Post Script

Kitty Montgomery, writing in her "Kitty's Korner" column in the Ozona Stockman has the following to say about deadlines that could very well be endorsed by almost any other weekly publisher:

"Wow! What a day. We just can't seem to get the word around that we need the news as soon as it happens. At 11:00 a.m. Tuesday we thought it would be impossible to fill up six pages. By noon deadline we were overflowing, and it was too late to lay out for eight pages. By the time we squeezed it all in, we were done in. We have no rules against bringing or calling news items in before the deadline. The deadline merely means that we cannot accept items and ads past that time. In fact, we'd be delighted to have items Thursday or Friday before the Tuesday deadline. If this does not make sense, just forget it; I'm writing it after the deadline."

Sleet falling in Eldorado kept trees and shrubs covered with ice, but melted on the ground. Windshields were covered with ice making driving difficult for those who had to be out.

By Sunday afternoon the weather cleared off. Precipitation for the period could only be figured in tenths.

Whether fruit trees suffered any damage remains to be determined—especially apricots.

Know The Rules About Book Clubs

by John L. Hill, Attorney General

Austin, Tex.—Whoever said that Americans quit reading with the advent of television overlooked the fact that thousands of books are delivered each day within the United States to members of book clubs.

There are general interest book clubs and clubs that cater to special interests in such fields as science fiction, witchcraft, cooking, gardening, the classics, mysteries, westerns, and handicrafts.

While the subjects offered by book clubs run the gamut, the methods by which they market their books generally fall into only a few categories. Two of the commonest are the negative option and the continuity program.

Under the negative option plan, subscribers are sent notice of a book the club is readying for mailing. If the subscriber does not want the book, he must notify the club before a certain date or the book will be sent to him automatically.

The continuity program is a plan often used by publishers of encyclopedias or other reference books. This method of distribution involves mailing subscribers individual volumes of a set of books or other publications on an approval basis.

Book clubs often provide a valuable service for older persons, invalids, or people who simply prefer the convenience of selecting books for their home library by mail instead of shopping in a store.

But attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division say that a few book clubs have been known to attract new customers by tactics that might be misleading.

Recently the Federal Trade Commission has been investigating complaints against one of the publishers offering a continuity program subscription for sets of nature and history encyclopedias.

Subscribers to the program were led to believe that they would have the chance to review each book separately to decide whether or not they wanted it and to pay for only one volume at a time.

In fact, only the first few volumes had been sent individually while the rest were sent in a bulk shipment.

And, in addition, after subscribing to the program, members found that other obligations had been imposed upon them that they were unaware of when they joined.

Other complaints about negative option plans have led the FTC to issue a new trade regulation rule that will go into effect in early summer.

Many of the complaints were from subscribers who found that mail delays and computer errors resulted in their receiving books they didn't want or in being billed for books shipped after they had canceled their subscription.

The new trade regulation on use of negative option plans by sellers in commerce says that book clubs employing this subscription method must state plainly in promotional material all conditions of membership, including the following:

—Exactly how members must notify the club they do not want a selection;

—Whether there is any obligation to purchase a minimum number of books;

—That a member may cancel at any time;

—That members will have at least 10 days to mail notice of rejection of a book.

All of these obligations, plus the others set out by the new rule, should assure book club members that they will understand all the rules of the game when they join a club.

Consumers who have any questions about book club subscription programs should consult attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division, or call their local county or district attorney or Better Business Bureau.

John Poerner Speaks Here To Lions Club

Congressional candidate John H. Poerner said here last Wednesday the federal government has failed in the past few years in deciding policy for the nation.

The Hondo rancher-businessman, a candidate for Congress from the 21st district, told the Eldorado Lions Club, "good government starts at home and from this foundation we build our pyramid of policy for the nation, which is a composite of the grass roots movement."

"This is the time-tested and proven method that has brought this country to its 200th anniversary, and I am convinced we must retain this concept," Poerner said.

He stressed the need for citizen involvement in governmental affairs, and asked if anyone had ever thought of the state and federal government taking over the role of administering the projects sponsored by civic organizations.

"I use this as an example to show the governmental role should be limited to those categories where the public cannot provide the necessary services," Poerner continued.

"The spark plug of every community is the civic organization. We must encourage this concept in order to retain enthusiasm and community spirit. Local government is on its return to popularity," he concluded.

Fuel-Saving Vacations Available Here In Texas

Governor Dolph Briscoe announced today he is inaugurating a comprehensive plan encourage Texans to take fuel-saving vacations within the state this year.

"Vacationing in Texas will not only provide Texans with the opportunity to see some beautiful country while conserving fuel, but it will help to protect the jobs of the 600,000 Texans employed in this $2.2 billion industry," the Governor said.

"In Texas we aim to save energy—to save jobs. Tourism is one of the industries most sensitive to the gasoline shortage, and by encouraging fuel saving vacations within Texas we will help to preserve the livelihoods of those who serve the traveling public, and to protect the nearly $4 billion investment that the private sector has in tourist-serving facilities in Texas," Governor Briscoe added.

"At a time when conserving fuel is so important, I want to remind all Texans of the many fine vacation opportunities that abound throughout our state." The Governor pointed out that "Texans can visit mountains, Gulf beaches, forests, lakes, deserts and a tropical valley without leaving the boundaries of our state."

The Governor said the plan to encourage Texans to discover Texas vacation spots will be a coordinated effort involving the Texas Tourist Development Agency, the Texas Highway Department, the State Historical Commission and other state agencies.

Travel folders have been prepared on 10 scenic Travel Trails over Texas. Each trail is designed to give travelers more vacation opportunities for the mileage. The trails, which encompass every region of Texas, vary from the historic Independence Trail to the Lakes Trail which features many recreational opportunities.

These Travel Trail folders are available from the Texas Highway Department, Austin, Texas 78763.

Event At Del Rio Honors Bob Krueger

Armando Figueroa and Bob Cauthorn, co-chairmen of "Friends of Bob Krueger" in Del Rio, hosted more than 400 local constituents at a barbecue and rally for the congressional hopeful on Tuesday, March 19.

Krueger, an independent businessman seeking the congressional seat long held by retiring Rep. O. Fisher, told his audience that they must elect a congressman who has the intelligence, integrity, capacity for hard work, and understanding of people and problems to help create a better government.

"No one Congressman can by himself solve the host of national problems that we face today," Krueger explained. "But your representative can help make a difference in creating a credible government that will meet our true needs. Turning a rudder will, in time, alter a ship's direction."

Citing the need to restore trust in government, the congressional hopeful said, "Americans are looking for statesmen, rather than professional politicians who seek the next highest political office each election year."

Krueger calls himself an "independent Democrat" because he is independent of all political "power elites." The campaign neophyte considers it an asset that he has never held political office before.

"I owe no political favors," Krueger asserts. "My only obligation is to the people of this district and this nation."

"The greatest theft in Washington has not been of documents or dollars, but of hope and trust—the foundation of our American dream," the independent businessman declared.

Krueger concluded his speech by saying, "I'd like to represent you, and to speak for you and this dream in Washington. I need your support to do it. And I pledge you in return, every resource of mind, body, and soul that I possess."

Dry Weather Reduces Screwworm Populations

Like the old proverb goes, "It's an ill wind that blows no one good." While South Texas' developing drought brings little but pain and frustration to most farmers and ranchers, Dr. M. E. Meadows, Jr., couldn't be happier.

"Another couple of weeks of this and we could be pretty well over the hump," said the director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Southwest Screwworm Eradication Project at Mission.

In the Rio Grande Valley and adjacent counties, the usual overwintering area for the costly livestock pest, there has been virtually no rain so far in 1974, and little in November and December of 1973.

"When screwworms pupate and come out of the ground they have to have moisture or they can't survive," he said. "They also tend to remain under the soil longer when it's dry so this holds down their numbers, too. But wet or dry they have to emerge eventually and if there's no moisture when they do it's all over."

The longest a screwworm has ever been observed to remain in the pupal stage is 9-10 weeks, Meadows said.

It's been about that long now since the last good rain soaked many areas of South Texas, he noted. In portions of Southwest Texas, it has been 4½ months since measurable moisture was recorded.

"If it remains this way through the third week in March, we should have the overwintering population about where we want it," the veterinarian predicted.

Significantly, he pointed out, more than half the cases in Texas during February occurred in Live Oak and Bee counties, which had good rain showers during the period. On the other hand Hidalgo and Brooks counties, frequently the center of winter screwworm developments, had but one case between them.

Twenty cases were recorded during the month in Texas, the most for a February since 1962. Arizona had one outbreak reported.

Producers Urged To Be Alert

Dr. Lee Stephens, area veterinarian for the Texas Animal Health Commission, urged all livestock producers to inspect their animals and treat all wounds with protective chemicals, even if no screwworms have been reported in the immediate area.

An approved organophosphate compound is recommended.

If screwworms are found, TAHC is willing to furnish the spray rig and crew if the rancher will buy the insecticide.

"We want to spray all infested herds, if possible," Stephens emphasized. "Especially if there have been an excessive number of wounds."

He revealed that during the recent period of high winds the Mission Lab had switched much of its sterile fly dispersal on infested ranches from air to ground release in the interests of accuracy and improved public relations.

"It's kind of hard to convince a rancher with a number of worm cases that sterile flies have been dropped over his land when he can't find any boxes because an air drop missed his place due to strong wind currents," Stephens pointed out.

Stephens also said fly drops had been doubled over Mexico in an area between Falcon Lake and Monterrey to combat a developing buildup there.

Tips On Fertilizing Home Gardens

"Feeding garden vegetables is important, and the quickest and most efficient way is by adding a commercial fertilizer to the soil. But before using fertilizer, be sure you are familiar with the material you plan to apply.

Commercial fertilizers are labeled to show the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium in that order. Common fertilizer labels are 5-10-10, 12-12-12 and 12-24-12.

"It's always best to have your soil tested before applying fertilizer," I point out. This takes the guesswork out of using fertilizer. But, in lieu of a soil test recommendation, apply two to three lbs. of a complete fertilizer such as 12-12-12 per 100 square feet of area. Then mix it thoroughly with the soil before planting.

Once plants are growing, they will benefit from a side-dressing of fertilizer at the rate of one or two pounds per 100 linear feet of row, applied six to eight inches from the plant. Always work the fertilizer into the soil and then water.

Use care with all fertilizers, as too much fertilizer is more harmful than not using any at all.

Organic Matter Boosts Garden Soils
Organic matter added to soils can make home gardening more productive.

Both heavy clay soils and light sandy soils can be improved by adding peat moss, manure, saw dust or compost. This increases air movement in the soil and improves water percolation. Organic matter also helps the soil hold moisture and nutrients for a longer period of time and allows soil to warm up earlier in the spring.

Spread at least two inches of organic material on the soil and work it into a depth of four to six inches.

Always add fertilizer when working organic matter into the soil to aid in the decomposition and to prevent nitrogen deficiency. For every 10 cubic feet of organic matter applied, add about one-half pound of nitrogen. Ten pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer (5% nitrogen) would provide one-half pound nitrogen.

A properly prepared soil will enable plants to develop an adequate and efficient root system. Such plants will be strong and will produce good yields.

Schleicher county people are busily plowing gardens and getting them ready for spring planting. A few already have bedding plants up to a good size.

Dear friends and fellow Texans—

I am running for U.S. Congress, House of Representatives District 21. I believe in America and our rights under the constitution. I believe that government should serve the people and not be a burden on the majority for the sake of a few. I believe in our free enterprise system. I will work to protect it.

I was born in San Antonio and grew up in Llano County in the hill country of Texas. I have lived in Texas all my life. I graduated from Southwest Texas State University in 1969. I am 28 years old.

I am not a politician nor am I a millionaire. Somehow I feel that we are tired of sending those people to represent us in Washington. I know how you feel at the supermarket, the gas pump, and at income-tax time. I am one of you.

I need your help to get elected. I am running against some well-organized and well-financed political machines with public relations people and advertising firms. All I have is you.

I must apologize to my many friends that I have been unable to see personally. I wish that I could talk to everyone in the 21st District. I think that most of you feel as I do. I hope that I will merit your consideration in this very important election.

Sincerely,

6 WAYS TO CONSERVE AND SAVE ON WATER HEATERS

Normally the quantity of Hot water used in a household is about 1/4 to 1/3 of the total water usage. Here are some suggestions that can help you get the most out of your water heater.

1. With a little planning, you can arrange to wash only full loads of clothing in your washer and full loads of dishes in your dishwasher. Less than full loads consumes energy and wastes water needlessly.
2. To assure long life and efficiency, the water heater tank should have a small amount of water drained periodically. Once a month should be adequate. The purpose of draining water from the tank is to prevent sediment build-up in the tank bottom.
3. A water heater that's old, or too small for your family needs, can be wasteful because it's working too hard and using too much energy to keep up with your hot water demands.
4. It's amazing how much water a leaky faucet will drip in a month's time and if the leaking faucet is a hot water faucet, it will waste both energy and water needlessly. As an example, a faucet dripping 90 drops per minute, will waste 300 gallons per month.
5. The thermostat controlling the water temperature is pre-set at the factory to deliver hot water at 150°F. This setting has proven most satisfactory from the standpoint of operating cost and household needs.
6. The thermostat can be adjusted to provide warmer or cooler water temperatures. The thermostats are clearly marked for easy adjustment to increase or decrease the water temperature.

THINGS YOU NEVER KNEW ABOUT LEMONS

Consider the lemon. In other countries it's called citron, limoro, limon, cytryna, limone and limao, although it was Greek to the ancient Greeks who never heard of it. Yet, throughout history, man has put the lemon to more uses - from lemonade to lemon freshened cigarettes - than any other citrus fruit.

The lemon seems to have been unknown to most ancient civilizations, and originated from central or eastern Asia. The Arabs carried it to western Asia, and some time between the year 1000 and the year 1200 A.D. it was introduced into Spain and the north African countries. In medieval days, the lemon was called "Persian apple." And during that time, it was further distributed throughout Europe by the Crusaders who found the fruit growing in Palestine. Lemon growers knew they had a good thing growing, but its many uses were still undreamed of then. In 1494 the fruit was being cultivated in the Azores and shipped largely to England. In China the lemon is found only as a plant of relatively recent introduction and is very rare even in the southern provinces where other citrus is grown.

The lemon is a close relative of the orange and has followed it into many countries. However, the lemon is much less hardy than the orange, and the area of its cultivation is therefore more restricted. This close relationship between the orange and the lemon is seen very clearly when you realize that most Florida orange trees have lemon-tree roots, while almost all California lemon trees have orange-tree roots. Man has truly benefited more from the lemon than any other citrus fruit. The pulp of the lemon yields juice, which contains citric acid and citrate of lime. It's an excellent source of vitamin C. The juice is used in flavoring food and drinks. In fact, lemonade was the rage of all Paris in 1630 when it was invented there following a sudden drop in the price of sugar. About a third of the California production is processed as juice or concentrates. Lemon juice may also be used as a bleach in the printing of cotton fabrics. Lemon oil, or extract, is obtained from the rind. This extract is used in flavoring and in the making of perfumes and some medicines. The rind can be cooked with sugar to make candied lemon peel. As for its many uses in consumer products, the lemon is squeezing through to everyone's delight. And, now, they even have added a dash of lemon freshness to new menthol Twist cigarettes, which taste fresher than ordinary cigarettes and give you a smoother cool.

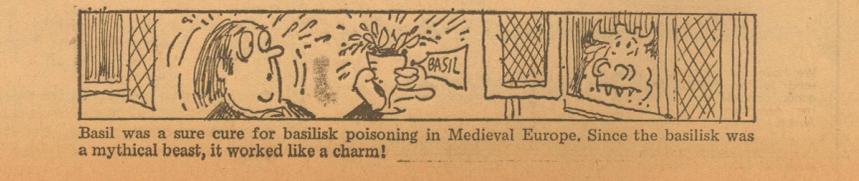

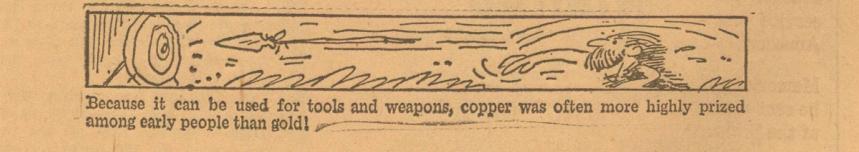

California is big on lemons - in fact, it grows practically all the commercial crops and about half the world crop of lemons. Lemon trees flower continuously and have fruit in all stages of development most of the year. A tree bears as many as 3,000 lemons annually. Lemons are gathered while still green, when they become too large to pass through the rings (2 1/4" in diameter) carried as gaugers by pickers. The fruit is cut from the trees and placed in canvas bags. Gloves are worn in handling the fruit, and every care taken to avoid the slightest injury to its skin. Because it's a small, bitter fruit, it has come to mean the poorest of a lot - thus the expression, "You certainly picked a lemon!" We've come a long way since the botanist Linnaeus named the lemon Citrus limonia, and we can be certain that the lemon will continue to bear new fruitful uses for all mankind.

Austin, Tex.—An extensive property tax study is beginning in 35 of 1,113 Texas school districts as a guide to overhauling the public education finance formulas.

The Legislative Property Tax Committee approved the survey by C.B.M. Inc. of Cleveland, Ohio, and Marshall and Stevens, a worldwide tax appraisal service.

About $382,900 is available for the work, although apparently not all of the money will be spent.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe had requested a top-to-bottom study of tax values in all districts in preparation for his recommendations to the 1975 Legislature on school finance reform.

However, the property tax committee said such a study would cost $8 million, and a 325-district spot-check proposed by Texas Research League $2 million.

Committee Chairman Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard of Lubbock said he is hopeful the 35-district survey "can be used as a model by which we can set a formula for allocating state school aid that provides equitable support and maintenance."

Consultants have a November deadline for completing their work, and a first phase report is anticipated April 18.

Districts to be covered ranged in student population from 18 in Terlingua to 26,884 at Northeast of Bexar County. They include: Friendswood; Little Cypress-Mauriceville; Overton; Hitchcock; Blue Ridge; Darrrouzett; Cross Plains; Presidio; Celeste; Sonora; Glen Rose; Rusk; Joshua; Mumford; Carthage; Arlington; Clarksville; Midlothian; Buffalo; Atlanta; Northside of Wilbarger; Alvin; Elysian Fields; Central Heights of Nacogdoches; Somerville; Slidell; Bruni No. 22; Bowie County CSD No. 42; Lindale; Alvord; Devers; Strong and Leakey.

A "Sad" Tail . . .

Texas printers are having problems with the new campaign reporting law, because the name and address of the printer—name and address of the candidate have to appear on each printed item.

Latest problem comes from candidates who are having "t-shirts" printed for campaign workers.

It seems the name and address of the candidate and name and address of the "t-shirt" printer must be printed on the tail of the shirt.

If you see someone pulling off a "t-shirt" at a political rally, don't worry about a streaker; it's just someone fulfilling the request of the Secretary of State's inspector.

State Oil Share Bigger

The State School Land Board revised oil and gas lease terms for public lands in an effort to increase the state's income and encourage more drilling.

The Board, by a two-to-one vote, raised minimum royalty interest on state leases from one-sixth to one-fifth royalty and reduced the leasing term from five to three years.

Quarterly lease sales will be held, and minimum bonus bid payment will be reduced to $10 an acre in all areas for the right to hold a state lease.

Terms adopted by the board will go into effect with leases awarded at the next oil and gas lease sale July 2. Nominations of state tracts for that sale will be open until April 19, and the School Land Board will determine terms and conditions of leases to be awarded on nominated tracts at its meeting May 7.

"With oil prices doubling and gas prices tripling, I think it is an appropriate time for the state to realize higher royalty for production of its mineral resources," said Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Energy "Saved"

Governor Briscoe claims the state's voluntary energy conservation program has brought "significant savings" in gasoline, middle distillate fuels and electricity, and ought to be continued.

Total gasoline sales increased 3% for December and January, over the same period a year ago, but historical growth rate for gasoline sales is about 7% per year. Briscoe calculated 81.5 million gallons of gasoline or about 6 1/2% of expected demand has been effectively saved.

Electrical production was reported up 2.3% in January over January 1973, but down 7 1/2% from the projected demand.

Briscoe urged continued cooperation by individuals and called on oil companies to plow more of their profits into research and exploration.

Attorney General's Opinions

Financial information on individuals collected by the Legislative Property Tax Committee in a market value study is open to the public, Atty. Gen. John Hill held. In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A dozen prisoners can testify before a legislative committee studying prison reform.

Marijuana possession offenses committed before last August 27 should be tried in district courts, although the offense may be a misdemeanor.

Candidates for Congress and other federal offices must comply with the Texas campaign reporting and disclosure act except where federal laws are in conflict.

Licensing system for use of aircraft in control of predatory animals is controlled by an act covering 155 counties passed last May 18.

The City of Eagle Pass's lease agreement with private investors for commercial development is presumed to be public information and should be released to the party requesting it.

Members of the Texas Youth Council and State Board of Examiners in the Basic Sciences don't have to file financial statements under the ethics act.

A juvenile court has authority to allow a federal agency access to its files.

Texas Department of Public Safety is not a "consumer reporting agency" within meaning of the federal fair credit reporting act.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. reminded April 1 is the filing deadline for executive heads of state agencies to submit affidavits discussing interest in state regulated businesses.

White also ruled it is legal to make photo copies of political ads for distribution if the name and address of the original printer is clear.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court ordered a third trial for a suit over a loan against a Lubbock bank.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a conviction of Abilene men for conspiracy to commit theft in a dispute over computer cards.

A Federal Court jury convicted Duval County political boss George B. Parr of income tax evasion.

An Amarillo man won a Supreme Court ruling in a $4,000 damage suit against an auto dealer accused of using incorrect procedures in a motor repair.

Hall E. Timanus Sr. of Houston was appointed by the governor to the Texas Amusement Machine Commission.

County Ranch Sold

A 4 1/2-section ranch in Schleicher county owned by the Case family has been sold to a Tom Green-Irion county ranchman.

J. W. Field and Mrs. Field, operators of a 9 1/2-section ranch located off of the Burma Road northwest of San Angelo, recorded the deed to the Case Family property Friday at the Schleicher County Clerk's office.

The four sections of land purchased by the Fields is located seven miles north of Eldorado off of Highway 277 and is across the highway from the Otis Deal ranch. The surface is now under lease by W. V. Lux who holds a grass lease on the ranch, and the mineral rights are held by various oil companies. There are three flowing gas wells on the ranch at present.

The transaction between the Case Family and the Fields was handled completely by P. B. Shannon, San Angelo attorney, with Jackson I. Case of Garden Grove, Calif., representing the Case Family. The deal was completed March 5 and recorded Friday.

The Fields have ranched for 37 years in West Texas and now run Santa Gertrudis cattle and DeBouillet sheep. The headquarters ranch in Irion county has farmland which is used to grow maize and other sorghums and grains to graze cattle. Fields is a member of Santa Gertrudis Breeders International and is now one of the few breeders of that particular breed in West Texas.

The Fields' newly-acquired Schleicher county ranch has 110 acres of farmland on which Lux has been raising maize for cattle feeding purposes. The Fields intend to operate their new ranch as soon as the present lease's period is terminated.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—"Real" specials on beef and pork will be "relatively few" in coming weeks, according to one authority's predictions.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, made the forecast.

"Best beef values generally will include chuck roast and steaks, rib and round steaks, ground beef, boneless stew meat and beef liver," she said.

"Smoked picnics, ham portions, Boston butt roast and shoulder steaks highlight some pork cases."

Noting that many markets offer special prices on whole turkeys and turkey parts, the specialist said that trend is likely to continue due to a currently larger turkey supply than expected.

"Egg prices may decline slightly during the weeks preceding Easter," she added.

The specialist termed vegetable supplies "fairly liberal" and cited lower prices on lettuce, cabbage, celery and carrots.

"But because of strong demand and a smaller supply than last year at this time, prices have increased considerably for potatoes, dry beans and peas.

"Turnips, mustard and collard greens, and rutabagas are among the most economical vegetable choices."

Fruit sections are still dominated by citrus fruits with grapefruit in ample supply and fairly consistent quality. Valencia oranges are "juicy" fruit choices, while apples, bananas and strawberries provide added variety, Mrs. Clyatt said.

Consumer Watchwords: Buy only enough dry onions for a week to ten days this week.

Late March or early April will signal the start of new crop season for dry onions, but at present we are seeing an end-of-storage-year decline in their quality.

Early Spring offers consumers an ideal time to use fresh grapefruit—an excellent source of vitamin C, notes Mrs. Karen Walker, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Last year saw the sharpest drop in per capita food consumption in 15 years. A gain in crop-related foods—largely fruits and processed vegetables—partially, offset the decline in consumption of livestock products. Meat and eggs had sharp reductions, while poultry and fish underwent smaller declines, notes Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Gas Discovery

General Crude Oil Co., Snyder, No. 1 Celeste Prugel, Schleicher County Strawn lime gas discovery, six miles southeast of Eldorado, 1 3/8 miles southeast of the depleted Strawn opener of the Flying Anchor (Wolfcamp gas) field, was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,840,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Production was through perforations at 6,329-333 feet, which had been acidized with 1,500 gallons.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,388 feet: Clearfork, 1,705 feet; Wichita-Albany, 2,360 feet; Wolfcamp lime, 2,885 feet; Canyon sand, 6,057 feet; and Strawn lime, 6,307 feet.

Drilled to 6,411 feet, operator set 5 1/2-inch casing at 6,409 feet and plugged back to 6,362 feet.

The project went "tight" when drilling reached 6,375 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 feet from the east lines of 10-A-HE&WT.

Was "Try Again" really the name of the boat? Or did some joker paint those words on the old hull after the wreck? Either way the irony wasn't wasted.

Lots of people used to sail through life confidently and contentedly. Today they aren't so sure they're on the right course:

There are some who think it's only a matter of time before our whole civilization runs aground.

Christianity has often been called "the religion of another chance." Yes, for Christ teaches that we can rise out of our failures through God's forgiveness and power.

Millions today are rediscovering Christian precepts. It is a new generation which will soon be sailing toward a Christian destiny.
