THE RELIGIOUS CARD PLAYER.

A private soldier by the name of Richard Lee was taken before the magistrate of Glasgow, Scotland, for playing card during the deck of cards he spread them before him. He first looked at one card then at another. The sergeant of the company saw him and said:

"Richard put up the cards; this is no place for them."

"Never mind that," said Richard.

When the services were over, the constable took Richard prisoner, and brought him before the mayor.

"Well," said the mayor, "what have you brought the soldier here for?"

"For playing cards in church."

"Well soldier, have you anything to say for yourself?"

"Much sir, I hope."

"Very good; if not I will punish you severely."

"I have been," said the soldier "about six weeks on the march, I have neither Bible or common prayer book, I hope to satisfy your worship with the best of my intention." Then spreading the cards before the mayor he began with the ace: "When I see the ace it reminds me that there is but one God. When I see the deuce it reminds me of the father and son. When I see the trey it reminds me of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. When I see four it reminds me of the Four Evangelists that preached—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. When I see five it reminds me of the wise virgins who trimmed their lamps; there were ten but five were wise and five were foolish, and were shut out. When I see the six it reminds me that in six days the lord made the heaven and earth. When I see the seven it reminds me that on the seventh God rested from the great work which he had made and hallowed it. When I see the eight it reminds me of the eight righteous persons who were saved when God destroyed the world, viz: Noah, his wife, his three sons and their wives. When I see the nine it reminds me of the nine lepers that were cleansed by our Saviour. There were nine out of ten that never returned thanks. When I see the ten it reminds me of the ten commandments which God handed down to Moses on the table of stone. When I see the king it reminds me of the Great King of Heaven which is God Almighty. When I see the queen it reminds me of Queen Sheba, who visited Solomon, for she was as wise a woman as he was a man. She brought with her fifty boys and fifty girls all dressed in boys apparel for King Solomon to tell which were boys and which were girls. The King sent for water for them to wash. The girls washed to the elbow, the boys to their wrist; So King Solomon told by that.

"Well," said the mayor, "not have described every card in the pack except one."

"What is that?"

"The knave," said the mayor.

"I will give your honor a description of that too if you will not get angry."

"I will not," said the mayor, "if you will not term me as the knave."

"The greatest knave I know of is the constable who brought me here."

"I do not know," said the mayor, "if he is the greatest knave but I do know he is the greatest fool."

"When I count how many spots there are in a pack of cards I find 365—as many days as there are in a year. When I count the number of cards in a pack I find 52 the number of weeks in a year. I find there are 12 picture cards in a pack representing the number of months in a year, and on counting the number of tricks I find 13, the number of weeks in a quarter.

So you see a pack of cards may serve for a Bible, an almanac and a common prayer book.—Kimble County Citizen.

EDITOR ELDORADO SUCCESS

Being in your last issue of THE SUCCESS that our friend Ruff is inclined not to believe the statement that there are oat heads 18 inches long, seeing that you had added two more inches by finding one that measured 20 inches we can beat that by two inches, Dr. W. D. Patton gathered one out of his field that measured 22 inches and contained 96 grains of oats. Now Mr. Ruff you really must come up and see before you can appreciate what a good and grand country we have, we are gradually putting the "big cowman" out of business and what we need is more of these oat raisers. The late frost has put us back some, here in the Vermont but our crops look fine just now. At this writing our cotton is all chopped out and clean as one could wish. Oat crops all harvested and the yield is extra fine, Mr. John Keeney has proven beyond a doubt that this county is well adapted to wheat and rye as his crops are as fine as could be wished for, after looking around and seeing the good crops of a fall grain and the faltering prospects for cotton and feed stuff of all kinds naturally makes one look at the wonderful resources of Schleicher county soil if developed. The writer has been here for about six years and there was no such thing as a farm when he first seen Schleicher county, and little was done for the first three years and not much until the last two years, for many reasons among them I will state a few. First we were looked upon as an unwelcome visitor by the cowmen and the unsettled condition of the state school land, the awards that were issued to day were cancelled tomorrow but in the face of the most discouraging reports put out by the ranch owners, that it required sections instead of acres to make a living on, they, the farmers have kept coming also a more energetic press, with means and energy sufficient to stay "The Trancient" and "Bonus Jumper" went on to follow his chosen occupation.

Doubtless the people here acquainted with the history of developing their country like Kansas Nebraska, all that rich and fertile soil was roamed over by herds of cattle and it was thought by the few people that inhabited it, that the land was only fit for grazing purposes and the man with the hoe had a hard time getting possession of this land, and it is just so with this country, land was almost worthless because it was managed so it made no money. The stockmen claimed they could not afford to pay the small fee of rental $19.00 per section but now, just see how values jumped when they saw the farmers coming. Land that had been sold a few years ago for fifty cents per acre jumped to five and ten dollars per acre, many stockmen were scared and held up their hands in horror and said they (the farmers) would abolish the stock business in West Texas. Now see what we have done we are raising more cattle and sheep to the section than they ever did. We are gradually putting this most fertile soil in cultivation that is capable (with proper management) of producing as much as any land in the state, what we need is more farmers and add like this should be displayed at every public place.

Wanted: By Schleicher county one thousand good farmers.

M. B. McKnight was branding cattle at Dr. Patton's stock pens Saturday.

Misses May Chaney and Clairrene Wooten spent Sunday very pleasantly visiting Miss Edna Enoch.

Joe Patton who has been working on his fathers ranch left Sunday for San Angelo. Joe has made many friends while here and we were sorry to see him leave. If this is so fortunate to miss the waste basket we will come again. "Ben Hur"

F. S. Millard, one of Schleicher county prosperous stockmen was in the city the latter part of last week, and remembered the Editor, and dropped a $ in the basket for which he has our thanks.

Frank Douglass was in the city the first of the week talking the Ruff picnic, and inviting all to come and partake of the good things to eat that the good people of that neighborhood will prepare. That's right Frank we will all be there if no providential hindrance occurs.

W. M. Holland was out last week carousing the county in his behalf, returning Friday evening.

About 100,000 bushels of 50-cent oats will help tide us over until fall to say the least. The oat crop alone in Menard county this year will bring enough money into the county figuring the population at 3,000, to distribute at least $10 to every man, woman and child in the county. Of course, it will not be distributed equally, but a slight hint to the hustler is all that is necessary. All he wants to know is that the money is in the country; he'll get his share of it. — Menardville Messenger.

There are no other neglected as much as the aged men and women who have lived out their best days and are now waiting until the summons come and call them up higher. Too often they pass them by not realizing that they are lonely and that a kind word and pleasant greeting would cheer them and make their lives happier. In our great rush in business ways we too often pass them by thoughtlessly not appreciating the fact that they have passed the time when their minds are taken up in business and they now so much need a little recognition and attention to keep them from thinking that they are but little thought of or cared for. These old people constitute the great power today that leads the world heavenward. We often forget that these old veterans have to a great extent fought battles in this life that makes our lives happier. Don't neglect the gray haired people that come about your place of business, nor neglect to speak a kind word to those you meet. Cheer them along and not only will their remaining days be made happier but your own life will be brighter and better. — Sweetwater Reporter.

Gump'ton on the Farm.

Happy is he who knows how to get along with all he can get and how to do without a thing he can not get. If a boy doesn't use tobacco before he is twenty, he seldom begins afterward. What's the use of the costly habit anyhow? Occupying a $1,500 pew in a fashionable church while living and a $15,000 vault in an aristocratic cemetery when dead, will not admit one to the kingdom of heaven. Plan to be around when the wash tub is to be emptied on Monday, and give your wife a lift. She will thank you for it, and the world will be the brighter for you both. — Farm Journal.

Tom Moore of Rural Route 1, Cochran Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A single bitter word may disturb an entire family for a whole day; one surly glance cast a gloom over the household; while a smile, like a gleam of sunshine, may light up the darkest and weariest hours. Like unexpected flowers which spring up along our pathway full of freshness, fragrance and beauty, so kind words and gentle acts and sweet dispositions, makes glad the sacred spot called home. No matter how humble the abode, if it be sweetened with kindness and smiles, the heart will turn lovingly toward it from all the turmits of the world, and home, if it be ever so homely, will be the dearest spot beneath the circuit of the sun. — Mason News.

GRADY'S GOOD ADVICE.

The following letter of the lamented Henry Grady to his young friend, Clark Howell, on his birthday will not be out of place:

"My son will be just about your age when you are just about mine, and I have got to looking at you as a sort of prefiguring of what my son may be, and of looking over you and rejoicing over your success. Let me write you that I would be willing for you to write him.

"Never gamble. Of all the vices that enthrall men, this is the worst, the strongest and the most insidious. Outside of the morality of it, it is the poorest investment, the poorest business and the poorest fun. No man is safe who plays at all. It is easier never to play. I never knew a man, a gentleman and a man of business, who did not regret the time and money wasted in it. A man who plays poker is unfit for every other business on earth.

"Never drink. I love liquor, and I love the fellowship involved in drinking. My safety has been that I never drink at all.

"It is much easier not to drink at all than to drink a little. If I had to attribute what I have done in life to any one thing, I should attribute it to the fact that I am a teetotaler. As sure as you are born, it is the pleasantest, the easiest and the safest way.

"If you never drink, never gamble, and marry early, there is no limit to the useful and distinguished life you may live. You will be the pride of your father's heart and the joy of your mother's.

"I don't know that there is any happiness on earth worth having outside of the happiness of knowing that you have done your duty and that you have tried to do good. You try to build up. There are always plenty of others who will do all the tearing down that is necessary. You try to live in the sunshine. Men who stay in the shade always get mildewed." — EX.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family nor can he neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb.

Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments. Success often depends upon prompt treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an antiseptic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pains.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach trouble.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by B. E. Earle.

THE GAME OF LIFE.

This life is but a game of cards, Which mortals have to learn; Each shuffles, cuts and deals the pack, And each a trump doth turn.

Some bring a high card to the top, And others bring a low, Some hold a hand quite flush of trumps While others, none can show.

Some shuffle with a practiced hand, And pack the cards with care, So they know they are dealt, Where all the leaders are.

Thus fools are made the dupes of rogues While rogues each other cheat, And he is very wise indeed, Who never meets defeat.

When playing some throw out the ace, The counting cards to save, Some play the duce and some the ten, But many play the knave.

Some play for money—some play for fun— And some for worldly fame, But not until the game's played out, Can they count upon their gain.

When hearts are trumps we play for love And pleasure rules the hour, No thoughts of sorrow check our joy, In beauty's rosy bower.

We sing, we dance, sweet verses make Our cards at random play, And while one trump remains at top, Our game's a holiday.

When diamonds chance to crown the top The players stake the gold, And heavy sums are bet and won, By gamblers young and old.

Intent upon winning, each his game, Doth watch with eager eye, How he may see his neighbor's cards, And beat them on the sly.

When clubs are trumps look out for war On ocean and on land, For bloody horrors always come, When clubs are held in hand.

Then lives are staked instead of gold, The dogs of war are freed, In our dear country, and we see, That clubs have got the lead.

Last game of all, is when the spade Is turned by hand of time, He always deals the closing game, In every age and clime.

No matter how much each man wins Or how much each man saves, The spade will finish up the game, And dig the gamblers, graves.

Rev. P. D. Swift's household goods arrived the latter part of last week and was stored in the Epps building. Rev. Swift will be in today, he will start a meeting at the Bailey school house today lets every body attend and get all the good out of the meeting we can, and I am sure we will all receive a little.
