Post Script

A number of people like me, who live on the outskirts of the city, complained over the recent cold spell that gas pressure was extremely low and we were falling back on bath robes to keep warm in our kitchen on the north side of the house.

Up town at the printing office on Sunday, with ice collecting everywhere, I found my print shop comfortably warm with abundant gas pressure.

Here in town, over the past year or so, the city-owned gas distribution system, which is about 35 years old, has been undergoing repairs as workmen can get to them. Leaks have been repaired and some of the pipe has been replaced where necessary.

Weather Cooperates For Annual Stock Show

The annual 4-H and FFA Stock Show was held Saturday at the site south of town, with much better weather conditions than have been encountered at some of those of the past. It was not until about noon that the wet norther came in to mark beginning of the ice storm that continued through the week end.

Barbecue with all the trimmings was served to the crowd at noon.

Complete results of the show are given on page 5.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—Beef prices show signs of fluctuating in coming weeks, and fryer chicken prices will increase immediately, but sugar prices indicate a downward trend, one forecaster says.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"More grass-fed beef is now available, and the current beef supply is plentiful—however, there will likely be fluctuating prices in the coming week," the specialist said.

"Fryer chickens will probably show an immediate increase in price, though, because demand is usually heavier after holidays," she added.

Mrs. Clyatt, reporting a drop in sugar prices, pointed to a decrease in demand for sugar as one reason.

Pork supplies are starting a decline, and consumers can expect prices to increase at the retail level soon, the specialist noted.

Although eggs currently are priced at last year's level, they will show a substantial increase in price later in the year, she predicted.

At fruit counters, grapefruit and oranges are in peak supply with good quality.

"Fresh vegetables include plentiful supplies of dry beans, peas and potatoes. Dry bean and potato prices are down substantially from the 1973-74 crop year, as are dry onion prices."

Consumer Watchwords: Food retailers may sell some food below cost to attract customers. That's happening now at many egg counters—which makes eggs an "economical must" these days.

Ginning Resumed Following Cold Spell

The frigid spell that brought ice and snow over the past week end put a stop to work at Mikeska Gin, until warm weather returned Tuesday.

A report from the office Tuesday morning revealed that minor repairs were being made to the equipment and that the gin was about ready to run.

There were two large trailers under the suction and more was expected that afternoon.

The bale total for the season at that time was 1882 with 13 more bales on the yard. With continued fair weather the remaining cotton should move to the gin rapidly.

Mrs. Baker Is 90

Mrs. Mary E. Baker was honored recently on her 90th birthday. She was born in Mason Jan. 11, 1885 and has lived in Eldorado with her daughter, Mrs. Mayme Hayes the past four years.

Relatives from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Glenn, Mrs. Lola Copeland, San Angelo; Gary Davidson and family, Midland; Janis Glenn Comstock, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Sales, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Morgan, Junction; Mrs. Ada Martin, Mrs. Lennie Ellis, Sadie Benton, Todd Hicks, Kaylee Hicks, Menard. Mr. and Mrs. John Walling, Sherri and Randy, and Mrs. Mayme Hayes, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Strickland attended from Eldorado.

Frigid Air Brings 10 Degree Reading

Over the week end, Schleicher county experienced snow flurries, icy roads and streets, but less hazardous driving conditions than were experienced farther north where San Angelo had two inches of snow and Abilene six.

All of West Texas was under a travelers advisory over the week end on account of the weather.

By Sunday night, the winds had died down, and local residents awoke Monday morning to a 10-degree reading, the lowest of the winter so far and lower than the 16 degrees reported then at San Angelo.

School continued as usual in Eldorado Monday, but area reports were that all schools in Runnels county were to be closed Monday as were schools in Coleman and Santa Anna.

In Eldorado a few pupils were absent due to flu.

As the week progressed, a warming trend was setting in.

Stretch Your Car's Antifreeze

Due to short supplies and high prices of antifreeze, many people are trying to stretch the amount they have on hand or in their vehicles. Using the same antifreeze in your car or truck year after year is fine, providing you check for signs of radiator rust.

Ethylene glycol antifreeze (the permanent type) never breaks down but the rust inhibitor in the solution does.

There is no easy way to determine if the rust inhibitor in the anti-freeze has lost its effectiveness. A good precautionary measure is to add a can of rust inhibitor each year. Even then, the cooling system should be inspected periodically for rust and other deposits.

If rust and foreign materials are found, use a solution to clean and flush the system. Unfortunately, that may call for a new antifreeze solution.

Some car owners drain a gallon of the old solution and add an equal amount of new antifreeze to strengthen the rust-inhibiting effectiveness of the solution in the radiator.

Always buy the permanent type ethylene glycol antifreeze; the alcohol type evaporates at high operating temperatures because of its low boiling point.

Time For Planning Landscape

Now is a good time to start planning your home landscape. We emphasize the importance of early planning for future outdoor landscaping.

Before buying any plants, have a basic plan in mind. Consider the type of plants you will need for the amount of space available and the amount of money and time you have to spend on the project.

We warn against buying plants on impulse. Too often plants are purchased with no thought of where the plant will be used or what its eventual size will be. This can result in areas that are overgrown with plants.

Before doing any landscaping, set down priority projects. The first thing to think about is trees and the lawn. Once these are decided upon, shrubs and flower beds can be added as funds and time become available.

A helpful publication, "A Planning Guide for Home Landscaping," is available at the county Extension office. It offers suggestions and a plan for action in developing the home landscape.

Cold Protection For Landscape Plants

The winter season is at hand, and many plants in your home landscape may need protection from severe cold weather.

Sudden drops in temperature after prolonged warm periods can be especially damaging to landscape plants. So, a little extra care will help get these plants through the winter.

Heavy mulching with hay, straw or pulp can prevent cold damage to normally winter hardy annuals such as pansies, stock, calendulas, ranunculas and anemones in the southern part of the state. After the extreme cold has passed, the mulch can be removed from the top of the plants to expose them to more light.

Nature has provided most plants with the ability to adjust to temperature extremes, but many landscape plants are from other regions of the world and may not be readily able to adapt to extreme temperature changes. Thus, a little extra care during the winter months will give them the cold protection they need.

Ice damage to trees and shrubs is always a possibility during the winter months, especially for evergreens such as pines that have more surface area and accumulate more ice. Little can be done to prevent ice accumulation, but proper pruning of broken limbs after ice damage is essential.

Boy Scout Council Banquet Set Jan. 18

Alec Chesser, vice-president of Houston Natural Gas Corporation, will be the speaker at the Concho Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America Annual Recognition Banquet, according to John P. Smith, Council President.

The banquet will be held Saturday, January 18, 1975 at 7:00 p.m. in the Houston Harte University Center, Angelo State University, San Angelo, Texas.

Chesser is best known to many Texans for his sportscasting of Southwest Conference football games. Pursuing this as a hobby from 1944 through 1967, he was the late Kern Tips' regular partner for 20 seasons.

His Scouting dates back to 1937 and Patrol Leader duties in Troop 103, Queens Council, New York.

A representative to the Boy Scouts of America National Council since 1965, he has earned the Silver Beaver and Silver Antelope awards while serving as Assistant Camp Director of the Idaho National Jamboree in 1969, was Region Nine leader at the World Jamboree in Japan (1971) and was a faculty member at the Philmont Training Center.

Chesser is now serving as Vice-President of Area III, South Central Region, Boy Scouts of America. The territory covers 128 counties, south of a line from San Angelo to Waco and Tyler.

Other features of the Annual Recognition Banquet will be presentation of the Silver Beaver Award to five outstanding persons in West Texas for their dedication to serving youth, election and installation of Council Officers for 1975, presentation of the Charter to the newly organized Concho Valley Council Chapter of the National Eagle Scout Association and report of the Council's Long-Range Planning Committee.

The banquet is open to all Scouters and friends of Scouting. Tickets are $3.50 and may be purchased through the Council Service Center in San Angelo, or call the Center at 655-7107.

Major Appliances Still A Bargain

Appliances, like most other consumer products, have experienced sharp price increases over the past year. However, unlike most other products, many appliances are still less expensive now than they were 20 years ago. What has been forgotten during the recent inflationary spiral is the fact that over the past two decades, appliance prices inched steadily downward in spite of the fact that they've become better and more versatile.

For example, a June 20, 1954 advertisement in the Louisville Courier Journal offered a 12.2-cubic-foot General Electric two-door refrigerator/freezer for $325.95. Compare that with $499.95, the distributor's suggested retail price for a 20.8-cubic-foot GE two-door refrigerator/freezer made today.

Even though today's model costs $26 less, it has 70 per cent more storage volume than the old model. So the price per cubic foot for today's model is about half that of the old one, a remarkable fact considering the effects of inflation over the past 20 years.

What other differences are there? The 1954 appliance had a freezer section of 2.3-cubic-foot capacity and a fresh food section of 9.9 cubic feet. And only the fresh food section was frost-free. The 1974 model has a frost-free freezer with 6.93-cubic-foot capacity — three times the size of the old one — and nearly 14 cubic feet of fresh food capacity, also frost-free.

In addition to total frost-free operation, the new refrigerator has roll-out wheels to make it easier to move around for cleaning, comes in a choice of decorator colors, and can be equipped with an automatic ice-maker.

Furthermore, today's model may fit into a narrower space in your kitchen because you don't need to allow for more than three inches of door clearance since hinges have been improved.

Prices are up from a year ago, yes, but all things considered, major appliances are still remarkably good bargains.

In Macedonia, it's believed, three lights burning in one room will bring death.

Considerations In Selecting A Toaster Oven

If a toaster oven is on your shopping list this year, the choice may be difficult to make.

Most models are more than a toaster, less than a range, but able to do a variety of cooking jobs. It may bake, broil, roast or toast, depending upon the manufacturer. But what makes this portable appliance most appealing to homemakers is that they don't have to heat and clean the range oven or broiler compartment.

Heat for making and roasting comes from a heating element in the bottom of the toaster oven. A heating element in the top provides heat for broiling and top browning.

Some models have heating elements in both top and bottom that are controlled by switches. Other models have only one heating element. The entire appliance is flipped over to get the heat in place for the cooking in these models.

Since no one type offers exactly the same cooking functions as another, taking time to read the user's manual for each one will be worthwhile. The unit will do only the specific jobs described in its manual.

Some features that add to the joy of use are removable glass doors, removable racks and continuous clean liners for easy care. Automatic cut off and a bell signal are added convenience features.

Before buying any portable appliance, consumers should make sure adequate electrical current and a convenience outlet are available.

Recourse Available For Clothing Consumers

If you've ever been frustrated because a knit shirt shrank or the dry cleaners spotted your favorite blouse and you thought there was no recourse—you're wrong. There is something you can and should do. —Keep records. This means saving all sales slips, receipts and canceled checks for any garment, yard goods or fabric care service for which a substantial amount of money was paid.

Analyze the problem. Consumers have a legitimate complaint if they have followed the care instructions on the garment, if they weren't responsible for a stain on a dry cleaned garment, and if they have worn the garment as it was intended.

Just because something has been worn, this doesn't mean a complaint can't be made. Most problems occur after a garment is worn and cleaned.

Begin the complaint at the source. Visit or write the retailer, the dry cleaners, the mail order company or wherever the garment or service was obtained.

Ask to see the manager because a clerk usually cannot resolve a complaint. Have available a record of sale, a clear and definite explanation of the problem, what caused it, and—most important—what resolution is expected (an exchange, a refund or an apology).

If this doesn't bring satisfactory results, write the company president or manufacturer.

Type the letter, date it, and keep a copy. Include in it a copy of the record of sale, an explanation of the problem, what caused it, what steps have already been taken and what resolution is expected.

If after a reasonable length of time, three or four weeks, satisfactory results haven't occurred, go higher.

Send a copy of the letter written to the company president or manufacturer and a request for help to the local Better Business Bureau; a city, county or state governmental consumer agency; the State Attorney General; a consumer help column in a newspaper; or a federal consumer protection agency.

Finally, if no satisfaction has been obtained, sue in a small claims court. In Texas, up to $150 can be recovered. The total cost of a successful suit is only around $5.00.

Consumer Debt And How To Cope With It

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Tex.—Consumer debt — we've all been reading about it, and most of us have experienced it in some measure.

It's a well publicized fact that many consumers who previously committed themselves and part of their income for time payments on major appliances, cars, revolving charge accounts, perhaps loans, are now facing a money crunch. This is because other bills for essentials such as gasoline, utilities, food, clothing, and housing have skyrocketed in the meantime in a manner which couldn't be foreseen.

Some consumers who have never before had money problems are snocked to realize that their monthly bills eat up all of their paycheck—and then some.

What happens in such a situation and what can a consumer do about it? The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers say many consumers simply do not know how to extricate themselves when they have been caught up in a web of debt.

Some refuse to accept the fact that they must make changes in their way of living. Others panic, not knowing how to deal with the problem, or who to turn to for information and assistance. Still others try to ignore the problem, hoping that in a few months it will correct itself.

But most often, say our Consumer Protection experts, this just doesn't happen. What does happen is that the situation usually gets worse. Sometimes it isn't until letters from creditors begin to arrive, pressing for payment of overdue bills, that the consumer faces the fact that adjustments must be made.

By that time, his overdue debts may have been turned over to a professional debt collection agency by his creditors, who themselves may be caught in a money crunch. Many debt collection agencies perform a necessary service for creditors, and operate strictly within legal and ethical bounds. A few, however, do not.

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division attorneys remind consumers that debt collectors who use threats, harassment, or unfair means to collect payments are violating the Texas Debt Collection Practice Act.

In the Attorney General's brochure, "A Practical Primer for the Texas Consumer," several examples of specific illegal actions are included:

- Threatening to file unwarranted criminal charges against a person.
- Using profane or obscene language to abuse a consumer.
- Making annoying telephone calls to the consumer or his family.
- Trying to collect extra charges not legally chargeable to the consumer.

Others include using a misleading name to contact a consumer; misrepresenting that the agency is in some way connected with a federal, state, or local government entity by use of some official-looking insignia; or misrepresenting that a debt is being collected by an attorney if this is not the case.

Our Consumer Protection attorneys also caution consumers trying to overcome a chronic monthly cash shortage against dealing with "debt consolidation firms," often called "debt adjusters." Such firms are illegal in Texas.

Some out-of-state "debt consolidation" firms advertise in magazines and by mail, however, and their promises sound appealing to indebted consumers: "Send us a list of your monthly bills and the amount of your income. We'll pay your bills and have enough left for your living expenses!"

What the firms fail to advertise is that the fee for such services may be exorbitant, and that this is usually the FIRST item deducted from your paycheck. Whatever remains is divided between you and your creditors.

For assistance with consumer complaints contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

In India, the howling of jackals is thought to be a sign of approaching misfortune.

- STATE CAPITOL -

by Lyndell Williams
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—The 64th Legislature whipped into action Tuesday (Jan. 14) faced with a heavy agenda which lawmakers must strain to complete by the June 2 adjournment deadline.

Blessed with a revenue surplus estimated at well over the $1 billion mark, legislators may still have a hard time avoiding new taxes due to record spending demands.

Most costly proposals of all deal with overhauling the public school finance formulas, regarded as a must job for the legislature this year.

Price tags on school finance reform range up to $2.7 billion for the next two years. While a more modest version probably will be adopted, any approach will take a big chunk of the available revenues.

Election of the new House speaker—Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake—was the first major order of business for the session.

Only 30 new members took the oath of office in the House, only four in the Senate.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe is pushing for $394 million in emergency appropriations to raise state employees' pay by 10% immediately, provide stopgap school aid and increase retirement benefits.

Matters which legislators will wrangle over during the next 140 days include constitutional revision, creation of a public utilities commission, election law reform, environmental matters, launching a presidential primary, prison and hospital reforms and property tax overhaul.

Commission Spurned
A Senate consumer affairs subcommittee balked (on a two-to-two tie vote) at recommending a state-wide public utility commission.

Sens: Betty Andujar of Fort Worth and Bill Meier of Euless voted against the proposal, while Sens. Ron Clower of Garland and Lloyd Doggett of Austin supported it.

Clower and Doggett immediately pre-filed a bill to set up the commission, as Clower warned the committee vote demonstrates stormy days ahead in the legislature over the issue.

Inquiry Set
Atty. Gen. John Hill announced he will ask District Judge James R. Meyers of Austin to convene a court of inquiry, probably next summer, into the 1974 Huntsville prison siege.

Hill delayed plans for the inquiry until after trials on criminal charges resulting from the July-August hostage seizure and shootout led by onetime narcotics kingpin Fred Gomez Carrasco.

One of Carrasco's confederates is set for trial next month, and trial of others accused of smuggling guns into the prison is expected to follow. Hill said judges strongly urged him not to call the court of inquiry until the trials have been completed.

The Attorney General said it is doubtful the probe can begin in Meyers' court before mid-summer.

Short Shorts
State and city sales taxes apply to gold and silver bullion purchased or delivered in Texas, Comptroller Bob Bullock held.

Texas wheat farmers may harvest a record crop of 117 million bushels in 1975, according to Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Cigarette stamp revenues increased more than a million dollars — to $20.8 million—last month over December 1973.

Wildcat oil drilling increased by 42 wells in 1974 over 1973, but wildcat gas well drilling declined slightly.

Disaster designation has been requested for Castro, Floyd and Hale counties due to prolonged drought and adverse weather conditions.

Eubanks Visit Here

The Gene Eubanks and Anna Laurie Plummer of Kerrville spent a late Christmas in Eldorado and Roosevelt with the Palmer Wests, Vance Eubanks and Cashes W. Taylors in Sonora at the Aldwell Ranch where they had Christmas dinner, hunted deer, getting their annual hunt.

Cashes and Dale have had a 20-year traditional exchange of a bottle of "Hadaool" in a very warm sack of Cashes, but due to Santa misplacing Dale's bottle of Hadaool this year, she updated Cashes' gift with a bottle of Geritol in a Blue Silk Stocking she had worn several years ago.

John Deats Eubank of Angelo State University and Dale's grandmother Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwin were guests.

The Eubanks enjoy seeing their Eldorado friends. Scott was a guest of Elizabeth Niblett's and enjoyed the Snow Flake Ball, and the company of Candace Martin, John David Meador, and afterwards in the home of the Charlie Nibletts'.

Lady

with a smile

What was the Mona Lisa thinking about when Leonardo da Vinci painted her? Was she smiling? Some say that she was actually closer to tears!

It is centuries since Leonardo and his model lived, but throngs still stand before the painting in the Louvre and wonder at it. It is much smaller than people expect, but that in no way diminishes its attraction. For the Mona Lisa symbolizes the mystery of life. No matter how great our curiosity, we can never know all the answers.

There is a great deal of mystery in the Church too. Often this bothers those who would seek a logical explanation for everything. That is where we need faith — for faith is, in part, an acceptance of what we inherently feel but can't prove in ordinary, everyday terms.

Where to find faith? Admittedly, it can be quite a quest. But a good place to start that quest is in church.
