distressed to learn that a few Americans of very large incomes get by paying little or no taxes."

The congressional candidate, who released his own income tax returns for the past three years when he announced for O.C. Fisher's vacated seat, says, "Most citizens don't mind paying their fair share if others can be seen to do the same. Yet, last year we know that more than 400 Americans who earned $100,000 or more in a single year paid little or no taxes whatever."

"To remedy this situation, I propose a Fair Share Tax Plan whereby anyone earning a really good yearly income—say, $40,000 per year, must AT MINIMUM pay a few percent in taxes a year. Anyone earning $100,000 or more a year must AT MINIMUM pay 10% a year in personal taxes."

According to Krueger's proposal, neither depletion allowances, deductions for interest paid, capital gains taxes, double-declining depreciation, agricultural improvements, nor any other sum of write-offs or exemptions could bring such high-income taxpayers below these specified yearly minimums.

Since some of our current exemptions were placed in our tax laws by Congress for specific reasons, Krueger does not favor abolishing these tax incentives.

"To remove tax benefits enjoyed by farmers may discourage agricultural production at a time when we need to expand it. Or to remove entirely the oil depletion allowance may discourage oil exploration at a time when we need to encourage it," Krueger cited as two examples.

The independent Democrat's proposal means that persons who earn more than $100,000 would pay a certain amount of tax no matter how many exemptions they get. Krueger's "Fair-Share Tax Plan" keeps intact our important tax incentives, but assures that every American pays his fair share of running the government.

Diabetes: In The Top 10

NEW YORK (ED) — Nearly four million Americans have diabetes — one of this country's top ten killers. But only half of these people are aware that they are diabetic. If left unchecked, diabetes may lead to heart disease and blindness.

Diabetes is a condition in which the body cannot convert carbohydrates into energy because of malfunctioning of a body substance called insulin.

Who are the most likely candidates? Information supplied by The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States indicates that although anyone may become a diabetic, certain people are more prone than others. Women are more likely to develop diabetes than men — in fact, two out of every three diabetics are women. Heredity plays a strong role in diabetes. Studies show that diabetics' relatives are five times as susceptible as other people. People who are overweight run a greater risk of becoming diabetic. And diabetes usually develops after the age of forty.

What are the symptoms to watch for? The most common signs are excessive hunger or thirst, increased urination and easy tiring. Other danger signals include vision problems, intense itching, pain in fingers and toes, slow healing of cuts and bruises, and drowsiness.

There's only one reliable way to determine whether you are — or may become — diabetic. Consult your doctor and take a test for diabetes. It is easy to detect and if diagnosed early, can be easily controlled. Have regular check-ups. Remember, your good health begins with you.

Preventive Dentistry Now Has Top Priority

There's something new in dentistry, according to officials of the Texas State Health Department. It's called prevention—and it's the top priority of a "new generation" of dentists.

Most people never think of a dentist in terms of prevention. In fact, according to studies made by the U. S. Public Health Service, about two-thirds of the American population don't think of a dentist at all. Health department authorities think that part of the reason may be the image of dentistry in many people's minds. When you think of a dentist, do you think of drilling and filling cavities, pulling teeth, root canals, and other forms of pain and suffering? Many people do. Many people don't go to a dentist at all until they have a toothache or their gums begin to hurt more than they can stand. By that time, there may be little that a dentist can do other than to drill-and-fill, or pull the tooth. And that's too bad.

That kind of dentistry, according to the state health department, is the old dentistry. The new dentistry is prevention—preventing disease, preventing pain, and, most of all, preventing the loss of your natural teeth.

Of course, the scientific and technical skills involved in dental treatment are considerable, but today's young dentist cares more about prevention than he does about extraction. In fact, health authorities say that dentistry today has begun to attract a whole new generation of dentists with a completely new attitude toward their science.

The "new generation" in dentistry is civic minded, idealistic, socially conscious, and concerned for the well-being of everyone in his community. Young dentists are quick to join community dentistry programs, or even start them up, to bring the benefits of modern dentistry to the poor, the isolated, and the underprivileged.

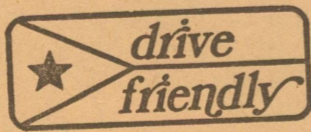

These young dentists have been active in such projects as converting old buses into mobile dental clinics that bring modern, preventive dentistry into the ghettos and barrios of the central city, or into remote rural areas where dental manpower is spread a little too thin.

The new spirit of community involvement is exemplified by the participation of dentists in dental health education programs that have been introduced in the public schools of many Texas communities during the past few years. In many cases, these programs have been initiated by the dentists themselves, working with school teachers and administrators and with public health personnel. It's no longer unusual for a dentist to contribute several days of his time—and sometimes his staff, materials, and facilities—for this purpose.

Now there is even a statewide Interdisciplinary Committee for Dental Health Education, composed of representatives of local and state dental organizations, dental auxiliaries, public and private school personnel, and public health workers, whose joint purpose is to encourage the inclusion of preventive dental health education in the school curriculum.

All of these efforts are part of the movement in modern dentistry toward preventing disease and the loss of teeth. Today's young dentist feels a strong obligation to alert his fellow man to the possibility of preventing disease, and the dentist knows that he can do more by prevention than he ever could by filling cavities or pulling teeth. Dental health today is much more than a series of stop-gap measures ending with a mouthful of dentures. Dentists know that disease and the loss of natural teeth can be prevented, that in almost every case a person's natural teeth can last throughout their lifetime.

So, state health department authorities say, when you go to your dentist, don't be surprised if he spends most of his time telling you how to care for your teeth, instead of just filling cavities. And, if you follow his advice carefully, you'll be very pleasantly surprised to find that you can keep your teeth healthy and attractive for the rest of your life.

Senator Wolff Stresses Legislative Experience

State Senator Nelson Wolff, candidate for U. S. Congress, District 21, stressed his legislative experience in talking to a group at a coffee held in the home of Tony Cangelosi in San Antonio. The coffee honored Wolff, 26th District Senatorial candidate Frank Lombardino and candidate for Judge, County Court at Law Number 4, Carol Haberman.

Wolff told the group of supporters, "I've served my apprenticeship. Four years in the State legislature, serving the people of my districts, I have learned to write bills, get them through committee and passed into law."

"And now, more than ever," he continued, "we need that kind of experience in Washington."

At a noon luncheon, Senator

Wolff gave the San Antonio Downtown Optimist Club meeting at the Gunter Hotel, his observations as to what had been done thus far in the Constitutional Revision Convention and discussed what the convention hoped to accomplish during its next session. The convention is recessed until May 6.

In the evening, Wolff appeared on a forum for all candidates at the University of Texas Medical School in San Antonio.

Wolff told the students and faculty, "I would be against a plan which would attempt to socialize medicine; which would lead to the hiring of doctors by the federal government thus restricting individual choices of doctors by the people."

Stop Screwworms This Spring By Submitting Samples

Livestock producers should be aware that 1974 has the earmarks of an extremely bad screwworm season, and should make every effort to reduce the number of outbreaks.

Program officials are asking producers to refrain from livestock surgery or other man-made wounds to prevent screwworm infestations. The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association has pointed out that at least 30% of this season's cases have resulted from dehorning, branding, docking and similar practices.

We urge all livestock producers to support the screwworm eradication effort by carrying out three key practices: (1) Inspecting their animals frequently; (2) Treating all wounds found with an approved product; and (3) Collecting and sending worm samples from wounds to the USDA Screwworm Laboratory at Mission, Texas, for identification. The post office box is 969.

As cases are confirmed, sterile screwworm fly treatment is initiated by the USDA. "It is vitally important for program officials to know where cases are happening in order to begin the sterile fly treatment before cases are too numerous," the County Agent reminds.

As spring migrations of fertile flies from south of the Rio Grande continue, the cases move northward across Texas rather rapidly. Already, positive cases have been confirmed as far north as Brown and Haskell counties, so all southern, central and west Texas areas should watch for screwworms.

Thin Vegetables To Boost Yields

Thinning a garden crop will improve the stand end quality and will boost production.

Over-seeding small seed crops is a natural tendency of home vegetable gardeners. So, thinning at an early age and when the soil is moist will help insure a proper stand and will increase yields of high quality vegetables.

Thin when the plants are no more than two inches tall and before the roots become entwined. Pinch or cut off cucumbers, squash, melons, okra and similar plants rather than pulling them up, as this disrupts the roots of the remaining plants.

Thin beets, carrots and radishes to one to two inches between plants. Bush beans, peas, onions, spinach, turnips, black-eyed peas, garlic and mustard perform best when spaced at two to four inches.

Thin leaf lettuce, parsley, lima beans and swiss chard to allow four to eight inches between plants.

Sweet corn, cabbage, chard, endive, kale, head lettuce and potatoes grow best when spaced 8 to 12 inches.

Broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, squash, sweet potatoes and watermelons require the greatest spacing—12 to 18 inches.

If vegetable stands are poor or uneven, transplant the young seedlings that you have thinned.

Don't throw away the thinnings. Young lettuce leaves and carrots are superior salad items.

Crop Reports From Farmers Are Needed

During the last half of May, some 24,000 Texas farmers will receive a crop acreage questionnaire from Charles E. Caudill, Agricultural Statistician in Charge of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin, Texas.

This information will be the basis for determining the planted acreage for the state of Texas and for each county. There are 254 counties in Texas, and reports are needed from many farmers so that each county will be well represented. Accurate estimates are of great importance to farmers in planning production and marketings and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture.

Texas covers such a wide area that state totals alone do not provide adequate information on Texas' most basic industry—agriculture. The Texas Legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county. This is a cooperative effort of USDA's Statistical Reporting Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—Vegetables are earning consumer attention this week, with abundant supplies of carrots arriving from the Rio Grande Valley, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt.

"They're at attractive retail price levels," the consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reported.

"Asparagus supplies are a little heavier and slightly lower in price, though this vegetable rarely ever gets to the 'bargain' level.

"New crop cabbage, along with that in storage, means good supplies and prices, while celery, mustard greens, collards, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions are other good choices."

Supplies of cantaloupe and watermelon are on the rise, but prices remain at "luxury" levels, the specialist said.

Fruits worth considering are oranges, grapefruit, apples, bananas, strawberries and pineapples, she added.

Turning to eggs, Mrs. Clyatt termed the market with all but small-sized eggs in good supply. Even at $1 per dozen, large eggs are only 67 cents a pound, she noted, explaining that translates into "economical nutrition."

"Beef values include ground beef, round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, and beef liver. Pork prices remain about the same, with values generally on shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts, ham portions and picnics."

Fryer chickens continue a good choice, price-wise, and frozen-turkey prices make those birds one of the better high-protein values, the specialist said.

THOUGHTS CONCERNING LEGALIZED GAMBLING

We are concerned citizens and would like to offer some statements of fact for consideration before you vote on May 4th. These statements are from Mr. Abner McCall, quote from a sample speech: "I am speaking to you as a representative of the Anti-Crime Council of Texas. That's A-C-T. The Anti-Crime Council of Texas was formed in March of 1973. Its purpose is to mobilize citizen support to fight against crime... against crime in general... against organized crime in particular. Pari-mutuel betting is an issue which has continued to haunt this state, despite our disastrous experiment with it in the 1930's, and despite the fact that Texans have voted it down seven times in the past 21 years."

We would like to present the entire speech of this council member. But 17 pages are hereby condensed by sentence and paragraph in order to present as much of truth as possible for thoughtful consideration.

Quote: "The pari-mutuel system basically accomplishes two things: First, the track cannot lose, and second, a consistent group of bettors cannot possibly win." State controlled pari-mutuel betting is not necessarily crime-free pari-mutuel betting.

The mere establishment of a state bureaucracy to oversee the operation of tracks and betting systems by itself is an invitation to unhealthy political patronage and graft.

We cite the case of former Illinois Governor Otto Kerner and former Illinois State Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs. Both have been convicted of bribery, conspiracy, mail fraud, perjury and income tax evasion, all as a result of bribes and kickbacks from state racing operations.

Legalized gambling does not discourage, it encourages illegal gambling. And not one single authority in the United States disputes that illegal gambling is one of the major sources of revenue for organized crime.

Right now, right here in Texas organized crime has become a billion dollar a year business. This is according to the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, a group co-chaired by Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, and Attorney Gen-

Jim Nugent Asks For Re-Election

JIM NUGENT

If you haven't seen State Rep. James E. "Jim" Nugent doing his customary hard campaigning, there is a good reason: he's on the job in Austin.

Rep. Nugent is one of the few Constitutional Convention delegates who didn't get to take a pre-election recess. That's because he was selected to be a member of the crucial Style and Drafting Committee, which is holding its meetings during the interim.

"I deeply regret not being able to visit more in my district, to hear the views of my constituents and to get their advice," the veteran legislator said.

"But," he added, "I figured that I was elected to do a job and I ought to stick with it until that job is done."

When his Austin legislative chores are completed each week, Rep. Nugent hits the campaign trail and has made many night and week end visits to each of his district's 10 counties.

"Our present Constitution has lasted 98 years," Rep. Nugent points out, "and I like to think that I am playing a part in helping make the next Constitution last that long."

Rep. Nugent, a Kerrville attorney and businessman, has been a state representative since 1960. Since that time, he has served as chairman of many major House Committees. He was the author of the Ethics Bill which brought financial dealings of officeholders out into

Sicilian Salad

Salad goes with so many meals that it's a shame not to have a repertory of recipes for various occasions. Any menu that features Italian food would be even better with Sicilian Salad.

- 1 head Romaine lettuce, washed and torn into bite-size pieces
- 1 can (16 oz.) mushroom stems & pieces, drained
- 1 cup chopped sweet pickles
- 4 stalks celery, diced
- 1 can (12 oz.) Progresso piccalilli peppers
- 2/3 cup olive oil
- 2/3 cup white vinegar
- 12 flat anchovy fillets, washed free of salt
- 2 Tbsps. tiny capers
- 12 stuffed Manzanilla olives salt and pepper

Toss lettuce, mushrooms, chopped pickles, celery and piccalilli peppers with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Top with anchovies, capers, olives. Serves 6.

Macaroni Salad? Think Italian!

Nobody knows more than an Italian cook about preparing pasta in family-pleasing fashion. One Italian favorite is this macaroni and pepper salad.

- 1/2 lb. elbow macaroni
- 1 jar (7 1/4 oz.) Progresso sweet fried peppers
- 1 clove garlic, mashed
- 2 tps. olive oil
- 1 tsp. vinegar
- salt and pepper
- 1 medium onion, sliced into rings
- grated Romano cheese

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Combine with undrained sweet fried peppers. Add garlic, olive oil, vinegar, salt and pepper & toss well. Arrange onion rings on top and sprinkle liberally with grated cheese. Serves 4-6.

a whole new world

"Hey! Come bicycling with us tomorrow!"
 The latest bicycling craze may be sweeping the land, but some aren't so enthusiastic:

"Haven't been on a bike for years!"
 "I get all the exercise I want working in the garden!"
 "Bikes are for kids!"

These skeptics should try cruising down a country road where the smell of haystacks, hyacinths or magnolias sweetens the air, or experience the warmth of open playgrounds, the coolness of tree-shaded streets, the un-blurred faces of neighbors. It's a whole new world. There's another new world inside the doors of your neighborhood church. But some hesitate here too:

"Haven't been to church in years!"
 "I get all the religion I want just communing with nature!"
 "Church? That's for women and kids!"
