DEVILS TO CLASH WITH KERMIT SATURDAY

Charlie Heard To Tackle Claude

Sweetwater school officials very graciously agreed to let the Pointe Steers here Friday of next week instead of Saturday. The Big Spring Prof. had contended all along that the gate receipts would be much larger on Friday. The Nolan county officials also aided the cause by offering Big Spring the use of canvas to stretch around the fence. This should increase the gate at least a few dollars.

Ben Daniel's Devils vs Kermit. The Devils will be worth your time and money you are badly mistaken. Ben's cohorts have never failed to play a scraggy game, and they know plenty of football, too.

This Big Boy They Call Jack Darwin, Is Plenty Good

This big boy they call Jack Darwin, is plenty good, according to assistant Steer coach George Brown. Brown said Darwin played a whale of a defensive game against El Paso. The two Flowers boys, Bob and Sam, also played stellar roles, according to reports.

George Neel Is Said to Have Made Some Mighty Neat Tosses, but the Trouble Occurred on the Other End of the Line

George Neel is said to have made some mighty neat tosses, but the trouble occurred on the other end of the line, where the receiver had difficulty holding the pigskin when it was put right in his arms.

Ollie Cordill May Not Be Quite the Ball Toter He Was a Year Ago, but How He Can Boot That Thing!

Ollie Cordill may not be quite the ball toter he was a year ago, but how he can boot that thing! The first time we saw Ollie lift the pigskin in his arms, we hesitated to be so much about it, however, we are convinced that he has dynamite in that clanted foot. The coaches even declare him to be almost as good a punter as Dennis, and that's something.

One Thing That Has Bothered Ollie Cordill Has Been His Punt Into the Wind—They Have Had a Tendency to Go Almost Straight Up

One thing that has bothered Ollie Cordill has been his punt into the wind—they have had a tendency to go almost straight up. But that's being eliminated with an hour or so practice daily.

Here's How the Coaches Tell us the Steers Handled Bowle: Cordill Would Get Off a Long Punt and then the Heard Would Intercept

Here's how the coaches tell us the Steers handled Bowle: Cordill would get off a long punt and then the Heard would intercept. Judging from telegraphic reports it would seem that the Steers were well groomed in pass defense, but Brown said our opinion would have been quite different had we actually seen the game. He said that the way the Bears were passing the Steers could not help but intercept the tosses.

Assistants Have Been Handling the Steers for the Past Couple of Days While Bristow Recovers from a Slight Illness

Assistants have been handling the Steers for the past couple of days while Bristow recovers from a slight illness. There's no getting around the truth. Big Spring has a light line this year that's likely to find the going rough against Sweetwater and San Angelo. Added to that is a physically run-down backfield combination. The mentors say that at the present time they have more wind than the players, but plenty of running is on the daily menu to remedy the situation.

HORROR OF A DISASTER IS LOST IN DISTANCE

No more impressive examples of the relative effect of distance upon the human emotions can be had, than those afforded by three recent disasters which cost a total of nearly 3000 lives.

To Americans, the one that struck home with most telling effect was the burning of the Morro Castle just off the New Jersey coast. Fire at sea is perhaps the most horrible form of death known, because it is called upon to face, and here was a case where 137 men and women were burned or drowned as the final episode of a gay holiday cruise and within only a few hours of home.

The event struck horror into the hearts of all of us. It was so close and its victims were so familiar to us.

Yet within the same month two much more heartening tragedies have occurred, and it is doubtful whether either got more than casual recognition in our homes.

In one case, a mighty typhoon swept out of the Pacific and overtook Okaka, Japan, and hurled nearly 2000 men, women and children to their deaths. It tore up buildings and homes, and left more than 8000 homeless and destitute.

In the other case, an explosion sealed the opening to a coal mine near Wrexham, Wales, and doomed 200 miners to a death by fire and asphyxiation.

Here were accidents far more disastrous than the Morro Castle fire, but because of their distances from us they seemed so unreal and intangible. It is hard for us to realize the gravity and dread consequences of these distant disasters.

Men, women and children deprived of their homes, families torn apart; wives, sons and daughters left mourning and alone; thousands without further means of support.

At the same time the Lindbergh case broke again, a suspect is arrested and the whole story of the fatal kidnaping of more than two years ago is revived. So gripping was that tragedy and so beloved its principal characters that it has become the chief topic of discussion in most homes of the country.

But while we are so engrossed in our own affairs, we seem to lose regard for those of distant peoples, and the farther these peoples are from us, the less do they affect us.

Perhaps that is only human for it would seem a sorry task to take the whole world's disasters equally to heart.

SUSPICIOUS DELAY. Every lover of good sportswoman-ship might have had some degree of sympathy for Captain T. O. M. Sopwith in his protest of a foul on the part of his opponent in the international yacht races off Newport.

Somehow or other, the amenities so aptly defined by the ancient comies, Alphonse and Gaston, are required under the racing rules, when the commander of an overtaken vessel—in this case the Rainbow—suddenly is confronted with a determination on the part of the leading boat, the Endeavour, not to be overtaken. Quite possibly, Commodore Vanderbilt should have bowed himself away to permit Captain Sopwith to luff into the wind ahead.

Another Woman Happy—Lost 45 Pounds—Complexion Lovely Now

A Hackensack, N. J., woman writes: "I suffered to this I could not wear the lovely clothes in woman's magazines. Then I read about Kruschen—tried a jar and to my surprise I lost 10 lbs. in 2 weeks. I not only look 100% better but feel it."

Get busy girls—be able to wear the new styles without looking ridiculous—get rid of bulging waists and ugly pads of fat on thighs and above breast lines—without starving, loss of sleep or leaving skin wrinkled or sagging. Just take one-half level teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

Doctors prescribe Kruschen for overweight folks who know it's safe, effective and builds up glorious health (see note below). A jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at Collins Bros. Druggists, and leading druggists the world over.

Mrs. O. H. Simpson of Terno, Calif., writes: "After taking Kruschen three and a half months I'm 45 lbs. lighter. I'm so happy. Ann has disappeared—my complexion is lovely now."

Garden Club Prizes Awarded To Members For Prettiest, And Most Improved Yards

Garden Club Plans Ambitious Beautification Project For 1935; To Continue Throughout Winter

Prizes to the members of the Garden Club who entered their yards in the beautification contest and met with its conditions were awarded Wednesday afternoon at a called meeting of the club at the Federation Clubhouse.

A generous number of prizes were donated by merchants of the city to encourage gardening. The club made a good start in membership.

In spite of the reduced water rates offered by the city the good start was only a start. The hot summer discouraged so many members of the club that they dropped in attendance and failed to meet that requirement. The actual number of yards entered was small and almost every member who lasted the contest through won a prize.

The prizes were such substantial rewards that the Garden club hopes for bigger membership next year.

Mrs. J. M. Morgan, president of the club, received first prize for attending the most meetings. The prize was a year's subscription to the Big Spring Herald. Mrs. W. D. Willbanks, secretary, received the second prize, which was a toilet set from Penney's. Mrs. Willbanks also received votes of the club for doing the most work and was presented with a set of black bud vases from Wackers.

The Chamber of Commerce gave each prize-winner a stake indicating the yard had been entered in the contest. These will show the public which are the prize-winning yards.

The judges announced that in driving over the city, they noticed many attractive yards that were not entered. They expressed the wish that these women join the club this fall and begin to give the benefit of their garden experience to the club and the town.

The club is continuing through the winter months and is contemplating a big civic gardening project for next summer that will benefit all gardens; the project will need the cooperation of every woman in Big Spring who wants an attractive yard. Only through organized backing can the woman of the town make it possible for the water rate to be lowered and other facilities for gardening in the West made possible, say the officials of the club.

Awards
The following awards were made: Best all-around yard: first prize, two months water donated by the city of Big Spring, won by Mrs. E. D. Merrill; second, one month's water bill, won by Mrs. Russell Manion; third, lawn chair donated by Barrow Furniture company.

WHERE DID WE GET THE DOLLAR-SIGN

WHY don't we use a big D for "dollar" and draw two lines through that? Who started the idea of using an S instead?

Well, one explanation links us with old Spanish trading days. Prices were based on pesos, which was abbreviated to read P<sup>s</sup>. Gradually, they say, we came to write the P right on top of the S. But the sign was too hard to read, so we rolled the loop off the P, which left $<sup>s</sup>. And finally, we picked up another stroke and put it through the S, resulting in our present $.

Now reading the dollar-sign is natural to every one. But much more important, we believe, is learning to read dollar-values.

When you hold a newspaper in your hand, the dollar-values are right before your eyes. You find them in nearly every good advertisement. They tell you where to get the most quality at the lowest cost.

It's a good practice to study the dollar-values in your newspaper before you set out to buy. Then the price-tags mean more to you than a group of figures.

CHAPTER FIVE

"What sort of a chap is Hondon?" asked Anne.

"First fellow as far as I know," returned Marian, "a little erratic, maybe. Always had more money than was good for him. Good looking, civil man on the U Varsity. Silver took me to the races one year."

"Think it was his fault she applied for a divorce?"

"Probably, in so far that he'd give her anything she wanted, like all the rest of us. She has the most unholly way of taking the things you one loves most and making the girl-er glad he's giving. I haven't seen her since her wedding, but I understand he spoiled her like everybody else. There, how do you like the new dress?"

Marian had donned a lilac colored, afgora frock, pulled a beige sash over her hair and slipped into a beige lapin swagger coat.

"Stunning," declared Anne with enthusiasm. "In so glad you're getting some sense about clothes. You should take a few tips from the Silver friend of yours. Len's the kind of a fellow every woman's bound to make a try for and you're going to have to learn you can't always depend upon your hair and eyes to get you by. You're too practical, you and your plain tailored clothes."

"You were lucky," laughed Marian, stowing her bag alongside his camera. "My chin hasn't seen a quilt for so long, it would probably think it was an eclipse of the moon."

As the cab careened around the corner Estes spoke. "Say Ian, what's this yarn about. I thought this marriage was one of those made-in-Heaven affairs."

"It was, but they didn't keep it there and this hemisphere is rough on marital unions."

"Another woman?"

"I don't think Cliff knew there were other women."

"Another man, then?"

"No-no," she paused as the cab shot into the estuary tube and wheeled along the floor of the bay to fast the signal lights ran into a single flare of red, blue and green.

"No," she repeated as they came out on the island, "people are divorced for other reasons."

"Not really," chortled Estes. "If they are us newsmen don't hear about them."

The cab skimmed the tree-lined avenues, cross a bridge and scurried along a dyke that rimmed the bay-shore. To the left the airport building blazed like a fiesta city, and in the field small ships arose and settled like queer species of night-flying moths.

They pulled up before the terminal, rushed into the building where their tickets awaited them, then out onto the field where the tri-motor express waited in the tremulous glow of flood lights.

Marian felt a pulse of excitement beat in her throat. The sheer beauty of the silver ship with its wide-spread wings, the roar of power from the testing motors, erased the shabby scene of the court room and the later news of the tragedy from her mind.

She settled back into the comfortable seat, adjusted her belt for ease on the upward swing of the ship, heard the sharp slam of the cabin door, saw the co-pilot join the pilot in the control cabin. She accepted cotton for her ears from the trim stewardess in olive drab, then looked about her.

Estes was leaning forward, gazing past her towards the blaze of terminal lights. "Look," he cried, "there's a guy trying to make the ship."

Marian turned quickly just in time to see a field attendant clutch the coat of a man who had darted out of the building into the danger zone.

and then came wonder at his presence on the airfield. Had he received a call from home and was flying east? But no he would have gone south to Los Angeles, first, then east. But why... and how... she looked down as though she might be able to find some answer to her bewildered questioning in the dark waters of the bay, girdled by the lights of the cities that rimmed its shores.

She would telephone Anne as soon as she had finished with her assignment. Anne would know. Len was staying with Doctor Steels.

The lights at the head of the cabin which had illuminated "No smoking" and "Adjust your safety belt, please" was out and with it the air of strain along the passengers. The stewardess was pointing upwards and there and there against the midnight blue of the windows.

She must forget Len and think of Silver and of the ordeal ahead of her in breaking the news to her. Hondon had seemed to think knowing her would make it easier. It wasn't. Friendship, disillusioned as it was on Marian's part, placed a definite restraint upon her.

NATIONAL GLIDER CAMP SET UP IN SHENANDOAH PARK

BIG MEADOWS, Va., (UP)—Out to regain world gliding supremacy, the United States has established a national glider camp here in the heart of Shenandoah National Park.

The nation's foremost glider planes and pilots now are assembled on the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains for another chance at world records.

If the camp proves successful, it is believed the National Park Service will create a glider center rivaling the world-renowned German camp in the Wasserkuppen and the Russian, British and French national gliding camps.

A quarter of a century ago, the United States led the world in motorless flying.

Work of permanently improving this natural glider area has been undertaken by members of the 250th Company, Civilian Conservation Corps.

ional, have moved heaven and earth to get Raymond L. Haight, nominee of the Commonwealth Party, out of the race. Haight ran in the Republican primaries and lost to Merriam.
The young man refuses to budge and is getting his back kept up by a lot of independent Republican voters who think he's the boy to out in Sinclair.
What makes it harder is that Haight sponsors the Townsend

The National Prohibition Party is hoping to put four men into the upper house as follows: Elwood Hollingshead, New Jersey; Edwin J. Fithian, Pennsylvania; Newman H. The Drys will try to send 26 congressmen from Pennsylvania and 4 from West Virginia.

Notes

Joseph B. Weaver, who has been appointed chief of the Steamboat Inspection Service, displacing Dies, is Hoover, owns his appointment to Senator Tydings of Maryland. There's much criticism of this alleged political appointment. Charges that politicians are manipulating home owners' loans have come in from several states. Representatives of both industry and agriculture are strenuously opposing increased freight rates in hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Operations of Federal Export-Import banks are delayed while Comptroller General McCarl satisfies himself on legal points. Several corporations organized by New Deal agencies are said to be unauthorized by law. One was set up by executive order.

NEW YORK

By James McLaughlin

Hot

The New Deal is about to be thrown for its first major flop. It will soon become painfully evident to all concerned that Federal regulation of oil production is a total loss. Backstage Republican leadership are cheered—on the theory that one specific horrible example is worth a ton of campaign arguments.

Senator Hiram Johnson meantime is sitting on the sidelines and complacently watching his life long enemies, the conservative Republicans, squirm. Johnson holds the Republican-Democratic-Progressive-Commonwealth nominations for re-election to the senate and didn't even have to make a speech or issue a statement therefore. It is an unusual experience for the pugnaeous Hiram. Ever since 1910, defeating the so-called Southern Pacific "line," Johnson always has had a battle on his hands.
Now, in the evening of his political career, he is establishing some sort of a record for soft pickings in a state that takes its politics seriously. This is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that Herbert Hoover, another Californian, cares very little for the senior senator.

Perhaps H. J. is just getting set for that appointment to the Supreme Court bench which is just around the corner. His toga on George Creel's shoulders would give him no worry for those he left behind him.

Spots

Political observers are wondering how Jim Farley was ever sold on the so-called Jones-O'Connor plan for giving closed-bank depositors a slightly additional break.
After the March 1933 bank holiday depositors were appointed for the sour banks. Then, after preliminary readjustment, receivers were placed in charge. The receivers were patronage appointments.

Plunge

The Texas Commission is hamstringing because it's an elected body and the independents who are running hot oil are politically powerful. Moreover it would have to stage prosecutions right in the territory and everybody there who has a nickel-owns oil royalties. It would be harder than pulling hen's teeth to find a jury that would convict.
So far the big companies have stuck to their knitting and their quotas but they're getting fed up with the pressure of illegal competition. Concerns that have to buy a large proportion of their crude to meet refinery requirements are especially hard hit. There's only one way that they can squelch the hot oil nuisance—by slashing prices.

This is what Iokes has particularly tried to avoid and so far the big fellows have played ball with him. But some of these days one of them will lose patience and take the plunge. The others will have to follow suit. The instant that happens federal prestige as a regulator of industry is knocked into a cocked hat.

Break-Up

The gold bloc conference in Brussels on October 20 will have something on its mind besides money and tariffs. Insiders learn that France will use the occasion to inform its poor relations it can no longer support them in the style to which they have become accustomed. The French financial situation at home is too sour to permit further loans to needy allies.

That will be ghastly news to Poland, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Belgium and Jugoslavia. The last two are likely to go boom almost right away. It means the break-up of the gold bloc as an economic unit and a policy of every man for himself among its members.
New York sharps remark that France's loss will be England's gain if the British believe an extension of Sterlingia—Britain's personally conducted economic bloc—is worth the investment of a few bum loans. This situation will bear watching.

Hedge

Recent sales of rubber by Holland and wheat by France for future delivery—far larger than usual transactions of that type—show how the wind blows. Smart financial circles in both countries are trying to hedge against being trapped in their own embargo-depreciated currencies by setting up future credits for themselves in dollars or pounds.

Well-posted sources have it that the French hedging has been done by people very close to the government.

Sugar

Uncle Sam's benevolent attempt to give Cuba a helping hand by lowering the tariff on sugar has brewed a keg of trouble. American sugar interests are involved in bedded rows with both England and Cuba.

Our refiners have worked out an ingenious system under the law whereby they pay a duty of 90 cents a hundred pounds on raw sugar and later get back a refund from the government of $2.00 a hundred pounds. This is too lovely for words and enables them to lay their product down in London at a cent a pound and still make money.
This doesn't appeal to British refiners and the biggest of them—Tate & Lyle—has warned all its distributors to lay off American sugar. It's in a position to make its pressure effective and the result is that our sugar export market to England is almost cut off.
On the Cuban side the argument is about minimum prices. The Cubans want these prices to apply even to contracts made before they went into effect. American purchasers can't see any sense to that and the Cuban government forbids the shipment of their sugar until they do. It looks like a prolonged and destructive stalemate.

Talks

It begins to appear that New York will find a use for its $4,000,000 Floyd Bennett Airport—completely equipped with everything but tenants. One of the airmail lines—TWA—is talking about moving in. A good reason is lack of facilities at Newark but a better one is the very attractive rental rates at Bennett. Money talks loudly to mail lines which haven't seen any for months. It may turn out that TWA isn't the only line with a keen ear.
On the assumption that New York has more money than Newark the wisecracks are predicting a last-laugh victory for air-enthusiast LaGuardia.

After stretching a hit to left field into a double, Dizzy Dean, who pitched game of the world series, is shown scoring the first Cardinal run in the wild third inning that produced seven scores. The Great One, seemingly more concerned about happenings on the field than in getting home, later in the same inning hit safely for the second time on a grounder to third base, but was left stranded. ### BORN TO BE BAD

Under The Dome

At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEPHERD

AUSTIN (UP)—"Was my face red?" Mrs. L. C. Sutton, receptionist at Attorney General James V. Allred's office would ask if she used such expressions.

It happened this way: Shortly after the Attorney General had won the Democratic nomination for Governor, a well-gowned, handsome lady called at the office and inquired for General Allred.

Upon being informed that he was not in, she asked for paper and wrote a little note.

"I'm just asking him not to be too hard on the Republican candidate for Governor," the visitor explained with a smile.

"Who is the Republican candidate?" asked Mrs. Sutton.

"Mr. D. E. Waggoner of Dallas is the candidate. I am Mrs. Waggoner," the visitor explained.

Reports now are going about the capitol that Vice President John Nance Garner will soon resign as national democratic committeeman from Texas. He had been tendered the place, very cannily, by friends of General Allred, to head off an impending fight with friends of former Governor James E. Ferguson at the state Democratic convention in Galveston last September. Ferguson accepted the inevitable and gracefully withdrew in favor of Garner. Now if Garner resigns, as the report goes, the place again will be open but Ferguson's chance to get it will have vanished.

Hundred Oaks, the Garner

housed at Uvalde, has been made one of the views in an extensive booklet of highway scenes in Highway Division 22. The division, with headquarters at Del Rio, has some of the most impressive scenery to be found in the 25 booklets that show views in each highway division.

State insurance rates, rules and regulations are getting some thorough questioning by the Insurance Buyers Council of Texas. The council, an incorporated body, is made up of policy holders in various lines affected by industrial and commercial insurance.

The council is plying the state commission with questions. Why is this rate? Who benefits by that rate? Why do not department reports reveal this and that? Are a few of the sample questions being buried at the commission. The council also has asked for detailed reports on settlement of losses.

The gist of the council's prodding is summed up in one of the communications of President A. C. Baldwin to the insurance commission:

"It was not intended that you should rely upon the data and figures presented by those who would profit through the rate fixed."

Prohibition repeal is not to be allowed to sleep. Plans now are being made to get the regular session of the 44th Legislature to submit it for a vote or to secure a constitutional convention, in which event the same result could be obtained by omitting prohibition from the new constitution submitted for adoption.

Friends of beer who do not care for whisky, are not so enthusiastic. They fear the breakdown of enforcement of the anti-hard liquor laws may react on the liberality extended to 32 drinks.

Scotland Yard, in the name that has been given the state Senate investigating committee room at the state capitol. Locked doors through which people are admitted, one at a time, and the air of mystery worn by committee members has made the name stick. "They will be wearing false whiskers next," a remark heard in the corridor.

One announcement has come from the committee. It is that senators who were buying hard liquor in San Antonio were not doing so as members of the committee to investigate lack of law enforcement. They were doing it on their own. The committee had not even been named when it was reported active in San Antonio.

Calls for a mimeograph machine have led to the expectation that the committee is going to call on local enforcement officials to answer a questionnaire.

A summary showed 17,292 predatory animals killed in Webb county, Texas, alone during the past three years.

Airplanes Speed Trans-Ocean Mail

MONTREAL, Que.—A new project, speeding British mail by days, was successfully accomplished recently through a combination of Canadian and American Airlines services, with every prospect that it soon will be established on a regular basis.

Ship-to-shore mail flights are commonplace but foreign mail officials in the past overlooked the fact that the shortest route between the Old and New worlds is that through the St. Lawrence River. However, Montreal, home port of the Canadian lines is 800 miles from the ocean cruise of two days or more.

By transferring mail from the S. S. Empress of Britain to a Canadian Airways plane based at Belle Isle, the 800 miles was covered in an overnight trip. At Montreal the mail was turned over to Canadian Colonial Airways which, in conjunction with American Airlines, carried it to New York where connections were made to the south and west.

In this manner, mail originating in England was delivered in the United States in four and one-half days.

Edwin E. Morrissey, Cincinnati attorney, believes the appalling number of automobile, accident deaths would be lowered if each driver were required to take a solemn oath in regular courts to obey traffic laws.

Mmes. Cushing, Edwards Speak On Program

Several cars of Presbyterians went from Big Spring to attend the district Presbyterial at Colorado Wednesday. Two Big Spring members took part. Mrs. W. F. Cushing gave a review of the missionary book, "Presbyterian Missions in Southern United States" and Mrs. Bill Edwards gave a report of the young people's conference at El Paso.

With the group went Mrs. H. C. Stipp, Mrs. J. T. Brooks and Mrs. V. Van Gleason.

Convicts Are Hungry
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—The 4,700-odd convicts in the Missouri penitentiary here eat 150,000 pounds of meat, 40,000 loaves of bread, 300,000 pounds of vegetables and drink 1,500 gallons of milk every month. Policy of the prison to raise most of its food on state-owned ground cuts down the cost of feeding each inmate to .147 cents a day.

OBITUARY

William Bascom Sneed was born in Faulkner county, Arkansas, January 2, 1867, and died in his home town, Big Spring, Texas, October 2, 1934. He was 67 years and 9 months of age. He was left an orphan at about 5 years of age. His father and mother both being dead, my parents took him to their home and raised him. My mother, being a devoted Christian, taught him to pray and instructed him in the ways of righteousness so that he became an extra good boy. He was converted at an early age and united with the M. E. Church South. He became an active worker in the church. Being very intelligent and having the gift of oratory, he was qualified to render efficient service in the church. Whole audiences have been moved to tears while listening to his forceful and earnest exhortations. He made the statement that he deserved no credit for the good that he might have accomplished, but the credit and honor, he bestowed upon the good woman who raised him. He was married to Miss Beale Chance, the exact date of which I do not know. To this happy union were born 5 children, 3 girls and 2 boys, all of whom are still living. I have been requested to write this sketch of his life and death, and as no one knew him better than I did, I am trying to do this with a broken heart and a trembling pen. He and I were raised together just like brothers and I can truthfully say that in him I had a true friend and a loving companion. In all communities in which Mr. Sneed lived, he had the good will of the people. They manifested their confidence in him as being an honest, truthful and Christian man. He was educated in the public schools of his native state and taught school for several years. He moved from Arkansas to Parker County, Texas, in the fall of 1904 and lived there two years. From there he moved to Howard county and settled on a farm a few miles from Big Spring, where he lived till the time of his death. Mr. Sneed was a successful farmer and owned a considerable amount of land in West Texas. A few years ago he was elected to the office of road commissioner and served in that capacity for several years. A few months ago he became ill and went to the hospital in Big Spring and after a lingering illness, he passed away and was buried in the Big Spring cemetery. We believe that the citizens of the Big Spring community realize that they have lost a good and useful man and that he will be greatly missed. He has left behind to mourn his departure, his faithful and devoted wife, Mrs. Beale Sneed, and his 5 children: Mrs. Stella Christian, Mrs. Jessie Harrison, Mrs. Lucile Christian, Fletcher Sneed and Howard Sneed. Also 3 little grandsons. Besides these there are several relatives and a host of friends left to mourn his death.

Our prayer is that God in his mercy may comfort the hearts of the bereaved family, and his richest blessings be bestowed upon all who may read these lines.

So I say good-bye dear "Will," my dear old "Pal," I shall meet you again some glad sweet day, when sad partings shall be no more.

Yours in sorrow,
JOHN W. SMITH,
Lipan, Texas, Route 2.

Parliamentary Club To Meet On Friday Even

The Parliamentary Club will hold its first fall meeting Friday evening at the Crawford Hotel at 7:30. So many women have asked about the date of meeting that the officers of the club have extended an invitation to the public to attend this meeting and get an idea of the fascination in study of correct parliamentary procedure.

The club meets every second and fourth Friday evening at the Crawford and continues only one and a half hours. No dues are charged. The only requirement for membership is a real interest in learning parliamentary law.

At the meeting the committee for the election of new officers will be elected.

To Import Feed Free Of Duty

Only hay and straw have been designated by the Secretary of the Treasury for importation free of duty under the president's proclamation. It has been rumored that all kinds of livestock feed might be brought from Mexico duty free, but such is not the case at this time. Farmers and ranchmen may purchase all kinds of hay in Mexico either direct or through an agent and secure a certificate to be used in lieu of payment of duty at the port of entry. An effort is being made to find out whether this will be an advantage to farmers and ranchmen in Howard County.

O. P. Griffin, County Agent.

University Building Fast

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—University of Texas' building program has been so fast that a lot of students are all mixed up. One freshman co-ed applied for a vaccination certificate at a boys' dormitory. Another co-ed confronted a pajama-clad young man in a corridor early one morning, and demanded to know if her English class met there. She was in a boy's dormitory.
