Santa Fe to Seek Line Abandonment Again

On page 4 of this Success issue is a Legal Notice regarding action being taken by Santa Fe to abandon their 65-mile line from San Angelo to Sonora.

Santa Fe took similar action about four years ago and at that time the Interstate Commerce Commission refused permission for the abandonment after opposition was filed by the towns of Eldorado and Sonora. It was opposition by civic clubs, governing groups, and some individuals from the two towns that kept the line operating until now. It remains to be seen how much interest will be generated this time.

Santa Fe laid the 65 miles of line south from San Angelo thru Christoval and Eldorado to Sonora back in the late 1920's at a cost of three million dollars. Service has dwindled to about a train a week which comes down when there is a need.

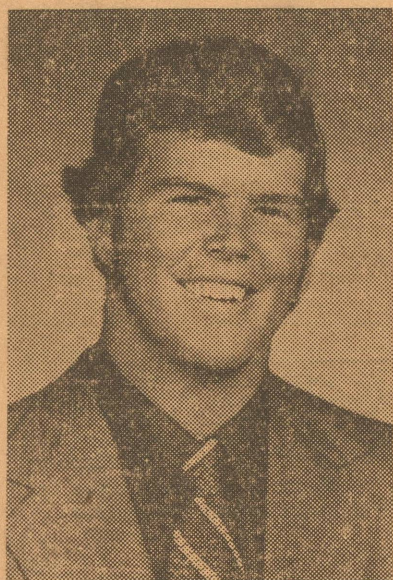

Our neighboring town of Menard had their rail line abandoned a few years ago, and the rails have already been removed. A similar fate is in store for the line here if the current plans go through.

Post Script

Over the years, the Eldorado business district has had occasional burglaries of stores which have netted their perpetrators small amounts of loot and some cash, but nothing like the incident in Hext Foods last week when the store was robbed at gunpoint.

A daylight robbery is a rarity, especially in a town the size of Eldorado. Apparently a transient passing through decided to try his luck, which did not pan out. The suspect was apprehended in Ozona an hour later and this points to quick and efficient action by our area law officers.

Convenience stores in cities like San Angelo have been target of armed robberies, and some of the store owners up there have recently banded together and discussed means of tightening up security at their respective stores.

All this points to speculation that in the future there would be robbers might be deterred from heisting of stores in the city areas, and might turn to these outlying towns. Store operators and home owners in rural areas such as we live in have been rather casual in the past about security, and perhaps now should give more thought to such matters.

The Eagle Band presented their annual Spring Concert Tuesday night to a large and appreciative crowd in the auditorium, under the direction of Bandmaster Wayne McDonald. Complete program is given inside this Success issue.

Merry Makers Meet

Mrs. Zelma Henderson was hostess Thursday when she entertained the 42 Club in her home.

The hostess served a salad plate, with coffee or tea. We all had fun together. Mary Joiner will be hostess May 13. —Rep.

How We Voted In The Amendment Election

The predicted 10% of Texas voters went to the polls April 22nd to vote on two proposed amendments to the state constitution, and both carried.

No. 2, Legislators' Pay Raise, Approval 78, Against 49.

Eaglette Track Team To State Meet Saturday

The Eaglette track team won the regional championship this past week in Stephenville and now runs in the state meet in Austin on Saturday, May 3, 1975.

Terrie Garlitz will start off the action for the Eldorado girls when she throws the shot put at 11:00 a.m. The running events will get under way at 1:00 p.m. with the 440 yard relay. Relay members for the Eldorado team are Teresa Scott, Carolyn Page, Wally Joiner, and Irene Garcia. The Eaglette 380 yard relay team also made it to the state meet for the third year in a row. The 380 relay members are the same as the 440 yard relay members. Their best time so far this year came in winning the 380 yard relay at DeLeon's State Qualifier's Meet in a time of 1:46.2.

The mile relay has qualified for the state meet for the third time in the last four years. Relay members this year are Susan Mertz, Charlene Warnock, Irene Garcia, and Wally Joiner.

In 1973 the Eldorado girls won the state championship. In 1974 the team was state runner-up behind Waco Robinson. Let's hope the odd numbered years are lucky for Eldorado.

Robbery Occurs At Hext Food Store

A daring daylight robbery which occurred at Hext Foods last Thursday resulted in the jailing of a Florida man, charged with taking about $1,000 at gunpoint in connection with the incident.

At about 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Mrs. Eloise Day and Britt Bumgardner were at the check stand in the store when a young man approached and demanded the money out of the cash till. He left with the money, and then law officers were notified.

Charles D. Stevens was arrested in Ozona about an hour later driving a station wagon believed to have been stolen in San Antonio. He was brought back to Eldorado and arraigned before Peace Justice B. L. Blakeway, and then placed in the county jail charged with armed robbery. Most of the money taken was reported recovered.

Stevens, who is 22 years old and from St. Petersburg, Florida, remained in the local jail this week in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The case will come before a future term of 51st District Court. Spring term of court was held recently and the fall term will not be held until October. So Stevens' case will be held up until then, unless a special term of court is called beforehand.

Nursing Home Notes

We all sure had a good time at the arts and crafts fair this past week end. Beulah Harris, Maggie Sluder and Elva Damels ran our booth for us and we practically sold out of everything.

Bingo winners this week were Frank Reed, John Davis, Carrie Blakeway, Flossie Crawford, Hattie Blaylock, Erna Rexroat, Gertrude Nixon, Ella Casbeer, and Maggie Sluder.

We probably didn't get all of our out of town visitors reported this week because our reporter was so busy at the fair but we promise to do better next time. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson and Charles Wesley from Big Lake came to see Wren Jackson, also Mrs. Ray Adams from San Angelo visited Mrs. Hattie Blaylock. Mr. John Hawkins and Mrs. Beulah Harris.

Gardening For Peace Of Mind

Are you worn out from the tensions, frustrations and anxieties of everyday life? Do you take sleeping pills, aspirin or tranquilizers to achieve peace of mind? Do you feel a deep desire to "get away from it all?"

Well, you don't have to go to a remote little island in the South Pacific. Relief is as near as your own backyard in the form of a garden.

More than 85 million people reap the benefits of good health, relaxation and peace of mind from their gardening activities.

In a survey conducted by the American Medical Association, doctors were questioned about their favorite sport or hobby. Forty-seven per cent of these polled said gardening helped them keep their health and sanity and they preferred it above other sports and hobbies.

In addition to the physical and mental benefits gained from gardening, there are also monetary advantages. By growing even a few of your own vegetables, you can save up to $100 a year. Join the ranks of the healthful, contented people and take up gardening today.

Ground Covers Instead of Turfgrass

Using ground covers instead of turfgrass can improve the looks of your landscape and also save you time. In areas unsuited for growing grass, ground covers make an excellent substitute.

A ground cover is any plant that has a sprawling, creeping or spreading type growth and seldom grows over two feet high.

Even non-living materials such as gravel, bark, pine needles or peacan shells made good ground covers. Ground covers not only look good, they are also practical.

By planting ground covers in hard-to-mow areas such as under low-branching trees or areas with many roots, you can save yourself hours of back-breaking mowing.

Ground covers also help reduce erosion and weeds, and serve as a mulch to conserve water.

We advise fumigating the soil before putting in ground covers to get rid of any insect diseases or roots in the area. Of course, the manufacturer's instructions on the label should be followed carefully.

When planting a ground cover, add plenty of organic matter such as peat moss, compost, or well rotted manure.

Indoor-Outdoor Furniture
For All Year

Spring brings more indoor-outdoor living, and redwood furniture can often be a good investment.

It can be used for the backyard, patio, or enclosed porch during warmer months and brought inside to furnish an informal family room during the cooler months.

Kiln-dried redwood weathers well and resists moisture, insects and decay from exposure. Furniture made from knot-free clear redwood will look better and wear longer.

Redwood can be stained for a color change and to enhance the natural grain of the wood. This isn't essential for preservation of the wood.

Look for a minimum of screws, bolts and other hardware on the piece. This indicates good basic construction by the manufacturer. Wide-track legs prevent furniture from tipping in the wind.

Cushions are easier to care for if they're covered in a moisture and fade resistant material, such as vinyl. But slipcovering them with terry cloth makes them convenient for poolside use also.

Lighter colors will reflect rather than absorb the sun's rays so keep this in mind for hot, sunny days.

Padding inside the cushions should be comfortable and durable. Mildew-resistant synthetic or plastic foam are good stuffing choices for indoor-outdoor furniture.

Summer Hard On House Insulation

Summer heat makes the heaviest demands on house insulation. In view of rising energy costs for this summer, now may be the time to examine the insulation situation in the house.

The average wall should have at least four inches of mineral wool, wood or fiberglass, or three-layer aluminum foil insulation.

Five or six inches of flexible insulation in the ceiling provide sufficient protection against cold. But four-layer aluminum foil is better when summer cooling needs are greater.

Unheated basements and crawl spaces should have at least two inches of insulation for efficient energy consumption.

In reviewing home insulation needs, also consider the amount of window space in the house. About 26¢ of heat loss or gain occurs here.

Protect window areas during the summer months with outside help—overhangs, awnings or shade trees. Protective measures inside the house offer little protection after the sun hits the windows.

Although providing additional insulation may appear a major investment, a savings of 25% in fuel costs should help the improvement pay for itself.

Prepare For Future
Emergencies Now

Time taken now to prepare for emergencies might be a future lifesaver. A routine for handling accidents will make correct action automatic.

What if there were a fire—is a fire extinguisher available and would anyone know how to work it? What if a child swallowed cleaning supplies? Is the number of the nearest poison control center near at hand? What if a child fell and broke a bone?

It's important to have a written plan for emergency where anyone in the home can see it.

If children are at home, teach them a plan for getting out of the house or apartment in case of emergency. There's not any need to frighten children, but the family can have a practice fire drill without alarming them.

Sugar Myth-Understandings

The medicine man who peddled his potions and magic cures has a modern counterpart in the food and health faddists now dispensing all sorts of unscientific information to consumers.

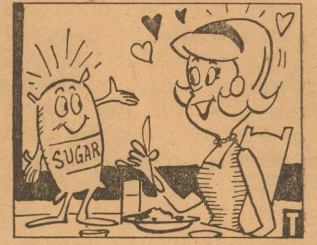

"While there's less danger of snakebite today," says Dr. G. Norris Bollenback of The Sugar Association, "there's potentially as great harm awaiting those who subscribe to myths such as 'empty calories,' 'low-to-no carbohydrate diets,' 'self-prescribed megavitamin intake' or the diet that restricts one to a single food."

Equally dangerous, he says, are suggestions that sugar causes obesity, heart disease and diabetes, yet there is no scientific basis for such statements. "Nutrition is a fairly new science," says Dr. Bollenback "and as such is often subject to wrong conclusions by food and health cultists. The danger in their unbalanced diets is that they upset the metabolism and actually can trigger some serious illness."

Puncturing the "empty calorie" claim, Dr. Bollenback says, "there's a release of heat energy which is measured in calories when fat, protein and carbohydrates are ingested and then metabolized. (One gram of carbohydrate releases four units of heat energy.) The term 'empty calorie' is often used in connection with sugar, but with no scientific basis. Sugar is a pure carbohydrate and a nutrient although it does not have similar nutritional values as protein, vitamins or minerals."

The low-to-no carbohydrate diet upsets the metabolism and can cause serious kidney problems, Dr. Bollenback warned. The idea that sugar can cause heart disease "is one that does not have as much success in the scientific community as it does with food faddists," comments Dr. Francisco Grande, heart authority of the University of Minnesota. He points out that while there has been — until recently — an increase in coronary heart disease in the U.S., the consumption of sugar, except for the war years, has remained generally constant for the past 50 years — about 100 pounds per capita per year. There is, however, evidence that coronary problems are related to high fat-protein type diets.

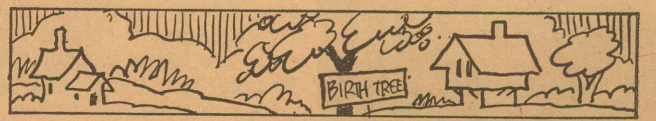

Worried about sugar and diabetes? Of course, if you are coping with this illness or suspect that you might have it, then you should be under a doctor's care. Dr. P.J. Palumbo, consultant in internal medicine at the Mayo Clinic, says, "the most important part of our management of the diabetic patient is to see that he or she eats the same number of calories day by day so that we can manage the insulin therapy, and manage whatever other therapy we may introduce in the care of the diabetic patient. The important thing is the total calorie content rather than the amount of calories coming from carbohydrates." And he points out there should be moderation in all things.

Perhaps you're curious as to what is the "balanced diet?" It's one accepted as the best to date for the average healthy individual and known as the basic four — milk and dairy products; meats, poultry, fish, eggs, legumes and nuts; vegetables and fruits; breads and cereals. Within this framework the average diet is acceptable if formulated as follows: 45 per cent carbohydrates, 35 per cent fat and about 15 per cent protein.

Once you make up your mind to view your daily diet as the way to maintain good health, energy and good looks, you can forget the fads and make your own food selections more sensibly. Actually, it's a matter also of counting calories for your "allowable" total. When you do this successfully, you can enjoy such items as a pat of butter for bread or potato; a teaspoon of sugar has only 18 calories, so why not use it if you enjoy it in beverages, on fruit or hot cereals?

And if you drink wine or other alcoholic beverages, "be sure to include their calorie content in your daily total," advises Dr. Bollenback.

Some people believe that a "birth tree" planted at the time a child is born will reflect in its growth the nature of the child's life.

Greek and Roman mythologies claim that the movements of giants imprisoned by Jupiter under high mountains caused earthquakes.

Speed Seeding, With Safety
If you're one of the millions of Americans with a home garden to seed, yet you don't like working on your knees when its time to turn the soil, you can speed your seeding with less toil if you use a power tiller.

To get your planting off to a safe start, the Outdoor Power

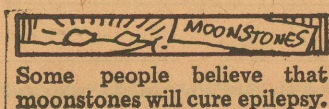

Equipment Institute offers these suggestions:

- Read the owner's manual and any tags that are attached to your power tiller.
- Be sure you know how to shut it off quickly, in case you have to stop suddenly in an emergency.
- Make sure your garden is clear of debris. Sticks, stones, wire and other debris could be thrown by the tiller.
- Never allow children under 16 to operate or be in the area of a power tiller.
- Before attempting to touch any moving part, shut off the motor and disconnect the spark plug, and always keep all shields and safety devices in place.
- Before cultivating your garden, cultivating this list will prevent possible accidents and allow you to use your power tiller safely and effectively.

Some people have said that a lion's heart buried in the house would protect it from lightning.

Some people believe that moonstones will cure epilepsy.

Some people believe that eating a jackal's heart will cause a child to grow up a coward.

Discover a Vacation Value

Family vacation value can be found a short distance from home.

This may be a year of inflation, recession and energy shortages, but it also could be the year your family discovers a more economical way to have a fun-filled vacation together—by planning a camping trip.

In spite of rising prices for most goods and services, a family can still buy a tent, sleeping bags and the basics for camping for under $200. And campground fees average less than $5 per day for a family of four—a real value when compared to $24 a day for the average motel accommodations for the same family.

No matter what part of the country you live in, it's not many miles down the road to scenic and historic attractions which you may have overlooked on past long-distance vacations.

The great surge of interest in camping during the past decade has given rise to scores of new clean, full-service campgrounds which can be used as a base for short trips to battlefields or beaches, fishing grounds or fairways, depending upon your family's interest.

The country's largest system,

Kampgrounds of America (KOA), has nearly 800 camps in the U.S., Canada and Mexico. All are equipped with laundry facilities, spotless restrooms and hot showers, convenience stores and recreational facilities such as swimming pools or trout ponds, game rooms and miniature golf courses. KOA also has a reservations system which lets you pick a destination in advance and offers campers a handbook and directory free at any KOA.

A little planning is all it takes to map out a series of vacation routes within easy distance of home. Look for county fairs, country auctions or Bicentennial events. Head for a nearby ocean, river or lakeshore for surfing, fishing, shell collecting. Whichever direction you take you'll find value in a camping vacation.

Legal Notice

Line Abandonment, Tom Green, Schleicher & Sutton Counties, TX.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION NOTICE FINANCE DOCKET No. 26449 THE ATCHISON, TOPEKA AND SANTA FE RAILWAY COMPANY ABANDONMENT — TOM GREEN COUNTY, TEX.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated April 16, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company of its 64.8 mile line between S. N. Junction and Sonora, all in Tom Green, Schleicher, and Sutton Counties, Texas, if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. ss 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332 (2) (C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental effects of the proposed abandonment are considered insignificant because adequate area highways exist that can handle any resulting increase in motor carrier traffic, no specific local development plans are dependent on the continued existence of the railroad, and the historic, safety, pollution, and ecological aspects of the proposed abandonment are absent or minimal.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D. C. 20423; telephone 202-343-2086.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C. 20423, on or before May 15, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date. (1c)

Ministers Tour Conservation Work

Ministers of the Eldorado Ministerial Alliance were given a breakfast and a tour of conservation work in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District Saturday morning, April 26. The breakfast and tour were given in conjunction with upcoming Soil Stewardship Week which is May 3 through 11, 1975.

The board of directors of the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District and the Ministerial Alliance set the tour to encourage ministers to give sermons tied to man's responsibility to be good stewards of the soil.

Bill Rountree, District Conservationist assisting the district, showed slides depicting conditions before and after various conservation practices.

Soil Stewardship Week, May 3 to 11, will be observed in thousands of churches throughout the land. Material, consisting of bulletins, program inserts and a booklet containing Soil Stewardship background information, is made available to the local churches by the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District.

Placemats have been purchased by the local Conservation district and are to be used by the local El Dorado Restaurant.

SOIL STEWARDSHIP
Wm. M. Rountree
District Conservationist

Our country had its beginning in a lush, forested wilderness. As its population grew, it spread farther and farther westward until at last it reached the West Coast and could go no farther. As the people moved westward, they left behind dry, dusty, barren land that had once been green, fertile soil. They learned a great lesson as they contemplated what was happening to them. They learned that the person who neglected the care of his land finds, at last, that the land will not take care of him.

The scripture teaches that those who neglect to conserve the soil sins against God. God put the soil here for man to use, not abuse. God gave man dominion over the earth in order that man might have a way to provide for his own needs. When man neglects the soil and lets it become poor and devastated, man has sinned.

He who neglects to conserve the soil sins against unborn children—future generations. They look to men of the present generation to leave the soil in at least as good condition as we found it. He who does not conserve the soil is robbing those future generations of the only means they will have of providing food, clothing, and shelter for themselves and their families.

Also, the man who neglects to conserve the soil is sinning against himself. He has a precious gift in his possession, which, if used wisely, can bring about great wealth. On the other, if used unwisely, can condemn him to poverty and want. Man, like the stewards of the talents, has a choice. He can use the soil to the glory of God or the condemnation of his own soul.

Conserve the soil is the theme of God's message to man. "Use God's gifts to your own enrichment and the glory of God." Over and over again he repeats that theme in words and actions. We should seek to do likewise if we are to be true children of God.

Good Psychology

Helpful ideas from the International Lutheran Laymen's League

SIX RULES FOR SAYING THANK YOU

You don't have to be a psychologist to know that two little words—"Thank you"—can be magic words in human relations if they are used correctly. Memorize these six rules; they've been tested and proved.

1. Thanks should be sincere. Say it like you mean it. Put some feelings and life into it. Don't let it sound routine, but "special."
2. Say it—don't mumble it. Come right out with it. Don't act as if you were halfway ashamed for the other person to know you want to thank him.
3. Thank people by name. Personalize your thanks by naming the person thanked. If there are several people in a group to be thanked, don't just say "thanks everybody," but name them.
4. Look at the person you are thanking. If he is worth being thanked, he is worth being looked at and noticed.
5. Work at thanking people. Consciously and deliberately begin to look for things to thank other people for. Don't just wait until it occurs to you. Do it deliberately until it becomes a habit. Gratitude does not seem to be a natural trait of human nature. When Jesus Christ healed 10 lepers, only one thanked him. But are we very different?
6. Thank people when they least expect it. A "thank you" is even more powerful when the other person does not expect it, or necessarily feels that he deserves it. Think back to some time when you got a nice "thank you" from someone when it never occurred to you that any "thanks" were in order and you'll understand.

You can gain more psychological insights by writing for a free pamphlet, called "Praise Power," based on a radio sermon from "The Lutheran Hour." Send your name and address to Room 2007, Booklet Distributors of America, 220 West 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10036

COME AND GET RANCHER'S BEAN BAKE!

How do you wrangle a compliment about a budget dish from the family members? Easily! And you won't have to rope them into it either. Rancher's Bean Bake stands on its own as a prize praise-winner. Rolled oats, loved by Americans when the West was still wild, stretches a pound of sausage into six ample luncheon or supper servings. The meat mixture is topped by tomato-rich pork and beans and baked until bubbling hot. The smell will be the dinner bell urging everyone to "Come and get it!"

RANCHER'S BEAN BAKE
 Makes 6 servings

1 lb. bulk pork sausage meat      2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
 1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked      1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup catsup      1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 One 16-oz. can pork and beans in tomato sauce

Heat oven to moderate (350°F.). Combine sausage, oats and 1/4 cup of the catsup in bowl; mix well. Press mixture evenly into a 9-inch square baking pan. Place in preheated oven (350°F.) 35 minutes. Combine beans, brown sugar, salt, mustard and remaining catsup. Pour over top of sausage mixture and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes or until bean topping begins to bubble.

Money Saving Ideas

Do's And Don'ts Of Driving

No inflation weary citizen is more conscious of how difficult it is to stretch a dollar than the American motorist. In addition to skyrocketing prices for food, shelter and the other necessities of life, those who are dependent on a car have seen transportation expenses also increase dramatically in the past year.

There are simple things you can do, however, that could cut auto operating costs by 10 per cent or more and make your car and its tires last longer. The automotive experts at Sears, Roebuck and Co. have come up with these "Do's" and "Don'ts" for maximum gas mileage and long dependable life from your car.

- Maintain correct tire inflation pressures for best gas mileage and longest tire life. A 20 per cent underinflated tire, for example, can cause a 16 per cent loss in gas mileage.
- Consider the purchase of radial-ply tires. Their minimal rolling resistance boosts gas mileage.
- Maintain correct front wheel alignment, a "must" for maximum gas mileage and long tire life.
- Keep your engine in good tune: Optimum combustion efficiency means maximum gas mileage. Consider the purchase of testing equipment to do your own engine tune-ups.

- Hold engine warm-up time to the minimum. Long warm-ups drink gas.
- Avoid "jack rabbit starts." Start up smoothly and get away steadily.
- Time your traffic lights. Don't race up to a light or stop sign and jam on the brakes. Pace yourself.
- Be sure your automatic transmission is shifting properly. Use a light touch on the gas pedal to shift the transmission into high as soon as possible (approx. 28-30 mph).
- Buy the right grade of gasoline for your car's engine. More expensive gasoline will cost you money without increasing mileage.
- Avoid unnecessary idling. Turn the engine off when you're waiting for someone or stop for an extended traffic delay.
- Plan shopping trips to visit the most stores with the least amount of driving; try to use shopping centers where all your needs can be handled with one stop.
- Plan your driving to miss rush hour traffic, if possible, to avoid stop and start driving.

In rural England they say that a kitten born in May will never make a mouser; instead it is apt to bring home glow-worms!

The performer's waiting room in theaters is traditionally called the "Green Room" because it is painted a soft green to relieve eyes after the harsh glare of stage lights.

GETTING A NEW START

"I never want to move again!" I told a friend. Even before the moving van arrived, there were days of sorting, discarding and carefully packing the things we treasure. There were farewells and last minute errands.

Then early one morning, the huge truck came lumbering up the street, and the movers began loading beds, tables, chairs, dishes and books. After several hours, the last box was in the van, and our belongings were on their way to a new home.

A new home, new friends, new community—so many things with which to become acquainted.

The church is a fine place to get a new start—to make new friends and strike up a vital relationship with the Maker of us all.
